New Year's Greetings To All.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

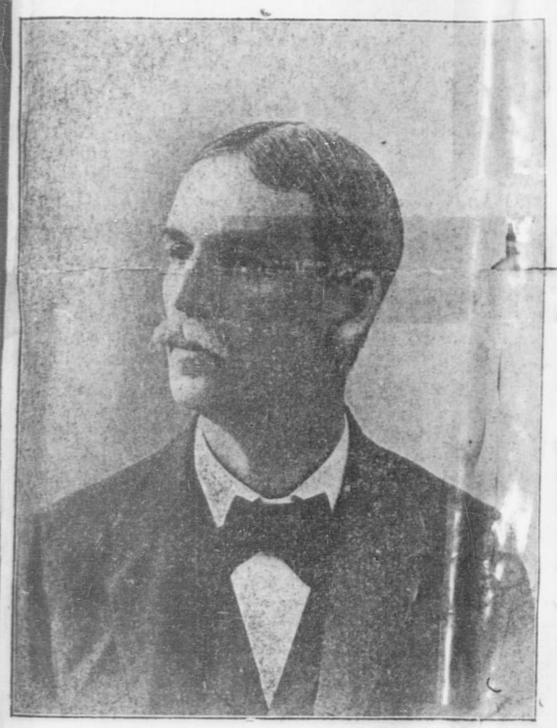

Published in the City of Presidents

Another Happy New Year to Mayor Thompson

Vol. 18. No. 1. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The Mayor Points Out Limitations

No Increases Possible for Current Expenses Only Urgent Loans

JAMES THOMPSON,

Who Enters Second Term as Mayor.

The message of Mayor Thompson to the City Council is printed in full today. It is a long document, but should receive a careful reading from all voters and taxpayers. The Daily Ledger submits it without further comment:

Gentlemen of the Council:

Intrusted by the people with the transaction of the business affairs of the city for the ensuing year, it becomes us to give to the same the best consideration and effort of which we are capable that we may conduct along safe and conservative lines its highest and best interests, thereby obtaining in full measure the greatest results compatible with our resources.

We are a growing community with ever-expanding needs, many of which from a progressive view are deemed absolutely essential. This none can deny; but the means whereby we may meet these wants are limited under the laws governing the taxation that we may levy upon ourselves and the amount of indebtedness in which we may be involved. Therefore, the financial question is vital, as a wise discrimination by the Council is necessary in selecting the public work which shall be undertaken.

A reference to our financial condition, as shown by the treasurer's report, is proper at this time and will, if heeded, guide us in solving the amount of money we may appropriate for the ensuing year, if it is to be borrowed.

DEBT STATEMENT.

Municipal debt Jan. 1 [illegible]		$407,572 00
Paid during the year,		77,942 00
Leaving,		$329,630 00
Added during the y[illegible]		157,000 00
Debt December 31, 190[illegible]		$486,630 00
Water debt Jan. 1, 190[illegible]		$705,500 00
Paid during the year,		37,500 00
Leaving,		$668,000 00
Added during the y[illegible]r,		26,000 00
Debt Dec. 31, 1905,		$694,000 00
Sewer debt Jan. 1, 190[illegible]		$515,300 00
Paid during the year		17,300 00
Leaving,		$498,700 00
Added during the y[illegible]ar,		25,000 00
Debt Dec. 31, 1905,		$523,700 00
Park debt Jan. 1, 190[illegible]		$38,000 00
Paid during the yea[illegible]		2,000 00
Debt Dec. 31, 1905,		$36,000 00
Total debt Jan. 1, 1[illegible]		$1,667,072 00
Paid during the ye[illegible]		134,742 00
Leaving,		$1,532,330 00
Added during the [illegible]ear,		208,000 00
Total debt,		$1,740,330 00

DIVIDED AS FOLLOWS:

	Jan. 1, [illegible]	Jan. 1, 190[illegible]
Municipal,	$486,63[illegible]	407,572 00	*$79,058 00
Water,	69[illegible]00	705,500 00	111,500 00
Sewer,	52[illegible]70.	518,000 00	*7,700 00
Playground,	36,000 [illegible]	38,000 00	2,000 00
	$1,740,330 [illegible]	$1,667,072 00	*$73,258 00

* Increase. † Dec[illegible]

LOANS ISSUED IN 1904.

Water debt,	$25,000 00
Sewer debt,	82,000 00
Municipal debt,	39,822 00
	$126,822 00

LOANS ISSUED IN 1905.

Water extension,	$26,000 00
Sewer extension,	25,000 00
Municipal debt,	157,000 00
	$208,000 00

MUNICIPAL DEBT FALLING DUE.

	In 1905.	In 1906.
January,	$750 00	$750 00
February,	1,115 00
March,	6,000 00	8,000 00
April,	2,900 00	4,900 00
May,	6,000 00	6,000 00
June,	2,500 00	1,000 00
July,	31,450 00	28,150 00
August,	9,120 00	10,070 00
September,	3,000 00	2,000 00
October,	4,900 00	4,400 00
November,	6,807 00	7,200 00
December,	3,600 00	7,200 00
	$77,942 00	$79,670 00

THE $12 LIMIT.

The limit of taxation we may raise for current expenses is fixed by the statute at $12 per thousand of the valuation of the city as determined by one of two ways: (1) the average of the three preceding years' valuations less all abatements; (2) on the valuation of the preceding year less all abatements. The latter method is the one that has prevailed for some time in this city, but this has developed a very much less sum than required to meet fixed charges as created by ordinances and the current demands of the various city departments, so, in addition, all the receipts of the city that possibly can be taken are appropriated to meet current demands alone, leaving no margin whatever to expend in any permanent work, and it is only by recourse to the city's credit that means are obtained to meet our ever-pressing want

NEW INDEBTEDNESS.

An examination of the treasurer's statement will show the expenditures for 1905, amounting to the large sum of one hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars [157,000 00] made within the municipal debt limit for the following purposes, viz:

Sewerage connections,	$6,000 00
Contagious diseases,	2,000 00
School deficit,	1,000 00
Gypsy moth,	2,500 00
High School enlargement,	112,000 00
Poor department deficit, 1904,	3,000 00
Order 83, Catch basin and Drain on Taylor street,	800 00
Order [illegible], Sidewalk on Beach street,	800 00
Order [illegible]3, Laying out Upland road,	800 00
Order 188, System of water closets in Adams school,	2,750 00
Order 190, Fire alarm boxes,	125 00
Order 84, Sidewalk on Faxon road,	425 00
Order 1[illegible]5, Raising grade of Centre street,	1,000 00
Order [illegible]92, Laying out Freeman street,	600 00
Order [illegible]3, Laying out Holmes street,	500 00
Order [illegible]4, Laying out Glendale road,	600 00
Order [illegible]5, Laying out Farnum street,	300 00
Order [illegible]6, Laying out Coe street,	200 00
Order [illegible]0, Widening Granite street,	400 00
Order [illegible]5, Resurfacing Walnut street,	700 00
Order 166, Crosswalks,	800 00
Order [illegible]19, Changing Grade of Hancock street,	5,000 00
Order 251, Paved gutters on Goddard street,	1,200 00
Order 272, Curtis street,	300 00
Order 275, Bromfield street,	900 00
Order 160 and Order 316, Laying out Maple place,	11,300 00
	$157,000 00

SMALL MARGIN.

We cannot compare with such expenditures this year for we begin it with a margin only One hundred ten thousand one hundred seventy-four and eighty-five one hundredths dollars ($110,174.85) on the debt limit, with the sum of seventeen thousand and fifty dollars ($17,050.00) appropriated against it by last year's Council, under Order No. 374, the bonds of which are dated January, 1906.

The Hancock street bridge at Alantic bearing completion, and the adjustment soon to be decreed as to who shall pay the cost of the Fore River bridge anticipated to have been paid in 1905, will take a large part of the remainder above named. Therefore, we must go slowly.

We estimate the revenue on the $12 rate per 1000 that we may raise this year to be three hundred and one thousand three hundred eighty-seven and thirty-three one hundredths dollars ($301,387.33) with no increase in receipts to appropriate for department expenses.

By ordinances making an increase in the permanent men in the fire department and the change in the cost of management of the Woodward Fund to direct taxation, together with the mandatory law to provide means for the extermination of the gypsy and brown tail moths, nearly all the increase gained by new valuation last year is absorbed. Therefore, the appropriation for the several departments cannot be increased over that of 1905.

We have borrowed during the past year for temporary purposes, in anticipation of the taxes, about ten per cent. less than the order passed in Council authorized.

As long as appropriations must be passed to provide money to meet current expenses to be paid by taxes to be raised, we can only hope to keep our interest charges for temporary loans at the lowest level consistent with the shortest possible time to collect them.

During the year the collector has pressed the payment of unpaid polls and personal taxes, and the showing made is an improvement on previous years.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT AFFAIRS.

A new method of assessment in the Metropolitan Water District (except in Boston), created by chapter 426 Acts 1904, takes effect this year, the same being levied on the basis of two-thirds on consumption and one-third on valuation.

It is estimated by the Commission, on the per capita consumption of water in this city, that our water charges will be about $7000, more than last year, making our assessment about $43,000, for 1906, or twenty per cent more than last year. The per capita consumption in this city in November last was 113 gallons. With the exception of Boston, whose per capita consumption in the same month was 144 gallons, we are the highest in the Metropolitan District.

According to tables carefully prepared by the engineer of the Distributive Department, the daily average in this city for November, 1903, was 2,252,400 gallons; while in November, 1905, it 3,171,300 gallons, an increase of 918,000 gallons per day or forty per cent.

In the opinion of the Commission our large consumption is due either to leakages in our pipes or a reckless waste by the consumers. In comparison with other cities in the district of about our population and character, our comsumption is excessive and requires prompt measures on our part to locate the cause and apply the remedy.

The South Metropolitan high level gravity sewer has been completed to that stage as authorized by the legislature, and the maximum charge upon the city, for the present, was reached last year.

The commission expects this year to effect a saving by the abandonment of a pumping station in the Roxbury district, thereby lessening somewhat our assessment from that of last year. If no new authorization of extension is made by the legislature, we may hope for a gradual reduction, yearly, in the interest charges by the payments into the sinking fund.

The Metropolitan Park Commission informs me that the Furnace Brook Parkway has been finished to sub-grade between Blue Hills Reservation and Adams street. A concrete rockfaced bridge, to carry the Granite Branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad over the parkway in West Quincy is nearly completed. Plans for the bridge in the main line at Newport avenue are in preparation. It is expected that surfacing of the sub-graded portion will begin next spring and be completed in the early fall.

A road is being built in the Blue Hills connecting the end of the parkway with the central roadway through the Reservation. It crosses Saw Cut Notch Road on the way and thus will provide an interesting circuit drive in the Quincy section of the Blue Hills.

Work on the Quincy Shore will continue so far as practical during the winter and will go on next summer as far as circumstances will allow. Plans for the bridge over Sachem Brook have been approved by the proper authorities and this will also be a part of next year's work. In the absence of unforeseen difficulties, it is intended that the work on Quincy shore shall continue without interruption until completed.

WATER DEPARTMENT.

The money appropriated to extend the water mains has been expended in connecting the high pressure tower on Third Hill by a sixteenth-inch main through Brook street under tracks of New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and Woodbine street to Hancock street, giving us a double line of supply connecting with the main of the Metropolitan system from Adams street, thereby adding to the efficiency of the water supply, as well as permitting the overhauling and much-needed repairing of the shut-offs at Water and Penn streets which have been in continuous service since put in by the Quincy Water Company, and heretofore being our main and only line connecting with the Metropolitan supply at Adams street.

A main beginning at Sea street and thence to the end of the Causeway at Nut Island, to give a water supply to the United States government at Fort Andrew on Peddock's Island has been laid, the same being paid for by the government, giving to us the hydrant service without cost and the opportunity along the line to give the necessary local services. The revenue we are to receive from this source for the use of our pipes, as decided by the Attorney-General, is to be one-half that charged by the Metropolitan Water Board to the Government.

The other extensions have been in the streets not previously connected, and laid to meet the growing sections now being developed. Water is a necessity, and the extensions of the system has tended to place it on the present financial basis. All reasonable petitions for the extention of the system should be granted, and I recommend for the ensuing year that we make the annual appropriation.

The estimate of the income for the past year has been collected and paid into the treasury.

Last year I asked the Council to investigate the question of the introduction of a system of meters. In view of the new Metropolitan water assessments, and the statement of the Commission showing great waste in our per capita consumption in comparison with other cities of like character in the district, I believe it becomes imperative for us to install meters on all services as soon as possible. Furthermore, it appears to me fair that, as the price which the city has to pay for its supply is so largely determined now by the measured quantity it uses, the only equitable basis of payment by the citizens is the actual quantity used by them; and I ask your favorable consideration of this subject.

SEWER DEPARTMENT.

The sewer system has been extended mainly in Ward Two because of the need of sewage disposal in the yard of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company and territory adjacent thereto. This has involved some very deep cutting; thence across the marsh, laid on a concrete bottom, with considerable rock excavation. The cost being in excess of the estimates, a further sum of money will have to be appropriated to carry the work to the point contemplated.

Short extensions of the sewer have been made in various other streets.

Undoubtedly, petitions will be received during the year to connect with the sewer, from a sanitary condition and for the best public interests, I recommend that we appropriate a sufficient amount for extensions.

STREET DEPARTMENT.

During the past year we have endeavored to give the greatest possible return for the money expended, and equitably divide in the several sections the general appropriation for the care and maintenance of streets.

We now have seventy-seven miles of accepted streets, and only by constant attention may we hope to maintain them even at the present standard. Correct grade and surface drainage are important factors in the maintenance of good streets, also a road metal of the right kind, if we are to have economy. Our crushing plant should be entirely renewed, and located where the best material of trap-rock character exists. I believe there are places in the city where such material can be obtained cheaper and, with a modern plant handled more expeditiously, thereby enabling us to deliver on the streets at a minimum cost.

The most important work of the year has been on Hancock street at the Atlantic bridge, with the approaches thereto and its intersecting streets. We all know the question with its objectionable features that confronted us a year ago, and the apparent deadlock of affairs. By an amicable arrangement with the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. and the Old Colony Street Railway Co., we were enabled to re-open the decree of the County Commissioners and the Special Commission, who apportioned the cost of the work, and bring about a solution eminently satisfactory and advantageous to all interested parties, the cost of the work to be paid for as first apportioned, viz.: sixty per cent. by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, fifteen per cent. by the Old Colony Street Railway Company and twenty-five per cent by the city of Quincy.

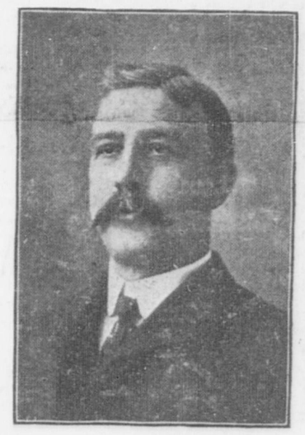

With the bridge and street built to full width, the grade on the south side of the bridge reduced and the land adjacent made available for development, we have every reason to credit ourselves with a permanent improvement.

This completion has also made possible the granting of double-track locations to the street railway making a

(Continued on page 4)

Organization Of New City Government

Councilman Piper Successful Over Councilman Bass For President

WALTER E. PIPER.

Elected President of City Council.

The eighteenth year of the City Government of Quincy was inaugurated at 12 o'clock this noon.

The beautiful weather coupled with the uncertainty over the election of President of the City Council and of City Auditor, and the general interest in inauguration day ceremonies drew a large crowd.

Never has there been a larger number present. Every available seat was taken and standing room was at a premium.

The balcony was reserved for ladies and there were many present including Mrs Thompson, the young lady clerks at City Hall, wives of the Councilmen, city officials and others.

Promptly on the hour of noon City Messenger Tirrell entered the hall followed by Mayor Thompson, City Clerk Keith and Rev. William E. Gardner.

Rev. E. Gardner of Christ church was chaplain and prefaced his innvocation with Lords Prayer. Continuing he said:

O Lord our heavenly Father, Almighty and everlasting God, who hast safely brought us to the beginning of this new year, defend us all through the same by thy Almighty power.

Especially at this time we invoke thy divine presence to rest in all the Council Chambers of the cities of this land; may the spirit of civic purity and righteousness with which thou hast inspired us grow under thy guidance; may every citizen feel an individual responsibility to do all in his power to bring about a government of righteous people, by righteous people and for righteous people.

Most heartily we beseech thee, with thy favor to behold and bless all the people of this community; grant unto them pardon and peace, that all their doings being ordered by thy governance may be righteous in thy sight.

Especially guide and direct thy servants: the Mayor of this city, the members of this council, and all officers in authority. Save them from all error, ignorance, pride and prejudice; direct, sanctify and govern them in their work, that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavors upon the best and surest foundations, that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established and maintained in this city.

These and all other necessaries, for them, for us and this whole nation, we humbly beg in the name and mediation of Jesus Christ, our most blessed Lord and Saviour.—Amen.

City Clerk Keith administered the oath of office to Mayor Thompson.

The City Clerk then called the roll of the Council and swore them to the faithful performance of their duty.

Mayor Thompson was introduced and delivered his inaugural address.

The address was quite lengthy and is printed in full in this issue. There was applause at the conclusion reading.

[Contin[illegible]4]

Quincy Daily Ledger

ESTABLISHED IN 1830.
THE QUINCY DAILY is Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1420 HANCOCK St., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

The City In Brief

1 0 0 0.

Volume 18, Number 1, of the Quincy Daily Ledger.

The New Year started in with a little snow storm.

Arthur B. Hultman has been appointed by Governor Douglas a justice of the peace.

The large bouquet and cut glass vase that ornamented the President's desk at the inauguration ceremonies today were presented to Mayor Thompson by the city officials.

Edward J. Fegan, whose successes as student at Boston College and the Georgetown School of Law have been noted in the Daily Ledger, has established law offices in Quincy and Boston.

The January noon temperature in Quincy for the past nine years has ranged between 4 on Jan. 3, 1904, and 59 on Jan. 5, 1897. In every year there has been noon temperature below and above 41.

GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days.

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICESECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,

ADAMS BUILDING.

Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-3 Quincy.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy. Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc. Experienced and careful men only. Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street. Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner.

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy. Residence: 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point. Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 5-tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor,

21 Adams Building, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 105-3.

June 1. ly

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER, GLAZIER,

PADED STAINED GLASS.

rator and Paper Hanger.

OLD FOUNTAIN REFURBISHED.

Richard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

AT [illegible]

Ex-Governor of [illegible] of Infernal Machine

TWO BOMBS WERE USED

Giant's Right Side Was Fearfully Torn and Both Legs Mangled --Outrage Is Laid at Door of Coeur d'Alene Strike Rioters

Boise, Ida., Jan. 1.—It has developed that the assassination Saturday night at Caldwell of former Governor Frank Steunenberg with dynamite bombs was perpetrated by someone who pulled a wire that exploded the dynamite as Steunenberg was closing the rear gate of his home. It was at first thought that the bomb was arranged to explode automatically when the gate was opened. It also developed that two bombs were used, both being exploded simultaneously by means of a wire and waxed fishline, remnants of which were found on the lawn.

The conviction grows that Steunenberg was murdered as a result of his activity in crushing the miners' strike riots at Coeur d'Alene, in 1899. On this theory one man has been arrested, but his name is kept secret by the police, who say evidence against the prisoner is strong. Five other men have been detained on suspicion.

The explosive was placed against the latchpost and on the inside of the fence. That post was to the victim's left as he entered, but the force of the explosion caught him on the right side, showing that he turned partly around in closing the gate before the bombs exploded. The assassin, it is thought, knew Steunenberg's habit of stopping to close the gate and waited until the former governor turned.

Steunenberg was terribly wounded, the right arm being nearly torn off. All his right side was fearfully torn, and both legs were mangled and shattered. The face was not disfigured. Portions of clothing were scattered for 50 yards. The victim himself was thrown 10 feet from the gate, where a small hole 10 inches in depth shows the spot where the bombs lay. The gate is gone, not a splinter being found. All the windows in the rear side of the house were broken, and much glass was broken in other houses almost a block away.

Mr. Steunenberg, who stood seven feet in his stockings, and was well proportioned, seemed to think that he had been shot, according to incoherent remarks he made to those who rushed to his aid. He remained conscious until he died, 25 minutes after the explosion, but he could not answer questions or talk intelligently.

Shoshone county has offered a reward of $10,000 for the apprehension of the murderers, and has sent its sheriff to assist in the search. It was in that county that the Coeur d'Alene riots occurred in 1899. It is probable that the funeral will be held in Boise, the body lying in state in the capitol building.

While governor of Idaho Steunenberg became widely known. He favored toleration to Mormons, although not a Mormon in belief. He strenuously attacked the strike rioters during his two terms as governor. He caused some comment during a visit to New York by stalking through the streets in a sombrero and without a necktie.

Mr. Steunenberg was governor of Idaho from 1899 to 1901, having been twice elected. He was a Populist. He was born in Iowa 44 years ago, and had been in Idaho since 1887. He leaves a widow and three children.

Cannot Find Boy's Relatives

New Brunswick, N. J., Jan. 1.—The police of this city are puzzled over a case of abandonment in which they have a 5-year-old boy on their hands who declares his name is Harold Rees and that he comes from Bridgeport, Conn. The boy was found on the street. His clothes bear the label of a Bridgeport firm. The Bridgeport police have been communicated with, but they have been unable to learn of any boy missing from there.

"Belongs to United States"

Havana, Jan. 1.—The Americans in the vicinity of Nueva Gerona, Isle of Pines, who are interested in the attempt to separate the island from Cuba have issued an appeal to the people of the United States to aid in preventing the ratification of the Isle of Pines treaty pending in the United States senate. The appeal reiterates the arguments that the island belongs to the United States.

Ferry Passengers Waded Ashore

Bristol, R. I., Jan. 1.—The little ferryboat Columbia, which plies between here and Bristol Ferry, broke down at the entrance of the harbor and after tossing about for some time was driven ashore on a sandy beach. The eight passengers were obliged to wade through four feet of icy water.

Dominican Crisis Imminent

Washington, Jan. 1.—The latest advices from San Domingo show that while conditions are unsettled all is quiet. As viewed in official circles here the situation is serious and the belief is expressed that a clash of the contending interests is probable.

Women Swear Off Tea Drinking

New York, Jan. 1.—At a meeting of the Women's Press club, whose members represent most every profession except that of active newspaper workers, at the Waldorf, a resolution was adopted to stop tea drinking.

Money Returned

FOR ALL

Cash Sale Checks

DATED

December 14th.

IF CALLED FOR ON OR BEFORE JANUARY 6th.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

Restful Couches.

Couch comfort isn't expensive when you buy it here, and no house is complete today without a Couch.

We carry over forty styles of Couches at prices ranging from $4.98 to $35.00. We make a specialty of popular priced ones, $9.50 to $15.00, and our couches at these prices are simply wonderful.

Your choice of Coverings. Everything that's new or up-to-date is here for you to choose from without extra charge.

Reasonable terms for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Caught the First Breezes.

Neighbors of George H. Wilson thought he was a very early riser this morning, for his flag was flying long before sunrise. Inquiry revealed the fact that the flag was sent to the mast head about ten minutes before midnight, so that it waved out the Old Year, and caught the first breezes of the New Year.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 5mos

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.

Notary Public. Constable.

Rents and Bills Collected.

Care of Estates a Specialty.

1249 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13

Telephones { Office, 249-3 Residence, 25-6

Quincy, March 20.

Greatest Assortment In Quincy. SHOES

PLEASING to the Eyes, EASY on your Purse, COMFORTABLE on your Feet, SERVICEABLE at all times.

We know how to MAKE Shoes; how to BUY shoes; how to FIT your feet properly. We SELL all first-class

Footwear at Cut Prices.

Everything you desire in the line of WARM SHOES.

Complete RUBBER STOCK of six different manufacturers.

We WARRANT everything we sell.

This is the place to buy. You SAVE from 1 cent to $1.00 on every article you buy in Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, Stationery, Hosiery, etc.

KARL W. LEAF,

Brewers Corner. Quincy.

Quincy, Dec. 1. tf

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH

PENNYROYAL PILLS

Original and Only Genuine. SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.

Quincy, Nov. 14. 1ptf

For Sale.

THE Established Granite Plant of the late John Johnston, situated at Wollaston, on the line of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. A chance for a side track for shipping or receiving freight. The Plant consists of Stone Cutting Shed, Blacksmith Shop, Office, and Derrick, and 16,000 feet of land. This is an excellent opportunity to purchase a Granite Plant. Also the location is first class for any Manufacturing purpose. The same will be sold at a very reasonable price.

Apply to JAMES F. BURKE, Agent, Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy.

By order of JAMES MALCOLM, Administrator.

Quincy, Nov. 9. tf

BARGAIN IN WATER FRONTAGE.

ON NEPONSET RIVER, 1 1-2 acres, 400 feet on river, close to deep water channel, large amount of sand and gravel on lot. $2500 for lot.

F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.

Dec. 13. 18t

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.

See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.

Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 8 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.

F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.

Dec. 26. 12t

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1005 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large suite rooms. Apply to THEODORE HEINMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.

Oct. 25. tf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to

GEO. W. PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office.

THE DEATH ROLL

Harvest of the Grim Reaper In 1905.

ALL SOCIAL RANKS INVADED

Writers of Note, Famous Artists, Distinguished Statesmen and Diplomats, Celebrated Actors and Gallant Soldiers Called From Earth. Long Array of Shining Marks.

JANUARY.

4. Theodore Thomas, noted orchestra leader, in Chicago; aged 70.
9. Louise Michel, French communist and revolutionary agitator, in Paris; aged 75.
19. George H. Boughton, noted American artist, in London; aged 69.

FEBRUARY.

1. Oswald Achenbach, well known painter of the Dusseldorf school, at Dusseldorf; aged 78.
12. William Cullen Bryant, well known newspaper man, founder of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, at Plainfield, N. J.; aged 86.
16. Jay Cooke, noted financier, at Ogonts, Pa., aged 83. Gen. Lew Wallace, soldier, diplomat and author, at Crawfordsville, Ind.; aged 78.
20. Edward Cooper, son of the late Peter Cooper, the philanthropist and former mayor of New York, in that city; aged 81.
27. Ex-Governor George S. Boutwell, former United States senator and former secretary of treasury, at Groton, Mass.; aged 87.

MARCH.

1. Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford, widow of United States Senator Leland Stanford of California, in Honolulu.
6. Judge John H. Reagan, sole survivor of the Confederate cabinet, at Palestine, Tex.; aged 87.
8. Gabriel Jules Thomas, noted sculptor, in Paris; aged 81. A. M. Palmer, well known theatrical manager, in New York city; aged 67.
17. Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, civil war veteran, ex-United States senator from Connecticut and former governor of that state, in Washington; aged 79.
24. Jules Verne, French author, at Amiens; aged 77.
25. Maurice Barrymore, noted American actor, at Amityville, N. Y.; aged 53.

APRIL.

9. Sarah Chauncey Woolsey (Susan Coolidge), writer of children's stories, at Newport, R. I.; aged 70.
15. John Palmer, former commander in chief of the G. A. R., at Albany, N. Y.; aged 73.
18. Joseph Jefferson, the American actor, at The Reefs, Palm Beach, Fla.; aged 76.
28. Gen. Fitz-Hugh Lee, noted Confederate veteran and former United States consul general at Havana, in Washington; aged 70.

Joseph Jefferson.

MAY.

12. Emerson Bennett, noted fiction writer, in Philadelphia; aged 58.
13. Hiram Cronk, last surviving soldier of the war of 1812, at Ava, N. Y.; aged 105.
14. Jessie Bartlett Davis, the light opera singer, in Chicago; aged 36. H. M. Ticknor, educator, lecturer and journalist, in San Francisco; aged 69.
15. Thomas H. Bishop, who wrote "John Brown's Body" and other songs, in Philadelphia.
21. Mrs. R. Ogden Doremus, for many years prominent in New York society, in that city; aged 85. Alfdon W. Tourgee, noted writer and lecturer and United States consul at Bordeaux, in that city; aged 67.
25. Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, writer and reformer, at Melrose, Mass.; aged 85.
26. Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, head of the Paris branch of the Rothschild banking house, in Paris; aged 73.

JUNE.

3. Gen. H. V. Boynton, noted journalist, Federal veteran of the civil war and president of the Chickamauga Park association, in Atlantic city; aged 70.
7. Beriah Wilkins, editor and proprietor of the Washington Post, in Washington; aged 59.
8. Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, whose nomination to the throne of Spain caused the Franco-Prussian war in 1870, at Berlin; aged 70.
12. Col. William Colville, who led the famous charge of the First Minnesota at Gettysburg, at Minneapolis.
17. Gen. Maximo Gomez, the Cuban leader, at Havana; aged 74.
24. John Pratt, inventor of the typewriter, at Chattanooga.
28. Gen. Hugh Boyle Ewing, soldier, author and diplomat, at Lancaster, O.; aged 79.

JULY.

1. John Hay, United States secretary of state, at Newbury, N. H.; aged 67.
2. Rev. George Edward Day, noted Hebrew scholar and one of the revisers of the Bible, in New Haven; aged 80.
4. Prof. Jacques Reclus, famous geographer, in Brussels; aged 76.
8. Walter Kittredge, author of "Rentin' Tonight," at Manchester, N. H.
10. Daniel Scott Lamont, secretary of war under Cleveland, at Poughkeepsie; aged 54.
26. Gen. William Blackmar, commander in chief of the G. A. R., in Boise, Ida.; aged 64.

John Hay.

AUGUST.

6. Gen. Roy Stone, noted civil war veteran and a distinguished engineer on public works, at Mendham, N. J.; aged 66.
9. Archbishop Chapelle of the Roman Catholic diocese of New Orleans, victim of yellow fever; aged 61.
10. William Adolphe Bouguereau, celebrated French painter, in La Rochelle; aged 80.
11. Mary Mapes Dodge, author, poet and editor of St. Nicholas, at Tamersville, N. Y.; aged 67.
31. Francesco Tamagno, noted tenor, at Varese, Italy; aged 48.

SEPTEMBER.

5. Gen. Bjornstjerna, distinguished Swedish soldier and diplomat, at Stockholm; aged 86. Hezekiah Butterworth, noted American author and editor, at Warren, R. I.; aged 68.
13. George Macdonald, English novelist, at Sagamore, Surrey, England; aged 81.
19. Dr. Thomas John Barnard, founder of numerous homes for poor boys in English cities, in London; aged 60.
28. Even Adolf Hedin, Swedish reformer and historian and a leader of the liberal party, in Stockholm; aged 71.
— Frank Beard, well known illustrator and lecturer, in Chicago; aged 62.

OCTOBER.

— Prince Sergius Troubetskoy, Russian liberal reformer, at St. Petersburg; aged 48. Joseph Shaw Lowell, well known reformer and philanthropist, in New York city; aged 66.
— Sir Henry Irving, noted English actor, at Bradford, England, aged 67.
— Jerry Simpson, former congressman and noted Populist leader, at Wichita, Kan.; aged 63.
— Gen. Dragomiroff, Russian soldier and hero of the Turkish war, at Konotop.

Sir Henry Irving.

NOVEMBER.

— William T. Richards, famous American marine artist, at Newport, R. I.; aged 68.
— Sir George Williams, founder of the Y. M. C. A., in London; aged 84. Lady Florence Dixie, author, explorer and woman's rights champion, at Glen Stuart, Scotland; aged 48.

DECEMBER.

— John Bartlett, compiler of "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations," at Cambridge, Mass.; aged 85.
— United States Senator John H. Mitchell of Oregon, at Portland; aged 58.
— Louisa Eldridge (Aunt Louisa), well known actress in New York city; aged 75.
— Edward Atkinson, social and political economist, in Boston; aged 78.
— Sir Richard Claverhouse Jebb, noted Greek scholar, in London; aged 66.
— William Sharp, Scotch poet and novelist, author of novels published under the pseudonym of Miss Fiona Macleod, in Sicily; aged 50.

MOODS OF NATURE

JANUARY.

25. Severe blizzard in the eastern states caused by the convergence of two storms.

FEBRUARY.

12. Cold wave in the northwest; many persons frozen to death.

MARCH.

11. 3 people killed by a tornado in Randolph county, Ala.

APRIL.

4. 15,000 deaths reported by an earthquake in India which affected an area of 70 square miles, rendering every building uninhabitable.
20. Nearly 100 people killed, several hundred injured and 150 houses destroyed by a tornado at Laredo, Tex.

MAY.

2. 25 deaths in a tornado at Marquette, Kan.
19. Over 100 deaths in a tornado at Snyder, Okla., and vicinity.

JULY.

5. 40 deaths in a tornado which devastated Montague county, Tex.

AUGUST.

21. 21 killed and many missing in a storm which swept over southern Minnesota.
24. 14 killed and much property wrecked by a cloudburst in Rhode Canyon, Colo.

SEPTEMBER.

8. 18 villages in the district of Calabria, Italy, destroyed by an earthquake; 10,000 houses ruined and 2,500 people killed or injured.
27. A fatal and destructive typhoon swept over Luzon and other Philippine islands, over 100 deaths and a loss of property estimated at $5,000,000.

OCTOBER.

18. 3 people killed and 35 injured by a tornado at Sorento, Ill.
— A sun spot covering over 12,000,000,000 miles discovered by Father Rodrigues, director of the astronomical observatory of the Vatican.

NOVEMBER.

4. 30 killed and many injured by a tornado at Mountain View, Okla.
7-8. Fierce storm on the lakes; 26 vessels wrecked; 36 lives lost; estimated damage $2,750,000.

RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

JANUARY.

22. Strikers in St. Petersburg repulsed in an attempt to present a petition to the czar.
22. Striking Russian workmen, led by Father Gapon, fired upon while attempting to reach the czar to present their grievances; heavy loss of life reported.
31. Czar Nicholas gave audience to a delegation of Russian workmen and promised reforms in their interests.

FEBRUARY.

17. Grand Duke Sergius, uncle of the czar of Russia, slain by an assassin's bomb in Moscow.

MARCH.

3. The czar issued a liberal rescript promising to convene a national assembly of elected representatives.

APRIL.

30. Religious liberty granted to certain denominations by the czar of Russia.

MAY.

1. Workmen's riots suppressed by the soldiers in Warsaw.
— The governor of Baku, Caucasia, assassinated.

JUNE.

25. Strike disorders in Odessa, Russia; loss of property by incendiary fires. The Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine, in the hands of mutineers, appeared in the harbor and trained her guns on the city.

JULY.

8. The Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine delivers [illegible] to the Roumanian authorities [illegible] mutinous crew.
11. Count [illegible] prefect of police at Moscow, assassinated.
19. Zemstvo congress opened at Moscow.

AUGUST.

12. A national representative assembly summoned by the czar.

SEPTEMBER.

25. General strike of railway men in Russia. Riots in the great cities.
30. The czar issued a manifesto granting civil liberty to his people, with Count Witte as premier.

NOVEMBER.

1. Riot and disorder at Odessa and vicinity accompanied by attacks on the Jews.
4. The czar Nicholas granted the demands of Finland for autonomy in government as it existed before 1858. Amnesty unless signed, freeing political prisoners, and press censorship abolished.
8. Mutiny of Russian sailors at Cronstadt.
12. Martial law declared throughout Poland. Political uprising and riot at Vladivostok.
17. Czar Nicholas granted land concessions to the peasants.
— Russian sailors and soldiers mutinied at Sevastopol.
18. Russian mutineers at Sevastopol conquered after a severe battle.

DECEMBER.

5. Gen. Sacharoff, former Russian minister of war, assassinated.
10. Fresh outbreaks in the Baltic provinces with Riga as the storm center.
15. The executive committee of the labor unions in St. Petersburg arrested.
17. Martial law in force throughout the empire.

A GOOD CAPTURE

One Policeman Gathers Four Alleged Shoplifters

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 1.—Two men standing in a doorway late [illegible] day night excited the suspicions of officer by passing articles to two [illegible] Single-handed the policeman held four people in the doorway while called assistance, and the people taken to the police station. They the names of Thomas and Fannie [illegible]na of 14 Emmet street, and Flore Biasky and Aruda Letore of 86 [illegible] berry street.

A search of these places yester found two small children at the for home and five at the latter, and both places were found goods to value of nearly $5000 apparently sto from local stores. The merchand was taken to police headquarte where several merchants identifie The foreigners stated that they w planning on returning to Italy s They will be arraigned on a charg shoplifting.

Brockton Has $135,000 Fire

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 1.—The [illegible] block, a big five-story wooden struct located at the corner of Main [illegible] Wharf streets, was practically stroyed by fire, which began at 10 o'clock last night. The cause of fire is not yet known. Starting in cellar of the grocery store of A. Shaw, the flames worked upward w great rapidity. Unable to handle fire, the local department was obl to call on Boston and Quincy for assistance. The theatre section of t building was saved from destructi but the loss on the main structure w be in the neighborhood of $135,000.

Third Petition For Pardon

Boston, Jan. 1.—Signed by scor prominent men, a third petition, p ing for the pardon of Charles H. Co former president of the Globe Natio bank of Boston, who has complet nearly six of an eight years' sente in the Greenfield county jail for e bezzlement of $900,000 from the ba has been returned to Boston fro Washington, and confidence of supe is entertained by friends despite pr vious reverses. The main contention that Cole returned $1,000,000 to t Globe bank which he might have kept

Tax Collector's Queer Story

Dayton, Me., Jan. 1.—A shortage $1900 in the accounts of former Tax Collector Russell, which he acknowledges and attempts to explain by stating that the money was destroyed by fire, is announced, as well as the action of the selectmen in bringing suit against Russell's bondsmen. Russell states that on Dec. 8 he had the $1900 ready to turn over to his successor. The money was in bills, and laid on his table. A lamp, however, exploded, and the money was entirely destroyed by the fire.

Stole $1100 From Employer

Chelsea, Mass., Jan. 1.—When [illegible] coln C. Larabee, a machinist of t city, returned home Saturday night found his room in confusion and $1100 missing from his trunk. When the police investigated the affair Larabee's housekeeper, Mrs. Shattuck, denied all knowledge of the theft, but later confessed and brought the money down from the attic. She was locked up on a charge of larceny, Larabee offering to furnish bail for her.

Killed Himself by Accident

Stratford, Conn., Jan. 1.—Dean French, 16 years old, was giving a new gun a trial. In climbing over a stone fence he stumbled, expleding the gun, and the charge blew away a part of his right hand and entered his side. Although terribly wounded, the boy bound a handkerchief around his hand and started to crawl to his home. He pulled himself along the ground for about 200 feet, when his strength gave out and he died.

Schooner's Officers Drowned

Woods Hole, Mass., Jan. 1.—A great wave rolled up Vineyard sound and, overtaking schooner Henry O. Barrett, tumbled over the stern and swept overboard to their death Captain Joshua Norton, commander of the vessel, and his mate, James Conley. The wave jammed the helmsman against the wheel, after smashing the yawl and davits, and then tore through the spinnaker and jigger sails and carried away the deckhouse.

Boston Gets Ninety-Cent Gas

Boston, Jan. 1.—The Boston Consolidated Gas company today reduced the price of gas to 90 cents. This is the second voluntary reduction in price that has been made since the consolidation of the several smaller companies last June. These voluntary reductions represent saving to the public of about $250,000, for the year ending June 30, 1906.

Caught in Vineyard Sound

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Jan. 1.—Schooner Fortuna, Savannah for Boston, came into port after being anchored two days in Vineyard sound, during which she fouled and probably parted the telegraph cable from Woods Holl, which has not been working for two days.

Boston Scots Get $50,000

Boston, Jan. 1.—The fund of the Scots' Charitable society, which is used by that organization for the assistance of needy countrymen, has been increased by $50,000, a gift from Andrew Carnegie. The society dates its organization back nearly 250 years.

Had Passed 105th Birthday

Boston, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Margaret Clancy, who was 105 years old Christmas day, died at the residence of her daughter in this city last evening. Mrs. Clancy was a native of Ireland, and came to the United States 67 years ago.

Come Own

DA

QUINC

Assemblies

Ticket good for 3 lessons pupils.

ELMER W.

Quincy, Nov. 24.

To

WIT

Now Fo

All kinds

Bo

C. P

Dec. 26.

I Have Just

CHINA CUPS

CHOCOLA

which

I have also a

Go-carts, Baby C

other goods

Hoping to recei and Atlantic.

I remain yours t

J. A

401 Hancock Str

Quincy, Dec. 4.

THE

Finds

to fill

of the Watches Chains

Charms Rings
Fobs
Cut Glass
Silverware
Carvers
Scissors

We bu

urers

C. F.

1391

Quincy, Dec. 11.

A FA

En

the

WHERE DO YOU LIV

Is the safest the man with long list of d

ROOM and on

Road. This p hood. Will be

JULI

Tel. Con. Ro

Come Now Own Up

You don't like those gray hairs, do you? And your husband certainly doesn't like them. Then why not try a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor? It restores color to gray hair every time, all the deep, rich color of early life. And it cures dandruff also. Sold for 60 years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

DANCING SCHOOL

Every WEDNESDAY Night.

Ticket good for 5 lessons: Gents, $2.25. Ladies, $1.75. A discount of 25 cents to former pupils. Small Private Parties Solicited.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

To The Tall Pines

WITH SANTA CLAUS.

Now For The COAL MAN!

All kinds and sizes, BEST QUALITY.

Boston Prices.

C. PATCH & SON.

Dec. 26. pl tf

I Have Just Received Another Assortment of

CHINA CUPS and SAUCERS, worth 35c to 50c for 25c

CHOCOLATE POTS, CUPS and SAUCERS TO MATCH

which will make a handsome Christmas present.

I have also a line of the best Christmas Goods, consisting of Dolls, Go-carts, Baby Carriages, Express Wagons and Wheel Barrows, and other goods.

Hoping to receive a share of the patronage of Wollaston, Norfolk Downs and Atlantic.

I remain yours truly,

J. A. JOHNSON.

401 Hancock Street, Quincy, Dec. 4. Norfolk Downs. 3m

THE HOLIDAY RUSH

Finds us amply prepared with abundant supplies to fill quickly and satisfactorily every requirement of the trade in all lines:

Watches	Souvenirs	Clocks
Chains	Umbrellas	Razors
Charms	Fountain Pens	Thimbles
Rings	Pocket Books	Bracelets
Fobs	Pocket Knives	Lockets
Cut Glass	Opera Glasses	Hat Pins
Silverware	Manicure Sets	Scarf Pins
Carvers	Thermometers	Match Safes
Scissors	Comb and Brushes	Baby Rattles

We buy direct from Manufacturers and our Prices are Right.

C. F. PETTENGILL.

1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Quincy, Dec. 11. lop-tf

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us all . . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

END OF UPRISING

Revolutionaries Give Up the Struggle at Moscow

WHITE FLAG DISPLAYED

Hundred Men Kept Up Show of Fight That Comrades Might Escape Under Cover--Tenement Quarter Is Desolate

Moscow, Jan. 1.—White flags flying from a dozen factories in the tenement house, or Presna district, where the revolutionaries made their last stand, now bear mute witness to the end of the December uprising in Moscow. The entire district is now occupied by troops.

During Saturday night the vast majority of the members of the "Fighting Legions" either surrendered or, after throwing away their arms, endeavored to escape in the guise of peaceful citizens. Only the members who acted as a guard to the revolutionary committee stuck to their colors and the surrender of this handful yesterday furnished the last act of the sanguinary drama.

The staging of this last act was admirable—a snow-covered landscape, the small black residence with a tiny red flag fluttering from its gable, the end of Corbatoff bridge, black with the guns of the artillery, and a thin encircling line of the Seminovsky regiment of the guard, broken only directly in the line of fire. Suddenly there was a flash of fire from the mouth of one of the guns and a solid shot ploughed through the walls of the house. A few spluttering shots replied from the windows. The cannon spoke again and again until a dozen shots had been fired.

It looked like murder to the spectators on a hill, and so evidently thought the officer in command of the battery, which ceased fire. A reserve company of the Seminovsky regiment then advanced and fired volleys at the upper windows. At the third volley a white handkerchief attached to a bayonet was pushed through a shattered pane. It waved frantically and all was over. The little garrison of 30 marched out and laid down their arms, a strange collection of rifles and repeating shotguns. All had revolvers.

Strange to say, not one of the men had even been wounded, and when they found that they would not be immediately executed they appeared to be rather relieved that the end of the struggle had come. The number of prisoners is being constantly augmented, most of the new arrivals being arrested at the bridges or at other points of egress in the Presna district, which is crowded with refugees.

It is learned that after the fall of the Prokharoff cotton mill and other factories a council was hastily held at which it was decided that the revolution had failed and an order was given to every man to save himself as best he could. A hundred agreed to hold together so as to keep up a show of fight, under cover of which the others could escape.

After the final surrender the inhabitants swarmed into the streets of the district and cleared away the remains of the barricades and other obstructions with which for a week the revolutionaries had blockaded the district.

In squads of five, the soldiers penetrated every house, searching for weapons. Considering the intensity of Saturday's bombardment, when as many as five shots a minute were fired, besides the steady volleys of the infantry, the losses are surprisingly small, not more than 40 of the revolutionaries or the inhabitants being killed, and only about 200 being wounded in the district. Among the fighting revolutionaries were several girl students, who stood by their comrades until the last.

The only serious attempt at defense was made at Schmidt's furniture factory, where the losses were heavy, but it is impossible to give the number, as the factory was burned and the bodies were incinerated. The Manantoff factory was also burned.

The losses to the troops were slight in this region. The Seminovsky regiment, which performed most of the work, had one man killed and a score wounded.

The Presna quarter is a scene of desolation. Fugitives are seeking new homes and the women are bending under the weight of huge packs of bedding, many of them dragging their children along. Sledges are piled high with all the worldly goods of many families, the family ikon usually crowning the top of each pile. The poor people make very slow progress with their bundles and are subjected to continual search by the soldiers, who sometimes delight in throwing the loads into the snow and making merry at the sorry spectacle.

The appearance of the centre of the city is quite normal. The people who have been cooped up for a week are crowding the streets, through which pass gay sleighs and the magnificent turnouts of the Moscow merchant princes.

The workmen's council, or what is left of it outside prison, has formally declared the strike off. The revolutionaries have managed to get out a proclamation declaring that the purposes of the revolt have been fully accomplished and calling upon the proletariat to prepare for a decisive battle Jan. 22. A great many of the workmen, however, are in an angry mood and are threatening vengeance on the agitators.

The casualties here have been greatly over-estimated. It is difficult to obtain reliable figures, as the majority of losses are never reported, but up to Friday night only 187 were formally reported as dead and 227 as wounded.

Governor General Doubassoff has issued a proclamation forbidding well disposed citizens to shelter revolutionaries, but the former are powerless, as the revolutionaries appear at their houses with revolvers in their hands.

Extensive Martial Law

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—With the crushing of the Moscow revolt, interest is now transferred to other places where there are armed uprisings. Practically the entire Black sea littoral is under martial law. Ekaterinslav and the railroad to the Crimea are in the hands of revolutionaries and the troops have been ordered to retake them at all costs. The situation is extremely bad at Bachmut, in White Russia, where the coal fields are located. The revolt at Samara has been suppressed with much bloodshed.

Planning Witte's Downfall

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—The report that Count Witte is booked for retirement is again being persistently circulated. It is said that Minister of the Interior Durnovo has accomplished the downfall of the count and will be elevated to the premiership. Investigation, however, indicates that the report is baseless, certainly for the moment. Nevertheless it is true that Durnovo has a powerful cabal of reactionaries behind him and temporarily seems to dominate the situation.

Slaughter Worse Than War

Rome, Jan. 1.—Seventeen senators and 38 members of the chamber of deputies, who formed themselves into a committee to organize a manifestation against the massacres in Russia, have published a manifesto, in which it is pointed out that the slaughter in Russia has done greater damage to that nation than she suffered by her military reverses in the Far East. The protest is without religious, political or social distinction.

Government Replies to Threats

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—An official communication refers to the threats of the revolutionary organs to renew the struggle this month. The government announces its determination to energetically suppress all preparations for such a rising. It declares that the rising, if carried into effect, will be crushed with every means in the power of the government.

Bullet Wounds Proved Fatal

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—General Bogdanovitch, vice governor general of Tamboff, who was wounded three times with revolver shots Dec. 28, has died of his wounds.

Riot Results In Thirty Deaths

Kharkoff, Jan. 1.—In a collision at Linbotin railroad station between soldiers and railroad strikers, 30 persons were killed and many injured.

Another Candidate For Speaker

New York, Jan. 1.—With the endorsement of 24 members of the state assembly, nearly all of whom received the support of the Municipal Ownership league in the last election, Assemblyman Wainwright has again been placed in the race for the speakership of the assembly. The action of the local assemblymen in voting to support Wainwright came as something of a surprise. Wainwright announced his independent candidacy some time ago, but had not been pressing it actively.

With One Concern Seventy Years

Medford, Mass., Jan. 1.—Amasa Law, an employe of the American Bank Note company for 70 years, and up to seven years ago the superintendent of the company in Boston, died at his home in this city, aged 87. Law was not actively engaged in the company's business for the past few years, but was on the payroll at the time of his death.

A Free Trade Manifesto

London, Jan. 1.—The Duke of Devonshire, Liberal Unionist, has issued an election manifesto in which he virtually advises the free trade Unionists to support the Liberal candidates rather than the protectionist Unionists. By treating the home rule question as a mere side issue, he deals the strongest blow yet delivered against Balfour's election tactics.

Minister Is Arrested

New York, Jan. 1.—The fifth floor of the annex of the People's tabernacle collapsed, carrying down two laborers. The structure is to be a home for working girls. The pastor of the church, Rev. Henry M. Tyndall, was arrested. The minister was greatly excited after the collapse. He has been working as a laborer in the construction of the annex.

Stork Likes New York

New York, Jan. 1.—Once in every five minutes during the year just closed did the stork visit New York city. From these visits alone the city's population was increased by 103,852. These figures, given out by Commissioner Darlington of the department of health, show an increase in births for the year of more than 4000 over 1901.

Kick May Have Caused Death

Westboro, Mass., Jan. 1.—John Foley, 16 years old, died at the Lyman school for boys. It is believed he was kicked by a horse, but Dr. Ayer, who attended the boy, said he could find no marks on his body. Foley was committed to the Lyman school two years ago from North Adams.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Jan. 2.
Sun rises—7:14; sets—4:23.
Moon's first quarter—9:52 a. m.
High water—4:45 a. m.; 5 p. m.

In New England the weather will be generally fair.

PEACE IN BALANCE

Would Take but Little to "Unchain Catastrophe."

FRANCO-GERMAN ENMITY

Paris Newspapers All Recognize Existence of Widespread Feelings of Inquietude--Possible Split on Moroccan Conference

Paris, Jan. 1.—Some of the papers here continue to publish lengthy telegrams from frontier towns, reporting extraordinary activity of the military authorities. The Intransigeant reproduces the alleged declaration of a superior Belgian staff officer upon the military precautions Belgium is taking in order to preserve neutrality, and also a lengthy special dispatch showing the defensive strength of the main frontier points.

Deputy Jaures reflects the pessimistic view of the Socialist element, writing in The Humanite that "the antagonism in which France and Germany enter the Morocco conference causes a terrible uneasiness to weigh upon Europe, as the slightest untoward incident might unchain a catastrophe."

Other journals take a more conservative view, although all recognize the existence of widespread feelings of inquietude. Marcel Prevost, in The Figaro, seeks to analyze the existing feelings, saying it is the nation's awakening from pacificism. This, Prevost says, must be understood as an indication neither of a desire for war nor actual anticipation of war, but a lively sentiment which has taken hold of the people that the nation should be prepared for all emergencies. This sentiment, he adds, has grown out of the scare of some months ago, when Germany's attitude in Morocco seemed to threaten grave consequences, and France was made to realize that arranging ententes and arbitration had relaxed her military policy. The agitation began against pacificism as being opposed to patriotism.

The present movement is, in effect, says Prevost, an expression of the sentiment against pacificism and in favor of military alertness. It is not to be understood as indicating the purpose of France to assume a belligerent role in the Morocco conference, but merely a return to the former policy of military preparedness.

Extra Hour's Work For Free Beer

Cincinnati, Jan. 1.—Nine hours as a day with free beer won over a demand for an eight-hour day presented by the employes of nearly 40 breweries in this city. Several weeks ago the brewery workers presented a demand that when the present contract expires Feb. 1, a new contract providing for an eight-hour day be accepted. In reply the employers said they were willing to concede the eight-hour day, but it must be without the customary allowance of free beer. However, they offered to continue giving the beer with a nine-hour day and this proposition has been accepted.

Honolulu Officials Aroused

Honolulu, Jan. 1.—Local officials and physicians who were concerned in the investigation into the death of Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford in this city express indignation over a cabled report to the effect that President Jordan of the Leland Stanford university has made a statement in Denver, alleging that the claim that she had died from poison has been made the basis of a plot by Honolulu officials to extort large fees. Dr. Humphreys declares that the report is a vicious falsehood.

Ended Life With Poison

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 1.—James Kinnear of Derby, Conn., aged 30, committed suicide by poisoning at the Hotel Miller here. He left a letter addressed to his mother saying that he had ended his life and regretted that he had not been able to be of greater assistance to his family. He also left a small sum of money for his mother. Kinnear had been employed as foreman of a gang of telephone linemen.

Pal of Machen Sentenced

Washington, Jan. 1.—William G. Crawford, convicted of conspiring with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz to defraud the United States in connection with a contract for supplying the postoffice department with letter carriers' satchels, was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. An appeal was noted, and Crawford was released on bail.

Lumber Schooner Waterlogged

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 1.—Schooner Flora Rogers, bound from a Maine port to Charleston with a cargo of lumber, is ashore on Sunken Island. Her condition is serious, as she has lost her rudder, most of her keel and stem-post. She is water-logged, but the crew remains aboard her.

Fatal Duel on a Roof

New York, Jan. 1.—In what the police declare was a prearranged duel between two Italians, fought on the roof of a six-story tenement last night, Antonio Mazza was shot through the head and killed, but no trace has been found of his alleged antagonist, Antonio Valeo.

Policeman Killed In Collision

Detroit, Jan. 1.—A passenger train struck the rear of a trolley car last night at a railroad crossing and Patrolman W. H. Thatcher, who was standing on the rear platform of the trolley car, was instantly killed.

WANT EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Ten Thousand Book and Job Printers May Quit Work

Boston, Jan. 1.—Today is to witness the inauguration of a strike for an eight-hour workday which will extend to nearly all the cities of the United States. The strike is declared by officials of the International Typographical union and of the 49,000 members it is estimated that 10,000 will be affected, all in the book and job printing trade.

In Boston a strike of about 300 book and job printers is expected Feb. 1. The struggle is thus deferred a month in this city, but the assessment of 10 percent on the wages of all union printers begins today.

The struggle, it is declared on both sides, will be one to a finish. The Typothetae, or Employers' association, has organized to make a determined effor to maintain the present nine-hour day, and the International Typographical union is equally determined to win.

Both sides have plenty of funds. The union has voted an assessment of 10 percent each week on the wages of working members, which will yield about $62,000 weekly. The American Federation of Labor has also contributed $80,000 to the strike fund.

Newspapers are not affected by the strike, as the International Typographical union and the American Newspaper Publishers' association have an agreement and are on friendly terms.

The master printers claim to have plenty of non-union men to take the strikers' places, but the union men declare the non-union men will be unable to do the work.

Noisy New Year's Welcome

New York, Jan. 1.—The advent of the new year was the occasion last night of the usual noisy demonstrations throughout the city. The fact that New Year's eve fell on Sunday did not dampen the enthusiasm of the tens of thousands of people, who paraded the streets blowing great tin horns, ringing bells of all descriptions and resorting to all sorts of methods for the production of noise. In the theatre and restaurant district of upper Broadway the crowds were the largest in years. Tables had been reserved in the more fashionable restaurants for months ahead, and last night not a vacant place was to be had at any price.

Alleged Dormitory Pillager

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 1.—The police are satisfied that in James H. Langley, a negro, who was arrested Saturday night, they have the man who has been doing the stealing in the Harvard university dormitories during the past month or more. The police say that a coat pawned by Langley, cigaret cases, a pipe and other articles which he had upon his person at the time of his arrest have been identified as property stolen from Wadsworth house during the day. They expect to place against him charges of other breaks in dormitories. The man has an exceedingly bad record.

President's Vacation Ended

Washington, Jan. 1.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt, with their two children, Kermit and Archie, returned to Washington at 11 o'clock last night from their visit to Pine Knob, Va., where they had been staying since Wednesday last. They are in the best of health and spirits.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mrs. Helen H. Flett, for over 20 years the matron of the infirmary at Vassar college, died suddenly from embolism of the heart.

President Andrews of the Cleveland Electric Railway company has declined the recent offer to him to become president of the London Underground railway system.

The executive board of the Vermont state branch of the American Federation of Labor adopted resolutions endorsing the stand taken by the Typographical union for an eight-hour day, and pledging the financial assistance of the Vermont branch.

Roy Burrell, 12 years old, was drowned while skating at South Braintree, Mass., and L. B. Smith, a man who attempted to save Burrell, was himself rescued by several boys.

George Washington, youngest son of the late John Augustine Washington, who was the last individual owner of Mount Vernon, and the last of the Washington family to be born in the old Washington home, died at his home at Charleston, W. Va.

The car barn of the Portland Street Railway company, located at Westbrook, Me., was burned. There was no loss of cars. The total loss is about $5000. The fire is supposed to have been started by an electric wire.

The tannery plant of the Hancock Leather company at Riceville, Me., was destroyed by fire. The loss is $45,000. The fire originated from the explosion of a lantern.

1906 JANUARY 1906

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:57 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

R. D. CHASE, QUINCY, MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 380 Granite Street, cor. Water.

Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec 27. 12t

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN

DENTIST,

Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.

OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 4. Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31.

JAMES F. BURKE

REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE

MORTGAGES.

Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 9.

DR. A. B. PACKARD

DENTIST.

Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8.
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p

C. H. HARDWICK

Counsellor at Law,

Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy Square, Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds. of
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,

Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.

JOBBING.

Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.

Ceiling work a specialty.

WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.

23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FRANK F. CRANE,

REAL ESTATE,

AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,

Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds

Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

HOTEL GREENLEAF.

AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.

MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS, Jr,
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf of

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Miller Street. Tel. 207-2,

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1.00 Per Day.
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station

Quincy Daily Ledger.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	40	36	40	33	39
Monday,	41	29	47	14	27
Tuesday,	—	40	45	31	23
Wednesday,	—	49	34	35	31
Thursday,	—	50	14	13	18
Friday,	—	58	23	25	31
Saturday,	—	45	21	32	41

New Advertisements Today.

Henry L. Kincaide & Co.—Couches.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.—New Coats.
George W. Jones—Cash Checks.

Local Ins And Outs

D. E. Wadsworth has cut down prices on ladies coats.

Mrs. David Brown is confined to her home on Farrington street quite ill.

Daniel B. Snow of Cottage street is entertaining his sister from Lewiston, Maine.

The Boys' Brigade of Wollaston baptist church meets in the chapel this evening.

The reading of the Inaugural address by Mayor Thompson required just 36 minutes.

Mrs. J. A. Kendall of Walker street has been visiting her sister in Manchester, N. H.

The Junior Endeavorers of Bethany church are holding a star social this afternoon in the chapel.

Miss Grace Manhire of Albertina street left last week for a two weeks' visit with her sister at New York.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beckford is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. G. O. Langley of Washington street for a few weeks.

Mrs. Francis Baxter of Washington street will entertain the Brownie whist club at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., will initiate several candidates at its meeting in Wilson's hall on Wednesday evening.

Miss Alice B. Hultman has returned to her home on Washington street from a pleasant visit in New York with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rogers of Atlantic are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Clapp of Weymouth for a few days.

Miss Blanche Thayer is to resume her duties as matron at the City Hospital this week after several months' rest and recreation.

The inaugural address of Mayor Thompson made just 23 pages of typewritten copy, probably one page for each Councilman.

Those who purchased their Christmas presents at the store of George W. Jones on Thursday, Dec. 14, will have their money refunded.

Miss Mattie Holton, who has been spending the holidays with her sisters of Edwards street, returned on Saturday to her school at Rollingsford, N. H.

Rev. and Mrs. Webber will hold an informal New Year's reception to the members of the Wollaston Baptist church tomorrow evening from 8 to 10.

Miss Bessie Roberts, who has been spending the holidays at her home on Goddard street, returns to her duties at the State Normal School at Bridgewater today.

The next meeting of the Wollaston Y. P. R. U. will be held January 7, making an interval of three weeks instead of the usual two weeks between the meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tilley observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage in a quiet manner at their cosy home on Sea street, Houghs Neck on Sunday.

The January meeting of the Day Nursery Association will not be held at City Hall as announced, but at the residence of Dr. Hunting, at 2.30 P. M. tomorrow.

J. Howland Harkins, from Niagara college, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harkins of Main street has been renewing old acquaintances in this city the past week.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. William J. Heath corner of Brook and Farrington streets. Subject—"Peace and Arbitration." Paper by Mrs. F. H. Bishop.

Mrs. Annie E. Sawyer, D. D. G. M. and suite of Boston, will install the officers elect of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge at its regular meeting on Thursday evening, after which a turkey supper will be served.

Mrs. W. N. Loud of Lincoln avenue has the sympathy of her many friends, neighbors and acquaintances in the loss of her mother whose death occured at Roxbury last week. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

Over one hundred people from the Squantum Point church visited the Sailors' Home and Harbor at Germantown on Sunday afternoon and held a song service for the sailors. Mr. T. B. Pollard led the meeting and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all.

The Mayor

(Continued from Page 1.)

complete double-track from City Square to Neponset river. The street railway, in conjunction with the Boston Elevated, has put in operation the long promised through-service to Dudley street station of Elevated, and with the advent of spring it is hoped that more frequent service will be put in operation to accommodate the traveling public.

The acceptance and laying out of Maple street and widening of Cottage avenue, both very important and expensive matters, have been ordered.

A large number of new streets have been accepted and laid out in order to meet petitions of long standing. In the acceptance of new streets, which in fairness to all tax payers should be well considered, a closer adherence to the ordinance concerning the acceptance of new streets should be observed.

My opinion is the same as stated last year, i. e., all heavy traffic streets should be paved as soon as can be; and while it is possible to do but a small part each year, I believe it wise to continue this class of work.

The question of street lighting is of the highest importance; it adds to safety and convenience and is an efficient aid to police protection. Many petitions for the installation of street lights are before us, but with the means at our disposal I do not see how the appropriation for same can be increased and the petitions granted, as this can be met only in the current expenses.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The station at Houghs Neck has not yet been put into commission, but an appropriation has been made for the purchase of a combination chemical, hose, and ladder apparatus, with the necessary horses. There will also be installed a bell striker. As soon as the equipment can be delivered and the striker put in operation, the long-standing complaint of the property owners of this section, of a lack of fire protection, will be removed.

Our fire alarm system is a matter of deep importance, and requires attention.

I desire to call to your notice the extreme length of circuit No. 1, which covers Quincy Centre, the Point district and Houghs Neck, and contains about twenty miles of wire. In case of a break or other trouble on this wire or instruments connected therewith, the entire property in the districts covered is without the means of alarm until the trouble can be located and remedied; and this, owing to the length of the circuit, is a slow process. I, therefore, recommend that this circuit be made into two separate and distinct circuits. This will necessitate two additional wires from the engine house to the Stone church; also, that we use the ducts in the underground conduit reserved for the use of the fire alarm. Boxes Nos. 35, 23 and 26 on this line should be of the non-interfering type, and each placed on an underground iron post. Each box can then be placed in a separate circuit, avoiding, to a great extent, the danger of a confused alarm owing to two alarms being pulled about the same time.

The valuable property interests in this district should be guarded to the fullest extent. The present wire has been in use many years and should be replaced, for it has about reached the limit of its usefulness.

The hydrant service, as provided in the ordinance governing same, is under the direction of the chief engineer. With fires in progress, and for fire drilling by the men of the department, it should so remain; but aside from this no hydrant should be opened except under the direction or by the authority of the superintendent of the Water Department.

I believe a great waste of water occurs annually by the use of this service, and to reduce it in all possible ways, I recommend that the ordinance be changed to cover this point.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

During the past year the ordinance relating to this department has been changed, creating the rank of lieutenant and two sergeants. These offices have been filled by members for efficiency and seniority in service. I have every reason to beleive the work of the department, as a whole, has given satisfaction, if judged by commendatory words, and that during the year we have made some improvement.

Nevertheless, the enforcement of law and order is ever constant, and watchful attention must not be permitted to lag. Obedience is imperative; and a strict adherence to the rules and regulations governing the individual conduct of members is necessary in order to maintain a high standard, and to retain the respect and endorsement of the citizens. Our force is small; therefore, constant activity in patrolling the various beats requires the strict attention and vigilance of every member, with that performed, we may hope for continued improvement.

NO-LICENSE.

By the largest majority in the history of the city, our voters have again said that the legalized saloon shall be kept beyond our borders. I believe that the no-license policy of Quincy for nearly a quarter of a century has been a most potent factor in its rapid development and growth in all desirable ways. There are rumors that intoxicating liquors are illegally sold in some sections of the city. While the work of securing evidence against violators of this law, and bringing them to justice, rests primarily with the police, it is nevertheless the duty of every citizen, who is interested in good municipal government, to assist the administration in all possible ways in the enforcement of this and other criminal laws.

It not infrequently happens that private individuals have information concerning infractions of the liquor laws which the most vigilant police might not be able to secure. In such cases the evidence should be immediately placed in my hands and I will take prompt action thereon for the best interests of our city. My reference to a citizen's duty in this important matter in no manner excuses our police from discharging all the obligations of their offices, and I shall hold them strictly accountable for the most rigid enforcement of the laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

Our parks and playgrounds maintain their ever-increasing popularity. During the past two years the department has commenced tree planting with partial success. This practice should be continued yearly as requirements demand, to repair the losses occasioned by storm, fire and decay.

The opportunities for recreation, as provided by these grounds, are growing constantly in favor and will continue to increase in the future. The natural beauties of our parks appeal to the artistic sense of all lovers of the beautiful in nature, and we should strive to preserve them intact. This I fully believe to be the sentiment of our Park Board.

The incoming of the gypsy and brown-tail moths,—a pest and scourge of the most destructive character to foliage and which, if permitted to obtain a foothold, is bound to kill the trees and lay barren our parks and streets,—imposes upon us the duty as well as the requirement of the law, to use to the fullest all means for their suppression.

In compliance with the law, the Council passed the minimum appropriation, as required under chapter 381 Acts 1905. We have had repeated visits from the superintendent for the suppression of the moths and expert employees from his department to locate the infested districts in the city, and to instruct our men as to finding and treating the pests. As required by law, notices have been sent to all property owners, resident and non-resident in regard to their responsibility in the care of trees on their property, for it is only through the combined efforts of the city, and property owners that we may hope to cope with the trouble.

The amount required to be appropriated by the city the current year will appear in the estimates.

As much as I dislike to recommend the creation of a new office involving a further fixed charge in our annual current expense, I feel it my duty, in view of this pest menacing our trees, and the constant stringing, and increase of wires in our streets, to recommend the office of City Forester be established that the public grounds, and trees on our streets may be under practical, and scientific supervision. And I ask your careful consideration of this matter.

SCHOOLS.

Our school population continues its steady growth, and the accusation of race suicide in no wise applies to Quincy.

The problems that have confronted our predecessors are the same today. The provision of sufficient money to meet the requirements of our schools figures prominently in our appropriations and keeps us constantly straining to reach the goal. In order to keep pace with the increase in pupils, additional buildings with their furnishings, more teachers, text books and all the accessories of the equipment of the modern school are required.

The addition to the High school, a long pending matter taxing the efforts of the School Committee and Council, we hoped it was settled by the adoption of the plans of A. H. Gould, and the appropriation of $113,000.00, which sum, as represented by approximate estimates given, was believed to be sufficient to complete the building. Proposals were invited to construct the same according to said plans and specifications, but all bids are found to exceed the appropriation. To carry the plans into effect, an additional sum is required, and I will ask that the same be appropriated so that the contracts may be placed and the work proceeded with.

An appropriation of $3200., to purchase additional land on Saville avenue, has been made for the use of the Coddington school.

Pending in Council are communications from the School Board for new buildings to replace the present Coddington school, and one at Atlantic; also in regard to the over-crowded condition of the Lincoln school. All these are very weighty matters, and to solve them will demand your careful consideration when sufficient money becomes available in the debt limit.

It is to be hoped future approval of plans by the School Committee may be such that the choice of selection will be placed upon the Council which is responsible for the city's indebtedness.

In conclusion: the labors which devolve upon us jointly I feel assured can by cooperation and earnest effort be solved as far as the means of the city will permit.

Granting to you all the authority conferred under the Charter, believing the same will be conceded in return, I have every reason to feel that our relations will be mutually agreeable and materially advance the best interests of the city.

Permit me to tender to you the greetings of the season with many happy returns.

A Happy New Year to the readers of the Daily Ledger.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9.
Tel. Haymarket 724.
Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
— THE —
NEW YEAR
— WITH A —
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

The Hancock Hotel
Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table.
Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

GOOD FLOUR WELL NAMED!
Good Flour — well named — is our "OCCIDENT" brand, price 75c. per bag; only $6.50 per barrel.
We might have called it the "best" flour, but it isn't necessary—the housewives of this place have already called it that.
They know that it makes the best bread, and why. You'll know it you give it a trial.
What this flour means to bread-lovers, our best coffee means to coffee drinkers.
Both are highest grade and give greatest satisfaction. Price of coffee 30c. lb.
When you really want finest bread flour, choicest coffee, purest tea, tenderest meat, and food supplies of known quality, come here.
R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 3t

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

City Council

The Council then proceeded to organize, the City Clerk presiding until after the election of President.

The first business was the election of President and was by roll call. The ballot resulted as follows;

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT.

Number of votes cast	23
Necessary for choice	12
W. E. Piper had	15
Lewis Bass, Jr., had	6
W. F. Nichols had	1
H. E. Crane had	1

FOR PIPER.

Arthur C. Beal, At Large
Madison M. Cannon, Ward One
H. E. Crane, At Large
William H. Deacon, Ward Three
William T. Donovan, Ward Two
James M. Flaherty, Ward Four
J. Leonard Ferguson, Ward Four
Otto Gelotte, Ward One
Alfred H. Gilson, Ward One
Herman W. Gross, Ward Two
Ralph W. Hobbs, Ward Six
George Hunter, Ward Three
Charles J. McGilvray, Ward Four
George F. Sawyer, Jr., Ward Six
William T. Spargo Ward Three

FOR BASS.

William M. Chase, At Large
Wendell H. Hull, Ward Five
John Moir, Ward Six
Walter F. Nichols, Ward Five
Herbert J. Polk, Ward Five
Eugene R. Stone, Ward Two

Councilman Bass voted for Walter F. Nichols, and Councilman Piper voted for H. Everett Crane.

Councilman Piper was declared elected, and City Clerk Keith administered the oath of office.

There was no opposition to Mr. George T. Magee as clerk of the Council or clerk of committees and he was unanimously reelected by roll calls and installed.

City Messenger Harry W. Tirrell was also reelected unanimously on roll call,

CITY AUDITOR.

George F. Sidelinger having declined a reelection as City Auditor, there was a contest for the office, but ex-Mayor Fairbanks had votes to spare. The vote follows:

Number of votes cast	23
Necessary for a choice	12
Hon. H. O. Fairbanks had	15
Arthur W. Loud had	6
Warren W. Adams had	1
Warren H. Rideout had	1

Those voting for Fairbanks were: Bass Beal, Chase, Donovan, Flaherty, Ferguson, Gilson, Hobbs, Hull, Moir, Nichols, Polk, Sawyer, Spargo and Stone—15.

For Loud,—Cannon, Crane, Deacon, Hunter, McGilvray and Piper—6.

For Adams,—Gelotte—1.

For Rideout,—Gross—1.

Upon motion of Councilman Sawyer, old members were allowed to occupy seats of last year.

Upon motion of Councilman Bass, Councilman Nichols was allowed to retain his former seat.

The drawing for seats resulted as follows:

Bass	13	Hobbs	3
Beal	7	Hull	11
Cannon	17	Hunter	16
Chase	9	McGilvray	5
Crane	14	Moir	10
Deacon	12	Nichols	6
Donovan	20	Piper	Plum
Flaherty	8	Polk	22
Ferguson	4	Sawyer	15
Gelotte	1	Spargo	2
Gilson	18	Stone	19
Gross	21

Upon motion of Councilman Sawyer the rules of Council of 1905 were adopted for 1906.

ORDERS AND MOTIONS.

That the Mayor have 200 copies of the Inaugural address printed. To Committee in Printing and Finance.

That the Mayor be authorized to execute deeds and leases of the Adams Temple and School Fund. Adopted.

That the Clerk of the Council have 150 copies of the rules of the City Council printed. To Committee in Printing and Finance.

That the Clerk of the Council have the Calendar printed, after each meeting. To Committee in Printing and Finance.

HOSPITAL BILL.

Councilman Polk offered an order to pay $380 from the receipts of the Poor Department of 1905 to the City hospital. To Finance Committee.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Councilman Polk offered an order appropriating $5,000 additional, for alterations and additions to the High school. To Special Committee.

LOAN ORDER.

An order was offered authorizing the City Treasurer to borrow $400,000 in anticipation of taxes. To Special Committee.

CONSTABLES.

A communication was received from the Mayor, appointing the following constables:

William M. Marden, Charles N. Hunt, Joseph W. Hayden, Henry L. Kincaide, John Benzie, Nicholas Garbarino, J. White Hayden, Andrew Stewart, Michael Minihan, Edward Frye, Charles A. Furbush, Cornelius Driscoll, Frank H. Pray, John Duane, Walter H. Cobb, Arthur B. Hultman, Henry P. Furnald, John G. Bestgen, Frederick F. Green.

Charles H. Johnson, James E. Maxim, William H. Warner, Charles H. Penniman, Andrew Anderson, James H. Cunningham, Albert G. Olney, John Hennigan, Charles J. Nord, George W. Taylor, Frank W. Nightingale, John Harkins, John S. Pitts, Francis M. Curtis, Frank L. Brown, Stephen E. Wilson, Napoleon B. Furnald, Charles G. Batson, William G. Chubbuck, George H. Field.

Paul W. Kribs, Peter Josephine, Lemuel Pitts, James C. Porter, William R. Lofgren, Jeremiah T. Toomey, John Murray, Herbert W. Merrill, Alexander Shirley, George A. McKay, Harry E. Putnam, Stephen Hannon, John Evans, Charles H. Tower, Alphonso Williams, Charles H. Burgess, John T. Hunt, Amos L. Litchfield, John J. Guess, Charles C. Mueller.

Frank E. Burrell, Willard Kay, Michael Reardon, Thomas F. Ferguson, George W. Turner, Raymond S. Barry, Patrick Malone, John H. Starr, Edward J. Lennon, William L. Peck.

All the above were confirmed with out any objections.

FORE RIVER CONSTABLES.

Mayor Thompson sent in the following appointments as constables forservice at Fore River yard: W. T. Trevillian, Jas. Pease, Amandus Olsen, Albert A. Hayden, Henry Dugan, Thomas Landregan, Garrett T. Burns, A. Osborne, T. J. McCormick, Henry S. McLaughlin. All were confirmed.

A special committee consisting of Councilmen Polk, Bass, Crane, Sawyer, Nichols, Spargo and Flaherty were appointed to consider the order for $5,000 for addition to the High school, and the temporary loan order of $400,000.

Adjourned at 1.33.

The City In Brief

Schools reopen for the winter term tomorrow.

In your correspondence be sure and write it 1906.

Mrs. A. C. Merritt of Elm place is entertaining relatives from Cotuit.

Flags are displayed on many buildings today in honor of New Years and Inauguration day.

Mrs. J. E. Poland will give a whist party in Poland's hall, Norfolk Downs, on Friday evening.

Miss Edith Cushing and Mrs. Charles Brown of Waverley were guests of friends in this city last week.

Schwind—Hatch.

Miss Eugenia M. Hatch of Wollaston and Mr. Frank G. Schwind of East Boston, were quietly married Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Hatch, of Lincoln avenue. The ceremony took place at four o'clock, Rev. Frank W. Pratt of Hopedale, being the officiating clergyman. Only the immediate relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Schwind will reside at 10 Everett street, Wollaston, and will be "at home" to their friends after April first.

Special Police.

Mayor Thompson has appointed the following as special police; Ernest H. Bishop, Charles Olsen, Henry J. Matthews, Henry F. Riley, Joseph F. Goodhue, Henry F. Corbett, Henry W. Thorne, John P. Duffy, Thomas A. Malone, Michael E. Scully, Thomas F. Maloney, Malcolm C. Stewart, James M. Conway, Daniel H. Doran, Samuel DeForest, David L. Gordon, John A. O'Brien, Edward J. Sandberg, Calvin T. Dyer, John F. Donovan, George F. Phillips, Jeremiah Dinneen and Arthur J. Parker.

Boy Drowned.

Delma Burrell, a twelve year old Braintree boy, was drowned Saturday afternoon, by breaking through the ice on Hollingsworth's pond off Hancock street while playing hockey. A relief crew of the street railway made a heroic effort to save the boy and did succeed in recovering the body, but resuscitation was impossible. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burrell.

TODAY'S COURT.

James Kennedy was fined $5 for drunkenness at Milton.

Mikel Foralis was fined $50 for violation of the liquor law at Quincy.

Wesley Pool was fined 50 for violation of the liquor law at Randolph.

John Patterson, William Holmes, Thomas Morrison, Walter Roberts and Patrick Burke were arraigned for disturbing the peace at Quincy. Cases continued until Saturday.

John Frazier was arraigned for larceny at Milton. Case continued til Jan. 6.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

Suspicious Death In the Quarries.

Robert J. Teasdale made a ghastly find this morning when he visited his magazine off Willard street.

Lying on the ground outside of his shack was a man with a wound on his right temple evidently made by a bullet.

The man had been dead some hours. The police and medical examiner were notified.

The man proved to be Favoietti Dominico, aged about 55 years.

The body was removed to Hall's undertaking rooms.

Samuel Samuelson, who was last seen with the victim, has been arrested.

An autopsy to determine the cause of death will be held this afternoon.

Accident Fatal.

Michael Kelley of Weymouth, who was injured by a fall a few days ago while at work on the battleship New Jersey, at the Fore River yard died Sunday at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He was about 55 years of age and leaves a large family.

Miss Nan Carter returns to her school in Westminster, Vermont, today after a week's visit at her home on South street.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BORN.

RICE.—In Quincy, Jan. 1, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rice of Edward street.

DYEING
In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day,	25 cents
" " three days,	50 cents
" " one week,	75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

FOUND.

FOUND—Wallet with money near Merrymount Park. HENRY F. ARNOLD, 244 Middle street, Braintree.
Dec. 29. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Office girl immediately at Consolidated Grocery Co., Adams building. Quincy, Dec. 30. tf

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Hard or pine wood. Long by cord, $6.50; 1-2 cord, $3.50. Sawed by cord, $8.00; 1-2 cord, $4.00. All orders delivered C. O. D. R. F. HORTE, South Braintree.
Quincy, Dec. 30. 3t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET or FOR SALE—House on Pray street, Quincy Point, 9 rooms, bath room, hall, open plumbing, etc. Latest improvements. Apply T. C. FOSTER, on the premises.
Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—House, 6 rooms, bath, set tubs, range, etc. 49 Edison Park. Apply to B. D. CORLISS, Adams Street, Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—Half House, 6 rooms, large attic, closet, etc., 82 Gay street Apply at 33 Summer street.
Quincy, Dec. 29. 6t

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy.
Dec. 27. 6t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-6t

TO LET—Nice Flats of five and six rooms close to station and street cars. J. W PRATT, 74 Independence avenue.
Dec. 21. tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD. Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. lp tf

You Can Increase Your Business With a Ledger "Ad"

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

First Chapter Of New Story Next Week

Vol. 18. No. 2. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

Restful Couches.

Couch comfort isn't expensive when you buy it here, and no house is complete today without a Couch.

We carry over forty styles of Couches at prices ranging from $4.98 to $35.00. We make a specialty of popular priced ones, $9.50 to $15.00, and our couches at these prices are simply wonderful.

Your choice of Coverings. Everything that's new or up-to-date is here for you to choose from without extra charge.

Reasonable terms for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Money Returned

FOR ALL

Cash Sale Checks

DATED

December 14th.

IF CALLED FOR ON OR BEFORE JANUARY 6th.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

Foul Play

Undoubtedly Caused Death Of Domenico In the Quarries

The result of the autopsy on the body of John Favoritti Domenico, held Monday afternoon by Medical Examiner Jones, leaves no doubt in the minds of the police that he came to his death by a blow or blows from a jagged piece of rock found near the body.

Medical Examiner Jones was assisted by Dr. J. F. Welch and Medical Examiner J. Winthrop Spooner of Hingham.

They found that Domenico's death was caused by a hemorrhage shock and a fracture of the skull and face. Three lacerated wounds were found on the right side of the head and face, one being on the upper lip.

Just underneath a round hole which served to mark the track of a bullet, they found the bone completely shattered and this condition was found at the base of the skull and down the right side of the cheek. The bones gave evidence of having been struck with great force by some blunt instrument. No trace of a bullet was found.

In addition to these wounds the body was badly burned.

Near where the body was found was a pool of blood and a jagged stone upon which were blood marks, and the police believe the stone is the instrument that caused the man's death.

Domenico and Samuel Samuelson, the latter under arrest, occupy shanties about 150 feet apart, on a cart path that leads from Wessen avenue, which runs from Willard street, near West street.

Samuelson, according to his own story, knew that Domenico was dead at midnight Sunday night, but did not notify anyone until Monday morning. He then went to the house of Guiseppe Bonafino of Willard street and told him of finding of the body.

Bonafino sent one of his sons to the house of Robert J. Teasdale, who telephoned to the police. The latter notified Medical Examiner Jones, who with Inspector Bradley went to the scene.

They found that the body from the waist up was badly burned. Near the head of the dead man was his cap that was partly burned, an iron powder pail containing water and a piece of granite, blunt at one end and tapering to a point at the other. This stone was covered with blood.

Samuelson was placed under arrest. His story of the affair is: "About dark last night (Sunday) Domenico came to my house and we had some drinks together. Later in the evening, about 11 o'clock, 12 or 1 o'clock, I do not know which, as I have no clock, he started to go away. Just then my lamp exploded and John was covered with oil which took fire at once. Some of the oil went on me and burned my clothes some, but John was ablaze. I pushed him out through the doorway to get him away from the lamp. He fell down and I threw some water on him and put the fire out.

"I then said, John, how are you, but he did not answer me, and I thought he was dead. The woods were so dark I did not know how to get out to get help, so I waited until the sun came up and then went and told the people about John."

In Samuelson's shanty the police found a small glass lamp which he said was the one that had exploded. The handle had been broken off and there was a hole where one end of the handle had come off. There was another hole about the middle of the bowl nearly opposite. The chimney was intact and there was no evidence that the lamp had exploded.

Domenico had visited Sweden before coming to America and had married Maria Johnson, who still lives in Sweden with two sons and a daughter. Two other sons live in Quincy, and are known by their mother's name, viz: Robert Johnson of 154 Granite street, and Hjalmar R. Johnson of 160 Granite street.

They are about 19 years of age. They lived with their father during their first years in this country but since learning their trade they have lived in a boarding house.

Samuelson also has a wife and married daughter in Sweden. He also has a son Andrew who lives on Valley street, Leicester. He has tried to get his father to live with him but the latter preferred to live alone.

Samuelson was brought into court and was arraigned upon a complaint charging him with murder of Domenico Favoritti at Quincy, by striking him with a stone. He was held without bail until next Tuesday.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

By the Purchase of a Home.

Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.

Jan. 1. tf

Second Term Opens

Y. M. C. A.

NIGHT SCHOOL,

TUESDAY, JAN. 2.

Eleven Weeks of Two Nights a Week.
Special Rates offered for INDUSTRIAL ART CLASSES.

Freehand Monumental Drawing and Clay Modeling.

Call at Building on Washington Street, or write for particulars to General Secretary.

Dec. 26. 4t-eod

Piper Vs. Bass

Analysis of The Vote of President Of Council

Two groups of four Councilmen became transposed in the first edition of the Daily Ledger yesterday intended to show how the members voted for President. It did not affect the result, but it is not surprising that Messrs. Moir, Nichols, Polk and Stone were a little wrathy when they found themselves placed in the Piper column, and that Messrs. Hunter, McGilvray, Sawyer and Spargo were vexed to find themselves on the losing side.

But the Ledger went to press within an hour after the City Council adjourned, and it was a case of hustle, and mistakes will happen.

The correct vote follows:

FOR PIPER.

Arthur C. Beal, At Large
Madison M. Cannon, Ward One
H. E. Crane, At Large
William H. Deacon, Ward Three
William T. Donovan, Ward Two
James M. Flaherty, Ward Four
J. Leonard Ferguson, Ward Four
Otto Gelotte, Ward One
Alfred H. Gilson, Ward One
Herman W. Gross, Ward Two
Ralph W. Hobbs, Ward Six
George Hunter, Ward Three
Charles J. McGilvray, Ward Four
George F. Sawyer, Jr., Ward Six
William T. Spargo Ward Three

FOR BASS.

William M. Chase, At Large
Wendell H. Hull, Ward Five
John Moir, Ward Six
Walter F. Nichols, Ward Five
Herbert J. Polk, Ward Five
Eugene R. Stone, Ward Two

Councilman Bass voted for Walter F. Nichols, and Councilman Piper voted for H. Everett Crane.

An analysis of the vote shows that President Piper had a majority of every ward delegation except Ward Five, where he did not get a vote. That in Wards One, Three and Four he received every vote.

Councilman Bass' strength came almost wholly from Ward Five including the three from ward and one at large. To these were added one from Ward Two and one from Ward Six.

A summary follows:

	Piper.	Bass.
At Large	2	1
Ward One	3	0
Ward Two	2	1
Ward Three	3	0
Ward Four	3	0
Ward Five	0	3
Ward Six	2	1
	15	6

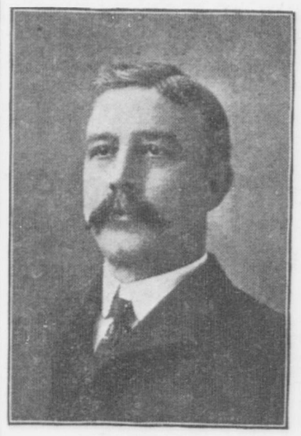

Another summary shows that President Piper had the vote of the majority of the new Councilmen, while Mr. Bass received most of his votes from old members. The vote was as follows:

	Piper.	Bass.
Old Members	4	4
New Members	11	2

The old members, it will be seen, were equally divided between the two candidates.

President Piper is almost too well known to regular attendants at the meetings of the City Council to need any introduction. That he is no novice in office is borne out by the fact that in addition to his four years of service in the Quincy City Council, where he has been a constant attendant and a close observer, he has served his native town of Tuftonboro, N. H., in practically all of the offices in the gift of the people, including road commissioner, member of the school board and library trustee.

It was in 1857 that he first saw the light of day in this town. He came to Quincy in 1880, and with the exception of six years spent in Wentworth, N. H., he has resided here. It was in 1901 that he was selected by the Republicans of Ward Three to represent them in the City Council and he has been returned every year since.

During his first year he served on the Committee on Streets. The following year he served on the same committee and on the Committee on Health and Poor, being chairman of the latter. In 1904 he served on the Committee on Finance, also Fire and Police, being chairman of the latter. Last year he also served on the Finance Committee and on the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, as chairman of the latter.

During his service in the Council he has attended the meetings of that body faithfully and is always present at the committee meetings where the real hard work of a Councilman is done.

He has often been heard in debate upon the floor of the Council chamber, and his position has always been stated so clearly as to leave no doubt of where he stands. His vote has always been cast in an impartial manner and has been as he thought for the best interest of the city.

That he will fulfill the duties of President of the City Council of 1906 in a fair and impartial manner there can be no doubt.

Is On Deposit

High School Money Not To be Used for Other Purposes

The City Council started in with a spirited debate caused by a motion to withdraw the reference of the order, authorizing the City Treasurer to borrow $400,000 in anticipation of taxes. It had been referred to the Finance Committee and it was desired to refer it to a special committee.

Councilman Bass started the ball rolling when he said there was no need of hurrying the order as bills could be met from money now on hand.

City Treasurer Fay said that he could not legally charge any 1906 bills to any money he had on hand.

Councilman Bass asked how much money he had on hand.

City Treasurer Fay said he could not tell off hand.

Councilman Bass then made reference to the $113,000 that had been raised for the High school and queried if this sum had not been used to pay city bills.

This brought Mayor Thompson to his feet with the response that that sum was on deposit in the bank and would be used only for the purpose for which it was borrowed.

Councilman Bass said he was glad to hear that method of doing business was to be observed and that money borrowed for one purpose was not to be used for other purposes.

The debate was quite spirited, and Mayor Thompson stated the executive department's positions in terms that could not be misunderstood.

The motion of Councilman Polk then prevailed, and the order went to a special Committee headed by Councilman Polk. Others on the committee are: Bass, Crane, Nichols, Sawyer, Sparago, Flaherty.

[Eds—The editorial reference in this issue to money raised on the High school bonds was written without knowledge of the new system of finance, as stated above by Mayor Thompson. We commend the change from the policy under his predecessor, and hope for an improvement in city finances. This is written since the printing of pages two and three with the editorial, and we hope may be read first.

Men's Meetings.

Mr. Fred B. Smith of New York, special secretary of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, will come to Boston on Thursday, January 4, on the invitation of the Boston branch of the Young Men's Christian Association to conduct a special series of meetings for men, on Jan. 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

School Boys Are Injured

In appearance with unpolished shoes. Teach them to use Army & Navy Friction Polish It's easy, clean and quick.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

DANCING SCHOOL

Every WEDNESDAY Night.

Ticket good for 8 lessons: Gents, $2.25. Ladies, $1.75. A discount of 25 cents to former pupils. Small Private Parties Solicited.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

THE HOLIDAY RUSH

Finds us amply prepared with abundant supplies to fill quickly and satisfactorily every requirement of the trade in all lines:

Watches	Souvenirs	Clocks
Chains	Umbrellas	Razors
Charms	Fountain Pens	Thimbles
Rings	Pocket Books	Bracelets
Fobs	Pocket Knives	Lockets
Cut Glass	Opera Glasses	Hat Pins
Silverware	Manicure Sets	Scarf Pins
Carvers	Thermometers	Match Safes
Scissors	Comb and Brushes	Baby Rattles

We buy direct from Manufacturers and our Prices are Right.

C. F. PETTENGILL.

1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Quincy, Dec. 11. lop-tf

I Have Just Received Another Assortment of CHINA CUPS and SAUCERS worth 35c to 50c for 25c

CHOCOLATE POTS, CUPS and SAUCERS TO MATCH

which will make a handsome Christmas present.

I have also a line of the best Christmas Goods, consisting of Dolls, Go-carts, Baby Carriages, Express Wagons and Wheel Barrows, and other goods.

Hoping to receive a share of the patronage of Wollaston, Norfolk Downs and Atlantic.

I remain yours truly,

J. A. JOHNSON,

401 Hancock Street, Norfolk Downs.
Quincy, Dec. 4. 1m

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.

With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,

534-539 Tremont Building, Boston

Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.

Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.

Address, B. W. FRENCH,
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.

Jan. 2. 6t

GOOD FLOUR WELL NAMED!

Good Flour — well named — is our "OCCIDENT" brand, price 75c. per bag; only $6.50 per barrel.

We might have called it the "best" flour, but it isn't necessary—the housewives of this place have already called it that.

They know that it makes the best bread, and why. You'll know it you give it a trial.

What this flour means to bread-lovers, our best coffee means to coffee drinkers.

Both are highest grade and give greatest satisfaction. Price of coffee 30c. lb.

When you really want finest bread flour, choicest coffee, purest tea, tenderest meat, and food supplies of known quality, come here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street.
Tel. 367-3.

Quincy, Jan. 1. 3t

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted,
At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST.,
City of Quincy, Mass., by
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The ambitious new Councilman who expected to greatly improve the city or his particular ward during the coming year, received a rude shock on Inauguration day when Mayor Thompson quoted figures and told the City Council that it would be impossible to increase even one dollar the annual appropriations. If the Councilman favored an increase in salaries for school teachers, he was up against it, because the school appropriation must remain at practically the same figures as last year. The only chance to secure a larger appropriation for schools is to reduce the amount for streets or for street lights, for fire department or for police department. But another Councilman wants his street rebuilt, or more street lights, another Councilman more firemen and still another more police, or increase of pay.

Those who would have the city build a new schoolhouse at Atlantic, or a new Coddington, or enlarge the Lincoln, or accept a street, or build a permanent sidewalk, are likewise disappointed because the margin within the debt limit is less than $100,000 and all will be needed for High school extras, the Quincy Point bridge and the Hancock street bridge at Atlantic.

It looks as if the most arduous duties of the City Council this year would be in studying how to economize. The School Committee of last year would have been satisfied with a $65,000 addition to the High school building, but the Mayor and City Council thought $113,000 or $120,000 was better, and then they voted loans for acceptance or improvements of about twenty streets, and the municipal loans for the year aggregated $157,000 plus $17,050, or a total of $174,050. To this should be added water loans of $26,000, and sewer loans of $7,000, making a total new indebtedness in one year of over $225,000. The city is limited to about $300,000 per year for current expenses, but it borrows $225,000 more on long credit.

Year after year the debt increases, and today the city is expending almost as much annually for interest as for maintenance of public schools. The city borrows money for the High school enlargement and puts it into a common treasury for current city expenses. It borrows nearly $400,000 "in anticipation of taxes," but when the taxes are paid into the city treasury the "temporary loans" are not cancelled but carried over to next year, and paid by issuing new loans "in anticipation of taxes."

The present Mayor and City Treasurer are not wholly responsible. It is the system. The city receipts are estimated too high in making the annual appropriations, and too high by the Assessors in making the tax rate, and the appropriations chargeable to taxes and receipts are annually too large. It is impossible to collect every dollar assessed, and considerable is refunded annually. Instead of a surplus there is a deficit.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Nothing more confused than the Chicago traction situation was ever seen on earth. Mayor Dunne has been in a constant squabble with the Council since his election, with the consequence that the failure of "immediate" municipal ownership is now the topic of charge and countercharge. Each week brings some new aspect, and the tunnel under the river, the proposed change to electricity, subway plans, and a hundred other complications are weaved into the fundamental question. The most general divisions on the subject, however, now are three. Mayor Dunne favored a contract plan, drawn up by Tom Johnson of Cleveland, by which a new company should be organized, to get control of franchises as rapidly as the law allows, and turn them over to the city. The soundest members of all parties favored that plan, but the extreme radicals and the extreme conservatives have apparently defeated it for the present, leaving two other propositions as at present most likely to be submitted to the people in the spring. One is the acceptance of the street railways' terms, or, in other words, a plan like the tentative ordinance of the last campaign, only extended to all the traction companies. The other is the city's purchase of franchises as they expire. Certainly the cause of municipal ownership is no further advanced than it was a year ago.—Collier's for December 30.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

WOMEN ADMITTED

Precedent Established at Boston Inaugural

FITZGERALD IN OFFICE

The Proceedings Is Witnessed by a Great Crowd--Many Choice Floral Tributes--Plan For City Hall In the Public Garden

Boston, Jan. 2.—Hon. John F. Fitzgerald has become Boston's 35th mayor. The exercises attending his induction were among the most interesting ever held in this city, and never before was there such a crowd on the inside and outside of the old building. The common council chamber, where the inaugural exercises took place, was crowded to overflowing, it being impossible for many of the invited guests who accompanied the mayor to get seats. There was a large delegation of women on the floor of the council chamber, a thing never before permitted on the day of inauguration.

JOHN F. FITZGERALD.

The balconies of the room were packed almost to suffocation, the wives, relatives and friends of those who took the oath of office being in the majority.

Mr. Fitzgerald was a little tardy in reaching city hall. He came in a monster automobile, which also contained his wife and family. As the auto stopped in front of city hall three cheers were given for Fitzgerald, and never before was there such a demonstration on inauguration day.

The mayor's office looked spick and span, the room having been touched up and the rugs having undergone a cleaning. To add to the display of the occasion, hosts of friends sent to Fitzgerald many beautiful floral tributes that filled the large room. Chief among the designs were a floral horseshoe 10 feet in height from the Jefferson club of ward 6, and a floral stepladder of five rungs. On the top was the inscription "Onward," and below were "Mayor, Congress, Senate and Council." At the base was the inscription: "Hon. John F. Fitzgerald." Attached to the ladder was a ribbon on which was the inscription: "From your North End Jewish friends." There were innumerable baskets of roses and pinks from various persons and organizations, and there was one shaft nine feet high on which was the inscription "5 of Us."

When the mayor-elect was notified that the joint convention was in waiting for him and his guests a procession was formed and the march for the council chamber on the fourth floor was begun. At the head of the line was City Messenger Leary, with his white mace. The approach of the inaugural party was heralded by applause and cheers that came from the new chief executive's supporters, who filled the old building. After the city messenger had announced the party applause broke forth in the common council chamber.

City Clerk Donovan, who was beaten at the primaries by Fitzgerald, was presiding, and as Fitzgerald took a seat at his right he shook hands with the victor. On the immediate right of Fitzgerald were Acting Mayor Whelton and Chief Justice Knowlton of the supreme judicial court, and on the left of Donovan was ex-President Kiley of the common council, the senior member-elect.

After quiet had been restored, Rev. Dennis J. O'Farrell offered prayer, and then Assistant City Clerk Priest read a communication from the election board, giving the names of the mayor, street commissioner, aldermen and councilmen who were chosen at the last municipal election. The chief justice then administered the oath of office, after which he and his guard retired, and then Mayor Fitzgerald administered the oath of office to the aldermen and councilmen. He then began the reading of his inaugural message. He did not read it entire, only those parts he considered the most important.

The message recommends the municipal ownership of the city's gas lamps; modification or abolition of the semi-colon law; modification of state laws which compel Boston to pay an unjustly large share of the support of metropolitan park and water system; establishment of a commercial high school; building of a $4,000,000 city hall in the public garden, and establishment of a consumptives' hospital.

When Mayor Fitzgerald returned to the mayor's office he inaugurated a new custom by holding a public reception.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

Greatest Assortment In Quincy.
SHOES
PLEASING to the Eyes, EASY on your Purse, COMFORTABLE on your Feet, SERVICABLE at all times.
We know how to MAKE Shoes; how to BUY shoes; how to FIT your feet properly. We SELL all first-class
Footwear at Cut Prices.
Everything you desire in the line of WARM SHOES.
Complete RUBBER STOCK of six different manufacturers.
We WARRANT everything we sell.
This is the place to buy. You SAVE from 1 cent to $1.00 on every article you buy in Boots, Shoes. Rubbers, Stationery, Hosiery, etc.

KARL W. LEAF,
Brewers Corner, Quincy.
Quincy, Dec. 1. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 7.

PROFIT IN RAISING WOLVES.

Iowa Farmer Tells of Possibilities Under Bounty Law.

Raising hogs has always been regarded as a profitable industry, but raising wolves has it beaten ten ways, according to a special dispatch from Burlington, Ia., to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It has come to the ears of Des Moines county officials that the latter occupation is being carried on systematically by a few farmers, who hope to reap a good profit next spring. The county pays $2 for every cub wolf scalp presented at the auditor's office and $5 for every old wolf's scalp. It has been noticed for several years past that certain farmers have been reaping a rich harvest each spring on the bounties they received for wolf scalps. It is rarely that an old wolf's scalp is presented, and this fact served to arouse the suspicions of the county officials.

A farmer from one of the townships where the wolves have been particularly plentiful was in Burlington recently and unburdened himself of a few hunches concerning the wolf industry.

"It's more profitable to raise wolves than it is hogs," said this farmer. "If you have noticed, the scalps of the old wolves are never turned in for bounty. There is a good reason for this, as the elimination of the old wolves would put an end to the propagation of the species, also put an end to the collection of wolf bounties. Why, I know a farmer who has considerable timber land on his place who has several old wolves that are as tame as shotes.

"It costs little or nothing to keep them, and every spring when the young wolves are born the lair is invaded and the youngsters knocked on the head before their eyes are open. They mean $2 apiece at the auditor's office.

"It's surprising how a fairly domesticated pair of wolves will make race suicide look silly. If an effort was made I warrant that every wolf in the county could be exterminated in a short time, but what's the use of exterminating them when a little encouragement will keep them alive and breeding two dollar bills?"

It is said an investigation will be made by county officials into this state of affairs and the enterprising wolf breeders prosecuted.

Plenty of Time.

"Am I the only girl you ever loved?"
"Ye-es, but I'm young yet."—New York American.

The Same, but Different.

"I have come to complain about your report of my daughter's wedding."
"What was the matter with it?"
"Well, her name is Gratia, and you printed it 'Gratis.'"
"That's not so bad. She was given away, wasn't she?"

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 380 Granite Street, cor. Water.
Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec 27. 12t

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

HOTEL GREENLEAF.
AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.
MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

NEEDLESS FEARS

Germany Is Not Considering a War With France

EMPEROR IS FOR PEACE

Assertion That French Charges of Bad Faith Placed Germany In Unpleasant Light--Latter Preparing to Make Firm Reply

Berlin, Jan. 2.—The German foreign office has been aware for some time that nervousness existed in France, both among the cabinet ministers and people, over the possibilities of a renewed controversy with Germany. Foreign Secretary Richthofen was informed a fortnight ago that the French cabinet had serious fears of Germany's intentions. The secretary replied to his informant, who was fresh from Paris, that such apprehensions were wholly without cause, adding: "What could Germany gain by a war?"

Inquiries were made here by French financial interests last week as to the possibilities of Germany provoking a war with France, and German bankers who are extremely well informed politically replied that there was not the slightest indication that the German government contemplated aggressive action.

It was pointed out by one powerful interest that "a thousand reasons existed against war where one existed for it. Only presumption and vainglory," it was added, "would suggest war when nothing moral or material could be gained by it, while all the solid considerations of commerce and orderly internal developments, besides the thorough pacific policy of the emperor, are immovably in the way of fighting for ambition alone. The delicately adjusted system of production and exchange would be shattered by a war to such an extent that no indemnity or territory could furnish compensation."

The apprehensions in France appear to be due to a reasonable certainty that Germany will oppose France's position at the Moroccan conference, now only a fortnight off, and also to the feeling that France's Yellow Book on Morocco went rather too far in accusing Germany of assuming a provocative attitude and charging her with bad faith. The French government, it is asserted here, is aware that these charges placed Germany in an unpleasant light; that the German government resented them and will reply to them firmly.

This reply may lead to continued discussion in the press and between the public men of the two countries. British influence, it is stated in Berlin, is known to be adding to the feeling of distrust of Germany existing in France, especially in the case of non-official influence, such as recent utterances of Sir Charles Dilke and military correspondence of the London Times. But in every well posted quarter here the statement is made that war between Germany and France is incredible unless France has designs which so far have not been disclosed.

"Emma" Proved to Be a Boy

New York, Jan. 2.—"You are the worst girl I ever saw," sternly said Judge Scott of Paterson, N. J., when he sentenced Emma Heinrichs, 14, to the New Jersey state home for girls. Complainants had vividly described to the judge the depredations of the "girl bandit," who had led a band of tough, thieving youths of about her age. An attendant took her from the home for girls back to the county jail at Paterson, as it was discovered that "Emma" was a boy.

Will Probe Assassination

Denver, Jan. 2.—An inquiry into the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho will be conducted by the Western Federation of Miners, according to President Moyer of that organization. "We will do this," he said, "not only to prepare ourselves against any charges that may be brought against the Federation, but in order to ascertain, if possible, whether or not a member of our organization committed the crime."

Disorderly Parade of Negroes

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 2.—Thousands of negroes paraded here in honor of the signing of the emancipation proclamation. The parade was marked by the greatest disorder, two men being assaulted by the paraders. This was the first time in a quarter of a century that negroes have paraded on the day without military escort, the negro companies having been disarmed by a recent act of the legislature.

Church Influence Withering

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—Bishop Antonin of Narva has published an open letter advocating the complete separation of church and state. He declares that the influence of the church is withering because the priests in the past have been compelled to preach the doctrine of absolutism and to teach the people to venerate God and the czar as two sides of the same thing.

The "Only" Secret Arrangement

London, Jan. 2.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Tokio says that the only secret arrangement entered into between China and Japan is a definite agreement under which China solemly promises Japan never to allow any other power to establish itself on, or to interfere with, the railroads between Mukden and Sinmintin and Kirin and Changchun.

The City In Brief

Full moon next week.

The public schools of the city reopened this morning.

How do you like the new heading of The Quincy Daily Ledger?

Before the end of the month the sun will rise before 7 o'clock and set at 4.56.

D. D. G. M. Silas S. Wescott and suite of Roxbury will install the officers of Mt. Wollaston lodge, I. O. O. F., this evening.

There was a great demand yesterday for the Daily Ledger, with its complete report of the Mayor's inaugural address and the organization of the City Council.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Without an Accident.

News comes from Beverly that a Quincy born man is very faithfully doing his duty as gate tender at a crossing in that city. Since Aug. 1, 1872, William M. Spear has filled this position without an accident. He was born in Quincy July 4, 1842, and attended the public school of the town. He went to Wenham and later to Beverly as a shoemaker. In the Civil war he served in Co. K, 40th Mass. volunteers.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Quincy Post Office,

Letters unclaimed for week ending Monday, Jan. 1.

E. K. Baxter, Michael Clifford, Capt. Collins, R. Crumley, Jno. A. Ford, Wm. M. Garrity, Jno. Geraughty, Murdock R. Henderson Thos. Howard, W. E. Kimball, H. C. Kincaide Hubert MacDonald, Thomas B. Mulheim, Mikko Nieon, H. T. Peterson, J. F. Samuel, Eddie Stone, Pierpont Urbano, Jack Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weller, Malcolm White F. Zimenerman.

Mrs. F. A. Bower, Mrs. J. B. Faxon, Mrs Elice M. French, Mrs. Ellen F. Garrity, Miss E. Johnson, Mrs. Hattie Johnson, Mrs. J. B. Kennedy, Mrs. E. W. King, Mrs. James Machum, Mrs May McLellan, Mrs. Geo Moore.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

CATALOGUE
PRINTING.

When in want of any little pamphlet or book to advertise your business, let us talk it over with you,

Club Books, Year Books, By-laws, Programs, Catalogues, anything in small pamphlets, promptly printed and tastefully bound. Get our prices.

GEO. W. PRESCOTT & SONS,
PRINTERS.

We Are Going to Publish, beginning in a few days

The Two Vanrevels

A powerful love drama full of fire and action
BY BOOTH TARKINGTON
Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Read The Two Vanrevels in This Paper

MOVE OF MERRITT

Wants Secret Ballot In Contest For Speaker

WOULD BE IN HIS FAVOR

Wadsworth's Friends View the Proposition With Solicitude and Hint at Buying of Votes--Malby's Caustic Rejoinder

Albany, Jan. 2.—The test of strength in the caucus of Republican assemblymen tonight will probably be taken, not directly in a vote upon the candidates for the nomination for speaker of the assembly, but upon the question whether the vote on the speakership nomination shall be a secret vote.

The utmost resources of both sides in the contest are now concentrated upon that single point. Its importance is evident in the light of the fact that the pledges hitherto obtained from the individual members of the new assembly have had reference only to the support of this candidate or that. The issue of a secret ballot for speaker sprang into existence late yesterday afternoon, and visibly disturbed all the comparative certainties which had been supposed to exist.

Leaders of the movement for the nomination of Mr. Wadsworth, who was selected by Governor Higgins as his choice, admit that if they cannot prevent a secret ballot they cannot secure Wadsworth's nomination by the caucus. On the other hand, the adherents of Mr. Merritt have changed their previous tactics of claiming that they can defeat Wadsworth even if they can not elect Merritt, and assert that they are certain of votes enough to secure a secret ballot.

The best informed observers on both sides agree that in an open ballot or roll call of Republican assemblymen, in the existing condition of affairs, Wadsworth will be elected. Both sides agree also that upon a secret ballot the result will be very different.

That Wadsworth's supporters view the proposition of a secret ballot with solicitude is evident from a statement made late last night by Superintendent of Public Works Franchot, one of Higgins' closest advisers. Franchot said:

"There is no change in the situation. A desperate effort has been made by the friends of Mr. Odell, including J. C. McKnight, recently Mr. Harriman's private secretary, to commit assemblymen to a secret ballot. The friends of Mr. Wadsworth are able to put but one construction upon this scheme, and that is the desire on the part of those opposed to him to use money for the purpose of encompassing his defeat. Even with the use of money, they do not believe this can be accomplished. The supporters of Mr. Wadsworth, representing the vast majority of the Republicans of the state, cannot be influenced by any such means."

This statement of Franchot produced a profound sensation. Neither Odell nor McKnight would reply to or comment upon it, but Senator Malby said:

"I should say in reply to the statement of Mr. Franchot that it is the policy of this state, in the interest of honesty, to have a secret ballot. Inasmuch as the executive, his superintendent of public works, Mr. Franchot, and other members of his administration have sandbagged every assemblyman from Montauk Point to Niagara Falls to secure his vote for Mr. Wadsworth, justice and prudence demand that these men should for once have an opportunity to vote as they want to. As for the use of money—the charge comes with ill-grace from a candidate who is himself several times a millionaire."

State Chairman Odell had little to say last night except that, in his opinion, Merritt was steadily gaining in strength and would secure the nomination. Wadsworth reiterated his statement that he had personal pledges more than enough to elect him.

Two Duelists Will Die

New York, Jan. 2.—Nicholas Cardito and Thomas Sauter, both young men and both residents of Brooklyn, had a dispute. Cardito drew a stiletto and stabbed Sauter, who retaliated by shooting Cardito through the body and head, both being fatally wounded. One of the bullets penetrated the plate glass window of a church nearby and caused a panic among the worshippers.

Chaffeur's Life Crushed Out

New York, Jan. 2.—In attempting to avoid a bicyclist, Matthew Summers, a chauffeur, lost his own life at Harrison, N. J. James Brown, on a bicycle, turned in front of Summers. The chauffeur swerved his machine into a curbing with such force that he was hurled over the hood of the automobile against a tree. Brown was badly hurt.

Run Down by an Auto

New York, Jan. 2.—In an endeavor to save his hat, which had been blown from his head by a blast of wind, Orlando H. Peck, a lens manufacturer of this city, was run down by an automobile and possibly fatally injured. Philip Lehman, a New York merchant, was driving the automobile. He was arrested.

Values Wife's Love at $100,000

New York, Jan. 2.—According to the New York Morning Telegraph, Bob Fitzsimmons is going to begin a suit against Charles J. Miller for $100,000 damages on a charge of alienation of the affections of Mrs. Fitzsimmons.

NEW LAW EFFECTIVE

Compulsory Education Takes Many Children From Mills

Boston, Jan. 2.—To enforce strictly the new school law affecting children employed in mills, factories and stores, which went into effect yesterday, is the purpose of the state board of education. It is estimated that thousands of children thus employed may be forced to leave their employment to acquire the rudiments, at least, of an education in English.

Several large manufacturing concerns have made preparations to meet the new law, and one, the Ludlow Manufacturing company of Ludlow, in Hampden county, about three months ago established an evening school for the 150 children employed in its mills. Most of the children are Poles, and though the school was open three evenings every week, W. E. Gushee, district superintendent of schools for Agawam and Ludlow, has, after an examination, refused certificates to 26 out of 31 children. Gushee has stated that, while the children could read to some extent, they did not do so intelligently, but repeated the words parrot fashion. Gushee believes, as does the state board of education, that the child must be able to understand what he or she is reading.

Dickinson Goes to Jail

Boston, Jan. 2.—J. W. Dickinson, who, with Cashier Foster of the South Danvers National bank of Peabody, was convicted in connection with the failure of the bank, and who has been out on bail pending a decision on his appeal to the United States supreme court, has been surrendered by one of his bondsmen, Blazi de Flurin. Efforts were made to secure a bondsman to take the place of De Flurin, but without success, and Dickinson was taken to jail last night. Although found guilty nearly three years ago, this is the first time that Dickinson has been compelled to go to jail.

Portsmouth Deadlock Ends

Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 2.—The deadlock in the city government came to an end yesterday at inauguration. The new city government, with Mayor Marvin at its head, authorized the mayor to borrow money to pay the police, school teachers and fire department, who have gone several weeks without money, because the common council voted against resolutions giving the mayor power to raise money for this cause. The mayor in his address reported $22,061 overdrawn by the street, fire, police, lighting and sewer departments.

Stolen Goods Restored

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 3.—Appraisers and department managers from the principal stores in this city assorted the goods seized at the houses of alleged shoplifters Saturday night, in an effort to establish identification, and more than $3000 worth has been claimed by Brockton concerns. The alleged shoplifters were arraigned in court on three complaints each of larceny. Judge Reed held the prisoners until Thursday, fixing the bonds at $6000 each for the two men and $1500 each for the women.

No Rehearing For Tucker

Boston, Jan. 2.—The appeal of the counsel for Charles L. Tucker, who was convicted of the murder of Miss Mabel Page of Weston, for a rehearing of two of the exceptions taken at the trial, has been denied by the full bench of the supreme judicial court. It is expected that Tucker will be sentenced to death in the superior court during the present week. His counsel have still recourse to the United States courts or to the governor to save the young man's life.

Dormitory Thief In Court

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 2.—James H. Langley, a negro, who has confessed that it was he who committed many of the mysterious robberies recently in the Harvard dormitories, was held in $1000 for the grand jury by Judge Almy. Langley gained access to rooms by posing as a deaf and dumb man. He has served four years in the house of correction for a similar offense.

New Executives In Office

Boston, Jan. 2.—Most of the Massachusetts cities held inauguration ceremonies yesterday. Recommendations by the new mayors were varied and ranged from the suggestion of the mayor of New Bedford that whisky and gin no longer be kept on tap at the almshouse to that of the mayor of Holyoke, who recommended that one more patrolman be appointed.

A Strike of Weavers

Putnam, Conn., Jan. 2.—Over 100 weavers employed by the French River Textile company of Mechanicsville have gone on strike for a 10 percent increase in wages which has been granted at many other woolen mills throughout New England.

Went Through the Ice

Wakefield, Mass., Jan. 2.—While skating on Lake Quannapowitt Grace Holden, 17, and John Ritchie, 21, broke through the ice near Cemetery point and both were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

Vinegar.

Vinegar is fatal to many kinds of bacteria. We read that during the great plague in London a couple earned fabulous sums in nursing the wealthy and that their own means of defense was swathing the lower part of the face with cloths dipped in strong vinegar. Some one says, "My grandmother used a gargle of salt and pepper with vinegar for all its children, and she didn't have to go to a sanitary club to learn it." True, no doubt, a timely though utterly empirical use of that gargle has saved many lives.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"DEAL ON THE LEVEL"

New York Police Officials Get a Lecture From Bingham

New York, Jan. 2.—William McAdoo yesterday retired from the office of police commissioner and his successor, General Bingham, formally assumed command of the police force of the greater city. Bingham's first official act was to demand the immediate resignation of McAdoo's assistant secretary, Mr. Stetler. Three minutes later a written resignation signed by Stetler was handed to him. The new commissioner then turned to the inspectors and captains of the department who had been summoned to meet him.

"We start a new year and a new deal right here," he said. "I've been sent for to come here and do a certain piece of work. I'm going to do it. I have'nt got anything against you to start on—no suspicion—and we'll begin on the level. But by the nine gods of war, you've got to deal with me on the level as I shall deal with you. There will be no spying on the men of this force. If you are manly men, sportsmenlike men, you'll appreciate that and treat me the same. Don't go back on the hand that I stretch out to you."

Bingham has already abolished the "shoo-fly" squad and the vice squad. The former was composed of "plain clothes" men, detailed to watch the uniformed force. The vice squad was the creation of McAdoo and was detailed to secure evidence against questionable resorts.

New Immigration Act In Force

London, Jan. 2.—Most of the aliens arriving at British ports yesterday successfully passed the medical examination under the new immigration act, but many were rejected through their non-possession of the qualifying $25. Numbers of Russian refugees protested volubly in astonishment at being refused admission. Fifteen such rejected immigrants were subsequently passed on the ground of being political refugees, but the steamship companies were warned that no more will be admitted.

Blackburn May Lose His Seat

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.—The first skirmish in the battle for Senator Blackburn's seat was won by the adherents of Thomas K. Paynter in the caucus of the Democratic members of the house of representatives last night. An adherent of Paynter was elected chairman of the caucus over a rival put forth by Blackburn and Haldeman, senatorial aspirants, by a vote of 41 to 33. The result indicated that the Paynter supporters will be able to organize the house.

Events at Warsaw

Warsaw, Jan. 2.—The police discovered in a flat occupied by Jews several loaded and unloaded bombs, a quantity of explosives and a number of revolvers. The police made a search of all the houses in the street. Many arrests followed. Notices have been posted summoning the people to assemble for a massacre of the Jews, who are accused of provoking the strikes and disturbances and bringing distress to the workmen.

Twenty-Five Firemen Injured

Rochester, Jan. 2.—To aid in extinguishing a fire at the village of Bergen help was asked of the volunteer department of Batavia and a special train took about 60 men to that place. Last night, when the men boarded the train for the return trip, the passenger coach was struck by a fast freight and turned bottom side up, and 25 firemen were injured. Two are in a serious condition.

Motorman's Life In Danger

New York, Jan. 2.—Thirty police reserves were called out last night to disperse a mob which was threatening Charles Krepp, a motorman, whose car had killed 7-year-old Anna Owens in Brooklyn. The child was crossing the street with her doll when she dropped the plaything. In turning to pick it up she stepped in front of the car.

Still With New York Life

New York, Jan. 2.—A report that John A. McCall has resigned as president of the New York Life Insurance company is denied by Augustus G. Paine, a member of the committee appointed some time ago to go over the company's affairs. Paine states that the report is absolutely untrue.

Wireless From Drydock Dewey

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 2.—A wireless message from Commander Hosley, on board the drydock Dewey, received at the naval academy, states that moderate weather has been encountered and that the Dewey is averaging 3½ knots an hour.

Three Nations Represented

Havana, Jan. 2.—Spaniards, Cubans and Americans fraternized here in celebration of the new year. The reception given by President Palma at the palace was largely attended. Many Americans were present.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The National theatre, Havana, has been transferred to the Spanish Gallegos association, which bought it after President Palma had refused to sign the bill appropriating $500,000 for its purchase.

Postmaster Hibbard of Boston has compiled the receipts of his office for the year 1905 and finds that they amount to $4,724,103.70, which shows that the increase for the fiscal year will be about $400,000.

Charles H. Darling of Bennington, Vt., formerly assistant secretary of the navy, took the oath of office as collector of customs for the Vermont district before Clerk Johnson of the United States court at Burlington.

If Your Eyes

Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES

— ONLY —

One Dollar a Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD

15 Beacon St., Room 47, BOSTON.

Nov. 7. 3m-eod

The Hancock Hotel

Reopened under new management. Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.

Newly Furnished throughout.

Good Beds. Good Table. Steam Heat.

Good warm place to locate for the winter. Moderate Rates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, PROPRIETORS.

Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO., Furniture and Piano Moving,

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy. Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc. Experienced and careful men only. Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street. Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner.

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tu

FREDERICK E. TUPPER, Civil Engineer and Surveyor,

21 Adams Building, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 105-3.

June 1. ly

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER, GLAZIER, LEADED STAINED GLASS. Decorator and Paper Hanger

Old Furniture Refinished.

15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

Start The New Year Right!

You can INCREASE your Business in 1906 by Advertising in the Quincy Daily Ledger.

GOSSIP AT WASHINGTON

Senator Foraker's Experience With a Reporter.

CLERK'S STRUGGLE WITH A NAME

How Representative Acheson of Pennsylvania Tried to Get a Hearing With the Public Buildings Committee—Scaling a New Member's Fate. Early Rising and Working Record Established by Senator Knox.

There is an enthusiastic Ohio newspaper man in Washington who haunts the steps of Senator Joseph B. Foraker, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger's Washington correspondent. The other day the senator was sitting in a dentist's chair when his persistent pursuer darted in and demanded the latest news. Foraker was at that peculiarly distressing moment when the dentist takes the first buzzer out of the tooth and fools around on the little tray. Out of the corner of his eye the victim can see that the dentist is trying to find a bigger buzzer. Foraker rose up in his chair, with anguish in his eye.

"What in blazes do you want?" he demanded.

"Senator," said the Ohio man, soothingly, "I merely wanted to find out about"—

The dentist selected the largest and fiercest looking buzzer in the shop and approached. The Ohio correspondent took up a commanding position on the other side of the chair. Foraker sank back, with a groan, and in a few sentences told what the Ohio man wanted. The latter departed, with many thanks, and the buzzing began its fiendish work. In the evening Foraker was talking politics, with some callers when suddenly and without the slightest relevancy he began to grin. They asked him what the matter was.

"I was thinking of that irrepressible Blank," chuckled the senator. "He interviewed me in the dentist's chair this afternoon. I hope to heaven that on the day I'm buried nothing of interest in Ohio politics occurs. If it does Blank will pry up the coffin lid and ask me the particulars."

The struggle that a new clerk of a congressional committee makes with names of men and places which he has never in his life before heard was recently illustrated by an experience of Representative Ernest F. Acheson of Pennsylvania, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Times.

Mr. Acheson has been trying to get a public building at Charleroi, the town in his district noted for its glass industries. He went to the room of the committee on public buildings and grounds to arrange a hearing. The chairman of the committee was changed the other day, and Representative Bartholdt of St. Louis holds the place, with the incident that his secretary had been made clerk of the committee.

"I would like to know," said Mr. Acheson, "when I can have a hearing for my bill for a $125,000 building at Charleroi."

"Where?" asked the clerk.

"Charleroi."

"Charley Roy," said the clerk. "I never heard of that place before."

"Not 'Charley Roy,'" explained Mr. Acheson, "but C-h-a-r-l-e-r-o-i."

The clerk wrote it down wrong. Acheson then himself wrote it, exclaiming as he finished, "Charles, the king!" Thereupon the obliging clerk, catching on to his job, wrote under the name of Charleroi the additional words, "Representative Charles King desires to know when he can have a hearing."

"Oh, my, no!" interrupted the Pennsylvania member. "My name is Acheson, and that town out there is named Charleroi after Charles, one of the kings of France. But never mind the kings or France, and remember I want a public building out there."

A new member was beseeching and pleading with the speaker to put him on a certain committee, says the Washington Post. Mr. Cannon shook his head. He would be glad to do it, but it was not practicable.

"Then, Mr. Speaker," said the new member, "you seal my fate. My failure to get on this committee simply ruins me with my people, and I had as well prepare to go home."

With solemn face the speaker extended a hand, and all he said was "Good-by."

A well known eastern congressman whose name it would be unkind to mention was tacking somewhat uncertainly home the other night after sitting too long at dinner with some of his colleagues, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger's Washington representative. As he came up Pennsylvania avenue he observed J. Adam Bede examining him with careful attention. His ire rose. "What are you looking at me that way for?" he demanded. "I was thinking," said Bede, "that you had evidently been vaccinated for drunkenness." Then after a pause Bede added, "But it didn't take, I see."

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania has established a record in Washington which nobody else in the present congress can ever hope to rival, says the New York Times. He rises every morning at 4 o'clock and calls his stenographer, and by 6 o'clock he has supplied the shorthand man with work enough to keep him busy all day.

Count Witte as an Athlete.

Premier Witte of Russia has shown the reactionaries, says the Baltimore Sun, that it is not impossible to hold on by his eyelids.

MONEY FOR HOPE YOUNG

Her Counsel Says It Was Taken by County Authorities

Boston, Jan 2.—Charging that the county officials at Digby, N. S., have taken without his permission all the funds raised by her relatives and friends to defray the expenses of the new trial granted Hope Young, R. G. Munroe, her attorney at Digby, has communicated with friends of the young woman in this city, requesting that in the future the money raised be sent to him direct, and announcing his intention of taking legal action against the authorities.

Hope Young, who was found guilty of the murder of May Ward, the child entrusted to her care, and sentenced to be hanged, is now confined in the county jail at Digby, and is thought to be insane. She succeeded in her plea for a new trial, which was granted on the ground that the confession she made and which was an important factor in her conviction was procured by fraud.

As soon as the motion for a new trial was granted her relatives and friends in this city issued an appeal for funds and considerable money was raised. This money was sent to Hope Young at the Digby jail. It is alleged that Prosecuting Attorney Dennison and Deputy Sheriff Burnham have used the money to pay off some of the expenses of the previous trial, which were heavy.

Fenway Palace Has a Mystery

Boston, Jan. 2.—Mrs. John L. Gardner, who owns the art collection in the Fenway, this city, will not discuss the dispatch from Rome concerning the disappearance of the picture "Christ with the Cross," by Giorgione, except to say that she knows nothing of the disappearance of a noted picture from Vicenza. However, the public catalogue of Mrs. Gardner's art collection indicates that it contains Giorgione's picture "Head of Christ," and that this picture came from Vicenza.

Wedding Bells Are Silent

St. Louis, Jan. 2.—The announcement following the frustrated elopement of Miss Wilhelmina Busch, daughter of Adolphus Busch, the brewer, with Lieutenant Scharrer of Germany, that they would be married at the Busch mansion yesterday, was not carried out. Instead Miss Busch's father asserts that there is no engagement between his daughter and the lieutenant. Scharrer declines to discuss the matter.

The Wages of Sin

Cleveland, Jan. 2.—Paul Sovdell, aged 40, a familiar character of the red light district for several years, shot and killed Jessie Smith, aged 23, in a resort at 68 Theresa street, and then committed suicide. Sovdell was prompted to the act by jealousy. The girl had been warned against him and was about to leave the city when he gained admittance to her room and committed the double tragedy.

Suicide of Millionaire Miner

San Francisco, Jan. 2.—Frank Phiscator, a millionaire Alaskan miner, ended his life in his apartments at a local hotel by cutting his throat. Phiscator is said to have been one of the pioneers of the Klondike and was at Forty Mile at the time of the great discoveries. He built the first house in Dawson. He had rich claims on Bonanza creek. Phiscator came originally from Michigan.

Aged Woman's Double Crime

Erie, Pa., Jan. 2.—A murder and suicide occurred at a lonely farmhouse near East Springfield. Elizabeth Maursell, aged 75, shot and killed her sister, Deborah, a couple of years younger than herself, and then blew out her own brains. The impoverished condition of the women and their old age is believed to have mentally unbalanced Elizabeth.

Shook Hands With Nine Thousand

Washington, Jan. 2.—By actual count 9052 persons shook the president's hand at the New Year's reception. Last year 7115 were received. Mrs. Roosevelt remained until the end of the reception. A feature of the public reception was the large number of children who passed the receiving line.

Royal Compliments to Roosevelt

Copenhagen, Jan. 2.—At the New Year's reception King Christian asked the American minister, Mr. O'Brien, to convey his kind sentiments to President Roosevelt. Crown Prince Frederick also asked the minister to convey his congratulations to Miss Roosevelt on her engagement.

Ship Arrivals at New York

New York, Jan. 2.—During the year 1905 the total number of vessels which arrived in the port of New York was 11,399, of which 6064 were steamers and 5335 were sailing vessels. The arrivals at New York for the past year show an increase of 120 vessels over the year 1904.

An Ecuadorian Rebellion

Guayaquil, Jan. 2.—There have been simultaneous outbreaks at Riobamba, capital of Riobamba, at Latacunga, capital of Leon, and at Guaranda, capital of Bolivar, in favor of General Alafaro, former president of the republic.

Wisconsin's New Governor

Madison, Wis., Jan. 2.—Lieutenant Governor James O. Davidson was sworn in as governor to serve the unexpired term of Governor La Follette, who will leave for Washington today to take up his senatorial duties.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Jan. 3.

Sun rises—7:14; sets—4:24.

Moon sets—12:24 a. m.

High water—5:30 a. m.; 6 p. m.

The weather will be fair in New England.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 35	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 34	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15 r
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 15	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 47 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.25 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.49 5.16 5.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.55, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:
BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 18 8
Sunday,	40	36	40	33	39
Monday,	41	29	47	14	27
Tuesday,	35	40	45	31	23
Wednesday,	—	49	34	35	31
Thursday,	—	50	14	13	18
Friday,	—	58	23	25	31
Saturday,	—	45	21	32	41

New Advertisements Today.

C. Patch & Son—Coal.
E. M. Freeman—Real Estate and Mortgages.
R. E. Foy & Co.—Flour.
Edward J. Fegan—Counsellor at law.
B. W. French—Something New.

Local Ins And Outs

The weather is a little more seasonable today.

New Years day was not generally observed in Quincy.

The annual meeting of the School Committee will be held tonight.

The Consolidated store was closed Monday afternoon for stock-taking.

The second meeting of the City Council will be held next Monday evening.

The Ahawas Achim of this city has contributed $88.15 to the Russian relief fund.

Auctioneer Johnson had a large sale of furniture, horse, carriage and piano at Braintree on Monday.

Robert Dawson of South street had his arm slightly injured while at work at the shipyard on Monday.

The ordinance giving the permanent firemen one day off at the end of every ninth day went into effect Monday.

Rollin H. Newcomb of Winter street was taken suddenly ill on Monday evening and was attended by Dr. Marstin.

The January business meeting of the Social and Benevolent Society of the Wollaston Baptist church will be omitted.

The last subscription whist party which was to have been held at Mr. Frank A. Page's house on Friday will be held at the home of Mr. W. E. Simmons of South Central avenue.

There was a large attendance at the Sunday School of First church on Sunday. The school under the charge of the Supt. C. H. Johnson, and an able corps of teachers is taking rapid strides and in a short time the seating capacity of the chapel will be tested.

The Watch service was largely attended at the Point church Sunday evening. The meeting was opened by a song service and addresses followed by Rev. Lewis Atwood, Mr. Noon and the pastor. The meeting closed with the tolling of the bell at midnight.

The many friends and acquaintances of Miss Virginia Thornton, formerly of Norfolk Downs, one of the cleverest of the younger emotional actoresses on the American stage, will be pleased to know that she will be at the Grand Opera House in Boston this week, in the title role.

Lyndon Gurney of Walker street has bribed Santa Claus for next year by displaying Christmas trees galore, which by artistic ingenuity, Mr. Gurney has made to flaunt their verdant freshness from every corner and conspicuous place in his yard. Surely Santa can never resist such an appeal.

New Legislature.

The Massachusetts Legislature will [illegible]ne tomorrow, when Quincy will be [illegible]sented by Eugene C. Hultman and [illegible]rd J. Sandberg in the House, and [illegible] senatorial district by E. B. Nevin [illegible]ymouth in the Senate.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.
Nov. 22. 6mos

The City In Brief

East Howard street is open once more for public travel.

A number of young people are to unite with the Quincy Point church on Sunday morning.

Ronald S. MacDonald who has been confined to his home on Nelson street with quinsy sore throat the past few days has returned to work.

Miss Cassie McKay and Mr. Frank Duffy of this city were quietly married on Saturday evening and will make their future home on King's lane, Quincy Point.

There were many inquiries Monday as to why the flag on City Hall was at half-mast. It was not intentional. It seems that in hoisting the flag the halliards became untangled rnd it was impossible to move the flag either up or down.

Brockton's Loss Was $200,000

The loss by the Brockton fire Sunday nsght is now placed at $200,000 including $60,000 on City block, $75,000 by Besse, Brown & Co., $15,000 by J. W. Shaw & Co., and smaller amounts by 25 others.

Among the losers were several secret societies which have extended hospitality to members of the orders from Quincy, including Electric lodge of Odd Fellows, whose loss is placed at $5,000 and insurance at $2,500; Old Colony encampment, whose loss was $1,509, and insurance $700; Peerless and Independent Rebekah lodges, Brockton lodge, A. O. U. W.; Brockton colony of Pilgrim Fathers; and two court of Forestess, St. Thomas and St. Rose.

TODAY'S COURT.

Samuel Samuelson was arraigned for murder at Quincy. Case continued until next Tuesday.

Charles B. Locke was sent to the house of correction for one year for assault at Quincy.

Clarence Whiston was fined $5[illegible] for violation of liquor law at Randolph.

A Law Term.

Reversed on a peel.

Brilliant Algy.

Percy—And what is Algy doing now?
Claude—Sprinkling gasoline on his love letters to give the girl the impression that he owns an automobile.

"Carat" as Applied to Diamonds.

Although the term "carat" is applied to diamonds as well as to gold, it does not mean the same thing. Used with regard to the metal it expresses quality or fineness, 24 carat being pure gold and 22 carat equal to coined gold. But applied to the diamond carat means actual weight, and by this measure 115½ carats are equal to an ounce troy. The value of a diamond is not merely so much per carat, irrespective of size, but increases in an increasing ratio with the weight of the stone.

Ceremony.

I think there is a great deal of difference between that species of ceremony which exists with acquaintance and that which should always exist with the best of friends—the one prevents the growth of affection, the other preserves in in youth and age.—Letters of Maria Edgeworth.

Belief.

Figg—You'll generally find that people believe what they want to believe.
Fogg—Yes, and probably that accounts for the belief in everlasting punishment—for other people, of course—being so popular.

Were we eloquent as angels, yet we should please some people more by listening than by talking.—Colton.

Engagement Party Melville---Smith

The "New Year's" party, given in honor of the engagement of Miss Auwelda Huntress Smith and Mr. James Allen Melville, at the home of H. H. I. Smith, Esq., Baxter avenue, Quincy Point, proved to be a great success. Between sixty and seventy were present, Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth, Somerville, Nashua, N. H., and Danville, Va., being represented.

Miss Smith and Mr. Melville received the hearty congratulations of those present, and they certainly exerted themselves in giving each one a good time, and succeeded admirably. There was not a slow moment from the time the first guest arrived.

Each guest, on leaving the dressing room, was tagged with a little card, bearing either the name of an author or one of his works. The gentleman searched for his partner until she was found, then doing all he could for her enjoyment.

A contest for the best "squash pie receipt" was participated in by the gentlemen, who were not allowed assistance from the ladies. The prize winners were Harold W. Newcomb and Wade Shorter. In case some housewife should be in need of a good receipt for New England's crowning glory in the pie field, Mr. Newcomb's receipt is here given:

Two pounds of squash,
Of eggs a few,
Add sugar, nutmeg,
Then set to stew:
In moderate oven place to bake,
Serve in small pieces,
To avoid an ache.

English walnuts were passed, tied with a ribbon, indicating that the contents had been tampered with. On opening a tiny paper was found, on which were a list of words that bore a decidedly foreign look. Each began to cudgel his brain for forgotten Latin, Greek and other dead languages, with which he might ever had a school boy acquaintance. Finally some one got the key that these were nuts to crack. In other words these were the names of nuts with the letters transposed. Then a scurry was made to complete the list, but all could not be prize winners, and in this Miss Barnes and Rev. Atwood bore off the prizes.

Later each one's back was labelled with a bit of paper, bearing the name of a famous place or person. The victim could only have the same removed by guessing the name from questions which he importuned his neighbor to ask, from which he could gain a link.

Refreshments were served with a lavish hand.

The latter part of the evening was devoted to music, and the house rang with the joyous college songs. Miss Smith received many pretty little gifts which will help commemorate the occasion.

Midnight closed the festivities and all left many wishes that the newly engaged couple would find life one long pleasant dream.

Departing each one received a mysterious little roll reminding one of a miniature diploma, which read:

I wonder if you'll remember
The party full of glee,
Given on Baxter avenue
In Quincy by the Sea

In honor of the engagement
Of Auwelda Huntress Smith;
To James Allen Melville;
Remember it is no myth.

One thing do not forget,
When you the story relate,
Nineteen hundred and six,
January first the date.

It was the desire of the hostess that each should sign the New Year party roll, but there were some who failed so to do. The register contains the following names:

Ethel May Ames, Ethel Lewis Davenport, Florence Crowell Gardner, Maud Beatrice Robinson, Cyril F. Randall, Anna J. Gould, Frank R. Melville, Mrs. C. T. Melville, Chas. P. Gould, George Shepherd, C. T. Melville, Marion Johnson, Carl W. Sherburne, Wm. E. Pierson, R. P. Damon, Emily Mae Clapp, Elsie C. Phillips.

Helen M. Lincoln, Esther U. Sidelinger, Ethel G. Hersey, Helen A. Sherburne, Carrie N. Pollard, T. B. Pollard, Harriet M. Phillips, Charles F. Foster, Mary E. Gay, C. Havan Belcher, Alfred J. Barnard, A. B. Foster, Charles N. Bosworth, Frederick W. Russell, Ellen E. Walker, Nellie U. Barnes, Ella M. Freeman.

Harold W. Newcomb, Theo. Johnson Crane, Elizabeth G. Scouler, Theresa A. Roche, Matilda A. Atwood, Alfred Ray Atwood, Gertrude E. Foster, Richard McConnel, Henry Taylor, Bertha Newcomb, David Melville, Florence Newcomb, Ella May Freeman Melville.

Marden W. Hayward, William Homer Melville, Wade Shorter, Grace M. Lapham, Minnie Frances Wight, Etta F. Lapham, Jennie Harris, Mollie Harris, Mabel Lapham, Beatrice Adams, Mr. Grindell, Eleanor Crane, Wesley Sargent, Samuel Charles Melville.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

Following are the recent real estate transfers.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to Frederick Bannicoat.
Elsie L. Shaw et al to Walter K. Shaw.
Eagle Polishing Co. to Simeon Scammell.
Lillian E. Bates to M. F. Dickirson, Jr., et al trs.
James H. McManus to John H. Loughan.
William J. Plummer to Napoleon L. Lafreniere.
Lida H. Plummer to Napoleon L. Lafreniere.
Willard Weish to Heulings Lippincott.
Edward Billings to Charles H. White.
Charles H. White to Benjamin Soloman.
Edward Billings to David Silverman.
John H. Dinegan to Edward Billings.
Kate A. Foster to Edward Billings.
Eva K. Harting to Edward Billings (2).
Walter L. Forbes to Peter J. Gilraine.
Peter J. Gilraine to Mary E. Forbes.
Charles F. Adams, 2d, ex to Edwin Menhinich, $698.
Henry B. Blackwell to Adelard Phaneuf.
George E. Thomas to Jennie W. McDougall.
Howard Rogers to New England Telephone & Telegraph Co.
Richard A. Cole to Rose Chouinard.

Miss Penley of the Consolidated has accepted a position as book-keeper in the office of J. F. Shepperd & Sons.

Gives Credit to Fire Department

Editors Quincy Daily Ledger:

Allow me space in your valuable paper to thank the members of the Fire Department for the prompt and efficient work in putting out fires for the year ending Dec. 31, 1905, for a great record has been made the past year in the department. The fires and alarms during the year numbered 284, of which 133 were bell alarms and 151 still. The value of property at risk was $680,000.00; the insurance on property at risk, $502,150.00; and the loss on property but $35,031.74.

P. J. Williams,
Chief Q. F. D.

Quincy, Jan. 2, 1906.

Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders

Quincy delegates attended the New England District Council convention of boilermakers and iron ship builders, held Sunday at 724 Washington street, Boston. There were also delegates from Providence, Keene, Worcester, Portland, Fitchburg, Concord, N. H., New Haven, Norwood, Mechanicsville, N. Y., and the four lodges in Boston. President Speirs said that the conditions at the beginning of the new year are very favorable. Portland delegates reported on an effort being made to secure the nine-hour workday in that city, so as to place the men there on the same basis as the men in other sections of New England. The Providence delegates reported that the machinists were infringing on the boilermakers' trade in that city, and a committee was appointed to endeavor to correct the matter.

Appointment for Mr. Knowlton

Charles F. Knowlton, for several years Commissioner of Public Works in Quincy, has been appointed city engineer and street commissioner of the city of Marlboro. The office pays $2,000. Mr. Knowlton will probably move his family to Marlboro.

Cross People

are generally sick people, and nine times out of ten it's the stomach that's wrong. If the system is filled with impurities, if the digestion is poor, if the bowels are irregular, it is easy for disease to get a foothold. Reinforce and build up your health by taking the standard remedy for over three generations. Restores lost appetite, regulates the bowels, assists digestion, enriches the blood and cures all those diseases arising from a disordered stomach or liver, such as constipation, malaria, biliousness, indigestion, loss of appetite, headaches, catarrh of the stomach and intestines, piles, etc. The Mother's Safeguard in all the common disorders of childhood.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

A few doses given occasionally will guard against worms, and if present will expel them without fail.

Dr. J. F. TRUE & Co.: AUGUSTA, Maine.
Gentlemen: By the use of your Elixir I was relieved of a tape worm between seventy-seven and eighty-five feet in length. For eighteen years I had been doctoring for Liver, Kidney and Heart trouble and Indigestion, all of which disappeared when that worm was slaughtered by True's Elixir. There is not a medicine before the public to-day that can do the work of your Elixir. The expenditure of $2.50 for this medicine did for me what many dollars and years spent in search of relief through other sources failed to do.
Yours very truly, A. F. BRAGG, No. 77 Main St., Foxcroft, Me.
Sold by all dealers, 35c, 50c, $1.00.
DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me. Established 1851.

FOR OUR READERS

The Two Vanrevels

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done.—New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

THE TWO VANREVELS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER BEGINNING

"It is my father."

In an Early Edition of the Daily Ledger.

Ask Your Own Doctor

If he tells you to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for your severe cough or bronchial trouble, then take it. If he has anything better, then take that. But we know his answer; for doctors have prescribed this medicine for over 60 years.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Two Leagues Basket Ball

The Boys' Department of the local Y. M. C. A. has now two basket ball leagues, the college league, and the country league.

The college league is made up of five teams of older fellows, fourteen years old and older, as follows:

Harvard, — Bonney, Capt., Brooks, Cranshaw, McDonald, Welch, Northrop.

Yale,—Capt., Marden, Osborn, Pinel, Randall, Satermeister, Jobin, Prescott.

Princeton,—Capt., Gourley, Austin, Coffin, Gurney, Small, Thomas.

Dartmouth,—Capt., McKenzie, Baker Curtis, Howe, Rhodes, H. Richards, Pennsylvania, — Capt., Walker, C. Carlson, Glover, Marceau, W. Richards, Tupper.

So far there have been two games in this league. The first was between Dartmouth and Yale, the former winning by a score of 12 to 5. The second game was played Saturday afternoon, when Princeton wiped up Harvard with a score of 17 to 9. The playing of Bonney was the principal feature of the game.

The country league is made up of seven teams of the younger fellows, as follows:

The Russians, — Capt. S. Bates, Blackmur, Eldridge, Murray, Rogers, Seeley, Oliver.

The Japs,—Capt. R. Bates, Alexander S. Hayden, Sandberg, H. Sutermeister, Trask.

The Germans, — Capt. H. Marsh, Gross, Pratt, Prout, L. Brown, Nolan.

The French,—Capt. C. Marsh, Favorite, Lathers, H. Prescott, J. Pinel, H. Brown, Muir.

The Irish,—Capt. A. Marsh, Manning, Hearn, E. Johnson, McGregor, H. Smith, Spargo. W. Clark.

The English,— Capt. H. Mitchell, Childs, Hogan, Kelley, Miller, Costello.

The first game was played last Wednesday, and the Japs defeated the Russians in a ten minute overtime game by a score of 6 to 4. The second game was played Saturday, when the French defeated the Germans 6 to 0.

The interest is these leagues is very marked, and all are striving to make their team the winner of the shield which will hang in the boys' room permanently.

One of Dr. Everett's "Boys."

William H. McGrath has recently been appointed general manager of Houghton County Electric Light Co. of Houghton, Michigan, and of the Houghton County Street Railway Co. of Hancock, Michigan. Mr. McGrath entered Stone & Webster's employ—the owners of the above properties—on his graduation from Harvard four years ago.

Spending one year in their general office at Boston he was then transferred to Houghton as electrical engineer, and through successive promotions now assumes control of all Stone & Webster's interest in the copper country. William H. McGrath is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGrath of this city.

DIED.

MANNING—In Quincy, Jan. 1, Mrs. Ellen, wife of Mr. James Manning of 102 Water street, aged 49 years.

KELLEY—In Weymouth, Dec. 31, Mr. Michael Kelley, aged 58 years.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn — Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

WANTED.

WANTED—Office girl immediately at Consolidated Grocery Co., Adams building. Quincy, Dec. 30. tf

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Hard or pine wood. Long by cord. $6.50; 1-2 cord. $3.50. Sawed by cord, $8.00; 1-2 cord, $4.00. All orders delivered C. O. D. R. F. HORTE, South Braintree.
Quincy, Dec. 30. 3t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET or FOR SALE—House on Pray street, Quincy Point, 9 rooms, bath room, hall, open plumbing, etc. Latest improvements. Apply T. C. FOSTER, on the premises. Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—House, 6 rooms, bath, set tubs, range, etc. 49 Edison Park. Apply to B. D. CORLISS, Adams Street, Quincy, Mass. Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—Half House, 6 rooms, large attic, closet, etc., 52 Gay street Apply at 33 Summer street.
Quincy, Dec. 29. 6t

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Dec. 27. 6t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—Nice Flats of five and six rooms close to station and street cars. J. W PRATT, 74 Independence avenue. Dec. 21. tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET.—House 206 Franklin street 8 rooms. Present occupants will show premises, and arrange for interview with owner. M. E. ADAMS, 38 Percival street, Dorchester. Dec. 9 Sat-Tu-Thu-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD. Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1451 Hancock street. July 14-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. 1ptf

BARGAIN IN WATER FRONTAGE.

ON NEPONSET RIVER, 1 1-2 acres, 4'0 feet on river, close to deep water channel, large amount of sand and gravel on lot. $2200 for lot.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 13. 18t

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1695 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY
MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

You Can Increase
Your Business
With a Ledger "Ad"

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

First Chapter
Of New Story
Next Week

Vol. 18. No. 3. QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S
Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS
WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

Money Returned
FOR ALL
Cash Sale Checks
DATED
December 14th.
IF CALLED FOR ON OR BEFORE JANUARY 6th.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night
DANCING SCHOOL
Every WEDNESDAY Night.

Ticket good for 5 lessons : Gents, $2.25. Ladies, $1.75. A discount of 25 cents to former pupils. Small Private Parties Solicited.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

Salary Question

Come Up at First Meeting of New School Committee

Only two of the three new members of the School Committee of 1906 were in attendance on Tuesday evening when the board met to organize, viz: Arthur W. Newcomb elected at large, to succeed James H. Churchill, and John A. Duggan elected from Ward Six, to succeed Dr. F. J. Peirce.

The other new member not present was Charles H. Owens elected from Ward Four to succeed James F. Burke.

Old members present were: Dr. Henry C. Hallowell. Dr. N. S. Hunting, John L. Miller and Fred H. Smith. Old members absent: Charles H. Porter and Dr. Wellington Record.

Dr. Henry C. Hallowell was unanimously reelected as Chairman and Frank E. Parlin was unanimously reelected as superintendent and secretary.

Charles H. Johnson was reelected as truant officer and census taker.

A special committee consisting of Messrs. Record, Miller and Newcomb, was appointed to consider the whole question of teachers' salaries and report at an early date what what seems just and feasible.

The following school calendar was adopted for the year:

First term, Jan. 2 to April 6.
Second term, April 16 to June 29.
Elementary school close, June 21.
Grammar graduation, June 22.
High school graduation, June 27.
Third term, Sept. 10 to Dec. 19.
New Year, Jan. 2, 1907.

Sudden Death.

Mrs. Sarah A. wife of Calvin T. Dyer of the Street department, died suddenly Tuesday night at her home on Chestnut street. Mrs. Dyer was taken ill during the evening and passed away shortly before midnight. She was a member of Paul Revere, W. R. C., and Maple lodge, K. & L. of H., and much interested in both. She was 53 years of age and leaves a husband and two daughters.

Popular Lodge.

Tuesday was seventh anniversary of the institution of Wollaston lodge, A. F. and A. M. The lodge started with a charter membership of 37, and now has a membership of 137. There was no special observance of event. The lodge began the New Year, however, by initiating several candidates. The lodge worked under a special dispensation until Jan. 2, 1900, when it was regularly instituted.

Tubular Rivet Bowling League.

Two games in the Tubular Rivet league were bowled Tuesday night. Team 2 beat team 1 by a total of 1236 to 1187.

TEAM TWO.

	1	2	3	Total.
G. Stevens,	79	85	90	254
Kolson,	78	89	79	246
Mullen,	74	82	87	243
Hill,	74	74	78	226
N. Stevens,	91	84	92	267
Totals,	396	414	426	1236

TEAM ONE.

	1	2	3	Total.
J. Thomes,	90	58	76	224
B. Thomes,	81	67	67	215
Ellison,	85	90	73	248
Ago,	78	92	88	258
Gallagher,	72	86	84	242
	406	393	388	1187

Team 4 beat team 3 by a total of 1238 to 1168.

TEAM FOUR.

	1	2	3	Total.
Hey,	91	81	81	253
J. Thomas,	73	98	79	250
Manimon,	81	76	77	234
Phillips,	88	103	86	277
Cox,	62	75	87	224
Totals,	395	433	410	1238

TEAM THREE

	1	2	3	Total
Hussey,	77	101	91	269
McKay,	70	92	73	235
Aulback,	83	67	76	226
Hamilton,	65	61	75	201
Stock,	90	78	69	237
Totals,	385	399	384	1168

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons
Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Supt. Parlin

To Continue At the Head of Woodward Institute

The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Woodward Institute was held Tuesday afternoon.

The superintendent, F. E. Parlin, made his annual report which will appear in print.

The board organized as follows:

Chairman,—Rev. Ellery C. Butler.
Vice Chairman,—Rev. E. W. Hunt.
Secretary,—Rev. A. R. Atwood.

Finance Committee,—Rev. W. J. Heath, Rev. Jason G. Miller, Rev. Henry G. Megathlin.

Text books and supplies,—Rev. William E. Gardner, Rev. W. B. Barr, Rev. N. J. Sproul.

A. L. Buzzell was elected janitor and engineer.

The following calendar was adopted:

Winter term, Jan. 2 to April 6.
Founders Day, March 12.
Spring term, April 16 to June 22.
Graduation, June 20.
Entrance examinations, June 22 and Sept. 10.
Fall term, Sept. 10 to Dec. 19.
New Year, Jan. 2, 1906.

Frank E. Parlin tendered his resignation as superindendent of the school.

The board refused to accept his resignation and expressed themselves as pleased with the progress and improvement of the school under Mr. Parlin. The progress made in the school during the past five years has completely substantiated the wisdom of the policy of having a trained expert in charge of the school.

The Board also passed a vote of thanks to Mr. Parlin for his services and expressing its entire confidence in him.

I. O. O. F. Installation.

D. D. G. M., Silas S. Wescott and suite of Boston, installed the following officers of Mt. Wollaston lodge, I. O. O. F., on Tuesday evening:

N. G.,—Charles S. Jones.
V. G.,—John W. Nash.
R. S.,—Aubrey R. Keith.
F. S.,—Arthur W. Stetson.
T.,—E. Frank Mitchell.
War.,—Frank W. Flowers.
Con.,—James Moorehead, Jr.
Chap.,—James W. Young.
I. G.,—Charles Somers.
O. G.,—Albert Clark.
R. S. N. G.,—Edward L. Goodridge.
L. S. N. G.,—Frank Hirne.
R. S. V. G.,—William J. Williams.
L. S. V. G.,—Charles Keyser.
R. S. S.,—Thomas Smith.
L. S. S.,—John Michael.
P. G.,—D. Edward McDonald.

After the installation a collation was served in the banquet hall, followed by remarks by the grand officers.

An Invitation.

Rev. A. R. Atwood, the pastor of the Washington street church, issued a New Year's greeting to the people of Quincy Point on Sunday, which was full of hope and good cheer. To the non church goers he said: "If you are not enlisted in any branch of our religious activity, come with us, we will do thee good and we will find a place for you where you and your help will be appreciated."

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between us, the undersigned, John C. Murray and George S. Murray, carrying on business as Manufacturers and dealers in Granite, Marble, and other Monuments and rough and finished granite, at Quincy, Mass., under the firm name and style of MURRAY BROS., was on the thirtieth day of December, A. D. 1905, dissolved by mutual consent and that the business in the future will be carried on by the said John C. Murray alone, who will pay and discharge all debts and liabilities, and receive all moneys payable to the said late firm.

JOHN C. MURRAY.
GEORGE S. MURRAY.
Quincy, Jan. 3. 3t

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

The City In Brief

Miss Lindquist of South street is the owner of a very pretty Boston terrier.

Several children in the Point district are confined to their homes with chicken-pox.

Mrs. Robert Cockran of Bath, Maine, is visiting Mrs. Daniel Scouler of Quincy Point for a few days.

The Coe-Ray-Creelman company of Boston, in which Quincy people were interested, has made an assignment.

The Unity club will hold a whist party at its rooms on Washington street this evening. Play commences at 8 o'clock.

The week of prayer is being observed at the Quincy Point church this week, Tuesday night, Rev. Mr. Falcom presided at the meeting, and this evening the Christian Endeavor society has charged. All are cordially invited to these services.

The frozen ground yeilds it bounty reluctantly to the many carts that wait to be filled before starting up Newbury avenue to add their mite to the progress of the boulevard. Many of the horses have been trained to follow the leading cart, saving thereby extra drivers and proving animal knowledge.

—The battleships Illinois and Missouri sailed from Boston on Tuesday for Hampton Roads, and the Yorkton will sail today.

SOMETHING NEW.
TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH,
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

More Men

Increase in Number Employed in Granite Cutting Yards of Quincy

The year just closed has been a busy one in the granite industry. At no time during the year has business been very quiet, except for a brief period during the time the differences between the cutters and manufacturers were being adjusted, and for a few weeks during the early fall months.

Not only has it been a good year for the manufacturers but for the workmen as well, as more men have been employed on the average than for several years.

The class of work turned out has also been of a superior grade than for some years, and everybody feels satisfied with the year's work as a whole.

The outlook for the present year is also bright. The spring orders have begun to come in well, and the outlook is bright for a good season's work. Many of the manufacturers believe that the volume of work the present year will exceed that for several years.

Through the courtesy of Secretary-Treasurer Duncan, of the Granite Cutters Union, the following figures of the number of cutters of the Quincy branches of the Union employed each month in 1905 are given in comparison with the number employed each month for the years 1904, 1903 and 1902.

Month	1905	1904	1903	1902
January	881	700	750	535
February	895	750	750	545
March	836	800	800	336
April	841	900	850	602
May	913	900	950	570
June	960	800	950	570
July	980	900	950	557
August	959	900	900	648
September	927	875	900	558
October	927	800	800	562
November	919	725	700	607
December	931	675	600	556
Av. per month	914	810	825	611

It will be seen by these figures that the average number employed during the year 1905 was 914, or nearly 100 more than the previous year. The table also shows that business has been growing better every year, if the number of union men employed can be taken as an indication of trade. It will also be noticed that it was in March that the least number were employed, which was at the time the labor differences were being adjusted.

If we add to these figures the number of men employed in other branches of the trade, other than cutters, it will be found that the grand total will not be far from 2000.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR
RIGHT.
SAVE MONEY.
Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.
C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 2. pl tf

FOR OUR READERS
The Two Vanrevels
BY BOOTH TARKINGTON
Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done. —New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

THE TWO VANREVELS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER BEGINNING

"It is my father."

In an Early Edition of the Daily Ledger.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

1906 JANUARY 1906

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:37 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The retiring Mayor of Cambridge entertained the newspaper men at a banquet. The city government of Quincy almost forgot to extend thanks.

Perhaps it would be better for Councilman Bass if he secured another seat in the Council chamber. His number is 13, the unlucky number. It may be as difficult to get out of the 13 chair in the Council chamber, as out of the 13 hole at whist.

The firm stand taken by Mayor Thompson relative to the enforcement of the laws against the sale of intoxicating liquors was pleasing to many. Backed with such a large No-License majority, no mayor should hesitate to carry out the wishes of the voters. Mayor Thompson goes further when he says: "I believe that the No-License policy of Quincy for nearly a quarter of a century has been a most potent factor in its rapid development and growth in all desirable ways."

In the last issue of the Insurance Press published in New York is a list of the municipalities of the country "in grave danger of conflagrations. Quincy is to be congratulated that it is not placed in the list of conbustible cities particularly as 17 of the 33 Massachusetts cities are included. There is another list, however, under the following summary which includes Quincy and all but seven of the Massachusetts cities:

"Taking into consideration the conditions that prevail in the cities that have been under investigation for the purpose of reducing fire losses, one conclusion can be drawn definitely. It is that in all cities conflagration hazards exist through faulty construction and protection of buildings, negligence of property owners in providing protective devices or inadequate supply and distribution of water. The assumptions therefore are that the risks of fire are very great in the following-named cities of 10,000 population or more in the United States and Canada; that means for fire prevention and protection are dependent on the co-operation of departments and the activities of officials in the municipalities and that great responsibilities rest on property owners."

Brockton is in the list of "combustible cities," but is not placed under the above summary, yet its $200,000 fire, which ushered in the New Year, will find a place among the large conflagrations of 1906. We hope Quincy may not be found there.

Revised by the Chauffeur.

All is not waste that litters.
The auto makes the money go.
One good mile deserves another.
Punctures speak louder than words.
A car with speed is a car indeed.
Saponification is the thief of grime.
Time and tires stay for no man.
Cranking and starting are two things.
Mar in haste and repaint at leisure.
It is a short road that has no timing.
None are so deaf as those you cannot queer.

A Sweet Breath

is what all should have, and it can be ensured by the judicious use of Beecham's Pills. A sweet breath denotes that everything is well, so at the slightest indication of the digestive organs not working properly, do not forget to take

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

SYMPATHY GONE

Another Uprising of "Reds" Is Considered Impossible

A CHANGE OF SENTIMENT

Even Radicals at Moscow Are Now on Side of Czar--Commercial Interests Suffered Heavily --Military Law Still Prevails

Moscow, Jan. 3.—Governor General Doubassoff said to a representative of the press:

"I consider the repetition of the revolt in Moscow to be impossible. The 'reds' have alienated the sympathy of a large portion of the liberals who have been inclined to look with something more than complacency on the idea of an armed uprising. The events of the last few days, however, have filled them with horror and have driven the liberals and even the radicals to the side of the government, which alone is able to preserve order. Most of the ringleaders of the revolt have either been killed or arrested, and practically all the arms which they have been accumulating for months have been captured. No matter what the inclinations of those still at liberty may be, I am convinced that they will not again be able to precipitate a reign of terror."

While declining to give details of the losses the governor general pointed out that these losses were greatly exaggerated. This, he said, also applied to the property losses. The only large establishments which had been burned were the Setin printery, which was valued at $500,000, the Schmidt furniture factory and part of the Manontoff factories. The damage done by shell and shrapnel to the factories and houses could be repaired at comparatively small cost. The heaviest loss was to the commercial interests which, on the eve of the holidays, were damaged to the extent of several millions.

The number of persons arrested was large, the governor general said, but most of them would be released without even being put through the formality of a trial. The leaders would be tried by the civil and not by the military tribunals, but the most flagrant offenders, the men who were plainly guilty of treason which in other countries would be punishable with death, would probably get off with terms of imprisonment at hard labor. Attempts at acts of revenge against the police and the troops were naturally to be expected, and for this reason Doubassoff said his order against the people going on the streets after 9 o'clock at night would be enforced until the excitement subsided.

Railroad traffic in all directions has been resumed. The people, anxious to relieve the apprehensions of their relatives and friends, crowded in front of the telegraph offices waiting for hours to file dispatches.

A procession of 2000 persons bearing portraits of the czar and the national flag was formed on the Tverskaia yesterday afternoon and marched to the shrine of the Iberian virgin at the entrance to the Kremlin, where the people knelt and sang "God Save the Emperor." Later they surrounded the carriage of Baron Neden, the prefect of police, and wanted to go to the palace with him, but he persuaded them to disperse.

Reserves Aid Revolutionaries

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—Serious disorders among the reserves returning from the Far East are reported to have taken place at Cheliabinsk. At that place the reserves assisted the revolutionaries to release a number of agitators who had been placed under arrest. They subsequently attacked the railroad station. The authorities were unable to repel the attack, owing to a lack of troops.

Warsaw In Throes of Strike

Warsaw, Jan. 3.—The employes of all the factories here are on strike. The bombs and revolvers discovered in Kacza street belonged to a club of Jewish anarchists and communists, the members of which were terrorizing the Jewish business men. The governor general has suspended The Goniec, an organ of the national Democratic party.

Workmen Attacked Dragoons

Riga, Jan. 3.—While a detachment of dragoons were engaged in grooming their horses here they were attacked by 300 workmen armed with revolvers and swords, with the result that 11 dragoons were killed and 14 wounded. The soldiers rallied and opened fire on their assailants, killing eight of them.

Massacre Still Threatened

Odessa, Jan. 3.—Men in every branch of trade have returned to work. The newspapers are now appearing. The triumph of the authorities at Moscow has had a discouraging effect on the revolutionaries. The only disquieting feature is the persistence of the threat to massacre the Jews.

Murdered For Not "Squealing"

New York, Jan. 3.—Guiseppi Riccobono was caught in a little East Side cellar and murdered with a razor. His body was found lying face upward with the blade of the razor broken into two pieces which were laid on his breast in a cross. His left hand had been half cut off at the wrist and his throat was cut. The police say that a band of Italians killed Riccobono in revenge because he refused to tell them what he knew about the murder recently of an Italian known as Pasquale Rocco.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

HOTEL GREENLEAF.

AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.
MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

GOOD FLOUR WELL NAMED!

Good Flour — well named — is our "OCCIDENT" brand, price 75c. per bag; only $6.50 per barrel.

We might have called it the "best" flour, but it isn't necessary—the housewives of this place have already called it that.

They know that it makes the best bread, and why. You'll know it you give it a trial.

What this flour means to bread-lovers, our best coffee means to coffee drinkers.

Both are highest grade and give greatest satisfaction. Price of coffee 30c. lb.

When you really want finest bread flour, choicest coffee, purest tea, tenderest meat, and food supplies of known quality, come here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 3t

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

PARISH REGISTERS.

The Sort of Entries They Kept In the Old Days In England.

A vicar, John Printer of Worle, is accused in 1584 of having got so drunk "at a Taverne in London, being the howse and signe of the Swann in old Fysh Street," that he had to be "caried to his Lodginge, or some other convenient place, (he) being so dronck, not hable hym-sealf to goo"—that is, walk. He is also charged with being "a common player at Bowles in the churchyard of Worle (his own parish) and a common haunter of Tavernes, alehouses, Bearbeatinge (baiting) and Bul-beatinge, yea, upon the Sabbaoth daies, and an usual plaier at Tables (backgammon) & Cardes in the alehouses and Tavernes."

On Sept. 25, 1621, John Brock of Dundry is presented.

"For usualle playing of the fines and cudgills in the churchyard theare on Sabbaoth daies and holie daies, as namelie hee, with others, did soe upon St. Marke's daie past, and being reproved by the churchwarden for the same, hee gaue him a froward answer, sayinge, 'wee are at exercise to doe the kings service, & you will not suffer us, but the whiles you cutt your neighbors throats.'

"That on Sonndaie, 1 Julij, & on Sonndaie 24 Junij ult., hee, Arthur Payton, and Edward Ward, tayler, did daunce in the churchyard thereof," and Richard Hulvord "played upon his instrument to those that usualiie daunce in the churchyard theare."—London Academy.

THE BIRD OF DEATH.

It Is the Only Venomous Member of the Feathered Tribe.

Among all the thousands of feathered creatures classified by the trained ornithologists but one, the rpir n'doob, or "bird of death," is known to be venomous. This queer and deadly species of the winged and feathered tribe is a native of the island of Papua, or New Guinea. The bird is described as being about the size of a common tame pigeon, of gray plumage and a tail of extraordinary length, ending in a tip of brilliant scarlet red. It is a marsh bird and is found to inhabit only the immense stagnant pools adjoining the lakes of the interior of the island. The rpir has a hooked beak as sharp as a cock's spur and hollow. The venom with which it inoculates is distilled in a set of organs which nature has provided for that purpose and which lie in the upper mandible, just below the openings of the nostrils. Under this poison secreting laboratory in the roof of the mouth is a small fleshy knob. When the bird sets its beak in the flesh of a victim this knob receives a pressure which liberates the venom and inoculates the wound. No man, native or otherwise, was ever known to recover from a bite inflicted by a rpir n'doob. The suffering in such cases is said to be much more agonizing than in cases of rattlesnake and Gila monster bites.

A Persistent Nest Builder.

One of the most energetic nest builders is the marsh wren. In fact, he has the habit to such a degree that he cannot stop with one nest, but goes on building four or five in rapid succession. And there is nothing slovenly about his work either. Look among the cattails in the nearest marsh, even within the limits of a great city, and you will find his little woven balls of reed stems, with a tiny round hole in one side. There is a certain method even in his madness, for the nest in which his wife is brooding her seven or eight eggs is less likely to be found when there are so many empty ones around. Then, too, he uses the others as roosting places for himself.—London Opinion.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.
Nov. 22. 6mos

Bonds in Haste

We furnish, upon the shortest notice, all bonds used in the collection of debts, as Cost Bonds, and Bonds in Attachment and Replevin Proceedings.

Our promptness in supplying these often proves of valuable assistance to manufacturers and others, in collecting from distant creditors.

With an agency system that covers every business point in the country, we are in a position to wire our agents to give security for responsible concerns without a moment's delay.

Parties whose wide business transactions involve great risk often save themselves from loss by consulting us.

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Trust Funds. Care of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1226 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTON
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of
ELIAS A. PERKINS,
late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Fred A. Perkins, executor of the will of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the second account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the tenth day of January, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said executor is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of December, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.
JOHN D. COBB, Register.
31-29, 27, 3

We Are Going to Publish, beginning in a few days

The Two Vanrevels

A powerful love drama full of fire and action

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Read The Two Vanrevels in This Paper

FOOLED JAIL OFFICIALS

Expert Burglar Secured Freedom Without Difficulty

New York, Jan. 3.—After being in Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, for but an hour, Frank Brown, said to be one of the most expert burglars in the country, walked out of the prison and is now being searched for by the police, who, after a long legal battle, succeeded in bringing him here from Chicago to answer to a charge of having taken $3000 worth of jewelry and several hundred dollars in money from the home of William J. Laroche in Brooklyn.

When Brown was arrested in Chicago it is said $30,000 worth of booty was found in his flat. Raymond street jail was turned over to the new borough administration New Year's day. It was during a shift of the guard, when the prisoners were exercising, that Brown picked up his overcoat and nonchalantly walked out through the office and street doors, thanking the officials for their courtesy in having allowed him to visit a friend confined in the jail.

Dropped as He Reached Work

Boston, Jan. 3.—Emaciated and exhausted after a two days' tramp from Portland, Me., to Boston in search of work, James Brown, 22, of Portland, dropped on Albany street in a dead faint from privation. He was within a few yards of the lumber concern where he intended to work, after walking 115 miles to get there. He was footsore, weary and half starved, and the added excitement, due to his hope that his tribulations were practically ended and his expectations realized, was too much for his frail frame to withstand. He was carried to a relief hospital.

A Boy's Strange Death

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Earl Dean, 14, was found dead in the kitchen of his mother's flat in Hyde Park. His head and shoulders rested on a pillow in the oven of a gas range, with the unlighted gas escaping from the burners under it. His hands were tied behind him and his feet were bound with one of his mother's aprons. A handkerchief was knotted loosely about his neck. Young Dean lived alone with his mother, Mrs. Mary Dean, whose chief support he was.

Fitzgerald on Ship Canal

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 3.—A letter to Representative Hancock from Boston's new mayor announces his interest in the Brockton ship canal project. Mayor Fitzgerald writes: "I am firmly of the opinion that the best interests of Massachusetts demand additional communication with New York, and I am going to do everything I can to further the same." This was in response to a letter sent to Fitzgerald by Hancock, enclosing matter relating to the project.

Yerkes Made Many Public Bequests

New York, Jan. 3.—In his will the late Charles T. Yerkes makes many public bequests. Provisions are made for the disposal of his New York home after the death of his wife to a corporation organized for the maintenance of his art gallery, the sum of $750,000 to be given this project upon Mrs. Yerkes' death. Yerkes also provides for a hospital to be erected in New York. His widow, son, daughter and others are provided for.

Struck Series of Hurricanes

St. Johns, Jan. 3.—Steamer Buenos Ayrean, 14 days from Liverpool, fought her way through the worst weather the captain of the vessel said he had ever experienced on the north Atlantic. The cabin was flooded, boats were smashed and all kinds of deckgear demolished. The voyage was made through a succession of hurricanes.

Barge and Cargo Lost

Westbrook, Conn., Jan. 3.—One of a string of coal-laden barges in tow of two tugs, bound for New London, went to the bottom off this point. The barge crashed into the one ahead as the result of the heavy sea, a big hole being torn in its bow. It sank almost immediately and the captain and his wife were rescued as the barge went under.

Jordan Denies Conspiracy Story

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 3.—President Jordan of Stanford university, in an interview here, denied the story that he charged the Honolulu officers with entering into a conspiracy to extort from the Stanford estate by circulating a report at the time of Mrs. Leland Stanford's death that she died of strychnine poisoning.

To Abolish Insurance Rebates

New York, Jan. 3.—An agreement to abolish rebating on premiums has been entered into by the New York Life Insurance company, the Equitable Life Assurance society, and the Mutual Life Insurance company. Grover Cleveland has been appointed referee to decide all questions in dispute that may arise in such matters.

Porto Rico Wants Elective Senate

San Juan, P. R., Jan. 3.—Mayor Todd of this city has sailed for New York, from whence he will go to Washington as a delegate from the Porto Rico Municipal league, of which he is president, with the object of asking congress to pass a law creating an elective senate in the island.

General Booth a Vegetarian

London, Jan. 3.—In his annual address to the Salvation Army, General Booth attributes his robust health to the fact that for the past seven years he has been a strict vegetarian.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Jan. 4.
Sun rises—7:14; sets—4:25.
Moon sets—1:21 a. m.
High water—6:30 a. m.; 6:45 p. m.
There will be rain in south, snow in north portion of New England.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

The City In Brief

The special committee of the City Council will meet Thursday evening, to consider the two financial orders referred to them.

Charles Brooks of the Consolidated Grocery is to open a market in the store on Hancock street recently occupied by John W. Nash.

Hon. Henry O. Fairbanks, the newly elected City Auditor, will not take his office until the first Monday in February, the time prescribed by the City Charter for all department officials.

It is rumored that before next spring, a turnout will be made on the Squantum trolley line in front of Reed's corner, and that the cars will run every half hour. The men who have this plan to put through are men who brook no refusal and who surmount all obstacles.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Gas at Ninety Cents.

The Boston Consolidated Gas Company reduced the price of gas to ninety cents per thousand on Jan. 1. This is the second voluntary five-cent cut since consolidation last June, and puts the ninety-cent rate in full effect six months earlier than the consolidation act required the company to do.

The company, in summing up its measures put into effect for the public convenience during the last six months, gives this enumeration: Reduction in price of gas to the extent of 10 per cent; abolition of charge for making service-pipe connections; establishment of free local pay stations, and the formation of department to receive complaints, search out defects and correct faults.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Foreman Surprised.

Alexander Benzie, formerly of Quincy and son of John Benzie of Liberty street, is held in high esteem by his coworkers at Hamilton, Canada. The Times reports that during the last week of December he was surprised by the employees of the Hamilton Granite Works, where he is foreman, and presented a handsome pipe. The presentation speech was a lengthy one, and had the true Scotch ring. It also extended to Mr. Benzie and family "all the joy and happiness that your manly acts entitle you to."

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

The Way We All Do.

"Bad cold you have, Thinly. How did you contract it?"

"I didn't contract it. It was only a little one, and I expanded it."

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

FOR WORK OF 1906

Opening of Great and General Court of Massachusetts

OLD OFFICERS IN SENATE

Democrats Have a Net Gain of Three In Upper Branch--Political Complexion of House Is Practically Unchanged

Boston, Jan. 3.—The Massachusetts legislature of 1906 convened today. The senate was called to order at 11 o'clock by Senator Chester W. Clark of Wilmington, sixth Middlesex district, the oldest senior member-elect. Four members-elect of the senate became members of that body at the same time, 1904, hence the honor of calling the body to order fell to the oldest among them in point of years. Prayer was offered by Rev. Walter H. Rollins of Wilmington, pastor of the Congregational church which Senator Clark attends.

The senate organized with the re-election of last year's officers, as follows: President, William F. Dana of Newton of the first Middlesex district; clerk, Henry D. Coolidge of Concord; assistant clerk, William H. Sanger of Boston; sergeant-at-arms, David T. Remington of Somerville; chaplain, Rev. Edward A. Horton of Boston.

The Democrats have made a net gain of three senators. The senate will stand nine Democrats and 31 Republicans, as against six Democrats and 34 Republicans last year.

The house was called to order by Representative Allen of Brockton, dean of the lower branch. There being no clergyman in this year's house, Allen invited Rev. W. C. Litchfield, now of Winthrop, member of the house from Middleboro in 1899-1900, to offer the opening prayer.

Prayer over in each branch, a joint committee proceeded to the executive department, where Governor Douglas, attended by Lieutenant Governor Guild and the members of the council, received it. The committee formally announced that the members-elect of the legislature were ready to take and subscribe to the oaths of office. His excellency replied that he would "attend forthwith," and this he promptly proceeded to do.

Headed by the sergeant-at-arms, carrying the mace of office, his excellency, the lieutenant governor, and the councillors, with the secretary of the commonwealth, visited the senate chamber first, the senators-elect rising on the entrance of the party and remaining standing till the governor had administered and they had subscribed to the oaths of office. It took but a few minutes. The governor then proceeded to the house chamber, where the same ceremony was gone through with, but with a greater expenditure of time. After the governor departed the house began its work of organization.

The senate balloted for president, clerk, chaplain and sergeant-at-arms. The house balloted for its speaker, clerk, chaplain and sergeant-at-arms. The latter officer was elected by concurrent vote. Time-honored amenities were then indulged in. The senate notified the house that it had perfected its organization, the lower branch returned the compliment, and then both branches informed the governor and the latter congratulated them.

The house organized with the choice of the following-named officers: Speaker, John N. Cole of Andover of the eighth Essex district; clerk, James W. Kimball of Lynn; assistant clerk, Frank E. Bridgman of Boston; sergeant-at-arms, David T. Remington of Somerville; chaplain, Rev. Daniel W. Waldron of Boston.

The political complexion of the house is practically unchanged from that of last year, as 14 Republicans are succeeded by Democrats, and 14 Democrats are succeeded by Republicans. The house stands 165 Republicans, 69 Democrats, 3 Republican Citizens, 1 Democratic Citizen and 2 Republican Independents.

Of the 240 members of the house, only 107 will be brand new men. It is unusual for so many who have seen previous service, aside from those who served the present year, to be elected. These are 17 in number and come from all parts of the state. They range from "Jim" Mellen of Worcester (Dem.), who has already subscribed to the oath of office 17 times, down to those who have only seen one previous term.

McCall Keeps His Promise

New York, Jan. 3.—John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, has paid to the company the $235,000 advanced to Andrew Hamilton and so far not accounted for by Hamilton. McCall sometime ago promised to make good this sum unless Hamilton rendered an accounting.

Blackburn Loses Senatorial Seat

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 3.—Judge Thomas H. Paynter was nominated for United States senator from Kentucky to succeed J. C. S. Blackburn in the joint caucus of the Democrats last night. The nomination is equivalent to an election, as the Democrats control both houses of the legislature.

Case of May and December

Rome, Jan. 3.—A great sensation has been caused by the elopement of a daughter of Count Lutti of Treviso, 19 years old, with Count Giovanni Correr, who is 63 years old. Both belong to the most ancient of the nobility. The police succeeded in arresting the couple at Venice.

GRAFT AND LEAKS

Boston's New Mayor Says That They Must Be Stopped

Boston, Jan. 3.—Mayor Fitzgerald had another "big, busy" day yesterday, and he continued the policy begun the day before of overturning the work of the Whelton-Lomasney regime. Following up the cancelling of contracts awarded by Acting Mayor Whelton during the closing days of his administration, and the hold-up of "salary grabs" in various departments, Fitzgerald yesterday ordered the shutdown of half a dozen stone crushers which are said to have been a fruitful source of "graft" for several contractors of late.

The friends of the mayor claim that the Whelton-Lomasney administration has been making a most cold-blooded attempt to put the incoming mayor "in a hole" by using up appropriations, awarding contracts indiscriminately, and raising salaries all over the departments. Fitzgerald is determined that all these things must be straightened out, and that graft and leaks must be stopped, he says. Contracts amounting to almost $200,000 have been cancelled by him. Most of these were signed last Friday and Saturday, in face of the protest of Corporation Counsel Babson.

Stockholders Need Not Make Good

Boston, Jan. 3.—The suit of Receiver Converse of the Minnesota Thresher Manufacturing company against John B. Ayers of this city, to enforce the liability of a stockholder for the debts of the corporation under a law passed in Minnesota in 1899, was decided in the superior court in favor of the defendant. Ayers was a stockholder before the law was passed, and the law was retroactive as to him. There are a number of stockholders of the corporation in eastern states and the decision is regarded as a severe blow to the creditors of the company.

Tucker's Sentence Delayed

Boston, Jan. 3.—Judge Sherman of the superior court, the presiding justice in the trial of Charles L. Tucker when the young man was found guilty of the murder of Mabel Page in Weston, has notified Attorney General Parker that he shall not pronounce sentence on Tucker during the coming week. The supreme court had denied the appeal of Tucker's counsel for a rehearing on two of the items in the bill of exceptions. Parker was about to move for sentence today, but the court granted the request of Tucker's counsel for postponement.

Poison Found In Farmyard

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 3.—The police have been called upon to investigate an apparent attempt to poison Mr. and Mrs. James Seymour, an aged couple living on a farm here. Seymour found a powder, apparently paris green, spilled near the well. His suspicions were aroused and it was decided not to drink any of the water. Later several chickens which had been at large in the yard near the well were found to be poisoned and many of them died.

Maine War Veteran Dead

Portland, Me., Jan. 3.—General Francis Fessenden, one of Maine's most distinguished soldiers in the Civil war and a former mayor of this city, died at his residence in this city from blood poisoning, caused by an abscess on the leg. He was born in Portland, was graduated from Bowdein college in 1858 and read law in Portland and New York.

Left Much to Charity

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 3.—Mrs. Isabella Haven bequeathed $40,000 to the New London, Conn., library, to be used as two memorial funds of $20,000 each. Other bequests are: $5000 to the House of Mercy in Pittsfield, $6500 to St. Paul's church, Stockbridge, $6500 in trust to the Laurel Hill association, Stockbridge.

Law Against Woman Notaries

Concord, N. H., Jan. 3.—The supreme court has answered in the negative a query from the governor and council asking if a woman is qualified to fill the office of notary public in this state. Half a dozen women now hold such office, and the effect of the decision will be to cancel their commissions.

Busy Season In Maine Woods

Augusta, Me., Jan. 3.—During the past year 11,933 persons were guided through the woods, across the lakes and along the rivers of the state by 1680 of the registered guides for an aggregate of 74,651 days, according to the annual report of the commissioners of inland fisheries and game.

Attempt to Wreck Train Charged

Chelsea, Mass., Jan. 3.—Eugene B. Willard, 25 years old, was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with an attempt to wreck a railroad train at Reading last November by placing an obstruction on the track. The warrant for Willard's arrest was issued several days ago.

In Need of Repairs

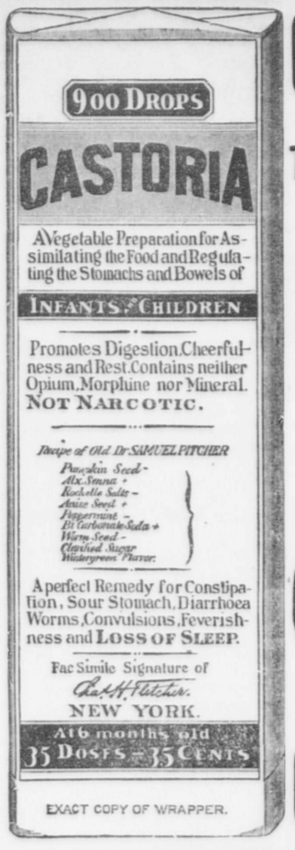

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 3.—Schooner Flora Rogers, for this port with lumber, which went ashore on Sunken island, has been towed here. The schooner's stern is crushed in, her keel is in bad shape and many seams are open.

No Quitting.

Marryat—You don't believe in divorce, then? Mugley—No, sir; I've got too much sportin' blood. Marryat—What has that to do with it? Mugley—I believe in a fight to the finish.—Philadelphia Press.

A Woman's Way.

Edith—What luck did you have in the last race? Maud—None at all. I backed all the horses with a pretty name, but I didn't find the winner.—Illustrated Bits.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night

DANCING SCHOOL

Every WEDNESDAY Night.

Ticket good for 5 lessons: Gents, $2.25. Ladies, $1.75. A discount of 25 cents to former pupils. Small Private Parties Solicited.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

Restful Couches.

Couch comfort isn't expensive when you buy it here, and no house is complete today without a Couch.

We carry over forty styles of Couches at prices ranging from $4.98 to $35.00. We make a specialty of popular priced ones, $9.50 to $15.00, and our couches at these prices are simply wonderful.

Your choice of Coverings. Everything that's new or up-to-date is here for you to choose from without extra charge.

Reasonable terms for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

I Have Just Received Another Assortment of

CHINA CUPS and SAUCERS worth 35c to 50c for 25c

CHOCOLATE POTS, CUPS and SAUCERS TO MATCH

which will make a handsome Christmas present.

I have also a line of the best Christmas Goods, consisting of Dolls, Go-carts, Baby Carriages, Express Wagons and Wheel Barrows, and other goods.

Hoping to receive a share of the patronage of Wollaston, Norfolk Downs and Atlantic.

I remain yours truly,

J. A. JOHNSON,

401 Hancock Street, Quincy, Dec. 4. Norfolk Downs.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

ODELL IS BEATEN

The Opposition of Wadsworth Fails to Materialize

IS CHOSEN FOR SPEAKER

Merritt and Wainwright Secured but 29 Votes Between Them In Opposition to Higgins' Candidate, For Which Odell Is "Grateful"

Albany, Jan. 3.—James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Livingston county, son of Congressman James W. Wadsworth of the Thirty-Fourth congressional district and son-in-law of the late Secretary John Hay, was nominated last night by the Republican assembly caucus for speaker of the assembly and will be elected to that office when the assembly convenes. Wadsworth had 75 out of 104 votes cast in the caucus, Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of St. Lawrence receiving 14 and J. M. Wainwright of Westchester 15.

The vote was taken by open rollcall and there was no attempt to secure a secret ballot, as had been expected. This result brings to a close one of the most remarkable speakership campaigns in recent years, characterized by marked factional bitterness.

Mr. Wadsworth was not among the candidates originally in the field, but was proposed by Governor Higgins in a formal statement and, in addition to the support of the governor and his friends, was regarded as having the approval of President Roosevelt. Merritt had the backing of State Chairman Odell and his friends in the state organization, who fought with marked determination for his election or, failing that, for the defeat of Wadsworth.

After learning the result of the caucus Higgins said: "I am neither disappointed nor surprised. The voice of the people and of the press has been heard here and the representatives of the people in the assembly have, in my opinion, followed the sentiment expressed."

"I have no comment to make on the action of the Republican caucus," said Odell, "except to say that I am grateful for the 29 votes. I am not at all disheartened by the result."

Both houses of the legislature convened at noon today. After the organization of the assembly the annual message of Governor Higgins was read and the legislature then adjourned for one week.

Important Labor Decision

New York, Jan. 3.—The supreme court, in the case of Harry Marcus, convicted on a charge of coercing Hyman Steinbaum to enter into a written agreement with the H. Marcus Shirt company not to become a member of any labor organization as a condition of securing employment with that concern, reversed the judgment of conviction and ordered the defendant discharged. The court holds that the law which forbids the making of contracts of the kind described declaring such act a misdemeanor is unconstitutional.

Improper Evidence Was Admitted

Philadelphia, Jan. 3.—The state supreme court has granted a new trial to Charles Johnson, who was convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his sister-in-law, Margaret Johnson, and her niece, Annie Benjamin, aged 10, near Towanda. Bigler Johnson, brother of Charles and husband of the murdered woman, was hanged on July 25 last for participating in the crime. The new trial is ordered because the supreme court holds that the lower court permitted improper evidence to go before the jury.

Young to Be Reprimanded

Washington, Jan. 3.—Secretary Bonaparte has acted upon the proceedings of the court martial in the case of Commander Young of the Bennington, who was tried on charges connected with the fatal explosion on that vessel at San Diego, Cal., last summer. The court found Young guilty of a part of the specifications alleging negligence of duty and sentenced him to receive a letter of reprimand, which sentence will be carried out.

Objections to Home Rule

Belfast, Ire., Jan. 3.—Four thousand delegates from the province of Ulster assembled here to protest against any attempt on the part of the government of Premier Bannerman to grant home rule to Ireland. Shortly after the delegates assembled there was a scene of great disorder, a section of the audience refusing to listen to the speeches. The meeting broke up in confusion.

Strikers' Bad Bargain

St. John, Jan. 3.—The printers of The Evening Times, who went out on strike, voted last night to return to work. The men struck because of the discharge of one of their number and demanded his reinstatement. The discharged man has not been taken back and two of the strikers, including the foreman of the composing room, will not be allowed to resume work.

A Disastrous Runaway

New York, Jan. 3.—Dashing through a single block of the teeming East Side, a runaway horse left a trail of 12 persons on the pavement behind him, two unconscious with broken skulls, who may die. The horse ran through Avenue B, dragging a wrecked buggy behind him. There were almost as many pedestrians in the middle of the street as on the sidewalk.

CLASH IS FEARED

People In Panama Dissatisfied With the Conditions

Washington, Jan. 3.—Efforts to promote selfish interests both in the canal zone and the republic of Panama proper may involve the United States government in serious difficulties. A man who has just returned to this city after a long sojourn in the canal zone declares conditions are so serious that a revolution may be looked for even as early as next May. People owning real estate in the canal zone and having business interests there are jealous of any assistance given the Panama republic by our government. They appreciate the value of our protection and want that limited to the zone.

Meanwhile the Panamans are discontented, so it is claimed, because of the conservatism of President Amador's government, and would adopt some means for compelling the attention of our government to the needs of the republic and an active participation in its financial and industrial development. The Panamans charge that the $10,000,000 given the republic when the canal was sold to our government is not being expended as it should be, and they want more of it laid out in the republic proper.

General Huertas, who was pensioned as a reward for his activity during the birth of the republic and has been spending his time and his pension in France, is expected to return and perhaps lead the malcontents in their miniature uprising. The so-called revolutionists do not expect to throw their republic wholly into the lap of the United States as a province, but hope through a series of annoyances to focus our attention and secure more efficient guardianship on our part.

Painting Mystery Solved

Boston, Jan. 3.—"Mrs. John L. Gardner personally purchased Giorgione's famous painting, 'Christ with the Cross,' while she was in Italy eight years ago, from someone connected with the Loschi palace at Vincenza," said a close friend of Mrs. Gardner. "This person had authority to sell. The purchase was known to Bernard Berenson, the New York art critic, and to others in Mrs. Gardner's party. The deal was lawful, but was kept for a time from the Italian public."

Twelve Hundred Printers Out

New York, Jan. 3.—Twelve hundred union printers, the employes of 44 book and job printing concerns in New York city, have gone on strike for the eight-hour day. Members of the local Typothetae assert that hundreds of non-union printers from various parts of the country are hurrying to New York to take the places of the strikers. Representatives of the Typographical union declare the eight-hour day principle has already been won in New York.

Made Big Hole In School Funds

Peoria, Ills., Jan. 3.—The report of the Everett Audit company on the defalcations of N. C. Dougherty, the former city superintendent of schools, who pleaded guilty to a charge of the embezzlement of public funds and who is now serving in the penitentiary an indeterminate sentence, shows a total shortage for seven years of $541,408.50. The total shortage for 18 years will fall slightly short of $1,000,000.

Killed Three and Self

Rochester, Mich., Jan. 3.—Clarence A. Barnum, a farmer, murdered his wife, his daughter, Louise, aged 23, and his son, Clinton, aged 16, with an axe. A shotgun lying near his corpse and the fact that his head was almost entirely blown off showed how Barnum had met his end. Barnum's harvest did not meet his expectations and he had become despondent.

Kaiser Not In Warlike Mood

Rome, Jan. 3.—The Tribune publishes an interview with Spanish Premier Moret, who says it is his opinion that the forthcoming conference on Moroccan affairs will lead to a sincere and lasting agreement between France and Germany. He asserts that the warlike intentions attributed to Emperor William are exaggerations.

Jewelers Fail For $200,000

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Affairs of the retail jewelry firm of Herbert L. Joseph & Co. have been placed in the hands of a receiver. The liabilities are said to be in the neighborhood of $200,000. The firm operated three stores in Chicago and one in Pittsburg. The cause of the failure is not announced.

Big Snowfall Out West

Denver, Jan. 3.—A storm has begun in southern and western Colorado and several inches of snow has fallen. Reports from New Mexico and as far south as the Texas line show that a general storm has prevailed for more than 24 hours, accompanied by severely cold weather.

Hazing Charge Denied

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 3.—The defense in the case of Midshipman Decatur, on trial by court martial for hazing, closed with Decatur's denial of the accusations. The case will be finished today.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Sidi Mohamed, the bey of Tunis, is in a serious condition of ill-health, which is the cause of great anxiety. The bey was born in 1855.

John W. Hudson, for 46 years chief clerk to the various commandants at the Boston navy yard, died at Boston from a general breakdown. He was born in 1834.

Nathaniel G. Silsby of Boston is announced to be the largest stockholder in a railroad company which has secured a charter to operate a line of railroad from Burr's Ferry to Austree village, Tex., a distance of 80 miles.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON				FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.		Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42		*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19	r
r 6 13	abc	6 33		6 27	cba	6 46	r
r 6 43	abc	7 03		6 57	cba	7 19	r
r 7 13	abc	7 33		7 27	cba	7 49	r
r 7 23	ad	7 42		8 27	cba	3 49	r
7 29	Exp.	7 45		9 27	cba	9 49	r
r 7 43	abc	8 03		9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15		10 27	cba	10 49	r
r 8 13	abc	8 33		10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47		11 27	cba	11 49	r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05		11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16		12 27	cba	12 49	r
r 9 13	abc	9 33		12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17		12 57	cba	1 19	r
r 10 13	abc	10 33		1 27	cba	1 49	r
10 59	Exp.	11.15		1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33		2 27	cba	2 49	r
12 01	Exp.	12 17		2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33		3 27	cba	3 49	r
12 59	Exp.	1 15		3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33		4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03		4 27	cba	4 49	r
r 2 13	abc	2 33		4 50	edeba	5 11	r
r 3 13	abc	3 33		5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03		5 19	dcba	5 41	r
r 4 13	abc	4 33		5 27	cba	5 49	r
4 59	Exp.	5 15		5 45	dba	6 07	r
r 5 13	abc	5 34		5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57		5 57	cba	6 19	r
r 6 13	abc	6 33		6 15	dba	6 37	r
r 6 43	abc	7 03		6 27	cba	6 49	r
6 59	Exp.	7 15		6 57	fedcba	7 23	r
r 7 13	abc	7 33		7 27	cba	7 49	r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32		8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53	r
r 9 13	abc	9 33		9 27	cba	9 49	r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32		10 27	fedcba	10 53	r
r 11 13	abc	11 33		10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19	r
				11 13	Exp.	11 30
				11 27	cba	11 49	r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03		6 24	ihgfdcba	6 53	r
r 8 43	abc	9 03		8 57	cba	9 19	r
r 9 13	abc	9 33		10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45	r
9 33	a	9 51		12 27	cba	12 49	r
				1 13	ihgfedcba	1 45	r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44		2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45	r
r 1 13	abc	1 33		3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45	r
r 3 00	abc	3 20		4 27	cba	4 49	r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44		5 27	cba	5 47	r
r 5 13	abc	5 33		6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45	r
				6 57	cba	7 19	r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44		8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53	r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35		8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35		9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56	r
r 10 25	abc	10 45		10 27	cba	10 49	r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 5.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 5.46 5.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.15 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—7.21 8.21 9.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.31 P.M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 6.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 5.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 5.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 18 8
Sunday,	40	36	40	33	39
Monday,	41	29	47	14	27
Tuesday,	35	40	45	31	23
Wednesday,	34	49	34	35	31
Thursday,	—	50	14	13	18
Friday,	—	58	23	25	31
Saturday,	—	45	21	32	41

New Advertisements Today.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.
Lost—Navy Button Pin.

Local Ins And Outs

A patent was issued this week to Edward F. White of this city.

The Squantum Yacht club is holding rehearsals for a minstrel show to be given the last of this month.

Another whist party will be held Thursday evening by John Adams commandery, Knights of Malta.

The broken window in Memorial church looks as through a base-ball might have made a forcible entrance through that medium.

Rev. John R. Bernhardt, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church on Granite street, has resigned to accept a call from the churches at Malden and Everett and will begin his new duties a week from Sunday.

The stringing of the wires on the Squantum line of electrics will probably be completed today so that the car can run as far as Madison street, but Atlantic people are wondering why connection is not made with Hancock street, so that the Squantum cars can again be run to Neponset.

The play of the Quincy basket ball teams showed some improvement in the league games on Tuesday at Quincy, as they scored several baskets. Somerville won, however, from the first team 38 to 18, and Somerville second won from Quincy second 22 to 14.

The Wednesday Ledger is one of the most popular of the week, the club column proving interesting to a large circle of readers. It is hoped all clubs will use the column freely for full reports of their meetings, sending in the copy Tuesday or early Wednesday morning. Quincy is quite a club city.

Herbert D. Adams, the treasurer of the Washington Street church at Quincy and one of its most active workers, was remembered at Christmas, receiving a gift of Shakespeare's complete works bound in thirteen volumes. It came as a surprise to him and he has written a letter heartily thanking the society for the gift.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover,
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING,
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

The Hancock Hotel
Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table.
Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

AMONG THE CLUBS.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

A delightful afternoon is promised the members of the Quincy Women's club at their regular meeting on Tuesday, the ninth, at the club house, Goffe street, when one of their members, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney will speak on "The art of story telling." Mrs. Gurney is always entertaining and will doubtless make much out of her subject. A brief business meeting will precede the afternoon's program.

A choral society is to be formed by the singing members of the club, after the meeting Tuesday. Mrs. Jennie B. Worster of Weymouth will be director, which is a guarantee of good results.

Guest tickets have been prepared for the use of members who desire to take guests to the regular club meeting. It is desirable to do as is done in other clubs, that is secure several tickets of the treasurer for use during the year. In this way one is prepared to take a guest at any time. It is also easier for the doorkeeper to receive tickets for guests.

The printing committee, the secretary, and the chairman of the program committee, are busily at work preparing the year book of the Quincy Women's club. It will contain the names of the 350 members, officers, committees, constitution and by-laws, and yearly program for season of 1905-6.

HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Hospital Aid Association was held Thursday, Dec. 28th, at the Quincy Women's club house. The following officers were elected:

President,—Mrs. J. C. Morse.
1st Vice President,—Mrs. D. L. Jewell.
2d Vice President,—Miss M. G. Sampson.
Secretary,—Mrs. J. W. Sanborn.
Treasurer,—Mrs. Thomas Fenno.
Directors,—Mrs. N. S. Hunting, Mrs. R. K. Whiton, Mrs. L. H. Sturtevant, Mrs. E. G. Pratt, Miss M. G. Sampson, Miss Amy F. Newcomb, Miss E. M. Freeman, Mrs. J. F. Gleason, Mrs. H. W. Tirrell, Mrs. Catherine Teasdale, Mrs. C. C. Cavanagh, Mrs. James H. Slade, Sr., Mrs. Francis Corey, Mrs. Thomas Lacey, Mrs. H. W. Pinkham, Mrs. John Carver, Miss Catherine Nelson, Mrs. F. J. Peirce, Mrs. E. A. Snow, Mrs. Edward Chase.

It was voted to accept the offer of the H. J. Heinz Co. of Pittsburgh to give a "demonstration lunch" introducing several of the 57 dainties which they make. The lunch will be given in the chapel of First church, Thursday, January 18 at half after twelve. All are urged to attend and remain in the afternoon for another sewing bee as there are still many articles needed at the hospital. Come and bring your neighbor.

REBEKAHS.

George L. Gill Rebekah lodge installs its new officers Thursday evening at its regular meeting. Mrs. Annie E. Sawyer, D. D. G. M., and suite of Boston will be the installing officers. After the installation a turkey supper will be served.

DAY NURSERY.

Quincy Day Nursery association held its first meeting of the new year, at the home of Mrs. N. S. Hunting on Tuesday.

There were satisfactory reports from the matron and visiting directors.

Much credit is due Mrs. Wadsworth for the Christmas party she assisted in giving at the Nursery on Dec. 23. There were generous donations of fruit and provisions also gifts for the children.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Safford for opening her house and helping to make the Food Sale such a success. Proceeds of which were $87.49.

Members of the association wish to extend a hearty vote of thanks to those who contributed the following during the month of December:

Mrs. Wadsworth, Christmas tree and furnishings, apples, cake, coffee, sugar, cream, candy, and pop-corn.
Mrs. Sandberg, crackers, cake, bread, meat, coffee, apples.
A Friend, potatoes and meat.
Mrs. E. E. Davis, squash.
Prout & Son, oranges.
V. E. Miller, oranges.
Mrs. Addison, coffee.
Miss Elsie Russell, candy and oranges.
Clover club of Wollaston, $10.
Members of King's Daughters, $1.
Unitarian Society, Wollaston, groceries.
Schools of Wollaston, groceries, vegetables, apples and two loaves of bread.
Quincy Point Congregational Society, aprons.
Fragment Society, aprons.
E. M. Freeman, 25 pounds rice.
Miss Ross, jelly and apples.
Mrs. Blanchard, 1 dozen handkerchiefs.
Rev. Edward Anderson, a sled.

Adjourned at 4 o'clock for one month, to meet with Mrs. Theodore Hardwick, Feb. 6.

Mary W. Read, Secretary.

WOMEN'S ALLIANCE.

The next meeting of the Women's Alliance of First church will be held in the church parlor on Monday afternoon at three o'clock. The subject will be Harriet Martineau, and Mrs. A. E. Sproul is chairman of the afternoon.

GUILDS.

St. Margaret's Guild of Christ church holds its annual business meeting on Friday evening Jan. 5th in the parish house. The meeting will close with an informal talk by Miss Emily C. Wild, an her trip abroad, illustrated with photographs.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION

Adams Chapter, D. R., commenced the New Year, with a well attended meeting at the home of Mrs. Osborne Rogers. After the regular business meeting, the Chapter was entertained with a piano solo by Miss Muriel Rogers, and a paper on, "The life of Col. William Pepperell, of Kittery, Maine," by Miss Elizabeth Rogers. This paper was written for the Pepperell association at their reunion at Kittery, last summer. The hostess Mrs. Rogers is a direct descendant from Col. Pepperell.

During the social hour which followed the hostesses, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Gilson, Mrs. Magee and Mrs. Garey, served refreshments.

The Chapter is to observe its tenth anniversary on Jan. 27th with an old fashioned supper at the John Adams birthplace.

The State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution has secured some fine talent for the vaudeville which they are to give at the Hollis street theatre, Boston, on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 11th, in aid of the Cambridge Memorial fund. Among the attractions are: Raymond Hitchcock, Blanche Walsh, Jefferson de Angelis, Lew Dockstader and George W. Wilson, all theatrical stars, also members and friends of the Daughters will assist.

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Society, United States Daughters of 1812, was held in Boston, on Tuesday. Mrs. Nelson V. Titus of this city, was reelected president, and Miss Floretta Vining of Hull, is one of the council.

JUNIOR FRIDAY CLUB.

Owing to Monday, the regular meeting day of the Junior Friday club, being New Year's day, the club met on Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Thompson, Brook street, Wollaston. Besides the members there were three guests present. It was a James Fenimore Cooper afternoon in charge of Mrs. Harry E. Russell. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

CLOVER CLUB.

The Clover club composed of eight Wollaston young ladies held their annual fair Dec. 9th at Miss Grace Seely's. The fair was a success considering the weather, the result being $39.00. Last year the club donated money for worthy causes and this year the same. The money has been distributed as follows: to the Day Nursery ten dollars; to the Hospital Aid society ten dollars; to three poor families $15.00. The rest of the money remains in the treasury for future use.

EMERSON CLUB.

The Emerson club held one of the most enjoyable meetings of the season New Year's day at the home of Mrs. F. S. Davis, Elm street. Several criticisms of Browning were read, followed by an animated discussion. Dainty refreshments were served.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUB.

Tuesday afternoon, the Ousamequin club of Bridgewater, was most delightfully entertained by Miss Edith Linwood Winn of Boston, with Hungarian Folksongs. Miss Winn is a fine violinist, speaker and singer, and gives her afternoons in Hungarian peasant costume.

At the election of the Ladies' Library association of Randolph, the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. William H. Leavitt; vice president, Mrs. Henry A. Belcher; secretary, Miss Sara C. Belcher; treasurer, Mrs Sarah K. A. Porter; librarian, Mrs. Delia A. Deane and several committees. This association celebrated the fiftieth anniversary last month and is believed to be the oldest women's club in the state.

On Jan. 12th the Reading Woman's club is to have a Shakespearian recital of "Twelfth Night" by Marshall Darrack of New York.

The guests of honor at the meeting of the Monday club of Weymouth this week were the ministers and teachers of the town.

Miss Marian E. Nichols spoke on "Civil Service Reform" at the meeting of the Milton Woman's club on Monday afternoon. Music and tea followed the address.

The Daughters of Massachusetts have issued invitations for its forty-sixth function, at hotel Brunswick on Thursday Jan. 11th from three until five.

It is a cleanly village that can support two barber shops, and Atlantic keeps both entertaining a lively patronage.

TO REVIVE INDIAN MUSIC

Suggestion That Reservation Schools Teach Mystic Songs.

IDEA OF COMMISSIONER LEUPP.

His Recommendation to Congress That Music Be Taught In Government Schools For Indians Enthusiastically Approved by Old Chiefs. Favorite Song of a Squaw.

Indian Commissioner Leupp's recommendation in his annual report to congress that Indian music be taught in the government schools for Indians is receiving the enthusiastic approval of the old chiefs on the reservations, but the younger Indians know scarcely more about Indian music than the average white man of the west, says a Yankton (S. D.) correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

No suggestion more to the liking of the grizzled warriors, who spend much of their time mourning over the departure of happy days when they could dance, sing and fight, has been made by an Indian commissioner in recent years. With the revival of the Indian music there is certain to be an awakening of the Indian spirit, the heritage of centuries of wild life on the plains and in the forests, and with these there is sure to come some restoration of the manliness for which the race was noted and for lack of which the Indians are struggling with disease and inebriety.

Few, indeed, have any idea of the real Indian music. The reds do not parade their national songs or their musical instruments. Whatever their practice in wild life, Indian music cannot be heard now except at long intervals, when the tribes are engaged in some impressive ceremony. But there is real Indian music, as tuneful and as sweet as the American songs which they have learned to sing in recent years. There are joyous, fanatical or warlike songs of the dance, the solemn or strangely weird song of lamentation and the self satisfied song of work. The words of many of the songs have a beauty all their own. A mystic sort of fervor runs through them, and some of them are fairly thrilling even when robbed of their picturesqueness by translation.

Old Indians are now looking forward to the day when their songs will be commonly sung on the reservations and again give them an opportunity to pour out all the disappointed hopes of years, the heartaches and homesickness. They formerly sang of all the white men sing of and begged the Great Spirit to pity their desolation. They sang until the mind ruled the poor starved body, and then in a trance the old Indians could see all for which they yearned.

Again they are to sing the songs, and they are rejoicing that they are to be left forever in the minds of the younger generation; that they may see, as their fathers have seen many a time, the home scenes of years of plenty; watch again the making of the pemmican; hear again the wind whistling through the tepee poles, while within the fire burned brightly and the games went merrily on.

Old Indian women on the South Dakota reservations remember when they were expecting visits from friendly tribes, and when they offered the hospitality of their wigwams to the wayfarers, and this was the simple song they would sing:

"I am mashing the berries.
They say travelers are coming on the march.
I stir the berries round; I stir them around;
I take them up with a spoon of buffalo horn,
And I carry them, I carry them to the strangers."

While the men remember times on the hunt when they sat on the backs of their ponies waiting for the return of the runners who had been sent out to locate the buffaloes, and in their loneliness they would sing:

"Ho! They have come back racing.
Why, they say there is to be a buffalo hunt here.
'Make arrows. Make arrows,'
Says the father, says the father."

Stretched on the grass in front of her wigwam an aged squaw was asked what she considered her favorite song, and she explained that she always sang about her mother. She said she remembered when a girl she would see visions of her dead mother, and she would sing:

"'Mother, come home; mother, come home,'
My little brothers go all about crying.
My little brothers go always about crying,
'Mother, come home; mother, come home.'"

Such songs as "Rock of Ages" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" are favorites among the Indians, while a song written by a western man called "Loyalty," in which there is the line "Across the western plain there comes a joyful strain," is known to almost every Indian of the church.

Besides the religious songs of the Indians there are songs of hunting, songs of war and of work, which are gayer than the religious songs. The Indians love to sing while they are at work, and many of their best songs were those sung by young girls, who do much of the work about the lodge.

Fox Hunting on a Bicycle.

At the last meet of the East Kent Foxhounds in England the master, Selby Lowndes, followed the hounds on a bicycle, says the London Express. His horse became exhausted, and he borrowed a bicycle from a lad whom he met and was in at the finish.

Record Depth For Gold.

Gold is on exhibition in the mining department at Melbourne, Australia, found in the New Chum mine, Bendigo, at a depth of 4,200 feet, the record depth of gold discovery.

A SELFISH MAN.

The Prayer He Addressed to the Throne of Mercy.

The following example of a quaint and selfish prayer does not come from the liturgy; it is from "Glimpses of Ancient Hackney:" "O Lord, thou knowest that I have nine estates in the city of London and likewise that I have lately purchased an estate in fee simple in the county of Essex. I beseech thee to preserve the two counties of Middlesex and Essex from fire and earthquake, and, as I have a mortgage in Hertfordshire, I beg of thee likewise to have an eye of compassion on that county, and for the rest of the counties thou mayest deal with them as thou art pleased. O Lord, enable the bank to answer all their bills and make all my debtors good men. Give prosperous voyage and return to the Mermaid sloop, because I have insured it, and, as thou hast said the days of the wicked are but short, I trust in thee that thou wilt not forget thy promise, as I have purchased an estate in reversion which will be mine on the death of that profligate young man, Sir J. L. Keep my friends from sinking and preserve me from thieves and housebreakers and make all my servants so honest and faithful that they may attend to my interest and never cheat me out of my property night or day."

THE CHINESE MOTHER.

She Is Steadfast In Affection For Her Children.

The Chinese mother is very fond of her children. She is happy in their company and spends much time caring for them. In a Chinese family the birth of a child is a greater event than with other orientals. Long before the child is born the mother performs rites and ceremonies to propitiate the gods that her child may be a boy. After birth the little fellow is wrapped in old rags and in winter is sometimes put in a bag of sand sewed close around its neck to keep the little one warm. Great rejoicing follows the birth if the child is a boy; otherwise there is an air of chastened disappointment. But good Chinese parents make the best of their little lassies, becoming very fond and even proud of them. I have known more than one Chinese father to exhibit his toddling wee girl for approval, though always with the customary national verbal deprecation of what belongs to one. Indeed, this evidence of excessive courtesy may be found everywhere in this strange land. It is good form to vilify what is mine and laud what is thine. "My good for nothing family are all still troubling the earth with their presence. How is your honorable family?"—Pilgrim.

MUMMIES.

Some That Do Not Come From the Tombs of the East.

Many persons who have an interest in archaeology will be surprised to know that all the mummies to be seen in museums have not been taken from faraway tombs in Egypt or other eastern lands. Well preserved mummies have occasionally been taken from the ruins of the cliff dwellers in the mountain canyons of Arizona and in New Mexico and southern California. These mummies, though very poor specimens of the mummifying art, are considered great treasures by scientists, because they give the anthropologist a vague idea of the strange people who had the earliest civilization on the American continent. The best of them are almost entirely ignorant of who the Aztecs and Toltecs were, how they looked and lived and why they have been so entirely obliterated from the face of the earth.

The reason for this ignorance is found in the fact that no satisfactory remains of the dead Aztecs have been found. These people were cremationists, and they probably buried household effects with the dead, leaving little or nothing for the scientist to build a theory upon. Frequently a party of explorers in the valleys of Arizona will come upon sealed jars of burned bone dust.

Flowers In the Shade.

It is not unusual to hear a complaint that one's yard has no sun, and therefore flowers cannot be raised. But there are a large number of flowers that prefer shade to sunshine in summer. The begonia is of this class. Those who have north walls or fences may have great beauty during the summer by setting out the different kinds of begonias. Even the gloxinia, the achimenes and similar hothouse plants bloom splendidly throughout the summer season when grown on the north side of walls.

Keppel's Recipe For Health.

Meeting me in a bitter east wind one day in Piccadilly on his way to church, Keppel asked how Mr. Gladstone was. I told him he was very ill. "Ah," he said, "he is overnursed. If he would do as I do, climb up eighty steps, have a cold bath every day and sleep with his window always open, he would never be ill."—Memoir of Sir Henry Keppel.

Foot In It Again.

Mr. Brakes—Who is that sour looking dame over there? Mr. Grubbins—Sir, she has the misfortune to be my wife. Mr. Brakes—Oh—ah—er—indeed, sir, the misfortune is—er—all yours, I'm sure!—Cleveland Leader.

Possible to All.

She (philosophically)—Do you think it is easy to die? He (commonplace)—Well, a lot of very stupid people have managed to do it.

Difficulties strengthen the mind as labor does the body.—Seneca.

No Secrets To Hide

We have nothing to conceal; no secrets to hide! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. You will find these in Ayer's Almanac for 1906; or write us and we will send them to you. Then show the formulas to your doctor, and ask him what he thinks of them. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of George Stevens for larceny of hens from Moses Schwartz at Quincy called and Stevens was fined $5.

DIED.

DYER—In Quincy, Jan. 2, Mrs. Sarah A., wife of Mr. Calvin T. Dyer aged 52 years, 6 months and 6 days.
Funeral Thursday, Jan. 4, at 2 P. M., from Bethany Congregational church. Relatives and friends invited.

HASKINS—In East Weymouth, Jan. 2, Cordelia Bates Haskins, of 88 Chard street, in her 71st year.

TERRY—In East Weymouth, Jan. 2, Miss Mary Katherine, daughter of Mr. Patrick Terry, of 269 Middle street.

DYEING
In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

FOR SALE.
AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office.

HALL TO LET.
PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec. 27. 12t

CATALOGUE
PRINTING.
When in want of any little pamphlet or book to advertise your business, let us talk it over with you,
Club Books, Year Books, By-laws, Programs, Catalogues, anything in small pamphlets, promptly printed and tastefully bound. Get our prices.
GEO. W. PRESCOTT & SONS,
PRINTERS.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Navy Button Pin, on Sunday evening, on School street. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to MISS EMILY C. WILD, 127 Granite street, Quincy.
Jan. 3. 3t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET or FOR SALE—House on Pray street, Quincy Point, 9 rooms, bath room, hall, open plumbing, etc. Latest improvements. Apply T. C. FOSTER, on the premises.
Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—House, 6 rooms, bath, set tubs, range, etc. 49 Edison Park. Apply to B. D. CORLISS, Adams Street, Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—Half House, 6 rooms, large attic, closet, etc., 52 Gay street Apply at 33 Summer street.
Quincy, Dec. 29. 6t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 14-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. lp tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. lptf

BARGAIN IN WATER FRONTAGE.

ON NEPONSET RIVER, 1 1-2 acres, 400 feet on river, close to deep water channel, large amount of sand and gravel on lot. $2500 for lot.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 13. 18t

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350 Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS.
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

First Chapter Of New Story Next Week

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Congratulations to Gov. Guild

Vol. 18. No. 4. QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE SUNDAY DINNER SHOP!

This is easily the Sunday dinner market of this section.

Here, just as sure as each week end comes, Quincy Adams' cooks and housewives repair and select the food supplies for Sunday's feast from our abundant and fair-priced stock.

Poultry of all kinds, Lamb, Mutton, Veal, Beef, Ham and other staple items, fresh Vegetables, delicious, tempting fruit and other things so necessary to the complete Sunday and daily dinner, are here.

You know that this is your best market for best food supplies at lowest prices, to-day, to-morrow and every day of the present year.

Knowing this, be wise—trade here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 3t

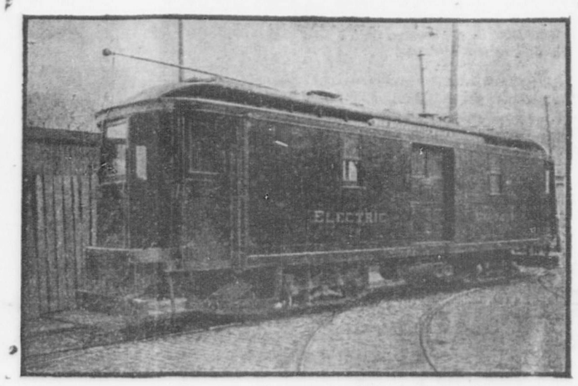

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17.

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT.
Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollar a Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

A Happy New Year!

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,
Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.
1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.
Dec. 28. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

MERCHANTS' EXPRESS BY TROLLEY.

The city and town governments between Brockton and Providence have granted the Old Colony Street Railway Company the right to operate express cars between these large centres, serving all the intermediate towns, and in a short time such a service will be a reality.

While these petitions are now pending before the Massachusetts Board of Railroad Commissioners for their approval the company is losing no time, and has already placed orders for the necessary equipment of cars, a type of which is herewith shown. These cars are the same length as the large eight-wheel cars now in service, and would not be unsightly on our streets, as some people have been led to believe.

The company met with considerable opposition, but after a thorough investigation of the service now in operation from Providence to the outlying districts, by many of the selectmen and merchants, and the method in which the company proposes to carry on the business as well as the class of cars to be used, all objections were withdrawn.

The Pawtuxet Valley Time commenting on some of these visits, has the following to say:

"The petition of the Old Colony Street Railway Company for the right to operate an electric express in the various towns through which its lines operate, has been the means of bringing many Massachusetts people here from time to time to learn whether or not the service was appreciated by our merchants. After interviewing the latter, they were fully convinced that in the Valley the sentiment in favor of the trolley express was strong. Since the service was installed, the business men have found that it is much easier and quicker to obtain such goods as they need to complete their depleted stocks from the wholesalers, than ever before, and that on perishable goods, especially, it has proven a great boon."

Quicker electric service in all its branches is certainly a public necessity and convenience, and if the trolley express has proved to be a mutual benefit to merchants of other cities and towns, Quincy should not be an exception; however a fair trial must be given, before its usefulnsss can be fully demonstrated.

We Are Going to Publish, beginning in a few days
The Two Vanrevels
A powerful love drama full of fire and action
BY BOOTH TARKINGTON
Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Read The Two Vanrevels in This Paper

Board Of Trade

Elect a New President And Listen to Entertaining Speakers

A large and interesting meeting of the Quincy Board of Trade was held Wednesday evening. The occasion being the annual meeting and election of officers, at which time five new members were added to the roll.

The entertainment committee succeeded in obtaining as principal speaker, Mr. H. G. Smith, who proved his ability as an eloquent speaker, possessing superior knowledge of ship-building, in which capacity he is employed, being general manager of the Fore River Ship Building Co.,

The speaker explained many interesting points concerning the building of ships, the machinery necessary, and the cost of operating. He said the company employed about 4,000 men, but was equipped for a force of almost double that number. He was of the opinion, should the present merchant marine bill now before Congress pass, that the company would have many contracts for merchant vessels and would almost double their present working force.

One thing that hampered them exceedingly was the lack of houses and boarding places for their help, it being difficult to retain good workmen in their employ.

Board was next entertained by Messrs. Young and Merrick, representatives of The United Improvement Council of Dorchester, who are interested in a proposed boulevard, which will have a maximum width of 120 feet, and is proposed to be built from Dewey square Boston, to Field's corner and connecting with the Park system as at present laid out and being built through Quincy.

They asked the assistance of the Quincy Board of Trade, and as a result of their efforts, a committee of three were chosen to investigate the merits of the proposition and report at the next meeting. Other speakers, members of the board, including ex-Senator Sprague and Hon. J. Q. A. Field, made brief remarks upon the topics of the day.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President,—T. L. Williams.
Vice President,—W. H. Teasdale.
Treasurer,—F. D. Fellows.
Directors,—J. W. Pratt, E. J. Sandberg and Herbert S. Barker.

Not the least interesting feature of the evening was the collation served by the entertaining committee, which, needless to add, was enjoyed by all.

Installation.

Golden Star officers were installed at Faxon Hall, Tuesday evening, by Dept. Grand Commander, Lady M. F. Smith, of Winthrop and Degree Staff. The officers chosen were:

Commander,—William Patterson.
Vice Commander,—Effie L. Eastwood.
Chaplain,—Newman A. Savage.
Recorder,—Henry Chubbuck.
Treasurer and Collector,—James F. Merrill.
Herald,—Mrs. Davidson.
Wd. of Inside Gate,—Charles Rich.
Outside Gate,—George Sheppard.
Past Commander,—A. F. Macleod.

Mrs. E. L. Eastwood presided at the piano.

Grand Commander, Charles Sterre, and Grand K. of R., W. G. Kerwin, were present.

A New Winning Pair.

The results of the the regular meeting of the Wollaston Whist club showed up a new winning pair in Messrs. Seymour and Thompson who now are trying to lead the club.

H. C. Seymour and G. R. Thompson plus 5 3-5.
E. E. Hoxie and J. H. Broughton plus 5 1-5
A. B. Hillman and R. F. Foster plus 3 4-5.
M. Chase and V. S. Brokaw plus 2 3-5.
R. M. Watt and E. W. Taylor minus 4-5.
W. Bond and R. P. Whipple minus 4-5.
H. A. Stevens and C. E. Hathaway minus 3.
A. C. Littlefield and C. D. White minus 4.
C. B. Hoxie Jr., and G. A. Smith minus 4 1-5.
C. E. Barker and J. I. Litchfield minus 4 2-5.

Snow fell last evening, but the storm turned to rain before sunrise and carried it all off.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Clergyman Called To a Larger Field

Rev. John J. Powers for five years an assistant of Rev. A. F. Roche at St. Mary's church at West Quincy, has been promoted to a larger field, having been appointed to the assistant pastorate at the church of the Blessed Sacred at Cambridgeport, where Rev. John Crowe is pastor.

Fr. Powers was ordained five years ago in the Cathedral at Boston. He was born in Cohasset, 31 years ago, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powers. He was educated in the schools of his native town, at Holy Cross college, and at St. John's Seminary.

His special duties at West Quincy were spiritual adviser to both the married women and young ladies' sodalities and also superintendent of St. Mary's cemetery.

He will assume his new duties at Cambridgeport on Saturday of this week.

NEW TACTICS NECESSARY

Russian Strikers Too Hasty In Defying the Government

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—The general meeting of the workmen's council and of representatives of the proletariat organizations, which was held across the Finnish border, lasted for 36 hours, adjourning this morning. The practical result of the meeting was a confession that the government had proved to be too strong in its fight against the strikers and the proletariat organizations, and that it would be necessary to organize on a new basis the armed revolution to which the delegates at the meeting were committed.

It was admitted that the attempt to give battle to the government without having made due preparation was a mistake, and a complete change in tactics was decided upon. A new council of workmen, consisting of 150 members, was elected. Similar councils will be organized everywhere, following which a general congress will be called and an elaborate plan of battle against the government formulated. In the meantime the propaganda of the agitators will be kept up, especially in the army, in order to show that the proletariat organizations are firmly resolved not to compromise with the government.

Teacher Put Up a Fight

Lisbon, O., Jan. 4.—Miss Elvira Heston, teacher in a country school near Millport, wants Boston Swaney, a wealthy farmer, bound over to keep the peace. Two big sons of his are at her school and she ordered the younger to change his seat. He refused, being coached by his brother. Like a flash the young woman thrashed him soundly and then whipped the younger brother. Swaney the elder came to the school. It is said he slapped her. Miss Heston, who is athletic, swung at Swaney, catching him on the jaw, and then stooped quickly for the heavy school poker, and with a one-arm swing landed on Swaney, breaking his nose and knocking him down. She landed the last blow on his jaw, fracturing it. He begged for mercy, and the teacher let up.

Arsenic In Mrs Chase's Stomach

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 4.—Professor Whitney of Harvard, the chemical expert, at the inquest into the mysterious death of Mrs. Jennie Chase of Swampscott, testified that in the woman's stomach he found a quantity of arsenic. According to Whitney, the arsenic was found in a quantity too large to permit of the explanation that it was given for medical purposes.

Havoc by Storm in Georgia

Albany, Ga., Jan. 4.—A heavy wind and rainstorm struck this city, killing two persons and seriously injuring many others, some of whom will die. The damage extended over portions of a dozen city blocks. Hundreds of negroes in the city are homeless and many have lost all their household effects. The total loss may reach $150,000.

Shanghai Excitement Subsides

Shanghai, Jan. 4.—The situation here is normal. Two-thirds of the bluejackets who have been patrolling the foreign concessions re-embarked yesterday, pending the final settlement of the mixed court question, which, it is alleged, is hampered by the viceroy's one-sided dispatches to the Chinese foreign board.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

NEW OFFICIALS AT STATE HOUSE.

HON. EBEN S. DRAPER,
The New Lieutenant Governor.

HON. JOHN N. COLE.
New Speaker of the House.

Soldier's Uniform a Mark of Honor

New York, Jan. 4.—For requesting an under officer to change his seat at a theatre, Lieutenant Taylor of the coast artillery is reduced in rank 12 numbers. He was tried by court martial. The offense was committed at a theatre in New London, Conn., where a sergeant in Taylor's company, who was in uniform, vacated a seat at the request of Taylor, who was in civilian's dress. "It is hoped," states the decision, "that the sentence of the court will leave no doubt in the mind of any one that the uniform of a soldier is a mark of honor which must be respected in the United States."

Wind Blew Sixty Miles an Hour

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Thomas D. Henderson was killed by a falling sign, a score of persons were injured and $100,000 worth of property was destroyed by a windstorm which struck Chicago last night. At one time the wind blew 60 miles an hour. In every part of the city pedestrians were hurt by flying signs or falling chimneys. Along the north shore trees were uprooted.

President McCall Resigns

New York, Jan. 4.—John A. McCall has resigned the presidency of the New York Life Insurance company and Alexander E. Orr has been appointed in his place at the salary of $50,000 a year. McCall's salary was $100,000. The board of trustees also cut down the number of second vice presidents so that hereafter there will be two of these officers instead of three.

Dominican War Is On

Washington, Jan. 4.—The state department has received a cablegram from Puerta Plata, Santo Domingo, saying: "Revolution has broken out here late today (Tuesday). General Rodriguez fought his way into town and then retired. Not less than 25 killed and many wounded. General Cespedes holding the fort. Still fighting."

Big Order For Freight Cars

Atlanta, Jan. 4.—The Constitution says that the Southern railway has just placed orders for 8729 freight cars, involving an outlay of more than $5,000,000. The delivery is to begin in March in 500 car lots and will be increased each month until all shall be received.

Out of Touch of Wireless

Washington, Jan. 4.—The next advices regarding the progress of the drydock Dewey and its convoy on the expedition to the Philippines will probably be from arriving vessels which pass the expedition. The Dewey is now beyond reach by wireless.

Hyde and Alexander Out

New York, Jan. 4.—The resignations of James W. Alexander and James H. Hyde from the directorate of the Fidelity Trust company and the Union National bank of Newark, N. J., have been accepted. Their successors will be elected next Tuesday.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Senator Charles E. Church of the Canadian house of commons died suddenly while ascending the stairway in his home at Halifax. He was 71 years old.

Compulsory education in some form is to be provided for at the session of the New Brunswick legislature.

Secretary Bonaparte will attend the ceremonies at Charleston incident to the presentation by the residents of that city of a silver service to the new cruiser Charleston.

Three Chinese implicated in the massacre of American missionaries at Lienchou, China, were executed and many others were punished.

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

Eastern Star Installation

The newly elected officers Quincy chapter, Order Eastern Star, were publicly installed Wednesday evening at Greenleaf hall.

The chapter met at 6 o'clock, and after a short business session the outer doors were thrown open and the chapter guests invited to enter.

At 8 o'clock the grand officers were introduced and publicly installed the officers of the chapter. The grand officers were: Past Deputy Grand Matron, Helen P. Hadley; Grand Sentinel, Harry M. White as Patron; Past Deputy Grand Marshal, Jennie M. Whitney as chaplain, and Past Deputy Grand Matron, Alice M. Moring, as Marshal.

The officers installed were:

Worthy Matron,—Mrs. Mary P. Tilley.
Worthy Patron,—E. E. L. Higgins.
Associate Matron,—Miss Alice B. Hultman.
Secretary,—Mrs. Abby Kribbs.
Treasurer,—Miss Carrie White.
Conductress,—Mrs. Annie L. Craig.
Associate Conductress,—Mrs. Ada Gauthier.
Chaplain,—Mrs. Mary White.
Marshal,—Mrs. Carolyn Mellen.
Adah,—Miss Alice Deacon.
Ruth,—Miss Clara Call.
Esther,—Miss Clara Norteman.
Electra,—Mrs. Cora Remick.
Warden,—Miss Mary Lester.
Sentinel,—Albert Willis.
Organist,—Mrs. Susie Furnald.

At the close of the ceremonies presentations were made to the grand officers. All then adjourned to the banquet hall where refreshments were served.

Fire Apparatus From World Fair

The new piece of fire apparatus for Houghs Neck has been ordered and is expected to arrive in Quincy about the first of February. It is a piece of apparatus that was on exhibition at the World's Fair. It was built upon honor and was subjected to the severest tests at the fair. It is being thoroughly overhauled before shipment to Quincy.

At Home.

On Tuesday evening Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Webber were "at home" to the members and friends of the Wollaston Baptist Church and congregation. Over one hundred friends participated in the delightful occasion. Dr. and Mrs. William Asbmore received with the pastor and his wife. Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Frank Burgess poured, and Misses Edith P. Perry and Edith F. Barker assisted in serving the bountiful collation. The pleasure of the evening was greatly enhanced by piano selections rendered by Prof. Henry, and vocal selections by Mrs. Collyer and the professor.

Probate Court.

At the session of probate court for Norfolk County at Dedham Wednesday an administration was granted on the estate of O. A. Felt of Quincy. Susan Moore of Braintree was granted permission to adopt Edith White a minor of Springfield and change her name to Edith Moore.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

1906 JANUARY 1906
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:37 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

From the cable dispatch stating that Mr. Bryan generalized for only an hour in his Manilla speech it might be inferred that he was not feeling well.

Governor Odell has accused the President of the atrocious crime of being a boss. Why can not Mr. Odell tell the world something it does not know.

There is one young man in the United States who is a convert to the theory which he never heard of until he discovered it for himself, that morals are a question of geography. His name is Brown and he came from New York, landing on Pennsylvania avenue in Washington he flirted with a girl and was arrested and sent to the lockup. He has spent his time since in pondering over the difference between customs in New York and the Capital.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The high esteem in which American women are held can hardly be grasped by the foreigner, who reads that the president has to request the people not to give his daughter a wedding present of nearly a million dollars, while Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy has to forbid her Christian Science followers to further enrich her by New Year and other holiday gifts.—New York Commercial.

☞ In the general uprising against graft one of the meanest of all the grafters has escaped publicity—the maker of adulterated food. The secretary of agriculture says the people are being cheated every year out of more than a billion of dollars through the substitution of cheap stuff and poisonous stuff in their daily food. Henry I. Dodge, one of the best posted writers, says it amounts to over two billions—or $25 for each person in the United States. This grafter is a poisoner. The health of millions is affected by his adulted food. Disease and death are traced directly to him. And in myriad cases, where the victim does not dream of the cause, vitality is sapped and the seeds of disturbance sown. He is also a swindler, a counterfeiter, and a low-lived robber.—Beverly Times.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

By the Purchase of a Home.

Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.

Jan. 1. tf

HOTEL GREENLEAF.

AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.

MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

BARROOMS OPENED

New Licenses Granted to Two Boston Hotels

THEY PAID $2300 EACH

Third Hostelry Resumes Sale of Liquor Under Old License and May Have to Answer to Grand Jury, as Well as Police Board

Boston, Jan. 4.—Two Boston hotels have acceded to the view of District Attorney Moran, who had held their liquor licenses void on account of violations of the "screen law," and have been granted new licenses by the board of police, but a third, the Hotel Essex, resumed the sale of liquor after having closed its bar for a week.

Immediately the district attorney sent his agents to the Hotel Essex to collect evidence against the hotel, and it is understood that he will present this before the grand jury, not only as against the Essex hostelry, but also as against the police board, on account of its failure to revoke the license of the Hotel Essex on account of violations of the law by that hotel. It is likely that a test case will be made by the Essex, and that the matter will be carried to the supreme court of the commonwealth.

The hotels which admitted a possible illegality in their old licenses were Young's and the Parker house, and two licenses were issued to these at the rate of $2300 each. After the bars had been opened the police board issued a statement declaring that the hotels need never have stopped selling liquor until it was proved in a court of law that they had violated the statutes relating to obstructions of the view. However, the board said, Young's and Parker's had admitted unintentional violations and therefore their licenses had become void and new ones were issued.

In commenting upon the action of the Hotel Essex management in resuming the sale of liquor under their old license, Moran said:

"There are several courses which could be pursued. I could personally, or by representatives, go to the hotel and make a purchase, then go to the courthouse, make application for a warrant to one of the judges of the municipal court and prosecute the case. This would be doing police business. The duty of doing this is imposed by law upon the police commissioners. I have directed their attention to the fact that the Hotel Essex license is void; that all sales of liquor there are illegal, and I have indicated to the board that the police captain in charge of that district will furnish the board, upon interrogation by them, with knowledge that screens have been maintained in the Hotel Essex.

"The police board, however, have failed to act. Refusing to perform their duties, they render themselves liable therefor. The conduct of the board is notorious. Their failure to perform their duties is known to every person who reads the daily papers."

District Attorney Moran then stated that it was his intention to recommend to the legislature and to urge that the present police commission in Boston be abolished. In its place he would have a single police commissioner to have entire charge of the police, and a liquor commission, consisting of three members, whose duty it would be to grant liquor licenses. The two boards would be entirely separate.

Continuing, Moran said: "The present board refuses to direct its police officers to enforce the law because by so doing it will confess that it (the board) has not performed its duty as liquor commissioners. The board feels now that to enforce the law now, as against the hotels, would be a confession that it had been negligent in the performance of its own duties as a liquor commission during the past six months. This is the sole reason for the board's present inactivity."

Dickenson Procures Sureties

Boston, Jan. 4.—John W. Dickenson, under conviction of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of funds of the South Danvers National bank of Peabody, and who was surrendered by one of his bondsmen, has been released from custody, having procured sufficient sureties. Although Dickenson was convicted nearly three years ago, up to last Monday he had never been committed to jail, exceptions to the verdict having been taken and his case not having been disposed of finally.

Decatur Court Martial Ends

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 4.—The case of Midshipman Decatur, who has been on trial before a naval court martial for the alleged hazing of Midshipmen McCrary and Church, was given to the court yesterday afternoon. At 4:45 the court had decided upon the findings, which will be forwarded to the superintendent of the naval academy for his action.

Body Swept Under Ice

Litchfield, Conn., Jan. 4.—Robert Lyman of Torrington was drowned in Bantam lake while walking across the ice and his body was swept under the ice by the strong current. A few years ago Lyman was one of the best known baseball players in the state.

Governor's Life Attempted

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—A dispatch from Ufa, European Prussia, says that the governor has been shot and severely wounded. His assailant was arrested.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Money Returned

FOR ALL

Cash Sale Checks

DATED

December 14th.

IF CALLED FOR ON OR BEFORE JANUARY 6th.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

Restful Couches.

Couch comfort isn't expensive when you buy it here, and no house is complete today without a Couch.

We carry over forty styles of Couches at prices ranging from $4.98 to $35 00. We make a specialty of popular priced ones, $9.50 to $15.00, and our couches at these prices are simply wonderful.

Your choice of Coverings. Everything that's new or up-to-date is here for you to choose from without extra charge.

Reasonable terms for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

DANCING SCHOOL

Every WEDNESDAY Night.

☞ Ticket good for 5 lessons pupils. Gents, $2.25. Ladies, $1.75. A discount of 25 cents to former Small Private Parties Solicited.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

ENGINE CAPTAIN KILLED

Cremated In Incendiary Fire Which Destroyed a Church

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 4.—Captain Sidney Bowers of engine 4 was killed and Frank L. Hines, a fireman, was seriously injured in an incendiary fire which completely destroyed the Highland Baptist church last night. The fire started in an adjoining barn, in which fires had been set twice previously in the last two months. Twice during the last two years fires have been discovered in the chapel of the church.

Bowers and three firemen were in the barn when the roof fell in. The three firemen were pulled out, but it was impossible to reach Bowers. After the fire was under control, search was made for Bowers' body, but only the head was found. The church, which cost about $60,000, was dedicated in 1893.

New Governor In Office

Boston, Jan. 4.—Both branches of the legislature met in their respective chambers at 11 o'clock today and subsequently proceeded to unite in a convention in the house chamber. President Dana of the senate presided over the convention, and Governor-elect Guild and the members of his staff and the councillors-elect proceeded to the house chamber, where the oath was administered to the chief executive by President Dana. Governor Guild then read to the legislative convention his inaugural address. Gorgeous uniforms, gay dresses, decorous ex-governors and dignified justices of the supreme court all combined to give the inaugural a variety.

Point In Tucker's Favor

Boston, Jan. 4.—The attorneys for Charles L. Tucker, who was convicted of the murder of Mabel Page at Weston, have scored a point in their attempt to secure a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence. A Canadian stickpin figured prominently in the trial, and Judge Sherman, who presided at the trial, has ordered that the pin, now in the custody of the state police, be given up to Tucker's attorneys. The pin, it is understood, will be used as a partial means of identification in connection with the newly discovered evidence.

Lived a Life of Mystery

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 4.—Henry Orcutt, one of Cambridge's most eccentric citizens, said to be a "woman hater," died as the result of a fire which he set accidentally in his room at 26 Mount Auburn street. He dropped a lamp on the floor, setting the house afire, and was suffocated. His life was shrouded in mystery. It is said that during the entire 30 years that he inhabited the rooms on the second floor of the house no woman ever entered its portal.

Rival of Sultan Bankrupt

Boston, Jan. 4.—Lawyer W. H. Baker, well known in free silver and anti-imperialistic circles, and who married in 1903 Miss Marie Sweet, daughter of Colonel O. J. Sweet of the Twenty-First United States infantry, after she had received a marriage offer from the Sultan of Sulu, which was accompanied by gifts of rare pearls, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are scheduled at $34,836, assets $12,400.

Atkinson's Will Probated

Dedham, Mass., Jan. 4.—The will of Edward Atkinson, the well known political economist and statistician of Brookline, who died about two weeks ago, was allowed in the Norfolk probate court by Judge Flynt. The estate, which is valued at about $200,000, is left to the testator's wife, while the will contains a trust fund provision for the seven children, three sons and four daughters.

Aged Woman Rescued Mother

Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 4.—Mrs. Susan C. McCarthy, 71, proved herself a heroine when she fought her way through smoke and fire to the top floor of a tenement house to rescue her mother, Mrs. Hannah Collinger, 91. Both were overcome before they had reached safety. Fire department men rescued them when it was thought that both were dead.

New Havenites May See "Sapho"

New Haven, Jan. 4.—The municipal authorities have decided to allow Miss Olga Nethersole's company to produce "Sapho" in this city. The license for the production was held up several days ago by Chief of Police Wrinn, pending an investigation as to the morality of the play. The judgment of Assistant City Attorney Hoyt as a critic was accepted.

Postoffice Block Burned

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 4.—A large wooden block in Rochdale, town of Leicester, occupied by Frank D. Tucker, postmaster and general storekeeper, was destroyed by fire last night, with all contents, including mails. The loss is set at $20,000. The fire started in the cellar from an unknown cause. The block was built to replace one burned 10 years ago.

Anxiety Over Missing Vessel

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 4.—There is some anxiety felt here regarding the safety of the British bark Ednyfed, which sailed from Trapani, Italy, on Sept. 28 and was last sighted on Nov. 9 when abount half way across the Atlantic. The vessel had a large cargo of salt for the fish dealers in this city.

Burglar Gets Eight Years

Providence, Jan. 4.—James Buckley, who, with Fred Gubby, was arrested in Worcester on charges of burglary, was sentenced to eight years in state prison. Gubby is serving a three-year sentence in Massachusetts at present and is under a similar indictment to that of Buckley in this state.

The City In Brief

Miss Litchman is offerings bargains in her mark down sale of trimmed hats at 303 Water street.

Previous to Jan. 5, 1850, Quincy had only one mail a day, being increased to two on that date.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

DEPEW WON'T RESIGN

Says He Has No Intention of Leaving the Senate

New York, Jan. 4.—Chauncey M. Depew, in an interview here last night, declared that he had no intention whatever of resigning from the United States senate. He added, however, that with the approach of his 72nd birthday anniversary, April 23 next, he intended resigning from a large number of companies in which he is trustee or director. He will not sever his relations with the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, he stated, as he regards his position with that company as an honorary one. Senator Depew is listed as a director or trustee of 79 companies.

Resolution Asked Depew to Resign

Albany, Jan. 4.—The New York state legislature started off with a rush. Both houses adjourned last evening until Jan. 10. James W. Wadsworth, Jr., was elected speaker, thus finally closing one of the most sensational speakership campaigns of recent years. There was a long debate in the senate over a resolution requesting the resignation of United States Senator Depew on the ground of the disclosures of his connection with the Equitable Life Assurance society, which ended in a withdrawal of the resolution for the time being.

Death Bed Gift Perhaps Worthless

New York, Jan. 4.—Those present in the chamber of Charles T. Yerkes three days before his death, when Miss Emilie Grigsby was summoned to his bedside and the dying financier wrote her a check for $250,000, say that they believe he tricked the girl. It is said the check was dated ahead, so that in case of recovery he could stop payment on it and in case of death it could not be cashed. He had long before broken off the friendship with Emilie Grigsby, giving her at that time a splendid home and, it is said, a million dollars.

Rojestvensky's Improbable Story

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—Count Witte states that the czar and his ministers alike were astonished at Admiral Rojestvensky's allegation that the British admiral had concentrated his ships at Weihaiwei, expecting an order to destroy the Russian fleet in the event of Admiral Togo being defeated in the battle of the Sea of Japan. Witte is taking measures to clear up the matter, but, he says, it is self-evident that no level-headed man in Russia would attach importance to the allegation.

Grand Opera Without a Chorus

New York, Jan. 4.—Gounod's "Faust" was sung at the Metropolitan Opera house last night without its chorus of 150 persons, the result of a strike of the recently organized Chorus union, which demanded that salaries be raised nearly 50 percent. Director Conried addressed the audience, stating that a new chorus would be organized as speedily as possible, no performance being omitted in the meantime.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Woman Killed In Duel Over Her

New York, Jan. 4.—During a pistol battle last night in a saloon kept by Frank Romando, an Italian woman named Saveria Cozza, 25 years old, was killed. Pietro Cervasi, who was engaged to be married to the woman, was probably fatally shot. Romando, who, it is said, also admired the girl, made his escape. It is believed the woman was unintentionally shot during the fusillade.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

Still Fighting For Patrick

Albany, Jan. 4.—Governor Higgins was requested to grant a respite to Albert T. Patrick, who is under sentence to be executed during the week of Jan. 22 for the murder of W. M. Rice. The request was made in order to give Patrick's counsel sufficient time to perfect an appeal to the supreme court of the United States. Governor Higgins has not yet decided what he will do.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between us, the undersigned, John C. Murray and George S. Murray, carrying on business as Manufacturers and dealers in Granite, Marble, and other Monuments and rough and finished granite, at Quincy, Mass., under the firm name and style of

MURRAY BROS.,

was on the thirtieth day of December, A. D. 1905, dissolved by mutual consent and that the business in the future will be carried on by the said John C. Murray alone, who will pay and discharge all debts and liabilities, and receive all moneys payable to the said late firm.

JOHN C. MURRAY,
GEORGE S. MURRAY.

Quincy, Jan. 3. 3t

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.

With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,

534-539 Tremont Building, Boston

Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.

Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.

Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. ISO ARO.
Dec 27. 12t

DR. A. B. PACKARD

DENTIST.

Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.

Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filed to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.

Dec. 16. tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,

Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.

JOBBING.

Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor.

21 Adams Building, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER, GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

Decorator and Paper Hanger.

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

C. H. HARDWICK,

Counsellor at Law,

Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy. Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.

Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1258 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds

Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN

DENTIST,

Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.

OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.

Jan. 31. tf

Sheriff's Sale.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. Quincy, Nov. 29, 1905.

SEIZED on execution and will be sold at public auction on SATURDAY, the 13th day of January, 1906, at 9 o'clock A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street, in Quincy, said County, all the right, title and interest which Albert C. Marr had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the twentieth day of April, 1905, at seven o'clock and ten minutes P. M., (being the time the same was attached on mesne process) also all his right, title and interest attached at the same time, the record title standing in the name of Andrew S. Odom, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain lot of land with an unfinished cellar thereon, on Pine Street, situated in Quincy, in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being lot 7 as shown on plan of land of Andrew S. Odom, bounded and described as follows:

Southeasterly on Pine Street, 44.83 feet;
Southwesterly on lot 8 as shown on said plan, 100 feet;
Northwesterly by lots 13 and 14 as shown on said plan, 44.85 feet;
Northeasterly on lot 5 as shown on said plan, being land of Quinn & Neilson, 100 feet. Containing according to said plan, 4,485 square feet of land.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Deputy Sheriff.
Quincy, Dec. 28. 3t-28-4-11

GUILD'S ADDRESS

STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF CHILD LABOR LAWS RECOMMENDED.

Insurance Department Is an Admitted Standard for Efficiency—Abolition of Special Privileges to Railroads—State Regulation of Telegraph and Telephone Corporations Is Recommended, Also Reorganization of the Boston Police Board—More Adequate Inspection of Steam Boilers Is Called For, and Other Important Matters Touched Upon.

Boston, Jan. 4.—Following is the address substantially in full of Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., to the general court of 1906:

GOVERNOR GUILD.

With a deep sense of gratitude to the citizens of the Commonwealth, I ask your co-operation and promise you mine in the task of legislation that has been set before us.

We are met in no mean city. The real Boston is the Greater Boston that includes the homes as well as the workshops and counting houses of this community. It is a great metropolis,—a greater metropolis than its own citizens perhaps appreciate. It should be developed as such.

The combined exports and imports of Boston are exceeded only by those of New York. This is the second seaport in the United States. It must not retrograde. Both exports and imports exceed those of last year. The total excess over last year of foreign commerce in the eleven months for which the figures are at hand shows a gain in these eleven months of nearly thirty millions of dollars. One-twentieth of the wealth of the United States, one-thirtieth of the population of the country, is within an hour's ride of this historic building. In this area are the homes of a larger population than in any area but one in the country. The capital of Massachusetts is the second centre of population in the United States.

We have to legislate for no decadent Commonwealth.

Of all the States and Territories on this continent, only four contain a smaller area. Because of geographical limitation, as well as from a notable lack of mineral deposits, forests and rich arable soil, a slow rate of gain in material prosperity might logically be expected of Massachusetts, in comparison with many States possessing greater natural advantages. Yet, on the contrary, at the last taking of our national census it was found that Massachusetts, fourth from the foot in area, is seventh from the top in population, fourth from the top in the annual value of her manufactures, and third from the top in the annual amount paid in wages. Measured by assessed valuation of the property in her borders, Massachusetts is exceeded by but two States. Fourth from the foot in area, Massachusetts is third from the top in wealth.

Nor is this prosperity the dwindling legacy of earlier generations. The past year has seen huge additions to our industrial plants, notably to those producing manufactures of leather and of wool. Marked advances have taken place in the wages of those engaged in textile manufacture; and, as noted by my predecessor, statistics of abandoned farms no longer figure in our State papers. Measured by the value of farm products, Massachusetts is first among the New England States, and shows by a steady increase that attention is wisely given to the extension of the work of the farmers' institutes and of our Agricultural College.

Our Massachusetts census, just taken, tells a wonderful story. In the decade between 1895 and 1905 Massachusetts added over half a million to her population. It is extraordinary that this great increase, which is, within less than fifty thousand, the same increase that was shown between 1885 and 1895, should have been possible in what was and is, with one exception, the most densely populated State in the Union.

It is more extraordinary that this half million of increase in our population should be not merely vast in proportion to area, but, with four exceptions only, larger in actual numbers than the increase shown by any other State or Territory in the whole United States.

The annual value of the manufactured products of Massachusetts increased by but $175,173,033 between 1885 and 1895. It increased by $300,267,558 between 1895 and 1905. The total value of goods made in Massachusetts was $1,150,074,860 in 1905.

The increase in the value of the annual product of cotton goods from 1885 to 1895 was $32,190,463. From 1895 to 1905, in spite of southern competition, it was $38,949,280. The increase in our wool and worsted products between 1885 and 1895 was $7,400,533. Between 1895 and 1905 it was $50,581,514. The increase in our shoe product between 1885 and 1895 was $7,405,548. Between 1895 and 1905 it was $70,271,966.

On October 31 the total amount on deposit in our savings banks was, in 1885, $274,998,412; in 1895, $439,269,861; and in 1905, $662,808,312. The increase in the last decade was greater by over fifty-eight millions of dollars than in the decade that preceded it. In 1885 the average deposit for each person of population was $141.64; in 1895, $175.69; and in 1905, $220.67. The gain in deposits per capita in the last decade was greater by nearly a third than the gain in the preceding decade.

Through the conventions of her two great parties, through her General Court and Governor, Massachusetts has already demanded from the national government the immediate construction of a tariff framed to meet the lines of modern competition. Massachusetts asks the removal of such duties as are now needless, the reduction of such duties as were once just but are now excessive, and the development not of our commerce alone but of the commerce of the United States by more friendly trade treaties with other nations. In such investigation of the real needs of American industries Massachusetts asks no exclusive favors. We understand that the removal of the duty on hides means a revision of the duty on goods that are made from hides.

Massachusetts stands at the council board of the nation not as a broken beggar, whimpering for an alms, but as a strong man, demanding aggressive action from his peers.

Such action has already been urged on President and Congress through our Senators and Representatives, on whom alone the Constitution imposes the responsibility to the people for such national legislation. We await their championship of our cause with trust and confidence.

For us the Constitution of our own Commonwealth prescribes the concentration of energy on the legislation for which we, in turn, are responsible to the people of Massachusetts. Never more than now have they had the right to insist that such legislation should be enacted in the spirit of the Massachusetts Declaration of Rights, which proclaims "Government is instituted for the common good, for the protection, safety, prosperity and happiness of the people, and not for the profit, honor or private interest of any one man, family or class of men."

The work of the various departments of the Commonwealth has been well done,—so well done that even a political overturn in the Executive management of the Commonwealth has led to no overturn in policy, to but little change even in personality in these departments.

Election Expenses.

Prosperity, as well as adversity, breeds evil. The rapid accumulation of wealth has led to a lavish use of money in elections. This increase in the use of money is in this Commonwealth confined to no party, district or variety of election. The uses to which much of this money is put are not in themselves corrupt. The spending of scores of thousands of dollars on posters and newspaper advertising is not corrupt in itself; but when a citizen, asked by his fellow citizens to take public office, is forced to contemplate such huge expenditure as a necessity, the obvious result is to drive the man of modest means from public life. The parsimony of the United States makes the richest nation in the world the only one that cannot be represented, thanks to the expense of the position, by a poor man as ambassador to a foreign court. Franklin could not afford to go to France to-day.

I suggest for your consideration the extension of the corrupt practices act; some limitation on the total amount to be spent by any candidate; a more stringent penalty, which should be strictly enforced, for those who fail to file election expenses; the voiding of an election where deliberate and serious violations of the provisions of the act are proved against the successful candidate; and finally, the absolute prohibition of contributions from corporations in campaigns, either for nomination or election.

Civil Service.

You have doubtless found that a large body of your constituents believe that the civil service laws are either not in existence or not enforced. In a measure they are right. In certain localities the law is evaded, and, owing to the lack of a sufficient inspecting force, with impunity. In other localities, through lack of notification, the public are kept in ignorance of the civil service examinations, and of the fact that there are constant vacancies in local offices open to any citizen. In some parts of the Commonwealth there is therefore now no eligible list from which candidates may be taken.

It is worse than useless to hire an expert at a large salary and make no provision that his assistants be competent for the work. I suggest that the men supplied for the suppression of the brown-tail and gypsy moths be appointed by the same authorities as now, but only after they have passed a suitable examination, and been certified on the usual lists by the Civil Service Commissioners.

The successful result in Philadelphia of applying the civil service system to certain heads of departments suggests the advisability of considering a similar extension of the law throughout Massachusetts, if not also, as suggested by my predecessor, the extension of the law to all county officers. I recommend that an adequate salary be paid, at least to the chairman of the Board, from whom the needs of this work now demand daily attention; I recommend that a sufficient appropriation be made to provide for constant, not occasional, inspection of pay rolls; and, further, the enactment of a statute providing for the conspicuous and continuous display, by town and city officials, of posters to be prepared by the Civil Service Commission, that the people may know when and where examinations are to take place, what vacancies exist, and, in fine, how they can secure the public employment guaranteed them by law without the intervention of influence-mongers or partisan organizations.

State Finance.

The gross debt of the Commonwealth, actual and contingent, Jan. 1, 1906, was $98,200,162. Of this amount, $31,569,750 is represented by loans which have been issued for State purposes exclusively, and $66,630,412, the total contingent debt, by loans which have been issued for the benefit of cities and towns, and which will be repaid ultimately by them to the Commonwealth. Applicable to the loans issued for strictly State purposes, there are accumulations in sinking funds amounting to $17,353,847.85, making the net actual State debt $14,215,902.15. For the redemption of the loans included in the contingent debt there are accumulations in sinking funds amounting to $7,328,785.83, which amount, applied to the principal of the loans, makes the net contingent debt $59,301,626.17. Of the net contingent debt, $1,373,496.84 falls upon certain cities and towns in which armories have been built, and the remainder, $57,928,129.33 upon the cities and towns in the metropolitan water, sewerage and parks districts.

The net actual State debt for five years is as follows:—

Jan. 1, 1902	$12,459,253 61
Jan. 1, 1903	13,472,628 09
Jan. 1, 1904	14,782,640 97
Jan. 1, 1905	15,576,595 11
Jan. 1, 1906	14,215,902 15

The payment to Massachusetts of the net sum of $1,450,566.76 by the United States, in the year just closed, has been applied to the reduction of the State debt.

I desire to urge upon your attention a careful perusal of the reports of the Treasurer and of the Auditor, and the annual and special messages of my three immediate predecessors. With every possible economy, we have been forced to raise, by direct taxation, a sum amounting last year to four millions of dollars. This direct State tax is caused by the unusual generosity of the Commonwealth to the local governments of its cities and towns. The Commonwealth has assumed one local burden after another. Its assumption, for example, of the entire care of the insane has relieved and should have reduced local taxation by over a million dollars annually.

Absolutely no additional revenue has been provided to offset this increased State expenditure. On the contrary, the Commonwealth, like the pelican in the fable, has opened her own veins to feed her hungry offspring. The corporation tax, for example, is an excise tax levied and collected by the Commonwealth on organizations created, regulated and controlled by the Commonwealth. In New York the whole corporation tax goes to the State. In Massachusetts about three-quarters of it is returned to the cities and towns. The amount thus returned last year was $3,421,096.81. Again, New York retains one-half the sum received for liquor licenses. Massachusetts retains but one-quarter. If New York's example were followed in this Commonwealth, the receipts of our treasury would have been increased last year from this source by $836,809.68.

In view of these hard financial facts, I need not urge you to the most careful scrutiny of every suggestion of increased expenditure and resistance to every endeavor further to reduce our already inadequate revenue.

Banking Laws.

Since the new business corporation law went into effect there has been a growing tendency to organize corporations to engage in banking, and on the part of foreign corporations to obtain admission into Massachusetts for the same purpose.

The policy of the Commonwealth has been to restrict the business of banking to corporations organized under the banking laws. It has been safe-guarded as to investments and management, and placed under the immediate supervision of a competent board of examiners. To allow corporations to do the banking business under any other conditions is hazardous to the public and a menace to our banking institutions.

I recommend that legislation be enacted to strengthen our present laws by the removal of any ambiguity of phrase, with such other action as may conduce to the effective prevention of unauthorized banking.

Insurance.

The revelations as to the practices of the great life insurance companies of New York have roused the country to just indignation. Certain fraternal orders have met in convention, to suggest reforms; the insurance commissioners of the various States have met, and are again to meet; committees of policy holders of the great New York companies have organized, and are later to report their findings. We have also the suggested remedy of national regulation.

Our own Massachusetts life insurance companies, organized under our own laws, contain no instance of subsidiary trust companies organized for stock speculation, nor are they burdened with the scandalous salary lists of the New York companies.

It is decidedly uncertain whether Congress has the constitutional right to make insurance law for the country. If the Supreme Court should rule that Congress has that right, Massachusetts would still have the power to add to the general law any safeguards, not inconsistent with a national statute, that we deem necessary to impose on companies doing business in this Commonwealth, for the protection of Massachusetts policy holders.

Not one hint of graft, or even of political interference, is directed, in this general storm of criticism, against the insurance department of this Commonwealth. It is the admitted standard for efficiency in the country. Our Massachusetts insurance laws, moreover, have been copied in part by many States, and by some States almost in their entirety. At such a crisis, with patent wrong crying for redress, a Commonwealth with such a record cannot relinquish leadership. We shall advance farthest if we advance only on safe ground, and with expert guides.

Our first duty is to recodify our own laws, last completely recodified in 1887. Since then some laws have been changed in application, others have become obsolete, some have been added. On this basis we should raise new legislation, framed after due and sober consideration of such recommendation as may be made not only to this honorable body, but in the broadest sense wherever presented, in order that our new Massachusetts insurance code may be remedial, progressive, and, as far as consistent with Massachusetts ideals, uniform with the new codes of other States.

In a question of grave importance, demanding technical knowledge of a high order, Governor and General Court alike can, I think, best serve the public ends by calling in the best impartial expert advice obtainable. I therefore recommend that the Governor, with the consent of the Council, be authorized at once to appoint a temporary and advisory board, who shall revise and codify our insurance laws, confer with the authorities of other States, correspond freely with all bodies seeking insurance reform, consider and originate measures and suggestions, and report such information, with their findings from time to time, to the present General Court, as an aid to its deliberations and final action. The service of such an advisory board would, of course, terminate with its final report.

Railroads.

I invite the most careful consideration of the coming report of the joint committee appointed to revise and codify the railroad and street railway laws of the Commonwealth.

I cannot too strongly recommend to you the abolition of special privileges and the extension of general law in every possible branch of legislation, as urged upon this honorable body by His Excellency John L. Bates. I particularly recommend the extension of general law to legislation affecting street and electric railways.

The unusual length of our legislative sessions as compared with those of other States is in part due to the discussion of special charters. They destroy wholesome competition under uniform conditions. The special evil, however, of such valuable monopolies, granted by special charter, is the daily temptation to the base activity of the grafter, the corruptionist and the professional commercial or political promoter, not only in the lobby of the Legislature, but in the ward room and at the polling booth.

Highways and Automobiles.

The report of the Highway Commission, asking for a greater measure of control, deserves your careful consideration. A more effective and uniform regulation of automobiles, and especially of reckless chauffeurs, is desirable. Even-handed justice also demands that those who make a rational use of a modern vehicle should not be made subject to petty persecution. As the State highways are in a large measure a gift from the Commonwealth to the town or city, and as automobiles are particularly destructive of the surface, I would suggest, for this reason, if for no other, that all fines for overspeeding should be paid to the Commonwealth, and applied to the repairs of highways.

Telegraph and Telephone Corporations.

All public-service corporations operating in Massachusetts are under the supervision of the Commonwealth, with the exception of telegraph and telephone companies. There does not appear to be any good reason why such corporations should not be under a supervision similar to that now exercised over other public-service corporations. I recommend to your consideration whether this supervision might not be confided to the State Highway Commission, and whether, through reasonable fees charged upon the companies for inspection, it might not be self-supporting.

Boiler Inspection.

The District Police report that there are in Massachusetts 13,000 steam boilers uninsured by any company. The inspection of boilers not inspected by any insurance company cannot be effectively accomplished by the present force of inspectors. This State inspection of boilers is necessary for the public protection. It should be self-supporting, all fees collected for examination turned over to the Commonwealth, and the force in charge of it immediately reorganized and increased under direction of the District Police. Present conditions are a menace not only to property but to human life.

School Inspection.

The work of the State Board of Education shows satisfactory progress, as usual. I would suggest, however, that you consider legislation contemplating a more general medical inspection of school children, as now practised in some localities, notably for the discovery of infectious diseases and physical defects. A child may be a dullard at school and a failure in life because of undiscovered defects in eyesight or hearing. There are, to quote one line of work only, children now struggling for education through pain, ailing little creatures, backward in their lessons, tortured with racking headaches, who only need relief of a complaining set of nerves by a pair of properly adjusted glasses, to transform them to healthy, happy children, capable of assimilating all the benefits of their school work.

Militia.

The militia of the Commonwealth should receive every possible encouragement in their willing service. During the last year the reserve fund accumulated for some years at Washington has, except a small balance, been entirely expended. We cannot, therefore, afford to reduce last year's appropriation from the Commonwealth.

Spanish War Claims.

Under a contract based on percentage the Commonwealth last year paid to a Washington attorney a commission infinitely larger than contemplated by the officials who did make the contract with him, for the collection of claims due on account of the Civil War.

The large fortune so obtained by this attorney brought a host of propositions to collect similar claims, not only of the Commonwealth but of individual veterans of the Spanish War, the fee to be taken from the amount collected, in the shape of a percentage. These propositions were referred to me as chairman of the committee on military and naval affairs of the Council. On consultation with the Attorney-General, it was clearly shown that the employment of such agents in such a manner would be both needless and in direct violation of the spirit of the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth. Moreover, it seemed unfair that men who had served in war should by the assumption of power by the government be forced to surrender to any claim agent, without even being heard in the matter, a portion of the money due them by the United States.

These men will therefore receive, without being mulcted, as was proposed, of any percentage, the entire amount due them from the national government; and Massachusetts has re-established the important legal precedent, that her debts are to be collected by her own accredited officials, working on conditions clearly understood, and under the immediate direction of the law officer of the Commonwealth.

The Jamestown Exposition

Virginia is to celebrate at Jamestown the first English settlement on American soil. I believe that Massachusetts should be adequately represented at an exposition especially designed to be historical as well as industrial.

A feature planned for this exposition is to be an international camp and an international fleet. Some of these soldiers and sailors of other lands, should the plan succeed, may visit this Commonwealth. The countrymen of Lafayette may wish to journey from the birthplace of Washington to that of Franklin. The armed troops of the United States were welcomed in Paris as the guard of John Paul Jones. May I suggest to you that, in this constantly increasing interchange of international good-will, the harbinger of international peace, friction might be avoided by amending the existing law—wisely prohibiting the marching of foreign troops through our streets without the consent of the General Court—by a provision that in case the General Court is not sitting, the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, may extend such permission to foreign troops whose entrance into our country has already received the sanction of the national government.

The Police System of Boston.

Some twenty years ago the control of the police of Boston was transferred from the city to the Commonwealth, not at the instigation of any political organization, but on evidence, now in my possession, furnished by the New England Society for the Suppression of Vice, that under local control the police of the metropolis at that time were drifting into a condition not dissimilar from that recently exposed in certain other great cities. The transfer has been amply justified. Though criticism, sometimes just, has been made of a metropolitan as opposed to a purely local control of police, it cannot be denied that, whatever the politics of the Governor who has been in office, the Boston police has at lease been free, since the Commonwealth assumed control from the graver scandals proved against the police elsewhere.

No man to-day impugns the personal integrity of the present commissioners, or charges them with the use of their great power for graft or gain.

In suggesting a radical change in the organization of that body, therefore, there can be no question of personality. I must ask you to believe that in urging such a change I am acting on convictions formed when this Board was originally appointed,—convictions never changed, and strengthened by travel and my own experience in maintaining order in military camps at home and abroad in time of war.

It is a principle of law that the judicial and executive functions should not be merged in one body nor in one person. It is a matter of historical and governmental experience that inefficiency, if not disaster, follows divided responsibility in the control of any organized body of men, where discipline and esprit de corps must be the mainspring of success.

Legal principle and practical experience are alike violated in the construction of the present board of police. The policeman who appears as a witness before three gentlemen sitting as judges in regard to a license may be removed or promoted by the same individuals, acting in the capacity of his commanding officers.

Disagreement, moreover, as to method among three perfectly sincere men may create delay at any time, and prevent the promptness of instant action in emergencies, absolutely necessary for an effective police.

Further and even more important, the dual function of excise officer and police commissioner, by the multiplication of duties, checks and efficiency of control. The location, transfer, revocation and granting of liquor licenses encroaches unduly on days none too long for the bending of every energy to the rooting out of vice and the prevention and suppression of crime.

I therefore recommend that an excise board of three, appointed and confirmed by the Governor and Council, and representing at least two political parties, be given control of the liquor traffic; and that a single police commissioner, similarly appointed and confirmed, be placed at the head of the police. The police commissioner should neither recommend nor grant licenses; but in case of disagreement between the commissioner and excise board as to the desirability of revoking such a license, for cause shown by the police commissioner, he should be given power to suspend the license at once, pending a reference of the question for final settlement to an appropriate judicial authority.

Insanity and Crime.

Over a hundred transfers from penal institutions to hospitals for the insane were made last year, and in the great majority of cases immediately after the reception of the convict at the prison. The criminal does not drift among the feeble-minded classes; the feeble-minded drifts among the criminal classes. We strike at the root of lawlessness when we strike in childhood at the morbid mentality that begets a criminal life. The time to enlighten the darkened brain is before it is darkened forever. It is well to reform an adult criminal; it is better to make a useful member of society of the child of backward intellect, before it has become a criminal or a permanent charge upon the people, or, as a father or a mother, has still further multiplied the ranks of the unfortunate.

One thousand children turned away from the School for the Feeble-minded at Waltham in the last six years, for sheer lack of space, are now constantly appearing in other and more sinister institutions.

I urgently recommend to your attention the suggestions of the State Board of Insanity, urging the extension of help to the feeble-minded, not merely in the name of humanity, but of law and order and citizenship.

Child Labor.

Massachusetts has ever been among the foremost in the protection of little children. It is a matter of congratulation that the Massachusetts idea of a national investigation of child labor, with the object of its suppression in every State, has at last been adopted and urged in a message to the Congress by the President of the United States.

It is especially important at this time that Massachusetts prove her sincerity in this reform. The force of inspectors of the District Police is no longer sufficient for thorough and frequent inspection of the rapidly increasing army of labor in our industries. I suggest the increase needed for the purpose of a more effective enforcement of laws against the employment of children.

A local force also exists, whose co-operation would be welcomed. The truant officer is or should be better posted than any other official as to the children in his district. The law now checks his willing service. I suggest the substitution for the words in chapter 106, section 4, "Truant officers may visit the factories, work-shops and mercantile establishments," etc., of the words, "Truant officers shall visit the factories, workshops and establishments," etc. The truant officer is now allowed without a warrant to hale an illiterate child to school if it is engaged in play. He should be given, what he has not now, the same power over the same child if engaged at work. The truant officer discovering a child below the legal age at work is now merely permitted to report the case to the local school boards and other officials, in a long system of circumlocution. I suggest that the truant officer with evidence of such a breach of law in his possession be not merely permitted but ordered to report directly and at once to the district attorney.

Agents of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics report to me that a shameful trade exists, which supplies for money false age schooling certificates to children under age. This report is confirmed by the District Police. Employers notable in their desire not only to obey but to promote the law have been deceived and victimized by this practice. The present penalty for the forcing of a child of tender years into a factory by the perjury of unnatural parents or others is a trivial fine. I shall leave it to your sense of justice whether a light fine without imprisonment is punishment severe enough for law-breakers who to-day in Massachusetts traffic not only in the toil but in the health and lives of little children.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice.
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point, Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

The Hancock Hotel
Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table. Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
— THE —
NEW YEAR
— WITH A —
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Stations FREE

Quincy Daily Ledger.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1901.	In 1902	In 1898.
Sunday,	40	36	40	33	39
Monday,	41	29	47	14	27
Tuesday,	35	40	45	31	23
Wednesday,	34	49	34	35	31
Thursday,	58	50	14	13	18
Friday,	—	58	23	25	31
Saturday,	—	45	21	32	41

New Advertisements Today.

Miss D. Litchman—Mark Down Sale.
For Sale—Pool Tables and Barber Chairs.
Probate Notice.
R. E. Foy & Co.—Sunday Dinner Shop.
To Let—Rooms.

Local Ins And Outs

A dark morning.

Today is warmer than any December day.

Lent will begin the last day of February.

Miss Marion Lewis of Wollaston has returned to Wheaton seminary.

Miss Helen Josselyn, of Hancock street, has returned to Vassar college.

Miss Mary Gidley of Waltham is visiting Mrs. George J. Campbell of Field street.

Rural lodge has candidates for both the regular and a special communication.

The Knights of Columbus will make fun for the multitude at their minstrel show next week.

Mayor Thompson was one of the guests at the inauguration ceremonies of Gov. Guild today.

The fine new house on Newport avenue, being built by Horace Taylor, is nearing completion.

There were quite a number of skaters both on Bryant's pond and on the Wollaston Rink yesterday.

The ice men have commenced to worry and express doubts about getting a crop of ice this winter.

Mrs. Eugene H. Sprague of Wollaston who has been ill for the past week is rapidly improving in health.

Mr. Ralph Foss of New York, is spending his holiday vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Josselyn of Wollaston.

The Men's club of Christ church will hold its annual banquet and ladies night on Monday evening next at the parish house.

Benjamin Johnson and J. Warren Nightingale secured the prizes at the Granite City club whist tournament on Wednesday evening.

Miss Julia E. Uuderwood, who is teaching her 51st year at the Coddingtot school, will pass another milestone on Jan. 9, next Tuesday.

The "Irishmen" played the "Englishmen" Wednesday afternoon in the Junior Basket Ball league, when the former won by small margin.

A large piazza is being added to the estate on the corner of Grand View and South Central avenues, formerly owned and occupied by Mrs. Hewitson.

Mr. Arthur Tremayne of South Quincy, returned Wednesday from Pennsylvania where he has been spending the holidays with his brother.

"Poor Pillacoddy" will be presented in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry next week. There will also be a short curtain raiser entitled "Box and Cox."

The Board of Health were present Wednesday at the meeting of the State Board of Health and attended the Tubercolosis exhibiton at Horticultural hall.

Physical Director Bugbee of the Y. M. C. A. is rapidly recovering from his recent illness, and expects to return to his work the last of this week or the first of next.

Miss Smith, one of the Massachusetts Fields school teachers, who has been away on leave of absence for three months, has returned and taken the sixth grade again. Miss McAllister has been transferred to the Washington school.

The High school Bible debating class at the Y. M. C. A. is in a very flourishing condition, as the meeting Wednesday evening proved by a large attendance. A full account of the club will appear in the Club column next week.

It took only 35 minutes for the Intermediates of the Y. M. C. A. to roll up a score of 36 to 4 against the Employed Boys on Wednesday evening. This is the second of a series of games between these teams. The first resulting in a victory for the Intermediates, 17 to 11.

High Temperature.

It is the warmest January day for seven years, the temperature at noon being 58, and the highest in other years as follows: Jan. 1900, 52; Jan. 1901, 47; Jan. 1902, 55; Jan. 1903, 50; Jan. 1904, 42; and last year 50.

BY PISTOL WOUND

A Well-to-Do Man Killed In Home of Wife's Brother

WAS SHOT IN THE HEAD

Hints of Family Differences Over Settlement of Estate--Police Predict Developments of a Sensational Nature

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 4.—Charles A. Edwards of New York, formerly president of the Passaic Chemical company of New Jersey and more recently an officer of the General Chemical company, was mysteriously given a death wound from a pistol ball while lying in bed during the night, the guest of his brother-in-law, Charles A. Hiller. So mysterious was the case from the outset that Deputy Coroner Pond opened an inquest at police headquarters immediately following a long and searching inquiry during the day at the Hiller homestead at 117 College street.

The millionaire victim was a prominent Yale graduate, still identified in many ways with the university, and the murder has created the most intense excitement among the college students and faculty.

Dr. Cheney, in the course of his treatment of the dying man, found a bullet hole in the left side of the head, directly behind the ear. The missile had gone directly in to the brain.

For almost five hours Deputy Coroner Pond conducted the preliminary inquest into the shooting of Edwards. Those who were examined were A. M. Hiller and his brother, Charles, and at its conclusion neither witness was held. Coroner Pond said to newspaper men that as far as he could learn he could find no reason for Edwards taking his own life. "On the other hand," continued Pond, "there seems to me to be good reason to believe that Edwards was killed."

The coroner was asked whether or not the shooting, in his mind, was the result of a quarrel between members of the Hiller family, but declined to speak definitely on that score. He said that the entire matter would be turned over to Coroner Mix and until that time he would say no more.

Edwards was found dying in his chamber by Charles A. Hiller. He had retired about 11 o'clock Tuesday night after attending a birthday party in honor of his sister, Mrs. Samuel Harris. Earlier in the day he had come over from New York for this special purpose and of late he had been a frequent visitor here, usually as a guest of either Charles A. or O. Maxcy Hiller, both brothers-in-law. He retired apparently in the best of spirits.

When the police were notified of the death a guard was sent to the house and several detectives assigned to the case. The police at once reached the conclusion that there had been a murder and the investigation proceeded on this line. They found that the house had not been broken into forcibly, but an unbolted kitchen door, which the house servants claimed was securely fastened during the night, gave a possible clue that someone had passed out of the house by that means. There was no sign of a weapon. Coroner Pond informally gave his opinion that it would have been impossible for Edwards to have shot himself and get rid of the weapon, and it was equally mystifying, he said, as to the point from which the bullet was discharged.

After examination of the homestead, the servants in the house and the Hiller brothers were rigidly questioned. A message was sent to Mrs. Edwards in New York and during the afternoon she reached this city. Charles A. Hiller lives in the homestead with two servants. He is unmarried. A. M. Hiller lives at 433 Temple street. He is a lawyer by profession.

Edwards was about 60 years old, and a descendant of Jonathan Edwards, one of the early presidents of Yale, and was related to many families of distinguished ancestry. He was graduated from Yale in the academic class of 1866. While somewhat short of stature, he was of fine physical development and of ample physical powers to cope with any strong man. Personally he was of a most cheerful and jovial temperament. He married Miss Sarah C. Hiller, only daughter of Mrs. Abigail Hiller, and sister to Charles and A. M. Hiller.

It was stated last night by one close to the situation regarding alleged differences between the Hillers and Edwards that about three weeks ago Mrs. Edwards came to New Haven and at that time there was trouble over the settlement of the estate of the elder Mrs. Hiller, who died a few weeks before. It is alleged that Mrs. Edwards called at police headquarters for a policeman to accompany her to the railroad station in order to protect her from the threatened violence of certain members of the family.

The police state that the case probably will develop into one of the most sensational in the annals of crime in New Haven. A police guard was kept over the Hiller homestead last night, no one being allowed to enter the grounds.

An autopsy will be performed today. Medical Examiner Bartlett, who viewed the body before it was taken to an undertaker's, refused to make a statement concerning its condition as to the probable cause of death.

Failure of Warsaw Strike

Warsaw, Jan. 4.—The strike here has failed and the attempt at armed insurrection has been abandoned.

Two School Girls Runover on Crossing

Two Washington school girls, Dorothy Lowe and Esther Dasha were run over Wednesday noon, while on the way home from school and severely injured. The little girls were on the cross walk of Baxter avenue when a grocery wagon of Jacob Peterson came along. The driver of the wagon turned sharply into Baxter avenue and before the girls could save themselves they were knocked down.

Both girls were badly bruised and shaken up although fortunately no bones were broken. The Dasha girl is the worst injured, and is still confined to her bed and serious results may follow. The Lowe girl was kept at home in the afternoon and suffered considerable pain from her bruises.

They are the daughters of H. H. Low and Joseph A. Dasha.

It is said that the driver of the team was not using the care that he should have when going over a sidewalk crossing.

MILTON.

The fifteenth annual concert and ball of the Milton Firemen's Relief Association will be held Jan. 24.

Mrs. Albert Jones has returned from a visit to New Brunswick.

The marraige of Mr. Charles C. Copland and Miss Mollie, daughter of James Gibbs, is announced for next Monday evening.

The Christmas tree and festival of the Sunday school of the Mission of our Saviour church was held Wednesday evening.

Robert Gilchrist of Adams street, is confined to his home by illness.

The fire department was called out on Sunday noon for a grass fire at the Swedish grove.

Work will be commenced in the early spring, erecting a large gymnasium on the Cunningham Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bearse have gone to Brewer, Me., on a visit.

J. R. Clay of Otis street has accepted a position in New York.

W. W. Bates will move from Bryant avenue to Squantum street.

Hold-ups In Boston.

Talk about yeggmen in the country towns, the Globe says today: Within 300 yards from the spot where Mrs. Gertrude Riley of 44 Dorset street North Dorchester, was beaten and robbed last Saturday night at 10.30 on Dorset street the facts of which were suppressed by the police, but which leaked out, Miss Florence Beadle, aged 19, of 20 1-2 Exchange street, Harrison Square, was held up and robbed last night just before 6 o'clock.

Wedded at Providence.

Miss Anna T. Cotter of South Quincy and Mr. Willis W. Guptill of Norfolk Downs were quietly married on Tuesday at Providence by Rev. E. C. Bass, D. D. The first knowledge that the bride's parents received of the marriage came by postal card on Wednesday, and the couple returned to Quincy that evening. The groom is 22 years old and the bride 18, the latter being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Cotter of 45 Penn street. Mr. and Mrs. Guptill will reside at Norfolk Downs.

After Short Illness

Mrs. Bridget T. McAnarney who has made her home with her son John W. McAnarney. Esq., of South street, passed away Wednesday afternoon, aged 67 years. She leaves six sons and one daughter. Funeral services will be held Friday morning.

Mrs. McAnarney was a resident of North Abington for many years, moving to Quincy about three years ago.

Since the Y. C. M A. alleys have been repolished, hardly a minute of the entire afternoon and evening but what they are in contant use. The new pins are a great improvement. They are now called fast alleys.

DIED.

McANARNEY—In Quincy, Jan. 3, Mrs. Bridget T. McAnarney, widow of Thomas McAnarney and mother of John W. McAnarney, Esq., aged 67 years. Funeral from late residence, 37 South street, Friday, Jan 5, at 8 A. M. Services at St. John's church at 9 30 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Kindly omit flowers.

MARR—In Quincy, Jan. 3, Robert V., son of Mr. Alber C. and Mrs. Sarah E. Marr of 24 Summer street, aged 2 years.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.

Address, B. W. FRENCH,
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

NEW WAR CLOUDS

Appear to Hover Over Germany and France

ARMIES STRENGTHENED

Berlin Replies to French Statements as to Preparedness For Military Action--America Has Rights Superior to Either In Settling Moroccan Question

Washington, Jan. 4.—Neither the American Ambassador to France nor the like official at Berlin can treat of the situation which now exists between France and Germany in any report which can be published here without involving them in trouble. But it is believed that the explanation of this last German movement in hurriedly ordering 20,000 freight cars is to be found in the fact that last July, when the Morocco situation developed an acute phase, the French general staff discovered that the entire army, especially the transportation facilities, was not in a condition justifying France in adopting an aggressive attitude. So the negotiations suddenly assumed a mild tone and have dragged along up to this time.

Meanwhile, the general staff went to work with great assiduity to correct the evils which had developed, with the result that within the past 10 days it was discovered that, in the opinion of military experts, the French army is in better condition than at any period in its history. The mobilization has been strengthened so that vast bodies of troops can be collected at the populous centres and transported to the frontier points in an incredibly short time.

It is believed here by officials who have kept close watch on the situation that the Germans have likewise been quietly and, as far as possible, secretly, increasing the efficiency of their army. But when the internal resources failed in the matter of producing a sufficient number of military railway cars, and it became necessary for the German government to go to foreign countries for the needed supply, it was patent that such an order could not be concealed. So to make the best of the situation, this news of the placing of the vast order for transportation material was boldly announced from Berlin as an answer to the French unofficial statements as to the preparedness of France for military action.

As to the part the United States is to play in the approaching Moroccan conference, it may be stated on the best of authority that Messrs. White and Gummere, the American delegates, will go into the conference absolutely uncommitted to either the French or the German contentions. The government's view is that America has, by virtue of her ancient interest in Morocco, rights even superior to those of any European state in deciding the critical questions which will come before the conference.

The basis of this statement is that America, single-handed, made war upon the Barbary states, wiped out piracy in Mediterranean waters and concluded the first treaty of any civilized nation with those states—a treaty which has formed the basis of the demand of every other nation for favored nation treatment at the hands of Morocco.

So from considerations such as the perpetuation of the open door and fair trade for all in Morocco, the United States government feels that it has the right and duty to participate in this important conference. As to the question of policing the Moroccan frontier, they stand uncommitted either to the German proposition, which favors the creation of an international police force, or the French plan of employing Algerian police for this purpose.

Berlin Prepares For War

Berlin, Jan. 4.—The railway administration placed orders last week for 20,000 freight cars, at a cost of $50,000,000, with manufacturers of five countries, stipulating delivery by the middle of February, besides utilizing the car works of Germany. These contracts were distributed among makers in Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Italy, and would not have been done unless some reasons for haste existed.

The ordering of these freight cars for the moving of troops is only is consequence of the French preparations, and must not be taken to indicate any hostile design on the part of Germany, whose peaceful intentions remain unchanged. The step taken is due to the conviction that the best preservative of peace is complete preparedness for any eventuality.

Thousands of Japanese Starving

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 4.—The famine in north Japan is causing thousands to starve, according to advices received by the steamer Empress of Japan. A government report says that three provinces, with a population of 2,821,557, are confronting the worst famine since the deadly one of 60 years ago. So great is the calamity in Miyaga that famine investigators report "the sentence of death has been passed on one-third of the people of the province."

Poor Excuse For Murder

New York, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Marie A. Dolta, 23 years old, was shot and killed by her brother-in-law, Joseph Vanea, at her home in Jersey City. Vanea was arrested. He said that he shot his sister-in-law because she refused to let him make his home in her house.

HAIR AND BEARDS.

They Have Played Important Parts In the World's History.

In centuries past the human hair played an important part in all judicial proceedings. Those that were permitted to wear beard and hair had rights that could not be claimed by the shorn and shaved. When men made oath they touched their beard and hair, and women placed the finger tips of the right hand on their tresses.

Servants were obliged to have their hair cut, and if a freedman went into slavery he had to divest himself of his hirsute adornments. An adult adopted by foster parents was obliged to have his beard shaved, and the shaving of beard and hair was a punishment inflicted on criminals. The jurisprudence of our ancestors dealt with punishment "by skin and hair" for small offenses and "by neck and hand" for greater crimes.

There has always been more or less superstition about hair. Great strength was implied by it, and wizards and witches knew of concoctions of hair by which they poisoned enemies. Cat's hair was especially named in the category of poisonous hairs, and even at the beginning of the seventeenth century Paulus Zacchias, a famous physician, writes of the virulent poison of the hair of cats.

Among civilized people such superstitious beliefs have gone out of existence, and only Malays give their enemies tiger hairs in broth to kill them.

THE HUMAN RIBS.

Man Has Twelve Pairs, and Woman Has Just the Same.

A man who had been sick said he was so thin he could count his ribs.

When I heard this statement I asked, "How many did you count?" He was unable to answer. Several friends were standing by, and the query was put to them. Not a man could tell the number of his ribs. One bright chap said in all seriousness that a woman has one more rib than a man, because man lost one in the fashioning of woman. And, do you know, this belief is common? Suddenly spring the question on any acquaintance you may happen to meet in the day's journeying. Unless he be a medical man he will in all probability be unable to answer.

It is an anatomical fact that man has twelve pairs of ribs and woman the same number. The four short ribs, two on each side, are the "free" ribs, and in all probability Eve was made of one of these. A man could manage to struggle through life without his free ribs, and I have no doubt that ere long some corset manufacturer will require woman to have hers removed in order to lengthen her waist and to reduce its girth. To break a few of the asternal ribs (ten altogether) is nothing; to break some of the sternal (fourteen in number) ones is far more serious.—New York Press.

MASCULINE DIMPLES.

They Are Not Always Appreciated by Their Owners.

"Dimples are just as common among men as among women," says a New York beauty doctor, "only they don't show off to such good advantage. Beard and mustache combine to hide their charm. Anyhow, men are not proud of dimples. They consider them a sign of effeminacy. Now that smooth faces are the fashion, the man with a dimple in cheek or chin is hard put to it to hide that beauty mark. In his extremity he seeks relief from me.

"'What can I do with these confounded dimples?' he asks.

"'Take 'em out,' I advise.

"'Can you do it?' he asks.

"'Sure,' says I.

"'All right,' says he, 'go ahead.'

"Then I begin treatment. In the past year I have removed sets of dimples from men's faces that any woman of their acquaintance would have paid $100 for. All men with money to spend patronize the beauty doctor more shamelessly than they used to, but of all the miracles they wish performed there is none they insist upon so stoutly as the removal of dimples."—Exchange.

For Lung Troubles

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures hard coughs, hard colds, bronchitis, consumption. And it certainly strengthens weak throats and weak lungs. There can be no mistake about this. Your own doctor will say so. Just ask him about it, then do as he says.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

No Yellow Fever at Havana

Havana, Jan. 4.—The last case of yellow fever has disappeared from Havana and there are no suspicious cases under observation. Since the first appearance of the disease in October there have been 69 cases, 23 of which resulted in death and 46 of which were discharged cured.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Jan. 5.
Sun rises—7:14; sets—4:26.
Moon sets—2:18 a. m.
High water—7:15 a. m.; 7:45 p. m.

It will be fair and colder in New England, except snow or rain in north portions.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block--A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30xf0 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, an omobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT.
Ledger Office.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of
CATHERINE C. GEARY,
late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Michael B Geary of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the seventeenth day of January, A. D. 1903, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to shew cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t-4, 11, 15

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Navy Button Pin, on Sunday evening, on School street. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to MISS EMILY C. WILD, 127 Granite street, Quincy.
Jan. 3. 3t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Rooms. Apply at 160 Elm street, Quincy.
Jan. 4. 3t

TO LET or FOR SALE—House on Pray street, Quincy Point, 9 rooms, bath room, hall, open plumbing, etc. Latest improvements. Apply T. C. FOSTER, on the premises.
Jan. 1. 3t

TO LET—Half House, 6 rooms, large attic, closet, etc., 62 Gay street Apply at 33 Summer street.
Quincy, Dec. 29. 6t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family Furnace heat, electric lights etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET.—House 206 Franklin street 8 rooms. Present occupants will show premises, and arrange for interview with owner. M. E. ADAMS, 38 Percival street, Dorchester. Dec. 9 Sat-Tu-Thu-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9 tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x47, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 1-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350 Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

FOR OUR READERS

The Two Vanrevels

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done. —New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

THE TWO VANREVELS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER BEGINNING

"It is my father."

In an Early Edition of the Daily Ledger.

First Chapter Of New Story Next Week

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

An Eight-Page Daily Ledger Tomorrow

Vol. 18. No. 5. QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS Sold at very low prices.

MISS D. LITCHMAN,

330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

THE SUNDAY DINNER SHOP!

This is easily the Sunday dinner market of this section.

Here, just as sure as each week end comes, Quincy Adams' cooks and housewives repair and select the food supplies for Sunday's feast from our abundant and fair-priced stock.

Poultry of all kinds, Lamb, Mutton, Veal, Beef, Ham and other staple items, fresh Vegetables, delicious, tempting fruit and other things so necessary to the complete Sunday and daily dinner, are here.

You know that this is your best market for best food supplies at lowest prices, to-day, to-morrow and every day of the present year.

Knowing this, be wise—trade here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257–263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 3t

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A.M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec. 27. 12t

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

FREE

COMPLETE THEATRE

CHARACTERS, ORCHESTRA AND STAGE SETTING OF UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

ALL IN BRILLIANT COLORS

WITH NEXT SUNDAY'S BOSTON GLOBE.

Boston Sunday Globe's Best Year

AVERAGE CIRCULATION OF THE SUNDAY GLOBE

1901--262,192 1903--297,824
1902--276,296 1904--293,368

1905 ═══ 299,643

The highest average ever attained by the Boston Sunday Globe, and by far the largest in New England

For 1906---A Happy New Year to All From the Boston Globe.

A Happy New Year!

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Dec. 23. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

Special Election

Will Be Necessary In Ward One To Fill Vacancy In City COuncil

A special election will be necessary in Ward One to fill a vacancy in the City Council. The vacancy is caused by Councilman Madison M. Cannon leaving the city.

Councilman Cannon who is in the employ of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., goes to Brunswick, Georgia, where he will superintend the building of a viaduct, the contract for which has been awarded the Fore River Co. Councilman Cannon will leave Quincy Monday, Jan. 15, and will be absent two years.

It is probable that he will tender his resignation as Councilman at the meeting of the City Council next Monday evening.

The vacancy means a special election and an expense to the city of $200 or $300. A caucus will have to be held under the Luce law, then a regular election. Not only does it mean quite an expense but makes a lot of work for city officials as well.

Woman's Guild.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of Christ church was held on Wednesday afternoon and reports were rendered showing the year of 1905 to be one of the most successful in the history of the guild. The treasurer reported a balance of over $200. One hundred dollars of this was immediately appropriated to reduce the rectory mortgage, making it $2,425.00. The final report of the fair gave the amount made by the sale, $442.72, by the St. Margaret's Guild entertainment $48.25, total $490.97.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. George H. Brown for her faithful work as President and to all the officers and committees. The following ladies were elected to fill the offices for 1906:

President,—Mrs. Hazen E. Ricker.
First Vice President,—Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick.
Second Vice President,—Mrs. Frank Brewer.
Treasurer,—Mrs. Charles Wilson.
Secretary,—Miss Emily Wilde.
Custodian,—Mrs. James Malcolm.

The guild voted to provide, on the evening of the annual parish meeting, Wednesday January 24, in place of the supper given heretofore, a social and entertainment, in order that all may give their thought and energy to the annual meeting. Later, the first of February a good supper will be offered and money raised for the rectory mortgage.

Excellent Showing.

A comparison of the reports of the Quincy Savings Bank on Jan. 1, this year, and Jan. 1, ten years ago, show a marvelous growth. The deposits of today amount to $3,674,362.91, an increase in ten years from $1,917,050.21. The surplus and undivided profits amount to $246,600.92, which is more than double. The resources are largely loans on real estate, and bonds of municipalities and railroads. The dividends paid during the past ten years amount to $1,000,481.21, while the dividends from 1845 to 1896 amounted to $1,652,019.56. The officers are conservative in their management, and the bank stands high financially.

Haying in January.

A novel sight for January was presented to the passengers of passing trains this week, by a two horse mowing machine at work cutting grass on the Neponset marshes. So many fires have been started in the long grass by flying cinders, and have endangered those houses on Atlantic and Hancock streets backing close to the marsh, that the operation of cutting grass in January, while a bit untimely, was a preventative of danger to property.

—Joseph A. Pitman, superintendent of schools of Marlboro, has accepted an appointment as principal of the state normal school at Salem.

The brick houses that Henry Blackwell is building in Atlantic, bid fair to be excellent investments as well as noticable additions to the attractiveness of the town.

WILLIAMS or RIPLEY?

CHIEF WILLIAMS.

EX-CHIEF RIPLEY.

There is much speculation as to whether Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams is to be retained in office this year. Mayor Thompson is the only man who knows, and he is dropping no hint of his intentions.

There are indications, however, that ex-Chief Walter H. Ripley may be appointed. Mr. Ripley was the first chief engineer of Quincy, under the city government, serving both years under Mayor Porter, and also three years under Mayor Fairbanks. In 1900 he was also chief of police.

Peter J. Williams was first appointed Chief Engineer in 1894 by Mayor Hodges, and with the exception of 1898 has served every year since. The chief in 1898 under Mayor Sears was Frank C. Packard.

There has been some criticism of late regarding Chief Williams administration of the fire department. His record as a fire fighter cannot be attacked, and he has good control over the conduct of the firemen, but it is claimed that he has ignored the civil service rules in making appointments.

Another rumor has it that if a change is made in department officials that Mr. Ripley may not be the appointee, but that a younger man will be selected.

New Year's Party.

Archibald Briggs of Appleton street gave a New Year's party Monday evening in compliment of the choir of St. Chrysostom's church and the assistant minister, Mr. Clattenburg. Progressive games were introduced and the winners of prizes for best results were Charles Whiteacre, John Smith and William Thompson. During the good time, Mr. Souther of Quincy made a presentation speech for the choir to their master, Mr. E. Landys Snyder, and tendered him a large and beautiful statue of Mercury as a rememberance of the choir's esteem. Mr. Souther also had the honor of presenting a gold coin to the solo singer, John Smith, for his services. After the serving of a bountiful repast, the end of the evening was made merry with college songs in which everybody took active part.

Old Ironsides.

Representative Weeks of Massachusetts is planning a campaign to preserve the historic frigate Constitution. He has asked the navy department for figures on what is spent annually by the British government on the maintenance of the Victory, Lord Nelson's historic flagship.

Long Service.

Albert G. Boyden, principal of the state normal school at Bridgewater, and beloved by hundreds of graduates has resigned, after a service of 46 years. The state board of education has appointed him principal emeritus, and filled the vacancy by appointing Arthur C. Boyden active principal.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

Rebekah Lodge Installs Officers

Odd Fellows hall was well filled Thursday evening with members of the Rebekah lodges from Boston, Charlestown, Kingston, East Weymouth, Washington, D. C., and other places, who came to participate in the installation of the officers-elect of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge 146. The ceremony was performed in a very pleasing and commendable manner by Mrs. Annie E. Sawyer, D. D. G. M., and her able corp of assistants from Boston. Over one hundred were in attendance, and the evening proved to be most enjoyable.

The lodge is in a most flourishing condition, numbering 165, having initiated the past year twenty-four, the largest gain in one year since the lodge was instituted eight years ago. Unfortunately they have lost one brother and a sister by death, during the year.

The following officers will occupy the chairs during the coming year:

P. N. G.,—Mrs. Melissa McCormick.
N. G.,—Mrs. Addie Dewhurst.
V. G.,—Mrs. Adeline Young.
Secretary,—Miss Georgietta Thayer.
Financial Secretary,—Mrs. Sadie J. Mitchell.
Treasurer,—Miss Lizzie M. Furnald.
Warden,—Miss Sadie J. Mountain.
Conductor,—Miss Jennie Crowell.
Chaplain,—Miss Elvira Ewell.
O. S. G.,—E. Frank Mitchell.
I. A. G.,—Mrs. Helen Flowers.
R. S. N. G.,—E. L. Goodridge.
L. S. N. G.,—Miss Grace Manhire.
R. S. V. G.,—Mrs. Mary E. Lawry.
L. S. V. G.,—Mrs. Mary Hughes.
Pianist,—Mrs. Alice W. Goodridge.
Degree Master,—F. W. Flowers.
Trustees,—Mrs. Mary Westland, A. W. Stetson and J. W. Nash.

At the close of the services Mrs. Annie E. Sawyer in a few well spoken words presented the retiring noble grand, Mrs. Melissa McCormick, with a beautiful P. N. G. collar from the lodge and in return Mrs. McCormick presented in behalf of the officers installed, to Mrs. Sawyer, a beautiful bouquet of pinks and roses.

Remarks were made by the installing officers, who paid glowing tributes to the work done, and hospitality always shown by the members of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge.

Mrs. McCormick in behalf of the lodge presented Frank W. Flowers, who has served as degree master, with a Past Noble Grand collar. Frank was completely surprised, and was lost for words, but after choking the tears back, recovered himself, and thanked the lodge for the beautiful gift. He said he would wear it with pride and honor, and cherish it, as did the good brother whom the Lodge is named after and whose collar adorns our walls.

At the close all retired to the banquet hall, where a fine turkey supper was enjoyed.

More Art at High School.

The Quincy High school has received an addition to its art collection which is very much appreciated, two large carbon photo reproductions of St Barbara and Sir Galahad in rich oak frames. They were the gifts of Messrs. A. C. Sproul, C. G. Boynton and H. T. Jenkins, who were editors of the Golden Rod, the school paper, in 1904 and 1905, and represent the profits on the publication.

Amy and Navy Friction
polish—easy—apply once a week, rub shoes each morning with cloth, keeps them soft and makes them wear longer.

Fifteen Minute Car Service

In response to a request of residents of Quincy Point for more frequent car service, the street railway company has put into effect fifteen minute service on this line between City Square and South street. The fifteen-minute time commences at noon and continues during the afternoon and evening. Cars leave for Quincy Point at 5, 20, 35 and 50 minutes past the hour. The cars leaving at 20 and 50 minutes past runs through to East Weymouth as at present.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

The Hancock Hotel
Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table.
Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

From the way Mayor McClellan is treating the Tammany leaders, it may be inferred that he believes all that the Hearst papers has said about them.

New Jersey has appropriated $350,000 for the extermination of her mosquitoes. Her summer visitors pay from five to twenty dollars a day for the same privilege.

Why there should be such a delay in apportioning the cost of the Fore River bridge, mystifies many. It is no benefit to the city to put off the payment of this improvement.

Many taxpayers of the city are of the opinion that a retrenchment could well be made in the appropriations for water and sewer extensions, without detriment to the service, thereby reducing the debt and interest.

Only twelve cities of New York are larger than Quincy by the new census, Among those smaller are: Newburg, Jamestown, Kingston, Watertown, Poughkeepsie, Mt. Vernon, Cohoes, Niagara Falls, Amsterdam and Oswego.

An increase of $1,757,312.70 in the deposit at the Quincy Savings Bank in ten years not only speaks well for the bank, but for the city. The people have been employed, and have been able to save more than a penny for the rainy day. The no-license policy of Quincy for nearly a quarter of a century has doubtless helped to make this excellent showing. To these savings should be added the large sums to the credit of the shareholders in the Quincy Cooperative Bank, and the Wollaston Cooperative Bank, and the amounts subject to deposit in the two National banks.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO, Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

TO George W. Wheelwright, Edmund M. Wheelwright, John T. Wheelwright, Elizabeth H. Thomson and Cleever Newhall, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk; Cora A. Frothingham, of Quincy, Susan C. Cobb, of Brookline, in the County of Norfolk; Dana I. McIntire, of Medford, in the County of Middlesex, all in said Commonwealth; Charles S. Wheelwright, of Bristol, in the State of Rhode Island; Gabella D. Thomson and Emeline B. Thomson, of Dover, in the State of New Hampshire, and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Harlow H. Rogers, of said Brookline, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land, situate in said Quincy, bounded: Northerly by land now or formerly of Cora A. Frothingham and land now or formerly of Dana I. McIntire, about 70.06 feet; easterly by land now or formerly of Hannah G. Wheelwright, about 144 feet; southerly by Appleton Street, about 70 feet; and westerly by other land now or formerly of said Wheelwright about 141.1 feet; being the parcel marked lot 56, area 9,978 square feet, on plan entitled, Plan showing land at Atlantic, Quincy, Mass., belonging to Harlow H. Rogers, dated December, 1905, by James Adam, C. E., and filed with said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court, to be held at Boston, in said County of Suffolk, on the twenty-second day of January, A. D. 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, LEONARD A. JONES Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-seventh day of December, in the year nineteen hundred and five.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
[SEAL.] CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
Dec. 29. 3t--29-5-12

Administrators' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers have been duly appointed Administrators of the estate of

ELIZABETH S. G. NIGHTINGALE,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, intestate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

(Address) LEWIS BASS, JUNIOR,
JAMES L. EDWARDS,
Administrators.
Quincy, Mass., Dec. 27, 1905. 3t-29, 5, 12

EDWARDS' DEATH

But Little Light Is Shed Upon the Mystery

INQUEST IS IN PROGRESS

Admissions Said to Have Been Made That Family Disagreements Were Very Bitter--One Man Temporarily Held

New Haven, Jan. 5.—Allan Maxcy Hiller, brother-in-law of Charles A. Edwards, the New York man who was shot to death in a mysterious manner Tuesday night, while at the home of Charles A. Hiller, another brother-in-law, was locked up at police headquarters for a time last night by order of Coroner Mix, who later explained that he wanted to have Hiller handy on the resumption of the inquest later in the evening, and that Hiller was simply held as a witness.

This action was taken at the end of a sitting of the coroner's inquest of about five hours. Hiller was in the coroner's office when the order was given and Detective Ward at once conducted him to the station house. At the same time Charles Hiller, the brother, was allowed to go home to his supper. Maxcy Hiller had a telephone message sent to his counsel, Erliss P. Arvine, and the latter responded and accompanied Hiller to the station house.

The news of the coroner's action quickly spread and the general supposition was reached that Hiller had been placed under arrest. For this reason Coroner Mix made the definite announcement that Hiller's detention was simply temporary as far as he could determine at the time, and it was also stated that later in the evening the inquest would be resumed in the coroner's office. This proved to be the case, for at 9 o'clock the inquest was resumed and among the witnesses called were Mrs. Maxcy Hiller, Charles Hiller and Maxcy Hiller, the latter being conducted from the station house about 10:30 o'clock.

It is understood that the examination of witnesses did not develop any special features. The questioning was mostly as to family affairs of the Hillers, and it is understood that admissions were made that the disagreements between Maxcy Hiller and his sister, Mrs. Edwards, were very bitter, and that the alleged enmity of the former extended to Mr. Edwards. It is understood that the coroner in the course of his all-day inquiry found that Edwards had often told his friends that Maxcy Hiller had made threats against him.

The inquest was opened yesterday afternoon and was a resumption of that opened Wednesday by Deputy Coroner Pond in the absence of Mix. Another long drawn out proceeding was the autopsy on the body of Edwards, which was begun at 10 o'clock in the morning and completed at 11 o'clock last night. Medical Examiner Bartlett, who was in charge, then began the preparation of the report which will go to the coroner. It is stated that the report will show that Edwards was killed by a bullet of 22 calibre, which entered the left side of the head behind the ear and ranged upwards until it almost protruded on the top of the cranium. The weapon used must have been held very close to the head.

The point whether the pistol was held by Edwards or by another person is not yet made clear, as the coroner has not announced the medical examiner's verbal report, but it is understood that an opinion has been expressed that such a wound might have been self-inflicted, but in this instance it was unlikely. The coroner has not yet found the weapon used in the shooting, in spite of the rigid search made for it, even to overhauling the old Hiller homestead by aid of plumbers and carpenters.

The inquest was adjourned at midnight until today. Mexcy Hiller left the coroner's office and was driven to his home. Two detectives were in the same carriage, which drove by the police headquarters, where a uniformed officer was obtained as a guard. Coroner Mix said that Maxcy Hiller was not under surveillance and that there was no charge against him.

At the close of the inquest there seemed to be more mystery attached to the case than at any previous time. It is understood that no direct evidence bearing upon the actual shooting has been produced, and the evidence in regard to the family troubles seems continually to follow the same lines.

Chamberlain Got Hot Reception

London, Jan. 5.—The political campaign is now warming up. Already a number of disorderly meetings have been reported and last night, when Joseph Chamberlain attempted to address a mass meeting at Derby in support of the Unionist candidates, he was howled down and was unable to secure a hearing, finally retiring amid continued uproar.

Made "Mark" of France

Caracas, Jan. 5.—The report that at the official reception of the diplomatic corps here on New Year's day all the foreign representatives except the French charge of affairs, M. Taigny, were invited, is confirmed.

Burton Says He Won't Resign

Kansas City, Jan. 5.—Talking last night over the telephone from his home at Abilene, Kas., Senator Burton said the statement that he would resign his seat in the senate was absolutely untrue.

MRS ROBINSON DEAD

Murderess Spent Eighteen Years In Solitary Confinement

Boston, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson, one of the most noted female convicts in the country, died in the Middlesex county jail in Cambridge last night from heart failure. She was 68 years old and had been in solitary confinement for 18 years.

The arrest and conviction of Mrs. Robinson, following an investigation bu the authorities into the mysterious deaths of five persons in Somerville, where she lived, were the most sensational developments in many years in connection with crime in this state.

She was convicted in 1887 of the murder of Prince A. Freeman, her brother-in-law, but it was established at the trial that she had also murdered her son, William, 23 years of age; her daughter, Elizabeth, 22 years of age; her husband, and her nephew, Thomas A. Freeman. The victims were all killed by poison. It was disclosed that the object of the murder was the possession of money on insurance policies on their lives.

Mrs. Robinson was sentenced to be hanged, but recognizing the widespread clamor against the execution of a woman, Governor Robinson commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Robinson was allowed to walk in the prison yards occasionally for exercise after the other prisoners had retired. She was well educated and spent much of her time in reading magazines and books.

Alleged Theft of Machinery

New Haven, Jan. 5.—Minor M. Hart, who is charged with the theft of $30,000 worth of machinery from New York and Buffalo concerns, waived examination in the city court and was held for the superior court in bonds of $1500. The machinery, it is alleged, was ordered by Hart in the name of a well known firm of contractors and was received by him. Hart is himself a contractor.

Kept Afloat by Pumping

Boston, Jan. 5.—Schooner Modoc, from Edwards, Me., to New York with a cargo of piling, was obliged to bear up to this port, owing to strong head winds which started some of the seams in her hull. She came into port with her crew working hard at the pumps. The vessel will be beached on East Boston flats and her cargo unloaded.

Found Dead In His Factory

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 5.—William P. Allen, aged 54, a member of the firm of William Allen Sons company, boilermakers, was found dead late last night in a portion of the factory seldom used. An investigation by the police showed that death was due to natural causes. Allen was last seen alive by his son about 10:30 o'clock.

Preferred a Fireman's Job

Central Falls, R. I., Jan. 5.—Preferring a captaincy in the local fire department, which position he had held for 36 years, to a seat in the city council, Charles H. Vasled has resigned from the latter office. City Solicitor Butman ruled that Vasled could not hold the two offices simultaneously.

Opposed to Annexation

Dedham, Mass., Jan. 5.—A petition which has been sent to the legislature for the annexation of an eastern portion of this town to Hyde Park was opposed by a majority of the voters in a special town meeting last night. The petition will be fought at the state house.

In Congress

Washington, Jan. 5.—After waiting for almost a year, R. M. La Follette appeared in the senate when it reconvened to claim his seat as a senator from Wisconsin, and the oath of office was administered to him by Vice President Fairbanks.

The cause of the Filipino was advocated on the floor of the house by the Republican leader, Mr. Payne, for nearly four hours. Indications point to a protracted debate on the measure and it is expected that the Republican opponents will speak and vote against the bill.

The Chorus Union's Strike

New York, Jan. 5.—At the Metropolitan Opera house it is stated that a chorus numbering nearly 100 is being rehearsed to take the place of the chorus which went on strike Wednesday night, necessitating the singing of "Faust" without the usual choral effects. The strikers are still holding out for a recognition of the union and an increase in salaries from $15 to $25 a week.

Rebels' Resistance Shattered

Moscow, Jan. 5.—"Against the brilliant conduct of the troops and the police the resistance of the insurgents in Moscow has been shattered. Legions have been dispersed and are fleeing in disorder. Many of their chiefs have been arrested and the others have fled far and wide." With these words Governor General Doubassoff begins a long account of the rising here.

Collision Caused a Panic

Sydney, N. S., Jan. 5.—The ferry steamers Peerless and Hygeia collided in this harbor off Point Edward last evening during a thick fog. The boats came together with a terrific crash and the passengers on both steamers were thrown into a panic. Both steamers backed off, they having sustained only slight damage.

Lynching Barely Averted

Memphis, Jan. 5.—An unknown negro attacked Miss Savannah Cooke, a white deaf mute, Wednesday, but was beaten off by the girl with a club. Yesterday the negro again attacked the girl, but was caught by citizens. The police arrived barely in time to save the negro from being lynched.

SOMETHING REALLY NEW

A Bright Feature for the Boys and Girls of New England

THE

ROOSEVELT BEARS

How They Came Down From the Mountains, Donned Civilized Garb and Had Hilarious Times Visiting Washington, Boston and Elsewhere. Told in Clever Jingle by Paul Piper and Illustrated by Floyd Campbell. A Full Page Each Sunday

FIRST APPEARANCE NEXT SUNDAY

IN THE GREAT

Boston Sunday Post

The City In Brief

Councilman Sawyer has been confined to his home this week with a severe cold.

Auctioneer Keating will have a large sale of furniture at 74 Copeland street next Wednesday afternoon.

It is said that the topical song of ex-Mayor Bryant at the Squantum Yacht club minstrel show will hit several councilmen.

Rural lodge entertained a large number of visitors at its regular communication Thursday evening. Several candidates were raised.

Saturday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. juniors will play against the Malden High school freshmen at Basket ball, in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

The next meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian club will be held Tuesday evening, January 9, in the vestry of the Unitarian church. Hon. George E. Hibbard of Boston will address the club on the "Postal System of the United States."

Nineteen tables were in play at the Knights of Malta whist party on Thursday evening at Greenleaf hall. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. William Clements and Miss Mabel Lovejoy, and Messrs. W. C. Hart, Richard Newcomb and E. J. Blanchard.

A fire started in the lot adjoining the grounds of Lyndon Gurney of Walker street Wednesday afternoon. It was discovered by a passer by close to Mr. Gurney's fence and ready to make way with it. The stranger procured a broom and impersonated the good angel who appears at the opportune moment and saves the day. He saved the fence.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

A. A. Mason of the Springfield Training school is becoming very popular with the boys. He is substituting for Physical Director Bugbee at the Y. M. C. A.

"Erin Go Bragh," an Irish drama in three acts by Bernard F. Moore will be presented in February by members of St. Mary's Temperance Society. The talent has already been selected; and judging from the enthusiasm, and responsiveness of all concerned, those who will attend this great Irish drama will indeed enjoy a most pleasant evening, and at the same time assist the members of St. Mary's Temperance Society in the noble cause of total abstinence.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.
Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Nov. 22. 6mos

Alpha Club.

The third meeting of the Alpha club, West Quincy, was held in the parsonage, Monday, Jan. 1st. Twenty-eight members were present. Subject, "Will Carleton." Interesting sketches of his life were read also a number of his poems. The next meeting will be held Jan. 15, at West Quincy M. E. parsonage.

The U. S. torpedo boat destroyers Lawrence and Macdonough, both built at Quincy, sailed on Thursday from Bradford for Pine Beach.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

We Are Going to Publish, beginning in a few days

The Two Vanrevels

A powerful love drama full of fire and action

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Read The Two Vanrevels in This Paper

8900 DEPOSITORS

Will Be Affected by Action Against Banking Company

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR

Had Deposits Amounting to $182,000, With Only About $3000 Cash on Hand--Assets Problematical In Value

Boston, Jan. 5.—An injunction restraining the Provident Securities and Banking company of this city from doing further business was petitioned for in the Massachusetts supreme court by the state savings bank commissioners. The court issued a temporary injunction and a hearing will be held on the question of appointing a receiver. The company is organized under the laws of South Dakota and it has an authorized capital of $1,500,000, had about 8900 depositors, with an average deposit from each of about $20. The savings bank commissioners allege that the banking company was unable to meet its obligations.

The bank was organized in 1902 and began business in this city the same year with Adjutant General Dalton, on the staff of Governor Crane, as president. The secretary and treasurer was L. W. Burlen, formerly cashier of the Columbian National bank of this city. The directors were Colonel S. M. Hedges, prominently identified with the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company, a well known insurance man in this city; Inspector General Brigham, also on the staff of Governor Crane, and Charles D. Curley of Brookline. Hedges and Brigham severed their connections with the company last April. During the past few months Dalton has been under treatment at a sanitarium in Roxbury. The business has been conducted principally by Burlen.

Although organized under the laws of South Dakota, the company has been, through a recent act of the legislature, under a partial supervision of the savings bank commissioners of this state. James S. Otis, one of the savings bank commissioners, stated last night that the commissioners had found the Provident Securities and Banking company in a deplorable state.

"We found," said Otis, "that the institution on Dec. 31 had deposits amounting to $182,000, with assets which were problematical in value. The cash on hand on that date amounted to about $3000. The principal asset of the company was 140,000 shares in the Shenandoah Irrigation company of Colorado.

"Because of a complaint made to us during the first part of last month, we sent Henry A. Wyman, an expert accountant, to the bank, and his report was submitted to Attorney General Parker. Wyman also reported that the company was being conducted by Berlen and Curley and that other employes of the institution were directors. A temporary injunction was asked and granted by a justice of the supreme court and the court will take up the question of an appointment of a receiver.

"The Massachusetts savings bank commissioners," said Otis, "will recommend to the present legislature that a change be made in the laws relating to foreign banking companies. If the law should make it compulsory for the Massachusetts savings bank commissioners to examine foreign banking companies they would have to face the problem that the charters of such companies permit them to invest in all sorts of securities, while in the case of Massachusetts companies, the investments are designated."

It is learned that one of the officers of the bank visited the savings bank commissioners yesterday afternoon before the court proceedings. It is stated that the officers asked the commissioners how much they thought the bank should have on hand in cash in order to conduct the business in a safe manner. The commissioners replied, so it is stated, that in their opinion the amount of cash on deposit should be $182,000, which was the amount of the liabilities of the company.

In addition to the Boston office, the company has an agency in Brockton, which was established two years ago. The office in that city is managed by the officials of the company here. It is reported that the company sold a large number of its small gun-metal banks through Plymouth county and that quite a number were distributed just before Christmas.

Feast of Human Flesh

Liverpool, Jan. 5.—Steamer Olenda brought a horrible story of cannibalism in Nigeria, of which Dr. Stewart of the southern Nigerian government was the victim. The body had been horribly mutilated and had been partially eaten. It is known that the natives often indulge in cannibal feasts.

Woodruff Heads Insurance Company

New York, Jan. 5.—Timothy L. Woodruff was elected president of the Provident Savings Life Assurance society, succeeding Edward W. Scott, who resigned. Woodruff holds 1125 of the 1250 shares of the capital stock of the Provident society.

Bomb For Police Chief and Wife

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—At Radom, Poland, a bomb was thrown at the chief of police while he was walking in the street with his wife. The latter was killed and the chief was terribly injured, both of his legs being torn off by the explosion.

OUR CURRENCY SYSTEM

Banker Schiff Sounds a Warning and Stocks Drop

New York, Jan. 5.—Unless there is currency reform, a panic, beside which former panics will seem as mere child's play, was predicted by Jacob H. Schiff, head of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., in a speech before the New York Chamber of Commerce. He said he did not regard such a panic as imminent now, but believed it will come unless something is done to remedy the lack of elasticity of the present currency system.

Mr. Schiff declared that he did not favor the plans proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw for the relief of the situation, it being his opinion that the secretary's plan would aid speculation rather than legitimate business. Schiff favored a currency based on commercial paper as more helpful to the general business interests of the country.

The speech created a sensation in financial circles and caused a sharp break in prices on the stock exchange. The meeting of the chamber was attended by a large number of business men and financiers and the address was generally endorsed by those present.

A resolution on the subject offered by Schiff was unanimously adopted. It provided that the finance committee of the Chamber of Commerce take into consideration Secretary Shaw's recommendation for emergency circulation of heavily-taxed bank notes.

Must Settle For Bank Failure

New York, Jan. 5.—A verdict for $5,280,343 against Edward L. Harper, once vice president of the Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati, was affirmed by Judge Coxe in the United States circuit court. Eighteen years ago Harper was convicted of causing the failure of the Fidelity bank and served six years in prison. The verdict which he was yesterday ordered to pay grew out of this failure. The suit has been pending in the courts for 18 years. Harper is at present vice president and general manager of the Union Iron and Steel company, with offices in this city.

Sailors' Terrible Experience

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 5.—Six days in an open yawl boat, with waves constantly dashing over them and with only a few tins of canned beef and one gallon of water, is the experience of Captain Bodden and the six members of the crew of the American steamer Nokomis. The men were brought here from St. Andrews, where they were washed ashore upon the beach in an almost unconscious condition with limbs swollen and benumbed and almost dead from exposure. A big wave had swept over their vessel, turning it completely over.

Money Mysteriously Missing

Washington, Jan. 5.—About $18,000 has been taken from an express pouch between Augusta, Ga., and New York. The Southern Express company received the package at Augusta, from there it went to Columbia, S. C., and thence to Washington. The Adams Express company then sent it to New York and there the loss was discovered. Officials of the express company are making an investigation.

Railroad Passes For Newspapers

Columbus, O., Jan. 5.—The agreement among the railroads in the Central Traffic association to abolish passes absolutely is essentially broken and the meeting to hear the reports of the presidents of the railroads on the matter of passes was practically without result. The little lines demanded that they be allowed to use their own option regarding passes to the newspapers.

Academy Filled With Hazers

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 5.—In the proceedings before the court martial which is trying Midshipman Foster for the alleged hazing of Midshipman Roberts the number of witnesses who sought to be excused from answering questions on the ground that they would incriminate themselves indicated that the practice of hazing has thoroughly permeated the institution.

Tobacco Cases in Supreme Court

Washington, Jan. 5.—The supreme court has entered upon the consideration of what are known as the tobacco trust cases. The tobacco cases are proceedings instituted to compel witnesses to testify in the government's suit against the so-called tobacco trust now pending in New York and involve the right of the government to compel information in anti-trust proceedings.

Strike of Chinese Students

Pekin, Jan. 5.—The Chinese students in Japan, who number 8000, have struck against the attempts of the government to subject them to official supervision and threaten to return to China in a body. If this threat should be carried out it would prove a disturbing element here, as the sympathies of the majority of the students are anti-foreign and anti-dynastic.

Italy Not Aiding the Vatican

Rome, Jan. 5.—Reports circulated in England to the effect that a definite settlement had been arranged between the Italian government and the Vatican by which the former would grant to the pope $1,800,000 yearly for foreign missions are absolutely untrue. There has not been even a hint of anything like a modus vivendi between the Quirinal and the Vatican.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Jan. 6.
Sun rises—7:14; sets—4:27.
Moon sets—3:15 a. m.
High water—8 a. m.; 8:30 p. m.

It will be fair and colder in New England, except snow in north Maine and north Vermont.

Restful Couches.

Couch comfort isn't expensive when you buy it here, and no house is complete today without a Couch.

We carry over forty styles of Couches at prices ranging from $4.98 to $35.00. We make a specialty of popular priced ones, $9.50 to $15.00, and our couches at these prices are simply wonderful.

Your choice of Coverings. Everything that's new or up-to-date is here for you to choose from without extra charge.

Reasonable terms for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
DANCING SCHOOL
Every WEDNESDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Ticket good for 5 lessons pupils. Gent's, $2.25. Ladies, $1.75. A discount of 25 cents to former Small Private Parties Solicited.
Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR
RIGHT.
SAVE MONEY.
Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.
C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 2. pl tf

Money Returned
FOR ALL
Cash Sale Checks
DATED
December 14th.
IF CALLED FOR ON OR BEFORE JANUARY 6th.
GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

A FAMILY AFFAIR
But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.
WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?
REAL ESTATE
Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply
JULIUS JOHNSON,
Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

BODILY EJECTED

Woman Created a Sensational Scene In White House

CALLED FOR PRESIDENT

Absolutely Refused to Leave When Requested to Do So by Officers--Visit Ends With a Forced Trip In a Patrol Wagon

Washington, Jan. 5.—A handsomely attired woman entered the executive office of the White House yesterday afternoon, and inquired for Secretary Loeb. Through a messenger she sent her card to the secretary. On the card was engraved the name Mrs. Minor Morris, and, written beneath it in ink, was the address, The New Willard.

Secretary Loeb was engaged at the moment and, not recognizing the name, sent Assistant Secretary Barnes to interview the caller and ascertain the nature of her business. While awaiting a response to her card Mrs. Morris paced up and down the reception room of the executive office, appearing to be laboring under suppressed excitement.

As soon as Barnes made himself known to her, she informed him that she wanted to see the president. She told Barnes that her husband had been discharged from the government service and she wanted to demand from the president his reinstatement, or at least to discuss the matter with him. Barnes explained to her that the president had nothing to do with such subjects and that she had better take up the matter with the head of the department from which her husband had been discharged.

Mrs. Morris was not to be put off in that way. She declared that she had come to the White House to see the president and proposed to see him even if she had to camp out there for a month.

Again Barnes informed her that it would not be possible for her to interview the president on that subject and suggested to her that she was making a scene and that she might better go her way quietly. She refused to go and dared anybody to try to make her go.

One of the White House officers approached her, but she stepped backward and cried: "Don't touch me. I'll sit down, but I won't go away."

She sat down in a convenient chair and, as the officer approached, she shook her finger at him and shouted: "Don't you touch me; don't you dare touch me. I am 50 years old and never had an officer's hand on me. I want to see the president." The officer took her by the arm and tried to induce her to rise and go out quietly, but she refused to move. A secret service officer stepped forward and the two men had practically to lift Mrs. Morris from her chair.

She hung back, crying out distressingly, but the officers managed to get her outside the door. They tried to lead her away, but she refused to go, and finally dropped down on the wet and muddy pavement.

As Mrs. Morris is a large woman the officers had difficulty in handling her, but they eventually picked her up bodily and with the assistance of one of the White House servants carried her screaming to the police call box on the east side of the White House. From there a call was sent in for a patrol wagon. When the wagon arrived Mrs. Morris refused to enter it and hysterically begged the bystanders to help her. She was forced to get into the wagon and was taken to the house of detention. There she was placed under the care of the matron, who succeeded in calming her.

Mrs. Morris has been a guest of the New Willard hotel for about three weeks, registering from the District of Columbia. She is the wife of Dr. Minor Morris of this city and is a younger sister of Representative Hull of Iowa. About 1900 Morris was appointed a clerk in the office of the surgeon general and in April, 1902, he was discharged. The reasons were not specifically stated in the official record of the case.

Mrs. Morris was released from the house of detention shortly after 5 o'clock and returned to the New Willard hotel last night. She refused to see any callers.

Printers' Ink Is Valuable

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 5.—A feature of the Canadian tariff commissioners' session here was the request that 10 percent be added to the duty on United States fine shoes coming into Canada. Complaint was made of the extensive advertising which the United States competitors were getting in magazines which came into Canada, and this led one commissioner to remark on the value of printer's ink.

Foreigners Must Take Chances

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—Referring to the demands made by foreigners for indemnity as the result of damages sustained by foreign property during the rioting in Russia, the foreign office says that in the case of riots, as in the case of civil war, military necessity governs the situation and foreigners have to take their chances with the native population.

White House Wedding on Feb 17

Washington, Jan. 5.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt announced last night that the wedding of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Representative Longworth of Cincinnati will occur on Saturday, Feb. 17, at 12 o'clock noon in the East room of the White House.

POLICING OF MOROCCO

France Will Object to Its Performance by Germans

London, Jan. 5.—"So long as Germany confines her demands at the conference to opening Morocco to foreign trade on an equal basis there will be no difference of opinion at Algeiras," said an official of the foreign office in an interview. "There is some fear that the German delegates may insist on regulations clashing with what France considers her special privileges—for instance, the policing of the frontier. In fact, it is stated in trustworthy circles that Germany may introduce a claim to placing German soldiers in Morocco. This France is certain to resist and under the agreement Great Britain must uphold her contention.

"Otherwise there is no danger of a disagreement, but it is impossible to say what might happen, as Germany is maintaining the strictest secrecy regarding her intentions. It is unfortunate that suspicions are aroused at this time, because it seems impossible to remove them before the conference meets. Therefore, the differences must be fought out at Algeiras."

While the officials here decline to comment on the cabled announcement that the United States stands uncommitted on the question of policing the Moroccan frontier, some disappointment is expressed in other circles because it had been expected that the United States would endorse the position of France on this point, which seems to be the only one on which a disagreement is probable.

Missing Steamer Safe In Port

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—Steamer City of Pueblo, which runs from this city to Puget sound ports, connecting for vessels to Alaska, was towed into port by the steam schooner Chehalis and the steamer Norwood. The propeller shaft of the Pueblo was broken during a severe storm off the mouth of the Columbia river, but by using sails she kept her head to the sea until aid arrived. There were more than 200 persons on board and for several days uncertainty regarding their fate caused anxiety.

Bullet Baked In a Cruller

New York, Jan. 5.—When Antonio Castignello, the 7-year-old son of a baker of the same name, dropped a cruller within his father's shop there was a loud explosion and the boy fell to the floor. A cartridge of large calibre had been baked in the cruller, which exploded when it was dropped to the floor. The boy has the bullet in his stomach and his condition is serious. Carmela Casario, 18 years old, assistant baker, is locked up, pending an investigation of the accident.

Mine Disaster In West Virginia

Bluefield, W. Va., Jan. 5.—Twenty-one miners were killed in an explosion of mine gas in the shaft of the Cooper Mine company at Coaldale, W. Va. Only one body has been recovered. Immediately following the explosion, which was heard for several miles, rescue parties set to work to explore the wrecked shaft. Coaldale is a mining town 15 miles west of Bluefield. Wire facilities are inadequate.

Suicide Follows Law Suit

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—Lawrence E. VanWinkle, aged 35, connected with a wholesale iron and steel firm, and one of the wealthy men of San Francisco, committed suicide last night by shooting. VanWinkle last week was sued for $225,000 damages by Charles N. Watson, a prosperous rancher, who alleged that VanWinkle had alienated the affections of Mrs. Watson.

General Disabled In Duel

Paris, Jan. 5.—During a duel with swords Major Driant twice wounded General Percin, disabling his right arm. The duel lasted for an hour and consisted of 13 bouts. The combat was brought about by an article published by Driant condemning Percin for connection with the secret reports made against army officers during Minister of War Andre's ministry.

Inspector Braun Transferred

Washington, Jan. 5.—Marcus Braun, immigrant inspector, has been transferred from Montreal to St. John. Braun gained prominence some time ago by charging that the Hungarian authorities had tampered with his mail, and the matter was the subject of exchanges between this country and Austria. The transfer is said to be in the nature of a promotion.

Replaced by Panama Stamps

Panama, Jan. 5.—Nine million stamps of the face value of $385,000 were destroyed yesterday in accordance with an executive order issued by Secretary Taft. The stamps destroyed have been replaced by stamps of the Panama republic.

Child Victims of Tornado

Troy, Ala., Jan. 5.—A tornado struck a schoolhouse here and two boys were killed by falling timbers. The schoolhouse was demolished and none of the occupants escaped without injury, although the wounds of only 14 are serious.

NEWS IN BRIEF

For the first time in the history of Ithaca aquatics the Cornell oarsmen are enjoying practice on the water in January. This practice will be continued as long as the weather permits.

Two executive boards which have had control of all Young Women's Christian associations throughout the country have affiliated and hereafter all the associations of the organization will unite in work and interests under one executive board.

Francis Mercier, who gained some fame as an Alaskan explorer, died at Montreal. He was 68 years old.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 59	ihgfedcba	6 13 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 13 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 43 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 43 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 43 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 43 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 43 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 43 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 13 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 43 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 43 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 43 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 43 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 43 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 13 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 43 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 25 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 43 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 43 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 43 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 13	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 42	abc	9 03	6 57	cba	9 13 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 43 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 43 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 47 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 48	10 27	cba	10 42 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square.
b Norfolk Downs,	g, Savin Hill.
c Atlantic,	h, Crescent Avenue
d Neponset,	i, South Boston.
e Pope's Hill.	r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.15 6.46 7.15 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.15 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.26 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.18 7.00 10.29 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.49 5.16 5.49 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—7.11 8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 9.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.30, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

The Doctor Always Asks

"Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to health. Then keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

We have no secrets! We publish J. C. Ayer Co., the formulas of all our medicines. Lowell, Mass.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902.	In 1898
Sunday,	40	36	40	33	39
Monday,	41	29	47	14	27
Tuesday,	35	40	45	31	23
Wednesday,	34	49	34	35	31
Thursday,	58	50	14	13	18
Friday,	44	58	23	25	31
Saturday,	—	45	21	32	41

New Advertisements Today.

For Sale—House of Furniture.
To Let—Two Furnished Rooms.
Wanted—Boy in store.
Boston Sunday Globe.
Wanted—Installment Male Collector.
Wanted—Work by Finnish Girl.
Wanted—Granite Salesman.

Local Ins And Outs

Officer Larkin is confined to his home by a very severe cold.

The County Commissioners will meet next Tuesday for organization.

Slight repairs have been made recently on the store of S. F. Newcomb.

Charles Goss has accepted a position as night electrician at the Fore River shipyard.

The Christian Endeavorers will have charge of the prayer-meeting at the Point church this evening.

Oscar Lund, a clerk at S. F. Newcomb's store has taken a room on South street for the winter.

Saturday at 3 o'clock the Intermediates of the Y. M. C. A. will play a basket ball team of boys from Haverhill.

Guy Willey, night electrician at the shipyard has accepted a more lucrative position at Lawley's yard in South Boston.

Charles Mueller of Washington street who was thrown from his carriage and injured a few days ago, is able to be out once more.

The steam trawler Spray returned to Boston Thursday from her second fishing trip. Conditions were not favorable for a big fare.

The assault case reported in a Boston paper as having occurred in Quincy near the Boston line, probably took place in Milton or Dorchester. Nothing is known of the affair in Quincy.

Men are busy in the vicinity of Mount Wollaston cemetery, clearing the trees of brown-tail moth nests. There are a great many in this locality and at Houghs Neck.

The meetings at the Quincy Point church next week include: Tuesday evening, at 7.30, C. E. meeting; topic, "How Finding Christ Changes the Life." Friday evening at 7.30, Christian fellowship service. A place for all and a welcome for all.

The Epworth League of the West Quincy M. E. church has elected the following officers: President, Maude Hodgkinson; First Vice President, Ernest Williams; Second Vice President, Dora E. Clarke; Third Vice President, Hilda Francis; Fourth Vice President, Clara M. Thorne; Secretary, Benyle A. Hannant; Treasurer, Annie B. Scott.

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.

F. A. PERKINS.
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.

Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

HOTEL GREENLEAF.

AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.

MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER, GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station
New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

DIED.

McANARNEY—In Quincy, Jan. 3, Mrs. Bridget T. McAnarney, widow of Thomas McAnarney and mother of John W. McAnarney, Esq., aged 67 years.
Funeral from late residence, 37 South street, Friday, Jan 5, at 8 A. M. Services at St. John's church at 9.30 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Kindly omit flowers.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

Many Beautiful Floral Offerings

The funeral of Mrs. Calvin T. Dyer, whose sudden death occurred on Tuesday night, was held from the Bethany church Thursday afternoon. Rev. E. N. Hardy officiated and there was a very large attendance. During the services "Nearer my God to Thee," "Rock of Ages" and "Home Sweet Home" were sung. The Paul Revere W. R. C., of which she was a faithful member, attended in a body and performed their services at the close. All took a last look at the departed one, whom they all had loved and cherished and dropped a floral offering into the casket.

The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, and consisted of the following:

Pillow with the word "wife."
Wreath with the word "mamma."
Pillow, from the Highway Department of the city.
Maltese cross, Paul Revere W. R. C.
Spray white pinks, J. Moorhead, Jr.
White pinks, Mr. and Mrs. G. Keyes.
Pinks and lilies, Mrs. Emma Galvin.
White pinks, Mr. and Mrs. J. McGovern.
Galax wreath, Ruth Packard.
Pink pinks, Miss Ada Nightingale.
Spray calla, Mr. T. F. Burke.
Pinks and violets, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Knowlton.
Basket, Dorcas Society.
Pinks, Mrs. P. H. Linton and sister.
Pinks, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Worster.
Basket, Friends and neighbors on Whitwell street, and several other offerings.

The interment was at Mt. Wollaston.

—Surely the New England weather is much twisted this winter when it is learned that sap is running in the Maple trees in Vermont; that lettuce has been picked from a garden in Massachusetts and the showers are mild and warm, whereas in the south they are having gales and tornadoes. However winter is not over and there is still time for considerable old-fashioned New England weather before spring.

Bowling Series Arranged

A series of seven games between the South Braintree and Quincy Bowling teams has been arranged to be rolled as follows: Three games at the Granite Street alleys, commencing on Tuesday evening and three at the South Braintree alleys. The final game to be rolled on alleys of the team winning the larger number of games. A silver cup, valued at $25.00 is offered as a prize and enthusiasm over same is running high. Prof. Ferris is confident of winning out and wears "the same old smile that won't come off."

Asa P. French Nominated

The formal nomination of Asa P. French, of Randolph, as United States attorney for the district of Massachusetts was sent to the Senate, on Thursday by Presidsnt Roosevelt.

Mr. French will accept leaving a vacancy in the office of District Attorney for Norfolk and Plymouth counties.

Exorbitant Charges.

Several complaints have come to State Superintendent Kirkland concerning persons who have made exorbitant charges for destroying brown-tail moth nests on private estates, and more particularly concerning those individuals who have done poor work against the moths on such estates. Numerous cases have been reported to the State officer where contractors who cleared trees of brown-tail moths neglected to destroy the gypsy moths; in other cases brown-tail moth webs have been left in large numbers on the ground without burning them. To prevent such impositions on the public, Superintendent Kirkland suggests that, in cases of doubt as to the cost or quality of work done, it will be well to withhold payment until the work has been examined by a State inspector, or preferably by the local superintendent in charge of the town work. There are numerous reputable contractors doing work against the moths and a list of the same may be obtained by applying to the office of the State Superintendent at 6 Beacon street, Boston, Mass. Any payment of money obtained under false pretences in connection with moth work should be promptly reported to the State Superintendent, who will assist in prosecuting the case where sufficient evidence can be obtained.

Noonday Assault.

The attention of the Herald is called to the fact that yeggmen find Boston easy. The Herald reports in its news column:

"Hatless and in a dazed condition, a man giving his name as Frederick W. Lindsey, 32 years old, married and living at 176 Newton street, walked into Deputy Coulter's office soon after 1 o'clock Thursday and complained of being knocked down and robbed of $140 in bills and some notes while in front of the Baltimore dairy lunch on Court street. The assault took place before a number of people who were passing that thoroughfare, but no one seemed to take particular notice of what was going on."

S. Y. C. Officers.

The annual meeting of the Squantum Yacht club was held Thursday evening and these officers elected:

Commodore,—Charles M. Bryant.
Vice Commodore, George F. Sawyer, Jr.
Rear Commodore, — George V. Rogers.
Secretary and Treasurer,—Ernest M. Tribou.
Regatta Committee, — William A. Johnson, Everett Brown, Walter S. Flander, Howard Gannett.
Trustee for three years, — F. J. Stewart.

Bates Vs City For Land Damages

In the Superior court at Dedham on Thursday the civil case of Annie M. Bates et. al., vs. the City of Quincy was reached. It is a petition for the assessment of damages resulting to the plaintiff's land on Dimmock street caused by the raising of the grade of said street. The jury came to Quincy on Thursday to view the premises. The plaintiff is represented by A. P. Worthen, Esq., of Weymouth, and the city by City Solicitor Thomas.

Other cases in order at Dedham are:
2061, Dawson v. Ramsdell.
2062, same v. same.
2297, Paton v. Fisher et al.
2311, Hancock v. Raymond.
2404, McOwen v. Slamen.
2640, Spain, admr., Quincy Granite Quarries Co.
3034, American Steel & Wire Co. v. U. S. Standard Scale Co.
3117, Deane v. Blue Hill St. Ry. Co.
3140, Kingsbury v. Bickford.
3187, Smith v. Barlingame.
3270, Dunbar et al., trustees, v. Coombs.
3392, Loud v. Greely.

Past Commander Installed Commander

The following officers of Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R. were installed Thursday evening by Aid de Camp James H. Webb assisted by David Dunbar of Weymouth as officer of the day.

Commander,—John D. Williams.
Senior Vice Commander,—George L. Phillips.
Junior Vice Commander,—Charles H. Newcomb.
Adjutant,—Franklin Curtis.
Quarter Master,—Andrew W. Gardner.
Chaplain,—Henry Chubbuck.
Surgeon,—James W. Pierce.
Officer of the Day,—Warren Dunbar.
Officer of the Guard,—William W. Bird.
Quartermaster Sergeant,—Charles H. Stoddard.
Sergeant Major,—James H. Webb.

After the business of the evening there was interesting remarks by the installing officers and visiting comrades and a collation was served.

Commander Williams is not a new man in the position, having served as commander a few years ago. He is much interested in the post, and by occupation is one of Uncle Sam's letter carriers.

Solemn High Mass For Mrs. McAnarney

The funeral of Mrs. Bridget T. McAnarney, who died Wednesday, was held this morning from St John's church at 9.30. The services were largly attended. A solemn high mass of requiem celebrated by Rev. Peter McCormick of Boston, with Rev. Julian E. Johnstone as deacon; Rev. John J. Casey as sub-deacon and Rev. John J. Coan as master of ceremonies. Other clergymen present were Rev. A. F. Roach of West Quincy and Rev. John P. Cuffe of Atlantic.

Schmidt's mass was sung by the choir with solos by Thomas R. Donovan, Mrs. D. J. Gilfoy and Miss Mary McConarty.

The bearers were John H. Dinegan and Henry DeCoste of Quincy, E. J. McDonnell of Salem, Robert McDermitt of Whitman, Francis Casey of Rockland and Cornelius Geary of Avon.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Destroy Gypsy and Brown Tail Moths Now.

Cleaning twin elms of browntail moths' nests in Medford, Nov. 23, 1905.
—Loaned by Medford Mercury.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Navy Button Pin, on Sunday evening, on School street. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to MISS EMILY C. WILD, 127 Granite street, Quincy. Jan. 3. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—A Finnish Girl desires work by the day or hour; washing, cleaning, etc. Call at Wollaston Hotel. Jan. 5. 1t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

WANTED—Installment Male Collector for merchandise accounts; good salary and expenses. Address GLOBE COMPANY, 723 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. Jan. 5-3t

WANTED—A Strong, Active Boy to work in my store. L. A. CHAPIN, 1395 Hancock street. Quincy, Jan. 5. 2t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A House of Furniture. A Bargain for cash. Apply at once, 56 Broadway, Quincy Point. Quincy, Jan 5. 1t

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Rooms. Apply at 160 Elm street, Quincy. Jan. 4. 3t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1463 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. 1ptf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to GEO. W. PRESCOTT. Ledger Office.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be reated for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

JOB PRINTING
AT THE PATRIOT OFFICE

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH.
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between us, the undersigned, John C. Murray and George S Murray, carrying on business as Manufacturers and dealers in Granite, Marble, and other Monuments and rough and finished granite, at Quincy, Mass., under the firm name and style of MURRAY BROS., was on the thirtieth day of December. A. D. 1905, dissolved by mutual consent and that the business in the future will be carried on by the said John C. Murray alone, who will pay and discharge all debts and liabilities, and receive all moneys payable to the said late firm.

JOHN C. MURRAY,
GEORGE S. MURRAY.
Quincy, Jan. 3. 3t

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x50 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

If Mothers Only Knew!

Nine times out of ten when children are out of sorts a few doses of Dr. True's Elixir will make them well, strong and happy. If worms are present they will be expelled. If there are no worms True's Elixir acts as a gentle tonic laxative. It cleans out the stomach and bowels, and turns the scale in favor of health by aiding and strengthening the digestion. Unsuspected Worms cause so much illness in children that it is a custom in many families to give at regular intervals to guard against them. Some of the symptoms of worms are languid looks, indigestion with variable appetite, malaria, irritable disposition and restless sleep. If your children show any of these signs do not risk delay but give them the remedy that has given relief for over 50 years. It is purely vegetable and harmless in any condition of child or adult.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

Sold by all dealers, 25c. 50c., $1.00. Write for free book "Children and their Diseases."

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me.
Established 1851
Special treatment for tape worms. Free pamphlet.

FOR OUR READERS

The Two Vanrevels

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done. —New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

THE TWO VANREVELS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER BEGINNING

"It is my father."

In an Early Edition of the Daily Ledger.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Vol. 18. No. 6. QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S

Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS

WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

E. M. FREEMAN,

653 Washington Street, Corner of South Street, QUINCY POINT.

Real Estate Bought, Sold, Let or Leased.

Money Loaned on MORTGAGES.

Insurance In one of the best companies in the United States.

WATCH THIS SPACE.

We may be able to do business together.

Advise me as to what you have to sell. Do you wish to purchase?

I have a list of desirable properties.

HOUSES FOR SALE---RUN THESE DOWN.

No. 1--$3,000.
All the year round DELIGHTFUL HOME.
Near salt water at North Weymouth.
7 Rooms and Bath, Electric Lights.
All modern—on line of electrics.

No. 2--$3,500.
MILL STREET.
House, Stable, Carriage House, etc.
21,700 square feet land.
9 Rooms, basement, large attic.
Lot may be improved by further building. A good investment.

No. 8--$5,000.
QUINCY POINT.
House (Boarding) 17 Rooms and Bath.
Good Location.

No. 10--$2,600.
Buys COMFORTABLE HOME on Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
House, 7 Rooms, Bath, extra closet.
13,580 square feet—frontage 68 feet.

No. 44--2,500.
COTTAGE HOUSE,
Edison Park, Quincy Point.
6 Rooms, Bath, Reception Hall.
Modern—Good Plumbing.

No. 45--$3,200.
QUINCY POINT.
7 Rooms, Bath, Reception Hall.
cemented cellar, Furnace.
Papered and Painted to suit purchaser.
Grounds graded.

HOUSES TO LET.

No, 35--18 Rooms.
BOARDING HOUSE BUSINESS.
Accommodates 33.
Great opportunity for extra table boarders. Near Fore River Ship Building Plant.
Comfortably Furnished House.
Always full.

No. 42--7 Rooms and Bath.
Half Double House.
WEYMOUTH LANDING,
Front Street, $18 per Month.
Hot water heat, good cellar and attic, fruit trees and garden.

THESE ARE ONLY A FEW

That I have in hand. If your need is not mentioned call on me, I will gladly spend the time with you.

TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

I secure tenants, collect rents and take charge of property, giving special care to management of same.

Telephone Connection, 46-9 Quincy
Give Me a Call.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Dec. 30. 4t--sat

The Best of Job Printing at This Office.

The Social Realm.

"A crowd of troubles passed him by
As he with courage waited,
He said, "where do you troubles fly,
When you are so belated."
"We go," they said, "to those who mope,
Who look on life dejected,
Who weakly say good by to hope:
We go where we're expected."

* * *

Frank Waterhouse and family of Lincoln avenue have gone to Florida for the winter.

* * *

Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick entertains the Friday club at her home on Chestnut street on Friday afternoon, Jan. 12, with Mrs. John F. Welch as chairman of the afternoon's program, which will be on Charles Dickens.

* * *

Mrs. John Randall, Miss Elinor Randall and Miss Louise Randall are spending the winter months in Dedham.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Sheldon, and Miss M. Alice Babcock of East Milton, and Miss Margaret and Alice Babcock of Westminister avenue, Roxbury, left Friday for New York to sail today for a four months' trip to the Orient.

* * *

Miss Avonia Eldridge of Quincy avenue left Wednesday for New York where she has gone to join her cousin, Mrs. Craigie, (John Oliver Hobbs.)

* * *

Allen Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester A. Miller of Bigelow street, entertained several boys and girls yesterday from four to six; it being his eleventh birthday. Games were played and ice cream, cake and candy was served.

* * *

Rev. F. W. Pratt of Hopedale and Miss Harriet Johnson of Boston have been recent guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler.

* * *

On the last day of the old year at the home of the bride, was very quietly solemnized the marriage of Miss Eugenia M. Hatch and Mr. Frank G. Schwind by Rev. F. W. Pratt of Hopedale, formerly of Wollaston. Mr. and Mrs. Schwind are to make their home at Wollaston, at 10 Everett street, receiving their friends after April first.

* * *

Dr. Clayton R. Marstin is to take a midwinter vacation and rest going to Jamaica for a few weeks.

* * *

Announcement cards were received this week from Valparaiso, Indiana, of the marriage on Monday, Jan. 1st, of Myra Rebecca Robinson and Samuel Kingsbury. Mr. Kingsbury is a son of the late Rev. Josiah Kingsbury and his mother is still living at Braintree.

* * *

Ladies' night of the Men's club of Christ church, will be one of the social events of next week. A banquet will be served at the parish house.

* * *

The Matrons' whist club was entertained Monday evening by Mrs. J. E. Hayden of Braintree. The souvenirs were given to Mrs. N. L. Wood and Mrs. W. F. Woodsum.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, and daughter Miss Elizabeth Adams have gone to Washington, for the winter, where they will make their home at 1701 Massachusetts avenue.

* * *

Among the patronesses for the annual assembly to be held at Quincy Music hall, on the twenty-sixth of this month are: Mrs. Edward H. Angier, Mrs. John A. Barbour, Mrs. John Downes, Mrs. Richard C. Drinker, Mrs. Arthur H. Doble, Mrs. Walter J. Harrison, Miss Georgiana C. Lane, Mrs. John L. Gow, Mrs. Warren G. Ogden, Mrs. Fred J. Peirce, Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell, Mrs. Roger H. Wilde and Mrs. George E. Williams.

* * *

Mrs. A. G. Bowditch of East Braintree attended a reception Tuesday to Mrs. Curtis Guild, Jr., given at Mrs. C. H. Bond's, 128 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

Mrs. Pearl Craigie, the authoress and lecturer, known by her pen name of John Hobbes, has come over from London for a visit to her old home and to give a series of lectures. She has relatives in this city, among them Mrs. John L. Eldridge of Quincy avenue, whom she has not seen for some time. Mrs. Craigie is in New York at present but will make a brief visit to Boston the last of the month, coming over especially to be the recipient of a reception to be given in her honor by the New England Woman's Press club. The reception will be on Friday afternoon, January 26th, from three until six at hotel Vendome, Boston. With music, notable literary guests and a large gathering, it will doubtless be one of the brilliant affairs of the season. Mrs. Craigie returns to Boston later for a lecture season.

* * *

The general society of the Daughters of the Revolution, have issued invitations for a reception on Tuesday afternoon January sixteenth, from three until six, in the state apartments at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York city.

* * *

The engagement has been announced of Mr. Clarence H. Seamen of Wollaston to Miss Grace P. Seamen of New London, Conn.

* * *

The Quincy Woman's club is to be entertained at the regular meeting at the club house on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Herbert J. Guerney of Wollaston, who will speak on "The Art of Story-telling."

* * *

Mrs. Charles Brown and Miss Sadie Brown of Braintree have returned from an extended visit with relatives in New York.

* * *

Considerable interest is being shown by the people of Boston and vicinity in the Ben Franklin lecture to be given by Mr. Henry R. Rose of Philadelphia at Potter hall, New Century building, Boston, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 16th. The lecture will be illustrated with colored slides. There is a long list of patrons and patronesses, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe leading the list. Miss Marion Brazier of Exeter Chambers, Boston, is manager of the lecture.

* * *

Mrs. Sarah Adnea Crocker announces the marriage of her daughter Marion Adnea to Mr. Henry Winthrop Roberts on Wednesday, January the third, at Holbrook.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Watson entertained a company of friends, from Braintree, Weymouth and East Braintree, on Friday evening with music, photographs, etc. Mr. Watson gave a recital of Wagner on the pianola and grand piano with most interesting remarks on the great master.

* * *

The Copley society has its Twelfth Night revels tonight at Copley hall, Boston, and many from Quincy will participate in the pleasures.

* * *

One of the prettiest affairs of the season was the anniversary banquet of the Pickwick club served by Mrs. Abrams in the parlors of Hotel Greenleaf on Wednesday night.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Laurens Maynard of South Braintree, have been spending the past week in New York City.

* * *

The Manet club dance on Wednesday evening, at Colonial hall was a pretty affair. Miss Sara E. Thomas made all the arrangements which insured success. The matrons were Mrs. William E. Gardner and Mrs. Richard C. Drinker, and the ushers Miss Estella Cannon, Miss Margaret Davidson, Miss Isabelle J. Bill, Dr. Clayton R. Marstin, Edward L. Mitchell and Arthur Peverley.

* * *

Miss Mary Loud of Colorado who has spent the holidays with her aunt in Weymouth left on Wednesday for Norton to continue her course at the Wheaton seminary.

[Continued on page 5]

Hultman Sandberg

Get Minor Places on Committees of Legislature

There are 39 standing committees of the legislature of 1906, but Norfolk county Representatives will serve on only eleven. Norfolk county Senators and Representatives will serve on 17 of the 39.

Representatives Hultman and Sandberg of this city get only minor places on a single committee, while three Norfolk county representatives, Messrs. Walker, Soliday and Tuttle, will serve on two committees each.

The appointments are:

Senator Nevin of this district is chairman of the Committee on Railroads, and a member of the Committee on Parish and Religious Societies, also Roads and Bridges.

Senator Cummings, also from Norfolk County, is chairman of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and also on Street Railways, and a member of the Committee on Labor.

State House,—Tuttle of Hyde Park.

Taxation,—Hilliard of Braintree and Hall of Milton.

Towns,—Soliday of Dedham, Tuttle of Hyde Park and Lynch of Avon.

Water Supply,—Faxon of Stoughton.

Drainage,—Sandberg of Quincy.

Election Laws,—Hultman of Quincy.

Ways and Means,—Walker of Brookline.

Rules,—Walker of Brookline.

Public Health,—Rockwood of Franklin.

Public Lighting,—Barnes of Weymouth, Carter of Needham and Bullard of Bellingham.

Public Service,—Soliday of Dedham.

Some committees have two and three Norfolk county men, but the following have no members from this county:

Judiciary.
Bills in Third Reading.
Engrossed Bills.
Agriculture.
Banks and Banking.
Cities.
Constitutional Amendments.
Counties.
Education.
Elections.
Federal Relations.
Harbors and Public Lands.
Insurance.
Liquor Laws.
Mercantile Affairs.
Military Affairs.
Prisons.
Printing.
Probate and Chancery.
Public Charitable Institutions.

More Offices For Council to Fill

Among the offices yet to be filled by the City Council are two trustees of the City Hospital from members of the City Council, and a manager of the Woodward Fund not a member of the City Council. The two Council trustees last year were Councilmen Stewart and Loud neither of these gentlemen are members of this year's Council.

The members of the Board of Managers of the Woodward Fund elected by the Council last year was ex-representative Richard R. Freeman. Mr. Freeman will have a rival for the office this year as ex-Councilman George Adams is a candidate for the position. It is also possible that other aspirants may come forward. A year ago ex-Councilman Whiton was a candidate and received ten votes.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 2048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9.
Tel. Haymarket 724.
Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-ly

Annual Dinner of Pickwick Club

Amid the cosy environment of the Greenleaf parlors, the Quincy Pickwick club with guests to the number of thirty-one, sat down to its thirty-third annual banquet Wednesday evening. An excellent menu was discussed in the club's customary skilful manner. The Christmas decorations of the house, the adornment of the tables with cut flowers, the ferns and the appropriate and tasteful menu card with the congenial good-fellowship always at hand made the initial ceremony one of the most marked of the Society's existence.

Following the spread a novel program had been prepared by the executive committee. Twelfth Night Revels, the title, and with Mr. W. E. Simmons as Lord of Misrule the star, the evening was given over to merry-making. Returning to the parlors after the remains of the feast had been removed, each member was costumed in an endeavor to improve upon the gift of personal beauty nature had endowed, with mask, cap and bells, original designs of ornamental headgear and accompanied by tin bugles.

Lawrence F. Loring as Jester to the Lord of Misrule announced the subject. The Pigmy dance under the direction of Miss Mary A. Thomas was participated in by Mrs. H. W. Beattie, Mrs. H. E. Crane, Miss Hattie E. Sargent and Miss Grace M. Isaac. This unique number had an equally original counterpart in the representation of "Two Angels watching the conflict between Russians and Japs." Mr. C. H. Hardwick was responsible for the contortions of the opposing armies and Mrs. W. E. Simmons and Miss Thomas with the addition of white draperies were unimpeachable guardian angels.

The Studio Critic impersonated by Mr. Arthur W. Hall was also an illusion that kept up well the character of the evening. Creatore's band, personally conducted by President H. J. Gurney, in the eccentric make-up of the great musician himself, convulsed the ladies of the audience. The gentlemen were all in the band. It isn't necessary to note the instruments played by those who participated. Suffice it to say they were simply "out of sight."

A topical song, the composing of which its victims looked to Mrs. Elizabeth H. Alden for revenge, was rendered to the time of "Reuben" by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gurney, and was replete with witticisms in musical garb.

H. E. Crane and Wilson Marsh carried thro' an excellent character sketch after the type of Yiddish professors, in which the foibles of club members were exploited, various public concerns satirized, and a collection of epigrams and fables of varying age and utility were thrust upon the club.

An amusing race, which like the Y. M. C. A. Sunday meetings for the men only, was participated in by Messrs. Beattie, Badger, Crane and Kent, and skill with needle, thread and button was necessary to declare the winner.

Readings a nonsense verse "Similar Cases" by Charlotte Perkins Stetson read by Mrs. H. J. Gurney: "The Musical Ass" translated from the Spanish, given by Mrs. Alden; a bright recital by Miss Thomas; "The V-A-S-E" by James Jeffrey Roche, read by Mrs. Wilson Marsh, were interspersed thro' the program. "Auld Lang Syne," sung to the piano, which Mrs. G. L. Badger had presided over for all the musical numbers of the evening closed the anniversary.

Its absent members were remembered by the club, Mrs. John O. Hall who was still confined to her home being the recipient of a handsome bunch of pinks.

Truly the words of Colley Cibber with which the menu was headed:

"And is it thus at every dinner?"
"No, Sir, but we have high doings to-day,"
And that with which it ended
"I delight in masques and revels."
From "Twelth Night" were proven to be appropriate.

Men's Meeting.

The Y. M. C. A. men's meeting on Sunday will be an unusually interesting service, The speaker, Rev. Lyman R. Swett, a Dorchester pastor, and one of the most successful about Boston, will be the speaker. His subject will be "A business proposition on profit and loss." The music will be by the Christ church boys' choir. They will repeat a part of their Christmas music.

"How's Your Stomach"

is the way people in China say "Good Morning." The greeting of almost every nation is an inquiry after health. The Chinese have the root of the matter. A strong stomach is the foundation. Look after this organ and the general health cares for itself. Man is so constituted it cannot be otherwise. It is the mission of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

to keep the stomach well, the liver active and the bowels regular. They dispel sickness and create health. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness or Constipation cannot exist when Beecham's Pills are used according to directions. For over 50 years they have cured disordered stomachs, and are now a world-famous remedy. They merit your confidence.

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollar a Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday afternoons.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and Houses for Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

AS A PEACEMAKER

The Attitude of America In the Moroccan Conference

DELEGATES INSTRUCTED

Will Endeavor to Harmonize Differences Between Germany and France--For Maintainance of Open Door In Morocco

Washington, Jan. 6.—Ambassador White and Minister Gummere have received from the state department full and final instructions for their guidance as representatives of America in the approaching Moroccan conference, which it is understood is to be held at Algerias, Spain, near Gibraltar.

Custom forbids the disclosure of these instructions in advance of the meeting of the conference. But it may be stated on authority that they were drawn with special reference to the attainment of two objects—first, the maintenance of the open door in Morocco and, second, the exercise of good offices by this country directly in the conference to smooth away asperities and prevent the development of friction between France and Germany that might jeopardize the world's peace.

These objects attained, with the political future of Morocco this country has no particular concern, or, at least, it is intimated that no such concern will be manifested in the conference by the American delegates if it is possible for them to maintain a position of neutrality.

Touching the execution of any agreement reached by the conference for the regulation of Moroccan affairs, it is stated that it will probably be sufficient for the powers concerned merely to lay before the Sultan of Morocco the text of their agreement and it will be for him to carry it out. What will happen in case one power refuses to abide by the conclusions reached cannot now be foretold, and it is believed that in this contingency further instructions will be necessary for the guidance of the American delegates.

It is certain that there is no intention on the part of this government to enter into any entangling alliances which would involve the use of force in combination with other powers to carry out the agreement, but the officials here are firmly convinced that no single power would undertake to defy the expressed will of the other parties to the conference.

Barefoot Dancer Barred

Berlin, Jan. 6.—Because Miss Isadora Duncan, an American fancy dancer, always appears in her performance barefooted and with abbreviated costume, she has been forbidden by the police to again appear in public as a dancer. Americans in Berlin and elsewhere are indignant that an American should be thus prohibited from dancing, when the German women are permitted to go in bathing in costumes that would cause their arrest in the United States. Miss Duncan's dances are so intricate that should she wear anything on her feet she would run the risk of a misstep and injury.

Wealthy Farmers Bite the Dust

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 6.—In a shooting affray on the public road near Akridge, William Drew and Newton Threlkeld, two wealthy farmers, were fatally wounded. Herbert, the 15-year-old son of Drew, says that when he and his father met Threlkeld in the road the latter began to curse his father and then fired three shots at Drew. The boy says he then secured his father's gun and fired at Threlkeld. Threlkeld is a brother of Drew's son-in-law.

Child Murdered and Mutilated

Honolulu, Jan. 6.—Simeon Wharton, 3 years old, was found murdered in a cane field at Waialua. The child's legs, arms and head had been severed from the body, the tongue was cut off and the eyes gouged out. The internal organs were mutilated. A laborer, Samuel Johnson, made a confession when arrested. He said that the motive for the crime was revenge against the boy's mother because she had refused to give him liquor.

Want Lawyer Disbarred

Boston, Jan. 6.—Peter J. Casey, who was admitted to the bar in 1883, was before Judge Gaskill in the superior court to show cause why he should not be disbarred. The petitioners, the Boston Bar association, say that the respondent has not observed the requirements of his oath, but has been guilty of deceit, malpractice and gross misconduct. They charge that he kept $800 which belonged to a client. The hearing is unfinished.

Duke Divorce Suit Goes On

Trenton, Jan. 6.—The court of errors and appeals has denied the application of Mrs. Lillian M. Duke for a stay in the divorce proceedings instituted against her by her husband, James B. Duke. Mrs. Duke raised the question of jurisdiction, claiming that Duke was not a resident of New Jersey. As a result of the decision the divorce proceedings will go on.

New York Thoroughfare Flooded

New York, Jan. 6.—The bursting of two big water mains in Fifth avenue last night converted that thoroughfare into a shallow river from 34th street to 29th street, blocked vehicular and foot traffic for several hours and flooded the basements of many buildings, doing thousands of dollars' damage.

NEW RATES NECESSARY

Arcanum Supreme Council Files Answer to Suit Against It

Boston, Jan. 6.—The supreme council of the Royal Arcanum has filed in the equity session of the supreme court a demurrer and answer to the suit brought by Stephen W. Reynolds and other members of the order, seeking to restrain it from putting into effect the new rates resulting from the by-laws adopted at Atlantic City, N. J., and Put-In-Bay, O.

The demurrer, which, it is expressly stipulated, is not intended for delay, attacks the plaintiff's bill on the ground that it does not show any illegality or invalidity in the amendments of the laws of the order or any violation by the supreme council of any legality or equitable right of the plaintiffs. The answer argues that the new rates are reasonable and necessary to assure the ability of the order to meet its obligations.

Alleged Smuggling Unearthed

New York, Jan. 6.—Through information furnished by Salen Gazel, who was charged with the embezzlement of a check for $12,000 from his employer, Najeeve Maloof, a silk dealer, customs officials seized in the salesrooms of N. H. Maloof & Co. a trunk containing $10,000 worth of laces, alleged to have been smuggled into this country. As soon as Gazel was taken to police headquarters he communicated with the customs officials and gave them information which, it is alleged, led to the seizure of the trunk.

Much Good Accomplished

Washington, Jan. 6.—The annual report of the chief of the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture shows substantial progress in the treatment of the various animal diseases. Much increased work has been done during the past year in inspecting and dipping animals for scab. Practically all the meat that enters into the interstate and foreign commerce of the country has been inspected, as the result of which the people are assured wholesome meat products in our markets.

Morales Rebellion Falls Through

Washington, Jan. 6.—Advices received from naval sources as to the collapse of the Morales rebellion in San Domingo say that Caceros apparently was successful. Thirty men were killed and 60 wounded on Caceres' side. The loss on the other side is unknown. Medical assistance is being sent from an American warship to the wounded ashore under the Red Cross flag. Hostilities have ceased.

Patrick's Fight For Life

Albany, Jan. 6.—Governor Higgins has received the expected petition for the exercise of executive clemency in the case of Albert T. Patrick, confined in Sing Sing prison under sentence to die in the week beginning Jan. 22 for the murder of William M. Rice. The petition is signed by nearly 100 well-known persons and is based upon the ground that there is a reasonable doubt of his guilt.

Russian's Statement Inaccurate

London, Jan. 6.—Referring to the statement of Admiral Rojestvensky that the British fleet in Far Eastern waters intended to crush the Russian fleet in case the Japanese failed to do so, at the battle of the Sea of Japan, The Times points out that the British fleet at the time of the battle was at Hong Kong and that there were only one cruiser and a dispatch boat at Weihaiwei.

A Rather Fine Distinction

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 6.—The supreme court of New Brunswick has given judgment declaring Miss Mabel P. French not eligible to be admitted as an attorney to practice in this province. The decision hinged on the word "person" in the statutes and the court decided Miss French was not a "person" within the meaning of the act and could not be admitted to practice.

Weather Handicaps Business

New York, Jan. 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that erratic weather and the customary difficulties encountered in resuming normal conditions after a long holiday have restricted operations during the past week, especially in retail and jobbing departments, but prices are maintained so firmly that confidence is evidently unshaken.

A Day of Funerals

Bluefield, W. Va., Jan. 6.—Mining operations practically were suspended in the Elkhorn valley on account of the Coaldale mine disaster Thursday, in which 23 miners lost their lives. All the victims were rescued from the mine yesterday and their funerals were held at Mount Tabor, Pocahontas and Cooper in the afternoon.

Ten Lives Probably Lost

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 6.—The owners in this city of schooner Laguna, which sailed from Moss Point, Miss., on Sept. 11 with a cargo of lumber for Colon, have given her up for lost. She was in command of Captain Gronneberg and carried a crew of nine men.

Ghouls Working In Canada

Montreal, Jan. 6.—At Rigaud, which is at the head of the Lake of Two Mountains, three graves have been robbed and no trace can be found of the corpses. Other reports of similar occurrences in other places in this province are coming in.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Jan. 7.
Sun rises—7:14; sets—4:28.
Moon sets—4:13 a. m.
High water—8:45 a. m.; 9:15 p. m.
It will be fair in New England, except snow in north Maine and northern Vermont.

RUSHING INQUEST

Coroner Anxious to Clear Up the Edwards Mystery

MAXEY HILLER GUARDED

Policeman In His Home, Where He Is Detained as a Witness--Charles Hiller Turns Over Two Pistols to the Authorities

New Haven, Jan. 6.—In order to bring the inquest in the mysterious shooting case in which Charles A. Edwards of New York met death at the home of Charles A. Hiller Wednesday morning to an end as quickly as possible, Coroner Mix conducted a long examination last night, several witnesses giving testimony. At its conclusion the coroner said that there was nothing to give out. No charge of any kind has been made against any person in connection with the shooting.

A. Maxey Hiller is held by the coroner as a witness. He spent last night at his home in Temple street, closely guarded by a uniformed policeman. He insists that he will be able to establish an alibi when the proper time comes, but refused to make any other statement regarding the case. His counsel, E. P. Arvine, who is doing the talking for Hiller, says that there will be no writ of habeas corpus for the release of his client.

Mr. Edwards, it is pointed out, probably was not an heir to any of the Hiller property left by Mrs. Abigail Hiller. An investigation was made regarding the report of missing papers alleged to have been taken from the clothing of the victim of the shooting, but nothing new developed along that line. The reported missing papers are alleged to consist of a diary compiled by a former servant of the Hiller family, and its value in establishing a motive for the crime is not known.

One of the interesting developments during the day and which at first looked to be important, was that Charles A. Hiller had turned over two pistols to the coroner for his inspection, the coroner later giving them to a gunsmith. It has since developed that these weapons were old firearms which had been a part of a collection in the Hiller homestead for years. The theory that the fatal shot was fired with one of these pistols is said to be scouted by the police.

A permit is on record at the office of the chief of police for A. Maxey Hiller to carry a revolver. This was issued on April 16, 1904, after his brother Charles came from the west. At the inquest Hiller was questioned as to his reasons for obtaining this permit. He said that it was the result of a joke played upon him by Chief Wrinn and the late Police Clerk Southward. Wrinn has issued a denial that he played any joke which would have led Hiller to take precautions to keep himself armed. Many of Hiller's closest friends say they never had knowledge that Hiller went about armed.

The examination of two detectives of the local police department by Coroner Mix continued until 10:30 o'clock last night and later the coroner was closeted with another detective for some time. When he left the building for the night Mix said that he expected to cover a great deal of ground before the inquest is dismissed today. He would make no statement regarding his conversation with the detectives.

Search of the street sewers in the vicinity of the Hiller house in College street yesterday afternoon and last night failed to reveal the much-sought-for revolver. Coroner Mix ordered a squad of men to drain the sewers, and the work in that line is not yet completed. It is stated that the search will be a most thorough one and that several more will be drained today. The police think that the person who shot Edwards may have thrown the revolver into a sewer as he made his way from the Hiller home.

Asks $15,000 For Carfare

Washington, Jan. 6.—A bill introduced by Representative McCall (Mass.) provides that congress shall make an annual appropriation of $15,000 to cover the traveling expenses of the president, the money to be paid upon the certification of the president. Under the present system the president when he travels is generally the guest of the railroad.

Cruelty of Revolutionists

Warsaw, Jan. 6.—Rebellious Letts to the number of 60,000 are murdering and slaughtering in the Durush district. Russian troops are unable to withstand their onslaughts. The revolutionists are displaying a cruelty and vandalism which are appalling. In the neighborhood of Hapsal and Meria every castle has been razed, resulting in the total loss of priceless art treasures.

Yankee Fishermen In Hard Luck

St. Johns, Jan. 6.—The west coast herring fishing season has virtually ended. The American vessels are badly handicapped through their inability to have their fish frozen ashore, this privilege being denied them by the treaty, and will therefore be unable to ship full cargoes.

The Dewey Meets Bad Weather

Washington, Jan. 6.—The navy department has received the following message by wireless from Commander Hosley, commanding the drydock Dewey expedition: "Bad weather. Heavy winds and sea west. Doing well and heading southeast. Holding our own."

HISTORIC QUINCY.

Pigrmages Almost Daly to the Cty of Presdents.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

Why Run the Hazard of accepting personal security upon a bond, when corporate security is vastly superior?
The personal surety may be financially strong to-day and insolvent to-morrow; or he may die, and his estate be immediately distributed. In any event, recovery is dilatory and uncertain.
Because of its greater stability, the United States Government prefers Corporate Suretyship; and many firms require it of their bonded employees.
The American Surety Company, capitalized at $2,500,000, is the strongest Surety Company in existence, and the only one whose sole business is to furnish Suretyship Bonds. Apply to American Surety Company of New York
George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889
The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.
Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.
The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)
The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mill St. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

A Windfall in Bohemia

By WILLIS

Copyright, 1905, by Charles

I HAD 30 cents, which was enough for dinner and over to Jack Powell and about the state of my finances. The chance was not given, for Powell was a reporter here on a dollar or two in his pocket when he began to devote his time to literature he has produced more money than he has ever seen inside our own set. (illegible) however, he had 80 cents and decided to go to Julio's, where dinner costs half a dollar.

While we were on the way to the restaurant Powell took out a photograph out of his pocket and handed it to me, asking whether I knew her. I beheld a crude portrait of a girl about forty years, a hard countenance distinctly marred without a certain refinement, and at the first glance no trace of recognition. It seemed as if I should say at once whether I knew her and where I had seen her, but the impression vanished as quickly as it came.

"Who is he?" said I.

"His name is Dan Gilbert."

"Never had the pleasure," said the gentleman, "said I.

"And yet," echoed Powell, who paused. "It's the same name you have seen him, and probably know where?"

"How did you come by it?" I asked.

"A couple of years ago," he said, "I made the acquaintance of Seybold of the secret service, who happened to be quite fond of me. By the on the street, and I asked him if he happened to be here, for I had stood that he was located in Quincy or threabout. He said he was looking for a man—for Danny Gilbert. Danny, I regret to state, is a crook.

"I'll bet he's a good one," I said, studying the photograph.

"My friend Seybold," continued Powell, "gave me certain details of Mr. Gilbert's career, and of his more recent wanderings in the paths of peace. About a year ago he opened a merchant's store in South City and had the misfortune to employ night watchman as his partner in the building. I am happy to say the watchman recovered, but in the meantime the expectation of his demise the affair is not yet forgotten, and there is a reward of about $5,000 for the capture of Danny."

At the mention of the reward and money I respectfully pricked up my ears, and when my emotion had somewhat subsided I stared hungrily at the picture of Danny Gilbert.

"It's a moral certainty that I have seen this fellow within the last week," said Powell was equally interested in his own part, and he said: "Sure enough, I was associating in my mind with the vaguely remembered age of the burglar.

"I have the same impression in regard to you," I rejoined, "and it is true. "But it may be a mere resemblance. You'll admit that there is much the same type of face in you are."

Indeed, though Danny Gilbert disclosed a remarkable

"WHY, YES, I KNOW THE ANIMAL COURAGE, it was remarkable in this respect which the finer modeling and chin and level brow to accentuate the revelation petite for peril. Jack's able countenance, however look of firmness, and after I had made my the likeness to the ire burglar I was witness gentlest possibilities, arrived at Julio's, and alone, sat Miss Amy name you will see quite illustrations in the night calls herself she could take her so ism straight to heaven not be criticised there tricity of behavior. poor fellow, and his ch was in her growing su lifting her farther an the level of such hope wisdom would permit I had learned from h

Run
azard
g personal security
nd, when corporate vastly superior?
rsonal surety may ally strong to-day
nt to-morrow; or
, and his estate be y distributed. In recovery is dilatory
ain.
of its greater sta-
United States Gov-prefers Corporate and many firms
of their bonded Surety Com-
izen as ... 00,000, is Surety Company in d the only one whose s is to furnish Sure-
Apply to erican ty pany
York
Att'y, Adams Building,
t., Hyde Park.
Agt., Dedham.
Weymouth.
OSPITAL
Hospital of Quincy)
ATED 1889
Hospital of Quincy earn-and bequests for the En-amounts to over $60,000.
,000 is urgently needed.
($5,000) will endow a Free
may be given as the Donor for this noble institution
e us all in the hour of need.
ived.
THY REED, Adams St.,
RICHARD D. CHASE,
Quincy, will be very glad
answer any inquiries.
HE
stian Association
CY, MASS.
corporated 1892.)
YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN
with a firm faith in the great being done for the young make their appeal for dona-paying the mortgage inducation Building. When debt is will serve as an goodly income from the er, such sum as might be Endowment for an educa-
Boys Department, or as a
, and could be designated or.
M F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive neral Secretary, ERNEST
nswer inquiries.
Portrait Studio,
LHMAN.
in Crayons
Water Colors.
rames made to order.
k Guaranteed.
South Quincy.
tf
OOD
rder at Short Notice
avel and Posts.
all Kinds
IEN & SONS,
Street.
ce. 207-2, Quincy
& BROWN
n Street.
Boarding Stable
for all Occasions.
by Power.
ON STREET.
5 Quincy.
ACOMBER
erior Painting.
a specialty.
d KALSOMINING.
opposite Depot.
1y
AIDE & CO.,
Piano Moving.
JOBBING,
ge, light and airy.
lificult piano moving,
indows, etc.
ul men only.
est.
ancock Street.
onnection.
tf
R. MARSTIN
TIST,
Bros.' Market,
., Quincy.
to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
ednesday and Friday.
tf

A Windfall In Bohemia

By WILLIS EMERY

Copyright, 1905, by Charles B. Etherington

I HAD 30 cents, which was hardly enough for dinner, so I went over to Jack Powell's to inquire about the state of his finances. The chance was not good. When Powell was a reporter he frequently had a dollar or two in his pocket, but since he began to devote himself entirely to literature he has probably borrowed more money than he has loaned even inside our own set. On this occasion, however, he had 80 cents, so we decided to go to Julio's, where a dinner costs half a dollar.

While we were on our way to the restaurant Powell took a card photograph out of his pocket and passed it to me, asking whether I knew the face. I beheld a crude portrait of a man of about forty years, a bold, determined countenance distinctly evil, but not without a certain rough comeliness, and at the first glance I had a flash of recognition. It seemed to me that I should say at once who the man was and where I had seen him, but the impression vanished as rapidly as it had come.

"Who is he?" said I.

"His name is Dan Gilbert."

"Never had the pleasure of meeting the gentleman," said I, "and yet"—

"And yet!" echoed Powell as I paused. "It's the same with me. I have seen him, and recently. But where?"

"How did you come by his picture?" I asked.

"A couple of years ago," he replied, "I made the acquaintance of Elbert Seybold of the secret service. We came to be quite fr...ly. Today I met him on the street, and I asked him how he happened to be here, for I had understood that he was located in Pittsburg or threabout. He said he was looking for a man—for Danny Gilbert, in brief. Danny, I regret to state, is a burglar."

"I'll bet he's a good one," said I, studying the photograph.

"My friend Seybold," continued Powell, "gave me certain distressful details of Mr. Gilbert's career, and especially of his more recent wanderings from the paths of peace. About a year ago he opened a merchant's safe in Allegheny City and had the misfortune to meet the night watchman as he was leaving the building. I am happy to say that the watchman recovered, quite contrary to the expectation of his physicians, but the affair is not yet forgotten, and there is a reward of about $1,250 for the capture of Danny."

At the mention of this noble sum of money I respectfully removed my hat, and when my emotion had sufficiently subsided I stared hungrily at the picture of Danny Gilbert.

"It's a moral certainty that I have seen this fellow within a month," said I.

Powell was equally certain on his own part, and he said that, singularly enough, I was associated closely in his mind with the vaguely remembered image of the burglar.

"I have the same impression with regard to you," I rejoined. And it was true. "But it may be only the resemblance. You'll admit that he's very much the same type of desperado that you are."

Indeed, though Danny Gilbert's face disclosed a remarkable degree of pure

"WHY, YES, I KNOW THE MAN," SAID SHE.

animal courage, it was scarcely comparable in this respect to Powell's, in which the finer modeling of the mouth and chin and level brows seemed only to accentuate the revelation of his appetite for peril. Jack's was a changeable countenance, however, despite its look of firmness, and within a minute after I had made my little joke about the likeness to the iron visage of the burglar I was witness of my friend's gentlest possibilities, for just then we arrived at Julio's, and there, dining alone, sat Miss Amy Knight, whose name you will see quite often upon illustrations in the magazines. Miss Knight calls herself a bohemian, but she could take her sort of bohemianism straight to heaven with her and not be criticised there for any eccentricity of behavior. Jack loved her, poor fellow, and his chief joy and pride was in her growing success, which was lifting her farther and farther above the level of such hopes as his worldly wisdom would permit him to indulge.

I had learned from him that she was an excellent adviser, and perhaps it was from his habit of appealing to her judgment upon a vast variety of questions that he now submitted the problem of Danny Gilbert. The result was miraculously good.

"Why, yes, I know this man," said she. "He has been posing for Billy Abbott."

At this Powell and I suddenly faced each other open mouthed, and we spoke in the same instant:

"That's it!"

"You've solved the riddle."

For we both remembered having seen Danny Gilbert with Abbott at the street door of the building in which he has his studio. We had been riding by in an open car and had called to Abbott, but had not succeeded in attracting his attention. Beyond a doubt the individual with him was the burglar upon whose head a price was set. The hunter that is in the breasts of all men arose and became dominant in us. We proceeded to capture Danny Gilbert while we ate our dinner, and we spent the reward many times and in increasingly attractive ways over the coffee.

Miss Knight, indeed, expressed a certain pity for the man. If he had taken up an occupation so arduous as that of posing he must at least have tried to rectify his life. Any suggestion of hers was wisdom from on high to Powell.

"What do you think?" said he, turning to me.

"I think Danny is probably planning another robbery," said I.

"But he can't rob Billy Abbott," protested Powell. "Not even a landlord can rob Billy for more than the first two months. Then Billy begins to rob the landlord, and presently he has to move."

"He's getting along much better now," said Miss Knight. "He's taken up a really clever line of work—for pot boiling, I mean. He is making designs for stationery and that sort of thing. The last time I was in his studio he was working on the design for a check and it was very artistic in its way."

"A check!" cried Powell. "Aha! That explains it."

So we fell to discussing the possibilities of crime in that direction and had evolved many impossible schemes whereby Danny Gilbert could win wealth by stealing the design of somebody's check when Miss Knight interrupted us by announcing that it was time for her to go home. We walked with her to where she lived, and from across the street we watched the light flare in her window as a sign that all was well.

"Do you know," said Powell, "there's something in the life of a big city that carries a man back to the most primitive instincts of his nature. I never part from her"—and he looked upward toward the window—"without that sense of danger which must have haunted early men when all the world was strange and every creature hostile. In a village or even in smaller cities a certain kinship unites the people. You do not say 'Good night' and leave one utterly alone, as I am leaving her. See them! See them across the way there passing the door! The animals that roved the forests were more akin to cave dwelling man than those people are to her or to one another. They do not speak the same language, think the same thoughts—oh, well, what's the use of kicking? I want to protect her; that's all. I just want to watch and guard her every hour. Now, keep still. Not a word. Forget my foolishness. I oughtn't to have said it. Let's go and see if we can find Billy Abbott."

It may have been 10 o'clock when we came to the building where Billy had his studio. There was really no chance at all of finding him, for he lived in the suburbs, and this was a business block in which he had established his workshop. The door was locked; the hall was dark. There was no bell, and in all the front of the structure only a single window was illuminated. This was on the second floor above the door and was lettered with a dentist's sign. But when we walked around to the side there was a light, sure enough, in Billy's window upon the third floor at the extreme end.

We called, but without hope that he would hear our voices amid the thousand noises of the restless city. Then Powell broke off a small fragment from a worn curbstone and threw it with a good aim so that it glanced from the sash, but without much noise, so far as we could judge. Instantly, however, the light in the studio was extinguished. Evidently Billy was just leaving, and we hurried around the corner to the door. There we waited, at first with unquestioning confidence, then with considerable surprise. Half an hour passed, and he did not appear; nor was his window lighted.

Presently the dentist appeared at the door, and to him we explained the situation. He thought it very odd, and, knowing Powell by sight, he let us in. We ascended the dark stairs, but found no trace of Billy, nor did he answer to our call.

"He used to leave a key hung up alongside the casing," said I. "By Jove, it's here! We'll look in and see whether anything is wrong."

I turned the key in the lock and entered. Powell at that moment may have been ten paces distant toward the front of the building. He had seen a window open on an air shaft and had been seized by the absurd idea that Billy might have fallen out.

For my part, I had made up my mind that Billy had been taken ill and was sitting there in the dark until he should feel better. I had no serious apprehension, surely not for my own safety. I stepped into the room as much at ease as ever in my life, and the next instant I was infolded, as it seemed to me, in uncountable arms, all strong as iron. Deadly talons had me by the windpipe. A rope began to twist around my body, as if I had been a bobbin on which it was wound up by whirling machinery. Something soft, unlimited yards of it, was thrust into my mouth, and presently I was lowered gently to the floor. Then the dominating sense in my waning consciousness was amazement that in the dim light from the window I saw only two figures of men. I could have made oath that there must be a dozen.

The game was up so far as I was concerned. Let me therefore now shift the scene to the other side of the door, which had been closed the instant that I entered.

So quietly had I been disposed of that Powell had received no hint of any misadventure. He was surprised to find the door shut. He shook it by the knob and called my name in vain.

It will be admitted that my friend had reasonable cause to think that he had met with something unusual in the way of an experience. Billy Abbott had disappeared and left no trace, and now I had vanished in a manner even more remarkable. Possibly a man of a highly nervous temperament might have felt some vague suspicion that his own turn was next and that the safety of the open street was preferable to his present position. No such notion, however, was possible to Jack Powell. He drew back his foot and kicked the locked door so hard that I felt the floor tremble under me, and while he prepared for another assault the door slowly and silently opened.

I SAW HIM DRAW A REVOLVER.

From Powell's position he looked straight across to the broad, faintly shining window. Not a human form was visible; not a sound disturbed the quiet of that room, which seemed detached and hushed amid the noises of the city. It seemed that invisible denizens of the place invited him to enter, for there stood the open door.

In his reportorial experience my friend had learned much about the ways of violent men, and he made a fair guess of the state of affairs in this instance. He guessed, and rightly, that there was a man upon each side of that door waiting for him to enter, waiting also to rush out if he should raise his voice in an alarm, and as he weighed the chances in that brief pause his eye was attracted by a shining object on the wall beside the window. It was an old cutlass, a part of Billy's haphazard decorations.

The next instant Powell was clear across the room. The two men sprang out. They rushed against each other and nearly fell, but they were no novices in brigandage, and within a fraction of a second they had recovered themselves. But meanwhile Powell had got the sword, and he must have looked desperately formidable, his tail and heavy form outlined against the window.

The man nearest me uttered something between an oath and a groan, and I saw him draw a revolver. Then I was as happily inspired as ever in my life. Trussed up as I was and prone upon my back, I still had some use of my legs, and with all my force I kicked that man's feet from under him. The result was indescribably perfect. The man turned completely upside down and struck upon his head beside me. I rolled across his body, but he made no movement. He lay limp beneath me.

At the same instant Powell's mighty arm swung the old cutlass, and if the weapon had not turned a little in his hand I think he would have cut his opponent lengthwise into two pieces.

Half a minute later my mouth was free of the gag, and my agonized lungs received the vital air. The lights were turned up, and we examined our two prisoners. The victim of my prowess was already reviving and must be secured with the rope taken from my own limbs, but the man whom Powell had struck down needed no such attention. We knelt beside him, and it surely seemed to us that Danny Gilbert, the burglar, had gone to his account.

In the wall of the room there was a promising excavation which in the course of a few more hours would have been enlarged to give access into the adjoining building, where upon the corresponding floor are the offices of Cornelius Wiegand, dealer in diamonds. This fact sufficiently explains the adventure.

It remains only to be said that our little circle of bohemians was entertained at a great banquet some three weeks later to celebrate the payment of the $1,250, and upon this occasion it was my pleasure to announce to the company that the news from the hospital regarding Danny Gilbert was favorable. Then at Amy Knight's suggestion we drank to Danny's health and reformation in that mild red beverage which Julio serves by the name of wine.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. HUGO ROSENBERG.

President of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg of Pittsburg, president of the National Council of Jewish Women and one of the most active members of the organization, is probably one of the best known club women in western Pennsylvania. She founded the Columbian Council of Jewish Women in Pittsburg in 1893 and has been its president repeatedly. Her active work along so many lines made it impossible for her to give her attention to the local council, and she resigned her position as president, being immediately made honorary president.

She is a member of the tenement house and the public baths committee, a director of the Pittsburg and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association, an officer of the Civic Federation of Western Pennsylvania and national president of the committee of peace and arbitration. She is also vice president of the Civic Club of Western Pennsylvania. She has held the office of both president and secretary of the Woman's club of Pittsburg, is chairman of the committee on forestry of the State federation and one of the founders of the Columbian council school settlement. She personally organized sections of the Council of Jewish Women in Pittsburg, Youngstown, Altoona, Philadelphia, Washington, Tarentum and other cities.

MRS. HUGO ROSENBERG.

Mrs. Rosenberg is a Pittsburg woman, a graduate of the Pittsburg High school.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Bureau Drawer Sachet.

To make a pretty and convenient sachet for the bureau drawer take one-half yard of light blue (or pink or lavender, for that matter) silesia and double its width. The material is so wide that this will make a bag of about 24 by 18 inches. Turning the material over saves the sewing of one of the shorter seams. Within this blue bag put two layers of cotton batting, between which is sprinkled the sachet powder.

Over all place a neat little slip made of plain white swiss. Make a hem of about one inch and sew the slip together by means of blue featherstitching. If the latter is done in washable floss or mercerized cotton the slip is strictly practical, for it can be washed time after time.

When you choose to renew your sachet merely rip one end of your silesia bag and pull out the cotton batting. Then slip in the new. One of the specially recommended features of this sachet bag, which, of course, may be made in any size, is its small cost. Moreover, the size mentioned here is well suited for placing in a suit case when one packs up for a short trip.

Women Might Copy Men.

In the close copy of man and his actions the emancipated woman seems to have forgotten one thing—his ready civility to other men in almost all places and almost all times one man is willing and ready to speak to another. While on long journeys men often form pleasant acquaintances and even friendships, but a woman invariably draws back her skirts when spoken to by a stranger.

In a restaurant the other day a tired, harassed little woman left the table at which she had been sitting and crossed to another, at which a woman was eating her lunch. "May I sit here and talk to you while you are eating?" she said timidly. "I am going to be late for an engagement. My friends have not come as yet and it makes me so nervous to sit and wait if I can't talk. I spoke to that lady at the table where I was, but she seemed offended."

"Why, bless me," exclaimed the woman addressed, moving back a chair by her side, "sit down here and if it is any relief for you to talk to me I'll stay until your friend comes."

The grateful smile she received was ample pay for this pretty speech.—Boston Traveler.

Cleaning and Renewing.

Apropos of cleaning and renewing a letter from a correspondent says: "An excellent way to avoid the ring left by benzine is the following French process: As soon as the spot is cleaned and while it is still entirely wet cover it with fuller's earth. Do not rub it on, simply cover entirely the spot, letting it dry this way. When dry shake off the fuller's earth and brush lightly the cloth. If properly done there will be no ring. Sometimes the fuller's earth used alone is quite sufficient to remove the spot."

The correspondent adds: "A handsome gray dress skirt belonging to the writer had on it a smear of black railroad grease which did not yield at all to ordinary cleaning. So kerosene was used, the wet spot being afterward covered with fuller's earth and left to dry, but there remained still some of the black stain. Again the kerosene was vigorously applied, followed by the fuller's earth, as before, and the result was all one could wish. It was impossible to see where the spot had been, and it never came back, as grease spots are prone to do."—New York Post.

Stretching Lace Curtains.

In stretching lace curtains on a stretcher on the floor always pin on the wide border first and then draw the curtain down and fasten on the outside edge. In stretching this way you allow that part of the curtain—namely, the narrow border, where the least sun and dirt strike them, which is the ruin of all curtains—to bear the strain of the stretching. Curtains done up in this way can be used much longer. When curtains begin to show small holes get a very fine net, moisten the curtain slightly after it has been stretched, place the net over the holes and press with a medium hot iron. If done neatly it will look far better than if sewed together. Of course it is always advisable to get the net as much like the body of the curtain as possible.

Boxing the Ears.

There are still some intelligent women who after all that has been written on a subject insist on boxing children's ears. Only awhile ago, in this twentieth century, an educated woman was seen to give her little nephew of three years a sound box on the ear. Why people should select the ears for this purpose is hard to tell. Almost any other part of the face or body would be less dangerous. Authorities declare that a great deal of deafness so common is directly traced to the sharp boxing on the ears which schoolmasters of the past used to indulge in.—New York Tribune.

Packing a Trunk.

In packing a trunk use heaps of paper with tailor made garments and pack them as much like a man's suit as possible. Never forget that wrinkle and many other wrinkles will be avoided. And of materials, remember serge and most voiles pack magnificently, alpaca always creases, faced cloth wants care, cashmere does crumble, but soon shakes out. Velvet, of course, must never be creased at all; crepe de chine travels very well on the whole; silks vary and anyhow should be treated with discretion.—Household Companion.

Scented Mattresses.

In Paris it is the fad to seek repose on scented mattresses. Bags of different colored silks are made and filled with violet, heliotrope or lavender and sewed on the sides of the mattress. These bags, which impart to the bed a delicious fragrance, are tied with satin ribbons. Some of the scented mattresses are most elaborate affairs, and, though the dealers urge that they are sold for a mere song, it strikes most women that they must be those "songs" which are sung by high class opera birds for society's edification.

The Nose.

If one wants to improve the shape of her nose, the beauty culturist has made the mode of doing so easy by means of a nasal clamp. This same aid to beauty is secured round the head and brings about the desired result in no time. Noses spread as years go on, and often when false teeth have to be inserted quite a different aspect is given to the face and to the nose as well.

Hairbrushes.

Hairbrushes should go into the wash weekly as regularly as do the sheets and pillowcases. Into a shallow basin put some very hot water and a teaspoonful of ammonia. Shake the brushes up and down in this, keeping the bristles down and the backs and handles out of the water as much as possible. Dry them in an open sunny window.

The Eyelashes.

Let the lashes alone. Too much trimming is certain to weaken the strength of the eyes. Girls who go to the hairdresser's every week or so to have their hair clipped or crimped and permit the officious operator to shape their lashes may be paying for eyeglasses in a few years.

Leaking Water Pipes.

How to stop a pin hole in a lead pipe: Take a ten penny nail, place the square end upon the hole and hit it two or three light blows with the hammer, and the orifice is closed as tight as though you had employed a plumber to do it at a cost of a dollar or more.

It is a fad to have sofa pillows combine as many shades of one color as possible without introducing a foreign tone. Various shades of red which harmonize well are excellent for a couch.

Something impossible to admit is that woman may have the right to remain idle. Free to select her task, she should not be free to select none.—Mme. de Barrau.

To clean oilcloth and linoleum use cold tea, which is better than soap for this purpose. Then polish with linseed oil and turpentine.

To keep milk from scorching rinse the pan in cold water before pouring in the milk.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abfc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 34	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 31	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r
SUNDAYS.
r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square.
b Norfolk Downs,	g, Savin Hill.
c Atlantic,	h, Crescent Avenue
d Neponset,	i, South Boston.
e Pope's Hill.	r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 6.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.21 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6 50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County. Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price. $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Daily Ledger has now been published on more than 5000 days, more editions than any other Norfolk county newspaper, although several weeklies have been published many more years.

The newspaper fraternity hope to hear of the speedy recovery of H. H. McQuillen, the veteran editor of the Dedham Transcript, who underwent a surgical operation this week.

The new city charter proposed for Cambridge provides for unpaid head for the health department, park department and other boards. Perhaps here is a chance for other cities to economize and reduce the burdens of taxation.

Seventieth Year of Quincy Patriot

The editor of the Quincy Patriot makes the following comments this week upon beginning a new volume:

With this number we commence the seventieth volume of the Quincy Patriot. We would return thanks to those who have been with us in the past, not only as subscribers, but contributors to its columns. Never has the Patriot, during the many years of its existence, contained so much local news as during the past year. No number of any local paper has as much Quincy matter in it as is found each week in the Patriot; and it has given us great pleasure to enroll during the past ten days the names of a number of new subscribers.

For over half a century the editor has worked to make it an interesting and welcome visitor to the homes of our citizens. His labor for temperance, good morals, and the best interest of the people, he is pleased to know have been appreciated, and his thanks are turned for the liberal patronage received.

Drift of Opinion.

☞An exchange refers to a recent comment on the private pension bill roll as an objection to pensions, but it is nothing of the sort. It is simply a protest against the private bill pensioner in behalf of his more numerous comrade of the general pension law class. The protest against the private pension bill is because in the great majority of these cases they represent simply pull and graft, worked through congressional or political friends, which the average soldier deserving of a pension cannot or will not secure. The general pension laws cannot be made too liberal, and the most generous pension will not be more than the country owes the soldier, but when there have been general laws adopted the passage of private bills in such numbers as they are passed by every congress is not justice to the great body of the boys in blue who have equal rights to the nation's gratitude. —Haverhill Gazette.

Surprise Party.

About twenty-five of the schoolmates and friends of James Michael, tendered him a surprise pary last evening.

Piano selections by Gilbert Booth, May Veal and Bessie Warmington were very much enjoyed, after which Miss Lottie Rendall in behalf of those present, presented James with a beautiful signet ring. After recovering from the surprise he thanked his kind friends, and hoped all would spend an enjoyable evening.

Mr. George Reynolds of Neponset, rendered vocal selections as did also Miss Lulu Hadden of South Quincy.

Refreshments were served, after which games, dancing and music were enjoyed by all.

Among those present were: Misses Lottie Rendall, Mamie Warmington, Bessie Warmington, Alice Findlay, Lizzie Dickie, Mary Crammond, Sarah Summers, May Veal, Lillian Riddler, and Lulu Hadden.

Gilbert Booth, Ernest Warmington, Willie Warmington, Charles Dunbar, John Souter, Walter Murray, George Reynolds, George Moorehouse, Stanley Collins, Hugh Opie and Albert Smith.

Few on The List

Provisional Appointment Necessary As Firemen

By an order passed by the City Council of 1905, the permanent fire force of the city was increased by four men. Three of these were to be unattached, and one as driver of the new piece of apparatus at Houghs Neck.

Under the law these must be appointed from the civil service list. Owing to the fact that there were, but four names on the eligible list, that one of these men is not now a resident of Quincy, and that another requested that his name not be certified, Mayor Thompson has been unable to appoint, but one permanent man.

The man appointed was Charles E. Anderson of Wollaston, who goes on duty as a permanent man next Monday.

Permission has been granted Mayor Thompson by the Civil Service Commission to appoint the other three men provisionally. That is, they are to serve as permanent men until an examination has been held, when their places will have to be filled from the civil service list.

A civil service examination for permanent firemen will be held as soon as a sufficient applications for the examination have been received.

The three men appointed provisionally by Mayor Thompson are Andrew T. Scully, Thomas Holland and William Carroll.

Mr. Scully was at one time a call member of the fire department and for several years was driver for District Chief Frank C. Packard.

Mr. Holland has been a call member of the fire department. Last summer he was a driver of one of the city watering carts and is thoroughly familiar with horses. He will be assigned to Houghs Neck.

Mr. Carroll, the third man, is at present employed as a driver at the Central Fire Station, and has been for some time, although not with the consent of the Civil Service Commission.

Charles E. Anderson the new permanent man was born in Sweden, Nov. 26, 1872. His early education was obtained in the public schools of his native place. He came to America in 1888, and to Quincy in 1890, and has resided here ever since. Soon after coming to America he learned the machinist trade, at which he has since been employed. He has been a call fireman for eleven years. He resides at 157 Taylor street, Wollaston. The new men go on duty Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

The following is a list of recent real estate sales in Quincy:

John Harkins to Peter Gacicla.

Ruth C. Newton et al by guardian to Annie M. Bates, $5,700.

Lumus C. Newton to Annie M. Bates.

Wallace W. Wilcox by adm to Jessie L. Webb $2,200.

Jessie L. Webb to Carrie E. Darrow.

Herbert T. Whitman to Anna G. Homer.

Charles Bishop et ux to Charles F. Adams et al trs.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to O. C. R. R. Co. $1,450.

John H. Phillips to James Phillips.

Bertram D. Corliss to William P. Moller, $520.

John H. Storer et al trs to Eben L. Thurber.

Elizabeth O. Lane to Julia A. Pitts.

James M. Cutting to Wilson E. Dewhurst, $4 600.

Wilson E. Dewhurst to Quincy Saving Bank.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to William H. Deacon.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to Charles H. Shriver.

Fanny C. Adams et al to Charles H. Shriver.

Henry B. Adams to Charles H. Shriver.

Charles H. Shriver to Charles F. Adams et al trs.

Addie M. Whittemore to James M. Mullen.

Lysander W. Nash to Clifford R. Raymond.

Charles W. Hunter to Antone J. Olsen.

Crystal Wedding.

New Year's evening thirty-two friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dolbeare gathered at their home at Bsaintree to remind them that it was the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage.

Owing to the thoughtfulness of those who planned the surprise, cake and ice cream were served. With music and stories the evening passed all too quickly and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dolbeare many more years of happiness, and leaving behind them gifts of china and glass, the friends returned to their homes.

One of the most delightful incidents of the evening was the reading of the following poem by one of the guests who had composed them especially for the occasion.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

The City In Brief

Mrs. Moran and family have moved from South street to Coddington street.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening.

St. Francis Court, No. 25, M. C. O. F., will hold an important meeting this evening at 8 o'clock.

Assemblies are held every Saturday evening by Elmer W. Baker at Quincy Music hall.

The little four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Paul is seriously ill at a Boston hospital.

Elmer W. Baker's dancing class will give a reception and dance at Quincy Music hall next Wednesday evening.

A number of Quincy people held little banks of the Provident Security Co., and had money on deposit there.

There are 36 cases against the Old Colony street railway at the January session of the Norfolk Superior court.

Mrs. Ezra Gifford and daughter Evelyn have returned to their home in Cotuit after a brief visit wita relatives in this city.

John McRichie, a prominent member of Clan McGregor, O. S. C., died Friday evening at his home on Robertson street.

Mrs. McDonald, lately of the Riverside house, has purchased and is moving into the house on South street vacated by Mrs. Moran.

The Gleaners' circle will meet at the home of Mrs. David Jewell, Grand View avenue, Monday afternoon, Jan. 8, at half past two.

Miss E. M. Freeman advertises several houses to let and for sale, and will make real estate her business this year. She will have a big "ad" in the Daily Ledger every Saturday.

The board meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held on Monday morning at ten o'clock. The regular monthly meeting will be held on the fifteenth at three o'clock.

Members of the Memorial Sunday school were interested on last Sunday when their pastor, as a fond father, dropped one cent in the glass on the collection of the "birthday" money. It was paid one year in advance.

The annual meeting of the corporators of the City Hospital of Quincy will be held at Colonial hall on Monday evening, January 15, at eight o'clock, for the election of trustees for the ensuing year and the transaction of any other business that may come before them.

Thayer Academy Wins.

The Thayer Academy basket ball team continued its good works by defeating the Cambridge Latin School on Friday afternoon, by a score of 19 to 14. The game was close and exciting throughout. For Thayer, Richmond played a star game throwing 5 goals, while Shay also did well making 4 tallies. Kelliher excelled for Cambridge and Grant also played creditably. The line up was as follows:

THAYER	C. L. S.
Shay r. f.	l. b. Pearson
Richmond l. f.	r. b. Grant
Carson c.	c. Gray
Remick r. b.	l. f. Marvin
Sprague l. b.	r. f. Kelliher

Score,—Thayer 19, C. L. S. 14. Goals from floor—Richmond 5, Shay 4, Kelliher 2, Gray 1, Grant 2, Marvin 1. Goals from fouls—Carson 1, Kelliher 2. Referee—Kingsbury. Time—2 fifteen-minute periods.

—If Carnegie has started out to pass up the differences between all married couples who drift apart he will discover presently that this world home kind of trouble he didn't know about be

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

Not to Resign

Mr. Cannon Will Be Able To Fill Duties As Councilman

The announcement that Councilman Cannon was to resign as a member of the City Council and go to Georgia was a little premature. It is true that Councilman Cannon is to go to Georgia to supereintend a contract of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., but his business will not detain him their permanently and he will be able to attend many of the council meetings.

Councilman Cannon stated to a representative of the Ledger that while business would take him to Georgia his trips there would be periodical ones and of few days durations, so that it will not interfere sufficiently with his duties as Councilman to require his resignation.

The news that reached City Hall Friday was that of Councilman Cannon was to be sent to Georgia by the Fore River Co. to superintend the building of a large viaduct that it would require his presence there for two years which would necessitate his resignation as a member of the City Council.

It is a pleasure to state that his leaving the city permantly is not a fact, and that it will not be necessary for him to relinquish his duties as a Councilman.

Gain of Over One Per Day

The Norafolk County Registsy of Deeds reports 13,489 instruments recorded during the year 1905 an increase of 312 over 1904, and 2008 over 1895. Here is the business by months:

	1905.	1904.	1895.
January	1,061	825	966
February	930	783	656
March	1,068	960	797
April	1,114	1,210	1,064
May	1,276	1,267	1,176
June	1,301	1,270	1,062
July	1,104	1,116	1,918
August	1,000	1,130	949
September	1,107	1,118	905
October	1,327	1,304	1,087
November	1,111	1,193	882
December	1,090	1,001	949
Totals	13,489	13,177	11,481

The number of attachments was 515 in 1905, compared witb 493 in 1904, and 547 in 1895.

Registrar of Probate John D. Cobb of Dedham, reports that 1008 instruments were filed in his office in 1905, as follows: In January there were 69, February 87, March 111, April 105, May 95, June 90, July 67, August 26, September 84, October 81, November 93, and December 80.

Fire Department of Braintree Organizes

At a meeting of the Board of Engineers last Tuesday evening, officers were elected for the year as follows:

Chief,—Frank O. Whitmarsh.
Clerk,—Clement V. Cottrell.
Assistant engineer,—James S. Hill.

Members of hose 2 elected the following officers Monday evening.:

Captain,—John F. Kelley.
First lieut.,—George F. Mansfield.
Second lieut.,—Bernard L. Simonds.
Clerk,—Fred A. Tenney.

Hook and ladder 2 will organize Jan. 16.

Hose 1, East Braintree, have organized with James Dundon, captain; W. P. Burn, first lieutenant; Peter Smith, second; Thomas Croke, clerk and treasurer; James F. McDonnell, steward. Officers of Hook and Ladder 1 elected are: John Frazier, captain; Martin Frazier, first lieutenant; John Smith, second; James Gurney, clerk and treasurer; John Frazier, steward.

—The Christmas trade in Chicago this year is shown by facts collected on State street to be by $20,000,000 greater than in 1904, and by at least 20 per cent. greater than any Christmas in the city's history.

—Fifty thousand people can seat themselves in Chicago's playhouses at one time, and over 25,000 a night the year round throng the theatres of the city.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR
RIGHT.
SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

Restful Couches.

Couch comfort isn't expensive when you buy it here, and no house is complete today without a Couch.

We carry over forty styles of Couches at prices ranging from $4.98 to $35.00. We make a specialty of popular priced ones, $9.50 to $15.00, and our couches at these prices are simply wonderful.

Your choice of Coverings. Everything that's new or up-to-date is here for you to choose from without extra charge.

Reasonable terms for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

A Happy New Year!

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,
Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.
1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Dec. 28. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

Money Returned
FOR ALL
Cash Sale Checks
DATED
December 14th.
IF CALLED FOR ON OR BEFORE JANUARY 6th.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

Destroy Gypsy and Brown Tail Moths Now.

At work in wood lot on Rural Avenue, Medford, Nov. 23, 1905. —Loaned by Medford Mercury.

Unless the citizens of Quincy assist in the suppression of the gypsy and brown tail moths they will suffer from the pests this summer and more so the following summer. It is true that both pests are scattered over this town and they multiply fast.

If you are not familiar with their appearance at this or any other season of the year, send to Supt. A. H. Kirkland, Boston, for circulars. The best way to study them is to visit Medford, Malden or Winchester.

Gen. Samuel C. Lawrence of Medford is spending thousands of dollars in fighting the pests, to keep them in check. He does not claim that they can be exterminated but he will succeed in protecting the trees of that city. His acres of wood land have been thoroughly cleaned and the estates of his neighbors have received his attention. He has made a study of the moths and has demonstrated that they can be kept under control.

The Medford Mercury has just issued over 3000 books of about 60 pages each containing over 100 large half tone pictures, reproduced from photographs taken in or near Medford, of gypsy and brown tail moths, caterpillars, nests ravaged woodland and orchards, etc. While the books are very expensive to print on account of over $1000 invested in half tone cuts, our citizens who are interested in the suppression of the moths may obtain a copy, while they last, for the price of postage, about ten cents.

The above half tones, loaned by the Medford Mercury, clearly show the nests of the brown tail moths and the men employed by Gen. Lawrence cutting them off.

BRAINTREE.

The King's Daughters will meet with Miss Alice Holbrook of Washington street next Thursday afternoon. A full attendance is requested.

Stevens & Willis have made a sale of real estate to the Old Colony Railroad Company.

The good of the order committee have held several meetings of late to arrange matters pertaining to the joint installation of the S. of V. auxiliary and the Sons of Veterans, at the G. A. R. hall next Tuesday evening.

Master Kenneth Dyer celebrated his tenth birthday at his home on Pond street Tuesday afternoon from four to six. Many of his schoolmates gathered to wish him many happy returns of the day.

Rev. A. E. Kirk of the M. E. church preached four nights this week in Brockton at the Pearl street church during a series of special services.

Benjamin H. Woodsum Jr. of Summer street spent his vacation with relatives in Camden, Maine.

Little Ethel Tirrell, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tirrell of Randall avenue, met with a painful accident while in R. E. Spinney's store, last Thursday. The little girl put her finger in the cigar cutter, which took the end of her finger off.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark and son Alfred with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hastings attended the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Faunce of Whitman, Friday evening.

Dr. T. Haven Dearing who has been housed for about three weeks, is again attending to business.

A party of friends gathered at the home of James Q. Hawes, Middle street, Thursday evening, to help him celebrate his twenty-fifth birthday. During the evening Mr. Hawes was presented with a handsome fob chain.

Walter E. Severance, formerly principal of the High school, but now of Cohoes, N. Y., was in town this week, visiting friends. Mr. Severance had spent the week previous in Syracuse, attending the teachers' convention being held there.

Miss Mabel Pratt of Lisle street returned to her studies at Boston university on Wednesday after the holiday recess. Miss Pratt has been assistant librarian the past year at the university library in addition to pursuing her collegiate course of study. She finds the library work pleasant and will resume this labor in connection with her regular studies.

Rev. C. F. H. Crathern has distributed this week many beautiful and useful calendars with a fine picture of the church and its pastor thereon. A full list of the illustrated lectures to be held in the Congregational church at five o'clock Sunday evenings for the next three months was enclosed, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to ttend.

Deputy Grand Master Workman Charles F. Greene of Campello, and suite, installed the newly elected officers of Blue Hill lodge, No. 208, A. O. U. W., at G. A. R. hall, last Wednesday evening, in the presence of a large attendance of members of the lodge, and visiting brethren from Norfolk lodge of Norfolk Downs. Vistors were also present from North Abington and Boston lodges.

General S. Thayer Post 87 G. A. R. began the new year by the installation of its newly elected officers on Friday evening, Jan. 5th 1906. The installing officer was Past Commander Henry A. Monk. The committee for the fair to be held Feb. 6, 7 and 8 are working hard in conjunction with committee of W. R. C. and S. of V. and expect to present an attractive show of useful articles and entertainments.

Representative Hilliard has been appointed on the Committee on Taxation of the Legislature, and Representative Barnes as House chairman of the Committee on Public Lighting.

The new year parish social and entertainment in the chapel of the South Congregational church in charge of the B's was well attended and much enjoyed.

On Monday evening, Jan. 1, Monatiquot lodge No. 83 K. of P. entertained Delphi and Norfolk lodges, the occasion being the fourth of a series of visitations between the three lodges. The officers were arrayed in new robes and made a first class appearance. The rank of esquire was exemplified. The next visitation will be with Norfolk lodge of Holbrook sometime in February. Monday, evening Jan. 8, Monatiquot lodge will confer the rank of knight. Don't forget Friday evening, Feb. 23, '06.

The meeting of the Woman's Alliance on Wednesday last brought out a large attendance. The paper given by Miss Abby Perry of Framingham was intensely interesting and aroused a lively discussion which was ably lead by Miss Perry.

On Wednesday, Jan. 10, the Old Colony Association of Universalists will meet at Abington. Morning sessions begins at eleven o'clock. Conference subject, "Parish Finances," to be opened by George H. Arnold. Afternoon session at two o'clock. Rev. Frederick R. Griffin will give an address; subject, "The Enrichment of our Common Worship."

We Are Going to Publish, beginning in a few days

The Two Vanrevels

A powerful love drama full of fire and action

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Read The Two Vanrevels in This Paper

COMMERCIAL MORALITY

How Joseph F. Johnson Would Foster It In Business.

FAVORS EDUCATION ON INSURANCE

Why Dean of New York University School of Commerce Says Elements of Insuring Lives and Mathematics of Premium Rates Should Be Taught In Schools—Advocates Departments of Insurance In Universities.

Joseph French Johnson, dean of New York University School of Commerce, who recently made an address at Cooper Union in New York on "The Education of the Modern Business Man," pointed out that the increasing complexity of modern business operations was elevating many kinds of business into the ranks of the learned professions, special knowledge and a trained intellect being essential to their successful prosecution, says the New York Post. On the subject of commercial morality as related to education he said:

"Until we have business men who have been trained in the principles and right methods of finance the management of our banks, of our insurance companies and of great corporations will not be subjected to wholesome outside criticism. Things will be done in the dark which ought not to be done. Immorality is usually the joint product of opportunity and ignorance. When we have an enlightened business world there will be fewer dark places in it, and opportunities for fraud, concealment and peculation will be less. The trouble is not that there is a low standard of honor or morality in business, but that there is practically no standard at all. Well meaning men are often at a loss to determine whether a certain profitable policy is honorable or dishonorable.

"Society is just now washing the windows of the life insurance business, and many people are hoping that hereafter when a man buys life insurance he will really get all that he pays for. On that point I am a pessimist and shall remain one unless the subject of life insurance gets into our schools. We have had investigations before and profuse promises of reform. In a few years the abuses of life insurance will be forgotten, new companies will be organized and new men will get control of the old, and then new and wonderful ways of appropriating the people's money will be devised.

"Publicity will provide some protection, especially if the affairs of insurance companies are regularly examined by independent certified public accountants, but publicity alone will not be enough. It will put a check on old abuses with which the public are familiar, but it will not compel steady improvement in the management of insurance companies or any other corporation. Nor will it create a recognized ethical standard to be observed by corporation presidents and directors. Nothing can do that except an enlightened public consciousness, a quick intelligence among the people instantly recognizing and condemning bad methods and unfair contracts.

"The elements of life insurance and the mathematics of premium rates should be taught in our public schools, while in our universities departments of insurance should be established and placed on a par with the departments of science, language and philosophy. Then men would be properly trained for this great and important business, and gradually we should have the evolution of an intelligent public opinion with regard to the good and the bad. Until such a public opinion exists, no matter how sensitive the individual conscience may be, I do not see how we can have a moral standard in insurance or any other business."

Floating Hospital For Egypt.

The congregation of the North United Presbyterian church in Philadelphia has hit upon a novel scheme for the extension of missionary work in northern Africa, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. It has decided to place a medical boat on the Sobat river in the Egyptian Sudan for the purpose of giving medical aid to natives along the shores of the river who suffer from pulmonary and eye troubles. Thousands of natives are reported to have lost their eyesight during the last ten years from trachoma when a simple operation would have saved them. The river is a tributary of the Nile and is 289 miles long. Hugh R. Magill, a graduate of Jefferson college, '04, will have charge of the boat. It is intended to equip it with all modern appliances for the treatment of diseases of the eye and to make two trips a month from the mouth to the source of the Sobat. The boat will be named in honor of James A. Elliott, founder of the North church, who died two years ago

Reclaiming the Sahara Desert.

As a result of recent scientific investigations it may be possible to revise our ideas of the barrenness of the Sahara desert, since it has been found by boring that there are numerous springs which rise to the surface and make possible a system of irrigation, says Harper's Weekly. In the territory to the south of Algeria a government irrigation survey has been at work making a series of deep test borings, some of which are as deep as 2,000 feet. In this way considerable water has been encountered, and in certain oases already twice the usual amount of water has been made available for the palm groves.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

CLASS RECEPTION and DANCE,

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 10.

Tickets, Gent and Lady, 50 cts. Extra Lady, 25 cts.

NEW CLASS NOW FORMING.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 6. tf

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Social Realm.

Louis Bush Bradford who has made many friends the past few years during his connection with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, left last week for Newport News. He will be missed especially by members of the Manet club, as he has been an active member. It is anticipated he will make a brief visit to Quincy next month, when his fiancee, Miss Carrie Thayer Underwood will become his bride, making the loss a double one for their Quincy friends.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. West announce the engagement of their daughter Lola Augusta, to Mr. Frank Warren Taber of Newark, New Jersey. The wedding will take place in late summer probably, although no definite time has as yet been made public.

* * *

Miss Ruth Bassett of Walker street will spend the week end in Roxbury.

* * *

The Kitnalta club, whose meetings have been adjourned during the holidays, was entertained by Miss Ethel Vogler on Thursday evening. Prizes were won by the Misses Mabeth Fish, Gertrude Warren, Laura Hall and Floredce Gray. The next meeting will be with Miss Hall on January 18th.

* * *

Councilman and Mrs. William M. Chase and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Briggs sail on the Admiral Farragut from Boston next Wednesday for Port Antonia, Jamaica, for a two weeks' sight seeing and pleasure trip.

* * *

A large number of young people were delightfully entertained in Wollaston hall Friday evening December 29, by Mr. and Mrs. Badger, in honor of Miss Muriel Badger's birthday. At five o'clock couples were formed for a grand march and dancing was enjoyed until half past eight, excellent music being furnished by Merrill's orchestra. During the intermission ices and cake were served to the young people. One feature of the evening was a very pretty German in which each guest was presented with a beautiful favor.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

1906 JANUARY 1906

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:37 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

Just a Word WITH YOU ABOUT PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

THE SUNDAY DINNER SHOP!

This is easily the Sunday dinner market of this section.

Here, just as sure as each week end comes, Quincy Adams' cooks and housewives repair and select the food supplies for Sunday's feast from our abundant and fair-priced stock.

Poultry of all kinds, Lamb, Mutton, Veal, Beef, Ham and other staple items, fresh Vegetables, delicious, tempting fruit and other things so necessary to the complete Sunday and daily dinner, are here.

You know that this is your best market for best food supplies at lowest prices, to-day, to-morrow and every day of the present year.

Knowing this, be wise—trade here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 3t

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec. 27. 12t

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

HOTEL GREENLEAF.
AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.
MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

OF HIS OWN BRAND

Champ Clark Tells What Kind of Democrat He Is

THE PHILIPPINE TARIFF

Statements to Ways and Means Committee Remind Him of Draw Poker--Republicans Get a Few Sharp Raps

Washington, Jan. 6.—"Champ Clark Democracy" was expounded to the entertainment of the house for three hours by Mr. Clark (Mo.) and constituted the feature of the debate on the Philippine tariff bill.

Mr. Clark's speech took a wide range and during its progress he labelled his political beliefs as above in answer to a question as to what kind of a Democrat he really was. He talked of the Philippines and favored the pending bill; he discussed the general tariff question and in particular the German tariff situation. He reviewed W. J. Bryan's record on silver and paid his respects to characteristic oratory to Republican leaders.

He ascribed future greatness to what he termed the great "stand pat" disciples and declared that one of these, Secretary Shaw, whose record as secretary of the treasury included, he said, classifying frogs' legs as poultry and ponies as "household articles," for the collection of revenue, was a logical Republican presidential possibility unless the mantle should fall on "the gray and grizzled speaker, Uncle Joe Cannon."

Discussing as an absurdity the enormous amount of sugar that the Philippines are supposed to produce, Clark gave the amount raised "in the United States proper" and also the production "in the United States improper," in which he included Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines. The ways and means committee, he said, had been informed by sworn statements that every acre in the Philippines would be planted in tobacco and by the sugar people that these same acres would be planted in sugar. It all reminded him of draw poker or the game of ducks and drakes.

Speaking from the forum in front of the speaker's desk, Clark addressed many of his positive assertions directly to the Republican members. He was interrupted many times and each interruption generally resulted in responses that delighted both sides.

Mr. Clark addressed himself to the "kindergarten" members of the house and advised them to take notice. If there was necessity for an appropriation to carry on river and harbor work already begun, it might be had, but not a cent for new work on public buildings. An exhaustive refutation that present prosperity was due to the Dingley tariff was made by Clark.

Led by questions by Mr. Grosvenor to review the monetary issues of the campaign of 1896, Clark declared the Republicans played what he called a "confidence game" on the country in declaring for bimetallism as soon as the other nations of the world would agree to take action, and then, he said, Lyman J. Gage, secretary of the treasury, "hamstrung" the international monetary commission and that ended all efforts in that direction. He had no apology to make for following Bryan.

First asking any Republican if he considered free trade a crime and getting an affirmative answer from Mr. Mahon (Pa.) Clark asserted, "you are just the man I am looking for; I want to pump something into you." He then read a paragraph praising Thomas H. Benton for his efforts to put salt on the free list.

"Is that free trade doctrine?" he asked.

"No," interjected Grosvenor.

"O, you know who wrote it," rejoined Clark. "But here," pointing to Mahon, "is the man I am after. He will have to admit that the man who wrote it is a criminal."

Mr. Grosvenor explained that President Roosevelt in his younger days had written the sentiment.

"I am not a defender of the president," said Clark.

"Nor I," interjected Grosvenor.

"Well, I am glad of it," continued Clark, "for I do not think he wants to be defended by having the baby act plead for him. He would not do that himself. Neither can any Republican representative call him a criminal, for if he did the president would cut off his 'pap,' and a Republican congressman without 'pap' is nothing."

Mr. Clark, in closing, after holding the floor for three hours, predicted that the frank discussion of the tariff which he believed would result from the consideration of the present bill would be of great benefit to the country.

When he concluded he was warmly congratulated by many members of both parties.

Mr. Fordny (Mich.) opposed the measure. He expressed his disgust that the bill was made to represent a movement under the name of "reciprocity." He read the Republican national platform and the president's letter accepting the nomination, both, he said, pledging the party against tariff legislation, and asserted that he considered the bill under consideration a direct violation of those pledges. He reviewed exhaustively the sugar beet industry and argued earnestly for its protection against competition with the Philippines. Mr. Fordny concluded at 5 o'clock, when the house adjourned.

LET OFF WITH A LECTURE

New Jersey Man Annoyed President With Offensive Letters

Montclair, N. J., Jan. 6.—John Peabody, who lives just over the Orange mountains here, was arrested by secret service officers from Washington on a charge of annoying President Roosevelt. For months the president, it is alleged, has been receiving letters attacking him for his position on the Panama canal, on railroad rebates, and, in fact, on every prominent public question that has come up for discussion.

These letters are said to have been offensive and were mailed at different points in this section—some at Bloomfield, some at Montclair, and others at Verona. The writer gave his name, but not his address, and there was much difficulty in finding him. The detectives say he was finally found here in a public library, where he was preparing another letter when arrested.

Peabody was taken before the authorities and, after a severe lecture, and upon promising to cease annoying the president with his criticisms, he was allowed to go.

Missing Woman Dead In Creek

Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—Tangled in the branches of a sunken tree in Wissahickon creek the dead body of Mrs. Millie Detoc of Wissahickon was found by searchers who had been hunting for her and her baby boy since the two mysteriously disappeared. The body of the child has not been recovered. John Visnerka is under arrest. He was found hiding in a shed at the Detoc home. Visnerka told an interpreter that Mrs. Detoc, who was 23 and very pretty, told him that she wanted to get across the creek and that he had laid a board across for her. That was all he would say. The police are puzzled over the problem as to whether it is a case of murder or suicide.

Dreary Christmas In Russia

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—The celebration of the Russian Christmas tomorrow will be a sad one. The streets of the capital have put on a pitiful semblance of holiday attire, but none of the heavy buying characteristic of the prodigal Russians in former days is in evidence. The workmen, exhausted by a long series of strikes, are without money, and Christmas trees and gewgaws brought into the city by the country people remain unbought in the streets.

Work on Schools Delayed

New York, Jan. 6.—President Ryan of the International Association of Structural Iron Workers has come to New York to take personal charge of the strike of the union men here for an increase of pay from $4.50 to $5 a day. Twelve public school buildings are tied up by the strike and more will be delayed as soon as the masons catch up with the iron work. There are more than 25 schools building.

Revolt Still Smouldering

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—A report prepared for the czar regarding the situation in the Baltic provinces declares that though open revolt has been crushed in many parts of the provinces and though the local authorities who were deposed by the revolutionists are resuming the reins of government under the protection of troops, the situation is still a very serious one.

Reward For Naval Heroes

Washington, Jan. 6.—Recognition of the extraordinary heroism displayed by the officers and crew of the gunboat Bennington when her boilers exploded on July 21 last is contained in a general order issued at the navy department by Secretary Bonaparte. Eleven members of the crew have each been awarded a medal of honor and $100 gratuity.

Laborers Came High

Kingston, Jam., Jan. 6.—Agents of the Panama canal commission, who have been here for the purpose of hiring laborers to work on the canal, have closed their offices by orders from Washington owing to Governor Swettenham's attitude in refusing to allow laborers to go to Panama without a deposit of $5 each.

Noted Man Shoots Himself

St. Paul, Jan. 6.—Charles Cristadoro, capitalist, art connoisseur, forestry expert and magazine writer, shot and probably fatally wounded himself in his office here. It is not yet determined whether the shooting was accidental. Cristadoro has been in poor health.

Trains Blocked by Snow

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 6.—"The Golden State Limited" and the "California fast mail" have been blockaded for 58 hours in the snowdrifts on the plains around Santa Rosa, N. M. Big rotary snowplows and gangs of men have been unable to cope with the conditions.

To Abolish Express Passes

New York, Jan. 6.—The express companies have decided to join with the railroads in refusing to issue passes for the carrying of business free of charge. Announcement to this effect was made at the office of the Adams Express company.

Coolie Importation Legal

London, Jan. 6.—The Standard says that the new Liberal government is committed to an unconstitutional act in stopping the importation of Chinese coolies to South Africa.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fifty-one savings banks, with assets of $85,590,104, are doing business in Maine, according to the annual report of State Bank Examiner Timberlake.

Fire originating from a defective flue in the basement of the Orange, Mass., savings bank block did $10,000 damage.

The Daily Ledger
New Serial

An Absorbing
Love Story

FOR OUR READERS

The Two Vanrevels

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done. —New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

THE TWO VANREVELS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER BEGINNING

"It is my father."

Some Day
Next Week

No One
Should Miss
The Opening
Chapter

"KILL INCURABLES"

Norton's Idea Regarding Hopelessly Injured or Insane

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 6.—"There are lives to which every reasonable consideration urges that the end should be put," writes Professor Charles Eliot Norton to Miss Anne S. Hall of Cincinnati in a letter published yesterday, expressing his views regarding the prolongation of life at the cost of misery.

Coming from such a kindly and humane man as Norton, the publication of the letter has caused great surprise and stirred up a tremendous amount of interest and discussion in and out of medical and charitable circles.

Professor Norton heads his letter "An Appeal to Reason as Well as Compassion." It is addressed to Miss Hall. He says that the doctrine of the sacredness of human life and the practice have been pressed too far, and that there are lives to which every reasonable consideration urges that the end should be put.

Professor Norton specifies the victims of accident who are past recovery, sufferers from cancer, and old persons whose "minds have become a chaos of wild images productive of constant distress not only to the sufferer but to all who love and attend him."

District Attorney Moran Ill

Boston, Jan. 6.—District Attorney Moran is ill in bed at his apartments in The Navarre, and probably will be unable to attend to his official duties for several days. He looks exhausted and plainly shows signs of fatigue and overwork. It is said that the five weeks he has spent in the district attorney's office have been a great strain upon him, especially so as he has frequently worked until late in the night and has devoted much more time to his official duties than was customary with his predecessors in the office.

Missing Student Heard From

Boston, Jan. 6.—Cesar Ferreira, the wealthy young South American student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who disappeared Nov. 7, has been found by a private detective agency to have left Havana on a sailing vessel for his home in Montevideo Dec. 4. A reward had been offered for information concerning his whereabouts. After leaving this city Ferreira went to New York, where he sailed for Havana. No cause for his departure has yet been assigned.

The Provident Securities Failure

Boston, Jan. 6.—Declaring that the safety of the public lies in the enactment of laws which would prevent the existence of an institution like the Provident Securities and Banking company, about whose doors on Devonshire street an angry mob surged all day yesterday, clamoring for the $182,000 which they have invested, Secretary Locke of the state bank commission says that that body will make an effort to have the present legislature modify the laws.

$1,000,000 Cargo From Argentina

Boston, Jan. 6.—Wool merchants of Boston in particular were interested in the arrival from River Platte ports of the steamer Honorius with 2000 bales of Argentina cross-bred wool. This consignment is the first of the year from South America. The vessel's wool cargo is valued at $700,000, with a duty of over $200,000. Besides the wool there were other commodities from the River Platte, bringing the total value to over $1,000,000.

Renewed War on Browntails

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 6.—The brown-tail moth, a crusade against which was waged in the spring by the schoolchildren of the city, has appeared in threatening numbers again, and a second crusade is to be started by Mayor Duggan in which the schoolchildren will get 2 cents for every nest brought in, instead of 1 cent as in the first crusade.

Murder Charge Against Fischel

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 6.—The grand jury returned an indictment of murder in the first degree in the case of Michael Fischel, who is accused of killing his brother-in-law, John Treipel, in Westbrook. Fischel, it is alleged, killed Treipel by blows on the head with an axe after a dispute over the ownership of a basket of apples.

Death Follows Lamp Explosion

South Framingham, Mass., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Julia Power died at a hospital here last night from the effects of burns received in the explosion of a kerosene lamp. She was going down the stairs in her home at Sherborne with the lighted lamp, when she fell and the lamp exploded, igniting her clothing.

Bridge Building Resumed

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 6.—Work has been resumed on the drawbridge at Coscob for the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad after a suspension of over five months on account of the strike of workmen employed by the American Bridge company. Thirty strike-breakers have been set to work.

Lad Killed by Train

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 6.—Robert Schilling of Lee, aged 10, had been skating on the river and was homeward bound. He attempted to cross the railroad tracks in front of a freight. He was struck by the engine and was thrown back upon the ice and killed.

Had Bogus Money

Boston, Jan. 6.—Giovanni Zocola, arrested for endeavoring to pass spurious $5 bills, was given a hearing before Commissioner Hale, at the conclusion of which he was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, being held in the sum of $1500.

Mortgage

By virtue of the power certain mortgage deed
Sprague to the City Tru
24, 1902, and recorded
Book 549, Page 339, Nor Page 253 and Middlesex
Book 2,9 2 Page 393, fo tion of said mortgage public auction at the 4 Liberty Square in Bo
Suffolk and Commonwe
on TUESDAY the thir
1906, at twelve o'clock property conveyed by remains subject thereto

A certain lot of land side of Auburn Street
County of Plymouth a Massachusetts, containi more or less and bounde
ning at the center of th
the bridge near the ice ho north six rods and fif formerly marked by a st degrees 30 minutes east to a point formerly mark north two degrees west links to a stake at land for Dudley; thence north 86 formerly of said William seven rods and seven lin formerly of Joseph Peed
Glover; thence south 3 de rods; thence south no de sixteen rods and eighteen land to Auburn Street; th 30 minutes east eleven said land formerly of said thence north five rods marked by a stake; thence formerly of said William rods to the north end of th mentioned.

Also a certain lot of
Whitman lying on the nor
Street and bounded and de Beginning at the south
at the middle pier of the stream near wrist is kno Ice House;" thence runn middle of the stream and land formerly of said Wil hundred and six feet to a stake north of Dam and to of said Mary F. Dudley land of said Mary F. Du above described), one hun monument at land now or
V. Everson; thence south said Everson one hundred quarters feet to said Au running westerly by said five feet to the point of beg

Also a certain lot of land side of Auburn Street, in taining 80 rods, and bound Beginning on said street corner of the premises;
rods and fifteen links; the rods and twenty links; t rods to said street; then street thirteen rods and tw of beginning; together wi ed in connection with s stone and other materia struction of said dam, it maining on the premises
Lebbens Smith, and later son, and the right to ca premises of said Everson or rebuild said dam. Also premises of said Everson said grantees may des November in each year to the succeeding year. Also to flow and cover with wa alter forever all land now liam H. Dudley, situated above the water stop and to, so far as the same may by water by said dam, as any and all other rights with said privilege.

A certain lot of land in on the northerly side of A known as lot No. 39 on surveyed by J. C. Torrey, and recorded with Plymou
1, page 137; and bounded lows:

Commencing at the nort and Auburn Streets, and the northerly line of A seven feet to the land
French; thence northerly of the Bradford French twelve and one half feet south east corner of lot 8
map; thence westerly thi southerly line of lot 81 to southerly in the easterly lin one hundred eighty-four beginning, it being a part o conveyed to Wilmot V. Eve
Smith, December 12, 1890, was recorded with Plymouth
page 219.

A certain tract or parce buildings thereon, situated Hanson, in Hanson, said bounded and described as ginning at a corner of land
the F. P. Howland heirs, called, and running south
W. six hundred and ten fe the mill pond; thence stream about five hundred range of the old stone degrees 9 minutes E. by feet to a fence; thence by hundred and twenty-five point in range of west seventy feet from point of a southerly direction seven of beginning. Said tract land, more or less, with a equipments which are all gether with the use of the
to, subject nevertheless, abutting the above des their proportionate part fro ning, above described, to

A certain parcel of land one-half acres more or Washington Street in bounded as follows:

Beginning at the northe
conveyed to Borden and
Feb. 20, 1896; thence w four hundred and four thence northerly by said w
to a wall at right angles, line of a former wood lo thence easterly by said wa sixty feet to a point en bounds of the land now o
White thence southerly by eighteen feet from the west of Joseph White, to the being part of the premises
Bourne by deed dated, A right of way between the
and the land of Joseph Wh
the use of, but to keep ope able condition.

All that certain lot, pie with the ice houses and the improvements thereon, sa
the northerly side of Gran ton in said County of Ply and described as follows:—

Beginning at the south e premises on Granite Stre corner of premises of the thence running westerly by to the south easterly corne late of D. Y. Soper; thenc Soper's land ten rods to the thereof; thence westerly side of said Soper land t corner thereof; thence we the mill stream, so called, northerly to the thread of westerly through said po till it intersects a line of t
the westerly line of the ho
O. Holbrook; thence south westerly line of the said westerly corner of said along the westerly side of or place above mentioned.
mentioned premises are s right of flowage.

A certain lot or parcel houses and other building thereon, situated in Quinc the County of Norfolk and and bounded and described

Mortgagee's Sale.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Wallace C. Sprague to the City Trust Company dated July 24, 1902, and recorded with Plymouth Deeds, Book 349, Page 330, Norfolk Deeds, Book 927, Page 233 and Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 2902, Page 393, for breach of the condition of said mortgage deed, will be sold at public auction at the Real Estate Exchange, 4 Liberty Square in Boston in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on TUESDAY the thirtieth day of January, 1906, at twelve o'clock noon, so much of the property conveyed by said mortgage as now remains subject thereto namely:

A certain lot of land situated on the North side of Auburn Street in Whitman, in the County of Plymouth and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, containing 8 acres 150 rods, more or less and bounded as follows:—Beginning at the center of the center abutment of the bridge near the ice houses; thence running north six rods and fifteen links to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence south 89 degrees 30 minutes east six rods and two links to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence north two degrees west fifty rods and fifteen links to a stake at land formerly of William H. Dudley; thence north 86 degrees west by land formerly of said William H. Dudley twenty-seven rods and seven links to a stake at land formerly of Joseph Reed, but later of William Glover; thence south 3 degrees west thirty-five rods; thence south no degrees 35 minutes east sixteen rods and eighteen links by said Glover's land to Auburn Street; thence south 75 degrees 30 minutes east eleven rods and five links to said land formerly of said William H. Dudley; thence north five rods to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence easterly by said land formerly of said William H. Dudley; fourteen rods to the north end of the first course above mentioned.

Also a certain lot of land situated in said Whitman lying on the northerly side of Auburn Street and bounded and described as follows:—Beginning at the south west corner of the lot at the middle pier of the bridge that spans the stream near what is known as the "Dudley Ice House;" thence running northerly by the middle of the stream and in the easterly line of land formerly of said William H. Dudley, one hundred and six feet to a point marked by a stake south of Dam and to other land formerly of said Mary F. Dudley; thence easterly by land of said Mary F. Dudley (being the land above described), one hundred feet to a stone monument at land now or formerly of Wilmot V. Everson; thence southerly by said land of said Everson one hundred eighteen and three quarters feet to said Auburn Street; thence running westerly by said Auburn Street sixty five feet to the point of beginning;

Also a certain lot of land situated on the north side of Auburn Street, in said Whitman containing 50 rods, and bounded as follows, to wit: Beginning on said street at the south easterly corner of the premises; thence northerly six rods and fifteen links; thence westerly thirteen rods and twenty links; thence southerly five rods to said street; thence easterly by said street thirteen rods and twenty links to the point of beginning; together with the dam, formerly used in connection with said premises, and the stone and other materials used in the construction of said dam, if any there be now remaining on the premises of land formerly of Lobbens Smith, and later of Wilmot V. Everson and the right to enter in and upon the premises of said Everson at all times, to repair or rebuild said dam. Also the right to flow the premises of said Everson to such height as the said grantees may desire from the first of November in each year to the tenth of April in the succeeding year. Also a right and privilege to flow and cover with water at all times hereafter forever all land now or formerly of William H. Dudley, situated in said Whitman, and above the water stop and dam above referred to, so far as the same may be flowed and covered by water by said dam, as now constructed; also any and all other rights of flowage, running with said privilege.

A certain lot of land in said Whitman lying on the northerly side of Auburn Street that is known as lot No. 99 on m p No. 2 drawn and surveyed by J. C. Torrey, Civ. Eng. May 1892, and recorded with Plymouth Deeds Blank Book 1, page 187, and bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at the north east corner of May and Auburn streets, and running easterly in the northerly line of Auburn Street, ninety-seven feet to the land formerly of Bradford French; thence northerly in the westerly line of the Bradford French land two hundred twelve and one half feet, more or less, to the south east corner of lot 81, as laid out on said map; thence westerly thirty-four feet, in the southerly line of lot 81 to May Street; thence northerly in the easterly line of said May Street one hundred eighty-four feet to the point of beginning, it being a part of the same premises conveyed to Wilmot V. Everson by Samuel R. Smith, December 12, 1890. The deed of which was recorded with Plymouth Deeds Book 618, page 219.

A certain tract or parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in the village of North Hanson, in Hanson in said County of Plymouth, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a corner of land now or formerly of the F. P. Howland heirs, at head of lane, so called, and running south 64 degrees 38 minutes W. six hundred and ten feet to the channel of the mill pond; thence by said channel up stream about five hundred feet to a point in range of the old stone wall; thence N. 29 degrees 9 minutes E. by said wall about fifty feet to a fence; thence by said fence south, five hundred and twenty-five feet; thence east to a point in range of west line of said lane and seventy feet from point of beginning; thence in a southerly direction seventy feet to the point of beginning. Said tract contains 4 acres of land, more or less, with an ice house and its equipments which are all hereby conveyed together with the use of the land above referred to, subject nevertheless, to the usual repairs abutting the above described premises, and their proportionate part from the point of beginning, above described, to the highway.

A certain parcel of land containing four and one-half acres more or less, situated north of Washington Street in said Hanson, and bounded as follows:

Beginning at the northeast corner of the land conveyed to Borden and Lantz by deed dated Feb. 26, 1896; thence westerly by said land four hundred and four feet to a stone wall; thence northerly by said wall, five hundred feet to a wall at right angles, being the southerly line of a former wood lot of Frank Bourne; thence easterly by said wall four hundred and sixty feet to a point eighteen feet from the bounds of the land now or formerly of Joseph White thence southerly by a line parallel to and eighteen feet from the westerly line of the land of Joseph White, to the point of beginning, being part of the premises conveyed from Frank Bourne by deed dated, August 22, 1894. The right of way between the above described lot and the land of Joseph White, grantee, to have the use of, but to keep open and in good passable condition.

All that certain lot, piece or parcel, together with the ice houses and the other buildings and improvements thereon, said premises being on the northerly side of Granite Street in Abington in said County of Plymouth, and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at the south easterly corner of the premises on Granite Street, at a stake at the corner of premises of the late N. O. Holbrook; thence running westerly by said street nine rods to the south easterly corner of premises now or late of D. Y. Soper; thence northerly by said Soper's land ten rods to the northeasterly corner thereof; thence westerly along the northerly side of said Soper land to the north westerly corner thereof; thence westerly to the thread of the mill stream, so called, in said pond; thence northerly to the thread of the stream running westerly through said pond; thence easterly till it intersects a line of the northerly range of the westerly line of the house lot of the late N. O. Holbrook; thence southerly in range of the westerly line of the said Holbrook lot to north westerly corner of said lot; thence southerly along the westerly side of said lot to the point or place above mentioned. Part of the aforementioned premises are subject to a perpetual right of flowage.

A certain lot or parcel of land with the ice houses and other buildings and improvements thereon, situated in Quincy and Braintree, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at a post and stones on the southerly side of Wendall Road, near and north east from the ice house of Adelaide E. White, and running thence southerly by a wire fence, as it now stands, to a stone wall; thence by said wall southerly to a stone wall running about east and west; thence easterly along said stone wall to a stone wall running southerly; thence southerly along said wall to a stone wall running westerly; thence westerly along the said wall to a stone wall running northerly; thence northerly along said wall to two maple trees standing on the northerly side of an old railroad embankment and dam; thence easterly along the northerly side of said embankment to a large elm tree standing near the ice house runs of said White; thence by stone wall in a curved line, northerly, northwesterly and westerly to a stone wall running northerly; thence northerly along the said wall and until it intersects southerly line of Wendall Road at a point west of said White's ice house; thence along southerly line of Wendall Road easterly and passing by northerly side of said White's ice house to the point of beginning.

The above property includes property conveyed by Francis H. Crane to Osborne Rogers by deed dated June 25, 1892, recorded February 26th, 1892, with Norfolk Deeds Book 668, Page 269.

The property conveyed by Joseph Crane to Carry S. Rogers by deed dated December 15, 1894, recorded May 5, 1895, with Norfolk Deeds, Book 735, Page 8.

A certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in Arlington, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth and bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Spy Pond; northwesterly by land now or late of Philip Whittemore; northeasterly by the location of the Arlington branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad, formerly the Lexington and West Cambridge Railroad; southeasterly by Pond Lane so called. Also a certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in said Arlington and bounded as follows: Southwesterly by Spy Pond; northwesterly by Pond Lane, so called, northeasterly by the location of the aforesaid railroad; southeasterly by land of the heirs of John P. Wyman, deceased, formerly of Samuel F. Wyman, deceased.

A certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in said Arlington, being lots 5 and 6 on a plan of lots belonging to George E. Richardson, drawn by J. O. Goodwin, Surveyor, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 51 plan No. one said lots being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner of the described premises on Pond Lane and next to lot 7 the line runs southeasterly along lot 7 one hundred eight and 48-100 feet to land of William E. Wood; thence northeasterly along land of said Wood one hundred feet to lot 4 on said plan; thence northwesterly along lot 4 one hundred and fifty-seven and 81-100 feet to Pond Lane; thence southwesterly along Pond Lane one hundred and thirty-five and 94-100 feet to the point of beginning, containing 15,239 square feet. Being the same premises conveyed to E John Kauffman by Charles W. and H. Ella Ilsley in her own right by deed dated May 23, 1902.

All the property conveyed or transferred by said mortgage other than that herein above described has been released from said mortgage.

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments.

Terms cash. $3,000 to be paid by the purchaser to the auctioneer at the time and place of sale and the remainder in ten days thereafter.

FREDERICK H. ALLEN.
Assignee and present holder of said mortgage.
Hill, Bangs, Barlow & Homans, Attorneys,
53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
January 3, 1906
Saturday, Jan. 6. 3t

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

TO Lucy R. Chute, Melbourne Chute, the Fore River Ship Building Company, and Minnie E. Lowe, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth; the said City of Quincy; Paul T. Baxter, now or formerly of Irving, in the State of Nebraska, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives, and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Edwin W. Newcomb, Charles W. Newcomb, Melora E Harris, Mary E. Drake and Ellen F. Bicker, all of said Quincy, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Quincy, bounded: Westerly on Howard street, sixty-seven and 2-10 (67.2) feet; southerly on land of the Fore River Ship Building Company, one hundred sixty and 92-100 (160.92) feet; easterly on land of said Fore River Ship Building Company, seventy-six and 12-100 (76.12) feet; northerly on land of said Fore River Company, one hundred nineteen and 5-10 (119.5) feet; westerly on land of said Fore River Company nineteen and 3-10 (19.3) feet; and northerly again by land of said Fore River Company forty-one and 75-100 (41.75) feet.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the fifteenth day of January, A. D., 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, LEONARD A. JONES, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of December, in the year nineteen hundred and five.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

[SEAL.] CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.

Dec. 23. 3t-23-30-6

The Hancock Hotel

Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table.
Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 3.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point, Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

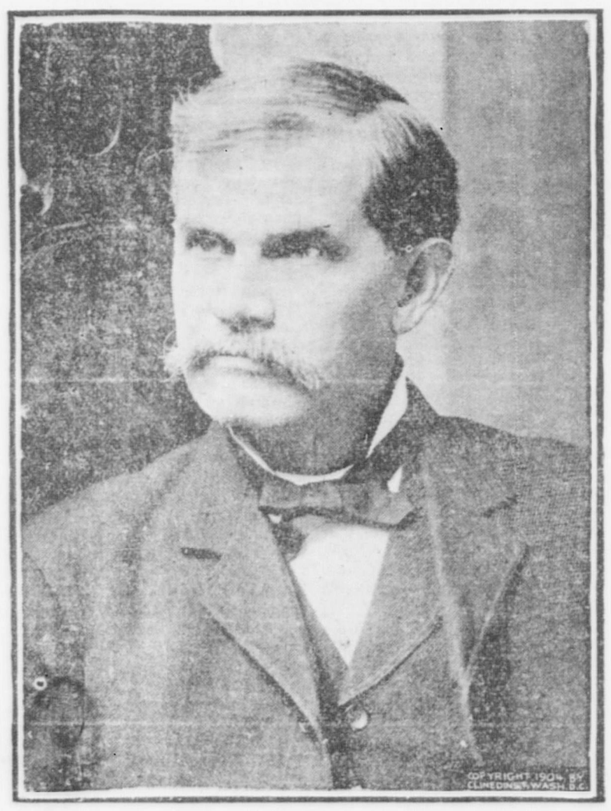

THE YAZOO STATESMAN

Personality of John Sharp Williams, Democratic Leader of the House

High Minded and Tactful, Resourceful In Debate and Widely Informed--Convincing Speaker Who Never Seems In a Hurry, but Accomplishes Much -- Strong Partisan, Yet a Patriot--- Amusing Instances of His Absent-mindedness--Samples of His Wit.

JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS is not a high financier. That is one thing in his favor. He is one of the homeliest men that ever broke into congress. That is perhaps another thing in his favor. Additional virtues that may be claimed for him are that he has a large family, that he is a good story teller, that he has a thorough education, that he comes of first class stock, that he likes folks and they like him, that he is in possession of a think works of his own, that he seldom talks without saying something and that he seems to have a fund of good horse sense.

There are doubtless many things that could be said against him. This is the case with most people. But why go around with a dark lantern looking for imperfections? Life is too short to spend it in such a negative and ill natured pastime as fault finding. In this world of limitations men should be judged by their best, not their worst. We never really see a soul until we see it at its highest. It requires the highest in us to so see it. That helps us as well as the one at whom we are looking. It also helps those that hear what we have to say. It has been said that we should speak well of the dead. But why not speak well of everybody? This does not mean that we should be spineless and complacent in the face of wrongdoing. It only means that there is enough beauty in every human being to engross our attention without spending our time in the condemnation of our fellow men. Moreover, we are apt to see in others what we have within ourselves. Conversely we are apt to have within ourselves what we see in others. By looking for nobility and loveliness in our brother we develop these qualities in our own characters.

JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS, DEMOCRATIC LEADER OF THE HOUSE.

Southerner of the Best School.

Not that John Sharp Williams needs the implied excuse contained in the above paragraph, for he does not. This is just a bit of moralizing thrown in for good measure. Williams is very much of a man, a southern gentleman of the best school, high minded and tactful, conservative by instinct, resourceful in debate, widely informed, serene and self possessed, with a saving sense of humor and a native gift of leadership. Not a bad combination as things go. Very much of a partisan and very much of a southerner, but withal a patriot and fair minded. A human man that likes his own folks, but with broad sympathies and toleration; a student, but without separating himself from the affairs of the world; a successful planter, a good lawyer and a bright congressman; never seeming in a hurry, but accomplishing much; never seeming to impose his will on others, but really having it; a man ready on the spur of the moment, always holding his temper, good in a rough and tumble fight; not a genius perhaps nor a great orator, but a convincing speaker and a clear headed political economist; not a radical, but a progressive, in an easy, secure way; conscious of his class and his position in the world, yet democratic in his habits of thought and in his bearing; genuine, not easily flimflammed, not taking himself too seriously; a well trained mind, and withal possessing a finer, spiritual quality; rather incongruous and careless in dress, a slight, swarthy man, with a shock of black hair, a keen, dark eye and a not especially impressive face or manner, the sort that an audience would be disappointed in at first sight, but winning them by logic, wit and the mastery of his subject; not ahead of his time, not fired by a reformer's dream, but thoroughly abreast of the thought of his day; a likable man, in fine, that grows by contact. That is John Sharp Williams, minority leader of the house.

The Repast Ready, but No Guests.

Uncle Joe Cannon, who, by the way, is a chum of Williams, has been regarded as the most absentminded man in congress. But there is a question as to whether he is any more absentminded than Williams himself. Mrs. Williams tells two stories on this head. One morning the lord and master of the house wanted an elaborate spread in the evening, as he intended to invite a judge and some prominent lawyers to dinner. The repast was ready but no guests. Mr. Williams had forgotten to ask them. At another time the Democratic leader was in a hurry to get to the house and left without his breakfast. Mrs. Williams had to telephone for a locksmith, as her absentminded husband had locked her in.

The crowning instance of preoccupation on the part of John Sharp, as he is universally called, is recounted by a fellow representative, however. Dropping in to accompany Williams to some sort of a banquet, he found him just finishing dressing and with his mind on something else, as usual. We will let the congressman complete the story:

"He had his vest and coat on when I dropped in on him and was putting the finishing dabs to his necktie. Then he buttoned up his vest and turned to me.

"'Say, do I look all right?' he asked.

"'Well, I've seen worse,' I told him. 'But, say, don't you think it would be the au fait kink for you to don a pair of—er—trousers?'

"Yep, he'd forgotten 'em, and he blushed a lot when I told him of his little oversight.

"'By George,' he gasped when he had got fixed out all right, 'I'm glad that you happened to come in, old man!'"

Scientific Coon Hunter.

Mr. Williams' home is at Yazoo, Miss. Democratic candidates there are chosen by the primary system. When the future leader was first running for congress his opponent was a famous coon hunter, a sport at which John Sharp was not an expert. One county was practically lost to him for this reason, so he saw that something had to be done. Going into this county, the first thing that met him was an invitation to hunt coons. He accepted with alacrity, but explained that he was a scientific coon hunter. Taking along a bunch of Roman candles, he fired these among the branches of the first tree in which a coon had taken refuge and literally scared the animal off the perch. Repeating this process each time the dogs treed the game, the hunt was a record breaker, and Williams got almost the unanimous vote of the county.

John Sharp once ran afoul of Tom Reed. This is the way he tells the story himself:

"One day," said Mr. Williams, "I met Mr. Reed coming out of the cloakroom, and he said to me in that peculiar drawl of his, 'Williams, whatever makes you such a bitter partisan?'

"'Well, Mr. Speaker, that's pretty good coming from you, isn't it?' I replied:

"'Never mind me,' he replied. 'But why are you such a bitter partisan?'

"'Well, I'll tell you,' I said. 'You know I never saw a Republican until I was thirty-eight years old, and I can't get used to them somehow.'

"He looked at me reproachfully and walked away without another word."

At one time Speaker Cannon wanted the Democratic leader to place a man from Mississippi on the river and harbor committee.

"Heavens, no!" protested Williams. "I own a lot of land, 2,000 acres, behind one of those Mississippi levees, and they would all say I put that man in there because I want something done to my advantage by that committee."

"Pshaw, John Sharp!" said Uncle Joe. "You ought to be willing to take a chance with public opinion if I do. I own 8,000 acres of land behind a Mississippi levee myself."

In the early part of 1904 there was quite a little talk of Williams for the presidency, talk that he did not take seriously and out of which he had not a little dry fun. One day a young reporter questioned him concerning the matter, and John Sharp, with exceeding gravity, said he had quite some hopes of getting the nomination. Reports from Mississippi were especially encouraging.

"Toomsuba, Ofanoma, Noxopater, Nanachehaw, Toccopola, Tabbville and Grubbs Springs, I am told," he said, "are already for me, while I have every reason to believe that I shall have the undivided support of such places at Nittayuma, Wahalak, Bolatusha, Hushpukena, Ittabena, Pelahatchie, Mittayuma, Skutch, Cinqupin, Pawtickfaw, Octoc, Leggo, Yellow Rabbit, Chunkey Station, Hambone, Deovolente and Whynot."

Upon being asked to spell the names he did so with great deliberation.

On a later occasion, when the newspaper men asked him concerning his candidacy, he said that Mrs. Williams had objected that with her sick headaches she never could stand the White House, so he would have to give up the presidency.

Mr. Williams was temporary chairman of the national convention of 1904. The one disappointing thing about his speech on that occasion was that his voice was not sufficient to fill the great hall. Lung power is not oratory, but it is a good asset in attempting to address 20,000 people.

A Satirical Eulogy.

One of the minority leader's most famous speeches in the house was delivered during the Sampson-Schley controversy. It was a satirical eulogy of Admiral Crowninshield, "the bravest tar that never went to sea." In it he recited a piece of homemade verse on Crowninshield that sent the audience off into spasms.

Almost as famous was his recent characterization of "kid" congressmen, a designation that he fastened on to new members forevermore. Mr. Wharton, a boyish looking recruit from Chicago, interrupted Williams and wanted to know what he meant by "kid" congressmen.

"Mr. Speaker," said Mr. Williams, with a wave of his hand toward the youthful appearing member from Chicago, "with that degree of reverence which the personal appearance of my interrogator excites in my mind I should say that he is perhaps the last person in the house who ought to ask the question," whereat Mr. Wharton subsided.

It must not be supposed, however, that John Sharp Williams is always a wit or, on the other hand, that he always, when not sarcastic, indulges in discussions of statistics and dry political economy. Here is something in a finer line that is well worth quoting:

"The Divine Master, the great democrat of all the years, the cornerstone of whose doctrine was the democratic truth that proves it divine, 'the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man,' expressed in the injunction, 'he shall be chiefest among you who is servant of all,' was no Mohammed converting men to the true faith by fire and sword, but a life, a word, a germ, a leaven, a life to imitate, a word calling newborn men to holier purposes, a germ to grow throughout all times and to indoctrinate all mankind with its disease killing properties, a leaven to leaven the whole lump of humanity, so that it shall finally burst its selfish crust, so that it shall some day cease to be true that 'man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn.'"

Expert on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Williams was born in 1854 at Memphis, Tenn. His mother died before the war, and his father, a Confederate colonel, was killed in battle. The boy was then taken to Mississippi, where he began his education in private schools. He afterward graduated from the Kentucky Military institute, from the University of the South, located in Tennessee; from the University of Virginia and from the University of Heidelberg, in Germany. He also attended lectures at Paris and Dijo. Returning to his native land, he studied law and began practice at Yazoo. He is regarded as probably the ripest scholar in the house and is an expert on foreign affairs and the tariff. He was first elected to congress in 1892 and has been there ever since.

It should be remembered that, though he is the Democratic leader, John Sharp Williams is regarded as one of the president's strongest supporters in the railroad rate fight.

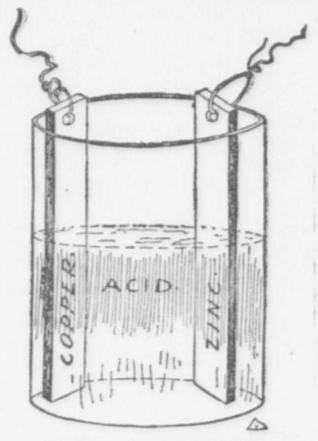

J. A. EDGERTON.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

ELECTRICAL MACHINE.

Simple Instructions For Making an Inexpensive Battery.

Take a glass tumbler of large size, or if the reader has a little spare change he may go to any electrical supply house and purchase for a few cents a glass jar that is made especially for the purpose, and into this pour enough clean water to fill the glass about two-thirds full. Secure at the drug store a small bottle of sulphuric acid, say 5 cents' worth. If an ordinary tumbler be used the amount of acid that will be necessary to add to the water will be about one or two tablespoonfuls, while if a jar be purchased the quantity of acid will be about one-twelfth as much as the water. Secure at some electrical supply store pieces of sheet copper and zinc about 1½ by 3 inches long, also two pieces of copper wire. Take a wire nail and make a hole in the end of each piece of metal by driving it through and then fasten in a wire, being sure that it is twisted up very tight so that it makes good contact with the pieces of metal. When this is done place them in the glass containing the diluted acid, being careful to keep them separated from each other, and your simple battery is now complete. If the wires are now joined together you will see little bubbles form on the metal, and this is an indication that the battery is working, or, in other words, that the electric current is flowing. This is the most simple form of battery and is not very powerful.

HOW THE BATTERY IS MADE.

RAILWAY WHISTLES.

What the Signals Made by the Engineer Mean.

One long blast of the whistle is the signal for approaching stations, railroad crossings and junctions. One short blast of the whistle is a signal to apply the brakes—stop. Two long blasts of the whistle are a signal to throw off the brakes. Two short blasts of the whistle are an answer to the conductor's signal to stop at the next station. Three long blasts of the whistle are a signal that the train has parted. Three short blasts of the whistle when the train is standing are a signal to be given by passenger trains, when displaying signals for a following train, to call the attention of trains they meet or pass to the signals. Four long blasts of the whistle are a signal to call in the flagman. Four short blasts of the whistle are the engineman's calls for signals from switchmen, watchmen and trainmen. Two long, followed by two short blasts of the whistle, are a signal for approaching road crossings at grade. Five short blasts of the whistle are a signal to the flagman to go back and protect the rear of the train. A succession of short blasts of the whistle is an alarm for persons or cattle on the track and calls the attention of trainmen to danger ahead.

A Little Sum to Work Out.

Here is an easy little puzzle, interesting by reason of its antiquity: Cupid complained to his mamma that the Muses had taken away his apples. "Clio," he cried, "took from me the fifth part, Euterpe the twelfth part, Thalia the eighth part, Melpomene the twentieth part, Erato the seventh part, Terpsichore the fourth part, Polyhymnia took away 30, Urania 120 and Calliope 300. So I have only 50 apples left." How many had he at first?

Conundrums.

What is the difference between a comma and a cat? One has pause at the end of clause; the other has claws at the end of paws.

What is the difference between an attempted assassination and a pig killing? One is assault with intent to kill; the other to kill with intent to salt.

Why He Knew It.

"Do you know," said a Sunday school teacher, addressing a new pupil in the infant class, "that you have a soul?"

"Course I do," replied the little fellow, placing his hand over his heart, "I can feel it tick."

Learning.

Ply away, dearie; ply away.
The little black notes some day
Will answer what you please
To your fingers on the keys
When you ask them what they've got to say.

Dear little clumsy fingers now,
Dear little puzzled eyes, so slow!
But fingers learn to race,
Never missing one its space,
And eyes to eat up notes by the row.

Ply away, dearie; ply away.
A little bit better each day.
That's how people train
Fingers, eyes and brain
A trained will's nod to obey.

—E. S. Martin in St. Nicholas.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS

and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902.	In 1898.
Sunday,	49	36	40	33	39
Monday,	41	29	47	14	27
Tuesday,	35	40	45	31	23
Wednesday,	34	49	34	35	31
Thursday,	58	50	14	13	18
Friday,	44	58	23	25	31
Saturday,	43	45	21	32	41

New Advertisements Today.

E. M. Freeman—Real Estate and Mortgages.
Elmer W. Baker's Class Reception.
Ladies' opportunity to make money.
Wanted—Machine and hand granite polisher.
Wanted—Canvassers.
To Let—Furnished Rooms.

Local Ins And Outs

Probate court for Norfolk county will be held in Quincy next Wednesday.

Chief of Police Burrell says that he does not intend that the liquor laws shall be violated if he can help it.

The weather this morning had a threatening look, and feeling as though a snow storm was not a great way off.

A box lunch meeting of the Fragment Society will be held in the chapel of the First church on Wednesday, Jan. 10, from 10 to 2.

City Auditor Sidelinger is winding up the business of his office so as to be able to turn everything over in good shape on Feb. 1 to his successor, Henry O. Fairbanks.

The city, as far as Atlantic is concerned has assumed a more metropolitan character now the electric cars can get beyond the big elm tree and glide by their old boundry on the way from Squantum to the head of Sagamore street where it converges with Madison into the Hancock street main line. The improvement is so marked, and the accommodationto the school children so appreciated that even though continuous travel to Neponset does not go into effect until Spring, Atlantic patrons have no complaint to make.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

On account of the great success of "Oliver Twist" at the Castle Square Theatre, that play will be continued through the coming week.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Lew Dockstader with his famous minstrel company of over seventy persons is playing at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, this week, to crowded houses. Mr. Dockstader has always had the merit of producing good, clean, wholesome humor and fun in his entertainments, and this is one reason why he has established his own particular place. The negro minstrel performance of to-day is a long way from the old-fashioned minstrelsy of our fathers. Like everything else on the stage, it has been changed by the demands of modern audiences, but there are certain recognized features to minstrel shows which still make this form of entertainment a prime favorite with many theatregoers. The company will remain at the Majestic for next week only and will play in no other New England city.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The production of Victorien Sardou's great melodrama "La Tosca" is to be made one of the leading events of the season at the Empire Theatre, this play having been selected as an example of a dramatic school seldom presented by stock companies. It has never been seen in Boston before at popular prices. The three leading characters La Tosca, Marco, and Scarpio will be taken by Mary Hall, Howel Hansel, and Frank Losee each of whom has made a special study of the play. The character of La Tosca is one well suited to show Mary Hall's abilities in emotional work and she has long had an ambition to appear in it. Some elaborate stage settings have been prepared in accordance with the designs made for the Fanny Davenport version of the play which is to be used by agreement with the executors of her estate. Mary Hall's costumes will be copied from those worn by the late Fanny Davenport.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The man or woman who desires to enjoy good hearty laughter will want to make sure and take in the performance at Keith's the week of Jan. 8, Harry Tate and his little company of comedians will be the topline feature of the bill in a side-splitting sketch called "Motoring" The sketch treats of the breaking down of a motor party on a country road. A father is hurrying his son back to college and the collapsing of the motor car upsets his nerves quite as much as it does the machine. The surrounding show is a notable one including Al W. Filson and Lee Erroll, who have not been seen here in six years, in an amusing farce, "A Tip on the Derby;" Julian Eltinge, formerly of the Cadets' theatricals, in terpsichorean specialties; George Wilson blackface comedian and stump orator; Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, in a comedy and acrobatic dancing specialty; Lugi Del'Oro, European novelty musician; Valeno Brothers, acrobats and equilibrists, and Lee Carrillo, a pleasing mimetic comedian. The usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be shown in the kinetograph.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of David A. Haley for creating a disturbance on a street car at Quincy was heard and he was fined $25. Appealed.

DIED.

McRITCHIE—In West Quincy, Jan. 5, Mr. John McRitchie of 13 Robertson street, a member of Clan McGregor, No. 5, O. S. C., aged 52 years.

Funeral services on Monday, Jan. 8, at 1.30 P. M. at the First Presbyterian church, Water Street.

PETTIS—In North Scituate, Jan. 5, Mrs. Harriet M., widow of Henry Pettis, aged 78 years.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

GLORIES OF INDIANA

How They Were Celebrated at a Banquet In Chicago.

WITTY SHAFTS FROM GEORGE ADE

Hoosier State Natives Heard Home Talent Talk and Were Amused by the Dramatist's Quip on a Reformer—A Letter From James Whitcomb Riley Read.

Two hundred sons of Indiana, heartily agreeing with their leading farmer-playwright when he assured them they were "the chosen and elect of all the earth," assembled in the Auditorium hotel at Chicago the other night to celebrate the glories of Hoosierdom, says the Chicago Record-Herald. It was the first banquet of the Indiana Society of Chicago, and with uproarious unanimity the feasters located the Garden of Eden, Mount Parnassus, Utopia and the center of the United States within the confines of their native state.

To prove that Indiana is sufficient unto itself only home grown talent was permitted to have a place upon the programme. George Ade supplied whimsical humor, Wilbur D. Nesbit a blend of wit and sentiment, John T. McCutcheon the mirth provoking art of chalk point, James Whitcomb Riley, in absentia, the touch that recalls tearful memories of "way back home," and Senator A. J. Beveridge the oratory which has made him and Indiana noted.

George Ade, introduced by Toastmaster Joseph H. Defrees as "the sage of the latter day Brook Farm," was the first to commence the paean of Indiana's greatness. He opened by addressing his audience as "Mr. Ringers," declaring that he observed many merely honorary Hoosiers in the gathering and asserting that whenever an Indiana banquet was given all the sons of all the commonwealth were eager to rally themselves with the ruling race.

Then George denied he had ever given the historic explanation for the numbers of clever Indianians in Chicago—"the smarter they are the quicker they come"—stating that here were two reasons why he should not have said it: "First, because it isn't true. Second, because it is a chestnut."

Then he began to talk upon the theme "Hoosiers I Have Met." He mentioned the well known fact that his native people had always held themselves apart from "the low browed agriculturists, mere business men and cheap professions" of the three adjacent states of Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky, forming as they do a special class from which come the poets, geniuses and great ones of the world.

He spoke of his boyhood impressions of Thomas A. Hendricks and Benjamin Harrison and then told of his first meeting with John T. McCutcheon, "when I was preparing for a literary career by taking the scientific course in an agricultural college." He told old college stories about the early fame of Beveridge and then paid his compliments to Charles Alling.

"When I first came to Chicago," he remarked, "that earnest young reformer Charlie Alling was just beginning his career. There is some doubt upon the genuineness of Alling's claim to Hoosier birth. There is bitter controversy on this point between the town of Madison, his home, and Louisville, Ky., Madison claiming that Charlie was born in Louisville and Louisville that he was born in Madison."

The shrieks of glee with which this quip was hailed brought Mr. Alling to his feet with the retort, "At least I was not born in Kentland, Ind.," which aspersion upon his birthplace Mr. Ade passed by in order to asseverate with solemnity that in Indiana "no farm hand who did not own an automobile ever attempted to break into society."

Mr. Ade also related a pathetic little tale of his journalistic days when he and McCutcheon and Kenesaw M. Landis, now United States judge, went to a town to write up a threatened lynching. They were afraid there would be a blot on the fair name of the state and a good story for the morning papers. "Landis," said Ade, "finally was afraid there would be no blot and urged McCutcheon to start something. McCutcheon got on a dry goods box and shouted, 'Give me a determined man'— and the sheriff started for him, and we all started for Lafayette." Mr. Ade said that was the way he and McCutcheon and Landis came to go to Chicago, where the people were more easily worked than anywhere else.

Wilbur D. Nesbit followed with an affirmation that William Shakespeare was an Indiana poet who, like Ade, "produced his plays away from home, with good reason," and that Andrew Carnegie had built libraries in every hamlet in order that there might be shelf room for the works of the Indiana authors. He also initiated a presidential boom for Senator Beveridge. Then H. H. Howland, editor of the Reader Magazine of Indianapolis, read a letter from James Whitcomb Riley. The poet wrote in part:

How the good God has blessed us, giving us such a home as even when the everquesting heart has ransacked the world and you have hacked a name upon the hip of the oldest pyramid ever "stacked up" on the oldest Ptolemy—many of you will recall, even now, the thought of the little old creek bridge or culvert way back home, som'er in Indiana, antedates the pyramidal age and claim—since there your first boy initials went down in the gritty sandstone along with—oh, my boy!—along with the little, silent, twilight girl at your side—aye, still at your side—and still silent! And you will hear the way the old brooks used to sound—such a bewildering blend of liquid, plaintive, dulcet sweetness of music as the hearing, yet in memory, sweeps over as it listens, way back home! So, honoring our childhood home, we hope, too, the sacred memories of father, mother, still wistfully waiting our return either by the lamplit window or the starlit skies.

RUNNING THE GANTLET.

This Punishment Was Once Used For Military Discipline.

The following extracts give information concerning the punishment of "running the gantlet:"

"In running the gantlope the regiment was formed six deep, and the ranks opened and faced inward. Each man being furnished with a switch, the offender, naked to the waist, was led through the ranks, preceded by a sergeant, the point of whose reversed halbert was presented to his breast to prevent his running too fast. As he thus passed through the ranks every soldier gave him a stroke."—Grose's "Military Antiquities," volume 2, page 108.

But the oldest notice I have seen is given in "Monro—His Expedition With the Worthy Scots Regiment (called Mackeyes Regiment), Levied In August, 1626, Etc. London. Printed by William Jones In Red-Crosse Streete, 1637:"

"Other slight punishments we enjoyne for slight faults, put in execution by their camarades, as the loupegarthe (running the gantlet; Swedish gantulopp, to run through a hedge made by soldiers), when a souldier is stripped naked above the waste and is made to runne a furlong betwixt 200 souldiers ranged alike opposite to others, leaving a space in the midst for the souldier to runne through, where his camarades whip him with small rods ordained and cut for the purpose by the Gavilliger (provost marshal), and all to keepe good order and discipline."—London Notes and Queries.

WEDDING SPEECHES.

Some That Were Not In the Usual Conventional Style.

A wedding in New York at which the bridesmaids were representative of six nationalities and each felicitated the bride in the language of her own country was an odd affair, but probably not so well received as the speech of a young Englishman who was called upon to propose the toast, "The Bridesmaids." Apprised of his ordeal in advance, he had devised an escape, and with the single statement that silence was golden he brought from his pocket a set of gold bangles, which he bestowed upon the attendants of the bride.

At a wedding feast at Dol, in Normandy, the demand for a speech resulted in the production of a guitar, upon which the speaker accompanied himself while he chanted the praises of the bride. Had he stopped there all would have been well, but he changed to a praise of his store, and the guests threw him out of the house.

Doubtless a similar fate should have befallen the sharpshooter who wrote the name of the bride upon the wall with pistol bullets, to the serious damage of the wall paper. Almost as odd was the performance of a German music hall performer, who, when called upon for entertainment, mounted the table upon his hands and balanced himself upon glasses, cups and other furnishings.

Funny Blunders.

A famous sculpture group recently exhibited in Glasgow represents Adam and Eve after they had left Eden. Eve, in despair, lies at Adam's feet. Through a mistake an intelligent attendant placarded it with this description: "Motherless." At the same exhibition was a sleeping nymph, by a well known sculptor, which by another mistake appeared in the catalogue as "Mrs. ——," greatly to the horror of Glasgow.

A Sunday school boy recently gave this account of the prophet Elijah: "Elijah, the prophet, was carried into heaven by a whirlwind, and the children stood up and cried: 'Go up, thou baldhead! Go up, thou baldhead!' And before he went up he divided the Red sea."

He Saw the Joke.

"One day," says an American, "I walked into a bookshop in the Strand and asked for Hare's 'Walks In London.' In America the book is sold in one thick volume. The clerk brought it in two. 'Oh,' I said as I looked at them, 'you part your "Hare" in the middle, do you?' 'I, sir?' he said, with a bewildered look. 'Oh, no, sir!' I saw he didn't see the joke, so I didn't explain, but bought the books and went away. A week later I went to the same shop. As soon as the clerk saw me he rushed from the back of the shop, laughing vociferously. 'Good!' he shouted. 'Capital! Part your "Hare" in the middle! That's capital, sir, capital!'"—London Tit-Bits.

Love's Grammar.

"I wish I dared to ask you something, Miss Helen," said Percy, with trembling voice and wabbling chin.

"Why don't you dare to ask it?" the maiden said demurely.

"Because I can see 'No' in your eyes."

"In both of them?"

"Y-yes."

"Well, don't you—don't you know two negatives are equivalent to an—How dare you, sir? Take your arm from around my waist instantly!"

But he didn't.

A Question.

"You'll let me come to your wedding, dear, of course?"

"Well, I can't promise. My people are so enraged at my choice that I hardly know whether I shall be allowed to go myself."

A Dyer.

He—Do you think blonds have more admirers than brunettes? She—I don't know. You might ask Miss Turner. She has had experience in both capacities—New Yorker.

If we are not willing to work and suffer for the sake of our love, we have not the artist soul within us.

The Taking Cold Habit

The old cold goes; a new one quickly comes. It's the story of a weak throat, a tendency to consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up the taking-cold habit. It strengthens, heals. Ask your doctor to tell you all about it.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

1ST SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY.

Church services are inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week even though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented—Eds.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, (UNITARIAN)—Rev. E. C. Butler, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by pastor. Sunday School at 12 noon.

CHRIST CHURCH, Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue—Rev. W. E. Gardner, rector. 10.30 holy communion and sermon. Subject: "The Epiphany Duty." Sunday School in the Parish house, men's Bible class in the church at 12 M. Evening prayer and address at 7 o'clock. Subject: "The Child Life of Christ." Evening prayer and address at 170 Washington street, Braintree, at 4 o'clock. Choir will sing at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 P. M. All welcome.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington street—Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., pastor. Afternoon service at 2.30. Preaching by pastor, followed by communion. Sunday School at 3.30. Good music. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, junction Hancock and Chestnut streets—Rev. E. N. Hardy, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by pastor. Subject: "The Autobiography of a Soul." Sunday School at 12 M. The Lord's Supper observed at 3 P. M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.15. Evening church service at 7.30. Stereopticon address, "The New Year's Outlook on Life," beautifully illustrated by more than forty colored views. Free seats and every one invited.

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Topic: "Near to the Kingdom." Baptisms and reception of members. Sunday School at 12 M. Topic: "Finding Jesus." Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30. Leader, Mr. James Corprew. Service of song and sermon at 7.30. Topic: "Let the Lower Lights be Burning." Prayer meeting Friday evening at 7.30. A place for all and a welcome for all.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Fort Square—Rev. W. B. Barr, pastor. Public service 10.30 A. M. Preaching by pastor Men's Bible class and Sabbath School at 11.45. Children's service at 3 P. M. Senior C. E. meeting at 7 P. M. Subject: "Possibilities of Individual Effect." Services each evening of next week by pastor. All are cordially invited.

WEST QUINCY METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Rev. A. B. Tyler, M. A., pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sermon by pastor, followed by communion and reception of members. Sunday School at 12 M. Epworth League at 6.15. Praise and preaching service at 7. Friday evening prayer meeting at 7.30 o'clock. All are most cordially invited.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, ATLANTIC—Rev. Jason G. Miller, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by pastor, followed by Lord's Supper and reception of new members. Sunday School at 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Topic: "How finding Christ changes the life." Leader, Miss Eleanor Nelson. Evening service at 7. Sermon by pastor. All are cordially invited.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, of Braintree, Pythian Hall,—Morning service and Sunday School at 10.45. Subject: "Truth." Golden Text: "Thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of Truth." Psalm 31:5. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M., at Christian Science hall, 460 Washington street, south of Hollis avenue, testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 and Tuesday evenings with gentlemen in attendance. All are welcome.

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. lptf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

WANTED.

WANTED—Active, experienced Canvassers on a new Real Estate proposition. Splendid opportunity to make $100 to $300 per month. Address, SPEAR'S REALTY CORPORATION, 171 Broadway, New York.
Jan. 6. It

WANTED—A good machine and hand Granite Polisher. This is a good job for the right man. Write us. BERGER & HUNTER, Chambersburg, Pa. Successors to Forbes, Berger & Co. Jan. 6-2t

LADIES:—I want you to know of the splendid opportunity I can give any woman whereby she can actually turn her spare time into money. The work is very pleasant and will easily pay $18 per week. No experience is necessary, and if you really want to make money easily, write to HARRIET A. RICHARDS, Joliet, Ill. Jan. 6-1t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

WANTED—Installment Male Collector for merchandise accounts; good salary and expenses. Address GLOBE COMPANY, 723 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. Jan. 5-3t

WANTED—A Strong, Active Boy to work in my store. L. A. CHAPIN, 1395 Hancock street.
Quincy, Jan. 5. 2t

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—48 Revere Road, a nicely furnished medium size, well heated room, two large closets, $2.50 per week. Also good size side room, $1.50 per week. Quincy, Jan. 6-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy.
Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—Rooms. Apply at 160 Elm street, Quincy.
Jan. 4. 3t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 1-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. lp tf

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH.
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS.
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

You Can Increase
Your Business
With a Ledger "Ad"

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

First Chapter
Of New Story
This Week

Vol. 18. No. 7. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

Mission Furniture

To the lovers of simplicity in house furnishing the Mission or Dutch furniture has much attraction.

PLAIN, SUBSTANTIAL, SIMPLE, COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE.

These five words convey a world of meaning.

This furniture is made of oak and is finished in a rich dark brown, it costs no more than ordinary oak, and with rugs and draperies of plain red or green it furnishes a room or den in a rich substantial manner unequalled by any other style of furniture. We have a choice selection at popular prices.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Only Two

Massachusetts Cities Appropriate More Than Quincy to Private Hospitals

The latest volume just issued by the National Bureau of the Census has special reports of the operation of benevolent institutions of the United States with special data relating to the institutions classified as orphanages, hospitals, permanent and temporary homes, and schools and homes for the deaf and blind. It includes 4,207 institutions.

There are 1075 orphanages and children's, homes, 377 of which were founded in the years 1890 to 1903 inclusive; 166 nurseries, of which 101 were founded in 1890-1903; 1,493 hospitals of which 822 were founded in 1890-1903; 156 dispensaries, 733 permanent homes for adults or adults and children, 449 temporary homes for adults and children, 61 schools and homes for the deaf, 39 schools for the blind and 15 schools and homes for both deaf and blind.

New York leads the other States with 659 institutions, but Pennsylvania has 409, and Massachusetts 305, while all others have less than 270 each.

Massachusetts is also third in cost of maintenance, expending $1,038,636 on these public institutions, $2,461,892 on the private institutions and $658,047 on ecclesiastical institutions, a total of $4,168,575.

Boston has 34 hospitals and dispensaries, and there are 72 in the other cities and towns of the State. Of these 106, 3 are maintained by the United States, 3 by the State, 8 by cities and towns, 12 by Sisters of Charity, churches, colleges and associations, and the large balance are private corporations.

With one exception (the Fitchburg Hospital which is maintained by the city) all the hospitals in the summary below are private corporations having 200 or more patients per year, being a complete list outside of Boston.

Seven admitted less patients than the Quincy Hospital in the year 1904, and the other 22 more patients. Eight had twice as many patients and Lynn five times as many.

Only 12 of the 34 receive an annual subsidy from public funds, and Somerville is the only city in the State, outside of Boston, which appropriates more for maintenance of a private hospital than Quincy.

The income from pay patients is for the year 1903, while the number of patients given is for the year 1904, but will have to be taken for some comparisons.

In four hospitals only was the income from patients less than in Quincy—Beverly, Lynn, Northampton and Westfield.

Greenfield is the only one in the list which is self supporting from income from patients.

Gloucester from less patients receives nearly twice as much income. These hospitals with less patients also receive more: Greenfield, Melrose, Newburyport and Hampden.

While seven of the hospitals had less patients than Quincy there were ten which cost less in 1903 to maintain, the cost of the Quincy institution being $43.65 per patient. The only hospitals, however, where it cost more per patient were Cambridge, Fall River, Gloucester, Haverhill, Waltham and Fitchburg. The last mentioned is the only hospital maintained by a city, and there the cost was $50.36 per patient.

The census figures are as follows, and are timely as the annual meeting of the Quincy Hospital corporation will be held next week.

	Patients	Subsidy	Income Patients	Cost of Maintenance
Quincy	290	$4,000	$4,688	$12,658
Beverly	248	0	2,468	8,328
Brockton	390	2,500	8,022	15,075
Cambridge	623	0	6,961	35,798
Chelsea	476	1,000	5,000	10,000
Clinton	450	0	8,585	14,762
Fall River	336	0	11,904	25,714
Fitchburg	369	0	4,780	19,584
Framingham	445	0	9,786	12,239
Gloucester	233	0	8,183	13,473
Greenfield	237	276	7,740	7,443
Haverhill	351	0	13,000	17,000
Holyoke	476	0	11,451	18,346
Lawrence	470	0	8,265	16,149
Lowell	408	0	8,000	17,000
Lynn	1,441	0	2,500	23,000
West Lynn	463	0	*	*
Malden	434	0	9,320	17,453
Melrose	220	1,000	5,653	8,402
Montague City	349	70	6,631	8,710
New Bedford	762	478	11,522	25,000
Newburyport	289	1,200	4,830	12,523
Newton	889	0	21,273	49,485
North Adams	470	1,537	8,116	19,380
Northampton	332	0	4,224	12,848
Pittsfield	750	0	12,650	30,000
Salem	785	0	9,177	24,624
Somerville	460	5,000	8,981	12,760
Hampden	285	0	8,112	9,592
Springfield	914	0	27,237	33,450
Taunton	307	0	6,454	10,479
Waltham	541	3,750	11,997	23,802
Westfield	257	1,000	3,698	10,000
Worcester	961	0	11,423	31,711

*Not reported.

Everett O. Eastwood Married in the West

Last year there was some surprise in Quincy when cards were received from Bethlehem, Penn., announcing the marriage some months previous of a well-known Quincy woman and a Bethlehem man. The cards read: "Mr. Everett O. Eastwood—Mrs. Effie L. Rhines—Married on Thursday, November the twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and four."

There was considerable newspaper talk for a while, and a report that Mr. Eastwood had instigated a suit. Nothing was heard from it, however, and each went their way, Mrs. Eastwood continuing to reside in Quincy, and Mr. Eastwood going west.

The Bethlehem Times adds an interesting chapter as follows:

"Professor Everett O. Eastwood, the head of the department of Mechanical Engineering in the University of Washington and Miss Nellie Dorothy Hallwell, of Bethlehem, were married at noon last Wednesday, Dec. 20, at the home of Dr. Kane, the President of the University in Seattle. Immediately after the ceremony an elegant luncheon was served by Mrs. Kane. Professor and Mrs. Eastwood have taken possession of their newly erected home at No. 4702 Twelfth Avenue, University Heights, Seattle, Washington."

Now many are anxious to know whether Mr. Eastwood obtained a divorce.

I. O. O. F. Installation.

D. D. G. M., S. S. Westcott and suite will install the officers of John Hancock lodge, No. 224 I. O. O. F., of Wollaston, on Wednesday evening. The officers elect are:

N. G.,—George H. Prentiss.
V. G.,—Samuel A. Kay.
R. S.,—George C. Ela.
F. S.,—Aaron M. Terrill.
T.,—Judson L. Smith.

Miss Susan Brokenshire of Milton will address a union meeting of the King's Daughters, Brotherhood and church at Bethany chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Should Continue The Land of the Free

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

As we take up the toil and business of another year, we naturally give a look back at the departed year with its successes, failures, joys and sorrows.

The patriotic heart is not apt to think only of self, it rejoices in the vast progress of our great country, and fervently hopes to see America continue to be great in everything that makes for the good of all the people; a land that the oppressed of other countries can point to as the "Land of the free and the home of the brave."

This country is the land of the free, because of the wisdom of her founders. Liberty and intelligence, hand in hand, have made us the great nation of today. Let there be no radical departure from the principles upon which our government rests. "Small leaks sink great ships." Gen. Grant once said "Keep the church and state forever separate," and at the risk of being dubbed a sour old maid, I say, let parents give more attention to the children. Hundreds of them, I am told, were presented at the public schools of this city, at Christmas, with pictures of the virgin-Madonnas. I am also credibly informed that some of the children were told by their teachers that if they went to the Catholic church, they would see the babe in the manger there. If this is so, it would appear that we are going to have sectarian teaching full fledged in our public schools by and by, and probably a State church.

Well, what is the matter with Russia at present? Madonnas and holidays in abundance, but a people ignorant, brutal and most inhuman in their treatment of the race that gave to the world Jesus and Mary.

In French Canada they have sectarian schools, the pet system of Laurier, which he has now fastened on all of the new provinces of the dominion. The other day in the city of Quebec, Sarah Bernhardt and her company was assailed by a mob bent on killing the Jewess, and only escaped by the prompt action of a large force of police. We note also that the Salvation Army and a Presbyterian clergyman have been assailed while holding meetings in their own building in the city of Montreal within the past few weeks by people who claim to be the only true followers of the Babe of Bethlehem. From all such sectarianism "Good Lord deliver us."

Friend of the Jews.

Miss Gertrude Thorne of Clive street, who is attending school in Virginia this winter, sends home favorable reports of her surroundings. Not only is the climate conducive to health and happiness, but the people are open-hearted and delightful to meet. Miss Thorne has learned to ride horseback and finds it excellent exercise.

Miss Ethel Rinn of Dedham was a guest of Mrs. Talbot of Charles street last week.

Blackmail Charged

Man Arrested But Has Flown Received $500 As Hush Money

Richard Wilder alias Edward R. Wilder was arrested in Boston on Sunday by Inspector McKay upon a warrant charging him with attempting to extort money by threat.

It is alleged that Wilder got $500 from Joseph Bedot of Quincy on threats that his name would be connected unpleasantly with a prominent woman.

According to the story told the police, Bedot's attentions to a woman were discovered by Wilder. It is claimed that Wilder made capital out of his information and upon threats induced Bedot to give him $200 to remain silent.

Bedot's attentions to the woman being continued it is alleged that Wilder determined to touch him again. This time it is alleged that three Boston sporting men were taken into the plot which developed into a meeting at a Quincy hotel last Thursday.

As a result of their demands, Bedot drew $500 from the bank and gave it to the men.

After thinking the matter over Bedot determined to notify the police which he did. Inspector McKay has been trying to locate Wilder since that time. It was said that some one tipped Wilder as to what was doing, and the $500 was returned to Bedot.

According to the story Bedot told the police he had received several letters demanding money, under threats of exposing him unless he paid $500. Two of these letters, he says, were signed by Wilder and another by one of the other members of the trio. These letters Bedot says he destroyed.

Last Tuesday morning the three men, who included Wilder, came to Quincy, and called at the stoneshed where he was at work, and told him the $500 must be forthcoming. He accompanied them to City Square, drew the money, from the Savings bank, and gave it to them in one of the hotels.

Wilder was bailed out and was to appear in court this morning. He failed to appear, however, and was defaulted.

Wilder claimed at the time of his arrest that Bedot lost his money at a game of cards. Bedot, however, denies this.

Bedot is a stone cutter by trade. He is about 22 years of age and resides at 122 Willard street, West Quincy.

That night he went to Boston and met the men in a Washington street saloon. When he demanded his money they knocked him down. He then went to Station 4 and told his story and was referred to the Quincy police.

The next morning one of the men again came to Quincy and returned his money. He was satisfied to drop the matter but having been reported to the police, the matter was referred to Judge Avery, who said that public safety demanded that the case should not pass unnoticed.

Lieut. McKay has visited Boston every night since, trying to locate Wilder, but was unable to do so until Saturday night when Wilder was located and arrested.

Lieut. McKay saw Wilder come from a club room and shadowed him to Washington street where he was apprehended.

Gypsy Moth Money.

Several towns have been reimbused this month for money, they expended to get rid of the gypsy moths, as follows: Boxford, $115.94; Danvers, $1178.85; Lexington, $2213.75; Marblehead, $1127.78; Reading, $1387.91; Revere, $1244.26; Rockport, $73.57; Salisbury, $591.69; Saugus, $1975.81; Lynn, $1852.22; Wenham, $623.05; Watertown, $1333,86. Lexington has also received recently $311.31, and Saugus, $6,079.67.

The Bible says "it is not well for man to be alone" and the news has just been announced that a well known business man, not a hundred miles from the square, whom all supposed was a firm old bachelor, one whose home is the lodge room, is soon to become a benedict, having captured the heart of an out of town young lady. The engagement ring is a beautiful diamond. Congratulations, and may their path be strewn with roses without thorns, and may the bride to be make many friends in this city.

—The taxpayers of Lincoln County, Nevada, are suing the County Commissioners to compel them to increase the tax levy. The citizens wish to pay off the county indebtedness, which amounts to $620.000.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.
Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

THE FINEST OF SUPPLIES!

Foy's is the market where the finest and purest of food supplies may be obtained at lowest prices.

There are many tempting specialties that may be only obtained here.

Tempting, delicious Sausage, guaranteed pure, choice Mince Meat, every variety of Cheese, daintiest Crackers and Cookies, nicest baker's goods, and many other things here.

Everybody likes our Creamery Butter, 29c. per lb.; also our best Coffee, 30c. and purest Tea, 50c.

For Meat, Flour, Tea, Coffee, Vegetables, Fruit, and especially nice things to eat at low prices—come to Foy's.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.

Tel. 367-3.

Quincy, Jan. 8. tf

FOR OUR READERS

The Two Vanrevels

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done. —New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

THE TWO VANREVELS WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER BEGINNING

THIS WEE

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.

THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A bill was introduced in the general court providing that any cat wearing a collar bearing the owner's name and address shall be considered as property and treated as such, which means, we suppose, that if some neighbor's cat begins a concert under the window some night, we shall not be at liberty to damage our neighbor's property providing it is duly tagged and numbered.—Haverhill Gazzette.

☞ Being a member of the city council is an honorabe position of which any man may well feel proud. It carries with it responsibilities which cannot be shirked or allowed to pass in a slipshod or trivial manner. First the good name of the city is placed in the hands of her officials which is a matter of paramount importance, and it will advance or retrogate in the same ratio as these officials will perform the duties incumbent upon them. Let the members thereof see to it that their votes and voices may always be found upon the side of good morals. In this they will receive the countenance and support of all good citizens.—Gloucester Times.

☞ A prize of $250 was recently offered for the best definition of success. The woman who sent in the following won it. "He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory a benediction." Few, indeed, are those who gain success judged by this standard, but the ideal is well worth striving to attain.—Beverly Times.

☞ We do not quite agree with Gov. Guild's proposition to turn fines for automobile overspeeding over to the State for use on State highways. There are objections to it. Its principal advocates are law-breaking automobilists, whose sole interest in the matter arises from the hope that if cities or towns are not benefitted in part by the fines they will be allowed to break the laws with greater immunity from arrest. They believe if the alleged selfish interest to towns is removed the police will not be so active in arresting them. There were more than 1600 such arrests last year, and not one-third of the violators of law were held up either. The Governor speaks of the wear and tear on State highways by automobiles as sufficient reason for turning over the money to the Highway Commission, but he fails to explain how cities and towns, like Waltham for instance, where there is not an inch of State road, are to be reimbursed for the extra attrition of their roads. It is possible his recommendation for more effective regulation may accomplish the desired result, but that is an open question. That a more stringent execution of the law is needed is beyond the shadow of doubt.—Waltham Free Press.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

1906 JANUARY 1906

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:43 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:37 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

DEATH OF EDWARDS

Coroners Analyzing Testimony Relating Thereto

WATCH ON THE HILLERS

Charles Is Said to Be Under as Close Guard as Maxey--Hearsay Stories Swept Away as Inquest Draws Near the End

New Haven, Jan. 8.—Much of the time of Coroner Mix and Deputy Coroner Pond yesterday was spent in perusal and analysis of the testimony given by witnesses during the four days' inquest into the death of Charles A. Edwards of New York, which crime has plunged many prominent New Haven families into deep grief.

Late Sunday afternoon three persons were summoned to the coroner's office. Two of them were not recognized. The third was Charles A. Hiller, brother-in-law of Edwards, who was with the coroner for several hours, remaining in the office for a time while Mix and Pond went to the Hiller homestead on College street.

It is understood that two headquarters detectives have been assigned to the Hiller homestead, and that until the inquest is completed Charles A. Hiller will be under as close a guard as his brother Maxcy. Yesterday Charles Hiller was free to go about and was on the street for a long walk. Two detectives coincidently were noticed upon the street not far distant, both early in the afternoon and in the evening when Charles went home from the coroner's office.

A report in circulation is that the coroner will make his report today and will find that Charles A. Edwards was murdered, but that the evidence in hand does not show beyond doubt who killed him. This report will go to State Attorney Williams, upon whom will rest the burden of further investigation and the ordering of an arrest should he deem it necessary.

The coroner, when asked as to any possible developments, said that much ground covered in previous hearings of witnesses was retraced yesterday, but it was unlikely that any radical move in the case would be taken right away. At the home of A. Maxcy Hiller, the witness in the case, who is constantly under the eye of a police officer, and at the Hiller homestead on College street, where the tragedy occurred late Tuesday night, there were few callers during the day.

In actual developments there were none during the day. It is believed that Medical Examiner Bartlett has about completed the autopsy report. As the inquest reaches its final stages many of the hearsay stories are swept away. It is known that the coroner's office has carefully inquired into current reports of strange actions of Maxcy Hiller, but adding little information in determining the reason for Edwards' death. Some reports about the past life of Maxcy Hiller have been left untouched for the reason that the facts at this stage of the inquiry have little bearing on the case.

The coroner has investigated the theory that Edwards might have been shot in another room than that in which he died because of the fact that a blood spot was found on the left stocking, which stocking was worn inside out. A member of his family states that Edwards often wore his stockings inside out. That there was thick dust and lint on the thread of this stocking is explained by the fact that all the carpets in the house were thick with dust.

It is understood that in the wide range covered by the inquest much testimony as to the family affairs of the Hillers has been taken, some of it quite startling in its nature, yet not such as would show by whom and for what specific purpose Edwards was killed. An early arrest seems improbable. The coroner's repeated examination of the witnesses, it is thought, indicates that he lacks certain definite facts without which the inquiry cannot make progress.

Steamer Ashfield Overdue

Boston, Jan. 8.—The Furness line steamer Ashfield, which left Fowey, Eng., Dec. 17 with a cargo of china clay for this port, is now out 22 days. Her agents are getting somewhat anxious about the vessel, though no grave fears for her safety are entertained. As the steamer left the other side about the same time as steamer Barnesmore, which arrived last week after a very tempestuous voyage, it is probable that she is experiencing the same sort of weather.

Decatur to Be Retried

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 8.—It is officially announced that Midshipman Decatur of Portsmouth, N. H., has been found not guilty on the charge of hazing. Decatur, soon after he was declared acquitted and restored to duty, was rearrested and will be tried under other charges of hazing under the act of 1874, and of encouraging or countenancing hazing under the act of 1903.

Flood Sufferers In Mexico

Mazatlan, Mex., Jan. 8.—According to Ignacio Fuete, government director of the town of Akone, the people of that town and the surrounding territory are facing starvation. Crops have been almost entirely destroyed by recent inundations and the roads have been rendered impassible. Thousands of cattle perished in northern Sinaloa as a result of the floods.

A SUBURBAN HOME.

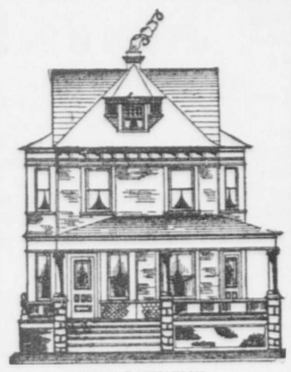

Has All Modern Improvements at a Moderate Cost, $3,000.

[Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.]

The modern house shown here was designed to cost $3,000. It has all the conveniences known to the builder, including electric bells and wiring for electric lights.

There is a cellar under the entire house, with cemented floor, coal bins, cold storeroom and a hot air furnace. The cellar walls are of stone.

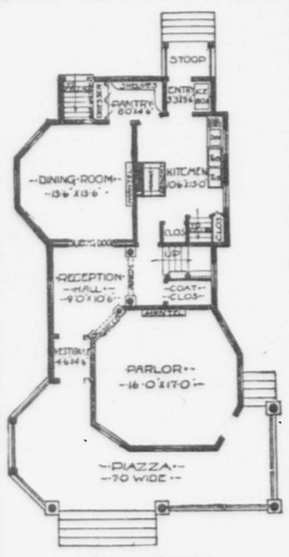

The frame is of spruce and hemlock, and the walls are sheathed, papered and sided. The main roof is shingled. The exterior ornamental work is of composition. The windows, except those of the cellar, are fitted with outside blinds and patent blind hinges and openers. The exterior is covered with two coats of white lead and linseed oil paint, pea green body, ivory white trimming, terra cotta blinds and bronze green sashes.

FRONT ELEVATION.

The floors are laid with comb grained North Carolina pine, tongued and grooved. The interior walls are covered with two coats of hard patent plaster, sand finished. The trim is of kiln dried cypress in the first story and of whitewood on the second floor, finished in the natural wood, with wood fillers properly rubbed and three coats of flat varnish rubbed and sandpapered clean and smooth between coats. The stairs are of oak, except the attic stairs, which are boxed and built of yellow pine. The mantels are of oak, with bevel plated mirrors, solid facings and bronze summer pieces.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

The hardware is of plain dark bronze, with oak knobs, roses and escutcheons.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

The kitchen and pantry closets contain shelves to suit, with closets, drawers, etc.

The dining room is fitted with handsome china closets. The bathroom and kitchen have modern open sanitary plumbing and fixtures. The grills are of quartered oak.

This makes a cozy little house for one with moderate means and should not exceed the estimated price, $3,000, where prices of material and labor are normal.

Yellow Pine For Interior Trim.

Yellow pine has recently been increasing in favor as a wood which can be successfully used for the highest class of interior finish. It has always been one of the most popular of American hard woods for flooring and other purposes, but it has been shown in a number of different instances that it can be stained so that it puts up an appearance very similar to that of Flemish oak.—Architectural Record.

Local Ins And Outs

Two weeks of weather like today and the ice men will be able to cut ice.

Mrs. Samuel Oxford of River street is suffering at her home with a sprained ankle.

Isaac M. Holt is confined to his home on Cottage street, a sufferer with rheumatism.

There is good skating on Butler's pond and the young people are taking advantage of it.

Chisholm's Atlantic express has sold out to a Neponset party who will continue the business.

Mrs. Stephen Bennett of Newbury avenue passed away Saturday after a short illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield will hold a matinee whist at her home on Granite street on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jenness leave on Wednesday for a three months trip through Mexico and California.

It is rumored that John T. O'Connor, the Boston grocer, will occupy the new store in the Post Office block.

The minstrel show of the Squantum Yacht club will be given at Music hall the latter part of the present month.

Henry Martens of the firm of Branschied & Martens, has been called to New York by the death of his sister.

A delegation from Maple lodge, K and L of H., will attend the installation of the K and L lodge of Everett this evening.

Mrs. Flora Dunn has returned to her home on Edwards street, after a ten days' visit pleasantly spent with friends in New York.

Mrs. C. C. Ewell, of Hamden circle, Norfolk Downs, entertained Miss Virginia Thornton of New York and several friends at dinner on Sunday.

Gershom Thomas of Mechanic street, the obliging and pleasant letter carrier, has been unable to attend to his duties the past week, being confined to his home by illness.

The newly appointed firemen began their duties this morning. The man assigned to Houghs Neck will probably be used at the Central station until the new apparatus arrives.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held tonight. The meeting is largely to hasten the orders for an additional appropriation for the High school enlargement and the temporary loan order in anticipation of taxes.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up

Opposite Grand Central Station New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH

PENNYROYAL PILLS

Original and Only Genuine. SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co. Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,

H. LITCHMAN.

Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.

All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.

303 Water Street, South Quincy. Aug. 15. tf

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice

Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.

Teaming of all Kinds

THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,

70 Copeland Street.

Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

HOTEL GREENLEAF.

AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.

MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.

Ceiling work a specialty.

WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.

23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.

Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.

Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.

Experienced and careful men only.

Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street. Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point. Dec. 16. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN

DENTIST,

Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.

OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday. Jan. 31. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START

—THE—

NEW YEAR

—WITH A—

New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.

1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,

ADAMS BUILDING.

Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS Sold at very low prices.

MISS D. LITCHMAN,

330 Water Street, South Quincy, Jan. 4. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER, GLAZIER,

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

Decorator and Paper Hanger

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

Telephone 318-2.

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.

Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO. Dec 27. 12t

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

By the Purchase of a Home.

Life without progress is
Life without a proper aim.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.

Jan. 1. tf

We Are Going to Publish, beginning in a few days

The Two Vanrevels

A powerful love drama full of fire and action

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Read The Two Vanrevels in This Paper

MUGGERTON

[Original.]

I was sitting in my editorial den preparing matter for the Sunday edition when a big muscular fellow who looked like a prize fighter came in and asked for employment. I feared that his real intention was to rob me and dallied with him.

"Any experience?" I asked.

"Lots. I worked three weeks on the D—— Bee. That's after I left college, a month ago."

At mention of college I started.

"Any creative faculty?"

"You bet! I can fling off a story any time."

"I'm thinking of running a short story every Sunday. Sit down there and let me see what you can do."

He took a seat at a vacant reporter's desk and wrote this story:

"The nineteenth century was just twenty-five years old. It was the winter season. By the wayside stood a hotel, with a barroom just off the office. The landlord was absent, and his daughter, a beautiful girl of eighteen, sat sewing behind the counter. The door opened, and a young man, a regular stalwart, walked up to the counter and registered. He wrote in a fine round hand, 'Dick Tutt, Central City, Colo.'"

I paused and looked at the author. In 1825 the Rocky mountains where Central City is located had probably never seen a white man.

"'I'm a cowboy, I am,' said Mr. Tutt, sweeping the floor with his broad brim. 'I won $700 at faro off the boys punchin' cows around "Central," and I've come east to blow it in.'

"As he spoke he drew a bead on the girl with his eagle eye and brought her down like an antelope. Taking a key off a rack, she handed it to him, and he was about to go upstairs when a party came in smoking 'long nines' and took possession of the big stove in the center of the room. Mr. Tutt paused and watched them. They soon got to kicking up a row, and the girl started for the telephone to call the police."

"You've made a slight mistake," I remarked to the author. "The telephone was invented half a century after the date of your story."

He glared and ground his teeth like a lion poked with a long stick, and I went on reading.

"Mr Tutt walked up to the lady and said:

"'If you want these galoots tumbled out I reckon I can do the job.'

"'No, sir,' replied the girl softly; 'we never allow any shooting in this house.'

"'Shootin'!' exclaimed the gentleman. 'What do I need of a gun with such muscle?' And, rolling up his sleeve, he showed a biceps that measured a good twenty inches.

"Without waiting for permission he sidled up to the man making the most noise and, straightening his crooked arm, sent the fellow sailing like an ice boat along the floor till he brought up against the baseboard. Mr. Tutt then turned and faced the rest of the gang. It happened that Kid Mahone was in the crowd, at that time training for a fight with Pat McCracken. He stepped to the front, and a ring was formed. The kid was a featherweight with fancy fist training, and the cowboy was strong as a bull buffalo. While the kid was dancing around the cowboy broke his guard, got a clutch on him and, raising him in the air, threw him into the next room.

"This ended the fight. The gang picked up the unconscious kid and ran him out, for they didn't know but the police might come in any minute.

"'How can I ever thank you enough?' remarked the young lady, going back to her sewing machine behind the counter."

Again I paused to think. My recollection was that the sewing machine did not come into use before 1850.

"At that moment the old man walked in.

"'Father,' said the girl, 'here's a guest from the wild and woolly west. A gang of rowdies came in a few minutes ago and made a disturbance. The gentleman cleaned them out.'

"'My friend,' said the landlord, 'what can I do for you? "Anything in this house is none too good for Riley," quoting a popular song.'

"'Stranger,' said the cowboy, 'you've got only one thing I want, your daughter.'

"'I'd rather part with my new Colt's pistol or my typewriting machine, but if she's willing you have my consent.'

"When they were married the cowboy wore a woolen shirt, corduroy trousers, boots and spurs. The bride wore white muslin."

Having finished the story, I looked up at the author.

"Did you take a full course in college?" I asked.

"Well, no. I was brought in for a special when the varsity team went into training for the annual football game. I left college just before the examination."

"I see. You are"—

"Muggerton."

"The tackle that laid everybody out opposed to your college last season?"

"The same."

"Why did you place the scene of your story so far back as to time?"

"Well, you see, I ain't up to what's going on, and by the looks of you I thought you might not be either, so I set it back where the mistakes would not be noticed."

"You've made a blunder on every line. How would you like to run a page of sports?"

"Bully!"

"Very well. I'll start you in at $30 a week." BARTON WILLIAMSON.

The Hancock Hotel

Reopened under new management. Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.

Newly Furnished throughout.

Good Beds. Good Table. Steam Heat.

Good warm place to locate for the winter. Moderate Rates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, PROPRIETORS.

Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE, REAL ESTATE, AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,

Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass. Aug. 17 tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK, Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.

JOBBING.

Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD DENTIST.

Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

If Your Eyes

Trouble you--DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES

— ONLY —

One Dollar a Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD

15 Beacon St., Room 47, BOSTON.

Nov. 7. 3m-eod

FREDERICK E. TUPPER, Civil Engineer and Surveyor,

21 Adams Building, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

CHARLES H. BURGESS,

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.

Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1236 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

C. H. HARDWICK,

Counsellor at Law,

Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy. Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds

Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

JAMES F. BURKE, REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.

MORTGAGES.

Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner.

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tu

QUAKES IN THE WEST

Seismic Disturbances In Portions of Kansas and Nebraska

Kansas City, Jan. 8.—A slight earthquake shock was felt in Kansas City at 6:17 o'clock last evening. No damage was done. The movement, which lasted about 23 seconds, shook chandeliers and rattled dishes.

Topeka, Jan. 8.—A slight shock of earthquake was distinctly observed throughout eastern Kansas at 6:15 o'clock last evening. In several places a second and slighter shock was noted. The most severe shock apparently was felt at Manhattan, where citizens left their houses in alarm. No damage is reported.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 8.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt here last evening. Dishes and tinware rattled and children were frightened. The shock lasted about 10 seconds.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 8.—Residents of Lincoln last evening felt an earthquake shock that was severe enough in several instances to shake globes from chandeliers. No damage is reported to buildings.

Play, Quarrel and Death

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 8.—Antonio Delakavitch is dead as the result of injuries received during a quarrel. Antonio Kasanovitch is under arrest and a charge of manslaughter may be preferred against him. The alleged assault took place at a boarding house and is understood to have been the outcome of good-natured play, which developed into roughness and later caused blows. It is alleged that Kasanovitch beat Delakavitch over the head with a chair, causing a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Engineer Forgot Orders

Corry, Pa., Jan. 8.—To an engineman's failure to remember orders is attributed a wreck at Horn's siding, when three men were killed and 20 persons were injured. When Engineman Cavanaugh, whose locomotive, running light, crashed into a passenger train, was asked how he happened to be on the main track, he is alleged to have exclaimed: "My God, I forgot all about the passenger train."

Body Found In Raceway

Rockland, Mass., Jan. 8.—While workmen were cleaning out the raceway of a pond used by the Clapp rubber works at South Hanover they found the body of a man supposed to be that of Michael Murphy, who was employed at the works up to Nov. 27 last. There is nothing to show that death was other than accidental. The body had evidently been in the water a month or more.

Shooting Prompted by Jealousy

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Herbert D. Ashdowne, collector for a local clothing house, is dying, having been shot in a restaurant, it is alleged, by Mrs. Jennie Purkett. Ashdowne was shortly to have been married to another woman, and jealousy on the part of Mrs. Purkett is supposed to have prompted the shooting. Mrs. Purkett's husband is a wire worker.

McCall Shows Improvement

New York, Jan. 8.—Physicians attending John A. McCall announce that his condition is much improved and that unless unexpected complications set in he will be able to start for Europe in a few days for a long rest.

Hundred Killed In Mine Disaster

London, Jan. 8.—A dispatch from Tokio says that an explosion set fire to a mine at Akita, on the main island of Japan, and that 101 persons were burned to death.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fire and water did $8000 damage to the Franklin block, Worcester, Mass. Worcester Elks and eight other societies lost their furnishings.

Elliott Danforth, state treasurer of New York from 1889 to 1893, former chairman of the Democratic state committee and Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor in 1898, died at his home in New York city. Danforth was born in 1850.

It is announced that King Edward will visit Athens in the spring to attend the Olympian games.

The bottling plant at Bridgeport, Conn., of the Mohican Springs company was totally destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is believed to have been incendiary. The loss is $35,000.

A large amount of valuable lumber on a Boston wharf belonging to Curtis & Pope was destroyed by fire. The loss is about $75,000.

Alice Leighton, 9 years old, was struck and killed by a train at Winchester, Mass.

Dr. Edward Goodridge, one of the leading Episcopal clergymen of New Hampshire, died at Exeter, N. H., aged 67. He was born in Hartford and was graduated from Trinity college in 1860.

Fire originating from a defective flue in the basement of the Orange, Mass., savings bank block did $10,000 damage.

A Word About Toast.

Most people think that toast is wholesome, but its wholesomeness seems to depend entirely upon the way it is prepared. To make it easily digested and entirely suited for invalids the bread should be cut in thin slices and then thoroughly dried before browning it. Such toast, crisp and nutty in flavor and moistened after it is made with milk, may be easily acted upon by the digestive fluids.

If the slice is thick and soft, the outside will be blackened before the heat can penetrate the interior. The natural moisture of the bread is then only heated, not evaporated, and the inside of the toast becomes "doughy."

GOT IN A TANGLE

Battleships Caught In a Strong Flood Tide

ONE IS BADLY DAMAGED

Kentucky Must Go In Drydock as Result of Being Struck by Kearsarge--Illinois Changed Her Course In Time to Escape

New York, Jan. 8.—While the battleship squadron, under command of Rear Admiral Evans, was proceeding to sea, battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky ran aground in the lower harbor off the West Bank light. The Alabama and Illinois were following next in line, and before they could alter their course the Alabama collided with the Kentucky, striking her a glancing blow. The Illinois just got clear of the tangle and proceeded down the bay, anchoring outside the bar with the flagship Maine.

The accident occurred shortly after 1 p. m. The Alabama remained by to render assistance to the Kentucky and Kearsarge and wireless messages were sent to the Brooklyn navy yard for tugs.

At 2:45 o'clock the Kearsarge and Kentucky both were floated and started for sea, accompanied by the Alabama. The Kentucky, however, was ordered back, and returned to Tompkinsville, where she anchored late in the afternoon.

The Maine, Illinois, Alabama and Kearsarge remained off the bar until 5:25 o'clock, when they weighed anchor and proceeded to sea.

The battleships were bound for Hampton Roads, where the several divisions of the north Atlantic fleet now in home waters are to be assembled preparatory to sailing for West Indian and South American waters for the annual winter maneuvers. The battleships had gathered in New York harbor after undergoing expensive repairs, some at Boston and some at Brooklyn navy yards. The fleet had been divided, following the visit of Prince Louis of Battenberg to New York.

The battleships anchored off Tompkinsville, S. I., Saturday night under orders to proceed to sea Sunday. It was nearly 1 o'clock in the afternoon before the entire squadron was under way. Flagship Maine, with Admiral Evans on board, headed the column and threaded her way cautiously through The Narrows. The Kearsarge and Kentucky, following, were swept slightly out of their course and, being deep in the water with heavy supplies on board and coal bunkers full, grounded just off the west bank light. The navigating officer of the Alabama made every effort to swing wide of the grounded ships, but the sweep of the strong flood tide that was running carried the heavy Alabama into the Kentucky with a crash.

Luckily the blow was a glancing one. It fell on the starboard side. The Illinois, which had altered her course as quickly as possible, barely missed colliding with the two vessels already in trouble. But she swung clear in the swirling tide and kept on her course to join the Maine.

There was a rapid exchange of signals, the Alabama, which had not been seriously injured, being ordered to stand by to render assistance to the grounded Kearsarge and the grounded and battered Kentucky. When the navy yard tugs arrived the battleships were soon pulled into deep water and both started for sea. Admiral Evans, however, ordered the Kentucky to turn back and proceed to the navy yard for repairs. The Kentucky made her way to Tompkinsville, where her commander sent a wireless message to the yard that the vessel would come up to be placed in drydock.

The Alabama, the Maine, Kearsarge and Illinois, after lying at anchor outside the bar for several hours, during which wireless messages were exchanged briskly, headed for the south and should arrive in Hampton Roads late tonight or early tomorrow morning.

As soon as the Kentucky joins the fleet Admiral Evans probably will order a court of inquiry to investigate the grounding of the two ships and the subsequent collision.

Hunting For Alleged Murderer

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Frank J. Constantine, wanted by the police in connection with the murder of Mrs. Arthur W. Gentry, whose throat was cut as she was about to leave her home in La Salle avenue to call on her mother, continues to elude his persuers. Constantine, it is said, pawned a diamond ring to secure money with which to flee after Mrs. Gentry was slain.

Dead at Age of 135

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—Mary McDonald, a negress, who claimed to be 135 years of age, died at the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Persons in this city. She is said to have been born Nov. 14, 1770, in a settlement known as Frogtown, near Valley Forge, Pa. Mrs. McDonald was of robust physique and was an inveterate smoker up to a short time ago.

Wants Oil Men to Answer

New York, Jan. 8.—Attorney General Hadley of Missouri says that he probably will ask for a hearing in the supreme court in this city to determine whether directors of the Standard Oil company must answer questions at the hearing before Commissioner Sanborn regarding the control of oil companies operating in Missouri.

BOSTON BANK WRECK

Some Depositors in "Provident Securities" Lost Their All.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Consternation reigned among the hundreds of depositors in the Provident Securities and Banking company, who saw the statement of Henry A. Wyman, attorney for the savings bank commission, in which he said: "Judging from the assets of the Provident Securities and Banking company, I cannot see that the depositors will get back any of their deposits."

With the banking company many among the toilers deposited all their savings. The little metal banks which were a feature of the institution and which enabled it to attract a savings bank clientele, contained the pennies and the dollars of little children as well as the money of fathers and mothers.

Pitiful were the scenes in many homes, where women wrung their hands and wept for the savings that had vanished—savings that toil of many days, that represented the very life blood of the depositors.

The amount due depositors is said to be at least $182,000, and the substantial assets $2903.22.

Two Wives Claim Soldier

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 8.—Joseph Markowsky, aged 23, who is said to have wed 18-year-old Annie Jeffais after two hours' courtship and is alleged to have deserted her in a week, is wanted by the Lynn police on a charge of bigamy sworn to by Mrs. Joseph Markowsky of Boston, who claims that he is the father of her three children. The two women who claim Markowsky for their husband met yesterday at 54 Harbor street and talked the situation over. It was after this interview that the complaint against Markowsky was made. The police believe that Markowsky was engaged to several women in various suburbs of Boston. The Boston woman says Markowsky enlisted during the Spanish war and later deserted.

To Wage War on Consumption

Boston, Jan. 8.—Mayor Fitzgerald, who presided at the meeting which closed the tuberculosis convention here last night, said in his speech that by tonight the act calling for a board of trustees for the establishment of a hospital for consumptives to cost $150,000, will have passed the board of aldermen, and will soon after receive his signature. The tuberculosis convention has been a great success, the hall being crowded at nearly all the lectures, while the exhibits have been carefully examined and explained.

Stabbed Herself by Accident

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 8.—Katie Lasher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Lasher, died at Lee of a wound inflicted by a hatpin. Mrs. Lasher says the child had been sick with fever and was delirious. She got the hatpin, and in tumbling around in bed tore the hole in her jugular vein. Mrs. Lasher left her daughter in bed to attend to work, and on returning to the room found her bleeding profusely. The pin was a strong steel one and very sharp.

What Shorter Workday Means

Boston, Jan. 8.—Professor Frank Parsons of the Boston University Law school, in a speech before the Central Labor union, declared that the shortening of the hours of labor is a vital element in the welfare of the individual and the progress of society. "It means," said Parsons, "better work, better pay, longer life, more opportunity for self-development, a higher citizenship and a nobler manhood."

$1000 For Damaged Eye

Marlboro, Mass., Jan. 8.—Miss Elizabeth H. Bell has been awarded $1000 in the suit for damages which she brought against the Marlboro Electric Machine and Lamp company. Over a year ago she was severely injured and nearly lost the sight of one eye by the explosion of an electric light bulb. The suit for damages was begun at that time and has just been ended.

Painter and Humanitarian

Portland, Me., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Alice E. Davis, a woman of international reputation as a missionary worker in Jerusalem and an artist of renown, died in this city, aged 78. Mrs. Davis' life had been devoted to the poor of the Holy City. A monument will be erected by Mrs. Davis' friends, the money to come from her own paintings, which will be sold.

Plea to Save Old Ironsides

Boston, Jan. 8.—At the annual meeting of the Mayors' club here interest centred in the memorial that is to be sent to congress, urging that the old frigate Constitution be saved from destruction. The list of signers includes the names of all of the present mayors in Massachusetts and those who have served during the past decade or more.

Fire Destroys Two Blocks

Uxbridge, Mass., Jan. 8.—Two wooden business blocks on Main street, in the centre of the town, were destroyed by fire and adjoining buildings were badly scorched and charred. The losses will aggregate more than $40,000. The fire started in the bakery of D. White, presumably from an overheated stove.

Dangerous Leap to Escape Fire

Boston, Jan. 8.—William Clark and Garrett Doyle, lodgers in a house at 61 Hancock street, were badly injured by jumping from the third story window of the house while a fire was in progress. It is expected that both will recover. The fire caused $2000 damage.

Sudden Death In Church

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 8.—Timothy Regan, aged 81 years, dropped dead during mass at the Immaculate Conception church. He had been in the church but a short time when he was seized with a sudden weakness and died a few minutes after the shock.

BACKING OF ITALY

France Will Have It In the Conference on Morocco

STRENGTHENS HER STAND

Contends That She Is Entitled to Special Privileged Position In Morocco--Germany Seeks the Same Status as Does France

Paris, Jan. 8.—Public uneasiness over the Moroccan conference has undergone a distinct improvement. This is due mainly to the confident attitude of the officials of the foreign office, who consider the selection by the Italian government of Marquis Venosta to head its delegation as strengthening the position of France.

It is evident that the officials hold the view that if France can secure the support of the great powers having tangible interests in the Mediterranean and in Morocco, it will be difficult for Germany to stand against the force of this moral influence. Therefore, Italy's choice of Venosta, who was one of the earliest advocates of the Franco-Italian entente, strengthens the government's expectation of the united support of the leading Mediterranean powers.

The martial tone of the press has considerably diminished, and the sensational branch of it no longer prints alarmist reports of the frontier preparations. The public and the press continue, however, though with greater calmness, to discuss the imperative need of completing military preparations.

Now that the French delegates are preparing to start for Algeciras, there is evidence of the greatest firmness in upholding the French position, the essential feature of which is that France, through her geographical proximity to Morocco, which is analagous to that of the position of the United States toward Cuba, and through her vast Algerian borders, is justly entitled to have a special and privileged position in Morocco.

Germany, while yielding much, has never clearly yielded the claim of France to a special position in Morocco. This is the vital issue, and the minor questions regarding police, customs, finance and contraband can be adjusted, once it is definitely settled whether France has or has not a special and privileged position in Morocco.

If the French position is upheld, the conference, it is expected, will charge France with the police, customs and other duties. Against this Germany will seek to secure international control of the police, the customs and other matters, thus giving all nations, including Germany, the same status in Morocco as that of France.

The French delegates will start without the slightest thought of yielding on or compromising the essential principles of France's privileged position, and therein lies the danger of the Franco-German outlook.

The Berlin correspondent of The Temps says that Germany, following the action of the United States and Great Britain, is sending a squadron to Algeciras. The paper says that France thus far has not ordered a squadron to the neighborhood of the conference. It adds that three British squadrons, comprising the channel, home and cruiser squadrons, will rendezvous in Cadiz bay, near Algeciras, in the middle of February.

As Count Witte Sees It

St. Petersburg, Jan. 8.—Count Witte declares that he does not believe the reports that Germany will resort to an aggressive policy in the Moroccan conference at Algeciras. Throughout Emperor William's reign, he said, Germany's policy had been consistently pacific. He believed it would so remain and that the conference would terminate without any untoward incident, particularly between France and Germany. It was his belief that the rumors to the contrary were spread for the purpose of influencing the bourses.

Italy Wants the Open Door

Rome, Jan. 8.—Italy's delegates will go to Algeciras with full moral and diplomatic liberty, animated only by a desire to conciliate the different interests. Italy is acting as an honest "broker," in the hope that the conference may define the international position regarding Morocco, granting to that country its independence and territorial integrity, but insuring to all powers free trade therein on the principle of the open door.

Hebrews Plan Great Parade

New York, Jan. 8.—Arrangements have been made for a parade of more than 100,000 Hebrews through the streets of the East Side on Jan. 22, in memory of those killed during the riots of St. Petersburg a year ago. The parade will mark the first anniversary of the massacre.

Running as Japs Want It

Chefoo, Jan. 8.—The Japanese at Port Arthur are applying their home customs regulations and collecting import duties. This step has been in preparation for the last two weeks and civil officers are in charge of the work.

Perhaps Safer In Denmark

Copenhagen, Jan. 8.—The Dowager Empress of Russia is purchasing a beautiful estate in Denmark with a view to a lengthy residence, but the rumor that she will not return to Russia is without basis.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY HURT

Engine Bumped Into a Coach Which Had Jumped the Track

South Braintree, Mass., Jan. 8.—A remarkable accident to a passenger train, in which no one was injured seriously enough to require medical attendance, occurred here last evening. As a train from Plymouth to Boston was pulling out of the station the three rear coaches jumped the track. At the same time a switching engine, coming from the opposite direction on the next track, collided with the rear coach of the train. The locomotive remained on the irons.

Considerable alarm prevailed among the passengers, many of whom were badly shaken up by the force of the impact, but no one was injured to any extent. The windows in the rear coach were shattered. The other coaches were somewhat damaged.

The cause of the cars leaving the rails has not been determined definitely, but it is believed to have been due to some defect in the switch.

Purity In New Bedford

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 8.—Chief of Police Thomas Donaghy has ordered a strict observance of the screen law, with the result that New Bedford's hotels were more deserted yesterday than on former Sundays and few women appeared in any of the hotels. New Bedford was far from "dry," however, for there was the usual stale sandwich on tap and the regulation schooners and small ones lined up on the same tables, and citizens and residents of surrounding towns were in evidence.

Tried to Steal Live Wire

Montreal, Jan. 8.—Herbert La Marche, a carpenter, was killed while stealing electric light wires in the park. His body was found at the base of an electric light pole. A pair of lineman's shears lay close by and La Marche's hands were frightfully burned, showing he had tried to steal a live wire. About 4000 feet of wire had been stolen. The police say La Marche had confederates.

Hotel Block Destroyed

Elyria, O., Jan. 8.—The Hotel Andwur and the block in which it was located was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $120,000, the bulk of which is sustained by the hotel property. There were no fatalities, but a waitress, in whose room on the fourth floor the fire caught from a gas jet, sustained serious burns in attempting to secure personal savings of $600 which she had in her room.

All Wanted Whole Sidewalk

New York, Jan. 8.—A shooting affair in which four Italians and one German and two Irishmen engaged last night resulted in the probably fatal wounding of David Tobin, 38 years old. The affair was the outcome of a sidewalk quarrel in which the Italians contested with the others the right of way along the walk, neither party being willing to make room for the other to pass.

Train Crashed Through Bumpers

New York, Jan. 8.—One man was killed and another severely injured in the Grand Central station here when a train of seven cars, in backing into the station, crashed through the bumpers at the end of the track and ran upon the station platform. The train came on with such force that the stout bumpers, erected to prevent just such accidents, proved of but slight resistance.

Russians and Italians In Riot

Washington, Pa., Jan. 8.—Celebration of the Russian Christmas by miners of that nationality at the Meadowlands coal works caused a race riot last evening between Russians and Italians in which one man's skull was fractured, a woman with a baby in her arms knocked down with a brick and others received serious injuries.

Christmas Day In Russia

St. Petersburg, Jan. 8.—Fine snow, sifting down from a cold sky, furnished ideal weather for the Russian Christmas, so far as St. Petersburg was concerned. The day passed quietly and without untoward incident. The religious services in the churches were largely attended.

Mail Carrier Under Arrest

New York, Jan. 8.—William M. Wenckeldach, a mail carrier, was arrested last night on a charge of "trifling with mail matter over which he had no control." After the man's arrest the police say they found 40 registered letters in his locker at the postoffice.

Electricity to Supersede Steam

Montreal, Jan. 8.—Arrangements have been made by the Grand Trunk railway for the adoption of an electric traction system in the St. Clair tunnel. The work is to be started at once. The system adopted is known as the alternating current system, with overhead conductors.

Death on a Blind Crossing

Enfield, N. H., Jan. 8.—A train struck James Riley and the horse he was driving at the blind crossing at Blackwater bridge, near here, instantly killing both. Riley was 45 years old and was employed in the woolen mills in this town.

Quiet In San Domingo

Washington, Jan. 8.—A dispatch to the navy department from the senior commanding officer in Dominican waters reports that "all is quiet."

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Jan. 9.
Sun rises—7:13; sets—4:30.
Moon sets—6:03 p. m.
High water—10:15 a. m.; 10:45 p. m.
Fair and colder weather is indicated for New England.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON				FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.		Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abdefghi	5 42		*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19	r
r 6 13	abc	6 33		6 27	cba	6 46	r
r 6 43	abc	7 03		6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33		7 27	cba	7 49	r
r 7 13	ad	7 42		8 27	cba	8 49	r
7 29	Exp.	7 45		9 27	cba	9 49	r
r 7 43	abc	8 03		9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15		10 27	cba	10 49	r
r 8 13	abc	8 33		10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47		11 27	cba	11 49	r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05		11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16		12 27	cba	12 49	r
r 9 13	abc	9 33		12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17		12 57	cba	1 19	r
r 10 13	abc	10 33		1 27	cba	1 49	r
10 59	Exp.	11.15		1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33		2 27	cba	2 49	r
12 01	Exp.	12 17		2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33		3 27	cba	3 49	r
12 59	Exp.	1 15		3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33		4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03		4 27	cba	4 49	r
r 2 13	abc	2 33		4 50	edcba	5 11	r
r 3 13	abc	3 33		5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03		5 19	dcba	5 41	r
r 4 13	abc	4 33		5 27	cba	5 49	r
4 59	Exp.	5 15		5 45	dba	6 07	r
r 5 13	abc	5 33		5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57		5 57	cba	6 19	r
r 6 13	abc	6 33		6 15	dba	6 37	r
r 6 43	abc	7 03		6 27	cba	6 49	r
6 59	Exp.	7 15		6 57	fedcba	7 23	r
r 7 13	abc	7 33		7 27	cba	7 49	r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32		8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53	r
r 9 13	abc	9 33		9 27	cba	9 49	r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32		10 27	fedcba	10 53	r
r 11 13	abc	11 33		10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19	r
				11 13	Exp.	11 30
				11 27	cba	11 49	r
SUNDAYS.
r 7 43	abc	8 03		6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52	r
r 8 43	abc	9 03		8 57	cba	9 19	r
r 9 13	abc	9 33		10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45	r
9 33	a	9 51		12 27	cba	12 49	r
				1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45	r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44		2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45	r
r 1 13	abc	1 33		3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45	r
r 3 00	abc	3 20		4 27	cba	4 49	r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44		5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33		6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45	r
				6 57	cba	7 19	r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44		8 24	ihgfedcba	8 58	r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35		8 43	Exp.	9 09
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35		9 27	ihgfedcba	9 58	r
r 10 25	abc	10 45		10 27	cba	10 49	r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.25 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.49 5.16 5.46 5.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.16 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY 7.21 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 18 8
Sunday,	34	40	50	35	43
Monday,	27	41	32	33	46
Tuesday,	—	35	36	35	40
Wednesday,	—	34	45	32	38
Thursday,	—	58	30	42	38
Friday,	—	44	38	27	45
Saturday,	—	43	32	26	54

New Advertisements Today.

Lost—Diamond Snake Ring.
Henry L. Kincaide & Co.—Mission Furniture
George W. Jones—Shoes.
R. E. Foy & Co.—Finest Food Supplies.

The City In Brief

Francis P. Loud, the letter carrier, is taking a few days' much needed rest.

Mrs. Manley Perry of Upland road is entertaining her sister from St. Johns, N. B.

Miss E. M. Freeman, the real estate agent, will investigate titles and draw deeds.

Miss Mary Grant of 68 Washington street, has accepted a position at the store of V. E. Miller.

Albert J. Shackley of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting at his old home in West Quincy for a few days.

Councilman M. M. Cannon is receiving congratulations, a little daughter arriving at his home on Sunday.

The committee of the Improved Order of Red Men will hold a whist party in I. O. O. F. hall, Wollaston, on Thursday evening.

New Bedford is the place designated for the national encampment of the National Legion of Spanish War Veterans, Feb. 20, 21 and 22.

The annual supper and roll-call of the Wollaston Congregational church will be held Wednesday evening. Annual business meeting at 7.30.

The Wollaston Unity Club will meet Friday evening. The club will be addressed by Bertram C. Henry upon "Evolution of Melody."

Dr. C. R. Marstin leaves on Wednesday for a month's rest from duties, hoping to be benefited in health in the warm climate of Jamaica.

Mrs. Kate A. Hayden of Neponset, will entertain the Brownie whist club at the home of Mrs. Joseph Newcomb, Newport Avenue Wollaston, on Wednesday afternoon.

The Ladies' Reading Circle of Wollaston Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Emma Foote, 111 Warren avenue, on Friday at 2.30. Book, "Christus Liberator."

The Mayors' Club of Massachusetts, at its annual meeting on Saturday elected Hon. Arthur B. Chapin of Holyoke as president and Hon. Charles H. Porter of Quincy as treasurer.

At the installation service of officers of Amana Rebekah lodge at South Braintree on Thursday evening a large delegation from George L. Gill Rebekah lodge of this city will be in attendance.

Mrs. Stephen Penniman, 70 years of age, is suffering from a dislocated shoulder, having the misfortune to fall while in the South station one day last week while on her way to New York to visit her daughter, Mrs. James B. Pollock. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Assistant Inspector General Henry J. Matthews has been detailed by Commander-in-chief Thomas L. Hayes of Boston, National Legion of Spanish War Veterans, to install the officers of Captain Charles V. Gridley Camp, No. 19, of New Bedford on Wednesday evening, January 10, and John Cleary Camp, No. 37 of Hyde Park, on Thursday evening, January 11. Commander George A. Wardwell of John A. Boyd Camp, No. 2, of this city will assist as mustering officer at these installations.

Chief Engineer Williams is confined to his home with rheumatism.

The patent issued to Edward F. White last week is for a shoe rack.

The Child Nurture club will meet with Mrs. Charles Bailey 65 Lincoln avenue, today at 3.

Melville P. Hayward left last week for Jacksonville, Florida, stopping en route at Hampton, Virginia.

The St. Marys were defeated at North Easton on Saturday evening by the Oliver Ames A. A. team 18 to 9.

R. W. Leavens, of Divinity hall, Cambridge, addressed the Wollaston Y. P. R. U. upon "Good and Bad Habits," Sunday evening.

The Wollaston Alliance will hold an all day sewing meeting Wednesday beginning at 10 A. M. at the home of Mrs. Edward J. Cummings, Winthrop avenue.

Deacon R. D. Chase was the organist at the Sunday evening service at Bethany church. The pastor gave an illustrated address on "The New Year's outlook on life."

William T. Shea, who represents this district, attended the organization of the Democratic State committee on Saturday. Hon. Josiah Quincy was elected chairman. Ex.-Gov. Douglas entertained at dinner.

The Wollaston Glee club will be assisted at its concert Jan. 17 by Miss Edna Maria Goullaud, soprano; Edward E. Bullock, tenor; Albert L. Hayden, baritone, and Miss S. Ella Morse, cornetist.

Was Popular At Atlantic

Mary Louise Moran, one of the most popular young ladies of Atlantic, passed away at her home on Hancock street on Saturday afternoon. She had been failing in health since the summer, and although her death had been expected still it came as a shock to all her friends. She was the eldest daughter of William T. Moran, employed at the Tubular Rivet & Stud factory, and a member of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Moran has the sympathy of many, as he lost his wife several years ago. Miss Moran had just passed her 19th year. Her popularity was proved by magnificent floral offerings at the funeral, which included:

Standing lyre, from Margaret and Alice, her sisters.
Standing cross, from plating room of T. R. & S. Co.
Spray of pinks, and roses, from Minnie Moran.
Standing Crescent, from Arthur Murphy.
Large wreath from Osse Greenfield.
Mound, from Mrs. Jane Cunningham.
Spray, from Mr. and Mrs. B. Manning.
Spray, from Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McMasters.
Spray, from Miss Grace Thomas.
Spray, from Mr. and Mrs. Robert J Clifford.
Spray, from Mr. Gerald A. Sullivan.
Spray, from Misses Susie and Louise Halloran.
Misses Estelle & Marion Terrill.

The funeral was held from the Sacred Heart church at nine o'clock, this morning, High Mass was celebrated by the pastor Rev. John P. Cuffe. At the conclusion of the mass, "Cross and Crown" was rendered by Peter J. Colligan. The pall bearers were: Arthur Murphy, Edward Murphy, Frank Murphy, Osse Greenfield, Edward Clifford and William Coleman. The interment was at West Quincy.

A Chicago physician says that no one should perform hard bodily or mental labor before eating. Many of us would like to know how we are ever going to get anything to eat if we don't.

BORN.

CANNON—In Quincy, Jan. 7, Evelyn Townsend, daughter to Mr. Maddison Mott and Mrs. Catherine Cannon of 29 Spear street.

DIED.

SAXLAND—In Quincy, Jan. 8, Mrs. Hilda, wife of Mr. John Saxland of 18 Town Hill, aged 39 years and 9 months.
BENNETT—In Atlantic Jan. 6, Mrs. Amelia Brown, wife of Mr. Stephen M. Bennett, aged 62 years, 5 months.
MORAN—In Wollaston, Jan. 6, Miss Mary Louise, daughter of Mr. William and the late Margaret Moran of Hancock street, aged 19 years and 23 days.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

—A barn of John H. Curran of West street, Randolph was destroyed by fire Sunday night.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

SIMON MAGUS.

The Legend From Which Was Born the Story of Faust.

Almost every renowned man of antiquity in the middle ages was believed to be attended by a spiritus familiaris and not a few were suspected of being in direct league with the devil. Probably the oldest legend of which the Faust legend is a continuous thread is that of Simon Magus, mentioned in the history of the apostles.

According to Justin, he was a native of Gitton, a village in Samaria. He was, no doubt, a man of great intellectual powers. He was the father of the school of the Gnostics. It is also reported of him that he could make himself invisible, that he could pass through flames unharmed, could transpose matter, make gold and exorcise demons—in fact, he laid claim to all these powers, and his name lived in the mouths of the people as a sort of demiurge through many centuries until some other miracle working personality took his place at the popular fireside. Unusual accomplishments, great erudition, were attributed to the supernatural influence and the general disposition to superstitious assumption was strengthened on the one hand by dogmatic affirmation on the part of the church of the existence of a personal Satan, with his numerous household, and, on the other hand, by incorporating the magic arts among the practical sciences, of which astrology and alchemy occupied no mean part.

THE ODD LITTLE GECKO.

A Queer Animal That Lives In Africa and Southern Europe.

The gecko is an odd little creature. His name is seldom heard, and his form is seldom seen, for he lives in Africa and the southern countries of Europe.

This little gecko has so many strange ways and there is something so uncanny in his appearance that the people of the countries where he lives are rather afraid of him, believing his bite to be poisonous, although this is denied by naturalists.

He is a little creature, with a broad, flat head, like a snake, and a long body, with a narrow tail, with odd shaped bits of skin arranged like scallops along the sides of it. He has short legs and queer, catlike claws, which enable him to easily climb the old walls and rocks upon which he lives, catching the insects of various sorts which make his dinner.

He is a nocturnal animal, walking abroad at night and sleeping in the daytime. He moves with sudden rushes and without any noise whatever. His odd name was given him from the queer noise he makes, which is something like the noise you would make to start a horse with. The male gecko is of a gray color, so near the shade of the old walls and rocks among which he makes his home that he can barely be seen.

Chinese Children.

The education of their children is a matter of no small interest to the affectionate Chinese mothers. They watch the little one from the day he is born, to note superstitious signs. Let him cry lustily, and he will live long, say the old grannies. If he teeths or walks too soon he will grow up unlovable in disposition. At first the little Chinese are not very attractive objects, presenting rather a scaly appearance, due to the custom of not washing them lest they catch cold. A month after his birth the boy's head is shaved. A great feast is prepared and celebrated, the child now receiving his "milk name." When he enters school his name is changed, as it is once more when he receives his degree.—Pilgrim.

A Curious Legend.

There is a curious legend in regard to Deadman's place, Southwark, London. An ingenious old writer says that the name originated as follows: "In Deadman's place, at St. Maryoverus, a manservant being buried at seven of the clocke in the morning, and the grave standing open for more dead Commodities, at foure of the clocke in the same evening he was got up alive againe by a strange miracle, which, to be true and certaine, hundreds of people can testifie that sawe him acte like a country Ghoste in his white peackled sheete." However, a more exact historian explained that the name was merely a corruption of Desmond's place.

Live While You Are Alive.

Enjoy life as it comes to you. Listen to the bird songs and the voices of the children. Linger to watch the sunset or the opening of a flower. Take into your life the goodness, the pleasure and the brightness of every day, for "we shall pass this way but once," and then when you reach the last day that is given you here you will be content and can say, "I have lived."—Town and Country.

He Knew.

"You are sure that man cheated?"
"Yes, sir," answered Three Finger Sam. "He held four aces."
"But that is not conclusive evidence."
"It was in this case. I knew where the regular aces was myself."—Washington Star.

Sudden.

"Now," said the professor, describing the work of his class to Miss Elderberry, "we are engaged"—
"Oh, are we? How sudden!" was her reply as she snuggled up.—Houston Post.

As to Heroes.

No man who is polite to his family only when company is present can hope to be a hero to his son.—Chicago Record-Herald.

RECLAIMING ARID LAND

Eleven Government Irrigation Projects Now Under Way.

WORK WILL COST OVER $37,000,000

Many Miles of Canals and Ditches Dug—Millions of Dry Acres to Be Brought to Fertility—Desire of the Sacramento Valley People—How the Value of Land Is Increased by Irrigating It.

A bulletin issued by the geological survey says the approval by the secretary of the interior of the Rio Grande reclamation project in Texas and New Mexico, and the Carlsbad project in New Mexico, will bring the number of reclamation projects up to twenty-four. Of these eleven are under way. They provide for the reclamation of 1,303,600 acres of arid lands at a cost of $37,028,571.

On June 30 the total cost of construction and engineering work performed by the reclamation service, together with the administration expenses, amounted to $5,462,169. On that date the reclamation fund had reached a total of $28,028,571. It was estimated at that time that the receipts for the fiscal years 1906-08 would amount to $9,000,000, so that the sum of money available for reclamation purposes up to the end of 1908 will be $37,028,571.

Since the work of reclamation began seventy-seven miles of main canals have been constructed and fifty-four miles of distributing canals, as well as 186 miles of ditches and 147 bridges. Over 9,350,000 cubic yards of earth have been excavated and three and a half miles of tunnel driven.

Labor, the bulletin says, is one of the most serious problems the engineers have to confront. "Several contractors," the bulletin adds, "engaged on government projects have already failed because of their inability to secure the services of a sufficient number of workmen, and others are on the verge of failure for the same reason. It is equally difficult to find competent subcontractors and foremen.

The people of the Sacramento valley, in California, are anxious that the government should extend the irrigation work that it is now doing in the west so as to take in a part at least of their land. The Development association of the Sacramento valley, which is taking a very active interest in the subject, has a representative in Washington now in the person of W. A. Beard, the secretary of the association. Mr. Beard has already had an interview with the secretary of the interior, under whom the general scheme of the reclamation service is being plotted, and while there has been nothing definitely promised to the Sacramento people yet there is considerable prospect that the valley will be included in the work mapped out for the coming year.

At the recent hearing at the interior department Mr. Beard and Director Walcott of the geological survey were both present, and the whole situation was clearly put before the secretary. The Sacramento valley is about 50 miles wide and 200 miles long. It contains a little over 2,600,000 acres of arable land, and the surveys that have been made of it show that there is not only water enough in the Sacramento river to irrigate the whole of it, but that there are reservoir sites enough to hold the water for distribution during the long dry summer without interfering with the navigation of the river. This is an unusually favorable showing for any irrigation project. The reservoir sites are such also that the work can be done economically and with more than usual speed.

The counties interested in the work have been co-operating with the geological survey for about six years in the surveys and preliminary investigations. The state appropriated $76,000 to aid in the original survey work. Now that the investigation is practically all done the Sacramento Valley association has taken up the work vigorously in hope of seeing one or another of the several projects put through. The people of the valley do not expect to see the whole of the work taken up at once, but they are in a frame of mind where they will heartily support the engineers of the reclamation service, no matter which of the several units of the work they elect to start on.

As has been said, the reclamation service has work under way in eighteen states that will ultimately cost over $37,000,000 and will reclaim something over 1,300,000 acres of land, but there are more than 2,000,000 acres in the Sacramento valley alone that are easily susceptible of irrigation and have the water and reservoir sites.

The rate at which land increases in value when once it is "under ditch" is almost inexplicable to the average easterner. The land in the Sacramento valley now which is irrigated by private enterprise is worth well over $175 an acre, while equally good land that is not irrigated can be had for $30. The subject of extensive irrigation work is pressing with the Sacramento valley people. The whole of the valley has been steadily cropped in wheat for fifty years, and this sort of treatment has so nearly worn it out that wheat raising is no longer profitable There are about 40,000 acres of land that have been irrigated by private enterprise, and this land is now selling for nearly $200 an acre.

If any of the several sections of the irrigation work can be promptly taken up by the national government they will not only be assured of the hearty co-operation of all the people of the valley, but it will mean that the construction of a comparatively small section of the irrigation works will double the taxable value of the valley.

MUSIC TO AWAKEN CARNEGIE

Steel King Rises Daily as Hymns Peal From Huge Organ.

Andrew Carnegie is wakened every morning by music, says the New York Herald. Just as the clock strikes 8 each day the first notes of "Lead, Kindly Light," or "Silent Night," his two favorites, roll out of the pipes of an immense organ in his home in Fifth avenue, rousing the steel king for the day and starting the machinery of the household to work.

Whether Mr. Carnegie wakens when the first bars are played or whether he is gradually roused from slumber depends, he says, on how tired he is. At any rate he believes in being brought back to consciousness by the music of some hymn he loves, so that his first thoughts will be restful, soothing and give him inspiration for the day.

When living in his castle at Skibo, Scotland, he is awakened fifteen minutes earlier each day by music, but not by the organ, for three musicians with bagpipes stand under his window and skirl ballads that he likes to hear. At 8 o'clock they depart with a native air, which the organist takes up and works into the hymns of which Mr. Carnegie is so passionately fond. The instrument in his Fifth avenue house is played by Walter C. Gale, organist of the Broadway tabernacle, in New York, every morning, Sunday included, and for the last four years he has wakened Mr. Carnegie daily by playing hymns.

As a surprise for Christmas and a token of his respect for the man, Mr. Gale and the tabernacle choir went to Mr. Carnegie's home on Sunday afternoon (Dec. 24) and sang for two hours. To make the surprise complete Mrs. Carnegie was taken into the plans and got the choir, thirty in all, into the dining room, and they began to sing "Silent Night" before the master of the household knew of their presence.

Resting quietly in an armchair, he sat up quickly, every nerve full of energy, as the first bar of the hymn he loves floated through the big rooms. As if petrified he waited until he could place the direction from which the singing came and then softly, with bowed head, he made his way to the dining room and waited in a corner until they had finished. They sang ten hymns and Christmas carols to his delight, and when they stopped he shook hands with each one, thanked each and wished all a "Merry Christmas."

STEAM HEAT IN SOD HOUSE

Novel Experiment In Dakota Farmer's Seven Room Home.

A steam heated plant in a sod house is one of the latest signs that the star of civilization is steadily wending its way westward, says a special dispatch from Bonesteel, S. D., to the St. Louis Republic. The home of Frank Gillispe, a farmer near Bonesteel, is now heated with a modern plant recently installed.

Gillispe is well to do and says he has no time to erect a brick home, but he does not intend to go without the comforts of steam heat. The sod house is very satisfactory to him, but the stoves which he previously used did not give satisfaction, and he resolved upon a more modern method.

While the sod home occupied by the Gillispe family is not prepossessing on the exterior, its interior is comfortably finished. It has seven rooms, all of liberal size. The steam heating plant instead of being installed in a basement is in one of the rooms adjoining the kitchen, which is also used as a storeroom. Here the boiler stands and is connected with radiators just as it would be if located in the cellar of a fine dwelling.

Cake With Diamond Trimmings.

It gives to the jewel lover a turn to think of a $1,000 ring lurking in a cake, says the New York Press. This was the experience of a Boston girl recently. She decided to make her wedding cake herself, and in the course of the operation she lost a big and beauteous diamond from her finger. She did not miss it until the cake was finished. Fearing it had been lost in the dough, yet not liking to disturb this triumph of culinary art, she called the aid of science and posed the cake for an X-ray photograph. It was found to be in the center of the cake, and though she was thankful that her treasure was restored to her the marring of the cake's smooth surface to regain it was a sad event from the careful housewife's standpoint.

An Engineering Feat.

A remarkable engineering feat was recently performed in the construction of the immense Whitney county dam across the Yadkin river, in North Carolina, says the New York Tribune. A southern company laid 490 cubic yards of granite in one day. This is said to be a world's record in dam building. At this rate the great power plant will be in operation much earlier than had been expected and by Jan. 1, 1907, will be supplying power to probably more than 200 cotton mills in North and South Carolina. The project is said to be the most gigantic ever undertaken by a private corporation in the south.

Owls as "Quail."

In San Francisco the other day the fish and game commissioner found a sack of owls on the counters of a commission house, says the Chicago News. The buyer of a French restaurant was negotiating for their purchase. If the trade had not been interrupted they would have been transferred into "broiled quail" under the hands of an expert chef. One man in Fresno has made a livelihood for several years by shipping owls to tickle the palates of the San Francisco epicures. The ground squirrel, too, is "quail." Many sacks of these are received in San Francisco daily.

How Many Birthdays? You must have had 60 at least! What? Only 40? Then it must be your gray hair. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops these frequent birthdays. It gives all the early, deep, rich color to gray hair, checks falling hair, and keeps the scalp healthy. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
CLASS RECEPTION and DANCE,
Wednesday Evening, Jan. 10.
Tickets, Gent and Lady, 50 cts. Extra Lady, 25 cts.
NEW CLASS NOW FORMING.
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 6. tf

High Record Score at Whist

At the regular meeting of the Wollaston Whist club on Saturday Messrs. Seymour and Thompson showed their knowledge of the game by being the high scorers for two games in succession and also getting the club's high record score of plus 16.

The scores were as follows:

H. C. Seymour and G. R. Thompson	plus 16 4-6
E. E. Hoxie and J. W. Broughton,	plus 8 3-6
L. N. Chapman and R. R. Freeman,	plus 8 1-6
R. F. Foster and A. B. Hillman,	plus 4-6
V. S. Brokaw and R. R. Freeman,	plus 2-6
R. M. Watt and E. W. Taylor,	minus 1 2-6
J. G. Brown and C. B. Hoxie,	minus 1 4-6
C. D. White and A. C. Littlefield,	minus 1 5-6
C. E. Barker and J. I. Litchfield,	minus 5 4-6
R. B. Smith and C. E. Monroe,	minus 6 5-6
G. A. Smith and E. E. Feeney,	minus 8 2-6
C. E. Hathaway and H. A. Stevens,	minus 9 4-5

A lunch was served after the game.

TODAY'S COURT.

Sabalina Pasquale and Pawjillo Marinell were arraigned for using profane language on the public streets at Quincy. They were fined $3 each.

The case of Russell Wilder who was arrested for attempting to extort money by threat was called and he was defaulted.

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT.
Ledger Office.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH.
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Saturday afternoon, on Hancock street, a Diamond Snake Ring. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to FRANK CRONIN, 48 Quincy avenue.
Jan 8. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Active, experienced Canvassers on a new Real Estate proposition. Splendid opportunity to make $100 to $300 per month. Address, SPEAR'S REALTY CORPORATION, 171 Broadway, New York.
Jan. 6. 1t

WANTED—A good machine and hand Granite Polisher. This is a good job for the right man. Write us. BERGER & HUNTER, Chambersburg, Pa. Successors to Forbes, Berger & Co. Jan. 6-2t

LADIES:—I want you to know of the splendid opportunity I can give any woman whereby she can actually turn her spare time into money. The work is very pleasant and will easily pay $18 per week. No experience is necessary, and if you really want to make money easily, write to HARRIET A. RICHARDS, Joliet, Ill. Jan. 6-1t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

WANTED—Installment Male Collector for merchandise accounts; good salary and expenses. Address GLOBE COMPANY, 723 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. Jan. 5-3t

WANTED—A Strong, Active Boy to work in my store. L. A. CHAPIN, 1395 Hancock street.
Quincy, Jan. 5. 2t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—48 Revere Road, a nicely furnished medium size, well heated room, two large closets, $2.50 per week. Also good size side room, $1.50 per week. Quincy, Jan. 6-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy.
Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Rooms. Apply at 160 Elm street, Quincy.
Jan. 4. 3t

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. lp tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS.
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

Start Today
OUR NEW STORY
First Chapter

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

First Chapter
TODAY
Of New Story

Vol. 18. No. 8. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Start Today with the First Chapter of an Absorbing Love Story.

For Coughs and Colds

There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and colds. Ask your own doctor about it.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Mission Furniture

To the lovers of simplicity in house furnishing the Mission or Dutch furniture has much attraction.

PLAIN, SUBSTANTIAL, SIMPLE, COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE.

These five words convey a world of meaning.

This furniture is made of oak and is finished in a rich dark brown, it costs no more than ordinary oak, and with rugs and draperies of plain red o green it furnishes a room or den in a rich substantial manner unequalled by any other style of furniture. We have a choice selection at popular prices.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

CLASS RECEPTION and DANCE,

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 10.

Tickets, Gent and Lady, 50 cts. Extra Lady, 25 cts.

NEW CLASS NOW FORMING.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 6. tf

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

CHAPTER I.

IT was long ago, in the days when men sighed when they fell in love, when people danced by candle and lamp, and did dance, too, instead of solemnly gliding about; in that mellow time so long ago when the young were romantic and summer was roses and wine, old Carewe brought his lovely daughter home from the convent to wreck the hearts of the youth of Rouen.

That was not a far journey; only an afternoon's drive through the woods and by the river in an April long ago. Miss Betty's harp carefully strapped behind the great lumbering carriage, her guitar on the front seat half buried under a mound of bouquets and oddly shaped little bundles, farewell gifts of her comrades and the good sisters. In her left hand she clutched a small lace handkerchief, with which she now and then touched her eyes, brimmed with the parting from Sister Cecilia, Sister Mary Bazilede, the old stone steps and all the girls, but for every time that she lifted the dainty kerchief to brush away the edge of a tear she took a deep breath of the western woodland air and smiled at least twice, for the years of strict inclosure within St. Mary's walls and still gardens were finished and done with, and at last the many colored world flashed and danced in a mystery before her. This mystery was brilliant to the convent girl because it contained men. She was eager to behold it.

They rumbled into town after sunset in the fair twilight, the dogs barking before them, and every one would have been surprised to know that Tom Vanrevel, instead of Mr. Crailey Gray, was the first to see her. By the merest accident Tom was strolling near the Carewe place at the time, and when the carriage swung into the gates, with rattle and clink and clouds of dust at the finish, it was not too soon lost behind the shrubbery and trees for Tom to catch something more than a glimpse of a gray skirt behind a mound of flowers and of a charming face with parted lips and dark eyes beneath the scuttle of an enormous bonnet. It happened—perhaps it is more accurate to say that Tom thought it happened—that she was just clearing away her veil when he turned to look. She blushed suddenly—so much was not to be mistaken—and the eyes that met his were remarkable for other reasons than the sheer loveliness of them, in that, even in the one flash of them he caught, they meant so many things at one time. But, above all, these eyes were fully conscious of Tom Vanrevel.

Without realizing what he did Mr. Vanrevel stopped short. He had been swinging a walking stick, which, describing a brief arc, remained poised halfway in its descent. There was only that one glance between them, and the carriage disappeared, leaving a scent of spring flowers in the air.

The young man was left standing on the wooden pavement in the midst of a great loneliness, yet enveloped in the afterglow, his soul roseate, his being quavering, his expression, like his cane, instantaneously arrested. With such promptitude and finish was he disposed of that had Miss Carewe been aware of his name and the condition wrought in him by the single stroke she could have sought only the terse Richard of England for a like executive ability: "Off with his head! So much for Vanrevel!"

She had lifted a slender hand to the fluttering veil, a hand in a white glove with a small lace gauntlet at the wrist. This gesture was the final divinity of the radiant vision which remained with the dazed young man as he went down the street, and it may have been three-quarters of an hour later when the background of the picture became vivid to him—a carefully dressed gentleman with heavy brows and a handsome high nose, who sat stiffly upright beside the girl, his very bright eyes quite as conscious of the stricken pedestrian as were hers; vastly different, however, in this—that they glittered—nay, almost bristled—with hostility, while every polished button of his blue coat seemed to reflect their malignancy and to dart little echoing shafts of venom at Mr. Vanrevel.

Tom was dismayed by the acuteness of his perception that a man who does not speak to you has no right to have a daughter like the lady in the carriage, and, the moment of this realization occurring as he sat making a poor pretense to eat his evening meal at the Rouen House, he dropped his fork rattling upon his plate and leaned back, staring at nothing, a proceeding of which his table mate, Mr. William Cummings, the editor of the Rouen Journal, was too busy over his river bass to take note.

"Have you heard what's new in town?" asked Cummings presently, looking up.

"No," said Tom truthfully, for he had seen what was new, but not heard it.

"Old Carewe's brought his daughter home. Fanchon Bareaud was with her at St. Mary's until last year, and Fanchon says she's not only a great beauty, but a great dear."

"Ah!" rejoined the other with masterly indifference. "Dare say—dare say."

"No wonder you're not interested," said Cummings cheerfully, returning to the discussion of his bass. "The old villain will take precious good care you don't come near her."

Mr. Vanrevel already possessed a profound conviction to the same effect. Robert Meilhac Carewe was known not only as the wealthiest citizen of Rouen, but also as its heartiest and most steadfast hater; and, although there were only 5,000 or 6,000 inhabitants, neither was a small distinction, for Rouen was ranked in those easy days as a wealthy town, even as it was called an old town, proud of its age and its riches and bitter in its politics, of course. The French had built a fort there soon after La Salle's last voyage and, as Crailey Gray said, had settled the place, and had then been settled themselves by the pioneer militia. After the Revolution, Carolinians and Virginians had come by way of Tennessee and Kentucky, while the adventurous countrymen from Connecticut, traveling thither to sell, remained to buy—and then sell—when the country was in its teens. In course of time the little trading post of the northwest territory had grown to be the leading center of elegance and culture in the Ohio valley—at least they said so in Rouen.

Robert Carewe was Rouen's magnate, commercially and socially and, until an upstart young lawyer named Vanrevel struck into his power with a broadax, politically. The wharfs were Carewe's; the warehouses that stood by the river and the line of packets which plied upon it were his. Half the town was his, and in Rouen this meant that he was possessed of the middle justice, the high and the low. His mother was a Frenchwoman, and in those days, when to go abroad was a ponderous and venturesome undertaking, the fact that he had spent most of his youth in the French capital wrought a certain glamour about him, for to the American Paris was Europe, and it lay shimmering on the far horizon of every imagination, a golden city.

Mr. Carewe lived in an old fashioned house on the broad, quiet, shady street which bore his name. There was a wide lawn in front, shadowy under elm and locust trees and bounded by thick shrubberies. A long garden, fair with roses and hollyhocks, lay outside the library windows—an old time garden, with fine gravel paths and green arbors, drowsed over in summer time by the bees, while overhead the locust rasped his rusty cadences the livelong day, and a faraway sounding love note from the high branches brought to mind the line, like an old refrain:

The voice of the turtle was heard in the land.

Between the garden and the carriage gates there was a fountain where a bronze boy with the dropsy (but not minding it) lived in a perpetual bath from a green goblet held over his head. Near by a stone sundial gleamed against a clump of lilac bushes, and it was upon this spot that the white kitten introduced Thomas Vanrevel to Miss Carewe.

Upon the morning after her arrival, having finished her pianoforte practice, touched her harp twice and arpeggioed the "Spanish Fandango" on her guitar, Miss Betty read two paragraphs of "Gilbert" (for she was profoundly determined to pursue her tasks with diligence), but, the open windows disclosing a world all sunshine and green leaves, she threw the book aside with a good conscience and danced out to the garden. There, coming upon a fuzzy white ball rolling into itself spirally on a lazy pathway, she pounced at it, whereupon the thing uncurled

(CONTINUED ON PAGE 3.)

Order In For New Schoolhouse At Atlantic

Debate on Method Of Procedure Also on the $300,000 Temporary Loan Order

That important matters before the City Council will be debated this year was evident from the meeting of the City Council held Monday evening. Several of the new members spoke on questions before the meeting which was one of the most interesting held for some time.

The two questions that brought out the debate was the order authorizing the City Treasurer to borrow $400,000 in anticipation of taxes, and an order offered by Councilman Hobbs that the Commissioner of Public Works procure plans for a new school building at Atlantic.

Councilman Hunter and Nichols were absent.

PETITIONS.

Several applications for minor licenses were received and referred.

The N. E. T. & T. Co. petitioned for permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles of the Quincy Electric Light & Power Co. on Thayer, Verchild, Marion and Atlantic streets. Referred to Committee on Streets when appointed.

R. J. Teasdale petitioned for a license to store gunpowder in an iron covered building on land leased from Adams Real Estate Trust in the southern part of the city. Referred to Committee on Licenses when appointed.

Councilman Spargo presented a petition for a sewer on Granite street from Brewers corner toward City Square. To Committee on Sewers and Drains.

Councilman Hobbs presented a petition for the acceptance of Charles street. To Committee on Streets.

HIGH SCHOOL LOAN.

The Special Committee reported a substitute order in place of the order for $5,000 additional for enlargement of the High school building, making the amount $6,500. Report accepted. A Substitute adopted. Rules suspended and order passed to be ordained.

TEMPORARY LOANS.

The Special Committee reported ought to pass on the order authorizing the City Treasurer to borrow $400,000 in anticipation of taxes.

Councilman Chase moved to amend by making the amount $100,000. The impression he had received was that the amount borrowed for the High school was not to be applied to any other purpose. The assumption is that the City Treasurer was not authorized to use any part of the $113,000 to pay maturing obligations. We are now paying $128 a month interest on that loan. If we borrow more money it would bring the interest up to $200 or $300 a month. He wished to limit the amount to $160,000, which will give the Treasurer all he needs.

Councilman Polk: This order gives the Treasurer authority to borrow money from time to time when necessary. He will not make these loans until absolutely necessary. Not a dollar of the 1906 tax comes in until the fall of the year. In the meantime bills come in which must be paid. He did not see what would be gained by limiting the amount.

Councilman Chase asked the Mayor if he understood that any part of the $113,000 could be used for maturing obligations.

Mayor Thompson replied that he thought the Treasurer would have that right with the consent of the Mayor.

Continuing the Mayor said the cash on hand today is $146,000, because of specific orders of 1905. No part of it belongs to the City Council this year. If the treasurer uses this money to pay maturing bills without having authority to borrow in anticipation of taxes to recoup himself, it would leave him in a bad position.

Councilman Chase—It is wrong to pay interest on temporary loans instead of using money on deposit. He could not see the necessity of authorizing temporary loans for the whole amount.

Councilman Stone did not understand that the $400,000 was to be borrowed at one time, but at different times as needed.

In reply to questions City Treasurer Fay said that he did not intend to borrow at once. There were times when money could be borrowed at low rates. If he needed money he considered it best to borrow when at low rates. He never knew what demands were to be made and it was foolish to limit the Treasurer to $100,000.

Last year the amounts borrowed were: Feb. 20, $100,000; March 15, $100,000; April 3, $50,000; June 8, $50,000, July 19, $50,000, He had one note of $100,000 coming due Jan. 15.

Councilman Spargo opposed the amendment. The matter should be left in the hands of the Mayor and Treasurer.

Mayor Thompson—The uncollected tax of 1904 and 1905 aggregates $225,000. It had been the custom not to enforce liens inside of two years. So far as the real estate was concerned there was no danger of loss and the city was getting six per cent. There was no intention to borrow until necessary.

Councilman Chase said he had the utmost confidence in the Mayor and Treasurer. He simply wanted to know if there was anything to prevent using any part of that $113,000.

Councilman Gilson opposed the amendment. At first he believed a smaller loan would be sufficient. If we pass the smaller loan, we will have to go through the same operation next month. He did not understand that the full amount would be borrowed at once but as it was needed. He had confidence that the Treasurer would only borrow from time to time when needed at the lowest rates.

The amendment of Councilman Chase was rejected The rules were suspended and the order passed to be ordained.

CAPTAIN WANTED.

Councilman Stone offered an order amending the Fire Department ordinance so as to provide that the engineer of the steamer at the Central fire station shall have charge of the station in the absence of the Chief Engineer and shall have the rank of captain. Referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

LIGHTS WANTED.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order for an incandescent light on Webster street. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Polk offered an order for three incandescent lights on Bromfield street. To Committee on Streets.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order for the commissioners of Public Works to procure plans for a new school building at Atlantic. Referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

Upon motion of Councilman Hobbs the reference was withdrawn.

Upon motion of Councilman Sawyer

(Continued on page 4)

Funeral of John McRitchie

The funeral of John McRitchie, of Robertson street was held Monday afternoon from the First Presbyterian church, Water street. The pastor, the Rev. N. J. Sproul, conducted the services. The church choir, under the leadership of Mr. Alfred Bishop, sang hymns.

The interment was at Mount Wollaston cemetery and was attended by members of Clan McGregor, of which the deceased was long a member. There was also a representation from the local lodge of Foresters of which he was also a member.

The Scottish National Odd Fellows, with which Mr. McRitchie had for many years been affiliated, was represented by John Birnie and Alex McHardy as pallbearers, both being in full regalia. The other palbearers were: For the clan, Thomas Johnstone and Robert Beattie; for the Foresters, Alex Russell and John Michael.

There were many floral tributes, which showed the esteem in which the brother was held by those who have known him since he came to Quincy some eighteen years ago. Among the pieces were:

Heart of pinks and Odd Fellows links of pinks, ferns and roses,—from the daughter.

St. Andrews cross of roses, ferns and carnations,—from Clan McGregor.

Spray of pinks,—Mrs. John Michael and family.

Pillow of flowers,—Foresters.

Spray of pinks,—Miss Larrabee and Miss Chisholm.

Bank of flowers,—Mr. John Birnie and Mr. Alex McHardy.

Spray of pinks,—Miss Anderson.

New Officers of Clan.

The new officers of Clan McGregor No. 5 were installed Monday night at the Clan hall, Doble's corner, by Grand Chief David A. Scott assisted by his staff. David T. Drummond was placed as chief and the second officer is George Mavers. These two officers will be assisted in their management of the clan by Robert C. Allan, as chaplain, Walter Mitchel, as henchman to the chief, and James M. Birnie, as henchman to the tanist. Norman Wilson has charge of properties, Robert Craig as warden and William Kelly sentinel. After installing ceremonies an impromptu entertainment of exceptional merit was given by a number of clansmen at the call of the chief. Coffee and sandwiches were served during the evening. The meeting was of unusual interest and very harmonious.

Army and Navy Friction

polish for all black shoes. Nothing better; easy, quick, brilliant and lasting; oil and wax, no acid or turpentine.

HANCOCK HALL,

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 15,

CONCERT.

John and Mary McCay,

Brother and Sister both blind,

An evening of standard and popular vocal and instrumental music, Humorous songs, Impersonations true to life, Irish wit, etc.

Lengthy and varied program.

Admission reduced to 25 cents.

Jan. 9. 5t

THE FINEST OF SUPPLIES!

Foy's is the market where the finest and purest of food supplies may be obtained at lowest prices.

There are many tempting specialties that may be only obtained here.

Tempting, delicious Sausage, guaranteed pure, choice Mince Meat, every variety of Cheese, daintiest Crackers and Cookies, nicest baker's goods, and many other things here.

Everybody likes our Creamery Butter, 29c. per lb.; also our best Coffee, 30c. and purest Tea, 50c.

For Meat, Flour, Tea, Coffee, Vegetables, Fruit, and especially nice things to eat at low prices—come to Foy's.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.

Tel. 367-3.

Quincy, Jan. 8. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The experience of the Mansfield man at Providence, who bet on pool games and was thereby robbed of part of his fortune, should be a lesson to the unwary never to play a gambling game with any stranger, or with any man you know too well; and never bet on a sporting proposition that can be fixed up in advance to beat you. Ergo, never bet at all, as fixed games are the rule and not the exception in anything that is likely to tempt the thoughtless or the conceited to back his own opinion with money.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ Life insurance companies should not be permitted to control subsidiary or affiliated financial or corporate institutions, and their officers should have no part of interest in any other business. Investments should be judiciously prescribed and circumscribed, with a view to safety, and there should be no underwriting except to obtain proper securities for the legitimate investment of funds. Officers and trustees should have no personal participation in any company underwriting. There should be no speculation in life insurance. Directors should direct, trustees should be held to the faithful fulfilment of their trust and supervision should be made effective and controlling. Law will not beget efficiency or integrity in men, but its requirements and restraints are necessary to prevent those having the interests of others in charge from using them to subserve ends of their own.—New York Journal of Commerce.

"Watches" on Board Ship.

On board all ships a series of "watches" are established, so that work is shared equally among the sailors. To aid this object also the crews are divided into two divisions, starboard and port. A ship's day commences at noon, and there are seven watches. The watch which is on duty in the forenoon one day has the afternoon next day, and the men who have four hours' rest one night have eight hours the next. This is the reason for having "dog watches," which are made by dividing the hours between 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. into two.

Rheumatism and Tan.

The discovery of a remedy for rheumatism by means of tan was accidentally made by a tanner of Ulm, Wurttemberg. One day he fell into one of his own vats, and, as no one was near, he had to remain in the tanning liquid for over half an hour. When rescued he found, it is said, that his rheumatism had entirely left him. He then turned doctor and treated by means of a system called electrotannotherapia.

—Bourke Cochran says that no man with $10,000,000 can be put in jail. Men with $10,000,000 will now know where to look for an attorney when they get into trouble, but as none of our citizens have ten millions their chances of keeping out of jail are slim.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

1906	JANUARY					1906
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:37 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

ROGERS IS D FIANT

Evades Questions Regarding the Standard Oil Business

New York, Jan. 9.—Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and a director of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, which Attorney General Hadley is trying to oust from the state of Missouri, was on the witness stand on quo warranto proceedings brought by Hadley. Hadley took up only two points: Whether the Standard Oil company of Indiana has an office in the building at 26 Broadway, this city, where the Standard Oil company of New Jersey has its office, and whether the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owns or controls a majority of the stock of the Indiana company, the Waters-Pierce Oil company of Missouri and the Republic Oil company of New York.

Mr. Rogers said that he did not know that the Indiana company had offices at 26 Broadway; that he supposed its affairs were in Indiana, and that he imagined that James A. Moffett, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, has an office at 26 Broadway, but that he (Rogers) was never in it.

Mr. Rogers declined to answer the question whether the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owns the stock of the other companies which Hadley alleges have combined to stifle competition in Missouri. Hadley pressed the questions with much insistence and demanded answer without evasions.

"Do you mean to say to the supreme court of Missouri that you do not know where the offices of the company of which you are a director are located?" demanded Hadley.

"It is immaterial to me what the supreme court of Missouri expects me to say," replied Rogers. Rogers was testifying when the hearing adjourned.

France Getting After Castro

Washington, Jan. 9.—President Castro's' failure to recognize the French charge at Caracas on New Year's day will not be allowed to pass unnoticed by the French government. At the request of the French government, Mr. Russell, the American minister at Caracas, will make to President Castro vigorous, and what may prove to be final, representations. The French government's position is that the time is near when action must be substituted for words unless Castro changes his attitude.

Hunting Up Strike Breakers

New York, Jan. 9.—Secretary Hunter of the Metal Trades' association says, referring to the strike of the housesmiths in this city, that the Employers' association is gathering strike-breakers from all parts of the country and that as soon as the weather permits the association expects to be able to resume work on contracts tied up by the strike.

Constantine Among the Missing

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The police have not yet arrested Frank J. Constantine, who is wanted for the murder of Mrs. A. W. Gentry. The cabman who drove him around the city after the commission of the crime was taken into custody, but could give little information that was of assistance to the police.

Indignation Over Massacre

London, Jan. 9.—Lord Rothschild presided at a mass meeting here last night which adopted a resolution expressing indignation and horror at the massacres and outrages on the Jews in Russia. Among those present on the platform were the lord mayor of London and other prominent persons.

Russian Soldiers Worrying

Pekin, Jan. 9.—Merchants returning from Harbin report much dissatisfaction among the Russian troops, who believe that the czar is distributing lands among the peasants and who think that the soldiers are not getting their share because they are kept in Manchuria.

Seven Lives Lost In Fire

Lewistown, Pa., Jan. 9.—Isaac Saylor, his daughter, Mrs. Peter Martin, and her five children were burned to death at their home in Pleasant View. Charles Saylor and his wife, who were visiting at the Saylor homestead, escaped.

NEWS IN BRIEF

J. C. Breckenridge, son of John C. Breckenridge, who was vice president of the United States from 1857 to 1861, died at Yonkers, N. Y., aged 61.

Napoleon Lajoie has signed a contract to manage, captain and play second base for the Cleveland American league team for the season of 1906.

Fire destroyed the dwelling and barn of Ernest Washburn, a Caribou, Me., farmer. Three houses, seven cows, several hundred bushels of potatoes and a large amount of hay were consumed. The loss is $10,000.

A large barn on the estate of Charles A. Hubbard at Weston, Mass., was destroyed by fire. The loss is $10,000.

The senate has confirmed the nominations of three postmasters in Massachusetts: G. W. Jones, Falmouth; F. P. Goss, Hyannis, and W. A. Murphy, Amesbury.

In pursuance of a plan to establish a circuit of theatres independent of the so-called theatrical syndicate, the independent managers opened the Shubert theatre, formerly the Imperial, at Providence.

Cane grinding in Cuba, which is usually in full operation in January, is almost entirely suspended at present, owing to the wet condition of the fields.

The trustees of Boston university awarded the Jacob Sleeper fellowship for the year 1905-1906 to Wilbur A. Colt, professor of mathematics at the University of Vermont. The fellowship yields an annual income of $500 and is to be used for the purpose of foreign study.

BY HIS OWN HAND

Edwards Met Death by Use of Pistol and Poison

HILLER IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Inquest Evidence Said to Have Been Startling--Mystery Remains In Absence of Detailed Report of the Coroner

New Haven, Jan. 9.—Suicide by means of both bullet and poison is the explanation given by Coroner Mix of the mysterious death of Charles A. Edwards of New York at the Abigail Hiller homestead in this city a week ago. This finding is contained in a preliminary report to State Attorney Williams and is based in part upon the discovery of morphine in the body of Edwards by Medical Examiner Bartlett and the surgeons who performed the autopsy. The finding is supported by some portions of the evidence taken at the inquest, which extended through five days and which is not yet completed.

The preliminary report is made at this time to relieve public suspense, and Mix adds that Edwards' death probably was one of the most remarkable on record. The theory of suicide, however, appears not to have been held by the coroner until two detectives unearthed in the shrubbery in the rear of the Hiller house an old-fashioned 22-calibre revolver and a half-pint bottle containing a quantity of laudanum. Until that time the weight of evidence taken by Mix from long and exhaustive examination of witnesses was that Edwards had been murdered.

The first action taken by Mix after reaching a conclusion in the case was to order the release from surveillance of A. Maxcy Hiller, brother-in-law of Edwards, who on Thursday evening last was placed in charge of a police officer, under a recently enacted law, which gives the coroner the right to hold an important witness in a case if he sees fit.

The coroner's brief report does not dispel the mystery in the death of Edwards, and until the complete finding is ready probably no public solution can be found as to why Edwards at 2 o'clock on Wednesday morning last, clad in his underclothes, left his chamber and descended to the basement, lighted the gas, unbolted and opened the rear door, then twice discharged a revolver at himself, one bullet going into the ear; then, failing to kill himself, threw the weapon away, drank laudanum and tossed the bottle after the pistol, and with blood flowing from a wound in the ear and head dragged himself back to his chamber, got into bed, drew the bedclothes over his shoulders, and after placing a handkerchief under his head to staunch the flow of blood, lapsed into unconsciousness, death coming six hours later. Coroner Mix so describes the actions of Edwards on the night in question.

The coroner's finding came after he had had conferences with State Attorney Williams, Medical Examiner Bartlett and Charles Hiller, brother of A. Maxcy Hiller. It was expected that the finding would be that murder had been committed by a person or persons unknown.

The finding of the coroner has aroused even greater interest in the reports of the autopsy and inquest, neither of which, however, may be made public in detail. Some of the inquest evidence is understood to be startling almost beyond belief, the coroner himself admitting this.

In discussing some of the facts obtained on which the suicide theory was confirmed, Coroner Mix says that one bullet went wild, being imbedded in the door, while the other made the wound. In an ordinary man this bullet would have brought on unconsciousness, but probably with Edwards it simply had a deadening effect.

The hand rail on the stairs and the wall show bloody handmarks, as if Edwards had first put his hand to the wound, smearing it with blood before starting upstairs. That Edwards had partially disrobed before going downstairs is shown by the care taken in folding up and laying aside his outer garments. Besides, according to Charles Hiller, he retired about midnight.

The time of the shooting is fixed by a maid servant next door and by the watchman at the Graduates' club in the rear, both of whom heard two pistol shots about 2 o'clock. Charles Hiller slept through this noise. The yard in which the pistol and bottle were found was apparently thoroughly searched by officers on Wednesday and Thursday, assisted by a score of newspaper men.

The Edwards case has been of absorbing interest in this city because of the close family relations of the Hiller and Edwards families with many socially prominent Connecticut families. The death of Edwards startled and shocked the community in which he was a popular Yale graduate, financier and society man, who was well known in Wall street. He married the only sister of A. M. and C. A. Hiller. A. M. Hiller is a member of the bar and has served as an alderman. In temperament he was peculiar, and it was shown by abundance of evidence at the inquest he had had bitter quarrels with his brother and sister over the settlement of the Hiller estate.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

By the Purchase of a Home.

Deeds Drawn. Titles Searched.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.

Jan. 1. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER, GLAZIER,

LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.

Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec 27. 12t

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,

ADAMS BUILDING.

Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,

H. LITCHMAN.

Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.

All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.

303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mille. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

HOTEL GREENLEAF.

AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.

MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.

Ceiling work a specialty.

WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.

23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.

Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO., Furniture and Piano Moving,

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN

DENTIST,

Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.

OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

POISON SEARCH FAILED

Officials Wanted to Examine the Pets of Late Mrs Chase

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 9.—An unsuccessful effort was made by the officers who are investigating the death of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase of Swampscott to ascertain if the woman's pets, which were found dead at the same time, were killed by arsenic, a poison which, it is said, was found in considerable quantities in the stomach of Mrs. Chase. The bodies of the pets, a dog, two parrots and a canary bird, were exhumed, but it was found impossible to make an examination of them owing to the advanced state of decomposition.

District Attorney Peters yesterday sent to a handwriting expert specimens of the handwriting of Mrs. Chase and also of her husband, Dr. Chase. The specimens consisted of what has become known as the "suicide note" left by Mrs. Chase, in which she announced that she was voluntarily ending her life, and a letter written by Dr. Chase to Leonard H. Phillips, his brother-in-law, in which Chase enclosed a note for each of her brothers.

This letter and the enclosed note were written in February, 1900, just previous to Mrs. Chase's departure for a hospital in Boston. At that time Mrs. Chase feared that she might not recover from the effects of the operation, and she wrote to her brothers requesting them to refrain from contesting the will which she had made. These letters were surrendered to District Attorney Peters by the Phillips brothers.

Evangelist Defies Police

Boston, Jan. 9.—Robert D. Griffith, who says he is an independent evangelist, was talking from the steps of the old court house to a large crowd, when an officer approached him and asked if he had a permit. Griffith said that had not. The officer thereupon escorted Griffith to the station house, where he stated that he intended to speak in the same place every day at the same time. He acknowledged that he had been in jail before for speaking from steps without a permit.

Fitzgerald's Advisory Committee

Boston, Jan. 9.—The first step in the line of forming an advisory committee who will advise and co-operate with Mayor Fitzgerald in dealing with questions affecting the business interests of the city was taken when representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Boston Merchants' association, the Real Estate Exchange and the shoe and leather merchants waited upon the mayor. Various suggestions were made, but none were acted upon definitely.

Bankers Make an Assignment

Boston, Jan. 9.—Nathan B. Goodnow & Co., bankers and brokers at 2 Post-office square, have made an assignment. Though this firm was established by the late Nathan B. Goodnow in 1874, it now merely bears his name and has no active financial connection with his estate. The advance in copper shares is said to have affected the stability of the concern and contributed largely toward the causes of the failure.

Boston Aldermen Deadlocked

Boston, Jan. 9.—The deadlock in the Boston board of aldermen over the election of a chairman is unbroken. When the board convened on Jan. 1 an unsuccessful attempt was made to elect a chairman, and finally the matter went over until the next meeting of the board, which was held yesterday. Five ballots were taken at yesterday's meeting, but in no case did any candidate have enough votes to elect.

Ashfield Arrives In Safety

Boston, Jan. 9.—Except for a few broken casks of china clay in one of the forward compartments, steamer Ashfield arrived from Fowey, Eng., little the worse for her hard battle with the north Atlantic seas and winds. She required 22 days for the voyage, on four of which she was able to steam ahead only a total of 96 miles because of the terrific head seas and winds with which she had to contend.

Seeking Light on Hackett Murder

Augusta, Me., Jan. 9.—Miss Lillian Cowan of Readfield was summoned to the courthouse here and was questioned by county officials in connection with the murder of Mattie Hackett in that town last summer. Miss Cowan is said to have stated that she saw a young woman who came from the direction of the Hackett farm pass her home on the night of the crime.

Broker Tries to Take Life

Boston, Jan. 9.—Wallace H. Franklin, a broker in Devonshire street, attempted suicide by shooting in his room at the Hotel Commonwealth. He was removed to a hospital, where information concerning the attempt upon his life is refused. The reason for the man's act is not known and little concerning him can be learned from the hotel people.

Children Burned to Death

New London, Conn., Jan. 9.—Catherine and Lillian Mosni, aged 2 and 6 years, respectively, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mosni of this city, died last night. The children were left alone in the house and probably their dresses were set on fire by coming in contact with a stove. When they were discovered their garments were in flames.

Assault With Billiard Cue

Ansonia, Conn., Jan. 9.—Harry Zucher, a bartender in a local saloon, was assaulted, possibly fatally, by a negro who gave the name of Walter Nelson, aged 24. He struck Zucher with a billiard cue, fracturing the skull, and then rifled the cash drawer of $15. Nelson says he did not intend to hurt Zucher when he struck him.

A Story of the Russian Revolution

[Original.]

During the late Russo-Japanese war, at the battle of Mukden, when the Russians were about to gain a marked advantage, the color bearer of a regiment posted at a critical point suddenly threw down the colors. The men, seeing the flag lowered, turned and fled. The colonel of the regiment at first supposed that the color bearer had been shot, but on learning that this was not so sent for him. The soldier was conducted before his commanding officer.

John Zariski, the color bearer, was a fine looking young fellow, tall, straight, handsome. There was something defiant in his mien as he stood before his commander waiting punishment, which he could hardly doubt would be death.

"Why did you drop the colors?"

Zariski made no reply. The colonel looked at him curiously. His appearance certainly did not denote lack of bravery. Partly as a test the officer hissed:

"Coward!"

A shiver passed over the young man's frame. He raised his eyes and gave his accuser a glance which seemed to say, "Had I an opportunity you would not impugn my courage again."

Turning to an officer behind him, the colonel gave an order. Zariski was marched in the center of a squad straight for the front, where the fighting was thickest, was placed in position by himself, the squad drew up before him, there was a volley, and he fell.

The officer in command was about to march his men away when he discovered a force of dusky little men moving toward his rear. In another moment he and his men were running to save themselves from being cut off, leaving the body of Zariski among the dead.

Among the first regiments to be sent back to Russia was that in which John Zariski had served. It was posted for a time at Moscow, but on the opening of the revolution was sent to Warsaw and charged with maintaining the government cause in a certain district of the city.

One day a crowd of Polish revolutionists were parading, bearing aloft the flag of Poland, when they were fired on by the Russian troops. The revolutionists returned the fire with far better arms and effect than was usual with them, and the Russians, a small detachment, retired. That night the revolutionists made barricades, and the next morning these barricades bristled with rifles and revolvers. The colonel in command—the same who had ordered the shooting of John Zariski—rode on to the ground and looked at the barricades.

"Captain," he said to the officer in command of the troops, "you must take those barricades."

"Colonel," replied the officer, "I have but ninety men. There are hundreds of the revolutionists, apparently well armed. Besides, they seem to have a leader who knows how to handle them to the best advantage—something I have never noticed concerning them before."

"Captain," replied the colonel, "they are a rabble. Disperse them at once or be prepared to face a court martial."

The captain marched his ninety men up to the breastworks and met a fire that laid low half of them. The rest fled to the rear. There they met the colonel, who sat on his horse scowling at them. Rallying them, he was about to lead them forward when the captain cautioned him.

"Colonel," he said, "I fear a portion of their force have marched around the square and will take us in the rear. There are not so many of them behind their barricade as there were, and their flag is gone."

"All the more reason why they should be dispersed," the colonel growled and gave the order to advance. The men were about to obey when a shot was fired down the street from an opposite direction. All turned and saw a solid mass under the flag of Poland moving upon them by the only route that had been open to their retreat. A man was marching in advance, holding the flag in his right hand, a sword in his left.

"About face!" cried the colonel. "Charge!"

But his order was ignored. The fifty men he commanded knew they were no match for ten times their number on both sides of them. The revolutionists by order of their commander, he who bore the flag, halted, drew up in line with something of the precision of troops and brought their weapons to an aim. Then the colonel consented that the captain should raise his white handkerchief on the point of his sword in token of surrender. The commander of the revolutionists advanced and met the colonel. Both started. John Zariski and the man who had ordered him to be shot for lowering the flag of Russia stood face to face.

"Colonel," said Zariski, "the last time I saw you you called me 'coward.' If it was cowardly to throw down the flag of a nation I detest and hate, then am I a coward. I was not a Russian, but a Pole made to serve against my will. My ancestors fought under the kings of Poland, my grandfather in the revolutions of 1830 and 1846, my father in that of 1863, and now the revolution of 1905 needs their willing descendant."

While Zariski was speaking the colonel sat on his horse, his eyes fixed on the young man before him with the expression of one who was listening to a ghost.

"They told me you had been executed," he said.

"They did their duty. I was badly wounded, but, as you see, recovered and have come here to help gain my country's independence."

JULIUS L. BROWNE.

Local Ins And Outs

A little more wintry.

Perhaps Quincy may have some zero weather yet.

A meat market is to be opened in the Faxon block at the corner of Hancock and Saville streets.

Club notes in the Daily Ledger tomorrow. Let all organizations be represented. Each should have a press agent or reporter.

A delegation from Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., attended the installation of Longfellow lodge, K. and L. of H., of Everett Monday evening.

Holbrook's field is used by teams for such a common thoroughfare that perhaps it would not be a vain petition for some of the energetic councilmen of Ward Six to get it accepted as a street from Clive to Squantum streets. It was prepared for acceptance a few years ago, but the city turned deaf ears to such a request. However the need of a street through the field has become felt and at present Atlantic justifies the most active work of its representatives. Such an accepted thoroughfare would improve the looks of things generally, add to the value of property, and make the house lots bordering it far more desirable.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.

Address, B. W. FRENCH.
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.

With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,

534-539 Tremont Building, Boston

Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.

1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS Sold at very low prices.

MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up

Opposite Grand Central Station New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

The Hancock Hotel

Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table.
Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8.
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T
DELAY ONE MOMENT.
Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollar a Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE,
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tu

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.)

with lightning swiftness and fled, more like a streak than a kitten, down the drive, through the open gates and into the street, Miss Betty in full cry.

Across the way there chanced to be strolling a young lady in blue, accompanied by a gentleman whose leisurely gait gave no indication of the maneuvering he had done to hasten their walk into its present direction. He was apparently thirty or thirty-one, tall, very straight, dark, smooth shaved, his eyes keen, deep set and thoughtful, and his high white hat, white satin cravat and careful collar were evidence of an elaboration of toilet somewhat unusual in Rouen for the morning. Also he was carrying a pair of white gloves in his hand and dangled a slender ebony cane from his wrist. The flying kitten headed toward the couple when, with a celerity only to be accounted for on the theory that his eye had been fixed on the Carewe gateway for some time previous to this sudden apparition, the gentleman leaped in front of the fugitive.

The kitten attempted a dodge to pass; the gentleman was there before it. The kitten feinted; the gentleman was altogether too much on the spot. Immediately, and just as Miss Carewe, flushed and glowing, ran into the street, the small animal doubled, evaded Miss Betty's frantic clutch, re-entered the gateway and attempted a disappearance into the lilac bushes instead of going around them, only to find itself, for a fatal two seconds, in difficulties with the close set thicket of stems.

In regard to the extraordinary agility of which the pursuing gentleman was capable, it is enough to say that he caught the cat. He emerged from the lilacs holding it in one hand, his gloves and white hat in the other, and presented himself before Miss Betty with a breathlessness not entirely attributable to his exertions.

For a moment, as she came running toward him and he met her flashing look, bright with laughter and recognition and haste, he stammered. A thrill nothing less than delirious sent the blood up behind his brown cheeks, for he saw that she, too, knew that this was the second time their eyes had met.

He could not speak at once, but when he could, "Permit me, madam," he said solemnly, offering the captive, "to restore your kitten."

An agitated kitten should not be detained by clasping its waist, and already the conqueror was paying for his victory. There ensued a final outrageous squirm of despair. Two frantic claws, extended, drew one long red mark across the stranger's wrist and another down the back of his hand to the knuckles. They were good, hearty scratches, and the blood followed the artist's lines rapidly, but of this the young man took no note, for he knew that he was about to hear Miss Carewe's voice for the first time.

"They say the best way to hold them," he observed, "is by the scruff of the neck."

Beholding his wounds, suffered in her cause, she gave a pitying cry that made his heart leap with the richness and sweetness of it. Catching the kitten from him, she dropped it to the ground in such wise as to prove nature's foresight most kind in cushioning the feet of cats.

"Ah, I didn't want it that much!"

"A cat in the hand is worth two nightingales in the bush," he said boldly and laughed. "I would shed more blood than that!"

Miss Betty blushed like a southern dawn and started back from him. From the convent but yesterday—and she had taken a man's hand in both of hers!

It was to this tableau that the lady in blue entered, following the hunt through the gates, where she stopped with a discomposed countenance. At once, however, she advanced and, with a cry of greeting, enveloped Miss Betty in a brief embrace, to the relief of the latter's confusion. It was Fanchon Bareaud, now two years emancipated from St. Mary's and far gone in taffeta. With her lusterful light hair, absent blue eyes and her gentle voice, as small and pretty as her face and figure, it was not too difficult to justify Crailey Gray's characterization of her as one of those winsome baggages who had made an air of feminine helplessness the fashion of the day.

"I'm so glad—glad!" exclaimed Betty. "You were just coming to see me, weren't you? My father is in the library. Let me"—

Miss Bareaud drew back. "No, no," she interrupted hastily and with evident perturbation; "I—we must be on our way immediately." She threw a glance at the gentleman, which let him know that she now comprehended his gloves and why their stroll had trended toward Carewe street. "Come at once," she commanded him quickly in an undertone.

"But now that you're here," said Miss Betty, wondering very much why he was not presented to her, "won't you wait and let me gather a nosegay for you? Our pansies and violets"—

"I could help," the gentleman suggested, with the look of a lame dog at Miss Bareaud. "I have been considered useful about a garden."

"Fool!" Betty did not hear the word that came from Miss Bareaud's closed teeth, though she was mightily surprised at the visible agitation of her schoolmate, for the latter's face was pale and excited. And Miss Carewe's amazement was complete when Fanchon, without more words, cavalierly

"I didn't want it that much!"

seized the gentleman's arm and moved toward the street with him as rapidly as his perceptible reluctance to leave permitted. But at the gate Miss Bareaud turned and called back over her shoulder, as if remembering the necessity of offering an excuse for so remarkable a proceeding: "I shall come again very soon. Just now we are upon an errand of great importance. Good day!"

Miss Betty waved her hand, staring after them, her eyes large with wonder. She compressed her lips tightly. "Errand!" This was the friend of childhood's happy hour, and they had not met in two years!

"Errand!" She ran to the hedge, along the top of which a high white hat was now seen perambulating. She pressed down a loose branch and called in a tender voice to the stranger whom Fanchon had chosen should remain nameless:

"Be sure to put some salve on your hand!"

He made a bow which just missed being too low, but did miss it.

"It is there already," he said and, losing his courage after the bow, made his speech with so palpable a gasp before the last word that the dullest person in the world could have seen that he meant it.

Miss Betty disappeared.

There was a rigidity of expression about the gentle mouth of Fanchon Bareaud, which her companion did not enjoy, as they went on their way, each preserving an uneasy silence, until at her own door she turned sharply upon him. "Tom Vanrevel, I thought you were the steadiest—and now you've proved yourself the craziest—soul in Rouen!" she burst out. "And I couldn't say worse!"

"Why didn't you present me to her?" asked Vanrevel.

"Because I thought a man of your gallantry might prefer not to face a shotgun in the presence of ladies!"

"Pooh!"

"Pooh!" mimicked Miss Bareaud. "You can 'pooh' as much as you like, but if he had seen us from the window"— She covered her face with her hands for a moment, then dropped them and smiled upon him. "I understand perfectly to what I owe the pleasure of a stroll with you this morning, and your casual insistence on the shadiness of Carewe street!" He laughed nervously, but her smile vanished, and she continued: "Keep away, Tom. She is beautiful, and at St. Mary's I always thought she had spirit and wit too. I only hope Crailey won't see her before the wedding! But it isn't safe for you. Go along, now, and ask Crailey please to come at 3 this afternoon."

This message from Mr. Gray's betrothed was not all the ill starred Tom conveyed to his friend. Mr. Vanrevel was ordinarily esteemed a person of great reserve and discretion; nevertheless there was one man to whom he told everything, and from whom he had no secrets. He spent the noon hour in feeble attempts to describe to Crailey Gray the outward appearance of Miss Elizabeth Carewe—how she ran like a young Diana, what one felt upon hearing her voice, and he presented in himself an example exhibiting something of the cost of looking in her eyes. His conversation was more or less incoherent, but the effect of it was complete.

(Continued in Next Issue.)

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

PENALTY OF DEATH

Sherrie Pays It In Connecticut State Prison

DECLARED HIS INNOCENCE

Slayer of Mrs Kulas Had Been Granted a Respite, but the Attempt to Introduce Evidence For New Trial Was Fruitless

Hartford, Jan. 9.—Frank Sherrie was hanged at the state prison this morning for the murder of Mrs. Kulas. The drop fell at 12:06 and at 12:22 Sherrie was officially pronounced dead. The body was cut down three minutes later.

Speaking of the execution, Warden Garvin said it was the most successful one which has ever taken place at the institution. There was no hitch or delay in the proceedings. Without a word Sherrie walked to his place on the scaffold. He made no farewell speech and his last words were those uttered before midnight, when he declared his innocence of the crime of which he had been convicted. The body was buried this morning in the prison graveyard.

One of the last things which Sherrie did was to make a will leaving to his two sisters in Russia his estate, which consisted of $110 in cash, a watch and several trinkets.

Sherrie killed Mrs. Kulas at Rockville by striking her on the head with a hammer as she was washing dishes. He then robbed the house. It was a coincidence that a Mrs. Shippller, who kept a Polish boarding house here, was murdered in the same manner. Sherrie had boarded with Mrs. Shippller and afterward went to Mrs. Kulas' place to board, but at the time of the Kulas murder he lived in Hartford.

The motive for both murders was robbery. No one saw the crime in the Kulas house, but several persons in the village identified Sherrie as the man they had seen on that afternoon and who had left town on an early evening trolley car.

Sherrie's defense was a general denial, and after his conviction his counsel carried the case to the supreme court of errors on the ground of errors, but a new trial was refused. The evidence against Sherrie was made conclusive by the finding of a number of Mrs. Kulas' trinkets among his effects at his boarding place in this city soon after the crime was committed.

Sherrie was to have been put to death on Oct. 31, but a respite was granted by Governor Roberts on the request of Nicholas Lodygensky, the Russian consul at New York, who was interested in the case by Russian officials in this country. Influence was brought to bear on the consul general and at a meeting in the state capitol on the day before Sherrie was to die Governor Roberts granted the reprieve until Jan. 9.

An attempt was made to introduce new evidence, but this was not successful and no petition for a new trial was filed for the prisoner. Sherrie was 30 years old and came from Russia.

Serious Charge Against Railroad

New York, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Pelgrino Landi, wife of a man who was killed by a train which backed over the New York Central passenger platform, states that she was kept a prisoner at the New York Central depot for three hours, with the connivance of the police, who, she says, prevented her brother from reaching her. She claims that she was held because she would not sign a paper releasing the railroad from a claim for damages and that she had to get a lawyer to secure her release. She claims that the railroad kept her husband's effects and gave his body to an undertaker.

Dog Helped Rout Burglars

New York, Jan. 9.—In a battle with three burglars who broke into a factory building occupied by the Columbia Typewriting company, Cornelius Gogo, a watchman, was badly beaten by the intruders and then shot through the right leg. His big Newfoundland dog made a hard fight to save his master, tearing the leg of one. Gogo would probably have been killed but for the dog. The burglars escaped.

Compromise With Printers

St. Louis, Jan. 9.—With the ratification by nine of the largest printing establishments in St. Louis of the compromise agreement with the Typographical union the strike of the job printers has ended and both sides are claiming a victory. The agreement provides for a nine-hour workday, the ninth hour to be paid at the rate of 40 cents, and all overtime at the rate of 50 cents an hour.

Weather Reports by Wireless

Washington, Jan. 9.—The systematic collection of meterological observations from vessels at sea by means of wireless telegraphy and the simultaneous issuance of weather forecasts and storm warnings to these vessels, based upon observations thus collected, is the latest work upon which the United States weather bureau has entered.

Sharp Fighting In Santo Domingo

Turks Island, B. W. I., Jan. 9.—Advices brought here by the steamer Cherokee from Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, say the recent fighting near that port was very sharp, of the 800 men engaged on both sides 150 being killed or wounded. Dead bodies were lying in the streets of Puerto Plata for two days.

PANAMA DISCUSSED

Senator Gorman Thinks It Time For Congressional Inquiry

Washington, Jan. 9.—The canal question came up in the senate in connection with a message from the president in which, among other things, he invited the closest scrutiny into all that had been done by the government in the Isthmus of Panama. Mr. Gorman made that utterance the text for a speech in which he criticised the salaries paid for work in connection with the canal and urged congressional inquiry. He said that the chief mistake had been made when congress released its hold on canal affairs. Mr. Hale agreed with Mr. Gorman in urging an assertion of the rights of congress in connection with the canal.

With over four hours devoted to the District of Columbia there was left but a half hour to be devoted by the house to tariff discussion. This was utilized by Mr. Sullivan (Mass.), who spoke strongly for tariff revision from the Democratic standpoint.

War on American Fisheries

St. Johns, Jan. 9.—The French administration in St. Pierre, Miq., in return for concessions from Newfoundland regarding fisheries and commercial intercourse, has undertaken to prevent American fishing vessels from making St. Pierre the base of their operations and to prevent the smuggling of liquors and other goods to Newfoundland. The Miquelon government has also undertaken to prevent Americans from procuring bait, fishermen or other requisites from Newfoundland through Miquelon.

Civil Service Bars Let Down

Washington, Jan. 9.—Civil service regulations will not hereafter apply, so far as the isthmian canal commission is concerned, to the employment of what is termed in a general way "outside men," that is, track layers, skilled laborers, foremen, etc. To other classes of employes, stenographers, clerks, bookkeepers and other "inside men," the civil service rules will continue to apply. This determination was reached at a conference at the White House.

The Battle For Mrs Tolla

Hoosick Falls, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Judge McCarthy of this city, one of the attorneys in the fight to save Mary M. Rogers of Vermont from the gallows, has been requested to appear before the board of pardons at Trenton, N. J., in behalf of Mrs. Tolla, who is sentenced to be hanged on Friday. In asking for commutation of her sentence to life imprisonment it is expected that McCarthy will present petitions signed by 100,000 people.

The Army Canteen Problem

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Rev. George D. Rogers, pastor of the First Baptist church of Highland Park, near the large military post of Fort Sheridan, has published a letter in which he declares that he has made a study of conditions surrounding the army post at Fort Sheridan and has come to the conclusion that the existence of the canteen is the best solution of a difficult problem.

A Doctor's Unfortunate Mania

New York, Jan. 9.—Dr. B. W. Steger attempted suicide in the Aubodon hotel by taking a mixture of chloroform and morphine. He was removed to Bellevue hospital, where physicians say he cannot recover. Steger took the poison after leaving a note saying that he had suffered from suicidal and homicidal mania for years and that he could not bear the suffering longer.

Havana's First Protestant Church

Havana, Jan. 9.—The cornerstone of the Presbyterian church, the first Protestant church edifice to be erected in Havana, was laid in the presence of a throng of Cubans and Americans. The edifice is made possible through an unsolicited gift of $25,000 by Mrs. Tracy McGregor of Detroit, with $10,000 from the Home Mission society of New York.

Another Hazing Middy

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 9.—Midshipman Miller of Lancaster, Ky., who has been expected to graduate at the head of his class next month, has been put under arrest on charges of hazing Midshipmen Cooper and Demott, members of the fourth class. Cooper is the midshipman who was stricken with paralysis while in a classroom.

Rough Riders Will Chip In

Ardmore, I. T., Jan. 9.—The Rough Riders will send to Miss Alice Roosevelt on the occasion of her marriage to Congressman Longworth a handsome present. Secretary Colbert of the Rough Riders' association has made a request of each Rough Rider, including President Roosevelt, for a donation toward the present.

Dozen Houses Wrecked

New York, Jan. 9.—According to a report from Haverstraw, a cave-in there about midnight carried away 12 houses and 15 persons are missing. It is reported that they were killed. It is impossible to reach Haverstraw by telephone or telegraph and the details of the disaster are not obtainable.

To Supply Much Needed Work

Havana, Jan. 9.—For the purpose of employing labor in the tobacco region of the province of Pinar Del Rio, in which the crops have been ruined by the rains, the senate passed an appropriation of $400,000 which will at once be available for the building of roads, bridges, etc.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Jan. 10.
Sun rises—7:13; sets—4:31.
Full moon—11:37 a. m.
High water—11 a. m.; 11:30 p. m.
Snow will continue in New England.

WIFE MALTREATED

Claim of Husband of Woman Ejected From White House

A CHARGE OF INSANITY

Morris Says It Became Dangerous to Press It and Refers to Mental and Physical Bruises--Congressman Hull Replied To

Washington, Jan. 9.—Dr. Minor Morris, whose wife was ejected from the White House last Thursday night, last night gave out a public statement addressed "To Whom It May Concern," beginning as follows:

"A woman of the highest culture, of the rarest attainments, who has devoted her life to her home, her family and her ideals, whose only thought has been to do good, and who has always considered others before herself, a wife and mother, has been seized from behind, in the waiting room of the White House, and maltreated, with a brutality which humanity would revolt at seeing accorded to its lowest type. The details of this sickening thing, unnameable, are now known to the whole country."

Dr. Morris alleges that an effort was made to hold Mrs. Morris at the house of detention until his arrival two days later, and to "make it appear that she was friendless and insane." He says that the physicians sent to examine her manifested their indignation and that, as "it became dangerous to press the insane charge, she stands today recorded as the disturber of the peace to the extent of five dollars."

Dr. Morris says her suffering will not have been in vain "if the larger purposes of truth and justice are strengthened in the community." His wife did not scream, he says, until "the violent seizure by secret service men surprised her with the command to 'come on.'"

The statement makes sarcastic allusions to Assistant Secretary Barnes, who, it says, after ordering her removal tried to defend himself. Morris says that the mental and physical bruises which his wife sustained would be dreadful in any environment, but at the portals of the national residence of executive authority the pain is intensified a thousand times.

The question of a disputed will and codicil of her father is then taken up and the expressions given out by her brother, Representative Hull, in recent interviews denounced as forgetful of the most sacred relations of life "in the hour of her crucifixion." The statement alleges that while the testator, Mrs. Morris' father, said "I owe no debts," a debt of almost the entire estate was put through a court and that a demand for the removal from the war department of Morris, who mentions himself as the beneficiary's husband, was made in connection with the pressing of the latter's claims.

In conclusion Morris declares that the nation's sense of decency has been shocked, that one woman has to bear all this and that the "vital fact in the limelight is that this outrage is the gravest insult to the politeness of American life within the memory of men and women now living."

Will Contest Involving Millions

New York, Jan. 9.—In the state supreme court the suit of James R. Palmer to upset the will of his brother, the late Francis A. Palmer, has come up for hearing. The contestant declares that there is between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 involved in the litigation. F. A. Palmer died in 1902 at the age of 92 years. His brother is 96 years old. The bulk of Palmer's fortune was bequeathed to a fund for the support of missions and needy ministers.

Gamblers Offered a Bribe

Central Falls, R. I., Jan. 9.—Mayor McNally of this city states that two men interested in gambling, accompanied by two politicians, called upon him and offered him $500 a month if he would permit the opening of a gambling house and the running of a roulette wheel. The mayor states that he refused the proposition.

Rumors Were Incorrect

Havre, Jan. 9.—Steamer Bordeaux, from New York, reports that on Sunday, when off the Scilly islands, she passed steamer La Savole, which left Havre Saturday for New York. The Savoie signalled "all well." A rumor has been in circulation here that the Savoie had been lost with all hands.

A Dishonest Army Officer

Washington, Jan. 9.—The president has confirmed the sentence of dismissal in the case of Lieutenant Snyder, Sixth Infantry, who was tried by court martial in the Philippine Islands in October last, and convicted of charges of borrowing money from an enlisted man and failing to pay the same.

Unusually Open Winter

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Tug Queen, from Heart Island, in the St. Lawrence river, arrived here Sunday with merchandise and returned last evening. It is 25 years since a boat has come down the St. Lawrence so late in the winter season.

School Destroyed by Fire

Toronto, Jan. 9.—The school building at the Industrial Home for Boys at Mimico was destroyed by fire last night. All the boys escaped. The loss will be $25,000.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 46	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 34	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	iedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 58 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 13	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 46	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate what trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.40 6.16 6.40 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6 21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	34	40	50	35	43
Monday,	27	41	32	33	46
Tuesday,	26	35	36	35	40
Wednesday,	—	34	45	32	38
Thursday,	—	68	30	42	38
Friday,	—	44	38	27	45
Saturday,	—	43	32	26	54

New Advertisements Today.

Hancock Hall—Concert.
Wanted—First-class Stone Cutter.
To Let—3 Houses.
Wanted—Girls.

The City In Brief

Not enough snow for sleighing.

First chapter today of the new story —"The Two Vanrevels".

Start today with the first chapter of our new serial—"The Two Vanrevels."

Officer John Larkin resumed his duties on Monday after a week's absence caused by illness.

☞Are you reading "The Two Vanrevels," the new serial in the Daily Ledger?

Mr. Nixon, a foreman in the machine shop at the ship-yard, has resigned his position.

Plans are being made for another old fashioned dance, to be held in Wollaston hall, January 19.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Wentworth of Bigelow street are entertaining Mr. Wentworth's mother, from Rochester, N. H.

Mrs. Alexander Thompson, formerly of Elm street, has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Howe of Bigelow street.

"The Two Vanrevels" is written by Booth Tarkingtos the auther of "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beausaire."

The train due at Wollaston at 8.49 A. M. was about twenty-five minutes late on Monday on account of lack of water for the engine.

Avery L. Bennett, instructor at Milton Academy, returns to his duties today, having spent his vacation with his parents at Wollaston.

Mrs. Charles E. Finch of Rochester, New York, spent the day in Wollaston on Monday. She is the guest this week of Mrs. William S. Washburn of Campello.

The annual business meeting of the Wollaston Congregational church will be held tomorrow evening, and is an important one, as there is an proposition to abolish the pew rentals and establish free pews.

Miss Alta Grant, daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Grant of 239 South Central avenue observed her eleventh birthday on Jan. 5 by entertaining several young friends. Music and games were enjoyed and also refreshments. Miss Altha received several presents.

Several boys had a scare and a wetting at Bryants pond on Saturday afternoon. The ice being very thin, broke under them, and but for the timely assistance of some of the larger boys and Mr. Bryant't man, the accident would probably have ended seriously

The death of Mrs. Stephen Bennett of Newbury avenue last Saturday came as a shock to many of her relatives and friends. Mrs. Bennett has been in delicate health for some time but her condition was not thought serious. She leaves a husband, two sons and a daughter.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Y. M. C. A. Defeat Copeland Club

The Young Men's Christian Association bowling team easily defeated the the Copeland club Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. alleys, taking three strings straight. Tupper of the Association team took the honors for high man. Youngworth excelled for the visitors.

Y. M. C. A.

	1	2	3	Totals.
J. Ruggles,	66	91	81	238
Hughes,	103	79	73	255
Morris,	79	85	98	232
R. Tupper,	90	91	79	260
C. Thomas,	77	83	73	233
	415	429	374	1218

COPELAND CLUB.

	1	2	3	Totals.
Martell,	72	80	61	218
Laranden,	77	70	76	223
Elcock,	78	67	66	211
Youngworth,	83	74	90	247
Henry,	61	82	70	213
	371	373	363	1107

P. O. Building Appropriation

A dispatch from Washington says that Congressman McNary arrived from Boston on Sunday and began at once to "lay pipes" to secure an item in the public building bill this session an item from $100,000 to $125,000 for a public building at Quincy.

The movement to secure the passage of a public building bill for $15,000,00 started with the House Republicans, and Representative McNary does not mean that Quincy shall be left out in the cold. He has been a persistent worker for Quincy's federal building, and while the coverted appropriation has not come as yet, it is only by such persistent work that we will succeed.

The land for the building has already been purchased and it is time that a building was erected upon it.

Former Resident.

Mrs. Mary J. Williams, aged 87 years, died Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Leach, 72 Boston avenue, West Medford. She was born in Grafton, N. H. There she married Elias Williams, 62 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Williams removed to Quincy soon after the wedding. Mr. Williams, who was foreman at a stone quarry in this city was killed accidentally about 38 years ago. For a time the widow had a home of her own in Milton, but in the more recent past has resided with her children. Mrs. Williams was the mother of eight sons and daughters, seven of whom are now living. The funeral will be held at 72 Boston avenue, West Medford at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

John and Mary McCay, both blind, who are now making their home on Washington street, Quincy, are to give their vocal and instrumental entertainment in Hancock hall next Monday evening. Both have been blind since infancy and the entertainment which they give is pronounced as most wonderful. Whenever they have given it they have met with great success and it has been praised as a delightful evening of music.

TODAY'S COURT.

Isaac J. Burns was arraigned for assault on his wife at Quincy. Satisfaction was acknowledged and the case placed on file on the payment of costs.

The continued case of Samuel Samuelson for murder was called and again continued until Friday.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x50 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

THE QUINCY LEDGER.
FOR SALE AT THE
South Terminal Station News Stand
After 3.35 P.M.

Men's Club

Of Christ Church Give Their First Annual Banquet And Ladies' Night

The first annual banquet of the Men's Club of Christ church was so successful, that it will long be remembred by members and guests. It was held in the parish house which was taxed to its utmost as nearly 150 sat at the tables.

The head table was laid lengthwise of the chapel on the easterly side and was lighted with lamps. There were several short tables at right angles. At each plate was a May basket the work of the president's wife, which made the tables more attractive; they were filled with raisins and salted peanuts.

The menu was an excellent one, the dishes well cooked and seasoned, and served by a bevy of pretty young ladies which any club would be pleased to enroll as friends. The soup was hot, the turkey young and tender, and such cranberry jelly it could not be beat. Home-made cake was served with the ices.

The menu follows:

SOUP
Tomato Bisque
ROAST
Vermont Turkey with Cranberry Jelly
Ham
Mashed Potato — Squash
Olives — Rolls — Pickles DESERT
Ice Cream — Assorted Cake
Nuts — Coffee — Raisins

The waiters were gowned in white with red sashes and red hair ribbons.

Mayor Thompson was expected as a guest but the City Council being in session he was unavoidable absent. Ex-Councilman William F. Sidelinger, the president of the Bethany church Brotherhood, and Mr. Sam Walter Foss, the well known "back country poet" were guests.

William L. Thomas, the president of the club, was chairman of the committee of arrangements, and presided at the post prandial exercises. He welcomed all heartily, and spoke enthusiastically of the growth of the club, which promised in the future to be a potent factor in the work of the church. It was the first annual banquet and would be remembered with pleasure.

President Sidelinger brought the greetings of Bethany Brotherhood and congratulated the club upon its success.

A male quartette was next introduced and its selection was so pleasing that they were recalled. The quartette included J. H. Stedman and Arthur Peverly as tenors, and Charles Prout and John Emery as basses.

Those assembled would have felt well repaid had there been no banquet, and no other entertainment that the recital by Mr. Sam Walter Foss of Somerville, of several of his back country poems. Mr. Foss is a native of Candia, N. H., and by the way is president of the Candia club which has done much to improve the little town. His poems are about the plain, ordinary common place people, but there is meat in them; the sentiment is good, and they are full of cheer.

Mr. Foss opened with "By the side of road" and followed with "Confessions of a lunkhead," "Deacon Pettigrew's blundering prayer," "A song for those who succeed," "The volunteer organist" and the "Weeping soliloquy."

Each selection was greeted with applause which was not always reserved until the close, and of course there were encores which included "Halloa" and "Forty years love."

All rose and sang America in conclusion.

G. B. Bates Wins.

The jury in the case of G. B. Bates against the City of Quincy, for damages by the change of grade on Dimmock street, found for the plaintiff in the sum of $200. The jury were out two hours.

DIED.

MILLS—In Wollaston, Jan. 8, Mr. Benjamin F. Mills of 523 Hancock street, aged 89 years, 9 months and 24 days.

ALSKIE—In Quincy, Jan. 8, Mrs. Mary, widow of Mr. Vincent Alskie of 141 Beale street, aged 62 years.

WILLIAMS—In West Medford, Jan. 7, Mrs. Mary J. Williams, formerly of Quincy, and widow of Elias Williams, aged 87 years.

AYMAR In Weymouth Heights, Jan. 6, Sarah D. Aymar, of 11 Church street.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE.

the order was amended by adding these words, "without cost to the city."

WOODWARD TRUSTEE.

Upon motion of Councilman Bass the Council proceeded to the election of a member of the Managers of the Woodward Fund. The vote was as follows: George A. Sidelinger had 13 and Richard Freeman had 7. George A. Sidelingea was declared elected.

HOSPITAL TRUSTEES.

Voted to proceed to the election of two trustees of the City Hospital. The vote was as follows: Alfred H. Gilson had 18 and Wendell H. Hull had 18; scattering 3. Councilmen Gilson and Hull were declared elected.

Councilman Stone thought it would be better to pay architects as we would get better plans. The Commissioner should be allowed to pay for the plans.

Councilman Bass—Under this order the power is taken from the Council. He thought it wise that the Committee on Public Buildings take it up and see what course it shall pursue.

If it is wise to pay for plans they can come to the Council and ask for it. Under this order the Council does not know what is being done until the Commissioner brings them in. It is really the duty of the City Council to get these plans.

Councilman Stone thought the proper place was the Committee on Public Buildings.

Councilman Sawyer—Last year the Commissioner obtained plans for the High school.

Councilman Bass—That was because there was a conflict in the Council.

Councilman Hobbs—Because the Commissioner was so successful in that case was one of the reasons why he offered the order. The objections were not exactly what they appeared to be. He did not think there was any loss of rights of Council.

Councilman Bass—The speaker evidently means me. I ask what the allusions mean?

Councilman Hobbs did not reply.

Councilman Chase—If this order prevails the Commissioner sends the plans to the School Committee. Then comes a bill to the City Council to carry out the plans.

Councilman Sawyer—The idea is to gain time.

Councilman Hull—The order in its natural course should go to the Committee on Public Buildings, and he was in favor of the usual way. He was not against the Ward Six school building, but was against adoption of this order.

Councilman Bass moved to amend by striking out the words "Commissioner of Public Works," and inserting the words "Committee on Public Buildings."

Councilman Hobbs—There is no doubt about the hostility of that motion. The plans must come some time to that Committee. The City is now paying $900 per year for rental of outside rooms in Ward Six, and $420 interest on the land. This order will cost this city nothing, but will facilitate matters. He would be the last to take away any rights of the Council. It was simply to get plans, and send them to the Committee on Public Buildings.

Councilman Polk — The gentleman makes a mistake in crying hostility so soon. We only want to start in the right manner. He did not think there was any hostility.

Councilman Stone—There was no deadlock in the Committee last year. It was in the Council. He was in favor of the school but it should go its natural sourse.

The amendment of Councilman Bass was then accepted and the order adopted.

Adjourned 8.58 to meet Jan. 15.

Benjamin E. Mills.

Benjamin F. Mills, a well known educator, died at the residence of his son, Rev. Carleton P. Mills, on Monday, in his 90th year.

Mr. Mills was born in South Williamstown, Mass. While yet a young man he founded the Graylock Institute for Boys, a preparatory school, which he conducted for 45 years. It was a very successful school and at its height had 85 boys. For the past fifteen years he has made his home with his sons, five years at Roxbury and 10 years in Quincy.

He represented the Berkshire district in the House of Representatives for three years and in the Senate for two years.

He leaves four sons and a daughter. His sons are Rev. Carleton P. Mills, of this city; George F., professor and treasurer of Amherst Agricultural college; Charles A., insurance of Pittsfield; Silas R., professor of vocal music at Smith college; and Miss Blanche, who makes her home in Wollaston.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Accident at Post Office.

An absentminded man walked through the large glass door of the post office Monday night. The glass in the door was so clear that he evidently thought there was no door there. The smashing of the glass brought him to his senses, but it was too late, the damage had been done.

Fred G. Thayer has returned to Amherst college.

Active Children

Give the children Dr. True's Elixir regularly and they will be active, strong and healthy. This safe vegetable tonic expels worms and all impurities of the stomach and bowels giving to delicate, emaciated children pure blood, hearty appetite, healthy sleep and healthful activity. It puts color in their cheeks and brightness and happiness in their eyes—making them well again.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

is as good for grown people as for children. For indigestion, irritability, constipation, malaria, peevishness and liver troubles it is unequaled. Three generations have known of the wonderful merits of Dr. True's Elixir. Kept in the home it keeps out sickness.

PORTLAND, ME.
DR. J. F. TRUE & CO.: I have known your Elixir for more than 40 years, and have used it in my family with good success. I am taking it now for indigestion. Am eating much more than formerly and am gaining flesh. FREEMAN GORDON.
Sold by all dealers, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Write for free booklet, "Children and Their Diseases."
DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me. Established 1851

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR
RIGHT.
SAVE MONEY.
Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 2. pl tf

THE CARE OF LACES.

How These Fabrics Should Be Washed, Starched and Ironed.

Laces should be cleaned according to the material of the lace. Silk lace should be stretched evenly over small, clean, thin wooden boards and laid overnight in warm milk. This should be rinsed out in warm water, and it should be soaked as many hours more in a strong solution of soap. At the last it should be rinsed thoroughly without rubbing.

Linen lace should be wrapped on a bottle which has first been covered with muslin or flannel. After the lace is stretched on a piece of coarse, open crinoline should be stretched over it and sewed lightly. Soak the bottle in lukewarm water and rub the outside wrapping with soap and a piece of flannel. Afterward steep the bottle for some hours in soft, clean water. It may then be dipped in a thin starch water and rolled between dry towels. After it is taken off the bottle press it between a napkin.

To starch nice laces first squeeze them through soap suds and rinse. Add bluing to the starch if you wish them white or a few teaspoonfuls of clear coffee if you wish them yellow. Squeeze out of the starch and roll up in towels. Pull gently into shape every little while with the fingers and pin on the ironing table. Press between tissue paper with a hot iron after it is dry, punch the openings with a stiletto and pick out the edge loops with a pin, when it can be made to look like new lace. This plan will succeed with applique or any of the nonsilk laces which do not take to washing readily.

THE HOSTESS.

Some of the Things She Should Be Sure Not to Do.

Don't invite a single visitor to stop in the house unless she is an intimate friend, who would enjoy being treated as one of the family. Two are much more easily entertained than one. Two can make excursions together and when left to each other's company do not feel neglected.

Don't give vague invitations. They do not seem and probably are not intended seriously, and no one is complimented by a courtesy of that sort. If you really want a visitor indicate the time or times when you will be free, and leave the invited to fix the date or ask the visitor for a definite event.

Don't omit to give the invitation for a specified period—a week end, a week, two weeks or longer, according to distance and length of journey. If the visitor cannot be met at the railway station, don't omit to state how your house may be reached.

Don't cover the dressing table in the visitor's room with decorative trifles that will leave her no place for her properties. A laden dressing table looks very pretty at the moment of arrival, but the items are in the way subsequently.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Use a wooden toothpick to test cakes instead of a broom straw.

Careful housewives do not forget that the teakettle as well as the tea and coffee pots should be washed on the inside and outside every day.

The tops of wardrobes and cupboards that do not reach to the ceiling should have papers laid over them, not only to keep dust from sifting down, but to lighten the monthly house cleaning.

To remove a vinegar, a wine or a fruit stain from a white linen cloth the following method will be found effectual: Hold the stained parts in boiling milk and the stains will be found to very quickly disappear.

In hemming linen articles that one wishes to fold evenly to a thread it is necessary to cut the linen and hem it by a pulled thread, and this is done the more perfectly when the linen is shrunken before the thread is drawn.

The Crib Toy Rack.

A homemade rack to hang over the crib end from which toys may be suspended by ribbons is a very useful nursery novelty. Usually many toys are broken, for one feature of a baby's play is to throw things about, and the result is to keep one person busy in picking them up and returning them to the small tryant. Two narrow pieces of wood covered with pretty cretonne and a piece of narrow ribbon are necessary. The top edges are tied together permanently with enough space between the crib top. From the lower edge are other ribbons, which are tied together when the rack is placed in position. The board next the child is padded with cotton wool, even on the edges. Ribbons are then tied around it, a long end left to tie each toy.

Neglect of the Figure.

It is criminal, says a writer for women, for parents or guardians to neglect the care of the figure, hands or skin of their children. Young people can hardly have too much fresh air or exercise, but they need not let the skin be burned up by the sun or the hands be spread by too much exercise. Girls should not be allowed to eat anything and everything, whether good for their complexion or not. Too much butter, too little cream and milk, too much meat and hot cakes and quick eating all militate against beauty of form and face.

To Clean Gilding.

Fly marks and general griminess may be removed from gilding by dipping a small piece of cotton in gin and with it rubbing gently over the soiled parts. The cotton wool should be squeezed before being applied to the gilding, for this must not be made really wet, and any damp on it should be dried by the fire as soon as the marks have been removed.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Saturday afternoon, on Hancock street, a Diamond Snake Ring. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to FRANK CRONIN, 48 Quincy avenue. Jan 8. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—A first-class Stone Carver. None but first-class men need apply. LONG & SAUNDERS, South Quincy. Jan. 9. 6t

WANTED—Cook, Second, Chamber General and Office Girls. Ladies waiting all the time. Plenty of places. MISS FLYNN, City Employment Office 1522 Hancock street, Quincy Jan. 9-3t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Ruincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—48 Revere Road, a nicely furnished medium size, well heated room, two large closets, $2.50 per week. Also good size side room, $1.50 per week. Quincy, Jan. 6-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350 Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS.
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. 1ptf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to GEO. W. PRESCOTT. Ledger Office.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

JOB PRINTING
AT THE PATRIOT OFFICE

Start Today
OUR NEW STORY
First Chapter

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

First Chapter
TODAY
Of New Story

Vol. 18. No. 9. QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Two Chapters Today of "The Two Vanrevels"

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S
Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS
WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR
RIGHT.
SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH,
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Unitarian Club

Entertained By Postmaster Geo. A. Hibbard Of Boston

Postmaster George A. Hibbard, who has brought the efficiency of the Boston post office to a high standard, and is popular alike with the business men of Boston and the employees of Uncle Sam, proved to the Wollaston Unitarian club on Tuesday that he was a capital entertainer.

It was the regular monthly meeting and there was a large attendance of members. A banquet was served at 6.30 in the vestry of the Unitarian church. The menu included cold turkey and ham, escalloped oysters, potato salad, rolls, coffee, ices and cake.

President Walter E. Simmons presided at the business meeting, and announced that Ladies' Night would be observed at the March meeting.

On motion of Walter M. Hatch the club voted $12 toward the Wollaston bed to be established by Dr. Grenfeld in Labrador.

Postmaster Hibbard was then introduced. He had facts and figures at the tongue's end to show his familiarity not only with the Boston postal district but the Post Office department at Washington, in the country at large and even in foreign countries.

But they were not dry facts as told by Mr. Hibbard. He told stories and happenings in the department and had a few interesting documents with him.

He told of the wonderful growth of the Boston postoffice and the postal business of the country; how the business was apportioned at Washington to the postmaster general and the first, second, third and fourth assistants.

While there was a deficit in the Post office department, it was small and not a bad thing. Because of the frank of Congressmen a large amount of mail matter was forwarded free from Washington, but he would not abolish the custom. Neither would he curtail the privileges of newspapers.

Penny postage would be unwise as it would cause a deficit. A subsidy for the carrying of mail in American vessel was more desirable.

Mr. Hibbard told in figures the large amount of money sent by mail which reached the dead letter office and said it was almost criminal to send it in letters because it tempted post office clerks. The cost of registry was small and then there were the money orders which he urged people to use.

He spoke of free delivery, rural delivery, salary classification, Santa Claus letters, etc. Many seeking wives and husbands also sought the aid of the postmaster in the selection. Some letters were read. He also touched upon mail to fraudulent concerns.

Several present asked question and related experiences with the mail, and Mr. Hibbard enlightened them. He told of the tube service in Boston, about missent letters, the growth of the souvenir postal business, etc.

Upon motion of ex-Senator Sprague, a vote of thanks was extended to Postmaster Hibbard.

Clerk Arrested.

William Stamat, a clerk at Thompson's restaurant, was arrested early this morning by Lieut. McKay upon a warrant, charging him with larceny of money from Mr. Thompson. He was arraigned in court and held until Friday morning for a hearing.

HANCOCK HALL,
MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 15,
CONCERT.
John and Mary McCay,
Brother and Sister both blind,
An evening of standard and popular vocal and instrumental music. Humorous songs, Impersonations true to life, Irish wit, etc.
Lengthy and varied program.
Admission reduced to 25 cents.
Jan. 9. 5t

Norfolk County Probate Court

Judge Flint held Probate Court for Norfolk County at Quincy this morning and transacted the following business:

WILLS ALLOWED.

Of Julia F. Robinson late of Hyde Park, John T. Robinson executor; bond $150,000.

Of Benjamin R. Redman, late of Dedham, Walter H. Redman and Ralph W. Redman executors; bond $20,000.

ADMINISTRATIONS GRANTED.

Nathan Ames, on estate of John F. Domenico late of Quincy; bond $300.

Edward B. Powers and Annie E. Hollis, on estate of Elizabeth T. Powers of Weymouth.

Mary Ann Kelley, on estate of Michael Kelley late of Weymouth; bond $1,000.

Clarence A. Cheever on estate of Alonzo N. Cheever late of Dedham; bond $25,000.

Robie G. Frye, on estate of Annie E. Frye, late of Sharon; bond $3000.

Ida J. Rand, on estate of Samuel G. Rand, late of Plainville; bond $5000.

Thomas D. O'Riley, on estate of Ann O'Riley, late of Medway; bond $2300.

Mary A. Olwell, on estate of Michael F. Olwell, late of Stoughton: bond $1000.

James L. Harrison, on estate of John Harrison, late of Foxborough; bond $200.

Carrie L. Smith, on estate of William H. Washburn, late of Foxborough; bond $1000.

ACCOUNTS ALLOWED.

First and final of John P. S. Churchill, executor of will of Josephine T. Spooner, late of Milton, for $7,139.71.

First and final of Charles M. Jenness, administrator de bonis non of estate of Thomas H. Plamer, late of Quincy, for $5,532.28.

Second of Fred A. Perkins, executor of will of Elias A. Perkins, late of Quincy, for $72,338.43.

First and final of Joseph W. Dennen, administrator of estate of Sarah A. Dennen, late of Quincy, for $5,953.07.

First and final of Prince H. and Sarah B. Tirrell, administrators of estate of Sarah R. Tirrell late of Weymouth, for $7,479.70.

Twentieth of J. Homer Pierce and Joseph W. Homer, trustees of will of Sidney Homer late of Brookline, for $11,362.18.

Twenty-first of William I. Bowditch and Fred C. Bowditch, trustees under the indenture recorded with Norfolk deeds for the benefit of Josephine J. Moody, for $587.78.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A partition of the estate of Jonathan R. Packard, late of Sharon, was ordered for the benefit of the heirs.

Lydia W. Hall was granted a widow's allowance of $500 in the estate of John Hall, late of Quincy.

Maggie T. Reinhalter was granted a widow's allowance of $400 from the estate of John B. Reinhalter, late of Quincy.

Howard Colburn and George E. Whiting, trustees under the will of Jeremiah W. Gay late of Dedham, were granted permission to sell real estate to the amount of $3020.

Peter A. Nelson was appointed guardian of Hjalmar Johnson, a minor of Quincy bond $300.

GOLD MEDAL BELOW PAR!

It isn't often that you find "Gold Medal" Flour quoted below par—but for the next few days you may buy this best of all advertised brands for 72c. per bag—$3.70 per barrel.

The regular price, even in Boston, is 80c. per bag, $6.25 per barrel.

Take advantage of this splendid bargain before the week ends.

Also buy all your Meat, Vegetables, Fruit, Canned Goods, Crackers, Groceries and all kinds of table supplies at this best of all local stores.

We are not surpassed for high quality or low price, even by Boston stores. It pays to trade regularly here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

Ship Building

Will Be Improved By Passage Of Bill Now Before Congress

A regular meeting of the Citizens Association was held Tuesday evening at the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers Associations, at which time President Kincaide announced the following standing committees:

Ways and Means,—Russell A. Sears, Clarence Burgin, John W. McAnarney, Harry W. Read, William T. Shea, and Charles A. Price.

Transportation and Public Service Corporations,—Paul R. Blackmur, E. H. Angier, Henry McGrath, H. F. Doble, and Theophilus King.

New Enterprises, — Herman F. McIntyre, H. G. Smith, F. F. Crane, E. W. Sheppard, and James F. Burke.

Taxation and Insurance,—Richard D. Chase, John H. Dinegan, and Nathan G. Nickerson.

Legislation and Municipal Affairs—Walter S. Pinkham, John L. Miller, J. A. Sedgwick, A. F. Schenkelberger.

Highways and Local Improvements—Dr. J. F. Welch, George H. Brown, Eugene C. Hultman, George E. Pfaffmann.

Promotion of Local Trade—Dexter E. Wadsworth and Charles C. Hearn.

Publicity—Henry L. Kincaide, Herman F. McIntire, Fred B. Rice and F. L. Zoeller.

SHIP SUBSIDY.

The following resolutions were offered by H. G. by Smith:

Whereas, The Citizens' Association of Quincy, Massachusetts, has learned that a bill has been introduced in Congress to promote and up-build the American Merchant Marine and American Commerce, which bill is of vital interest to the shipping and commercial interests of the State of Massachusetts, and especially to the City of Quincy, and

Whereas, American ships now convey less than 10 per cent. of the imports and exports of the United States, and

Whereas, More American ships are indispensable to a full development of American export trade with foreign lands, and especially with South America, and

Whereas, This condition of affairs deprives American officers and seamen of employment in ocean trade, and prevents the establishment of a suitable Naval Reserve, therefore, be it

Resolved: That this Citizens' Association believes that the proposed encouragement to the Maritime interests of this country is a measure which will advance the commercial interests of the nation and recommends the enactment by Congress of suitable measures "To promote the national defense, to create a force of Naval volunteers, to establish American Ocean mail liner to Foreign markets, to promote commerce and to provide revenue from tonnage,"—and be it further

Resolved: That the president and secretary be requested to send attested copies of these resolutions to President Roosevelt, to the Senators and Representatives in Congress of the United States from Massachusetts, to Senator Gallinger of the Merchant Marine Commission, and to the press.

They provoked some discussion, three gentlemen speaking in opposition because the resolutions favored a particular bill.

Several favored the resolutions and they were adopted with only three dissenting votes.

The gas situation in Quincy was also discussed and a committee appointed.

High water mark in attendance was reached by Bethany Sunday school on Sunday when there was an attendance of 408.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

High Score At Bowling

Mr. Jenkins of the Quincy bowling team rolled an unusually high three string total on Tuesday evening at the Granite street alleys in the game with the South Braintrees—104, 107 and 98, a total of 309. On totals Quincy led South Braintree 101 pins, but in the second string when Mr. Jenkins rolled his highest, the team lost by 3 pins. Mr. Ferris also rolled 107 on one string and his total was 273.

The summary:

QUINCYS.

	1	2	3	Total.
Jenkins,	104	107	98	309
Ferris,	85	81	107	273
Grant,	85	76	85	246
Westland,	34	86	78	248
Keene,	96	83	84	263
Totals,	454	433	452	1339

SOUTH BRAINTREES.

Johnson,	81	98	85	264
J. Stone,	73	85	83	241
Jones,	73	78	82	233
W. Stone,	88	79	80	247
Mansfield,	80	96	77	253
Totals,	395	436	407	1238

John F. Merrill Succeeds M. P. Wright

The Norfolk County County Commissioners met at Dedham on Tuesday for organization. All members of the board were present, namely: James Hewins of Medfield, Sumner P. Foster of Brookline and John F. Merrill of Quincy. The commissioners organized with James Hewins as chairman. One of the most important duties of the commission this year will be the redistricting of the county into representative districts.

Union Meeting.

Unity Circle of King's Daughters and Bethany Brotherhood met separately on Tuesday evening to transact business, and at 8 o'clock there was a union public meeting in the chapel.

Miss Susan Brokenshire of Milton spoke for the King's Daughters, dwelling upon the spiritual side which is the predominant feature of their work. She also reviewed the origin and growth.

Rev. T. H. Vincent of Weymouth, spoke for the Brotherhood, but not of the organization in particular. But of the universal worship of the Christ under many synonyms. It was a largely attended and interesting meeting.

Chief Engineer

Three More Candidates For the Appointment.

Several new candidates have entered the field for the position of Chief Engineer, to succeed Chief Williams, should he be dropped as it is rumored that he will be.

Of the names mentioned other than ex-Chief Walter H. Ripley are Amos L. Litchfield, ex-Chief of Police and an ex-Engineer of the Fire Department.

Mr. Litchfield says that he is personally making no move to be appointed, but it is understood that should this mantle fall upon him he will not shake it off.

Another man prominently mentioned for the position is district engineer Daniel J. Nyhan of Atlantic. Engineer Nyhan has been connected with the department for a number of years. First as call member and Captain of combination 2 at Atlantic, and for the past few years as district engineer. A number of his friends are said to be working in his interest the only criticism of his appointment is that he resides too far away from the Central station.

There is still another man mentioned and he is Charles C. Foster of Quincy Point. Mr. Foster is not attached to the department at the present time. He has however served a number of years as a call man.

Meanwhile the knowing ones say that the position has been promised to Walter H. Ripley and at South Quincy $400 has been wagered that he will be appointed.

Friends of Peter J. Williams, however, are not idle. Many who favored the renomination and reelection of Mayor Thompson, have seen his honor and urged him to reappoint Chief Williams.

Mayor Thompson to whom all are looking to solve the problem is saying nothing. He only smiles when approached upon the subject. It is probable that he will drop no hint until the appointments are announced to the City Council.

There is a possibility that the appointments may be sent to the Council next Monday evening. The department officials will assume their offices on Feb. 5, the first Monday of February.

No Secrets To Hide

We have nothing to conceal; no secrets to hide! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. You will find these in Ayer's Almanac for 1906; or write us and we will send them to you. Then show the formulas to your doctor, and ask him what he thinks of them. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A FAMILY AFFAIR
But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.
WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
CLASS RECEPTION and DANCE,
Wednesday Evening, Jan. 10.
Tickets, Gent and Lady, 50 cts. Extra Lady, 25 cts.
NEW CLASS NOW FORMING.
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 6. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.

THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Local Ins And Outs

Dr. Ernest H. Caswell will have charge of the dental office of Dr. Marstin during his absence on a trip to Jamaica.

☞ Six columns of the new serial, "The Two Vanrevels," are published today—the second chapter as well as the first chapter.

Joseph Warshaw of New York spent a delightful visit with his parents last week. On Friday he returned to New York where he holds a good position and has a host of friends.

Leon H. Vincent, the noted author and lecturer, will give a lecture on Charles Dickens, in Livermore hall, Quincy Mansion School, Friday evening, January 12th at 7.45. Friends of the school invited. Admission 25 cents.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The General Court will be asked to allow the city of Brockton to allow salaries of $200 to the alderman and $100 to the councilmen. We presume the chief argument is that if these officials were paid, a better selection of material from which to choose from would be offered, and, moreover, that it is not fair to ask a man to give up his time to the public without payment. As to the first, there is nothing in experience to show that the argument is based on any solid foundation. Cities do not get better aldermen when they pay them a hundred or two hundred dollars a year than when they pay nothing. This city is a case in point, as any man who can remember boards of aldermen for thirty years knows very well. On the whole, the effect of such a remuneration is to tempt inferior men to candidacies. A man who is really worth having will never be attracted by such a recompense. As to the idea that a man cannot be expected to give time to the city without pay, we affirm that, that is precisely what he ought to be expected to do. Service on any municipal board which does not involve giving up a regular occupation is something that ought to be expected and required of every citizen, and without any direct financial recompense. It would be only the discharge of part of the debt he owes to the community, and should be considered an obligation which ought not to be evaded. If it is said that you can't get as good service out of the man who takes office because he thinks it is his duty as out of one who work for the money, we reply that you can when you find one who serves on account of his notions of duty, and that judging by one who does not is an unfair judgment. Undoubtedly the payment of these little salaries to men who take office as a sort of side dish to their usual occupation tends to weaken the sense of the citizen's personal responsibility to public service. It makes the public service look more like a job. —New Bedford Standard.

Captured in Canada.

James Noble Strobhar, the trusted agent for a number of years of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway at Gainesville, Fla., because a defaulter to that company in the sum of $20,400, and absconded August 28, 1905, from that point without creating suspicion, by reason of first applying for leave of absence, which was granted. The immediate cause of his flight was the fact that the American Surety Company had given notice of the cancellation of his bond. The Surety Company forthwith paid the claim to the Railroad Campany and proceeded to make a systematic hunt for the fugitive, from October 24th up to Saturday, November 18th, when he was formally arrested.

He will be obliged to stand trial at Atlanta, Ga., and Gainesville, Fla., on charges of embezzlement in due course, as the American Surety Company has taken the necessary steps to cause him to be extradited.

Always Remember the Full Name Laxative Bromo Quinine

Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days

E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

IMMIGRATION LAWS

Economic Club's Views Differ From Those Held by Eliot

Boston, Jan. 10.—The ideas on immigration and its regulation propounded at the December meeting by President Eliot of Harvard university were severely criticised last night at the January meeting of the Economic club of Boston. In his address last month Eliot declared himself in favor of practically unrestricted immigration, on the ground that America was an asylum for the oppressed of all countries.

With few exceptions the speakers at last night's meeting took issue with President Eliot's remarks and spoke in favor of stricter immigration laws, arguing in favor of a more rigid examination of immigrants. It was suggested that the examination and restriction of immigrants be made on the other side of the Atlantic by agents of the United States.

Following the regular speakers, Henry B. Blackwell of this city addressed the meeting and argued for unlimited and unrestricted immigration on humanitarian grounds.

Big Schooner on a Beach

Norfolk, Jan. 10.—Caught in a 40-mile northeaster and blinded by the sleet storm that accompanied the gale, the five-masted schooner Fannie Palmer of Boston, bound from that port to Baltimore, was blown 20 miles south of her course and brought up high on the beach one mile north of Little Island lifesaving station. Captain Nash sent the crew of 11 men ashore and came to land himself. The rescues were made without difficulty in the breeches buoy. Wreckers believe the Palmer will be saved.

Bank of Commerce Directors

New York, Jan. 10.—Charles H. Allen, Paul D. Cravath, Victor Morawetz and Paul Morton have been elected directors of the National Bank of Commerce. Allen is an official of the Morton Trust company, Cravath and Morawetz are corporation lawyers, and Morton is the new president of the Equitable Life. These men are supposed to take the places of James W. Alexander, Chauncey M. Depew, James H. Hyde and Richard A. McCurdy.

Young Woman's Agonizing Death

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—Hydrophobia resulting from the bite of a pet dog six weeks ago caused the death of Miss Julia Curtin, aged 21, at the home of her parents in this city. When all hope was gone and when she and her family knew that death could not be far off, she bade them farewell in one of her lucid moments and was locked in the room with four physicians to meet her terrible end, as her relatives could not bear to look upon her sufferings.

Trying to Stave Off Execution

New York, Jan. 10.—Strong influences to save Mrs. Antionette Tolla, the young Italian woman condemned to be hanged in New Jersey next Friday for murder, will be brought to bear on the New Jersey pardon board, which meets to consider her case today. Mrs. Tolla is 24 years old, and Sonta, the Italian whom she killed, was the same age. That he came making love to her in the house where she lived with her husband is the woman's story.

Still In Heavyweight Class

Washington, Jan. 10.—Secretary Taft has been for several weeks past endeavoring systematically to reduce his weight. When he began the treatment he weighed 314 3-4 pounds. Today he weighs 294 3-8 pounds, a reduction attained principally through a careful diet. The secretary has also seized every opportunity to ride horseback and take long walks at a lively gait.

A Menace to Navigation

New York, Jan. 10.—While the steamer City of Atlanta was leaving this port she met with a mishap which caused her commander to put the vessel about and return to her pier. It is believed that the steamer struck a submerged wreck in the lower bay. On Sunday last steamer Charles Tiberghein struck the same obstruction and was compelled to return to port for repairs.

Killed Self Rather Than Another

New York, Jan. 10.—Dr. Robert W. Steger, who was found unconscious in his room at the Audobon hotel, died at Bellevue hospital. He drank a mixture of chloroform and morphine. The reason he gave for self-destruction was that he had had frequent attacks of homicidal mania, and that he feared in the end that he would kill someone.

Naval Inquiry Into Collision

Newport, News, Va., Jan. 10.—A naval board of inquiry has been convened aboard the battleship Iowa, off Old Point, by Rear Admiral Evans, and an investigation into the collision of the battleships Kentucky and Alabama off Five Fathom bank, N. Y., has begun. It is expected that the investigation will be concluded shortly.

No Proof of Manslaughter

St. John, Jan. 10.—Dr. E. A. Preston, accused of manslaughter by performing an illegal operation upon Edith F. Clark of this city, was found not guilty by a jury and was discharged from custody.

Worst Blizzard In Years

St. Johns, Jan. 10.—A blizzard is raging here and all shipping is tied up in the harbor. The storm is the worst in several years and it is feared there will be a general suspension of traffic.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Jan. 11.
Sun rises—7:13; sets—4:32.
Moon rises—5:48 p. m.
High water—11:45 a. m.; 12 p. m.

It will be fair and warmer in New England.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9.
Quincy, Jan. 1.
Tel. Haymarket 724.
Justice of the Peace.
lp-1y

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
— THE —
NEW YEAR
— WITH A —
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
33 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

ROGERS DECLINES

Still Refuses to Answer Attorner Hadley's Questions

UP TO SUPREME COURT

Oil Magnate Ordered to Show Cause For His Present Attitude--Director Pierce Adroitly Dodges Subpoena Server

New York, Jan. 10.—The question whether Henry H. Rogers can be compelled to tell Attorney General Hadley of Missouri whether the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owns or controls three oil companies which are selling oil in Missouri as separate companies will be placed before the supreme court of New York state today.

All the important questions which Rogers has declined to answer by advoce of counsel in the last three days of the hearing in this city were presented to the supreme court by counsel acting in behalf of Hadley, and the court was asked to order Rogers to show cause why he should not answer them. The court issued the order and it was served on W. V. Rowe, counsel for Rogers, while the hearing was still in progress late yesterday.

The questions are in a diversity of form, but in substance they all are: "Does the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, either through itself or any other person or corporation, own, hold or control a majority of the stock of the Waters-Pierce Oil company of Missouri, the Standard Oil company of Indiana and the Republic Oil company of New York?"

No matter in what form the question has been put, Rogers has declined to answer it. The commissioner before whom the evidence is taken is without power to compel an answer, but the supreme court possesses the authority to order Rogers to be punished for contempt of court if he declines to answer after being ordered to do so by that court.

Mr. Hadley wants this information to show that the three alleged subsidiary or confederated companies are monopolizing the oil trade in Missouri in combination and to induce the Missouri courts to order them ousted from that state.

Mr. Rogers again declined on the stand yesterday to disclose the stock ownership of the three companies and was severely admonished by Hadley to treat the hearing seriously and not as "funny."

The subpoena server who has been trying for several days to summon H. C. Pierce to testify before the commissioner in this case notified Hadley last night that he has been unable to get Pierce, who, he said, has sailed away on a steam yacht. Pierce is chairman of the board of directors of the Waters-Pierce Oil company of Missouri and father of the president of that company. The subpoena server said that he had pursued Pierce and his valet through a suite of rooms in the hotel occupied by Pierce, but that the oil man had locked himself in his chamber. The server then desisted.

John D. Archbold, vice president and director of the Standard Oil company, and W. G. Rockefeller, nephew of John D. Rockefeller, were present at the hearing. They have been subpoenaed as witnesses.

An interesting feature of the hearing was an invitation sent by Hadley to Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, requesting him to come to New York and testify if he can give any information as to the three companies Hadley is trying to drive out of Missouri.

LAWSON TO HADLEY

Testimony of "Band of Conspirators" Should Be Enough

Boston, Jan. 10.—In reply to a request from Attorney General Hadley of Missouri, asking him to give any information in his possession regarding the relations between the Standard Oil company of Indiana and other oil-producing corporations, Thomas W. Lawson last night sent a lengthy telegram to Hadley. Lawson informed Hadley that personally he knew nothing of the relations between the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Republic Oil company and the Waters-Pierce company and that, while he was aware of certain acts of the Standard Oil "monopoly," he could not "fairly come within the wise restrictions" of Hadley's telegram.

"While I have no personal knowledge of the three things of which your telegram treats," continued Lawson, "I have sufficient general knowledge of the subject matter of your investigation to make it appear farcical to me that you, with the power of the great state of Missouri at your back, should want the testimony of any one other than the band of conspirators at 26 Broadway and their hirelings to prove any case in which the name 'Standard Oil' appears."

In conclusion, Lawson tenders much advice to the attorney general of Missouri. "If you, in whose honesty and courage the American people have confidence," he adds, "will say frankly and in simple language to the American people, 'My great state has found it impossible, after exhausting all the remedies of all the laws of the land, to compel Standard Oil to do those things which all other Americans are compelled to do,' my word for it, the American people will do the rest, and in record time."

900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral.
NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed –
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts –
Anise Seed +
Peppermint –
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed –
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor.
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Mission Furniture

To the lovers of simplicity in house furnishing the Mission or Dutch furniture has much attraction.

PLAIN, SUBSTANTIAL, SIMPLE, COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE.

These five words convey a world of meaning.

This furniture is made of oak and is finished in a rich dark brown, it costs no more than ordinary oak, and with rugs and draperies of plain red o green it furnishes a room or den in a rich substantial manner unequalled by any other style of furniture. We have a choice selection at popular prices.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tt

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

HOTEL GREENLEAF.
AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.
MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. INO ARO.
Dec 27. 12t

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

AN AWFUL PLUNGE

Thirteen Houses Dropped Into Pit Sixty Feet Deep

WRECKAGE CAUGHT FIRE

Landslide Broke Large Main, Cutting Off Supply of Water--Seventeen Persons Are Believed to Have Perished

Haverstraw, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Seventeen persons are missing and are believed to have gone to their death when 13 houses along Rockland street toppled over into a pit 60 feet deep, which had been cut by clay diggers in connection with the brickmaking industry here.

Twelve of the persons missing were occupants of the fallen houses and five were among the rescuers who went to the aid of neighbors after the first house fell and were carried down when the 12 other houses went crashing over the precipice. The wreckage quickly caught fire and those who were in the mass were either crushed or burned to death.

There is grave fear of another cave-in along Rockland street, and the occupants of eight houses have moved away. Others are keeping a vigil, ready to flee themselves and to alarm their neighbors in case of impending danger.

The landslide which carried away the 13 houses was caused by the failing in of the bank under which the excavators of the brick manufacturers had been working for a number of years. The ground suddenly began cracking and showing seams and some of the occupants of houses along the brink took warning and left. Others believed that nothing serious would happen and remained.

When the break occurred in the long line of land which formed the ragged edge of Rockland street, one house toppled over and went down 60 feet to the pit below, with all who were living within its walls. The other occupants of the houses prepared to leave their homes in the face of a blinding snowstorm. A number of people who lived nearby rushed to their aid and were assisting them in getting out when 12 more houses toppled over into the pit, carrying with them not only the families who occupied them, but also several of those who had gone to their assistance.

The scene of terror was added to when flames burst from the wreckage of the houses, overturned stoves having set fire to the buildings. Firemen came from miles around to aid in extinguishing the fire, but when the landslide occurred it broke the large water main, thus cutting off the entire supply.

James Sammie, who lived along the edge of the pit, did not get out of his house until it had settled eight feet. All the rest of his family escaped but his wife, and she went down with the building. Sammie obtained ropes and went down after his wife, bringing her up with the aid of two men. Her leg was broken in the fall, but she suffered no other injury.

Strike of Large Proportions

New York, Jan. 10.—A national strike against employers in the Allied Building Trades will be ordered tomorrow. It will affect 10,000 structural iron workers and indirectly throw more than 200,000 workers out of employment. The strike was asked for by the Greater New York district council of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's union. The New York employers have contracts in many of the principal cities throughout the country which will be affected by the national strike.

Charged to Muzzles of Rifles

Lepel, Jan. 10.—Four persons were killed and several wounded in a frenzied attack by a band of Lithuanian peasants on a detachment of infantry sent to restore order in this section of Vitebsk. The peasants, who were armed only with clubs, but who were held by their leaders to be invincible, charged up to the muzzles of the rifles. They were not checked by a volley into the air, and only halted when a deadly salvo was fired at close range.

Swindlers Got Better of Brokers

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—Superintendent Heine of the Cleveland office of a detective agency says that Duke & Co., the Cleveland brokers, have settled with Allen, Arnold & Co. of Boston for the Norfolk and Western railroad stock certificate discovered in New York to be a forgery, paying $4500, the present market value of the 50 shares. Heine says that Duke & Co. were innocent victims of a clever gang of swindlers.

Greene-Gaynor Case In Court

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 10.—The first day of the Greene and Gaynor case in the United States court here was consumed in preliminary skirmishes between counsel with the issue upon the contention advanced still undecided when adjournment for the day was taken. It is possible that it may be some days before the point of drawing the jury for the actual trial is reached.

Filipinos' Interests at Heart

Manila, Jan. 10.—W. J. Bryan was given a banquet at Iloilo, and in a speech he said that the officials and other citizens of the islands were representative Americans who had the best interests of the Philippines and the natives at heart.

PLUNGE

Dropped Into eet Deep

AUGHT FIRE

Large Main, ply of Water--
ons Are Be-Perished

, Jan. 10.—Seven-sing and are be-their death when kland street top-0 feet deep, which diggers in connecmaking industry

ons missing were n houses and five iers who went to fter the first house
l down when the crashing over the reckage quickly
who were in the shed or burned to

of another cavereet, and the occues have moved ping a vigil, ready d to alarm their mpending danger.
ch carried away used by the fail-
der which the ex-
k manufacturers
r a number of suddenly began g seams and some houses along the
and left. Others
g serious would 1.

curred in the long formed the ragged street, one house
ent down 60 feet
h all who were liv-
The other occuprepared to leave
face of a blinding ber of people who
to their aid and n getting out when bled over into the hem not only the ed them, but also had gone to their

or was added to
from the wreckage turned stoves hav-uildings. Firemen round to aid in ex-but when the
it broke the large tting off the entire

ho lived along the not get out of his tled eight feet. All ly escaped but his down with the btained ropes and wife, bringing her wo men. Her leg ail, but she suf-
y.

Proportions

10.—A national yers in the Allied be ordered tomor-
10,000 structural indirectly throw workers out of em-ke was asked for York district counths and Bridge-
New York employ-many of the prin-
out the country
d by the national zzles of Rifles

our persons were wounded in a band of Lithudetachment of ine order in this sec-
The peasants, who
th clubs, but who leaders to be in-
to the muzzles of e not checked by a
and only halted was fired at close

tter of Brokers

.—Superintendent and office of a de-
that Duke & Co., rs, have settled
& Co. of Boston for stern railroad stock
d in New York to $4500, the present
50 shares. Heine
Co. were innocent
ang of swindlers.

Case In Court

an. 10.—The first nd Gaynor case in ourt here was conry skirmishes be-the issue upon the still undecided
for the day was ble that it may be e point of drawing
ual trial is reached.

osts at Heart

—W. J. Bryan was Iloilo, and in a t the officials and e islands were rep-ans who had the
he Philippines and
.

When You Need a Bond

It's often difficult, especially if you are a young man, to obtain a bondsman. Or you may dislike to ask favors.

In the American Surety Company you have a personal friend who will become your bondsman at any time, relieving you of obligation to others, and preventing their acquiring an improper influence over you.

Suppose you are elected to a public office, or appointed to a position of trust, and require a bond at a moment's notice; you may obtain it without delay by applying to the

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

The Hancock Hotel

Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table. Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter. Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE, REAL ESTATE, AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER.
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

If Your Eyes

Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES

— ONLY —

One Doll ara Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47, BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

JAMES F. BURKE, REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

CHAPTER I.

IT was long ago, in the days when men sighed when they fell in love, when people danced by candle and lamp, and did dance, too, instead of solemnly gliding about; in that mellow time so long ago when the young were romantic and summer was roses and wine, old Carewe brought his lovely daughter home from the convent to wreck the hearts of the youth of Rouen.

That was not a far journey; only an afternoon's drive through the woods and by the river in an April long ago, Miss Betty's harp carefully strapped behind the great lumbering carriage, her guitar on the front seat half buried under a mound of bouquets and oddly shaped little bundles, farewell gifts of her comrades and the good sisters. In her left hand she clutched a small lace handkerchief, with which she now and then touched her eyes, brimmed with the parting from Sister Cecilia, Sister Mary Bazilede, the old stone steps and all the girls, but for every time that she lifted the dainty kerchief to brush away the edge of a tear she took a deep breath of the western woodland air and smiled at least twice, for the years of strict inclosure within St. Mary's walls and still gardens were finished and done with, and at last the many colored world flashed and danced in a mystery before her. This mystery was brilliant to the convent girl because it contained men. She was eager to behold it.

They rumbled into town after sunset in the fair twilight, the dogs barking before them, and every one would have been surprised to know that Tom Vanrevel, instead of Mr. Crailey Gray, was the first to see her. By the merest accident Tom was strolling near the Carewe place at the time, and when the carriage swung into the gates, with rattle and clink and clouds of dust at the finish, it was not too soon lost behind the shrubbery and trees for Tom to catch something more than a glimpse of a gray skirt behind a mound of flowers and of a charming face with parted lips and dark eyes beneath the scuttle of an enormous bonnet. It happened—perhaps it is more accurate to say that Tom thought it happened—that she was just clearing away her veil when he turned to look. She blushed suddenly—so much was not to be mistaken—and the eyes that met his were remarkable for other reasons than the sheer loveliness of them, in that, even in the one flash of them he caught, they meant so many things at one time. But, above all, these eyes were fully conscious of Tom Vanrevel.

Without realizing what he did Mr. Vanrevel stopped short. He had been swinging a walking stick, which, describing a brief arc, remained poised halfway in its descent. There was only that one glance between them, and the carriage disappeared, leaving a scent of spring flowers in the air.

The young man was left standing on the wooden pavement in the midst of a great loneliness, yet enveloped in the afterglow, his soul roseate, his being quavering, his expression, like his cane, instantaneously arrested. With such promptitude and finish was he disposed of that had Miss Carewe been aware of his name and the condition wrought in him by the single stroke she could have sought only the terse Richard of England for a like executive ability: "Off with his head! So much for Vanrevel!"

She had lifted a slender hand to the fluttering veil, a hand in a white glove with a small lace gauntlet at the wrist. This gesture was the final divinity of the radiant vision which remained with the dazed young man as he went down the street, and it may have been three-quarters of an hour later when the background of the picture became vivid to him—a carefully dressed gentleman with heavy brows and a handsome high nose, who sat stiffly upright beside the girl, his very bright eyes quite as conscious of the stricken pedestrian as were hers; vastly different, however, in this—that they glittered—nay, almost bristled—with hostility, while every polished button of his blue coat seemed to reflect their malignancy and to dart little echoing shafts of venom at Mr. Vanrevel.

Tom was dismayed by the acuteness of his perception that a man who does not speak to you has no right to have a daughter like the lady in the carriage, and, the moment of this realization occurring as he sat making a poor pretense to eat his evening meal at the Rouen House, he dropped his fork rattling upon his plate and leaned back, staring at nothing, a proceeding of which his table mate, Mr. William Cummings, the editor of the Rouen Journal, was too busy over his river bass to take note.

"Have you heard what's new in town?" asked Cummings presently, looking up.

"No," said Tom truthfully, for he had seen what was new, but not heard it.

"Old Carewe's brought his daughter home. Fanchon Bareaud was with her at St. Mary's until last year, and Fanchon says she's not only a great beauty, but a great dear."

"Ah!" rejoined the other with masterly indifference. "Dare say—dare say."

"No wonder you're not interested," said Cummings cheerfully, returning to the discussion of his bass. "The old villain will take precious good care you don't come near her."

Mr. Vanrevel already possessed a profound conviction to the same effect. Robert Meilhac Carewe was known not only as the wealthiest citizen of Rouen, but also as its heartiest and most steadfast hater; and, although there were only 5,000 or 6,000 inhabitants, neither was a small distinction, for Rouen was ranked in those easy days as a wealthy town, even as it was called an old town, proud of its age and its riches and bitter in its politics, of course. The French had built a fort there soon after La Salle's last voyage and, as Crailey Gray said, had settled the place, and had then been settled themselves by the pioneer militia. After the Revolution, Carolinians and Virginians had come by way of Tennessee and Kentucky, while the adventurous countrymen from Connecticut, traveling thither to sell, remained to buy—and then sell—when the country was in its teens. In course of time the little trading post of the northwest territory had grown to be the leading center of elegance and culture in the Ohio valley—at least they said so in Rouen.

Robert Carewe was Rouen's magnate, commercially and socially and, until an upstart young lawyer named Vanrevel struck into his power with a broadax, politically. The wharfs were Carewe's; the warehouses that stood by the river and the line of packets which plied upon it were his. Half the town was his, and in Rouen this meant that he was possessed of the middle justice, the high and the low. His mother was a Frenchwoman, and in those days, when to go abroad was a ponderous and venturesome undertaking, the fact that he had spent most of his youth in the French capital wrought a certain glamour about him, for to the American Paris was Europe, and it lay shimmering on the far horizon of every imagination, a golden city.

Mr. Carewe lived in an old fashioned house on the broad, quiet, shady street which bore his name. There was a wide lawn in front, shadowy under elm and locust trees and bounded by thick shrubberies. A long garden, fair with roses and hollyhocks, lay outside the library windows—an old time garden, with fine gravel paths and green arbors, drowsed over in summer time by the bees, while overhead the locust rasped his rusty cadences the livelong day, and a faraway sounding love note from the high branches brought to mind the line, like an old refrain:

The voice of the turtle was heard in the land.

Between the garden and the carriage gates there was a fountain where a bronze boy with the dropsy (but not minding it) lived in a perpetual bath from a green goblet held over his head. Near by a stone sundial gleamed against a clump of lilac bushes, and it was upon this spot that the white kitten introduced Thomas Vanrevel to Miss Carewe.

Upon the morning after her arrival, having finished her pianoforte practice, touched her harp twice and arpeggioed the "Spanish Fandango" on her guitar, Miss Betty read two paragraphs of "Gilbert" (for she was profoundly determined to pursue her tasks with diligence), but, the open windows disclosing a world all sunshine and green leaves, she threw the book aside with a good conscience and danced out to the garden. There, coming upon a fuzzy white ball rolling into itself spirally on a lazy pathway, she pounced at it, whereupon the thing uncurled with lightning swiftness and fled, more like a streak than a kitten, down the drive, through the open gates and into the street, Miss Betty in full cry.

Across the way there chanced to be strolling a young lady in blue, accompanied by a gentleman whose leisurely gait gave no indication of the maneuvering he had done to hasten their walk into its present direction. He was apparently thirty or thirty-one, tall, very straight, dark, smooth shaved, his eyes keen, deep set and thoughtful, and his high white hat, white satin cravat and careful collar were evidence of an elaboration of toilet somewhat unusual in Rouen for the morning. Also he was carrying a pair of white gloves in his hand and dangled a slender ebony cane from his wrist. The flying kitten headed toward the couple when, with a celerity only to be accounted for on the theory that his eye had been fixed on the Carewe gateway for some time previous to this sudden apparition, the gentleman leaped in front of the fugitive.

The kitten attempted a dodge to pass; the gentleman was there before it. The kitten feinted; the gentleman was altogether too much on the spot. Immediately, and just as Miss Carewe, flushed and glowing, ran into the street, the small animal doubled, evaded Miss Betty's frantic clutch, re-entered the gateway and attempted a disappearance into the lilac bushes instead of going around them, only to find itself, for a fatal two seconds, in difficulties with the close set thicket of stems.

In regard to the extraordinary agility of which the pursuing gentleman was capable, it is enough to say that he caught the cat. He emerged from the lilacs holding it in one hand, his gloves and white hat in the other, and presented himself before Miss Betty with a breathlessness not entirely attributable to his exertions.

For a moment, as she came running toward him and he met her flashing look, bright with laughter and recognition and haste, he stammered. A thrill nothing less than delirious sent the blood up behind his brown cheeks, for he saw that she, too, knew that this was the second time their eyes had met.

He could not speak at once, but when he could, "Permit me, madam," he said solemnly, offering the captive, "to restore your kitten."

An agitated kitten should not be detained by clasping its waist, and already the conqueror was paying for his victory. There ensued a final outrageous squirm of despair. Two frantic claws, extended, drew one long red mark across the stranger's wrist and another down the back of his hand to the knuckles. They were good, hearty scratches, and the blood followed the artist's lines rapidly, but of this the young man took no note, for he knew that he was about to hear Miss Carewe's voice for the first time.

"They say the best way to hold them," he observed, "is by the scruff of the neck."

Beholding his wounds, suffered in her cause, she gave a pitying cry that made his heart leap with the richness and sweetness of it. Catching the kitten from him, she dropped it to the ground in such wise as to prove nature's foresight most kind in cushioning the feet of cats.

"Ah, I didn't want it that much!"

"A cat in the hand is worth two nightingales in the bush," he said boldly and laughed. "I would shed more blood than that!"

Miss Betty blushed like a southern dawn and started back from him. From the convent but yesterday—and she had taken a man's hand in both of hers!

It was to this tableau that the lady in blue entered, following the hunt through the gates, where she stopped with a discomposed countenance. At once, however, she advanced and, with a cry of greeting, enveloped Miss Betty in a brief embrace, to the relief of the latter's confusion. It was Fanchon Bareaud, now two years emancipated from St. Mary's and far gone in taffeta. With her lusterful light hair, absent blue eyes and her gentle voice, as small and pretty as her face and figure, it was not too difficult to justify Crailey Gray's characterization of her as one of those winsome baggages who had made an air of feminine helplessness the fashion of the day.

"I'm so glad—glad!" exclaimed Betty. "You were just coming to see me, weren't you? My father is in the library. Let me"—

Miss Bareaud drew back. "No, no," she interrupted hastily and with evident perturbation; "I—we must be on our way immediately." She threw a glance at the gentleman, which let him know that she now comprehended his gloves and why their stroll had trended toward Carewe street. "Come at once," she commanded him quickly in an undertone.

"But now that you're here," said Miss Betty, wondering very much why he was not presented to her, "won't you wait and let me gather a nosegay for you? Our pansies and violets"—

"I could help," the gentleman suggested, with the look of a lame dog at Miss Bareaud. "I have been considered useful about a garden."

"Fool!" Betty did not hear the word that came from Miss Bareaud's closed teeth, though she was mightily surprised at the visible agitation of her schoolmate, for the latter's face was pale and excited. And Miss Carewe's amazement was complete when Fanchon, without more words, cavalierly

"I didn't want it that much!"

seized the gentleman's arm and moved toward the street with him as rapidly as his perceptible reluctance to leave permitted. But at the gate Miss Bareaud turned and called back over her shoulder, as if remembering the necessity of offering an excuse for so remarkable a proceeding: "I shall come again very soon. Just now we are upon an errand of great importance. Good day!"

Miss Betty waved her hand, staring after them, her eyes large with wonder. She compressed her lips tightly. "Errand!" This was the friend of childhood's happy hour, and they had not met in two years!

"Errand!" She ran to the hedge, along the top of which a high white hat was now seen perambulating. She pressed down a loose branch and called in a tender voice to the stranger whom Fanchon had chosen should remain nameless:

"Be sure to put some salve on your hand!"

He made a bow which just missed being too low, but did miss it.

"It is there already," he said and, losing his courage after the bow, made his speech with so palpable a gasp before the last word that the dullest person in the world could have seen that he meant it.

Miss Betty disappeared.

There was a rigidity of expression about the gentle mouth of Fanchon Bareaud, which her companion did not enjoy, as they went on their way, each preserving an uneasy silence, until at her own door she turned sharply upon him. "Tom Vanrevel, I thought you were the steadiest—and now you've proved yourself the craziest—soul in Rouen!" she burst out. "And I couldn't say worse!"

"Why didn't you present me to her?" asked Vanrevel.

"Because I thought a man of your gallantry might prefer not to face a shotgun in the presence of ladies!"

"Pooh!"

"Pooh!" mimicked Miss Bareaud. "You can 'pooh' as much as you like, but if he had seen us from the window"— She covered her face with her hands for a moment, then dropped them and smiled upon him. "I understand perfectly to what I owe the pleasure of a stroll with you this morning, and your casual insistence on the shadiness of Carewe street!" He laughed nervously, but her smile vanished, and she continued: "Keep away, Tom. She is beautiful, and at St. Mary's I always thought she had spirit and wit too. I only hope Crailey won't see her before the wedding! But it isn't safe for you. Go along, now, and ask Crailey please to come at 3 this afternoon."

This message from Mr. Gray's betrothed was not all the ill starred Tom conveyed to his friend. Mr. Vanrevel was ordinarily esteemed a person of great reserve and discretion; nevertheless there was one man to whom he told everything, and from whom he had no secrets. He spent the noon hour in feeble attempts to describe to Crailey Gray the outward appearance of Miss Elizabeth Carewe—how she ran like a young Diana, what one felt upon hearing her voice, and he presented in himself an example exhibiting something of the cost of looking in her eyes. His conversation was more or less incoherent, but the effect of it was complete.

CHAPTER II.

DOES there exist an incredulous or jealous denizen of another portion of our country who, knowing that the room in the wooden cupola over Mr. Carewe's library was commonly alluded to by Rouen as the "tower chamber," will prove himself so sectionally prejudiced as to deny that the town was a veritable hotbed of literary interest or that Sir Walter Scott was ill appreciated there? Some of the men looked sly and others grinned at mention of this apartment, but the romantic were not lacking who spoke of it in whispers—how the lights sometimes shone there all night long and the gentlemen drove away, white faced, in the dawn. The cupola, rising above the library, overlooked the garden, and the house, save for that, was of a single story, with a low veranda running the length of its front. The windows of the library and of a row of bedrooms, one of which was Miss Betty's, lined the veranda steamboat fashion, the inner doors of these rooms all opening upon a long hall which bisected the house. The stairway leading to the room in the cupola rose in the library itself, while the bisecting hall afforded the only access to the library; hence the gossips, well acquainted with the geography of the place, conferred seriously together upon what effect Miss Betty's home coming would have in this connection, for any one going to the stairway must needs pass her door, and, what was more to the point, a party of gentlemen descending late from the mysterious turret might not be so quiet as they intended and the young lady sufficiently disturbed to inquire of her father what entertainment he provided that should keep his guests until 4 in the morning.

But at present it was with the opposite end of the house that the town was occupied, for there workmen were hammering and sawing and painting all day long, finishing the addition Mr. Carewe was building for his daughter's debut. This hammering disturbed Miss Betty, who had become almost as busy with the French revolution as with her mantua maker, for she had found in her father's library many books not for convent shelves, and she had become a Girondin.

She found memoirs, histories and tales of that delectable period, and for a week there was no meal in that house to which she sat down earlier than half an hour late. She had a rightful property interest in the revolution, her own great-uncle having been one of those who suffered, not, however, under the guillotine, for to Georges Meilhac appertained the rare distinction of death by accident on the day when the businesslike young Bonaparte played upon the mob with his cannon.

There were some yellow letters of this great-uncle's in a box which had belonged to her grandmother, a rich discovery for Miss Betty, who read and reread them with eager and excited eyes, living more in Paris with Georges and his friends than in Rouen with her father. Indeed, she had little else to do. Mr. Carewe was no comrade for her, by far the reverse. She seldom saw him, except at the table, when he sat with averted eyes and talked to her very little, and, while making elaborate preparation for her introduction to his friends (such was his phrase), he treated her with a perfunctory civility which made her wonder if her advent was altogether welcome to him, but when she noticed that his hair looked darker than usual about every fourth day she began to understand why he appeared ungrateful to her for growing up. He went out a great deal, though no visitors came to the house, for it was known that Mr. Carewe desired to present his daughter to no one until he presented her to all. Fanchon Bareaud, indeed, made one hurried and embarrassed call, evading Miss Betty's reference to the chevalier of the kitten with a dexterity too nimble to be thought unintentional. Miss Carewe was forbidden to return her friend's visit until after her debut, and Mr. Carewe explained that there were always some worthless young men hanging about Bareaud's, where, he did not add, they interfered with a worthy old one who desired to honor Fanchon's older sister, Virginia, with his attentions.

This was no great hardship for Miss Betty, as, since plunging into the revolution with her great-uncle, she had lost some curiosity concerning the men of today, doubting that they would show forth as heroic, as debonair, gay and tragic as he. He was the legendary hero of her childhood. She remembered her mother's stories of him perhaps more clearly than she remembered her mother, and one of the older sisters had known him in Paris and had talked of him at great length, giving the flavor of his dandyism and his beauty at first hand to his young relative.

In the library hung a small full length drawing of Georges, done in color by Miss Betty's grandmother, and this she carried to her own room and studied long and ardently until sometimes the man himself seemed to stand before her.

Miss Betty had an impression that her grandmother's art of portraiture would have been more sucessful with the profile than the "full face." Nevertheless, nothing could be more clearly indicated than that the hair of M. Meilhac was very yellow and his short, huge lapeled waistcoat white, striped with scarlet. An enormous cravat covered his chin; the heavy collar of his yellow coat rose behind his ears, while its tails fell to his ankles, and the tight trousers of white and yellow stripes were tied with white ribbons about the middle of the calf. He wore white stockings and gold buckled yellow shoes and on the back of his head a jauntily cocked black hat. Miss Betty innocently wondered why his letters did not speak of Petion, of Vergniaud or of Dumoriez, since in the historical novels which she read the hero's lot was inevitably linked with that of every one of importance in his generation. Yet Georges appeared to have been unacquainted with these personages, Robespierre being the only name of consequence mentioned in his letters, and then it appeared in much the same fashion practiced by her father in alluding to the governor of the state, who had the misfortune to be unpopular with Mr. Carewe. But this did not dim her great-uncle's luster in Miss Betty's eyes or lessen for her the pathetic romance of the smile he wore.

Beholding this smile, one remembered the end to which his light footsteps had led him, and it was unavoidable to picture him left lying in the empty street behind the heels of the flying crowd, carefully forming that same smile on his lips and taking much pride in passing with some small, cynical speech, murmured to himself, concerning the inutility of a gentleman's getting shot by his friends for merely being present to applaud them. So, fancying him thus with his yellow hair, his scarlet striped waistcoat and his tragedy, the young girl felt a share of family greatness or at least of picturesqueness descend to her, and she smiled sadly back upon the smile in the picture and dreamed about its original night after night.

Whether or no another figure, that of a dark young man in a white hat, with a white kitten etching his wrist in red, found place in her dreams at this period it is impossible to determine. She did not see him again. It is quite another thing, hazardous to venture, to state that he did not see her. At all events, it is certain that many people who had never beheld her were talking of her; that Rouen was full of contention concerning her beauty and her gift of music, for a song can be heard through an open window. And how did it happen that Crailey Gray knew that it was Miss Carewe's habit to stroll in her garden for half an hour or so each evening before retiring and that she went to mass every morning soon after sunrise? Crailey Gray never rose at or near sunrise in his life, though he sometimes beheld it from another point of view, as the end of the evening. It appears that some one must have told him.

One night when the moon lay white on the trees and housetops Miss Betty paused in her evening promenade and seated herself upon a bench on the borders of the garden, wrought upon by the tender incentive to sighs and melancholy which youth in loneliness finds in a loveliness of the earth, for what reason she could not have told, since she was without care or sorrow that she knew except the French revolution, yet tears shone upon the long lashes. She shook them off and looked up with a sudden odd consciousness. The next second she sprang to her feet with a gasp and a choked outcry, her hands pressed to her breast.

Ten paces in front of her a gap in the shrubbery where tall trees rose left a small radiant area of illumination like that of a limelight in a theater, its brilliancy intensified by the dark foliage behind. It was open to view only from the bench by which she stood, and appeared, indeed, like the stage of a little theater, a stage occupied by a bizarre figure. For, in the center of this shining patch, with the light strong on his face, was standing a fair haired young man dressed in a yellow coat, a scarlet and white striped waistcoast, wearing a jauntily cocked black hat on his head. And even to the last detail, the ribbon laces above the ankle and the gold buckled shoes, he was the sketch of Georges Meilhac sprung into life.

About this slender figure there hung a wan sweetness like a fine mist, almost an ethereality in that light; yet in the pale face lurked something reckless, something of the actor, too; and, though his smile was gentle and wistful, there was a twinkle behind it not seen at first, something amused and impish; a small surprise underneath, like a flea in a rose jar.

Fixed to the spot by this apparition, Miss Betty stood wildly staring, her straining eyelids showing the white above and below the large brown iris. Her breath came faster and deeper until between her parted lips it became vocal in a quick sound like a sob. At that he spoke.

"Forgive me!" The voice was low, vibrant and so exceedingly musical that he might have been accused of

"Don't come near!" she gasped.

coolly selecting his best tone; and it became only sweeter when, even more softly, in a semiwhisper of almost crucial pleading, he said, "Ah, don't go away!"

In truth she could not go. She had been too vitally stirred. She began to tremble excessively and sank back upon the bench, motioning him away with vague gestures of her shaking hands.

This was more than the incroyable had counted upon and far from his desires. He started forward, with an exclamation.

"Don't come near!" she gasped. "Who are you? Go away!"

"Give me one second to explain," he began, but with the instant reassurance of this beginning she cut him off short, her fears dispelled by his commonplace. Nay, indignation displaced them so quickly that she fairly flashed up before him to her full height.

"You did not come in by the gate!" she cried. "What do you mean by coming here in that dress? What right have you in my garden?"

"Just one word," he begged quickly, but very gently. "You'd allow a street beggar that much!"

She stood before him panting and, as he thought, glorious in her flush of youth and anger. Tom Vanrevel had painted her incoherently, but richly in spite of that, his whole heart being in the portrait, and Crailey Gray had smiled at what he deemed the exaggeration of an ordinarily unimpressionable man who had fallen in love "at first sight," yet in the presence of the reality the incroyable decided that Tom's colors had been gray and humble.

"If you have anything to say for yourself, say it quickly!" said Miss Betty.

"You were singing a while ago," he answered somewhat huskily, "and I stopped on the street to listen; then I came here to be nearer. The spell of your voice"— He broke off abruptly to change the word. "The spell of the song came over me—it is my dearest favorite—so that I stood afterward in a sort of trance, only hearing again in the silence 'The stolen heart, like the gathered rose, will bloom but for a day!' I did not see you until you came to the bench. You must believe me. I would not have frightened you for anything in the world."

"Why are you wearing that dress?"

He laughed and pointed to where, behind him on the ground, lay a long gray cloak, upon which had been tossed a white mask. "I'm on my way to the masquerade," he answered, with an airy gesture. "I'm an incroyable, you see, and I had the costume made from my recollection of a sketch of your great-uncle. I saw it a long time ago in your library."

(Continued in Next Issue.)

Womanly Weakness

is promptly relieved by Beecham's Pills. They never fail. Special directions to females with each box. Depression, sick headache, backache, paleness and nervousness all disappear after using

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	34	40	50	35	43
Monday,	27	41	32	33	46
Tuesday,	26	35	36	35	40
Wednesday,	24	34	45	32	38
Thursday,	—	58	20	42	38
Friday,	—	44	38	27	45
Saturday,	—	43	32	26	54

New Advertisements Today.

R. E. Foy & Co.—Flour.

The City In Brief

Are you reading "The two Vanrevels?"

Eight above zero this morning at sun rise.

Zero this morning by some thermometers.

Councilman George Hunter is confined to his home by illness.

Milton High defeated Weymouth High at basket ball on Tuesday 25 to 5.

The Milton A. C. basket ball team won Tuesday from the Dorchester Mills team.

St. Stephens Chapter, R. A. Masons, has considerable work for its meeting this week.

The first chapter of "The Two Vanrevels" is repeated today together with the second chapter.

The new drawer boxes at the Quincy post office, which were lost in transit, have arrived and are ready for use.

The members of the Squantum Yacht club were entertained at minstrel show rehearsal at the club house on Tuesday evening.

A lengthy report of New Years Sunday at the Quincy Point church has been received and will appear in tomorrow's Daily Ledger.

An extended report of the January meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian club will be found in another column today. The club will observe Ladies' night on Tuesday evening, March 13.

Week of Prayer.

Special services are being held each evening this week at the Wollaston M. E. church. The pastor led the prayer service on Monday evening, and Rev. A. B. Tyler, the pastor of the West Quincy church, preached on Tuesday evening. This evening Rev. J. D. Pickles will preach; tomorrow evening, Rev. W. L. Perrin; and Friday evening, Rev. J. Galbraith.

Bank Officers.

The National Granite Bank has increased the number of its directors from eight to nine, adding the name of Henry L. Kincaide to the Board of Directors. The new officers are: Theophilus King, president; Edwin W. Marsh, James Thompson, Rupert F. Claflin, Joseph H. Vogel, Clarence Burgin, Delcevare King, Russell A. Sears and Henry L. Kincaide.

The following have been elected as directors of the Mt. Wollaston National Bank: Charles A. Howland, president; Horace B. Spear, Frank S. Patch, George H. Field, Herbert F. Doble, George W. Morton, Henry M. Faxon and Charles A. Howland, Jr. The latter gentleman has been added to the board this year.

☞ Resignation seems to be the prevailing virtue and nervous prostration the reigning disease. That they occupy respectively, the position of cause and effect tells the story.—Baltimore American.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

NEW FOOTBALL CODE

Harvard Proposition Which May Revolutionize the Game

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 10.—Harvard's special football committee submitted a report to J. J. Storrow, president of the athletic committee, recommending a set of rules which, if adopted, would totally revolutionize the game.

First in importance come a series of rules designed to bring about an "open game." These include changing of the distance for "three downs" from 5 yards to 10 yards, the increasing of the distance between the goal posts from 18 feet to 25 feet to encourage kicking goals from the field, the allowing of "forward passes" behind the lines of scrimmage, and preventing the massing of plays back of the line.

To prevent brutality very heavy penalties are imposed, such as playing a man short for five minutes when a player is disqualified, and losing the ball on violations of the rules.

The report is signed by W. T. Reid, Jr., chairman; L. B. R. Briggs, E. H. Nichols, W. H. Lewis, L. F. Deland and R. D. Wrenn.

Mrs Chase's "Suicide Note"

Swampscott, Mass., Jan. 10.—The handwriting experts, it is announced, have made what is regarded as a most important discovery in their examination of the "suicide note" found by Mrs. Jennie Chase's side when she was found unconscious on the floor of her kitchen. The much talked of note was enclosed in an envelope and on the envelope was written: "To Whom It May Concern." The writing on the envelope, it is now asserted, was in a different ink from that used in penning the letter.

Trust Company Absorbs Bank

Providence, Jan. 10.—The control of the American National bank of this city has passed into the hands of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust company, also of this city, through the vote of the directors of the former institution, the new order of things at the American National bank going into effect today. The American National bank is capitalized at $1,000,000 and has deposits of $3,068,346.01.

Mill Operatives on Strike

Harrisville, R. I., Jan. 10.—Consequent to the refusal of a demand for a 20 percent raise in wages, the operatives employed in the William Tinkham & Co. and the Royal Worsted mills in this village have struck work. Beyond the statement that 400 hands are employed in the two plants, which are under the same management, no information is given out at the offices.

Insane Woman Fears Poisoning

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 10.—For 30 days Mary Ferenco, a Slavonian, has gone without eating, subsisting on water through insane fear that those about her are trying to take her life by poison. Judge Nobbs, in the probate court, has ordered the woman committed to the state insane asylum in the hope of saving her life.

Postmaster's Accounts Short

Nashua, N. H., Jan. 10.—James F. Nichols, postmaster at Hillsboro Bridge, was before Commissioner Burns, charged with the embezzlement of $68 from the government through a discrepancy in the accounts of his office. He pleaded not guilty and was held in bonds of $500 for the United States district court.

Vermont Fears Ice Famine

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 10.—With last year's crop nearly exhausted, and only a thin covering on ponds as a result of warm weather conditions, dealers here are worried, and prophesy an ice famine in the spring unless a cold snap brings quick relief. No ice has been cut this winter. It is but 9 to 11 inches thick now.

Investigating Alleged Frauds

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 10.—An inquiry has begun into the alleged ballot box stuffing during the recent city election. A number of witnesses have been put through a rigid examination before Judge Elmer. A fund of $2000 is being raised by public subscription to prosecute the investigation.

Blames Husband For Shooting

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Marie Lenant, who is in a hospital with a bullet wound extending through her body, has recovered consciousness, and, it is thought, will recover. She says that her husband, Steve Lenant, shot her intentionally because she wanted him to go to work.

Army of Factory Workers

Providence, Jan. 10.—According to the report of State Factory Inspector Hudson, a total of 119,294 persons, adults and minors, are employed in the 1508 manufacturing establishments visited by the inspector during the year just passed. Of this number 6918 are under 16 years of age.

Alleged Discrepancy In Accounts

Needham, Mass., Jan. 10.—Experts are at work on the books of the late Town Treasurer Hall for the purpose of investigating a report of a shortage of $10,000. It is understood that relatives are willing to make good any deficit that may be found.

Assault Has Fatal Result

Ansonia, Conn., Jan. 10.—Harry Zucher, a bartender, who was struck over the head Monday with a billiard cue by Walter Nelson, a negro, died of his injuries this morning. The assault was committed while Nelson was rifling a saloon cash drawer.

Young Man Was Despondent

Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 10.—Clifford K. Church, 17 years old, a railroad brakeman, committed suicide by shooting. The young man is said to have been despondent.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

The Friday club meets this week with Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick of Chestnut street. It will be a Dickens' afternoon in charge of Mrs. John F. Welch.

St. Margaret's Guild meets Friday evening in the parish house for class work.

Next week Wednesday evening the Pickwick club leaves the prosaic earth for a trip to the planet Uranus, it being astronomy evening. Mr. Frederic H. Plummer and Mr. John O. Hall conduct the explorations which will start from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Plummer.

The Fragment society held an all day sewing bee and basket luncheon at First Church chapel today.

On Monday afternoon Jan. 15th the Junior Friday club will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry E. Russell, Greenleaf street. William Cullen Bryant and minor writers will be the topic of the afternoon.

The Social Science and Literary club of Atlantic is to meet on Jan. 16th instead of on the 23d as scheduled in the club calendar.

January 18th is the date of the demonstration lunch to be given at First Church chapel by the Hospital Aid association. It promises to be entertaining as well as instructive. A sewing bee will follow the luncheon.

The regular monthly meeting of Quincy Charitable society will be held at the residence of Mrs. Helen Bass, Hancock street, Monday afternoon January 15th at 3 sharp.

The January meeting of the Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held in Association hall on Monday afternoon at three o'clock. The fifteenth instead of the twenty-second as scheduled by the year book.

The next meeting of Unity Circle of King's Daughters will be the annual. A committee on nomination of officers has already been appointed.

SHIPBUILDERS CLUB.

Tomorrow evening January 11, the Shipbuilders Club will hold open house. The rooms have been thoroughly cleaned and the club starts the new year with bright prospects. Mr. Thomas Newton, who for many years was in charge of St. Oswald's Club in West Hartlepool, England, has been installed steward. Besides being the head quarters for the Foreriver Football team the club is also the meeting place of the Carpenters and Joiners Union.

At this first open night of the new year there will be in addition to pool, billiards and rifle shooting, a talk in the Club house hall on the third floor by Rev. William E. Gardner on "Life in the Florida Forrest," and an entertainment. Refreshments will be served at 9.30. All shipbuilders will be welcomed by the hospitality committee.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

Tuesday afternoon was a home meeting of the Quincy Women's club and there was a large attendance. Mrs. Bumpus presided at the short business meeting when reports were read by the secretary and treasurer.

The afternoon's program opened with a group of songs by Miss Alice Gertrude Coe of Atlantic; Mrs. Chandler W. Smith at the piano. Miss Coe has an exceeding deep rich contralto voice which she handles sympathetically, giving much pleasure to her listeners.

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney another club member contributed to the pleasure of the afternoon by a talk on "The Art of Story telling." She carried her listeners back to their childhood days to time of the "big bear, middle-sized bear etc." How the rythm of stories appealed to little children. She told of the help to her in after life, had been the stories told her by her grandmother—a woman of education and fond of good literature. How in simple words she had told her all of Shakespere's comedies and some of his tragedies; bible stories left their impress to this fday—and every brook brought the words of Tennyson's poem to her childish mind with pleasure.

She believed every child should know local history. Quincy children should be told of the presidents, John Hancock, Merrymount, Myles Standish's visit to Quincy etc, long before they learned it in the schools. Mrs. Gurney believed in Santa Claus so dear to the childish heart and that the romance remained with the child long after it knew its father, mother and friends were really the givers of the Christmas gifts. A story has to be entertaining not simply a story. She did not believe in stories with a moral tacked on. Children always see the good and bad so far as they should without having it driven home which often spoiled the good effect of the story.

Mrs. Gurney closed with a pretty story of early colonial life in Pembrook, Mass., amid the Indian peril. It was interesting, and clearly illustrated in the telling, how local history can be made interesting not alone to children but to adults. Mrs. Gurney was heartily applauded.

The program closed with singing by Miss Coe. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Sproul of Quincy and Mrs. Crane of Wollaston.

At the close of the meeting those desiring to form a choral society met to talk it over and arrange for regular meetings. Over fifty remained and this class has been formed with Mrs. Jennie B. Worster of Weymouth as director. The first rehearsal will be on Saturday afternoon Jan. 20th at club house.

MERRYMOUNT CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Merrymount Club of Wollaston, was held at the club rooms on Monday Jan. 8th. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President,—G. R. Kent; Vice President,—H. C. Kirkwood; Treasurer,—G. R. Thompson; Secretary,—E. W. Bowker; Executive committee,—G. R. Kent, H. C. Kirkwood, G. R. Thompson, E. W. Bowker, James Casey, C. H. Baker, H. R. Osgood, H. S. Taylor and R. R. Freeman. After the meeting refreshments were served and the members passed the evening in bowling, pool and billiards. The present membership of the club is 72, and the admission fee having been abolished, new names have been presented at each meeting of the executive committee. The club voted to have a monthly entertainment in the club rooms, to which members may invite their friends. The bowling alleys, pool and billiard table have recently been placed in first class shape, and are in constant use by the members.

FIRST CHURCH SOCIAL CLUB.

The Social club connected with the Unitarian church is having a very prosperous season. Considerably more than two hundred membership tickets, which may be purchased only by those connected with the church, have been sold, and in addition there has been an unusually large attendance of those not eligible for the membership tickets. The club has already given two dances at Faxon hall, and a musicale by Miss Collier which was without question one of the finest that has ever been given in Quincy. The next entertainment, on the nineteenth of this month will undoubtedly maintain the high standard that the committee in charge has set for itself. It will be given by Mr. E. P. Tames, one of the best amateur sleight-of-hand men in the country, assisted by Mr. T. E. Stutson who will be remembered with pleasure by all those who have had the good fortune to hear him in the Cadet plays in the past.

ALLIANCE.

There was a good attendance Monday afternoon of the Women's Alliance in in First Church chapel. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. A. E. Sproul who gave an interesting paper on Harriet Martineau, supplemented by a talk by Mrs. Wilson Marsh on her work, closing by reading one of her hymns. Chocolate and light refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed,

DORCAS SOCIETY.

The Dorcas Society at the meeting at the home of Mrs. A. A. White elected the following officers: President, Mrs. George Spooner; vice-president, Mrs. Calvin Fletcher; secretary, Mrs. A. A. White; treasurer, Miss Florence Holten. One new member was added to the society. After the business of the meeting was over, Mrs. White invited the members to the dining room, where a very dainty collation was served. A very pleasing good of the order followed, including singing, piano and harmonica duet by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. White, songs by Mr. J. White and an original poem by Miss Adeline Holton.

Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY.

The regular monthly meeting of Women's Auxiliary to Y. M. C. A. will be held Monday afternoon at Association hall. The opening exercises will be in charge of Mrs. Victor E. Miller. Mr. R. M. Armstrong, State Secretary, will speak. Mrs. George H. Collyer of Wollaston will sing. All women of the city invited to be present.

AMONG NEIGHBORING CLUBS.

The State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution are to give a grand vaudeville entertainment Thursday afternoon at the Hollis street theatre, Boston, the talent being the stars now playing at the Boston theatres. The proceeds are to go toward the memorial arch which the Society is to erect at Cambridge.

Most of the clubs are holding gentlemen's night this month, which are usually brilliant affairs, looked forward to with much pleasure by club members.

The Dorchester Social Club of Women held a whist party at Hendrie's, Monday afternoon. On Friday evening an "at home" is to be tendered the gentlemen when there will be a reception, dancing and supper also whist for those who do not care for dancing.

Monday afternoon, Jan. 15th, Rev. Francis Rowley lectures on "Our animal friends," before the Brightelmstone club of Allston.

Guest night of the Dorchester Women's club will occur Jan. 16th when Mr. Frederick W. Bancroft is to give his "Songs of three kingdoms" which will be followed by a reception and banquet.

The New England Wheaton Seminary club will hold the next meeting at Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Saturday, January 13. The business meeting will begin at 1.30 P. M. The meeting will be a memorial in honor of Mrs. Eliza B. Wheaton. Miss A. E. Stanton, Mrs. A. A. Lincoln, Miss Harriet E. Paine, Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln, Mrs. E. H. Merrill, Miss Mabel Perry, and others will speak. Mrs. Nellie Gould-Smith will present the Worcester Wheaton club's appreciation of Mrs. Wheaton and letters will be read from friends unable to be present. The music for the afternoon will be furnished by Mrs. Louise Bruce Brooks and the Wheaton Seminary Glee club. Mrs. Annis A. Lincoln of Wollaston is one of the trustees of the school.

The choral class of the Dorchester Woman's club is preparing for its annual concert in February. Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard has arranged a particularly attractive program.

The State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution hold a meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 16th at hotel Vendome, Boston. There will be a business session at two, followed by an entertainment, when there will be a lecture by Rev. Thomas Van Ness and a group of songs by Miss Mabel W. Daniels. A social hour and refreshments will follow.

New Firemen More Vacancies

The newly appointed firemen who went on euty Monday have been assigned to different stations. Anderson, the permanent man, is at the Wollaston station, and Colbert has been transferred from Wollaston to the Central station. Holland has been sent to West Quincy, taking the place of a special man doing duty there. Scully has been stationed at the Quincy Point house and Carroll at the Central station.

Connelly, a special man at the Central station has been relieved of duty.

It would seem that there are still two vacancies in the permanent force, as the amendment to the ordinance last year increased the number of permanent men to fourteen.

Married at Providence.

Alexander Rose of this city and Miss Blanche M. Souther, assistant postmistress at Cohasset were married at Providence, R. I., last Saturday. The marriage is the end of a five years' romance. The family of the bride, it is said, knew nothing of the marriage until Tuesday. Mrs. Rose is attending to her duties as usual at the post office.

The marriage is said to have created a sensation at Cohasset. Mr. Rose is 27 years of age and a machinist by trade.

"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."

One lady says she has seen the above so many times that she is constantly thinking about them. It is said each chapter will keep the readers guessing.

TODAY'S COURT.

Samuel Cotter, Max Keegle and Isaac Cotter were arraigned for receiving stolen property at Quincy. Cases continued until Saturday.

William Stamat was arraigned for larceny of less than $100 from Anthony Thompson at Quincy. Case continued until Friday.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30xf0 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

BROKER A SUICIDE

Was Caught on the Wrong Side In Stock Transactions

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—Leland W. Prior, one of the best known men in financial circles in Cleveland, and junior member of a stock brokerage firm, shot and killed himself in a room at the Hollenden hotel. Prior went to the hotel on Monday afternoon. All yesterday morning he paced up and down the lobby and appeared to be worrying about something. Prior was president of the Cleveland Stock Exchange and a member of the New York Stock Exchange, the Chicago Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

The firm of Denison, Prior & Co. was one of the heaviest dealers in stocks and bonds in the central west. Charles E. Denison, senior member of the firm, has arrived in Cleveland, having come from Boston. Since the organization of the firm of Denison, Prior & Co. Denison has lived in the east and has had entire control of the eastern bond business of the firm. He says he has had nothing to do with the management of the company's office in this city. Denison says that in order to protect financial interests he has ordered the business closed and put the firm's affairs in the hands of a committee. "I believe it will be found that large stock transactions were the cause of Mr. Prior's act," said Denison.

It is understood by persons acquainted with the amount of business done by the firm that it is involved in the stock market to the extent of at least $500,000.

In Congress

Washington, Jan. 10.—The senate has adopted two resolutions of inquiry. One of them authorizes an investigation by the committee on inter-oceanic canals into the general conduct of the affairs of the Panama canal and the other an inquiry by the finance committee into the question of the exchange rate on money on the isthmus.

The Philippine tariff measure was the single topic of consideration in the house. The speeches were uniformly against the measure and were allowed to go in general without answer. Digression in the form of tariff revision discussion was made in a brief speech by Mr. Gillett (Mass.), who favored Canadian reciprocity.

Examined Edibles For Diamonds

New York, Jan. 10.—In a hunt for smuggled diamonds on the steamer Vaderland, Charles Roemaet, chancellor of the Belgian consulate at New York, was among those whose effects were searched by customs inspectors. A cake found in his trunk was sliced into strips, but the inspectors unearthed nothing except raisins. Several pieces of candy and some oranges were then cut open. Finally the inspectors interested themselves in a small, compact looking roll of paper, and at their request Roemaet opened it. The contents proved to be his credentials from the Belgian government to this country. No diamonds were found.

Exciting Episodes at a Fire

New York, Jan. 10.—Nine firemen were injured, one of them seriously, at a fire in a stable in the East Side tenement district last night. More dangerous than the fire itself was the threatened panic and stampede among the excited dwellers in the neighborhood, who screamed and threw their belongings into the streets, striking pedestrians on their heads and threatening the lives of the scores who were running to the scene of the fire.

Abuse of Franking Privilege

Washington, Jan. 10.—The house committee on postoffices and post roads has decided to request Postmaster General Cortelyou to supply to the committee all information he may have showing the abuse of the franking privileges by members of congress. The committee also decided to ask the Washington Post to furnish evidence in support of its charge that the franking privilege has been abused by members.

Mount Vesuvius In Eruption

Naples, Italy, Jan. 10.—There was a sudden eruption of Mount Vesuvius yesterday, and the resultant scene of picturesque magnificence was witnessed by thousands of tourists. Three streams of lava reached the lower station of the Funicular railroad, causing serious damage. The eruption is thought to be connected with that of Mount Etna in Sicily.

Murderess In Insane Asylum

Halifax, Jan. 10.—Hope Young, who was convicted last year of the murder of a child and for whom a new trial was granted by the supreme court, was brought to this city from the jail at Digby, and was taken to the insane asylum. Her mind became deranged while she was in jail.

Siberian Revolution Next

Nagasaki, Jan. 10.—Transport Mongolia, which arrived here from Vladivostok with Russian refugees, reports that a general uprising throughout Siberia is feared.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A new mill corporation, the Pawtuxet Valley Textile company, has been formed at Providence with a capital stock of $50,000 for the purpose of engaging in the weaving of silk fabrics.

Lieutenant Shackford, U. S. N., has been assigned to duty at the White House as an aide to the president, in addition to his present duties as executive officer of the Mayflower.

Charles D. Gale, 97 years old, one of the old-time stage drivers of New England, died at his home at South Spencer, Mass. Gale drove a stage between Worcester, Mass., and Brattleboro, Vt., for many years.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Saturday afternoon, on Hancock street, a Diamond Snake Ring. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to FRANK CRONIN, 48 Quincy avenue. Jan 8. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—A first-class Stone Carver. None but first-class men need apply. LONG & SAUNDERS, South Quincy. Jan. 9. 6t

WANTED—Cook, Second, Chamber General and Office Girls. Ladies waiting all the time. Plenty of places. MISS FLYNN, City Employment Office, 1522 Hancock street, Quincy Jan. 9-3t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Ruincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Quincy Point corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 1-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. lp tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. lptf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT.
Ledger Office.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

The First Chapter "The Two Vanrevels" Appeared Tuesday.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

You Can Get a FREE LEDGER Of Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Vol. 18. No. 10. QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Tom Vanrevel is Smitten by Betty Carewe

Have You a Friend? Then tell him about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Tell him how it cured your hard cough. Tell him why you always keep it on hand. Tell him to ask his doctor about it. Doctors use it a great deal for all forms of throat and lung troubles. We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

ANNUAL MARK DOWN SALE.

Your Opportunity Has Come.

SUITS.

That Were	$8 50	$10 00	$12 00	$15 00	$18 00
NOW	5.98	7.98	8 98	11.98	15 00

OVERCOATS.

That Were	$6 50	$10 00	$12 00	$15 00	$20 00
NOW	5.00	7.98	8,98	11.98	16.50

NOW is the TIME. THIS is the PLACE.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 11. th. fri. sat.-tf-o-tf

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

Mission Furniture

To the lovers of simplicity in house furnishing the Mission or Dutch furniture has much attraction.

PLAIN, SUBSTANTIAL, SIMPLE, COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE.

These five words convey a world of meaning.

This furniture is made of oak and is finished in a rich dark brown, it costs no more than ordinary oak, and with rugs and draperies of plain red o green it furnishes a room or den in a rich substantial manner unequalled by any other style of furniture. We have a choice selection at popular prices.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Prompt Work

Prevented Conflagration At Cottage Avenue Fire

The alarm from Box 23, the danger box, at 6 27 Wednesday evening sent a crowd hurrying toward Cottage avenue. A brightly illuminated sky told the firemen and others that a brisk blaze was in progress and served to quicken their speed.

Upon their arrival it was found that the fire was on Cottage street in a barn. Flames were shooting through the roof and sides of the building. The barn is surrounded by other structures only a few feet away, and it was seen that only exceptional good work of the department would prevent a conflagration.

The barn is situated a little back from the street on property of H. M. Faxon. The large house of Patrick Garrity on the south was hardly ten feet away while a tenement house of Mr. Faxon was almost as near on the north.

The stable was occupied by G. Machetti and another Italian named Felix D'Allesandra.

The fire is said to have been caused by the accidental overturning of a lamp or lantern. In an instant the loose hay lying about had taken fire and was blazing fiercely. There were two horses in the barn and they made frantic efforts to escape.

Their halters were snapped and a rush made for the door. One of the horses got out but the other dropped just at the door. When the firemen arrived they were met by a grewsome sight of a horse being roasted. This horse belonged to D'Allesandra. The other horse belonged to G. Machetti.

The latter animal was horribly burned. He was taken to the stable of Engineer Packard where Dr. Abele did all that human skill could do to save the horse and relieve its suffering.

The Central station apparatus was the first to arrive and two lines of hose were laid from a hydrant at the corner of Cottage street and Cottage avenue. Another line was laid from a hydrant at the corner of Chestnut street and Cottage avenue. The Wollaston apparatus upon its arrival laid a line from the hydrant on Hancock street.

In addition to these, chemical streams were also used. Tons of water were poured into the burning building. It soon had a telling effect. What wind there was, came from a southerly direction taking the flames from the Garrity house. The corner of the Faxon house caught several times, but was quickly quenched.

At 7 o'clock, the fire was practically under control, and the recall sounded a few minutes later.

The two Italians report their loss at $500, and the damage to the building is estimated at $500.

Chief Engineer Williams was confined to his home and the fire was in charge of District Chief Packard.

James Connolly, who was relieved from duty at the Central station Monday morning, was at the station packing his effects when the alarm came in. He dropped his bundle and responded with the apparatus and did good work in the early stages of the fire. He was unfortunate enough to fall 25 feet but was uninjured.

Officers Murray, Goodhue, Phillips and Matthews were on duty at the fire and kept the crowd back so as to give the firemen a free working space.

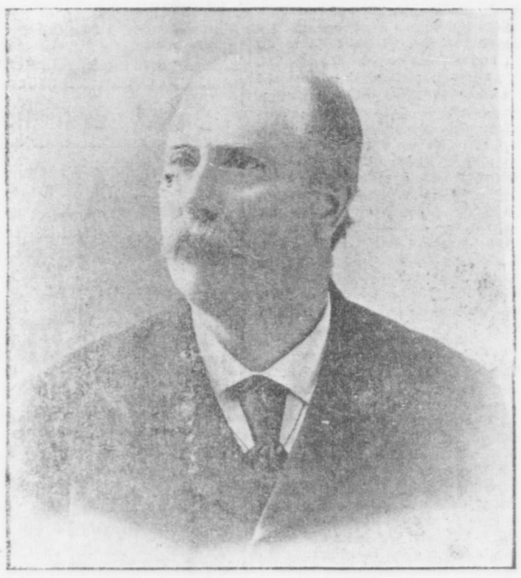

The loss was small considering the start which the fire obtained, and Quincy is to be congratulated upon having escaped a conflagation. Cottage avenue was so narrow that it handicapped the apparatus, but it may be widened before there is another fire.

—The Fall River Gas Co. Tuesday announced a reduction in the price of gas to 90 cents per 1000 feet for consumers of 1000 feet or over.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

JUDGE GROVER NOMINATED.

One of the first appointments of Gov. Guild was that of Judge Thomas E. Grover of Canton, in place of Hon. Asa P. French of Randolph, resigned, as district attorney for Norfolk and Plymouth countries.

John W. McAnarney, Esq., of this city was a promising candidate, but the Governor recognized the long and honorable service of Judge Grover, who has for many years been prominent in Norfolk county affairs.

Previous to the establishment of the district courts, Mr. Grover was a trial justice for many years. He has had an extensive practice in the Norfolk county courts.

Judge Grover is in his 58th year, having been born in Mansfield in February 1848. He was a candidate in 1901 for the Republican nomination for district attorney.

Judge Grover has already received many congratulations by telegraph, telephone and mail.

Surprise Party And Presentation

Wednesday evening, at the home of her parents on Franklin street, Miss Margaret Hall was given a surprise party by a number of her friends, who stole in on her while indulging in piano exercises. Unaware of the company who had come to spend the evening with her, she was so surprised that words were inexpressive of the joy that tingled within her.

The evening was spent in a most delightful way, games and songs being the features.

Miss Hall was presented with a beautiful signet ring, the presentation being made by Walter Field, who wished her to accept the gift as a token of the esteem and respect of the many young friends assembled.

Miss Hall responded by thanking all most heartily for the beautiful gift bestowed upon her and wishing everybody a most enjoyable evening.

After the presentation everybody joined in singing the popular songs of the day, accompanied on the piano by Miss Bertha Trepanier.

Messrs. William and Walter Field delighted all in their rendering of piano duets and songs, and were encored time and again. Games were played and refreshments served.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Drummond, Malcolm Clark, Jennie Clark, Jennie Hall, Walter Field, William Giles, George Miller, Cassie Dellworth, Nellie Drummond, Jennie Grassick, Arthur Phillips, Robert Mitchell, William Field, Helen Storey, Jennie Crammond, Maggie Craig, Robina Hall, Leo Hurley, T. LeDuc, Jennie MacDonald, Alexander Cowe, Jr. and Miss Bertha Trepanier.

—The selectmen of Canton gave a hearing to the Blue Hill Electric street railway, Wednesday, on a petition to be allowed to carry freight over its line in that town. The selectmen took the matter under consideration.

Citizens' Association And School Problem

One of the most serious problems facing the City today is the overcrowded condition of our schools. Within a few weeks 88 pupils have been forced to assemble in one room of the Lincoln building where not over 50 pupils should be. This overcrowded condition prevails in many parts of the city, and the health of our children is impaired by breathing foul air during the exceedingly cold weather.

Something must be done at once to relieve this situation. The debt limit of the city has been nearly reached and no money for school building purposes can be allowed. A new school must be provided at Atlantic also in the Coddington district as well as a four room addition to the Lincoln. By Sept. 1, it is safe to say that accommodation will be required for about 6000 pupils and the city must immediately plan to take care of these children.

The Citizens' Association at their meeting on Tuesday last recommended that the City petition the legislature at once for authority to raise $150,000 outside the debt limit, for school purposes. This seems to be the only solution of the problem and with this money the necessary accommodations can be provided by next fall for the proper care of our school children.

Old Colony Universalists.

The mid-winter convention of the Old Colony Association of Universalists was held Wednesday at Abington. There were nearly 150 delegates present representing Braintree, the Weymouths Hingham, Norwell, Abington, Brockton, Mattapoiset and New Bedford. The next meeting will be held in Norwell April 25.

Millinery Contest.

A supper and social were held at he Point church last evening. Supper was served at 6.30 and was heartily partaken of by those present. The menu consisted of ham, beans, escalloped potatoes and maccaroni, pies of all kinds, coffee and rolls. A most amusing feature of the evening's entertainment was the Millinery Contest given by men only. A musical romance was included in the program. A most enjoyable evening was spent and all the strangers present were given a hearty welcome.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Point Church Prospering.

The first Sunday of the new year proved one of unusual interest at the Washington Street Congregational church, as all will attest who were present.

At the morning service the auditorium was well filled. A choir of some twenty voices, under the direction of T. B. Pollard, chorister, furnished good music. Miss Sara Kelley presided at the organ. The pastor, Rev. A. R. Atwood, was in the pulpit, assisted by his father, Rev. Lewis P. Atwood.

The sermon by the pastor was somewhat brief to give time for the services which followed. These were conducted by the pastor, assisted by Rev. Lewis P. Atwood, and the deacons Charles H. Sherburne and T. B. Pollard, and were of a most impressive order as follows:

The christening of children, viz: Alfred Ray Atwood, Jr., Raymond Cummings and Edward Albert Cummings.

The reception by letter of member to the church. Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Kennedy.

The baptism and reception to church membership on confession of faith of the following: Miss Gertrude Foster, James Corprew, Thomas Skinner, Edwin Lee, 2d, Wm. Staples and Daniel McQueen.

The right hand of fellowship extended by the pastor and the senior deacon, Charles H. Sherburne, accompanied with a word of welcome, encouragement and approval, will probably long be remembered by the recipients.

A large number partook of communion which followed.

Sunday school at twelve o'clock was largely attended; the increase is such, that a number of teachers are needed immediately, and volunteers in this work would be welcome.

Among the new comers at the Point are those doubtless well fitted to help in this way, but unknown to Supt. Chas. H. Sherburne. If such will communicate with Mr. Sherburne, 608 South street, or the pastor, Rev. Atwood, 10 Charles street, it will be appreciated.

Sunday evening the vestry was filled. The preaching service was at 7.30 preceded by a Christian Endeavor meeting at 6.30, at which the social sing was one of the great attractions, and a short address by Mr. Noon of the Y. M. C. A.

On the platform for the latter service were the pastor, Rev. A. R. Atwood, Rev. Tilson and Rev. L. P. Atwood. The pastor gave a forcible sermon which held the attention of all to the close.

The special services of last week were so well attended that meetings were announced for Tuesday and Friday evenings of this week.

Mr. Atwood has a talent for hard work and the ability to set others to work as well. Many workers make labor light and enjoyable, and the results are gratifying, considering that Mr. Atwood has been with us but a few months.

The F. D. Fellows Co. advertise the annual markdown in suits and overcoats. Your opportunity has come.

TODAY'S COURT.

Joseph Catler was arraigned for receiving stolen property at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

Felix D'Allesandra was arraigned for assault on Catherine Pace at Quincy. Case continued until next Monday.

Henry Parkins was fined $3 for drunkenness at Milton.

CARD OF THANKS.

I would return thanks to firemen, ex-firemen, and citizens generally for the prompt manner in which they responded to the fire on Cottage street last evening; and for the valuable assistance rendered.

F. C. PACKARD,
District Chief.

Quincy, Jan. 11· 1t.

HANCOCK HALL,

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 15,

CONCERT.

John and Mary McCay,

Brother and Sister both blind,

An evening of standard and popular voca and instrumental music, Humorous songs, Impersonations true to life, Irish wit, etc.

Lengthy and varied program.

Admission reduced to 25 cents.

Jan. 9. 5t

Let There Be Light

Quincy May Have Plenty Of Gas If Plans Succeed

There are two movements on foot to secure a more adequate gas service for the city than now furnished by the Citizens' Gas Co. One of these was started in Wollaston. It is understood that a paper has been in circulation there and at Quincy for subscriptions as stockholders. Just how many have signified their intention of subscribing cannot be learned. The scheme of this company is not to buy out the existing company but to form a new company under the general laws and build an entirely new plant.

It is claimed that the company will not have to purchase the property and franchise of the present company as the Gas Commissioners have practically ruled that the present company is defunct, as it does not meet the wants of the community. This means that once organized it will only be necessary to obtain permission of the Gas Commissioners to go ahead and build a new plant.

The other movement has started with the new Citizens' Association, which is a little different. In brief it is said to be to get local capital interested and form a new company. Once this is done it is not proposed to build a new plant, as it is figured that would be inexpedient, for the outlay necessary would be too great to properly serve the entire city.

The scheme is to purchase gas of the Massachusetts Gas Company, the parent company of greater Boston. It is understood upon good authority that this company is ready, and willing to sell its product to such a company if formed. Under the new company it is proposed to extend the mains to all parts of the city. It is not probable that the mains of the present company would be taken as they are looked upon as practically useless. They are old and worn out and it is a matter of general knowledge that the leakage is very large.

The present company are charging $2 per 1,000 feet. While it would not be possible under the latter company to get gas for 90 cents it is figured out that at the start gas could be furnished to consumers for $1.50 per 1,000 or less, and after the plant had been fully established the price would be materially reduced.

Officers Installed.

The following officers of Paul Revere W. R. C. were installed Tuesday afternoon, by Mrs. Annie M. Warne, Deputy Counselor:

President,—Mrs. Eliza A. Penniman.
Senior Vice,—Mrs. Isabel Holmes.
Junior Vice,—Mrs. Edith Wolfe.
Chaplain,—Mrs. Jennie Houlton.
Treasurer,—Mrs. Laura Holt.
Secretary,—Mrs. Isabel Souther.
Conductor,—Mrs. Agnes Fletcher.
Assistant Conductor, — Mrs. Emma Marnock.
Guard,—Mrs. Celia Baxter.
Assistant Guard,—Mrs. Sarah E. Williams.
Patriotic Instructor,—Mrs. Elizabeth Farrell.
Press Correspondent,—Mrs. Mary E. Powers.
Pianist,—Mrs. Ella Hayden.

Mrs. Warne in behalf of the Corp presented Mrs. Jennie Ewell retiring president with a handsome ring. Mrs. Eliza Penniman in behalf of the newly installed officers presented Mrs. Warne with a souvenir spoon.

Supper was served and the evening was spent in a general good time.

Those who missed the first chapte of "The Two Vanrevels," the Dail Ledger's new story, can obtain a free copy of the paper on application at the Daily Ledger office.

—The cremation idea is making slow but steady progress here in Massachusetts. The report of the Massachusetts cremation society for the year shows an increase in the number of cremations from 211 to 225.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magoe.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The new Charlestown High school will cost $297,328.30, but will have accommodations for only 540. The original cost of the Quincy High school plus the appropriation for enlargement will be less than $200,000 and it will have accommodations for 1000 pupils.

A recent writer has collected statistics to prove that the horse is the most dangerous and deadly animal in the world. Considering that the automobile runs him a close second one might infer that the man who has charge of both is really the dangerous and deadly element in the combination.

A Massachusetts messenger boy is suing the Western Union Telegraph Company for one dollar due him for lunch and work overtime. It takes the nerve of a messenger boy to run up against such a corporation as the Western Union.

Congratulations to Hon. Asa P. French upon the confirmation of his appointment as United States district attorney for Massachusetts. No one had any doubt about confirmation, and Massachusetts is fortunate in the choice.

Drift of Opinion.

J. O. Davidson, who has just been translated from the lieutenant governorship to the governorship of Wisconsin, is a native of Norway. Coming to this country at the age of nineteen, he had no money and was without influential friends. He hustled. He made money, won friends, entered politics, and rose by easy and steady stages from assemblyman to governor. The career of this Scandinavian isn't rare enough to be striking, but it shows, in its own conclusive way, that America is, in truth, the Land of Opportunity.—Hartford Times.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

Quincy Post Office.

Letters unclaimed for week ending Monday, Jan. 8.

N. A. Barry, Walter Bengtoon, Walter Bennett, A. Crescini, Thomas Daily, Frank De Lorey, James J. Dooley, James T. Gannon, John Heney, J. H. Hill, A. Jakobson, Wm. Janson, Inno Ljunquist, Mrs. Loud, William McKiernan, James Mc Norton, John C. Milley, John Murray, James Nugent, Richard Ohman, J. J. Powers, Gio vanni Porreca, P. Roberts, Herman Rogers, J. F. Shaw, Walter Shes, Angelo Vittorini, Capt. Joseph Ward, E. Edmund Welch, James Welch, Malcolm White.

Edna M. Black Burn, Mrs. Annie Brunno, Mrs. Tenance Byron, Mrs. Robert Clegg, Mrs. E. P. Dalton, Miss M. Gallager, Miss Betty Johnson, Mrs. Willian Johnson, Mrs. Mary F. Perkins, Mrs. Harry Lurall, Miss Annie Smith, Mrs. F. H. Smith, Miss Gladys Hothart.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

1906 JANUARY 1906

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:07 a.m.	New Moon	24	6:09 p.m.

SUICIDE THEORY

Renounced by the Public In the Edwards Case

BUSINESS MEN'S ACTION

May Ask Supreme Court to Order an Independent Inquiry--Friends Say Edwards Had Everything to Live For

New Haven, Jan. 11.—Coroner Mix will today continue his investigation into the case of Charles A. Edwards. He says that there is practically nothing new in the Edwards case, and is unable to say when he will submit his finding to State Attorney Williams.

At a meeting of the New Haven Businessmen's association last night considerable time was given to a discussion of the coroner's verdict of suicide in the Edwards case, and an effort will be made at the next meeting to place the association on record in favor of asking the supreme court to take up the case and order another inquiry independently of the state attorney's office.

The coroner's suicide theory has met with anything but public approval and the finding has hardly been accepted by anyone. Those who knew Edwards best are dissatisfied and insist that the mystery is yet to be solved. One of the callers at the coroner's office was ex-President Dwight of Yale. Mrs. Dwight was a cousin of Edwards and it was at the home of the Dwights that Edwards spent the evening prior to his death. Dr. Dwight said: "It is impossible for us to believe that Mr. Edwards committed suicide. He left us in the best of spirits. He had everything to live for."

Dr. Dwight called upon the coroner to learn how the coroner had arrived at his conclusion. He left the coroner's office still unsatisfied.

Many others called upon the coroner in order to get at the facts in the case, and not one went away convinced that this was a case of suicide.

Dr. A. R. Ledoux, a boyhood friend of the late Charles A. Edwards, said: "I, probably the last of Charles A. Edwards' friends in New York city to see him alive, never saw a man in a more sane mental condition than was he at the time of our last meeting, just previous to his departure for New Haven. That he committed suicide seems to me beyond the pale of possibility."

British Political Pot Is Seething

London, Jan. 11.—The election fight is daily growing in intensity. Premier Bannerman, who spoke at Shrewsbury last night, was howled down by a Chamberlainite minority and was compelled to shorten his speech. Disorderly meetings of this kind are not uncommon. John Burns made a successful tilt against Joseph Chamberlain, compelling him to publicly retract his statement that a million able-bodied men were being supported in the workhouses of Great Britain.

Greene-Gaynor Jury Not Chosen

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 11.—The Greene and Gaynor case, involving charges of conspiracy to defraud the government and embezzlement in connection with the big government engineering works in this vicinity, has not reached the point of drawing a jury for the actual trial, so slow is the progress made in the presentation of the defendants' special plea and its opposition by the prosecuting attorneys.

To Answer to Serious Charge

Boston, Jan. 11.—Mary Roberts, known as the wife of William E. Hunt, who is now serving a long term sentence for complicity in the famous suit case tragedy, was taken back to Philadelphia last night by a detective, where she will answer to the charge of performing an illegal operation. The woman was arrested here on a fugitive warrant.

Bodies Beyond Identification

Haverstraw, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Three bodies have been found in the ruins of the disaster caused by the landslide here Monday night. They were so badly crushed and charred that identification has not been possible. Two hundred men worked among the ruins and it was 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the first bodies were unearthed.

Further Probing Necessary

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 11.—New evidence relative to the affairs of the state prison at Windsor has been discovered, and the legislative committee which has been investigating state institutions for the past six months will reopen its hearings before submitting its report to the legislature. No date or place for the hearing is given out.

Wireless Station Discontinued

Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 11.—The naval wireless station at Thatcher's island has been discontinued and a tug has brought back to the navy yard the equipment. It is understood that the station at Highland light, Cape Cod, is considered sufficient to pick up messages and repeat them to the navy yards here and at Boston.

Gold Drinking Cups From Czar

Vienna, Jan. 11.—On the occasion of his name-day the Czar of Russia sent to each of the Austrian regiments of which he is honorary colonel a magnificent drinking cup of gold, ornamented with jewels. The cups will be presented to the regiments this week.

EIGHT LIVES LOST

Result of Fire In Minneapolis "Fireproof" Hotel Building

Minneapolis, Jan. 11.—Eight persons lost their lives in a fire which burned out the fifth, sixth and seventh stories of the West hotel in this city. The blaze started in an unknown manner in the packing room on the first floor. Ascending the elevator shaft it spread when it reached the fifth floor.

Awakened by the ringing of the alarm bells in their rooms, the guests, who numbered in all about 700, rushed wildly about seeking safety. Those on the upper floors were driven back into their rooms by the smoke which filled the hallways, and when the firemen arrived they were greeted by cries for assistance from scores of men and women, who, scantily clad, were shivering on the window ledges.

Captain John Berwin of a hook and ladder company, having broken open a window on the seventh floor which he had reached by means of a scaling ladder, stumbled onto the body of Mrs. Emeline Barlow, an aged woman. He strapped the unconscious form to his back and started down the ladder. When midway between the seventh and sixth floors the strap broke. Bending over to balance the body for a moment, he then leaned, at the risk of his life, and threw the woman toward a projecting ledge on the floor below. Apparently being revived by the fresh air or by the shock, the aged woman grasped the projection and held on. Later she was rescued. But in throwing the woman to safety, Captain Berwin lost his balance and fell to the pavement. He was instantly killed.

The hotel building, which was "fireproof," was damaged to the extent of $25,000.

As to Hazing Testimony

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 11.—After an attempt to arrive at exact conclusions as to how far an upper classman could be compelled to testify as to his knowledge of hazing incidents in a case in which another midshipman is under trial upon the charge of "encouraging or countenancing hazing," the court martial engaged in the trial of Midshipman Decatur rendered no decision and adjourned until the judge advocate informs the court in the matter.

Negro Business Men Organize

Albany, Jan. 11.—The National Negro Business Men's league of New York has been incoroprated here to promote the commercial and financial development of the negroes of the United States by organizing them into local leagues in all the states and territories for systematic instruction, conference and encouragement in commercial enterprises, and the proper use and saving of money.

Roosevelt's Power Widened

Washington, Jan. 11.—Reorganization and consolidation of customs collection districts by the president has been approved by the house committee on ways and means. This measure gives the president entire control of the reorganization of districts, the only limitation being that not more than 120 collection districts shall be created.

China Opens a Trade Door

Tsinanfu, Jan. 11.—The ceremonies of opening Tsinanfu, capital of the province of Shantung, to foreign trade were attended by many Chinese and foreign officials. The invited American guests included consular officials and representatives of prominent mercantile companies. The boycott does not exist in Shantung province.

Nearly a Million Clipped Off

Washington, Jan. 11.—Secretary Shaw of the treasury department has submitted to congress a letter from Postmaster General Cortelyou asking that his estimate of $28,325,000 for the maintenance of rural free delivery in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, be reduced to $27,799,000.

Morales' Whereabouts Unknown

San Domingo, Jan. 11.—The supreme court has transmitted to the minister of the interior an order for the arrest of President Morales and his followers. The authorities do not know the whereabouts of Morales. News received from the interior is favorable to the government.

Army Officers In Conspiracy

London, Jan. 11.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to The Tribune reports the arrest of eight artillery officers of the St. Petersburg garrison on the charge of being engaged in a conspiracy to blow up the Troitsky bridge and to capture the fortress.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At a meeting at New York of the American committee of Olympic games, scheduled to start at Athens next April, it was decided that $25,000 would be required to carry out the present plans for American participation.

Dr. Thomas F. Richardson of the United States public health and marine hospital service has been appointed by the government of Honduras as health officer at a salary of $7500 a year.

Professor Edward E. Nourse was inaugurated as professor of Biblical theology in the Hartford Theological seminary. He is the author of a number of articles on New Testament topics.

Lady Barrow, widow of Sir George Barrow, died at London at the age of 97. She was the original of Sir Thomas Lawrence's celebrated portrait of "The Beautiful Miss Croker." She was the daughter of John W. Croker, the politician and author.

The Vermont State Dairymen's association, which passes upon the standard of butter made in that state, has voted to raise the standard from 90 to 92 percent.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9.
Tel Haymarket 724.
Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17.

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3. Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

The Franklin Bicentenary

Ben Franklin, Printer and Author

Born Jan. 17, 1706; Died April 17, 1790

THE two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, which is to be celebrated on Jan. 17 at his birthplace, Boston; at his home city of Philadelphia, at New York and elsewhere, will give Americans a chance fitly to honor a man who never yet has been rated at his true value. He was so unostentatious, so homely in speech and dress, so human withal and had so little of the outward show of greatness that we have not yet beheld the colossal proportions of his mind and soul. Thomas Carlyle, with his insight into the heroic and spiritual qualities of men, has referred to Franklin as "one of the demigods." It is safe to say that the future, with its larger vision and appreciation, will agree with Carlyle's estimate.

Franklin was the modern Socrates. The parallel between these two great characters is almost startling. Let us not imagine that the American philosopher is dwarfed by comparison with the Athenian. We are apt to magnify the distant prophet and neglect the one near by. When the world has 1,000 or 2,000 years of intervening distance across which to contemplate the practical discoverer of electricity, writer of proverbs and friend of liberty, it may be able to measure his true proportions. Solomon and Marcus Aurelius, who also were characters made in much the same mold as Socrates and Franklin, if tested by service to after ages, are no more entitled to our consideration than this plain Philadelphia philosopher. Yet theirs are names mighty in the ages. What right have we to conclude that the name of Franklin will not be alike mighty in the happier days that are to be?

Benjamin Franklin was born Jan. 6, old style, or Jan. 17, new style, 1706. His forefathers had been blacksmiths in England. His father was a tallow chandler in Boston. Young Ben had only two years' schooling, after which he helped his father for a time in candle molding, when he was apprenticed to his brother James, a printer. After a time this brother started a paper, and Ben, although a mere boy, wrote for it. Papers were not popular in those days, especially with men in power, and James got into jail once or twice for his pains. Then Ben ran the paper. Finally it was put in his name, and he built it up both in circulation and literary quality. His brother often chastised him, however, and this the high spirited boy would not stand, so he ran away. Before going he had read every book he could lay his hands on, had developed considerable ability as a disputant, had written verses which had circulated in pamphlet form and had got himself disliked because of the freedom of his religious opinions. In fact, some of the Puritanical Bostonese called him an atheist. So he was almost a pariah when he pulled up stakes one night and slipped away to New York. Failing to find work there, he went on to Philadelphia, where he arrived with only a dollar in his pocket. The first night he slept in the Friends' meeting house. He spent almost his last money in buying three loaves of bread, two of which he fed to beggars. Then he hunted work at his trade and found it. After a time the governor of the province became interested in the bright when old. Franklin not only wrote these things; he lived them. He had a definite and systematic way of checking up his conduct. He made a list of the cardinal virtues, then marked opposite each any slight infraction on his own part during each day. To perfect himself in writing he took a copy of the Spectator, fixed the thought of some particular paragraph in his mind, then after the lapse of a few days tried to reproduce it. He always strove for self improvement. While a boy he ran on to a description of the Socratic method of questioning and making tentative statements. It made such a deep impression on his mind that he abandoned the dogmatic method of saying "Undoubtedly" and "Certainly" and adopted the more modest and winning method of saying, "It appears to me to be so and so," or, "If I am not mistaken, it is thus and so." To this habit early formed he owed much of his success as a writer and diplomat in later life.

FRANKLIN'S BIRTHPLACE, BOSTON.

Benjamin Franklin did not become an author merely for popularity. Of the creation of literature for its own sake he knew nothing. He wrote always to further some especial cause he had in view or with the distinct object of aiding men's morals and material well being. Outside of the almanac the only considerable work from his pen is his autobiography. This was unfinished at the time of his death and was not published until some time afterward.

The letters and political papers also contain much of the trenchant wisdom and homely philosophy of this versatile man. He was one of the few who could not write without saying something. It might be a letter on never so trivial a subject; still the individuality of Franklin shone through. He made everything he did or said worth while only because he was in it. He was so distinct, so different, yet so universal and so common, that everything he touched he made vital with his own being. No man, at least in modern times, ever entered so many fields and made himself master of them all. This was because he was always and everywhere Ben Franklin, a distinct and definite entity and sufficiently forceful to lend to all that emanated from him his own distinction. After all, it is great souls that count, and Franklin was great enough and original enough to leave an impress the world can never lose. He became an influence in all after-civilization that can never be eradicated. He sowed himself in his age, and the thought seed grew, to be reproduced in after ages. He was a pervasive sort of man, and there is little of the occidental world that has not felt his presence. He was at home with the scientist or the peasant, with the king or the revolutionist, in the salon or the backwoods. Such universal characters are rare. They seem to touch humanity at every point, to comprehend and include it. They are so great they do not need to seem great, and therefore their genius is often unperceived by those nearest at hand.

This much can be said of Benjamin Franklin: He was the most conspicuous newspaper man of his day and to that extent was the founder of the modern American press. He was one of the best printers, if not the best, in the colonies, and he was the most celebrated American author up to his own day and for generations afterward.

J. A. EDGERTON.

Poor Richard, 1733.
AN Almanack
For the Year of Christ
1733,
Being the First after LEAP YEAR:
And makes since the Creation Years
By the Account of the E. Church 7241
By the Latin Church, when O ante V 6932
By the Computation of W W 5742
By the Roman Chronology 5682
By the Jewish Rabbies 5494
Wherein is contained
The Lunations, Eclipses, Judgment of the Weather, Spring Tides, Planets Motions & mutual Aspects, Sun and Moon's Rising and Setting, Length of Days, Time of High Water, Fairs, Courts, and observable Days
Fitted to the Latitude of Forty Degrees, and a Meridian of Five Hours West from London, but may without sensible Error serve all the adjacent Places, even from Newfoundland to South-Carolina.
By RICHARD SAUNDERS, Philom.
PHILADELPHIA:
Printed and sold by B. FRANKLIN, at the New Printing Office near the Market
The Third Impression.

FACSIMILE OF THE COVER OF "POOR RICHARD'S ALMANACK."

lad and proposed to set him up in business as a printer. For that purpose he sent him to London to secure an outfit, but failed to provide funds according to promise. As a result poor Ben was stranded and had to go to work again at his trade. While in London he attracted quite a little attention by swimming four miles. He had been an expert swimmer as a boy, the only sport, by the way, that he ever affected. His stay in London was of advantage to him, as he gained new and larger views of life and read many new books. But at the first opportunity he returned to Philadelphia and after working a short time for a merchant managed to set himself up as a printer.

From this time his rise was steady and rapid. He bought the Pennsylvania Gazette when it was on the verge of ruin and built it up till it was the most influential paper in the colonies. Shortly after, when he was twenty-six, appeared "Poor Richard's Almanack" under the pseudonym of Richard Saunders. This made an immediate hit, the first number running through three editions and being translated into almost every language of Europe. This he continued publishing for twenty-five years. Some of the kindly, wise sayings in it have become as much household words as are the quotations from Shakespeare or the Bible. Here are a few of the most famous:

God helps them that help themselves.
Laziness travels so slowly that Poverty soon overtakes him.
Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise.
Never leave that till tomorrow which you can do today.
What maintains one vice would bring up two children.
Buy what thou hast no need of and before long thou shalt sell thy necessaries.
It is hard for an empty bag to stand upright.
Three may keep a secret—if two of them are dead.
Deny self for self's sake.
Keep thy shop and thy shop will keep thee.
An old young man will be a young old man.
Forewarned, forearmed.
God heals; the doctor takes the fee.
He that would have a short Lent let him borrow money to be repaid at Easter.
A good conscience is a continual Christmas.

These were all new when Franklin said them, and they are not bad even

Local Ins And Outs

D. L. F. Chase was elected president of the Massachusetts Rifle Association on Tuesday, and entertained with "An idyl on rifle shooting."

Representative Eugene C. Hultman has been elected clerk of the joint committee of the Senate and House of Representatives on Election Laws.

At the whist tournament at the Granite City club on Wednesday evening, souvenirs were captured by James T. Penniman and James H. Lally.

Ex-Councilman H. M. Federhen, Jr., and A. W. Birdsall made the best score at the winter tournament of the New England Whist Association last week, plus 15.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1472 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Sheriff's Sale.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK, ss. Quincy, Dec. 16, 1905.

SEIZED on execution and will be sold at public auction on SATURDAY, the 27th day of January, 1906, at 9 30 o'clock A. M., at my residence, No. 163 Franklin Street, in Quincy, said County, all the right, title and interest which Frank P. Alexander of Brockton, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 16th day of December, 1905, at 9 o'clock A. M., (being the time the same was seized on execution) in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Quincy, comprising lot No. 160 in section "3" as shown on "plan of sea shore lots at Houghs Neck Quincy, Mass., 1901, owned by Manet Land Association, H. T. Whitman, surveyor," recorded with Norfolk Deeds.

Said land is bounded on the North by Charles Street, there measuring 50 feet; on the South by lot No. 163 there measuring 50 feet; on the West by lot No. 161, there measuring 100 feet; and on the East by lot No. 159, there measuring 100 feet.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Deputy Sheriff.
Jan. 11. 3t-11-18-25

Sheriff's Sale.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK ss. Quincy, Nov. 29, 1905.

SEIZED on execution and will be sold at public auction on SATURDAY, the 13th day of January, 1906, at 9 o'clock A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street, in Quincy, said County, all the right, title and interest which Albert C. Marr had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the twentieth day of April, 1905, at seven o'clock and ten minutes P. M., (being the time the same was attached on mesne process) also all his right, title and interest attached at the same time, the record title standing in the name of Andrew S. Odom, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain lot of land with an unfinished cellar thereon, on Pine Street, situated in Quincy, in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being lot 7 as shown on plan of land of Andrew S. Odom, bounded and described as follows:

Southeasterly on Pine Street, 44.85 feet;
Southwesterly on lot 8 as shown on said plan, 100 feet;
Northwesterly by lots 13 and 14 as shown on said plan, 44.85 feet;
Northeasterly on lot 5 as shown on said plan, being land of Quinn & Neilson, 100 feet. Containing according to said plan, 4,485 square feet of land.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Deputy Sheriff.
Quincy Dec. 28. 3t-28-4-11

GOLD MEDAL BELOW PAR!

It isn't often that you find "Gold Medal" Flour quoted below par—but for the next few days you may buy this best of all advertised brands for 72c. per bag—$5.70 per barrel

The regular price, even in Boston, is 80c. per bag, $6.25 per barrel.

Take advantage of this splendid bargain before the week ends.

Also buy all your Meat, Vegetables, Fruit, Canned Goods, Crackers, Groceries and all kinds of table supplies at this best of all local stores.

We are not surpassed for high quality or low price, even by Boston stores. It pays to trade regularly here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn. Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street, Corner South Street, Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mill. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

The Hancock Hotel
Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table. Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT.
Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollara Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 142-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 3.

HOTEL GREENLEAF.
AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.
MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

CONTINUED FROM LAST ISSUE.

Miss Carewe's accustomed poise was quite recovered—indeed, she was astonished to discover a distinct trace of disappointment that the brilliant apparition must offer so tame an explanation. What he said was palpably the truth. There was a masquerade that night, she knew, at the Madrillons', a little way up Carewe street, and her father had gone an hour earlier, a blue domino over his arm.

The incroyable was a person of almost magical perceptiveness. He felt the let-down immediately and feared a failure. This would not do. The attitude of tension between them must be renewed at once. "You'll forgive me?" he began in a quickly impassioned tone. "It was only after you sang a dream possessed me, and"— "I cannot stay to talk with you," Miss Betty interrupted and added with a straightforwardness which made him afraid she would prove lamentably direct, "I do not know you."

She turned toward the house, whereupon he gave a little pathetic exclamation of pleading in a voice that was masterly, being as sincere as it was musical, and he took a few leaning steps toward her, both hands outstretched.

"One moment more!" he cried as she turned again to him. "It may be the one chance of my life to speak with you. Don't deny me this. All the rest will meet you when the happy evening comes, will dance with you, talk with you, see you when they like, listen to you sing. I alone must hover about the gates or steal like a thief into your garden to hear you from a distance. Listen to me just this once for a moment."

"I cannot listen," she said firmly, and with a whisk of her skirts and a footfall on the gravel path she was gone. He stood dumfounded, poor comedian, having come to play the chief role, but to find the scene taken out of his hands.

CHAPTER III.

THOSE angels appointed to be guardians of the merry people of Rouen, poising one night between earth and stars, discovered a single brilliant and resonant spot, set in the midst of the dark, quiet town like a jeweled music box on a black cloth, for that night was the beginning of Miss Betty's famous career as the belle of Rouen and was the date from which strangers were to hear of her as "the beautiful Miss Carewe" until "beautiful" was left off, visitors to the town being supposed to have heard at least that much before they came.

There had been much discussion of her, though only one or two had caught glimpses of her, but most of the gallants appeared to agree with Crailey Gray, who aired his opinion in an exceedingly casual way at the little club on Main street. Mr. Gray held that when the daughter of a man as rich as Bob Carewe was heralded as a beauty the chances were that she would prove disappointing, and, for his part, he was not even interested enough to attend and investigate. So he was going down the river in a canoe and preferred the shyness of bass to that of a girl of eighteen just from the convent, he said. Tom Vanrevel was not present on the occasion of these remarks, and the general concurrence with Crailey may be suspected as a purely verbal one, since when the evening came two of the most enthusiastic dancers and lovemakers of the town, the handsome Tappingham Marsh and that doughty ex-dragoon and Indian fighter, stout old General Trumble, were upon the field before the enemy appeared—that is to say, they were in the new ballroom before their host; indeed, the musicians had not arrived, and Nelson, an aged negro servitor, was engaged in lighting the house.

The crafty pair had planned this early descent with a view to monopoly by right of priority in case the game proved worth the candle, and they were leaning effectively against the little railing about the musicians' platform when Mr. Carewe entered the room with his daughter on his arm.

She was in white touched with countless small lavender flowers. There were rows and rows of wonderful silk and lace flounces on her skirt, and her fan hung from a rope of great pearls. Ah, hideous, blue rough cloth of the convent, unforgotten, but laid aside forever, what a chrysalis you were!

Tappingham twitched his companion's sleeve, but the general was already posing, and neither heard the words of presentation, because Miss Betty gave each of them a quick look, then smiled upon them as they bowed. The slayers were prostrated before their prey. Never were lady killers more instantaneously tamed and subjugated by the power of the feminine eye. Will Cummings came in soon, and, almost upon his heels, Eugene Madrillon and young Frank Chenoweth. No others appeared for half an hour, and the five gentlemen looked at one another aside, each divining his own diplomacy in his fellow's eye, and each laboriously explaining to the others his own mistake in regard to the hour designated upon Mr. Carewe's cards of invitation. This small embarrassment, however, did not prevent General Trumble and young Mr. Chenoweth from coming to high words over Miss Carewe's little gilt filigree "programme" of dances.

It may be not untimely to remark also of these five redoubtable beaux that during the evening it occurred to every one of them to be glad that Crailey Gray was betrothed to Fanchon Bareaud, and that he was down on the Rouen river with a canoe, a rod and a tent. Nay, without more words, to declare the truth in regard to Crailey, they felt greater security in his absence from the field than in his betrothal. As Mr. Chenoweth, a youth as open as out of doors both in countenance and mind, observed plaintively to Tappingham Marsh in a corner, while they watched Miss Betty's lavender flowers miraculously swirling through a quadrille, "Crailey, you know—well, Crailey's been engaged before!" It was not Mr. Chenoweth's habit to disguise his apprehensions, and Crailey Gray would not fish for bass forever.

The same Chenoweth was he who, maddened by the general's triumphantly familiar way of toying with Miss Betty's fan between two dances, attempted to propose to her during the sunrise waltz. Having sung "Oh, believe me!" in her ear as loudly as he could, he expressed the wish, quite as loudly, "that this waltz might last for always!"

That was the seventh time it had been said to Betty during the night, and, though Mr. Chenoweth's predecessors had revealed their desires in a guise lacking this prodigious artlessness, she already possessed no novel acquaintance with the exclamation, but she made no comment. Her partner's style was not a stimulant to repartee. "It would be heaven," he amplified earnestly; "it would be heaven to dance with you forever—on a desert Isle where the others couldn't come!" he finished with sudden acerbity as his eye caught the general's.

He proceeded, and only the cessation of the music aided Miss Carewe in stopping the declaration before it was altogether out, and at that point Frank's own father came to her rescue, though in a fashion little saving of her confusion. The elder Chenoweth was one of the gallant and kindly southern colony that made it natural for Rouen always to speak of Miss Carewe as Miss Betty. He was a handsome old fellow, whose hair, long mustache and imperial were as white as he was proud of them, a Virginian with the admirable southern fearlessness of being thought sentimental. Mounting a chair with complete dignity, he proposed the health of his young hostess. He made a speech of some length, pronouncing himself quite as hopelessly in love with his old friend's daughter as all could see his own son was, and wishing her long life and prosperity, with many allusions to fragrant bowers and the muses.

It made Miss Betty happy, but it was rather trying, too, for she could only stand with downcast eyes before them all, trembling a little, and receiving a mixed impression of Mr. Chenoweth's remarks, catching fragments here and there. As the old gentleman finished, Fanchon Bareaud, kissing her hand to Betty, began to sing, and they all joined in, lifting their glasses to the blushing and happy girl clinging to her father's arm:

"Thou wouldst still be adored as this moment thou art,
Let thy loveliness fade as it will,
And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart
Would intwine itself verdantly still."

(Continued in Next Issue.)

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

QUINCY

New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—12 M. MRS. ISO ARO.
Dec 27. 12t

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of
CATHERINE C. GEARY,
late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Michael B Geary of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the seventeenth day of January, A. D. 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t-4, 11, 15

WANTED FOR MURDER

Arrest of Suspect Soon After the Killing of a Woman

Boston, Jan. 11.—On the charge of murdering Mary Abronowicz at Macedon, N. Y., Tuesday, Frank C. Klarney was arrested in the Brighton district by local police inspectors and held for the Rochester officials.

Klarney admitted to the police that he was in Macedon Tuesday, but denies any knowledge of the crime. He was arrested at his former home in Brighton. It is alleged that while in Macedon Klarney went to the home of Mary Abronowicz and, after killing her, took from the house $90 in cash and five watches. The police claim that from Macedon the prisoner went to his lodgings at 54 Woodbury street, Rochester, where he changed his clothing. The police claim that the man then borrowed an overcoat and a cap and left for Boston at 7 o'clock Tuesday night, arriving here yesterday.

When Klarney was arrested $50 in money and three watches were found on his person. He said that he had bought the three watches from an Italian in Rochester, paying $5 for the lot. Klarney is a Pole and his alleged victim is of the same nationality.

Cold Comfort For Depositors

Boston, Jan. 11.—Two hundred depositors of the suspended Provident Securities and Banking company marched before Governor Guild at the state house and requested that those responsible for their losses be held accountable, and that deposits be given back. The governor said he could not interfere with the courts. Judge Braley has continued to an indefinite date the petition for a receiver for the suspended bank, in order to enable the concern to sell its securities and, if possible, raise funds for depositors. He continued the injunction restraining the concern from doing business.

Stepped Between Combatants

Boston, Jan. 11.—Peter Graham, who is a cripple, conducts a peddling business and employed as a driver William Ward, 23 years old, who also lodged at Graham's home. In a dispute between them Graham drew a revolver and pointed it at Ward when Mary Graham, aged 30, daughter of Peter, placed herself between the two men and was shot in the arm. Ward was also wounded in the arm by another shot. Graham was not arrested, but Ward was placed under arrest on a charge of assault.

Double-Runner Ran Into Hack

Turners Falls, Mass., Jan. 11.—In a coasting accident on L street hill last night two young people of a party of 10 who were on a double-runner were dangerously hurt and four others also received injuries. The accident was due to the collision of the sled with a hack which was being driven up the hill. The most seriously injured are Joseph Goselin, aged 12, and Cora Gilbeault, aged 15. Both are believed to have internal injuries. The girl also has a fractured skull.

Bold Work of Masked Men

New Haven, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Theresa Dicerbo, a young Italian woman, alleges that she was assaulted and robbed of $190 by three masked men in the store of her husband, after which the robbers set fire to a pile of boxes in one corner of the room. Her brother found her later unconscious. The fire near her had gained considerable headway and it was necessary to send in a call for an engine. No arrests have been made.

Extra Loom System Criticised

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 11.—The so-called extra loom system said to be in force in cotton mills of New Bedford is severely criticised by Secretary Hart of the Weavers' union, in his quarterly report. He says the tendency to run too many looms indicates that the fair play of the manufacturers is all one way, and that means greater dividends for the stockholders and smaller pay for the weavers.

Carpet Makers Want More Pay

Clinton, Mass., Jan. 11.—The employes of the Bigelow Carpet company have presented a request for a 10 per cent [illegible] wages. The manager of t[illegible] as taken the request und[illegible]on. Nine hundred han[illegible]yed in the local factory [illegible]any has another and larg[illegible]well, and it is understoo[illegible] similar demand will be p[illegible]e.

P[illegible]wment Too Small

B[illegible]1.—An endowment of $50,[illegible] $15,000, as is the case at I[illegible]quired for the support of t[illegible]oreteum in Jamaica Plai[illegible] to the report of the Har[illegible]overseers. The abo[illegible]ded by a bequest from rete[illegible] Arnold of New Bedthe [illegible]ford[illegible]en connected with the bot[illegible]ment of Harvard.

Insane Patients

E[illegible]1.—According to the ann[illegible] the state board of insan[illegible] number of insane person[illegible]n Oct. 1 last numbered 10,[illegible]1 and 5321 women—being [illegible]person to every 296 of the [illegible]ulation. In public instill[illegible]crease during the past 15[illegible]n marked, showing an an[illegible] increase of 309.

[illegible]iquor Law Wanted

I[illegible]11.—The Boston Merch[illegible]on has voted for more [illegible]gislation for this city. Ur[illegible]ent liquor law no into[illegible]e sold under any circu[illegible]ween 11 o'clock at night an[illegible]he following morning. Th[illegible]ation made by the Merch[illegible]on provides for midni[illegible]sing hour.

ARE UNFOUNDED

What Taft Says of Charges by Poultney Bigelow

WORK ON PANAMA CANAL

Commission Defended In Whatever It Has Done--Interviewer Consulted Witnesses Who Harbored Alleged Grievances

Washington, Jan. 11.—A comprehensive answer to the charges against the isthmian canal commission contained in an article in The Independent has been made by Secretary Taft. It is in the form of a letter to the president, who, in a communication to the secretary, said his attention had been directed to an article purporting to have been written by Poultney Bigelow, "attacking the administration of affairs by the canal commission and yourself on the isthmus" and adding: "Will you please advise me what basis, if any there is, for these charges?"

Secretary Taft briefly summarizes the charges as follows: Alleging that the conditions in Colon are so unsanitary as to indicate great neglect in providing for the health of the employes of the commission; alleged mistreatment of negro laborers; that persons appointed to the isthmus are incompetent and have been given their places through political influence, and official incompetency or misconduct, the latter involving the charge that there is so much "red tape" necessary to bring about the construction of buildings that great misery has come to the laborers on the isthmus.

The secretary says that Chief Engineer Stevens, now in Washington, is personally cognizant of the facts with respect to every local condition described by the writer of the article and a memorandum of comments thereon by Stevens is appended to the letter.

Discussing the conditions at Colon, Taft says the sanitary conditions in Panama required much more urgent treatment than those at Colon. The commission thought itself fully justified, therefore, in establishing a water system and a sewer system in Panama first. It is not true, Taft says, that a large number of the employes on the isthmus live in Colon proper, as Stevens points out there are not to exceed 200 or 300 living there.

Regarding the charge of indifference as to food supply for the laborers, the secretary refers to the reports on the Markel contract and says the very diligent efforts made in this regard are sufficiently set out there.

Bearing on the charge that there is today no water supply in Colon, Taft says that two of the temporary reservoirs for the Colon and Cristobal water supply are completed, with a total capacity of 80,000,000 gallons, amply sufficient for the present dry season; that there is no scarcity of water in Colon; that a permanent reservoir capacity of 500,000,000 gallons is under construction, to be completed April 1.

Secretary Taft declares the rate of wages are well advertised throughout the West Indies as 10 cents gold an hour for a day of eight hours, which may be increased by diligent work to 13 cents an hour. It is also untrue, he says, that a great prejudice exists against negroes in the railroad management. Regarding the statement that the negroes are leaving the isthmus in portentous numbers because of mistreatment, Taft says that just before the holidays a great number of laborers returned to the islands whence they came, as has been the custom ever since the beginning of the French construction. The secretary shows there are now on the payrolls 17,000 laborers.

As to the charge that officials on the isthmus were appointed through congressional or political influence, the secretary says the chief engineer categorically denies this. Political influence, he says, has played no part whatever in the selection of appointees.

Secretary Taft declares that the charge of delay by "red tape" in the construction of buildings on the isthmus is shown to be untrue by the statement of the chief engineer. The charge that quarantine officials construe the law and enforce it as far as possible to interfere with commerce is declared to be "utterly unfounded." Being surrounded on every side by disease-breeding ports, Taft says it is of the highest importance if the work done upon the isthmus is to remain permanent that the quarantine be strictly enforced."

Secretary Taft repeats his former statement that the charge that a boatload of black women were imported from Martinique for immoral purposes is false, and continues:

"Finally, I come to the charges specifically made against the secretary of war. They consist in a refusal to accept the guidance of Mr. Tracy Robinson in visiting the purlieus of Colon and a refusal to have an interview with Mr. John Lundie, chief engineer of the electric and refrigerating plant in Panama. To the first charge I plead guilty."

He says an impression was sought to be given that Lundie's application for an interview was made in the interest of the negro laborers on the isthmus, and declares that the correspondence shows "how unfounded this is, and that in fact Lundie did not ask for an interview at all. Taft states that the writer of the article containing the charges arrived in Panama Nov. 9 and left Dec. 1 and that "it is not unfair to say that his opportunities for observing were limited to 28 hours, including daytime and night time."

"But," remarks, the secretary, "the writer will answer that he did not depend upon his own observations, but consulted witnesses. Two witnesses we are able to identify, Tracy Robinson and John Lundie. The others are unnamed and most of them negroes from the West Indies."

Secretary Taft says Robinson is the owner of property in Colon. "His animus against the government," says Taft, "is because it devoted its first attention to the expenditure of money in Panama and thus raised the value of property in that city and, secondly, that in the enforcement of the health regulations by the sanitary department in Colon he found it necessary to complain that his vested rights were being interfered with. Thirdly, Taft says, Robinson applied to the former chairman of the commission for a position at $5000, declining the position of mayor of Cristobal at $1800, and that he applied to Governor Magoon for a position, but was told there were no vacancies.

Lundie, the secretary says, is an electrical engineer who was employed to visit the isthmus to superintend the construction of a plant for the generation of electricity and for the manufacture of ice by a private company. Taft charges that Lundie "objects seriously to the government's furnishing its own light and ice, and insists that it is its duty to patronize his company."

Noted Educator Passes On

Chicago, Jan. 11.—William R. Harper, LL. D., president of the University of Chicago since its inception in 1891, regarded by many as the foremost Hebrew scholar in America, and equally renowned as educator and business man, died of cancer of the intestines. Although his death was known to be inevitable within a comparatively short time, the end, owing to physical exhaustion, came suddenly. He was 49 years old.

Delay In Rogers Case

New York, Jan. 11.—The hearing before a commissioner in the quo warranto proceedings brought by Attorney General Hadley of Missouri to oust three oil companies from that state has been put over in order to allow counsel to appear in the supreme court and make an argument on the order issued by that court to H. H. Rogers instructing him to show cause why he shall not answer the questions asked him by Hadley.

Tinkering Court Martial Verdict

Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 11.—The court martial which in the first week in November completed the trial of Ensign Wade on charges arising out of the boiler explosion aboard the U. S. S. Bennington has convened to revise their findings of the case, in pursuance of the orders of the secretary of the navy, who has expressed himself dissatisfied with the verdict reached by the court.

Prior's Disastrous Dealings

Cleveland, Jan. 11.—The Cleveland News says: Following reports that the suicide of Leland W. Prior was due to disastrous dealings in copper shares, involving practically all of his own fortune, if not the firm's capital and the margins placed by customers, many rumors as to losses incurred by the last named are in circulation. The offices of the firm are closed.

Preferred Death to Life In Italy

New York, Jan. 11.—Discovered during his fourth attempt to enter this country as a stowaway, Pasquelo Livo committed suicide by jumping overboard from steamer Liguari, from Italy. The ship's officers put him in irons, but Livo got rid of his handcuffs and suddenly appeared on deck, mounted the ship's rail and leaped into the sea.

Considering Isle of Pines

Washington, Jan. 11.—Two reports on the Isle of Pines treaty have been taken up by the senate committee on foreign relations, together with the various protests from Americans on the island against ratification. The variety of views expressed indicate that it will be some time before an agreement on the treaty can be reached.

Czar Fails to Keep Promise

St. Petersburg, Jan. 11.—A long official communication, issued this morning, explains that the carrying out of numerous formalities will prevent the meeting of the douma before the end of April. It is added that the meeting may be further postponed in the event of a renewal of strikes and disorders.

A Suggestion to Zionists

London, Jan. 11.—The Morning Post suggests that the Zionists purchase from Mexico for the formation of a Jewish state the strip of territory terminating in California in which it was proposed in 1888 to found an Irish-American Republican association.

Battleships Not Badly Injured

Washington, Jan. 11.—Advices received at the navy department are to the effect that of the two damaged battleships the Alabama will require a few days only for repairs and that repairs to the Kentucky will be completed by the 25th inst.

Master Printers Yielding

New York, Jan. 11.—President McCormick of Typographical union No. 6 has made public a list of 280 firms, large and small, in Greater New York, who have granted the printers the eight-hour day.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Jan. 12.
Sun rises—7:12; sets—4:33.
Moon rises—6:51 p. m.
High water—12 a. m.; 12:15 p. m.
It will be fair and warmer in New England.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 33	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 5[illegible]
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 48	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adam.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.49 5.16 5.46 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50 A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branscheid & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	34	40	50	35	43
Monday,	27	41	52	33	46
Tuesday,	26	35	36	35	40
Wednesday,	24	34	45	32	38
Thursday,	29	58	30	42	38
Friday,	—	44	38	27	45
Saturday,	—	43	32	26	54

New Advertisements Today.

F. D. Fellows Co.—Mark Down Sale.
Wanted—First class Quarry Out-fit.
Wanted —Ten Experienced Machinists.
For Sale—Depot Service.

The City In Brief

Miss Rose Drake is confined to her home with a bad cold.

Mr. Graves and family have moved from Cherry street to East Howard.

A grand supper will be served at the annual meeting of the Bethany church corporation next week.

There will be special music at the Sunday evening services at Bethany Congregational church.

William H. Waterson of Milton, a [illegible]man, has filed a petition in bankruptcy; liabilities, $1127.71; assets, $100.

Ex-Mayor Charles M. Bryant was on Wednesday elected one of the vice-presidents of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association.

Ben Franklin, the printer and author, the first of a series of three bi-centenary articles appears in this issue. Another on Saturday in the eight-page Daily Ledger.

Rev. A. R. Atwood, the pastor of the Quincy Point church, has commenced a series of noon addresses for boys at the Fore River works, under the auspices of Mr. Noon of the Y. M. C. A.

This unexpected spell of cold weather has nipped the progress of the boulevard in the head and Newbury avenue has frozen in deep ruts which make travel anything but a pleasure for horse or rider.

The entertainmant of John and Mary McCay the blind artists, at Hancock hall next Monday evening will not be confined to music but will include humor. One hardly expects to find an impersonator in a blind man, but should hear Mr. McCay.

Lieut. Albert R. Shedd of Greenleaf street has been summoned to Chicago, by the death of Mrs. Shedd's mother, who has been ill for some months. It was this illness that called Mrs. Shedd to Chicago, upon their return from Cohasset, last fall, and she has been there since that time.

The funeral of Stephen Collins, who died Tuesday at the Brockton hospital, was held at St. Patrick's chapel, Brockton, this morning at nine o'clock. The services were attended by fellow-members of the Hoffman club, Emmet club and division 1, A. O. H., as well as a large number of his friends. He leaves a sister, Mrs. B. M. McKenna and a brother Malachi V. Collins, both of Quincy Point.

"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."

One lady says she has seen the above so many times that she is constantly thinking about them. It is said each chapter will keep the readers guessing.

DIED.

SMALL.—In Milton, Jan. 9, Joseph, son of Mr. Joseph and Mrs. Mary Small, of Park street, aged 4 months 10 and days.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

ARE NOT PLEDGED

Washington Will Instruct Our Moroccan Delegates

STORY OF THE TURMOIL

The Kaiser's Speech Stirred Up France, Who Seeks Special and Privileged Position in Empire of Absolute Despotism

Washington, Jan. 11.—In view of the world-wide interest manifested in the attitude of the United States delegates to the coming Morocco conference it can be stated that the American delegates will attend the gathering with open minds; above all, they stand absolutely uncommitted to either the German or the French contentions. Were these conditions otherwise, they would be doomed in advance to failure in their principal object, which is to harmonize what may turn out to be divergent and hostile interests.

Aside from unimportant details, everything these delegates do will be ad referendum; on all important issues that may arise the American delegates will ask instructions from Washington whenever the question is such that it was impossible for Secretary Root to direct them in advance how to act. After receiving such instructions, the American delegates will formerly record the position of America, but not before.

The empire of Morocco, an absolute despotism, has been in a state of turmoil for many years past, owing to the natural course of events in a country unrestricted by any laws, civil or religious, and also on account of the steady warfare which the sultan has had to wage against the pretenders to the throne.

This caused a feeling of uneasiness among the Arab tribes in Algeria, the adjoining French territory, and led to efforts on the part of France to assume a guardianship over Morocco. Germany was not willing to unreservedly agree to this, being second only to Great Britain in the extent of her interests in Morocco.

In 1902 the imports of the three powers into Morocco were: Great Britain, $6,210,000; Germany, $1,850,000, and France $380,000. The exports of Morocco to the three powers in 1902 were: To Great Britain, $2,999,000; to Germany, $535,000, and to France $785,000.

France, pursuing her Moroccan policy, sent a special mission to Fez last year. Germany and Great Britain did the same. The German emperor went still further. He visited Tangier March 31, 1905, on the Hohenzollern, but remained ashore barely two hours. During that time he made a speech of which several versions were published. The substance of his remarks, however, was that he assured the German residents that the sovereignty and integrity of Morocco would be maintained.

The same day the then French minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, made a significant speech in the senate at Paris, during which, after referring to the sultan's weakness and the anarchy resulting therefrom, "prejudicial to everybody and especially to France and Algeria," he declared that "resistance in interested quarters would not cause France to modify her policy" in Morocco. This sentiment called forth vigorous applause.

These utterances aroused both Germany and France and caused excitement throughout Europe, resulting later in a strained state of affairs and in the proposition to hold an international conference on Morocco.

France and Great Britain on April 8, 1904, signed an agreement by which the latter in substance gave France a free hand in Morocco in return for a free hand in Egypt and the settlement of the Newfoundland fisheries dispute; Great Britain also agreed to support France in her Moroccan policy.

But, in the meanwhile, Delcasse was compelled to resign June 6, 1905, after directing the foreign affairs of France since June 28, 1898, and Premier Rouvier took the foreign portfolio. Subsequent developments showed that the change in the foreign office probably averted war between Germany and France, as the former country was pressing the latter very severely, diplomatically.

After considerable further fencing between Germany and France those two powers on July 8, 1905, agreed on the basis of a program for the proposed international conference and, without entering into details of the reforms proposed, it may be said that the main and most dangerous point to be discussed at the conference is the question whether France is or is not entitled to have a special and privileged position in Morocco. This is the vital issue and the minor questions, it has been pointed out, can be adjusted once this point is definitely settled. Germany, it is understood, will seek to secure international control of the police, the customs and other matters, and an "open door" as to commerce.

On Dec. 14 the French government issued a Yellow Book setting forth its side of the controversy and on Jan. 8 the German government published a White Book giving its version of the dispute.

Paynter Gets Blackburn's Seat

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 11.—The senate and house in joint session formally elected Judge Thomas H. Paynter to the United States senate to succeed J. C. S. Blackburn.

Employed Boys Defeat Intermediates

The "Intermediate" basket ball team met defeat at the hands of the "Employed boys" Wednesday evening, in a fast game at the Young Men's Christian Association. The first half ended with score 7 to 7, but in the second half the Intermediates didnt get even a look, the final score being 17 to 7 in favor of their rivals.

EMPLOYED BOYS.	INTERMEDIATES.
Mundel, L.B.	L.B., Marden
Francis (Melville), R.B.	R.B., McDonald
Sweeney, C.	C., Thomas (Tupper)
Seeley, R.F.	R.F., McKenzie
Noon, L.F.	L.F., Gourlie.

Score,—Employed Boys 17, Intermediates 7. Goals from floor,—Gourlie 2, Mardea, Francis, Sweeney 4, Seeley, Noon. Goals from fouls,—Sweeney 3, McKenzie. Referee, Bugbee. Timekeeper, Duncan. Time, 15 and 20 minute halves.

Quincy Associates.

At the meeting of original Quincy Associates held Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected: President, Edward J. Sandberg; vice president, George Ruxton; secretary, Frank N. Benson and treasurer, Frank W. Jones.

Hatchets at Work.

The small clump of trees on Sagamore street that used to blossom so profusely in their season, and add a pretty touch of rural homeliness to the surroundings, are being laid low by the ruthless axe, and the trunks carted away for fire wood. The little boys take great delight in making use of their Christmas hatchets in this way. No doubt each lad, when he is in the act of striking a mighty blow, imagines himself to be George Washington, whose connection with truth and the cherry tree has come down to posterity.

Hospital Statement.

It is said that a very favorable financial statement awaits report at the meeting of City Hospital corporators next Monday evening at Colonial hall. The great work done at the hospital, together with the above anticipation, will naturally lead to a large gathering of citizens who responded so loyally and helpfully in the collection last fall.

—It would not require very expert stenograper to take the testimony of Henry H. Rogers in the Standard Oil case. His replies are either a silence or "I don't know.

—The battleship Tennessee will have a trial over the Rockland Maine course on Feb. 12 or 13.

Your Sick Child

can't tell you what it has or how it feels—it only shows it is sick and miserable. If it is restless and peevish, doesn't sleep well, has pains in the stomach and bowels or has an erratic appetite the trouble undoubtedly is stomach or pin worms. Give the little one a few doses of that famous old life saver

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

IN USE 54 YEARS.

If worms are present they will be expelled. If no worms exist this wonderful medicine acts gently, yet positively, in toning up the whole system to rugged health.

CENTRE ABINGTON, MASS.

DR. TRUE.
DEAR SIR:—I wish to inform you of the success I have had in using your Elixir. I gave it to my children and after the third dose, one of them, a boy six years old, passed a long round worm which I believe is more than six inches long, what you call a stomach worm. I also wish to say it is one of the best and best medicines to have in the house for children. I would not be without it now. Sincerely yours, Mrs. Henry C. Joy. Sold by all druggists—25c., 50c., and $1.00. Write for free Booklet, "Children and their Diseases." Dr. J. F. True & Co. Auburn, Me. Established 1857.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL

CLASS RECEPTION and DANCE.

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 10

Tickets, Gent and Lady, 50 cts. Extra Lad

NEW CLASS NOW FORMING.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 6.

A Burglar's Story

[Original.]

"Ever done anything good, pard?"

"Dunno," removing a cuddy pipe. "I onct beat the state for another person."

"How did y' do it?"

"Got a tip that an old miser livin' at 79 P street had a fine lot o' swag in his chimbley. Them miser duffers is jist the kind I likes to handle, seein' their money don't do 'em nor nobody else no good, 'n's better in circulation. I goes to 79 'n finds it a trap. I only had to shake the back door to open up, 'n went into the kitchen. There wasn't nothin' there but an old cook stove, a chair 'n a few cookin' pans hangin' on the wall. If it hadn't been a miser's place, I'd 'a' went away. I drops my boots, 'n with my lantern in my left hand 'n my gun in my right—them misers 'll die for their money—mounted the stairs, what didn't have no carpet on to 'em. I got halfway up, when I heered the softest leetle voice say:

"'Mamma.'

"Y' didn't never hear a child call to its mother in the middle of the night, did y'? Waal, it's jist like a voice comin' outen the blessed regions the minister used to talk about when I was a boy.

"'I want a drink o' water,' the little thing said. I heered the mother git up. I s'pected them kind o' people didn't have no water upstairs 'n that she'd come right down. But she didn't. She went to the winder, I 'spect, 'n must 'a' got some water, for the next I heered was a child drinkin' with the noise they makes—sort o' gulpin' it down—'n the mother said:

"'There, go to sleep, sweetheart.' And instead o' sayin' it like one o' us she said it like a lady. I knowed she was a lady, got run down.

"There wasn't much to this, but it happened in the middle o' the night, and, you know, at that time things is impressin', specially a revolver muzzle at a feller's ear, and I couldn't git the little un's soft voice outen my mind, nor the mother's, neither. Anyway, somep'n rattled me, for I stepped back, then up, not knowin' which way to go, and the stairs creaked.

"'Mamma,' said the little voice, 'did you hear that noise?'

"'No, darlin'. Go to sleep; there was no noise.'

"'Is it a burglar?'

"'No, of course not.'

"'What is a burglar?'

"'A man who takes things from other people. Now go to sleep.'

"But the child insisted on its mother goin' to see what the noise was about, so she got up and stood a moment at the head o' the stairs. The little un must 'a' rattled me terrible, 'cause in puttin' my lantern under my coat I let out a ray o' light. The woman saw it. In the coolest way in the world she said:

"'You are welcome to anything you can find here. Heaven knows if there were anything in the house that I could pawn for a breakfast for my little one I would pawn it.'

"'Madam,' I said, bringin' out the light, 'do you and your child live here alone?'

"'Yes.'

"'No old man?'

"'No.'

"I believed her and, biddin' her good night, went outen the house the same way I come in. The next day I learned from the feller as put me on to the miser business that in layin' down the number he intended to make it 19, but his bloomin' figures was so bad that I tuk his 1 for a 7.

"I couldn't git the soft voice of the child outen my ears somehow, nor the pale, sufferin' face of its mother as she stood there at the head o' the stairs lighted by my lantern. I'd had a big streak o' luck lately, and it was about time I got run in ag'in. It wasn't long before the cops had me cornered, and I knew it was a matter of a few days before they'd git me. Course when they got me it meant at least another ten years' time. What 'ud I do with the plunder I had on hand? There was two ways come up to me how to use it. One was to lessen my time by givin' it up to the owners, the other to hand it over to the woman with the child.

"Waal, I made up my mind to give it to her. I turned it all into cash. I knowed if I left it with her without a deceivin' story as to her comin' by it honestly she'd try and find the owner. I went to her house the night before I was tuk, lifted the kitchen h'arth and put the swag under. In the mornin' I posted a letter to her tellin' her that onct a miser lived in that house and had left a heap o' stuff under the kitchen h'arth. He was dead long ago and hadn't got no relations.

"I hadn't more'n got the letter posted before a cop put his hand on my shoulder."

The narrator paused to relight his pipe, that had gone out.

"They offered to knock five years off'n my time," he resumed, "if I'd tell where to find the stuff, but it wouldn't done me no good anyway. Twenty years was same as fifteen to me. Besides, I broke jail in three."

"Did the woman find the swag?"

"'Spect she did. I met her on the street one day with a boy about seven years old. She was well dressed, and so was the kid. I followed her home to a nice little house, and when the door shut on 'em I felt kind o' lonely. A man at a corner grocery said there was a story that she'd come into a little money. She'd been a bang up lady onct, but her husband had died busted. After that I hung around the door to see 'em ag'in, but a cop ordered me off." F. A. MITCHEL.

BIRD JOURNEYS.

Small Animals Often Travel on the Backs of Large Ones.

It has often been asked how small and weak birds manage to fly such enormous distances when migrating. As a rule, however, small birds that have come very far across the sea have not flown, but have been blown over during violent gales, and many of them arrive on land in a half dead condition.

In fair weather small birds make long journeys successfully over considerable tracts of ocean, but the reason is that they are carried on the backs of the larger ones. When passing an autumn in Crete a writer asserts that he distinctly heard the twittering of small birds when flocks of sand cranes were passing overhead on their way to southern shores. On another occasion, when firing a gun, he saw three small birds rise from the flock and disappear again among the cranes. A native priest assured him that they came over from Europe with them, while it has been found that small birds, never before seen in certain parts, have been brought thither at times of migration.

Another cause is that small birds do not make their journeys in one flight. They generally rest during the day, searching for food, and thus proceed to their destination by easy stages.

THE PEARL WORKERS.

A Bethlehem Industry Which Is Five Hundred Years Old.

The chief industry of Bethlehem of Judaea is that of the mother-of-pearl workers.

The shells are brought from the Red sea and in the hands of native artisans are polished and carved, the larger into elaborate designs. The smaller are cut up for rosaries and crosses. The work is all done by hand, and the methods are amazingly primitive to a spectator from the home of steam and electric power. But the results are extraordinary. The largest shell we saw was carved in scenes from the birth of Christ, the agony in the garden and the crucifixion, and had the general effect of delicate frostwork. Under the magnifying glass every detail was seen to be perfect in outline and in finish. It was executed to order for a wealthy American and was to cost $160.

About 150 people make a living by this industry, which is 500 years old. In the shops the workmen sit upon the floor, their benches in front of them. The air is full of whitish dust, and the light admitted by the single window and the open door is so dim that the exquisite tracery of the wrought shells is a mystery even before the visitor notes how few, simple and crude are the instruments employed.—Marion Harland in Lippincott's.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2 00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH.
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 0-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

You Can Increase Your Business With a Ledger "Ad"

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Saturday afternoon, on Hancock street, a Diamond Snake Ring. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to FRANK CRONIN, 48 Quincy avenue.
Jan 8. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Ten Experienced Machinists at once, for work on new automobile parts in our new shop at Norfolk Downs, fitted up with all modern improvements and tools. 54 hour time. Good pay. BOSTON GEAR WORKS. Apply by letter only. Jan. 11-3t

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot.
Jan 11. 6t

WANTED—A first-class Stone Carver. None but first-class men need apply. LONG & SAUNDERS, South Quincy.
Jan. 9. 6t

WANTED—Cook, Second, Chamber General and Office Girls. Ladies waiting all the time. Plenty of places. MISS FLYNN, City Employment Office 1522 Hancock street, Quincy Jan. 9-3t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street.
Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 79 Upland road, Quincy.
Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 15-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350 Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. 1ptf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

You Can Get a FREE LEDGER Of Tuesday, Jan. 9.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

The First Chapter "The Two Vanrevels" Appeared Tuesday.

Vol. 18. No. 11. QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Eight-Page Paper Tomorrow --- Social Realm a Feature

Cause of Headaches

You must look well after the condition of your liver and bowels. Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headaches, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia. Ayer's Pills are genuine liver pills.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

CLASS RECEPTION and DANCE,

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 10.

Tickets, Gent and Lady, 50 cts. Extra Lady, 25 cts.

NEW CLASS NOW FORMING.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 6. tf

ANNUAL MARK DOWN SALE.

Your Opportunity Has Come.

SUITS.

That Were	$8 50	$10 00	$12 00	$15 00	$18 00
NOW	5.98	7.98	8.98	11.98	15.00

OVERCOATS.

That Were	$6 50	$10 00	$12 00	$15 00	$20 00
NOW	5.00	7.98	8.98	11.98	16.50

NOW is the TIME. THIS is the PLACE.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 11. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

K. of C. Minstrels

Ladies and Gentlemen In the Circle At Music Hall

The first annual minstrel show of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, was given Thursday evening at Music hall. Both ladies and gentlemen were in the semi-circle and they furnished an entertainment of rare merit.

The attendance was very large. Every seat was taken and standing room was at a premium.

Dr. Daniel B. Reardon was the interlocutor. The funny end men were Walter Sturgis, Dinney Sweeney, Joe Daley, Tom Campbell, Lee Mason and Andy Dinegan.

Danny O'Connell was old Pickaninny and the entertainment was given under the directors of William T. McConarty.

In the circle were the following ladies and gentlemen:

Ladies,—Mrs. John O'Connell, Mrs. J. M. Bulger. Mary J. Dunne, Mary McConarty, Susie Pickering, Josephine T. Collagan, Angela McCarthy, Elizabeth M. Dunne, Josephine McCarthy, Genevieve W. White, Helen G. Pickering, Nettie Sweeney, Genevieve Tate, Ethel Blair, Christina Mischler, Mary B. Mullen, Mary Burns and Julia Roche.

Gentlemen,—D. J. Seward McCurdy, Peter Sullivan, James A. White, Edward Donovan, Michael Walsh, Ball Avery, Edward J. Sullivan, William H. Denehey, John Sweeney, Lawrence McGrath, Russell Sullivan, Edward Crosby Joseph Burns, Thomas Boyle, James D. Mullen and Farrell Kane.

The program opened with an overture by Cuff's orchestra followed by a chorus by the circle. Then came songs by Dennis Sweeney, S. H. Kirkpatrick, John and Jerry Coffey. Solos were rendered by Tom Campbell, Lee Nason, John Sweeney, Joe Daley, Dinny Sweeney, D. J. Steward McCurdy, Midy Dinegan, Walter Sturgis, Dan O'Connell and Dr. Reardon.

Between the numbers the end men kept the audience in a roar of laughter by their jokes. These were brimfull of local hits. The points were well taken, and the audience immediately caught on.

Part two included a song by Mary McConarty, xylophone solo by Gerald A. Sullivan, dialect song by S. H. Kirkpatrick, song and dance by Angela and Josephine McCarthy, and an aria by Edward J. Sullivan.

The entertainment closed with a farce entitled "The Doctor's Assistant." The characters in this farce were impersonated by Councilman William T. Donovan, Michael T. Walsh, Thomas R. Donovan and James Cantfill.

There was another number on the program, a double quartette, but owing to the lateness of the hour this was omitted. All of the solo numbers were encored which lengthened the entertainment until after 11 o'clock.

Violinist Goes on Strike

The regular meeting of the Pine Tree club was held Thursday evening. The usual program was varied somewhat at this meeting, by serving an old-fashioned New England supper in which friends of the club participated.

Supper was served continuously from 5.30 to 8 o'clock, over 300 partaking of the feast. The coffee was donated by Chase & Sanborn.

After supper an adjournment was made to Colonial hall, where the evening closed with a dance.

The only unpleasant feature was when a walking delegate of the Musicians' Union entered the hall, and stopped the violinist from playing, as the lady piano accompanist was not a member of Union. The music for the balance of the evening was furnished by the piano alone, and the dance went on just as outhgh nothing had happened.

School Boys Are Injured

In appearance with unpolished shoes. Teach them to use Army & Navy Friction Polish It's easy, clean and quick.

Henry H. Faxon Memorial Service

The temperance societies of the State have arranged for a Henry H. Faxon memorial service to be held on Thursday, Jan. 18, at 11 A. M. in Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple, Boston. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. John D. Long, Rev. Fr. Roche of Quincy, Rev. Daniel M. Wilson of Northfield, Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson of the W. C. T. U., and Rev. A. H. Plumb, D. D., of Roxbury.

Bitter Fight Must Be Waged

The directors of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence society met in Boston on Wednesday at 36 Bromfield street.

Hon. B. B. Johnson of Waltham stated that a forceful, bitter fight must be waged in the Legislature this year to sustain the present restrictive features of the liquor laws. He urged activity all along the line, large attendance of temperance advocates at the committee hearings and support in every way possible. He presented some of the recommendations adopted by the executive committee, one of which was to hold the usual banquet on Washington's Birthday, which the directors voted to do. A committee of five members was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

Dr. S. M. Stevens continued her talk on "Conscience in Trading." She said that District Attorney Moran proved to the satisfaction of every one that the hotels in Boston depend principally upon the liquor traffic for profit. A great many persons who did not go to the hotels for the liquor served patronized them for the luxury and better accommodations afforded because of the traffic. She spoke deploringly of the fact that the temperance people are not willing to support at least one hotel where liquor is not served. She was of the opinion that advocates of temperance should exercise great discrimination and not trade with grocers and other tradesmen who profit from the liquor traffic.

Midnight Cars.

The Citizens Association will use their influence to have a 12 o'clock midnight car leave Dudley street. They also have referred to the proper committee the matter of proper railroad stations throughout the city when the four tracks run through. With this change a station will be required on each side of the track, as the two center tracks will be used for express trains and a fence will be erected between. The Association will endeavor to have things done right and will confer with the proper officials before plans are completed.

The Eclipse.

The members of the Wollaston Yacht club were agreeably surprised at their meeting Thursday evening by the presentation of a large picture of the Eclipse, the winner of the Class A championship in 1905. The gift was from Councilman George F. Sawyer, the owner. Commodore Wiley immediately hung the picture in the club hall and it adds greatly to the appearance of the same.

Murder Charged

Trial of Samuelson for Killing Dominico

Samuel Samuelson, who is charged with the murder of Favoritti Dominico at Quincy on Jan. 1, was given a hearing this morning before Judge Avery in the district court.

District Attorney Asa P. French conducted the government case and Theodore Von Rosenince appeared for Samuelson.

The first witness was Guissippe Valapirco. He testified that the old man came to his house on the morning of Jan. 1, and said "You go to Quincy and get John's boy. John he burn last night and die." Went to the shack and saw the body. Then telephoned to police from Mr. Teasdale's house. The old man had been drinking.

Medical Examiner Jones was notified at 8.30 of the finding of the body. Went there with Inspector Bradley. The body was lying in front of Samuelson's shack on its back. Body was burned above the waist. The head was in a pool of blood, spatters of blood were on rocks near the body, ten feet greatest distance from body. Ten pound stone found 23 inches from the body. One side of stone was pointed. Three or four particles that might be hair were on the stone.

Dr. Jones described the clothing on the body and what parts of clothing had been burned. The head and body not covered with shirt were covered with burns of the third degree, that is burned to a crisp. Face black and covered with blood that came from wound. Hair was singed. Was snow on body. A cap was also found. The position of forearms showed arms were held in the air when burned. Was odor of kerosene from part of shirt taken from back of body. All the blood radiated from the head.

Dr. Jones described interior of shanty, including lamp with broken handle. Lamp was on a shelf, two feet from the ground. Two holes in lamp; one where handle had been broken off and one almost opposite. Handle of lamp was on ground. Chimney was intact on shelf. Saw no fragments of glass. Saw Samuelson about shanty. He was partially intoxicated. Samuelson said that he and Domminco had been drinking the night before; that the lamp exploded; that his clothes and Dommico's took fire; put out fire in his own clothing then pushed Domminco out of the door and threw water on him.

Dr. Jones told of finding spatters that resembled blood on Samuelson's clothing.

The wounds found at the autopsy were described by the witness. The first was just below the right eye, the second was a lacerated one from the middle of the right eyebrow, thence downward and penetrating the skull. The third was on the upper lip extending to the right cheek, penetrating the jaw bones. The bones of the nose and skull were fractured in many places. Wounds were evidently caused by blow with blunt instrument. The blood on the eyebrow protected it from being burned. The indications are that the injuries were received before the body had been burned.

The wounds and burning were both mortal. It was a race for death between the two. The body must have been dead a few hours before snow fell. There was no evidence of inhalation of flames.

Upon cross examination, Dr. Jones gave it as his opinion that the wounds were inflicted half an hour before the fire.

Redirect—Dr. Jones said the indications were that the man had been assaulted and then burned; that the wounds were not self inflicted.

Inspector Patrick J. Bradley testified to visiting the shacks on Jan. 1, and seeing the body of Dominico. He corroborated testimony of Dr. Jones as to finding the body, and the condition of things about the premises. On the corner of stone wall about the shanty were spots of blood four feet from ground, and four or five feet from the head of the body.

Samuelson said John and he were in shanty when lamp exploded, setting fire to John and the shanty. He put fire out in shanty; then pushed John out and threw water on him.

Inspector Bradley showed hammer handle found in shanty with spot of blood on it.

A recess was taken at 1 o'clock, and the trial was resumed at 2 o'clock.

LATEST.

The government concluded its case with the testimony of Inspector Bradley.

The defence offered no evidence.

The court then held Samuelson for the grand jury.

Flippant Critics Of Battleships

At the meeting of the Society of Foreign Wars in Philadelphia on Tuesday evening, says a dispatch to the Boston Transcript, Rear Admiral George W. Melville, responding to the toast, "The Navy of the United States," after a glowing tribute to the personnel of the service and its magnificent record for over a hundred years, warmly advocated reliance on heavy battleships for peace or war. He said:

Of course, like the different arms of the army, there are special uses for ships of nearly all classes in time of war—the armored cruiser, the protected cruiser, the scout ship, the destroyer and torpedo boat, even to submarine, to act as a "scarecrow" to the enemy's fleet. But the ship that is to stay in the battle line and give and take blows is the battleship with the heaviest guns and armor protection, though it measures up to 18,000, or even to 20,000 tons displacement. It is distressing at times to read in our public press the gratuitous opinion of persons in no way qualified to express an opinion on these most important matters.

Fortunately, our people are endowed with a scientific corps of marine engineers of all branches of the navy that are well equipped to design and build ships of all classes, and though our building program has been very rapid and very extensive during the last twenty years, I cannot recall even one ship that has been what flippant critics of our navy at times are apt to designate as a "total failure." These two words seem to fill the mouth of the critics so nicely, not too large, not too small, for them—but so misleading to the newspaper reading American people. I am happy to say that there has not been even one ship designed by the Navy Department that would come under that designation.

But let the cost of the navy be what it may, as long as nations, like men, are combative animals it is necessary that we should have efficient armies, and a navy to stand guard against the wolf nations of the earth. For you will find that nations, like men, are your nearest and dearest friends until their interest lies in another direction. Then the loving brother becomes the wolf. And, as a rule, a nation must be either a wolf or a sheep nation; and I believe we had better be the wolf, even though muzzled, and held in the leash, not for war so much as for the assurance of peace.

And then it will be, as it is now, and as it has been the history of our nation, but the simple truth to say:

That the American navy, in its material as in its personnel—ship for ship, ton for ton, man, for man, and gun for gun—the navy of the United States, has no superior on the face of the globe.

—The year 1904 was a great year for twins and triplets in Massachusetts, 1684 children being born of 840 mothers. Just a dozen of those were triplets. Barring the record of 1903, the number of offspring of plural births in 1904 was better than that of any of the previous 20 years.

—Hydrophobia, resulting from the bite of a pet dog six weeks ago, caused the death of Miss Julia Curtin, at Philadelphia, Tuesday. She was 21 years old.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

HANCOCK HALL,
MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 15,
CONCERT.
John and Mary McCay,
Brother and Sister both blind,
An evening of standard and popular vocal and instrumental music, Humorous songs, Impersonations true to life, Irish wit, etc.
Lengthy and varied program.
Admission reduced to 25 cents.
Jan. 9. 5t

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

MARKED DOWN SALE
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

TO George W. Wheelwright, Edmund M. Wheelwright, John T. Wheelwright, Elizabeth H. Thomson and Cheever Newhall, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk; Cora A. Frothingham, of Quincy, Susan C. Cobb, of Brookline, in the County of Norfolk; Dana I. McIntire, of Medford, in the County of Middlesex, all in said Commonwealth; Charles S. Wheelwright, of Bristol, in the State of Rhode Island; Gabella D. Thomson and Emeline B. Thomson, of Dover, in the State of New Hampshire, and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Harlow H. Rogers, of said Brookline, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land, situate in said Quincy, bounded: Northerly by land now or formerly of Cora A. Frothingham and land now or formerly of Dana I. McIntire, about 70.06 feet; easterly by land now or formerly of Hannah G. Wheelwright, about 144 feet; southerly by Appleton Street, about 70 feet; and westerly by other land now or formerly of said Wheelwright about 141.1 feet; being the parcel marked lot 56, area 9,978 square feet, on plan entitled, Plan showing land at Atlantic, Quincy, Mass., belonging to Harlow H. Rogers, dated December, 1905, by James Adam, C. E., and filed with said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court, to be held at Boston, in said County of Suffolk, on the twenty-second day of January, A. D. 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, LEONARD A. JONES, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-seventh day of December, in the year nineteen hundred and five.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
[SEAL] CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
Dec. 29. 3t--29-5-12

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

By means of journalistic hysterics the bad manners of a turbulent women in the lobby of the White House have been given an undue prominence. It makes little difference whether a woman is crazy or not, if she acts like a fool and will not leave when requested to do so, but if she rants and raves like Carrie Nation there is nothing left but to put her out, and the question of sex and good clothes have nothing to do with the case. Any householder can by calling on the police have an intruding violent, noisy woman removed or may put her out himself or have his servants do it, and there is no reason why the house of the President of United States should be an exception to the rule that a man's home is his castle.

Local Ins And Outs

The fourth quarterly conference will be held at the West Quincy M. E. church at the Sunday morning service.

Forty degree temperature at sunrise this morning; quite a change from Wednesday morning.

William E. Maybury of Braintree was elected on the executive board of the New England Water Works Association on Wednesday.

Mr. J. W. Lawford of the Student Volunteer Movement will speak at the Epworth League service at the Atlantic M. E. church, at 6 o'clock, Sunday evening.

A meeting of John Adams chapter Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, will be held Saturday afternoon, with Miss Louise Burleigh at Braintree.

The Alpha club will meet at the parsonage on Hall place on Monday evening. Mrs. William E. Alden of Quincy will speak on "Our National Parks."

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The New York World suggests as a new word in the language the verb "to Hendricks," meaning to scamp, to neglect, etc. Following out the idea, how would it do to coin the verb "to Denew," signifying to slump, to fall off, to take an inglorious tumble? —Chicago Tribune.

☞ The Jews of the world have been startled by the revival of the strangest and most daring prophecies in the literature of the race—that they will conquer Russia and found an empire of their own. Commenting upon this matter the Mexican Herald says that "prominent and cultivated Jews in Mexico City have acknowledged that there is a basis for these sensational revelations."—Lynn Item.

☞ Whether there should be taxes on savings banks may be discussed, but it should be discussed intelligently and free from humbug. The question is up again in New York and they are trotting out there the old and tired twaddle about a "tax on thrift." There can be no other kind of a tax. Idleness is not productive. A tax on idleness would yield nothing. To get the money, thrift must be taxed, and every tax that brings in a revenue is a tax on thrift.—Hartford Courant.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

—To any one who goes through eastern Massachusetts now and sees the millions of browntail moths' nests clinging to the trees, the work of destroying them before spring must seem a hopeless task.—Somerville Journal.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

WILLFUL NEGLECT

Charges Against Bay State Bank Commissioners

GOVERNOR CALLED UPON

District Attorney Moran Asks For Officials' Removal For Failing to Uncover Condition of Affairs in Provident Bank

Boston, Jan. 12.—As the result of an investigation by District Attorney Moran of the recent suspension of the Provident Securities and Banking company, the district attorney last night sent a letter to Governor Guild asking that the Massachusetts savings bank commissioners be removed.

In his letter Moran charges that the commissioners, J. O. Otis, F. B. Washburn and W. E. Locke (chairman), were grossly careless and wilfully negligent in connection with the affairs of the Provident company and many similar foreign banking institutions.

Mr. Moran states that the savings bank commissioners had full power under the law of 1902 to examine into the affairs of the company; that if they had done so they would have uncovered the condition of affairs that has been revealed by the suspension, and thus have prevented the closing, which has affected over 8000 depositors, the majority of whom are laboring men and women and children.

It was after an absence of nearly a week on account of sickness that Moran returned to his duties yesterday. He began at once a thorough investigation of the Provident bank suspension, calling first upon Colonel Sidney M. Hedges, formerly of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company of Boston, and formerly vice president of the Provident company, and questioned the latter regarding his connection with the banking company. Hedges however, upon advice of his counsel objected to the line of inquiry.

Chairman Locke of the commissioners was later a visitor at the office of the district attorney. He was questioned at considerable length.

Later in the afternoon Moran prepared a letter to Governor Guild and mailed it last night. The letter follows:

"By virtue of the provisions of chapter 113 of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, the members of the board of commissioners of savings banks are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of his council, and may in like manner be removed. For the purpose of causing the removal of the members I file the following charges:

"I charge that they have been grossly careless and wilfully negligent in the performance of their duties in regard to the Provident Securities and Banking company and many similar foreign banking corporations doing business, soliciting and receiving deposits as savings banks, although not using the term 'savings banks' in their business, but in every other way pursuing the methods and making use of such terms and of such pass books and rules as to deceive the public; that those methods and means were designedly and successfully used, the names of prominent and apparently reputable men being advertised as figureheads to lull the suspicions and quiet the fears of thousands of citizens, while reckless frauds and misappropriations were committed by those into whose possession fell the deposits amounting to over $100,000; that ordinary diligence, watchfulness and observation in the performance of their duties on the part of said commissioners, particularly after information as to metal banks and bogus dividends had been brought to their attention, would have resulted in public disclosure of the fraudulent methods of their corporations.

"Their wilful neglect to investigate these corporations have led the investing depositors to believe that these savings bank corporations were safe banks in which to deposit their savings; that by such inactivity and wilful neglect to perform their duties, said commissioners have caused them to lose the confidence of the public, therefore they should be removed from office."

Attorney J. T. Auerbach has been retained by Moran to prosecute the case.

About 175 depositors of the Provident company held a meeting at Tremont Temple last night to determine what action should be taken to safeguard their interests. A number of addresses were made and a committee was chosen to determine what action should be taken.

A set of resolutions, passed by unanimous vote, requested the governor to forward to the legislature a message suggesting legislation amending the statutes so as to make compulsory the supervision of the savings bank commissioners at stated times. The resolutions also provided that no foreign corporation should hereafter conduct a banking business in the state without depositing with the state treasurer a bond of not less than $200,000. Another clause of the resolutions requested that the governor cause an investigation to be made regarding the work of the savings bank commissioners and providing if that body has not done its work properly that it be removed from office and providing, further, that such relief may be effected as will prevent in the future a repetition of such a condition as has been brought about by the operations of the Provident Securities and Banking company.

POISONED AT LUNCH

Bride and Her Friends Are Now Patients in a Hospital

Providence, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Della Garrett, who was married yesterday in this city, and her friend, Mrs. Lizzie Bishop, are in the Rhode Island hospital as the result of ptomaine poisoning caused, it is believed, by the eating of canned beef at a luncheon which was partaken of by the bridal couple at Mrs. Bishop's rooms immediately after the marriage ceremony. Besides the two women their respective husbands were also affected by the food, though in a less degree.

Besides the meat the meal consisted of ice cream, bananas and oranges, and the party had not concluded eating when they were suddenly seized with sickness. Physicians who were called diagnosed the illness as acute gastritis and the women were taken to the hospital, where it is stated that their chances are good for recovery.

Subpœna Out For Bigelow

Washington, Jan. 12.—The senate committee on interoceanic canals has placed in the hands of Sergeant-at-Arms Ramsdell a subpœna for Poultney Bigelow, whose attack on the government of the canal zone and the management of canal affairs was denounced by Secretary Taft in a communication sent to congress by President Roosevelt. The committee's purpose is to let Bigelow substantiate his story, if possible, and, if that is not done, to remove the stigma placed upon the names of officials of the isthmian canal commission.

A Woman's Excessive Cruelty

Aledo, Ills., Jan. 12.—Upon evidence of having inflicted 200 wounds, Mrs. Mary L. McKinney, prominent society woman and church worker of Aledo, was found guilty of cruelty to Stella Grady, aged 15, whom Mrs. McKinney had adopted. Sentence was deferred. The plea of the defense was insanity. Testimony showed that Mrs. McKinney had repeatedly stabbed the child in the back with a fork and scissors.

False Prophet In Porto Rico

New York, Jan. 12.—A report of Manuel Paris, colporteur to the American Tract society, states that in Ponce, P. R., a false prophet has appeared. He commands people to follow him and to wear three crosses hanging from their necks so that satan may not carry them away. In this manner a great part of the country people follow him, something like 3000 having left their houses and their labor.

Insurance Company Wants Receiver

New York, Jan. 12.—Directors of the Empire Life Insurance company have filed a request in the supreme court that a receiver be appointed for the company in proceeding for its voluntary dissolution. Frederick W. Brower had obtained a judgment of $3000 against the company and Justice Davies held the application in abeyance until Brower's attorneys can be notified.

Jailbirds Improved Opportunity

Norfolk, Jan. 12.—Fire destroyed the Norfolk Storage and Peanut company's three-story cleaning establishment, adjoining the city jail, last night. One fireman is reported killed. All the prisoners were marched out of the jail and several escaped. The loss will reach $100,000. The militia was ordered out to guard the prisoners. Several persons were injured in the fire.

Important Decision Pending

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 12.—Judge Speer has taken under consideration the demurrer in special plea to "indictment number 371," under which Greene and Gaynor were extradited from Canada. If the opinion of the court proves favorable to the defendants it will dismiss "indictment No. 371" and have considerable bearing upon the three other indictments.

Guilty Conscience Relieved

Catskill, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Arthur Jeune, who confessed to a missionary that in June, 1900, he had fired his own house while temporarily insane and was not entitled to the insurance money paid him by an insurance company, has sent to the company a check for $1115, being the amount of insurance paid to Jeune. Jeune said he acted on the advice of the missionary.

Shot For Refusing to Marry

Washington, Jan. 12.—Because she refused to marry him, Amos A. Brown, a cab driver, 45 years old, shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Frederika Joachim, a widow, at her home, and shot Mamie Joachim, the woman's daughter, who interfered to aid her mother. The daughter's wound is not serious. Brown was arrested.

Caught After a Long Chase

Minneapolis, Jan. 12.—After a chase which extended from Quebec to the Dakotas, George E. Sisling of Nottingham, Eng., was arrested here, charged with forgery and embezzlement. The complainant is William Bagley, a lace manufacturer in Nottingham. Sisling is alleged to have fled from England in 1904 with his wife.

Digging Out Landslide Victims

Haverstraw, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Three more bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the 13 houses which were swept away in the landslide here last Monday night. Six bodies in all have been recovered and all have been identified.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Jan. 13.
Sun rises—7:12; sets—4:34.
Moon rises—7:58 p. m.
High water—12:45 a. m.; 1 p. m.

The weather will be generally fair, with temperatures near the seasonal average.

A New Hero of Mystery Stories!

MARTIN HEWITT

The World Has Been Awaiting the Successor of Sherlock Holmes—He is Here

Begin These Great Stories Next Sunday in the

Boston Sunday Post

Next Sunday's Story "The Loss of Sammy Crockett"

All Those Great Comic Features

Buster Brown
Bingville Bugle
Etc., Etc.

Roosevelt Bears
Mr. Baffles
Etc., Etc.

Mission Furniture

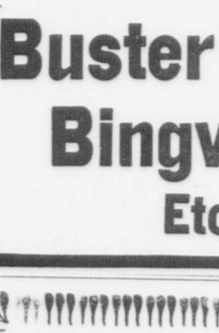

To the lovers of simplicity in house furnishing the Mission or Dutch furniture has much attraction.

PLAIN, SUBSTANTIAL, SIMPLE, COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE.

These five words convey a world of meaning.

This furniture is made of oak and is finished in a rich dark brown, it costs no more than ordinary oak, and with rugs and draperies of plain red o green it furnishes a room or den in a rich substantial manner unequalled by any other style of furniture. We have a choice selection at popular prices.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1439 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office.
1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Quincy, Jan. 1.
Tel Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace. lp-ly

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
— THE —
NEW YEAR
— WITH A —
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

GOLD MEDAL BELOW PAR!

It isn't often that you find "Gold Medal" Flour quoted below par—but for the next few days you may buy this best of all advertised brands for 72c. per bag—$5.70 per barrel.

The regular price, even in Boston, is 80c. per bag, $6.25 per barrel.

Take advantage of this splendid bargain before the week ends.

Also buy all your Meat, Vegetables, Fruit, Canned Goods, Crackers, Groceries and all kinds of table supplies at this best of all local stores.

We are not surpassed for high quality or low price, even by Boston stores. It pays to trade regularly here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street, Corner South Street, Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

The Hancock Hotel
Reopened under new management.
Thoroughly renovated; new, modern plumbing.
Newly Furnished throughout.
Good Beds. Good Table.
Steam Heat.
Good warm place to locate for the winter.
Moderate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
PROPRIETORS.
Quincy, Sept. 23. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT.
Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollara Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 3.

HOTEL GREENLEAF.
AN Attractive Hotel in a pleasant Boston suburb. Rooms thoroughly renovated. Dining Room strictly first class.
MRS. W. ROLLINS ABRAMS.
Quincy, Nov. 11. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

CONTINUED FROM LAST ISSUE.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

They were happy people who had not learned to be self conscious enough to fear doing a pretty thing openly without mocking themselves for it, and it was a brave circle they made about Betty Carewe, the charming faces of the women and their fine furbelows, handsome men and tall, all so gay, so cheerily smiling and yet so earnest in their welcome to her. No one was afraid to "let out" his voice; their song went full and strong over the waking town, and when it was finished the ball was over too.

The veranda and the path to the gate became like tropic gardens, the fair colors of the women's dresses, ballooning in the early breeze, making the place seem strewn with giant blossoms. They all went away at the same time, those in carriages calling farewells to each other and to the little processions departing on foot in different directions to homes near by. The sound of the voices and laughter drew away, slowly died out altogether, and the silence of the street was strange and unfamiliar to Betty. She went to the hedge and watched the musicians, who were the last to go, until they passed from sight—little black tollsome figures, carrying grotesque black boxes. While she could still see them it seemed to her that her ball was not quite over, and she wished to hold the least speck of it as long as she could, but when they had disappeared she faced the truth with a deep sigh. The long, glorious night was finished indeed.

What she needed now was another girl. The two would have gone to Betty's room and danced it all over again until noon, but she had only her father. She found him contentedly smoking a cigar upon the veranda, so she seated herself timidly, nevertheless with a hopeful glance at him, on the steps at his feet, and as she did so he looked down upon her with something more akin to geniality than anything she had ever seen in his eye before. They did not know each other very well, and she often doubted that they would ever become intimate. This morning, for the first time, she was conscious of a sense of warmth and gratitude toward him. The elaborate fashion in which he had introduced her to his friends made it appear possible that he liked her, for he had forgotten nothing, and to remember everything in this case was to be lavish, which has often the appearance of generosity.

Proposed the health of his young hostess.

And yet there had been a lack. Some small thing she had missed, though she was not entirely sure that she identified it. But the lack had not been in her father or in anything he had done. Then, too, there was something so unexpectedly human and pleasant in his not going to bed at once, but remaining to smoke on the veranda at this hour that she gave him credit for a little of her own excitement, innocently fancying that he also might feel the need of a companion with whom to talk over the brilliant passages of the night. And a moment ensued when she debated taking his hand. She was too soon glad that her intuition forbade the demonstration.

"It was all so beautiful, papa," she said timidly. "I have no way to tell you how I thank you."

"You may do that," he replied evenly, with no unkindness, with no kindness either, in the level of his tone, "by never dancing again more than twice with one man in one evening."

"I think I should much prefer not myself," she returned, lifting her head to face him gravely. "I believe if I cared to dance more than once with one I should like to dance all of them with him."

Mr. Carewe frowned. "I trust that you discovered none last night whom you wished to honor with your entire programme."

"No," she laughed, "not last night."

Her father tossed away his cigar abruptly. "Is it too much to hope," he inquired, "that when you discover a gentleman with whom you desire to waltz all night you will omit to mention the fact to him?"

There was a brief flash of her eye as she recalled her impulse to take his hand, but she immediately looked at him with such complete seriousness that he feared his irony had been thrown away.

"I'll remember not to mention it," she answered. "I'll tell him you told me not to."

"I think you may retire now," said Mr. Carewe sharply.

She rose from the steps, went to the door, then turned at the threshold. "Were all your friends here, papa?"

"Do you think that every ninny who gabbled in my house last night was my friend?" he said angrily. "There was one friend of mine, Mrs. Tanberry, who wasn't here because she is out of town, but I do not imagine that you are inquiring about women. You mean was every unmarried male idiot who could afford a swallowtailed coat and a clean pair of gloves cavorting about the place? Yes, miss, they were all here except two, and one of those is a fool, the other a knave."

"Can't I know the fool?" she asked eagerly.

"I rejoice to find them so rare in your experience!" he retorted. "This one is out of town, though I have no doubt you will see him sufficiently often when he returns. His name is Cralley Gray, and he is to marry Fanchon Bareaud—if he remembers!"

"And the knave?"

"Is one!" Carewe shut his teeth with a venomous snap, and his whole face reddened suddenly. "I'll mention this fellow once—now," he said, speaking each word with emphasis. "His name is Vanrevel. You see that gate, you see the line of my property there. The man himself as well as every other person in the town remembers well that the last time I spoke to him it was to tell him that if he ever set foot on ground of mine I'd shoot him down, and he knows, and they all know, I shall keep my word! Elsewhere I told him that for the sake of public peace I should ignore him. I do. You will see him everywhere, but it will not be difficult. No one will have the hardihood to present him to my daughter. The quarrel between us"— Mr. Carewe broke off for a moment, his hands clinching the arms of his chair, while he swallowed with difficulty, as though he choked upon some acrid bolus, and he was so strongly agitated by his own mention of his enemy that he controlled himself by a painful effort of his will. "The quarrel between us is political—and personal. You will remember."

"I shall remember," she answered in a rather frightened voice.

It was long before she fell asleep. "I alone must hover about the gates or steal into your garden like a thief," the incroyable had said. "The last time I spoke to him it was to tell him that if he ever set foot on ground of mine I'd shoot him down!" had been her father's declaration. And Mr. Carewe had spoken with the most undeniable air of meaning what he said. Yet she knew that the incroyable would come again.

Also, with hot cheeks pressed into her pillow, Miss Betty had identified the young man in the white hat, that dark person whose hand she had far too impetuously seized in both of hers. Aha! It was this gentleman who looked into people's eyes and stammered so sincerely over a pretty speech that you almost believed him; it was he who was to marry Fanchon Bareaud, "if he remembers!" No wonder Fanchon had been in such a hurry to get him away. "If he remembers!" Such was that young man's character, was it? Miss Carewe laughed aloud to her pillow, for was one to guess the reason also of his not having come to her ball? Had the poor man been commanded to be "out of town?"

Then, remembering the piquant and generous face of Fanchon, Betty clinched her fingers tightly and crushed the imp who had suggested the unworthy thought, crushed him to a wretched pulp and threw him out of the window. He immediately sneaked in by the back way, for, in spite of her victory, she still felt a little sorry for poor Fanchon.

(Continued in Next Issue.)

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

GOES TO CORONER

Report of Autopsy on Edwards Is Completed

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Most of Surgeons Who Assisted Medical Examiner, However, Said to Believe That Edwards Died by Acts of His Own Hand

New Haven, Jan. 12.—The report of the autopsy on the body of Charles A. Edwards, who died in a tragic way during the night of Jan. 2, at the Hiller homestead on College street, has been handed to Coroner Mix by Medical Examiner Bartlett. Its contents will be made a part of the coroner's report, upon which copyists are now at work. It is understood that a difference of opinion existed among the surgeons who assisted Dr. Bartlett in the autopsy as to the exact cause of death; that is, whether the bullet wound was sufficient to cause dissolution or whether the drug brought about that end.

As far as known the difference of opinion still exists, although it is further believed that all, or at least most of the surgeons, held an opinion that Edwards died by acts of his own. The report, however, is made by Bartlett, as he by law is the coroner's surgeon. The surgeons who were at the autopsy have not yet made public individual views of the case through professional courtesy, and they may not do so after the coroner's report is made public. For this reason it is not known upon what specific points a disagreement arose.

The coroner's report, it is thought, may make about 30 pages of matter, a task which is keeping copyists at work steadily, as Mix would like to turn the evidence and his finding over to the state attorney's office late today or Saturday.

There has been no new light thrown upon the tragedy, as the coroner declines to talk over the evidence at any length. The members of the Hiller family have given denials of interviews purporting to have come from them commenting on the preliminary finding of the coroner, Charles A. Hiller in particular saying that he has not discussed the case in any way.

After much uncertainty it has been established that there is a small safe in the Hiller homestead which has not been opened. Several attempts have been made to open the door by other than forcible means, owing to the absence of the key, but as the coroner has no desire to examine its contents the safe probably will not be opened until an administrator of the Hiller estate is named.

Trust Deed on McCall's Home

New York, Jan. 12.—John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, has given a trust deed on his home in Long Branch, N. J., to secure the $150,000 note which he gave the New York Life in part payment from moneys which had been advanced by the company to Andrew Hamilton and not yet returned by Hamilton. The total amount advanced to Hamilton and unaccounted for by him was $235,000.

Won't Bring In Religious Question

Rome, Jan. 12.—The Vatican, for the moment, has abandoned the idea of presenting to the Moroccan conference at Algeciras a proposition for religious liberty in Morocco. It fears a repetition of what happened in the Madrid conference of 1880, when a similar proposition was not approved because it was considered to be outside the business of the conference.

Detective's Vigilance Rewarded

Toronto, Jan. 12.—A dispatch from Kingston, Jam., announces the arrest there of Edwin St. George Banwell, the defaulting teller of the Crown bank, by Detective Black of the Toronto force, who traced the fugitive to St. Louis, thence to Savannah, Ga., Tampa and finally to Kingston. The dispatch states that most of the stolen money was recovered.

Great Fire In Steel Plant

Greenville, Pa., Jan. 12.—Fire, starting from an explosion, destroyed the works of the Carnegie Steel company here last night, entailing a loss of perhaps $600,000. Two men were seriously burned. A flue in the boiler of a heating furnace blew out, deluging the furnace below, which exploded, scattering fire in all directions.

Russian Loan Raised In Paris

Paris, Jan. 12.—The French bankers have definitely decided to make a short time advance of $50,000,000 to Russia at 5½ percent interest, plus 2 percent commission, the loan to be guaranteed by the Russian state railroads and to be reimbursed from the proceeds of the proposed new loan, should the latter be floated within a year.

Monster Petition For Clemency

Austin, Jan. 12.—Something over 100 petitions, each representing about 2000 names, will soon be forwarded from Texas asking executive clemency in the case of Albert T. Patrick, sentenced to death in New York for the murder of William M. Rice. Patrick formerly resided here.

Royal Marriage Ceremony

Madrid, Jan. 12.—The civil marriage of Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria and the Infanta Maria Teresa, sister of King Alfonso, was celebrated at 9 o'clock last night.

ROBBERS OF THE POOR

Many Retail Dealers In New York "Doctor" Their Scales

New York, Jan. 12.—Charges that the poor of New York receive as low as 10½ ounces for a pound from dishonest dealers, and that a great, well organized and systematic scheme of robbery by the use of fraudulent scales and weights is rampant everywhere that the very poor buy the bare necessities of life in small quantities, are made by Chief Derry of the bureau of weights and measures.

These charges are part of his annual report, which states that these frauds have spread among butchers, grocers, fish peddlers, poultry dealers, coal dealers and produce merchants. The charges are based upon the examination during the past year of over 50,000 scales and more than 136,000 weights. The report says:

"The people, attracted by the seemingly low prices charged by the robbers, give them their custom to such an extent that more honest dealers felt almost justification for imitating the dishonest dealers. Butchers in the retail trade as a rule use spring scales which present a dial upon which a moving hand indicates the weight of the object being sold. By removing the glass front and loosening a little screw, adjusting the hand a trifle, tightening the screw again and replacing the glass front, the butcher may rob hundreds of people out of an ounce or more in every pound."

In Congress

Washington, Jan. 12.—The senate listened to a speech by Mr. Hepburn in support of his bill creating a national board for the control of corporations in which he denounced Wall street because of its alleged interference with the affairs of the country. He said that when the "street" could not dictate the financial course of the government it was ever ready to threaten disaster, and he pleaded for legislation that would rob it of such power forever.

The Philippine tariff debate in the house consisted more of party maneuvering for advantageous campaign material than that of discussion of the tariff, which was the question at issue.

Flood of Orders From Germany

Washington, Jan. 12.—"Unless congress speedily grants the emergency appropriation of $135,000 requested by me for additional inspectors and microscopists, it is probable that over $50,000,000 worth of orders for American pork and beef products placed by German dealers will go unfilled." This statement was made by Secretary Wilson. Anticipating the high rates of duty on products emanating from the United States imposed by the new German tariff, which becomes effective March 1 next, Wilson said that German dealers have flooded the packing houses of this country with orders.

For More Pay and Shorter Hours

New York, Jan. 12.—Vice Grand Master Wilson of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen announces that he will at once place the demands of the Lackawanna railroad firemen before General Superintendent Clark of that system. The firemen want shorter hours of work and more pay and presented their demands to President Truesdale, who referred them to Clark.

Fire In World's Deepest Mine

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 12.—The Tamarack copper mine, the deepest in the world, is on fire, and three miners, it is thought, met death half a mile below the earth's surface. The mine contains several million feet of timber, largely pine, and unless the access of air has been shut off by sealing, the property may be damaged to a large extent.

Missionaries Seek Protection

London, Jan. 12.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post says that, owing to the anti-dynastic activity in the province of Hupeh, the missionaries there have applied to the British and American consuls for protection.

Joe Sibley to Leave Political Arena

Greenville, Pa., Jan. 12.—Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, in an open letter from Washington to his constituents, says all his political ambitions are gratified and he will never again ask for a political office.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Wentworth Maxfield, aged 67, for many years a prominent lumberman on the Penobscot, died at his home at Bangor, Me.

William Cunard, son of one of the founders of the Cunard line, died at London. He was a large stockholder and for many years a director in that company, having retired about five years ago in favor of his son, E. H. Cunard. He was 81 years old.

William Steinart, for many years identified with the piano business, died suddenly of heart failure at his home at Brookline, Mass. He was 44 years old and the third son of the founder of the firm of M. Steinart & Sons.

At a meeting of the Typothetae of Washington every member of the organization reaffirmed the decision to stay in the contest against the striking printers until the open shop is established.

The General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., has sent a check for $25,000 to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, to be applied to the fund for the erection of a building in New York.

The torpedo boat Vesuvius has been ordered to the Boston navy yard for repairs.

The Young Men's Christian association of Baltimore has decided to build, at a cost of $500,000, what it is intended shall be the finest central building in this country.

SEEKS TO BE FREED

Widely Known Crook Digs Up a Legal Technicality

Boston, Jan. 12.—Taking advantage of a legal technicality which, he believes, will result in his immediate freedom, William C. Woodward, known to the police of all nations as Big Hawley and one of the world's most notorious criminals, has filed in the United States district court a petition for habeas corpus. Woodward is now an inmate of the Massachusetts state prison.

When Woodward was sentenced he had been convicted on four out of 10 indictments charging use of the mails in a scheme to defraud in a so-called green goods game. On three of the indictments he was given sentences of 18 months each and on the fourth a sentence of six months. Having served the three 18-month sentences he now petitions for his release on the ground that a sentence of six months cannot be served in the state prison on account of the law which provides that the minimum sentence on which a convicted man can be sent to state prison is one year.

Woodward has been arrested 37 times. He is 42 years old and is said to have made more than $1,000,000 through fraud and crime. He is a native of Memphis and is the son of a former justice of the state supreme court. He is highly educated, speaking many languages fluently.

An Eight-Hour-Day Discussion

Boston, Jan. 12.—The first annual meeting of the Civic Federation of New England was held here last night and for several hours the question of the eight-hour day was discussed by representatives of the employers, of the wage earners and of the public. Between the views of the first two there were numerous differences, but they were expressed in a spirit of amity, and on many of the leading points there was perfect unanimity of opinion.

Naval Apprentices Quarantined

Newport, R. I., Jan. 12.—Six deaths from spotted fever have occurred among the draft of 350 naval apprentices who were brought to the training station here last November and there are now two serious cases of the disease, while three other boys are less seriously sick. Quarantine regulations have been extended to all the 1600 apprentices, partly on account of the spotted fever and partly because of the prevalence of scarlet fever in Newport.

Paper Mill Workers to Organize

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 12.—Fifty delegates from various organizations of pulp, sulphite and paper mill workers of this country and Canada have assembled here for the purpose of opening a convention of their trade. The local unions formerly were affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, but withdrew. Now it is proposed to form an international organization to include most of the workmen of this trade in the United States and Canada.

Gave $10,000 For Home Rule Fight

Boston, Jan. 12.—Enthusiasm and practical sympathy, as shown in the furnishing of the "sinews of war," marked a mass meeting held in Faneuil hall last night to sustain the Irish National party and aid in forcing home rule at the coming general election in England. It was estimated that about $10,000 was subscribed at the meeting. Men prominent in church and state were present and joined in the movement for home rule for Ireland.

Maloney Returns to Asylum

Rockland, Me., Jan. 12.—John C. Maloney, who was indicted by the grand jury for manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Annie Bishop during a quarrel, has been recommitted to the insane hospital to await the April session of the supreme court on account of his inability to find his father, who is wanted as the state's principal witness.

Workmen Unearth Skeleton

Greenwich, Conn., Jan. 12.—While excavating for a barn on the property of W. H. Bogart of this place, workmen unearthed, a foot below the surface of the ground, a well-preserved human skeleton, apparently that of a woman. Whether it is that of an Indian or a person of some other race is a matter of speculation.

Youths Confess Safe Robbery

Providence, Jan. 12.—Oscar Sears, 19 years old, and Cecil Gavaza, 19, both of Boston, were arrested as suspects by local detectives last evening and later confessed that three weeks ago they robbed a safe at the residence of J. J. McNamara of Boston and secured $400. They will be turned over to Boston detectives.

Mother and Sons Convicted

New Haven, Jan. 12.—The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of simple assault against Mrs. Anna Bachman and her two sons, John and William Krux, who were charged with assault with intent to kill on Frederick Bachman, husband of Mrs. Bachman. Sentence was deferred.

A Sausage Maker's Admission

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 12.—Charles Mueller of this city was found guilty of using boric acid in the manufacture of sausage and was bound over to the superior court. He acknowledges his guilt, stating that a preservative which he used contained the harmful acid.

Protection of Sea Travelers

Washington, Jan. 12.—The senate committee on commerce has ordered a favorable report on a bill prohibiting any steamer carrying passengers leaving any port unless she shall have in her service a full complement of licensed officers and able seamen to the number of one-half the crew.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r 5 14 abcdefghi		5 42	*5 50 ihgfedcba		6 19 r
r 6 13 abc		6 33	*6 27 cba		6 46 r
r 6 43 abc		7 03	6 57 cba		7 19
r 7 13 abc		7 33	7 27 cba		7 49 r
r 7 23 ad		7 42	8 27 cba		8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27 cba		9 49 r
r 7 43 abc		8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 09
r 7 54 abcde		8 15	10 27 cba		10 49 r
r 8 13 abc		8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27 cba		11 49 r
r 8 46 abcd		9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27 cba		12 49 r
r 9 13 abc		9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57 cba		1 19 r
r 10 13 abc		10 33	1 27 cba		1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57 cba		2 19
r 11 13 abc		11 33	2 27 cba		2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13 abc		12 33	3 27 cba		3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13 abc		1 33	4 12 a		4 31
r 1 43 abc		2 03	4 27 cba		4 49 r
r 2 13 abc		2 33	4 50 cdcba		5 11 r
r 3 13 abc		3 33	5 15 a		5 34
r 3 43 abc		4 03	5 19 dcba		5 41 r
r 4 13 abc		4 33	5 27 cba		5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45 dba		6 07 r
r 5 13 abc		5 33	5 46 ihgfedcba		6 15
r 5 29 abcdefghi		5 57	5 57 cba		6 19 r
r 6 13 abc		6 33	6 15 dba		6 37 r
r 6 43 abc		7 03	6 27 cba		6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57 fedcba		7 23 r
r 7 13 abc		7 33	7 27 cba		7 49 r
r 8 08 abcdef		8 32	8 24 ihgfedcba		8 53 r
r 9 13 abc		9 33	9 27 cba		9 49 r
r 10 08 abcdef		10 32	10 27 fedcba		10 53 r
r 11 13 abc		11 33	10 50 ihgfedcba		11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27 cba		11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43 abc		8 03	6 24 ihgfdcba		6 52 r
r 8 43 abc		9 03	8 57 cba		9 19 r
r 9 13 abc		9 33	10 16 ihgfedcba		10 45 r
9 33 a		9 51	12 27 cba		12 49 r
			1 16 ihgfedcba		1 45 r
r 11 16 abcdefghi		11 44	2 16 ihgfedcba		2 45 r
r 1 13 abc		1 33	3 16 ihgfedcba		3 45 r
r 3 00 abc		3 20	4 27 cba		4 49 r
r 4 16 abcdefghi		4 44	5 27 cba		5 49
r 5 13 abc		5 33	6 16 ihgfedcba		6 45 r
			6 57 cba		7 19 r
r 6 16 abcdefghi		6 44	8 24 ihgfedcba		8 53 r
r 7 08 abcdefghi		7 35	8 43 Exp.		9 00
r 8 08 abcdefghi		8 35	9 27 ihgfedcba		9 56 r
r 10 25 abc		10 45	10 27 cba		10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate where trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 11.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.27 3.21 4.21 5.21 6 21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.50, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 18 8
Sunday,	34	40	50	35	43
Monday,	27	41	32	33	46
Tuesday,	26	35	36	35	40
Wednesday,	24	34	45	32	38
Thursday,	29	58	30	42	38
Friday,	55	44	38	27	45
Saturday,	—	43	32	26	54

New Advertisements Today.

Lost—Lady's Gold Watch.

The City In Brief

Monday Evening—Annual Hospital meeting.

Several skaters took advantage of the good skating on Sailors' Home lake this week.

Those who missed the first chapter of "The Two Vanrevels," the Daily Ledger's new story, can obtain a free copy of the paper on application at the Daily Ledger office.

The prize winners at the weekly whist party held by Mrs. Porterfield were: Mrs. J. Poland, Mrs. Denton, Mrs. E. Higgs, Mrs. W. Pratt, Mrs. J. Robertson, Mrs. Driscoll, Mrs. J. Langhorne and Mrs. Davidson.

The Wollaston Alliance held an all day sewing meeting at the home of Mrs. E. J. Cummings, of Winthrop avenue, Wednesday. Work was done on articles for the fair which the Alliance is planning to hold on the 22d of February.

John J. Kemp, of Newcomb street, passed away early this morning, after a long illness. He was 83 years old and retired from business some years ago. He joined Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows at their institution in 1884, and they were attentive during his illness.

Gas Company Stirred to Action

The Citizens Gas Co. of the city filed a petition with the Gas and Electric Light Commission on Thursday, for permission to increase its capital stock from $33,000 to $333,000, for the purpose of rebuilding its plant.

Evidently the Gas Company has at last been stirred to action by the movements to organize new companies and public opinion. A hearing will be necessary before the State Commission grant the petition, and it is probable that there will be objection to the same.

"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."

One lady says she has seen the above so many times that she is constantly thinking about them. It is said each chapter will keep the readers guessing.

—The Cohasset Yacht club elected Charles H. Cousens as commodore.

DIED.

POLLARD—In Omaha, Neb., suddenly, Jan. 7, Fannie Gertrude Badger, wife of Dr. C. W. Pollard, and youngest daughter of Erastus B. Badger of Boston.

KEMP—In Quincy, Jan. 12, Mr. John J. Kemp of 31 Newcomb street, aged 83 years.

LEWIS—In Westboro, Jan. 11, Mr. Frederick Lewis of 8 Berlin street, Quincy, aged 70 years and 4 months.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

FIRM IS INSOLVENT

Conclusion of the Denison and Prior Investigators

SUICIDE HELD A SECRET

Refused to Give Statement of Facts When It Became Known That Firm Had Been Using Spurious Certificates

Cleveland, Jan. 12.—The bankers' committee which is investigating the affairs of the banking and brokerage firm of Denison, Prior & Co., which closed its doors following the suicide of L. W. Prior on Tuesday, made the following authorized statement:

"The examination of the books of the firm has not yet proceeded far enough to make any complete statement possible. Enough has been learned, however, to warrant the committee in stating that it is forced to believe that the firm of Denison, Prior & Co. is insolvent, but to what extent we cannot as yet say. We are also convinced that a number of municipal bonds have been forged, but to what amount we are unable to determine."

The bankers' committee gave no intimation whatever as to the amount or value of the forged municipal bonds, or where they were placed, or how used. It is understood, however, that they were largely used in connection with extensive deals on the New York stock exchange.

The fact that the firm had been using spurious securities was made known several days before Prior committed suicide. A statement of facts was demanded from Prior, but it was refused point-blank. Prior refused to give one word of information and, without a tremor, it is said, told those who enquired that if they persisted he would take the secret where no power could wrest it from him. The discovery of the spurious securities was made by Cleveland men last week and was promptly put before Prior Monday, when he returned from New York.

Among the former patrons of the firm the belief is growing that practically the entire list of available assets has disappeared and that nothing will remain of the once flourishing business save the large debts due the patrons. The equities in the collateral loans, the seats owned at the various stock exchanges and other things may swell the assets somewhat, but the traders stand to suffer very serious losses, according to the present outlook.

Boston Office Is Closed

Boston, Jan. 12.—No complaints have reached the police authorities that forged municipal bonds have come into the possession of persons in this district. The Boston office of Denison, Prior & Co. has been closed since Wednesday for business, and C. W. Denison, a member of the firm, is supposed to be in Cleveland in connection with the failure of his company. The company did a large business in New England in the sale of municipal bonds. Denison had charge of the Boston office and spent most of his time here.

Probably Convicted of Hazing

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 12.—There is good reason for the belief that Midshipmen Foster and Marzoni have been found guilty of hazing. The record in each of these cases is awaiting the action of the secretary of the navy. This is considered to be equivalent to saying that a verdict of guilty was rendered. Both of the midshipmen belong to the first class and would have graduated on Feb. 12.

Present of Loaded Revolver

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 12.—John G. Carlisle, grandson of former Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, received a present of a revolver from his grandfather at New York. Carlisle opened the package and was examining the weapon when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered the abdomen near the left hip, struck the bone and lodged beneath the skin. The wound is serious.

Anxious to Work on Isthmus

Kingston, Jam., Jan. 12.—Four hundred men sailed from Kingston yesterday afternoon on the steamer Tagus for Colon to seek employment in the canal zone. Each deposited $6.25 with the treasury under the emigrants' protection law. Upwards of 1500 persons have left here for the isthmus since Jan. 1.

Wrestlers Well Matched

St. John, Jan. 12.—In one of the best wrestling matches seen here, Eugene Hardy and Napoleon Contant struggled last night without either securing a fall. At the end of two hours' work, there being no fall, it was decided to continue half an hour longer, but the decision of a draw had finally to be given.

Failure of Brokerage Firm

New York, Jan. 12.—The stock brokerage firm of H. H. Hoyt & Co. has closed its doors, a petition in bankruptcy having been filed against it. The firm has been a member of the Consolidated Exchange for five years. It is said by employes that the liabilities will reach $50,000.

Legislation Against Bucket Shops

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 12.—The house of representatives has passed a bill prohibiting the operation of bucket shops in South Carolina. There was no debate on the measure. All such shops are declared to be gambling places.

Science of Life By Mrs. Craigie

The Providence Journal, reporting a lecture given by Mrs. Craigie, otherwise known as John Oliver Hobbes, in that city on Wednesday evening, states that the occasion was an open meeting of the Catholic Woman's Club and that the Trocadero, a well known hall in Providence, was taxed to the utmost of its capacity by a very distinguished gathering, including the Bishop, many of the clergy, and many other Providence people.

The Providence Journal goes on to state that "The Science of Life" was the subject of an exceedingly clever, thoughtful address—the sort of an address that one might expect from the well known author, but not at all what one would look for who gave only a passing glance at the fascinating little woman who knows well not only how to make her audience laugh, but also how to laugh with them. With a charming personality, good voice and a deal of magnetism, she held the closest attention of her audience throughout the entire address.

"I'm not going to say what I think," she began; "that would be arrogance, but I am going to try to consider life from the standpoint of three eminent men whose lives and experiences are widely different — St. Ignatius, the founder of the Jesuits: John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, and Count Tolstoi, the social reformer of today."

The speaker noted the desire for luxuries, that work to procure them is crowding out the thought of immortality and the preparation for it which occupied the mind of the first of these three men whose varied career was traced, showing how the afflictions which came to him gave him the sympathy for others who sorrowed, and resulted in his arriving at conclusions far in advance of his age, or as Mrs. Craigie put it, "He anticipated many of the theories that we like to call new," adding with the naivete which is a marked characteristic. "He knew humanity too well to confound digestion with conscience. He believed in the devil as few nowadays seem to believe in themselves. Especially emphatic were the lessons he strove to teach that the strong should be more forbearing and weak less helpless."

In similar vein was traced the life of Wesley, the difference between the High and Low Church at that time, with the influence exerted upon the life of this man, who showed the same intense love of humanity as marked St. Ignatius and whose motto was "Seek the good points of those about you rather than spy out their feelings." Scathing indeed was Mrs. Craigie's assertion. "The most awful argument against Christianity is the conduct and spirit of some Christians."

In taking up Tolstoi, "the greatest figure in Europe today," the speaker said she made no attempt to give anything new. She only suggested points of thought about this man, who, noble, soldier and reformer, had had exceptional opportunities to become disgusted with life and men. But, if Tolstoi had thought in his youth what he preaches now he would have failed to accomplish the work which has made his name known far and wide.

In considering some of Tolstoi's books the speaker showed that many of the things that were written for Russians and in that land "the evils that he beheld with prophetic eye have even now come to pass. He foresaw it all. He foretold it all, and he is sore because his countrymen fail to read the signs of the times."

From the lives of all, widely differing as they did, was deduced the value of contentment and the wrong done the young by those who try to suppress their imagination. "As well suppress sunsets by an act of Parliament as to suppress the imagination," was Mrs. Craigie's theory. "Do justice to your brother and you will come to love him, for if you are just to him you will understand him."

Mrs. Craigie is a niece of Mrs. John L. Eldridge of this city and a cousin of Paul R. Blackmur, the ex-City Solicitor. When a child she attended the Washington school at Quincy Point, and has many friends and relatives in the city.

Local Dramatics At Wollaston

"Box and Cox" and "Poor Pillicoddy" were finely given in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry Thursday evening, before a large and appreciative audience. The cast for the former was:

John Box,—a journeyman printer, Mr. Schumacher
James Cox,—a journeyman hatter, Mr. Arnold
Mrs. Bouncer,—the landlady, Miss Fay

The parts in "Poor Pillicoddy" were taken as follows:

Mr. Pillicoddy,	Mr. Loring
Capt. O'Scuttle,	Mr. Weston
Mrs. Pillicoddy,	Miss Hubbard
Mrs. O'Scuttle,	Miss Parker
Sarah Blunt,	Miss White

Another Free Theatre

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

Get the complete series of these beautiful theatres, in handsome colors, on good cardboard. They will delight and instruct the children; easy to cut out and adjust. In the Boston Sunday Globe.

N. B.

There is Only One Way to be sure of a copy of the Boston Sunday Globe—Order your newsdealer to deliver it REGULARLY at your door.

William J. Bryan

ON HIS TOUR OF THE WORLD

will write for the Boston Sunday Globe the most interesting and significant series of travel letters ever published in any newspaper. "Bryan in the Hawaiian Islands" in next Sunday's Boston Globe.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.
Address, B. W. FRENCH,
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Administrators' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers have been duly appointed Administrators of the estate of

ELIZABETH S. G. NIGHTINGALE,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, intestate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

(Address) LEWIS BASS, Junior,
JAMES L. EDWARDS,
Administrators.
Quincy, Mass., Dec. 27, 1905. 3t-29, 5, 12

A STORY OF THE CARNIVAL

[Original.]

There are people who love gloom and people who are only happy in sunshine. I am one of the latter kind. I detest winter; summer is my delight. This is often the case with those who are ideal, imaginative, impressionable. To escape the cold season of 189— I went to Nice and took rooms in a hotel looking out on the quay, decorated with tropical plants, and the Mediterranean beyond. Going to a window to take in the pleasant view, I noticed a name that had been scratched on the pane with a diamond.

I have said that I am of an impressionable nature, but this does not explain satisfactorily the effect this name, Marguerite, had upon me. Besides the curiosity natural to any one under the circumstances as to who Marguerite might be, I felt some mysterious linking of her personality with mine.

I remained in Nice for the carnival. When the streets were full of merrymakers I sallied forth to mingle with the fun. I walked back and forth, jostled by the crowd, for an hour and was about to return to my hotel when I met two girls sandwiched between two men. My attention was called to them by receiving a handful of confetti—bits of paper the size of snowflakes and somewhat resembling them—thrown in my face by one of the girls. Her eyes scintillated with mischief. A few seconds was the period we looked at each other; then I was again confronted with the crowd in which I had no interest. I walked the street till the last merrymaker had left it, hoping to see her again, but was doomed to disappointment.

I went to sleep thinking of the pretty face of the girl who had covered me with confetti and the next morning awoke to see the laughing eyes looking into mine, and, to my surprise, they did not fade away with time.

I spent the coming summer at Paris. Whoever has been there in the month of June will not be likely to forget the gay throngs, the sparkle of sunshine, the young leaves in the Champs d'Elysees, the universal brightness. While reading my paper one morning at breakfast I came upon an article at variance with all this liveliness. It was an account of the case of Mme. Thurier, who had married an old man for family reasons, who had been brutally treated by him and a few weeks after her marriage had been accused by him of infidelity. It suited his purpose to get rid of her, and he hired people to swear to facts that were untrue. By her adroitness she exposed the plot and got a counter divorce. I was much interested in the case, especially in the ingenious methods by which the lady proved her innocence and exposed her husband's villainy. The article stated that she was much broken down by her trying experience.

A year later I was in Paris again. One night at the opera my friend Jean Chapporal between the acts told me that he wished to present me to his cousin. I was about to leave to keep an engagement and suggested taking another opportunity. "I have no right to say so," he said, "but she will be disappointed." This was enough, and I went with him to his cousin's box.

"Mlle. Martel, I have the"—

I heard no more. There before me, a vision of loveliness in silk and lace, was the girl who had covered me with confetti. She had noticed me sitting in the parquet and had seen her cousin speak to me; hence the introduction. The only change I noticed in her was that her face lacked the roundness I had noticed when I had first seen it, and there was something in it to remind me of a fair landscape on which the sun is shining, but over which a storm has recently crossed.

"I will leave you for a few minutes," said Chapporal, "with Mme. Thurier. I mean"— He retired in confusion.

An expression of pain came over the lady's face.

"Do not think," she said, "that I am sailing under false colors. Everybody knows that I am Mme. Thurier, though I pass under my maiden name."

She was about to explain further when I spared her the pain of doing so by telling her that I knew her story.

What she said to me and I to her during those few minutes that I was left alone with her I have no remembrance. I was wholly taken up with a great joy that I had found the girl of whom I had been dreaming since the carnival. Just before the curtain rose Chapporal returned, and I arose to leave.

"My cousin," said the lady, "will show you the way to our house. Won't you, Jean?"

"Certainly, Marguerite."

I started.

"What's the matter now?" exclaimed Chapporal. "Have I blundered again?"

"Mademoiselle," I said, "were you ever at Nice before the season during which I saw you there?"

"Yes; several times."

"Did you stay at any time at the Hotel ——?"

"I did."

"Did you write your name with a diamond ring on the window pane?"

"Oh, I was only fifteen when I did that."

The orchestra began to play, and I left the box.

That all happened years ago. Since then I have been following Marguerite wherever she goes. She will not marry me so long as her husband lives, but he is a very old man and feeble, and I have just heard a rumor that he has fallen over a precipice in the Alps and broken his neck.

The report is true.

JOHN V. TUCKER.

MILTON.

John Sprague, the gateman at the Adams street crossing at East Milton, who has been in the hospital for three months undergoing an operation, has returned to his duties.

Oliver Jones has gone to New Brunswick to study mechanical engineering at a college.

Mrs. James Parks is confined to her home by illness.

Bates and Harriman, two Wollaston men, have bought out E. J. Tinker's grocery business.

The fire department was called out Sunday for a fire in the house of Mr. Finnie on Washington street. The fire started from hot ashes near a lot of rubbish. It made considerable smoke and although it worked up into the street floor it was extinguished with but a small loss.

Norman Petre has accepted a position as telegrapher in a Chicago office.

The East Milton barber shop has been fitted with a bath room.

A pleasing entertainment was given at the Thursday evening club meeting this week.

THE CALM BAD MAN.

He Is More Dangerous Than the One Who Blusters.

The bad man of genuine sort rarely looked the part assigned to him in the popular imagination. The long haired blusterer, adorned with a dialect that never was spoken, serves very well in eastern fiction about the west, but that is not the real thing. The most dangerous man was apt to be quiet and smooth spoken. When an antagonist blustered and threatened, the most dangerous bad man only felt rising in his own soul, keen and stern, that strange exultation which often comes with combat for the man naturally brave. A western officer of established reputation once said to me while speaking of a personal difficulty into which he had been forced: "I hadn't been in anything of that sort for years, and I wished I was out of it. Then I said to myself, 'Is it true that you are getting old and have lost your nerve?' Then all at once the old feeling came over me, and I was just like I used to be. I felt calm and happy, and I laughed after that. I jerked my gun and shoved it into his stomach. He put up his hands and apologized. 'I will give you a hundred dollars now,' he said, 'if you will tell me where you got that gun.' I suppose I was a trifle quick for him."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Roof Dogs of New York.

There are dogs in New York that never set foot on the street. They belong to the janitors in the downtown buildings, and their runways consist of the roofs of the buildings in which their owners live and adjoining roofs on the same level. That is a rare day when the office worker on looking out of the sixteenth story window does not see half a dozen dogs romping about upon the roofs beneath him. There is one advantage at least in being a roof dog—the dog catcher has no terrors for him.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 30-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station
New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Between Farrington street, Wollaston, and Doble's corner, South Quincy, a Lady's Gold Watch. Will the finder please notify H. W. SPRAGUE, 222 Safford street, Wollaston. Jan. 12-2t-p-1w

LOST—Saturday afternoon, on Hancock street, a Diamond Snake Ring. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to FRANK CRONIN, 48 Quincy avenue.
Jan 8. 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Ten Experienced Machinists at once, for work on new automobile parts in our new shop at Norfolk Downs, fitted up with all modern improvements and tools. 54 hour time. Good pay. BOSTON GEAR WORKS. Apply by letter only. Jan. 11-3t

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot.
Jan. 11. 6t

WANTED—A first-class Stone Carver. None but first-class men need apply. LONG & SAUNDERS, South Quincy.
Jan. 9. 6t

WANTED—Cook, Second, Chamber General and Office Girls. Ladies waiting all the time. Plenty of places. MISS FLYNN, City Employment Office, 1522 Hancock street, Quincy Jan. 9-3t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street.
Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 79 Upland road, Quincy.
Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.
F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street.
Quincy, Nov. 24. 1ptf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to
GEO. W. PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office.

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Vol. 18. No. 12. QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S

Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS

WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

Mission Furniture

To the lovers of simplicity in house furnishing the Mission or Dutch furniture has much attraction.

PLAIN, SUBSTANTIAL, SIMPLE, COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE.

These five words convey a world of meaning.

This furniture is made of oak and is finished in a rich dark brown, it costs no more than ordinary oak, and with rugs and draperies of plain red o green it furnishes a room or den in a rich substantial manner unequalled by any other style of furniture. We have a choice selection at popular prices.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

The Best of Job Printing at This Office.

E. M. FREEMAN,

653 Washington Street, Corner South Street,

QUINCY POINT.

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages.

FOR SALE.

BOARDING HOUSE BUSINESS. near Fore River Plant. Furnishings of eighteen (18) rooms with good will of well established business.

To Let.

No. 42—One Half Double House. WEYMOUTH LANDING. Seven (7) rooms and bath. Hot water heat, good cellar and attic. Fruit trees and garden. $18 per month.

For Sale.

No. 1—$3,000.

All the year round DELIGHTFUL HOME. Near salt water at North Weymouth. 7 Rooms and Bath, Electric Lights. All modern—on line of electrics.

TO LET.

No. 149—Two Rooms for Light Housekeeping. NEAR POINT BRIDGE.

For Sale.

HOUSE LOTS

Riverside Lawn, (Formerly Federhen Estate.) Lots from 6c. to 12c. foot. This is a tract of the best land offered for sale at Quincy Point. Easy payments or discount for CASH.

FOR SALE.

For $2,300 and $2,600 I can offer you Two very Desirable Homes, near Hose House, QUINCY POINT.

TO LET.

No. 153—House, seven (7) Rooms and Bath. Modern conveniences, electric lights, etc. $25 per month. QUINCY POINT.

TO LET.

No. 154—House, eight (8) Rooms and Bath. Steam heat electric lights. All modern. $40 per month. WASHINGTON ST., QUINCY. Let only to private family.

FOR SALE.

No. 156—House, nine (9) rooms. Hot water heat—modern. 6,000 feet land—ELM STREET. Price $4,200.

☞ I have a good list of desirable properties and some of the best land that has been placed on the market for years

☞ A lady said to me yesterday "I felt quite calm a few days ago, when the building opposite me was in flames, on account of the insurance you placed for me recently."

☞ If you are without insurance—secure it without delay of E. M. F.

☞ Have you a farm for sale—productive or unproductive—in size from three to ten acres, not over four or five miles from Quincy? It must be very reasonable in price. I have a customer looking for a hen farm.

☞ Are you going away, and wish to store your furniture, tool chests, trunks, or valuables? I have accommodations for storage goods—and will quote you a reasonable rate.

E. M. FREEMAN.

The Social Realm.

The riches that are given
To him who has not learned
The value of the treasure
That by long toil is earned
Are likely to be squandered
As if each penny burned
The love that is untroubled,
That claims no sacrifice,
Is soon worn out or squandered;
From glory to advice
We treasure that the longest
Which costs the greatest price —S. E. Kiser

* * *

Gov. Guild is to inaugurate a new feature. At the Washington's birthday reception at the State house he will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Guild, his charming wife. He also has announced three other receptions to be held at hotel Somerset when he and Mrs. Guild will receive. The first on afternoon of Jan. 25 to the members of the legislature, the heads of state departments, the executive council, members of the bench, representatives of the federal gonernment and their wives. The second to members of city and town governments, including mayors, members of board of aldermen, councilmen of cities and selectmen of towns and their wifes, and the third on Jan. 29 to officers of the U. S. army and navy stationed here, officers of the Massachusetts volunteer milita, both active and retired; commanders of various military organizations who have served in time of war, and their wives.

* * *

The engagement is announced of Miss Nettie Ripley, oldest daughter of Mr. Ebed Ripley, to Mr. John T. Hollis, all of Hingham.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Madison Mott Cannon of Spear street, are receiving congratulations, a daughter being born to them on Sunday, January the seventh. The little one has been named Evelyn Townsend.

* * *

Miss Ethel F. Babcock designed by special order the place cards used at the dinner given this week by Mr. and Mrs. George Crocker of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, in honor of Governor Guild and his associates.

* * *

Miss Sophia French is to leave about the middle of the month for California where she is to be the guest of relatives. She stops over en route for visits and will be away several months.

A number of foremen of the Fore River ship-yard accompanied by their wives, pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Scouler of Madison avenue, last evening. The hours were most agreeably passed with songs, graphophone selections, etc. During the evening a bountiful collation was served. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gibb, Mr. and Mrs. Haupt, Mr. and Mrs. Merriam, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Baurles, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Morse of Bay State road, Boston, formerly of Milton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Godfrey, to Mr. Carleton Cushing Lane, son of Mrs. Cushing Lane of Goffe street, this city.

* * *

The Unitarians in Boston and vicinity are holding a series of Wednesday afternoon teas at the rooms of the American Unitarian Association on Beacon street. Among the pourers last week were Mrs. John D. Long and Mrs. Francis H. Lincoln of Hingham. These informal gatherings are proving delightful to Unitarian ministers, their families and friends, promoting additional good fellowship.

* * *

Miss Carrie Underwood has returned from a week's end visit to friends in Methuen.

* * *

The Social club committee of First church has secured a great drawing card for their entertainment in the chapel next Friday evening in J. E. Stutson, and E. P. James. Mr. Stutson is know to many by the good work he has done each year in the Cadet plays, and Mr. James is considered the best amateur sleight-of-hand performer in the country.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Faxon have gone over to New York for a few days.

* * *

Mrs. Marion MacBride so well known in Quincy for her writings and club work is unusually busy just now. On Wednesday she read her interesting paper on Paul Revere at a meeting of the Abigal Smith Chapter D. R. of Weymouth, at the home of Miss S. A. Robbins. Thursday she was a guest of Mrs. Wellington at the meeting of the Daughters of Massachusetts at the Vendome, Boston, and on Friday spoke on Pure Food at open meeting of Mass. W. C. T. U.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Thomas of Pawtucket, R. I., are visiting Mrs. Annie F. Thomas, of 267 Granite street.

* * *

The Boston reception to Mrs. Craigie of London is to be given under the auspices of the N. E. Woman's Press association, on Friday afternoon Jan. 26th from three to six at hotel Vendome. Besides the reception it is understood Mrs. Craigie will give a short talk. Prominent club members are to assist at the tables.

* * *

Feb. 20, is the date looked forward to by the Philergians when Prof. Griggs will address them.

* * *

Among those who are assisting in making the annual assembly at Quincy Music hall, on January 26th a success are Messrs. William I. Dewson, Henry R. Holden, Eaton Pierce, Fred B. Rice, C. A. Howland, Jr., D. King, Arthur Sibley, Jr., M. T. Swallow, D. E. Wadsworth, Dr. Munroe and Joseph G. Morrison, who are to usher.

* * *

Mrs. Alden A. Thorndike's drawing room was well filled Thursday afternoon for Mr. Charles Gibsen's initial reading of his published and unpublished works, the latter in the form of love sonnets. All who have read his "Among French Inns" were pleased to be brought closer in touch through the author. The Thorndikes are passing an enjoyable winter at their town house on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, but anticipate an early return to Braintree in the spring.

Quincy An Exception

Census Shows More Males Than Females Not So in State

There are 768 more males than females in Quincy, this city being an exception, as Gloucester is the only other city in Massachusetts where males predominate.

In the 33 cities, there is an excess of 66,023 females.

In Norfolk county the females outnumber the males by 8,815, and they lead in all counties except Franklin and Plymouth, and there the male majority is small.

In Massachusetts there are 1,542,291 females and 1,461,589 males, a total of 3,003,680, and an excess of 80,502 females. By the census of 1895, the excess of females was 70,781, so that in ten years they have made a net gain of 9,721.

Only a Stove That Smoked

Someone passing through Temple street at 9 o'clock this morning saw smoke coming from the upper rooms of the Adams building. Thinking that a fire was in progress he turned in an alarm from Box 26. For some reason but one round sounded on the First church bell. The alarm came in all right, however, on the whistle and other bells.

When the firemen entered entrance "A" they found the corridors full of smoke, which was traced to the upper rooms and to a stove in one of the tenements.

It seems that a fire been started in a stove filled with old papers, and the northeast wind had caused it to smoke, filling that part of the building with it.

The Evolution Of Melody

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Unity club was held last evening in the Unitarian vestry. In the absence of the president, Mr. F. W. Plummer called the meeting to order. After reading the records, Mrs. Martha Crane introduced the speaker, Mr. Bertram C. Henry. Mr. Henry's subject was "The Evolution of Melody." He said that it is a common idea that music is wholly the product of inspiration, but this is not so. There is design in music as in art. Mr. Henry described the music of the ancients and traced its evolution to the present day, rendering as illustration several beautiful piano selections, one of which was his own composition.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Mr. Henry for a most interesting and instructive lecture.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

HANCOCK HALL,

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 15,

CONCERT.

John and Mary McCay,

Brother and Sister both blind,

An evening of standard and popular vocal and instrumental music, Humorous songs, Impersonations true to life, Irish wit, etc.

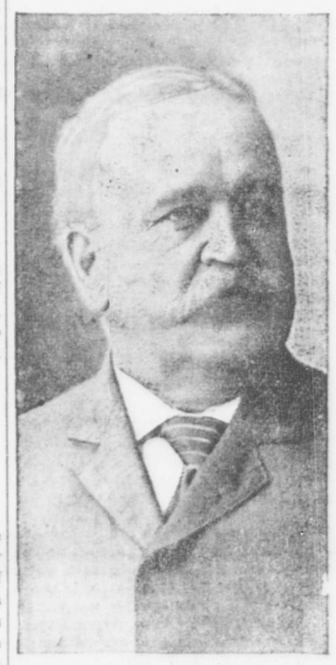

Lengthy and varied program.

Admission reduced to 25 cents.

Jan. 9. 5t

Ex-Gov. Long As Chairman

The program for the Henry H. Faxon memorial service, to be given in Boston next Thursday morning, is more elaborate than at first announced. The committee of arrangements are: Hon. Byron B. Johnson of Waltham, Mr. Robert H. Magwood of Dorchester and Rev. Samuel H. Davis of Boston. They have secured as chairman of the meeting, Hon. John D. Long of Hingham, the ex-Governor and ex-Secretary of the Navy. Rev. Edward A. Horton of

HON. JOHN D. LONG.
Photo by J. E. Purdy & Co., Boston, Copyright, 1897.

Boston will be chaplain, and good music may be expected from the Albion Quartette.

The committee on resolutions are: Hon. James S. Allen of Brockton, Rev. Alfred Noon of Everett and Hon. Frederick Fosdick of Fitchburg.

The service will be public and all friends of the late Henry Hardwick Faxon are invited. The program will be:

Report of committee of arrangements.
Resolutions.
Quartette—"He who is Upright" Fleming
Prayer—Rev. Edward A. Horton.
Address—John D. Long, LL. D.
Quartette—"Eternal Goodness," Bartlett
(Words by Whittier.)
Address—Rev. Fa. A. F. Roche, of St. Marys, Quincy.
"Early days of service with Mr. Faxon."
Address—Rev. Daniel M. Wilson, of Northfield, Former pastor and fellow worker for Quincy.
Quartette—"The Homeland," Sullivan
Address—Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson, W. C. T. U.
"The voice of the women of Massachusetts"
Address—Rev. A. H. Plumb, D. D., of Roxbury.
Quartette—"Sunset and Evening Star," Macy

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Your Best Sunday Shop!

Sunday is coming and you want a fitting dinner for this weekly rest day. What you want—if you want the best and most moderately priced food supplies—is here.

SPECIAL VALUES for SATURDAY.

Fancy Roasting Chickens,	18c
Prime First Cut Rib Roasts,	12 to 15c
Fresh Pork,	12 1-2c
Spinach,	18c. pk
Boston Market Celery,	18c
Lettuce,	8c
Navel Oranges, sweet,	23c. doz
Nabisco,	8c. pkg
Saltines,	2 lbs. 25c
Canned Apples, 3 lb. can,	10c

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257 and 263 Water St., Quincy Adams.

Telephone 367-3.

Jan. 13. 1t

STORMY SESSIONS

Conference on Morocco May Meet Many Snags

POLICING OF THE EMPIRE

Views of Germany and France In Regard to the Matter Cannot Be Reconciled--French Contentions Strongly Backed

London, Jan. 13.—The published interviews with German diplomats, in which they say that Germany is going to the conference at Algeciras with peaceful intentions, have greatly relieved the anxiety of the business and other sections of the community.

They have, however, made no impression on the diplomats and other officials of Great Britain, who, while they still believe that in the end the majority of the powers will uphold the French contentions, expect some stormy sessions of the conference and anticipate the possibility of the withdrawal of Germany.

In official circles it is considered that the views of France and Germany with regard to the policing of Morocco cannot be reconciled. Germany, they believe, will certainly hold to her agreement to give France control of the frontier police, but will insist on international control of the interior gendarmerie, which France maintains should be left to her. France will contend for this point almost as strongly as she will her claim to control the frontier guards.

Great Britain will support the contention of France for the control of the interior gendarmerie as well as all other French contentions. It is believed here that Spain and Italy will take the same stand, as it is not thought that any of the powers except Germany will desire to send troops to Morocco. The powers are prepared, it is understood, to depend on France for the protection of the interests of foreigners in Morocco.

No great difficulties are anticipated with regard to financial and other reforms, as the views of Germany and France on these points are not widely divergent.

Young Corbett Knocked Out

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—Aurelio Herrera last night knocked out Young Corbett in the fifth round of a fight here. Herrera's victory was an easy one. Corbett lacked the vim and dash that had won so many battles for him. The fight came near ending in the first round, when Herrera caught Corbett on the jaw with left and right in quick succession and sent him staggering against the ropes, but over-anxiety to land the finishing blow caused him to swing wildly, and Corbett quickly gathered his wits and stalled off defeat.

To Strike For a Single Day

St. Petersburg, Jan. 13.—The Workmen's council, after consultation with the leaders of the other proletariat organizations, has decided the celebration of the anniversary of "Red Sunday" shall take the form of a general pacific strike for a single day. Delegates were appointed to go abroad for the purpose of thanking the workers of those countries who propose to join in a general observance of the anniversary.

Schooner a Total Wreck

Digby, N. S., Jan. 13.—Schooner Shafner Brothers, after pounding many hours in Gull Rock bar, where she grounded, floated off, only to be driven ashore on Green island, where she lies a total wreck. The crew of the vessel, who remained on board during a perilous night, were taken off. The vessel had been in the service between provincial ports and New England and New York for many years.

Chinese Commissioners Arrive

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—Steamer Siberia has arrived from the Orient, having on board the imperial Chinese commissioners, Tuan Fang and Tai Hung Tzen, with their suites, 62 persons in all. They have come to study the political and social institutions of the United States and Europe and this government has received them in a most kindly spirit.

Effort to Advance Cleanliness

Havana, Jan. 13.—The authority of the sanitary department has been greatly extended by the gazetting of a presidential decree for the enforcement of complete sanitary ordinances. Under the decree the department can inflict penalties for refusal or failure to improve unsanitary conditions, once notification has been given.

Murderers to Die by Shooting

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 13.—The supreme court of Mexico has declined to grant a stay of execution in the case of the three Americans, Mastoa, Richardson and Hart, recently sentenced to be shot for murdering people to secure life insurance.

Railway Mail Statistics

Washington, Jan. 13.—The annual report of the general superintendent of railway mail service for the fiscal year 1905 shows the total number of miles of service by railroad, electric, cable and steamboat lines to have been 376,584,071.

Printers Accept Open Shop

Montreal, Jan. 13.—The strike of the printers in the news department of The Gazette ended last night when the men returned to work without conditions, accepting the open shop principle.

PRIOR'S FORGERIES

Probably Amount to Several Hundred Thousand Dollars

Cleveland, Jan. 13.—The following verdict was rendered by Coroner Siegelstein in connection with the suicide of L. W. Prior:

"L. W. Prior came to his death from a gunshot wound in the head, which fractured the skull, and which was self-inflicted with suicidal intent."

The committee in charge of the investigation of the affairs of Denison, Prior & Co. met yesterday afternoon and after the meeting announced that the facts disclosed justified them in stating that it is their belief that forgeries to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars exist.

The procedure which Prior adopted was the same, or practically so, in every case. Prior deposited the fictitious securities as collateral. The banks took them without question. Fifty northern Ohio banks may suffer through the alleged bond forging operations of Prior. A member of the bankers' committee in charge of the firm's affairs says that he knew of several such institutions and would not be surprised if their number reached half a hundred.

American Lives Threatened

Cincinnati, Jan. 13.—At a meeting of the directors of the Transvaal Copper company here it was decided to appeal to the United States government to protect the lives of the employes of the company and its property from the ravages of Yaqui Indians in Sonora, Mex. The Indians dash from the mountains every now and then. Until recently they have confined their killings to Mexicans and Spaniards, but within the last few months they have been proceeding against Americans, who they now also regard as intruders.

No Union Men For Mates

Detroit, Jan. 13.—The Lake Carriers' association has adopted a resolution instructing all masters of boats enrolled in the association not to employ any mate next season who is a member of or affiliated with any labor organization. It is stated that the association is not looking for trouble with the mates, but merely adopted the resolution to carry out the policy of not having its executive officers owe allegiance to an organization.

No More Free Passes

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—The attention of a prominent official of the Pennsylvania railroad having been called to a dispatch stating that the company would recede from its attitude on the pass question he declared that the order absolutely abolishing all forms of free transportation and free tickets, except to railroad officials and employes, is being carried out to the letter and that it will be enforced permanently.

Jews Must Obey Sunday Law

St. Paul, Jan. 13.—An opinion of the municipal court of Minneapolis, holding that the Sunday closing law is equally applicable to Jew and Gentile, was upheld by the Minnesota supreme court. M. A. Weiss, a Jew, who was convicted of selling groceries on Sunday, contrary to the Sunday closing law, asserted that this law is unconstitutional, being prejudicial to the Hebraic religion.

New Move by Beavers

Washington, Jan. 13.—In the criminal court, G. W. Beavers, indicted jointly with G. E. Green and W. D. Doremus for conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with postoffice contracts, withdrew his plea of not guilty and filed a demurrer to the indictment. Green and Doremus filed pleas in abatement to the indictment.

Atmosphere Cleared by McCall

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—State Superintendent of Insurance Vandiver says that his suit to oust the New York Life Insurance company from doing business in Missouri will probably be rescinded as a result of the retirement of President McCall and the restoration of the $235,000 given to Attorney Hamilton for legal services.

Steamer Fast Aground

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 13.—Steamer Cherokee, from San Domingo for New York, is fast aground near South Brigantine lifesaving station. According to the lifesaving crew, there is little possibility of the vessel being floated at high water. There was a panic among the passengers.

Congregational Church Needs

New York, Jan. 13.—Although more than $200,000 was expended by the Congregational Church Building society during the past year, recommendation is made in the society's annual report that the denomination at once expend not less than $500,000 in church and parsonage building.

Cigarmakers' Strike Is Off

Key West, Fla., Jan. 13.—The International Cigarmakers' union has declared off the strike of the Key West cigarmakers and work in the factories will be resumed at once. The strike has been on nearly two months and during that time all the factories in the city have been closed up.

Three Seamen Went Overboard

Bordeaux, Jan. 13.—Steamer Fricka, from New York, reports that she encountered very heavy weather. During a gale the seas washed overboard 129 barrels of petroleum, drowned three of the crew and injured one sailor.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Jan. 14.
Sun rises—7:12; sets—4:35.
Moon rises—9:05 p. m.
High water—1:30 a. m.; 2 p. m.

Rain is indicated for New England. Moderate temperatures will continue for several days.

WHAT WAS IN A NAME?

...By...
Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1905, by P. C. Eastment

Maurandia might have been happy but for her name. She liked it in full, as she liked all fine, high sounding things. But when it was shortened handily to Randy she loathed it, and, do what she would, it was Randy, nothing else, in everybody's mouth.

Now, since names are entities no less than people, she had to live down to Randy, be plump and merry and useful instead of languishing as Maurandia, lily slender and sad. She wished sometimes that her mother never had read catalogues, at least not until after her daughter was christened. Then she reflected that, except for the catalogues, she might have had to go through life as Jerusha or Jemima or even Tabitha, her mother having been of the adventurous temperament that quite scouts familiar, homely appellations, such as Mary, Martha, Jane and Ellen.

Superficially it might have appeared that Randy's troubles were her beaus. It was hard on any girl to find herself compelled to choose between chances so excellent as Johnny Gunn and Peter Logan. But Randy's heart chose readily enough, if only its choice had satisfied her ear. Johnny, to whom the treacherous heart inclined, meant going through life as Randy Gunn. If she could but bring herself to take Peter, who was enterprising enough to think and talk of Texas, she might fit herself to a new environment with the stately cognomen of Mrs. Maurandia Logan.

Therefore the first setting forth was clearly accurate. Randy herself never would have thought of disputing it. Names, names alone, had given her the name of coquette and made half the women roundabout call her selfish and a monopolist. She might take Johnny and leave Peter, they thought, or vice versa. It was enough to upset any mother with daughters to see two such excellent husbands going all to waste.

Johnny and Peter did not grumble overmuch. They were the best friends in the world and likely to remain so, no matter which of them won. Indeed, one of Randy's most potent charms for them was her camaraderie. She made an excellent third in whatever they undertook. But after three years of sedulous courtship they agreed that they owed it to the mind of the neighborhood to pin Randy down to some sort of agreement. So the two lovers prinked themselves duly and went to her arm in arm, telling her she must make a choice.

RANDY, THUS BROUGHT TO BOOK, BLUSHED FOR ALMOST THE FIRST TIME.

Randy, thus brought to book, blushed for almost the first time, hung her head, shut her eyes and put her hands tightly behind her; then, opening her eyes with the twinkle scared out of them by the look on the two faces, she put out a hand, something wavering and uncertain, to Peter. He took it between both his own, while Johnny, after a smothered "God bless you both!" walked away.

Wooing, wedding and repenting may be, as says Master Shakespeare, a measure, a Scotch jig and a cinque pace, but Randy found repenting to dance on the heels of her wooing. She had hardly given her word to Peter irrevocably before she was crying inly for Johnny—Johnny, whom she loved better than her life. But how say so when she had had open chance and choice? He would be bound to despise her, no less than Peter. Moreover, even if he took her it would not be with whole hearted faith. It would be torture to live with him, knowing he did not trust her. So Randy laughed through the days and cried most of the nights that spun themselves out swiftly toward her wedding day.

The day dawned at last, as fresh and bright a morning as any bride could desire. Randy had not slept. She got up a bundle of quivering nerves, but somehow she took herself in hand so well that by the time she was dressed and ready to start to church the keenest critic would have seen nothing amiss.

It was to be a church wedding, partly to please her mother, partly also to accommodate her enemies. The house would not have held them comfortably, and Randy wanted to give them the dissatisfaction of seeing how well she carried herself to the altar after all her chopping and changing. Johnny also had pulled himself together. He was to be best man. The bridal party was to meet in the church porch and go thence to the altar by separate aisles.

Johnny meant to be the very first, but fate, preventing, delayed him so he was not only last, but late. Thus he came upon a fine tableau—Randy, very white and faint, her bridal wreath all ragged and stained, leaning heavily upon Peter's shoulder and hiding her eyes with her left hand; the right lay limp and purple across her lap.

There had been almost a fatal accident. The horses drawing the bride's carriage had run away and smashed it against the stone pillar of the porch entrance. Randy had been picked up senseless. Luckily Peter was there to look out for her, since her father was too much shaken to do more than get his breath. She had come to quickly enough, spoken just a word, then fallen back again unconscious.

But when Johnny appeared on the scene she was so much herself she was trying to smile down her pain and say: "I don't look very nice, but hadn't we better get it over, Peter? It would be too bad to disappoint everybody. There ought to be a wedding at least, as it turns out there can't be a funeral."

She got the words out with a ghost of her old spirit, but Peter felt her shudder as she spoke. Peter was almost as white as she. He had, further, a strange look. Johnny leaned solicitously down to him, saying in his ear: "Let me take you both home, old man. You—you're not fit to make yourselves a spectacle."

Peter did not answer. The strange look deepened. Very tenderly he put Randy in other hands—plenty of kind and tender ones were eagerly stretched toward her—then got up, saying, "Wait a minute honey." He laid his arm over Johnny's shoulder and strode off out of earshot.

"We've been better than brothers, Johnny," he said, pausing at last under the shade of a big roadside oak. "Now you must stand up to me, not considering yourself at all."

"I will," Johnny answered, gripping Peter's hand hard. After a gulp Peter went on: "You have got to decide something, something I can't decide for myself. It is which of us shall marry the girl back there. One or the other must do it, and do it right off."

"What do you mean? Are you crazy?" Johnny cried, recoiling a step.

Peter sighed. "I wish I could think so or wake and find it a dream," he said. "But it's no dream, Johnny. I had Randy in my arms when she came to herself. She looked up at me and said"—

"What?" Johnny asked breathlessly as Peter paused.

"'Johnny.' That was all," Peter answered. "But it told me a heap I'd been suspecting all along. She's engaged to me. She'll marry me and do her duty if I choose to take her. I ain't afraid she'd ever fail me. But I am afraid I'll fail myself, because I know."

"You couldn't Peter. It ain't in you not to do the right thing," Johnny said eagerly. "You'd be so good to her she'd be bound to love you best after—after a little while."

"You've answered me, Johnny," Peter said, looking over his friend's head. "I am bound to do right when I see the right. Now, we'll go back and take poor Randy home. I'll tell the crowd the wedding is put off for two weeks."

It came off duly, but with Johnny as the bridegroom. That made a great talk, of course, but nobody minded very much. For Johnny found out all of a sudden that Texas was a fine place and went there along with Peter, who did not die of heartbreak, but came back next season and married Melinda, Randy's young sister.

Graduated Mourning.

The foremost man in a north of England village died. A lady on her way to the house of mourning paused at the door of one of the villagers to ask, "Your husband is going to the funeral, I suppose?" "Well, ma'am, it's very sad, ain't it?" was the reply. "We does feel it terrible." The lady acknowledged that the occasion was a most grievous one, but repeated, "Is your husband going to the funeral?" The woman replied with caution, "He's been axed." "Well, then, I suppose he will be going." The cottager assumed a confidential tone as she asked in turn, "Do you know if he's supposed to go as a mourner or a bearer?" "Why, as a bearer, of course," was the answer of the astonished lady. "Ah, well, he'll be going then. You see, if he goes as a bearer he gets half a crown; if he goes as a mourner he gets nowt. Them pigsties of ourn mun be done cleaned out, an' he worn't a-goin' as a mourner."—St. James Gazette.

Birds With Lamps.

"As we rowed softly in the still, cold night," said a nature student, "we saw a number of faint blurs of light along the shore. They were like fairy lamps that had been swathed in some pale sort of gauze.

"'What on earth can they be?' I asked.

"'Them's kingfishers,' said my guide. 'Them's kingfishers a-fishin'.'

"'But the lights?'

"'The lights is the phosphorescence on the birds' breasts,' said the old hunter. 'In the soft down on a kingfisher's breast there is a phosphorescence that glows in the dark. The bird is aware of this here natural light o' hisn, and he uses it. He stands on the edge o' the stream, the same as them fellers there, puttin' his breast to the water, an' the faint light draws the fish to him, consumed with curiosity, an' he has no difficulty in pickin' up a square meal for himself an' family."

Mortgagee's Sale.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Wallace C. Sprague to the City Trust Company dated July 24, 1902, and recorded with Plymouth Deeds, Book 549, Page 339, Norfolk Deeds, Book 927, Page 273 and Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 2,9 2 Page 303, for breach of the condition of said mortgage deed, will be sold at public auction at the Real Estate Exchange, 4 Liberty Square in Boston in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on TUESDAY the thirtieth day of January, 1906, at twelve o'clock noon, so much of the property conveyed by said mortgage as now remains subject thereto, namely:

A certain lot of land situated on the North side of Auburn Street in Whitman in the County of Plymouth and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, containing 8 acres 150 rods, more or less and bounded as follows:—Beginning at the center of the center abutment of the bridge near the ice houses; thence running north six rods and fifteen links to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence south 89 degrees 30 minutes east six rods and two links to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence north two degrees west fifty rods and fifteen links to a stake at land formerly of Wilhem H. Dudley; thence north 86 degrees west by land formerly of said William H. Dudley twenty-seven rods and seven links to a stake at land formerly of Joseph Reed, but later of William Glover; thence south 3 degrees west thirty-five rods; thence south no degrees 35 minutes east sixteen rods and eighteen links by said Glover's land to Auburn Street; thence south 75 degrees 30 minutes east eleven rods and five links to said land formerly of said William H. Dudley; thence north five rods to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence easterly by said land formerly of said William H. Dudley; fourteen rods to the north end of the first course above mentioned.

Also a certain lot of land situated in said Whitman lying on the northerly side of Auburn Street and bounded and described as follows:—Beginning at the south west corner of the lot at the middle pier of the bridge that spans the stream near what is known as the "Dudley Ice-House;" thence running northerly by the middle of the stream and in the easterly line of land formerly of said William H. Dudley, one hundred and six feet to a point marked by a stake north of Dam and to other land formerly of said Mary F. Dudley; thence easterly by land of said Mary F. Dudley (being the land above described), one hundred feet to a stone monument at land now or formerly of Wilmot V. Everson; thence southerly by said land of said Everson one hundred eighteen and three quarters feet to said Auburn Street; thence running westerly by said Auburn Street sixty five feet to the point of beginning;

Also a certain lot of land situated on the north side of Auburn Street, in said Whitman containing 80 rods, and bounded as follows, to wit: Beginning on said street at the south easterly corner of the premises; thence northerly six rods and fifteen links; thence westerly thirteen rods and twenty links; thence southerly five rods to said street; thence easterly by said street thirteen rods and twenty links to the point of beginning; together with the dam, formerly used in connection with said premises, and the stone and other materials used in the construction of said dam, if any there be now remaining on the premises of land formerly of Lebbens Smith, and later of Wilmot V. Everson, and the right to enter in and upon the premises of said Everson at all times, to repair or rebuild said dam. Also the right to flow the premises of said Everson to such height as the said grantees may desire from the first of November in each year to the tenth of April in the succeeding year. Also a right and privilege to flow and cover with water at all times hereafter forever all land now or formerly of William H. Dudley, situated in said Whitman, and above the water stop and dam above referred to, so far as the same may be flowed and covered by water by said dam, as now constructed; also any and all other rights of flowage, running with said privilege.

A certain lot of land in said Whitman lying on the northerly side of Auburn Street that is known as lot No. 80 on plan No. 2 drawn and surveyed by J. C. Torrey, Civ. Eng. May 1892, and recorded with Plymouth Deeds Blank Book 1, page 137; and bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at the north east corner of May and Auburn Streets, and running easterly in the northerly line of Auburn Street, ninety-seven feet to the land formerly of Bradford French; thence northerly in the westerly line of the Bradford French land two hundred twelve and one half feet, more or less, to the south east corner of lot 81, as laid out on said map; thence westerly thirty-four feet, in the southerly line of lot 81 to May Street; thence southerly in the easterly line of said May Street one hundred eighty-four feet to the point of beginning, it being a part of the same premises conveyed to Wilmot V. Everson by Samuel R. Smith, December 12, 1890. The deed of which was recorded with Plymouth Deeds Book 618, page 219.

A certain tract or parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in the village of North Hanson, in Hanson in said County of Plymouth, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a corner of land now or formerly of the F. P. Howland heirs, at head of lane, so called, and running south 64 degrees 38 minutes W. six hundred and ten feet to the channel of the mill pond; thence by said channel up stream about five hundred feet to a point in range of the old stone wall; thence N 29 degrees 9 minutes E. by said wall about fifty feet to a fence; thence by said fence south, five hundred and twenty-five feet; thence east to a point in range of west line of said lane and seventy feet from point of beginning; thence in a southerly direction seventy feet to the point of beginning. Said tract contains 4 acres of land, more or less, with an ice house and its equipments which are all hereby conveyed together with the use of the land above referred to, subject nevertheless, to the usual repairs abutting the above described premises, and their proportionate part from the point of beginning, above described, to the highway.

A certain parcel of land containing four and one-half acres more or less, situated north of Washington Street in said Hanson, and bounded as follows:

Beginning at the northeast corner of the land conveyed to Borden and Lantz by deed dated Feb. 20, 1896; thence westerly by said land four hundred and four feet to a stone wall; thence northerly by said wall, five hundred feet to a wall at right angles, being the southerly line of a former wood lot of Frank Bourne; thence easterly by said wall four hundred and sixty feet to a point eighteen feet from the bounds of the land now or formerly of Joseph White thence southerly by a line parallel to and eighteen feet from the westerly line of the land of Joseph White, to the point of beginning, being part of the premises conveyed from Frank Bourne by deed dated, August 22, 1894. The right of way between the above described lot and the land of Joseph White, grantee, to have the use of, but to keep open and in good passable condition.

All that certain lot, piece or parcel, together with the ice houses and the other buildings and improvements thereon, said premises being on the northerly side of Granite Street in Abington in said County of Plymouth, and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at the south easterly corner of the premises on Granite Street, at a stake at the corner of premises of the late N. O. Holbrook; thence running westerly by said street nine rods to the south easterly corner of premises now or late of D. Y. Soper; thence northerly by said Soper's land ten rods to the northeasterly corner thereof; thence westerly along the northerly side of said Soper land to the north westerly corner thereof; thence westerly to the thread of the mill stream, so called, in said pond; thence northerly to the thread of the stream running westerly through said pond; thence easterly till it intersects a line of the northerly range of the westerly line of the house lot of the late N. O. Holbrook; thence southerly in range of the westerly line of the said Holbrook lot to north westerly corner of said lot; thence southerly along the westerly side of said lot to the point or place above mentioned. Part of the aforementioned premises are subject to a perpetual right of flowage.

A certain lot or parcel of land with the ice houses and other buildings and improvements thereon, situated in Quincy and Braintree, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at a post and stones on the southerly side of Wendall Road, near and north east from the ice house of Adelaide E. White, and running thence southerly by a wire fence, as it now stands, to a stone wall; thence by said wall southerly to a stone wall running about east and west; thence easterly along said stone wall to a stone wall running southerly; thence southerly along said wall to a stone wall running westerly; thence westerly along the said wall to a stone wall running northerly; thence northerly along said wall to two maple trees standing on the northerly side of an old railroad embankment and dam; thence easterly along the northerly side of said embankment to a large elm tree standing near the ice house runs of said White; thence by stone wall in a curved line, northerly, northwesterly and westerly to a stone wall running northerly; thence northerly along the said wall and until it intersects southerly line of Wendall Road at a point west of said White's ice house; thence along southerly line of Wendall Road easterly and passing by northerly side of said White's ice house to the point of beginning.

The above property includes property conveyed by Francis H. Crane to Osborne Rogers by deed dated June 25, 1892, recorded February 26th, 1892, with Norfolk Deeds Book 668, Page 269.

The property conveyed by Joseph Crane to Carry S. Rogers by deed dated December 15, 1894, recorded May 5, 1895, with Norfolk Deeds, Book 735, Page 8.

A certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in Arlington, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth and bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Spy Pond; northwesterly by land now or late of Philip Whittemore; northeasterly by the location of the Arlington branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad, formerly the Lexington and West Cambridge Railroad; southeasterly by Pond Lane so called. Also a certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in said Arlington and bounded as follows: Southwesterly by Spy Pond; northwesterly by Pond Lane, so called, northeasterly by the location of the aforesaid railroad; southeasterly by land of the heirs of John P. Wyman, deceased, formerly of Samuel F. Wyman, deceased.

A certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in said Arlington, being lots 5 and 6 on a plan of lots belonging to George E. Richardson, drawn by J. O. Goodwin, Surveyor, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 51 plan No. one said lots being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner of the described premises on Pond Lane and next to lot 7 the line runs southeasterly along lot 7 one hundred eight and 48-100 feet to land of William E. Wood; thence northeasterly along land of said Wood one hundred feet to lot 4 on said plan; thence northwesterly along lot 4 one hundred and fifty-seven and 84-100 feet to Pond Lane; thence southwesterly along Pond Lane one hundred and thirty-five and 94-100 feet to the point of beginning, containing 15,259 square feet. Being the same premises conveyed to E John Kaufman by Charles W. and H. Ella Ilsley in her own right by deed dated May 22, 1902.

All the property conveyed or transferred by said mortgage other than that herein above described has been released from said mortgage.

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments.

Terms cash. $3,000 to be paid by the purchaser to the auctioneer at the time and place of sale and the remainder in ten days thereafter.

FREDERICK H. ALLEN.
Assignee and present holder of said mortgage.
Hill, Bangs, Barlow & Homans, Attorneys,
53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
January 3, 1906
Saturday, Jan. 6. 3t

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST.
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1o-1y

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1246 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

MARKED DOWN SALE
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy.
Jan. 4. tf

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan. 11. 1m

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

Bondsm
Supers
The personal becoming obsol
vate fortune is t
The corpora rapidly supplan
and, in time, me
they were ever
the danger of pe
In point of s and propriety,
comparison bet
one is just as w
the other is stro
The time is n thought as rea
the key of a fri
row his name f
Persons who bonds should ap
Amer
Suret
Comp of New
George H. Brown, A
Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt
Adolph F. A. Schulz,
J. H. Flint, Att'y.,
R. B. Worster, Agt.,
Just a
WITH YOU
PERFU
If your package has
name "ALFRED WRI RICKSECKER" on it, y
have the best that money
We should be pleased t
which we think is second t
The WEEKS-HI
ADAMS BU
Quincy, Dec. 19.
South Quincy Po
H. LITCH
Portraits Copied
Pastel and Wa
All kinds of Picture Fra
First Class Work
303 Water Street,
Aug. 15.
WOO
Sawed and Split to Orde
Sand, Loam, Grav
Teaming of
THOMAS O'BRIE
70 Coreland
Yard off Mills Street.
FRANK F.
REAL ES
AUCTIONEER and
Office, No. 19 Temple St
Aug. 17
If Your Trouble you
DELAY ONE
Consult an
We have corrected
eyes astigmatism, etc.,
HAVE FAILED.
Consultatio
Examinatio
SPECIAL THIS
$3 GOLD EYE
— ONLY —
One Doll a
We Are the Leadi
in Bosto
FLO
15 Beacon St.,
BOSTO
Nov. 7.
CHICHESTER'S
PENNYROYA
Original and SAFE. Always reliable for CHICHEST in RED and Gold
with blue ribbon. Ta Dangerous Substi
tions. Buy of your stamps for Particu
and "Relief for La turn Mail. 10,000
all Druggists. Chiche
Mention this paper. Madison Sq

post and stones on the ndall Road, near and north use of Adelaine E. White,
southerly by a wire fence,
stone wall; thence by said
one wall running about east sterly along said stone wall ning southerly; thence wall to a stone wall running sterly along the said wall nning northerly; thence wall to two maple trees erly side of an old railroad m; thence easterly along said embankment to a large ar the ice house runs of by stone wall in a curved hwesterly and westerly to ning northerly; thence said wall and until it inter-
of Wendall Road at a point ice house; thence along endall Road easterly and side of said White's ice
beginning.

ty includes property con-
Crane to Osborne Rogers
, 1892, recorded February
olk Deeds Book 668, Page

eyed by Joseph Crane to ticed dated December 15,
5, 1895, with Norfolk
ge 8.

of land with buildings
Arlington in the County of Commonwealth and bounded ows:
Spy Pond; northwesterly
e of Philip Whittemore;
location of the Arlington
ton & Maine Railroad,
rton and West Cambridge
rly by Pond Lane so
ain parcel of land with nitusted in said Arlington
llows: Southwesterly by sterly by Pond Lane, so
by the location of the outheasterly by land of the Tyman, deceased, formerly n, deceased.

land with buildings thereon gton, being lots 5 and 6 on ng to George E. Richard-
Goodwin, Surveyor, re-
ex South District Deeds,
No. one said lots being
ed as follows: Beginning described premises on Pond
7 the line runs southeaster-hundred eight and 48-100 n E. Wood; thence north-of said Wood one hundred plan; thence northwesterly ndred and fifty-seven and nd Lane; thence south-d Lane one hundred and 0 feet to the point of begin-
5,299 square feet. Being nveyed to E John Kauff-
and H. Ella Ilsley in her ated May 22, 1902.
nveyed or transferred by e than that herein above eleased from said mortgage.
be sold subject to any and assessments.
00 to be paid by the pur-
neer at the time and place mainder in ten days there-

DERICK H. ALLEN.
ent holder of said mortgage.
& Homans, Attorneys,
Boston, Mass.
3t

HARDWICK,
ellor at Law,
ock Building, Quincy.
ountain, City Square.
ons. Settlement and Care
s. of Estates.
e of the Peace.
s and Conveyances.
A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
day, Wednesday and Friday
and Saturday afternoons.

ON R. MARSTIN
NTIST.
on Bros.' Market,
k St., Quincy.
8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
ept Wednesday and Friday.
tf

B. PACKARD
ENTIST.
City Square, 1382 Hancock
reet, Quincy.
12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Wednesday Evening.
Sept. 6-tu-ly

S H. BURGESS,
Insurance, Mortgages
r and Appraiser.
Constable.
Bills Collected.
Estates a Specialty.
Adams Building, Room 13
Office, 219-3
Residence, 25-6

DOWN SALE. of TRIMMED HATS
very low prices.
. LITCHMAN,
South Quincy,
tf

QUINCY
loyment Office
rewer's Corner.
HELP of ALL KINDS.
inavian Help a Specialty.
eland Street, 2d floor.
6 P. M.
1m

ON & BROWN
ington Street.
and Boarding Stable
rnished for all Occasions.
Clipping by Power.
NGTON STREET.
hone 81-5 Quincy.

. MACOMBER
d Exterior Painting,
g work a specialty.
ING and KALSOMINING.
Street, opposite Depot.
5. ly

Bondsmen Superseded

The personal bondsman is fast becoming obsolete; the risk to private fortune is too great.

The corporate bond is just as rapidly supplanting the old form; and, in time, men will marvel that they were ever called upon to incur the danger of personal suretyship.

In point of safety, convenience and propriety, there can be no comparison between the two; the one is just as weak and perilous as the other is strong and safe.

The time is near when it will be thought as reasonable to borrow the key of a friend's safe as to borrow his name for surety purposes.

Persons who are required to give bonds should apply to

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons
Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15 tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
3rd off Mlln. Street. tel. 307-2, Quincy

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

If Your Eyes

Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes, astigmatism, etc., where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES

— ONLY —

One Doll ara Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this Paper.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER IV.

IF it be true that love is the great incentive to the useless arts, the number of gentlemen who became poets for the sake of Miss Betty Carewe need not be considered extraordinary. Of all that was written of her dancing, Tom Vanrevel's lines, "I Danced With Her Beneath the Lights" (which he certainly had not done when he wrote them), were perhaps next to Crailey Gray's in merit, though Tom burned his rhymes after reading them to Crailey.

As Crailey Gray never danced with Miss Carewe, it is somewhat singular that she should have been the inspiration of his swinging verses in waltz measure, "Heartstrings on a Violin," the sense of which was that when a violin had played for her dancing the instrument should be shattered as wineglasses are after a great toast. However, no one except the author himself knew that Betty was the subject, for Crailey certainly did not mention it to Miss Bareaud nor to his best friend, Vanrevel.

It was to some degree a strange comradeship between these two young men; their tastes led them so often in opposite directions. They had rooms together over their offices in the "Madrillon block" on Main street, and the lights shone late from their windows every night in the year. Sometimes that would mean only that the two friends were talking, for they never reached a silent intimacy, but, even after several years of companionship, were rarely seen together when not in interested, often eager, conversation, so that people wondered what in the world they still found to say to each other. But many a night the late shining lamp meant that Tom sat alone, with a brief or a book, or wooed the lorn hours with his magical guitar, for he never went to bed until the other came home. And if daylight came without Crailey, Vanrevel would go out, yawning nightily, to look for him, and when there was no finding him Tom would come back sleepless to the day's work.

To the vision of the lookers on in Rouen, quiet souls who hovered along the walls at merrymakings and cheerfully counted themselves spectators at the play, Crailey Gray held the center of the stage and was the chief comedian of the place. Wit, poet and scapegrace, the small society sometimes seemed the mere background set for his performances, spectacles which he also enjoyed, and from the best seat in the house, for he was not content as the actor, but must be the prince in the box as well.

His friendship for Tom Vanrevel was in a measure that of the vine for the oak. He was full of levities at Tom's expense, which the other bore with a grin of sympathetic comprehension or at long intervals returned upon Crailey with devastating effect. Vanrevel was the one steadying thing in his life and at the same time the only one of the young men upon whom he did not have an almost mesmeric influence. In good truth, Crailey was the ringleader in all the devilries of the town and had been so long in the habit of following every impulse, no matter how mad, that he enjoyed an almost perfect immunity from condemnation, and, whatever his deeds, Rouen had learned to say with a chuckle that it was "only Crailey Gray again."

Now and then he would spend several days in the offices of Gray & Vanrevel, attorneys and counselors at law, wearing an air of unassailable virtue, though he did not far overstate the case when he said, "Tom does all the work and gives me all the money not to bother him when he's getting up a case."

The working member of the firm got up cases to notable effect, and few lawyers in the state enjoyed having Tom Vanrevel on the other side. There was nothing about him of the floridity prevalent at that time; he withered "oratory" before the court; he was the foe of jury pathos, and, despising noise and the habitual voice dip at the end of a sentence, was nevertheless at times an almost fearfully effective orator. So by degrees the firm of Gray & Vanrevel, young as it was and in spite of the idle apprentice, had grown to be the most prosperous in the district. For this eminence Crailey was never accused of assuming the credit. Nor did he ever miss an opportunity of making known how much he owed to his partner. What he owed, in brief, was everything. How well Vanrevel worked was demonstrated every day, but how hard he worked only Crailey knew. The latter had grown to depend upon him for even his political beliefs and lightly followed his partner into abolitionism, though that was to risk unpopularity, bitter hatred and worse. Fortunately on certain occasions Vanrevel had made himself, if not his creed, respected, at least so far that there was no longer danger of mob violence for an abolitionist in Rouen. He was a cool headed young man ordinarily and possessed of an elusive forcefulness not to be trifled with, though he was a quiet man and had what they called a "fine manner," and, not in the latter, but in his dress, there was an echo of the beau, which afforded Mr. Gray a point of attack for sallies of wit.

These two young men were members of a cheerful band who feasted, laughed, wrangled over politics, danced, made love and sang terrible chords on summer evenings together, as young men will. Will Cummings, editor of the Rouen Journal, was one of these, a tall, sallow man, very thin, very awkward and very gentle. Mr. Cummings proved himself always ready with a loud and friendly laugh for the poorest joke in the world, his countenance shining with such kindness that no one ever had the heart to reproach him with the evils of his journalistic performances or for the things he broke when he danced. Another was Tappingham Marsh, an exceedingly handsome person, somewhat languid in appearance, dainty in manner with women, offhand with men, almost as reckless as Crailey and often the latter's companion and assistant in dissipation. Young Francis Chenoweth never failed to follow both into whatever they planned. He was short and pink, and the uptilt of his nose was coherent with the appealing earnestness which was habitual with him. Eugene Madrillon was the sixth of these intimates, a dark man, whose Latin eyes and color advertised his French ancestry as plainly as his emotionless mouth and lack of gesture betrayed the mingling of another strain.

All these and others of the town were wont to "talk politics" a great deal at the little club on Main street, and all were apt to fall foul of Tom Vanrevel or Crailey Gray before the end of any discussion. For those were the days when they twisted the lion's tail in vehement and bitter earnest, when the eagle screamed in mixed figures, when few men knew how to talk and many orated, when party strife was savagely personal, when tolerance was called the "pure fire of patriotism," when criticism of the existing order of things surely incurred fiery anathema and black invective, and brave was he, indeed, who dared to hint that his country as a whole and politically did lack some two or three particular virtues and that the first step toward obtaining them would be to help it to realize their absence.

This latter point of view was that of the firm of Gray & Vanrevel, which was a unit in such matters. Crailey did most of the talking, quite beautifully, too, and both had to stand against odds in many a sour argument, for they were not only abolitionists, but opposed the attitude of their country in its difficulty with Mexico, and, in common with other men of the time who took their stand, they had to grow accustomed to being called disloyal traitors, foreign toadies, malignants and traducers of the flag. Tom had long been used to epithets of this sort, suffering their sting in quiet, and was glad when he could keep Crailey out of worse employment than standing firm for an unpopular belief.

Sang terrible chords on summer evenings.

There was one place to which Vanrevel, seeking his friend and partner when the latter did not come home at night, could not go. This was the tower chamber, and it was in that mysterious apartment of the Carewe cupola that Crailey was apt to be deeply occupied when he remained away until daylight. Strange as it appears, Mr. Gray maintained peculiar relations of intimacy with Robert Carewe in spite of the feud between Carewe and his own best friend. This intimacy, which did not necessarily imply any mutual fondness, though Crailey seemed to dislike nobody, was betokened by a furtive understanding of a sort between them. They held brief, earnest conversations on the street or in corners when they met at other people's houses, always speaking in voices too low to be overheard, and they exercised a mysterious symbolism, somewhat in the manner of fellow members of a secret society. They had been observed to communicate across crowded rooms by lifted eyebrow, nod of head or a surreptitious turn of the wrist, so that those who observed them knew that a question had been asked and answered.

It was noticed also that there were five other initiates to this masonry—Eugene Madrillon, the elder Chenoweth, General Trumble, Tappingham Marsh and Jefferson Bareaud. Thus on the afternoon following Miss Betty's introduction to Rouen's favorite sons and daughters Mr. Carewe, driving down Main street, held up one forefinger to Madrillon as he saw the young man turning in at the club. Eugene nodded gravely and as he went in, discovering Marsh, the general and others listening to Mr. Gray's explanation of his return from the river with no fish, stealthily held up one finger in his turn. Trumble replied with a wink, Tappingham nodded, but Crailey slightly shook his head. Marsh and the general started with surprise and stared incredulously. That Crailey should shake his head! If the signal had been for a church meeting they might have understood.

Mr. Gray's conduct was surprising two other people at about the same time—Tom Vanrevel and Fanchon Bareaud; the former by his sudden devotion to the law; the latter by his sudden devotion to herself. In a breath he became almost a domestic character.

Miss Bareaud was even happier than she was astonished—and she was mightily astonished—to find her betrothed developing a taste for her society alone. Formerly she had counted upon the gayeties of her home to keep Crailey near her; now, however, he told her tenderly he wished to have her all to himself. This was not like him, but Fanchon did not question.

The Bareaud house was the most hospitable in Rouen. Mrs. Bareaud, a southerner, loving to persuade the visitor that her home was his, not hers, lived only for her art, which was that of the table. Mr. Bareaud at fifty had lived so well that he gave up walking, which did not trouble him, but at sixty he gave up dancing, which did trouble him. His only hope, he declared, was in Crailey Gray's promise to invent for him a concave partner.

There was a thin, quizzing shank of a son, Jefferson, who lived upon quinine, ague and deviltry, and there were the two daughters, Fanchon and Virginia. The latter was three years older than Fanchon, as dark as Fanchon was fair, though not nearly so pretty, a small, good natured, romping sprite of a girl who had handed down the heart and hand of Crailey Gray to her sister with the best grace in the world. For she had been the heroine of one of Mr. Gray's half dozen or so most serious affairs, and after a furious rivalry with Mr. Carewe the victory was generally conceded to Crailey. His triumph had been of about a fortnight's duration when Fanchon returned from St. Mary's, and with the advent of the younger sister the elder, who had decided that Crailey was the incomparable she had dreamed of since infancy, was generously allowed to discover that he was not that vision; that she had fallen in love with her own idea of him, whereas Fanchon cared only that he be Crailey Gray.

To be in love with Crailey became Fanchon's vocation. She spent all her time at it and produced a blurred effect upon strangers. Nor was she alone in suspecting Mr. Gray of genius. In the first place, he was so odd; in the second, his poems were "already attracting more than local attention," as the Journal remarked generously, for Crailey had ceased to present his rhymes to that valuable paper. Aye, Boston no less was his mart.

He was rather radical in his literary preferences and hurt the elder Chenoweth's feelings by laughing heartily at some poems of the late Lord Byron, offended many people by disliking the style of Sir Edward Bulwer and even refused to admit that James Fenimore Cooper was the greatest novelist that ever lived. But these things were as nothing compared with his unpatriotic defense of Charles Dickens. Many Americans had fallen into a great rage over the vivacious assault upon the United States in "Martin Chuzzlewit." Nevertheless Crailey still boldly hailed him, as every one had heretofore agreed, the most dexterous writer of his day and the most notable humorist of any day. Of course the Englishman had not visited and thoroughly studied such a city as Rouen, Crailey confessed twinklingly; but, after all, wasn't there some truth in "Martin Chuzzlewit?" Mr. Dickens might have been far from a clear understanding of our people, but didn't it argue a pretty ticklish vanity in ourselves that we were so fiercely resentful of satire, and was not this very heat over "Martin Chuzzlewit" a confirmation of one of the points the book had presented against us? General Trumble replied to this suggestion with a personal one to the effect that a man capable of saying a good word for so monstrous a slander—that a man, sir, capable of declaring his native country to be vain or sensitive, ought to be horsewhipped, and at this Crailey laughed consumedly.

(Continued in next issue.)

A Little Vacation.

Conditions are changing in so many businesses that it would not be strange if the manufacturer had yet to plead for protection against the girl in her teens.

A young girl appeared at a large hat manufactory one Monday morning and asked for work. She was inexperienced, but they needed help badly, engaged her at once and took the time to teach her one department of the work.

She learned easily and very quickly, earned something the first day and in two days was making as much as any other girl in the room. They noticed that she seemed to enjoy the work and the prospect of good wages and were greatly surprised when she appeared at the office Friday night and desired to "settle up," saying that she was through work.

The manager asked if anything disagreeable had happened.

"Oh, no," the girl replied airily. "It's a real nice place to work, but I was only visiting in the city for a few days and thought I might make a little money. I'm going home tomorrow morning."—Youth's Companion.

Gluttons.

The old feudal lords of England were the biggest hogs on earth. Their life was made up of the chase, gluttony and drunkenness. The habit of gluttony was handed down to them. It came directly from Lucullus and his imitators. There is no doubt that Lucullus, held up before us as the table saint, ate himself to death. It was not only the quantity of food he ate, but its quality as well, that put so miserable an end to him. Fielding proved many years ago that there was a large amount of fudge about Lucullus. On general principles he was, from a culinary point of view, a fraud. A single supper at which Cicero and Pompey were guests is said to have cost him 50,000 denari (about $8,500), but he probably served his guests a feast of barbecued sow, topped off with cherries. He was excessively vain of his cherries, and, as for his sow, she was always served high.—London Spectator.

The Onion.

"Onions are really sweeteners of the breath after the local effects have passed away," says one learned doctor. This statement is not in accordance with our own experience; therefore we avoid onions. We are still further informed by the same authority that onions correct stomach disorders and carry off the accumulated poisons of the system. They provide a blood purifier that all may freely use. Eaten raw an onion will often check a cold in the head. One small onion eaten every night before retiring is this well known doctor's prescription for numerous affections of the head and is highly recommended for sleeplessness. Personally, we are never troubled with any of these complaints and therefore still look upon this strange vegetable as something to avoid.—Vegetarian.

When You Sneeze.

The alarm signal of a draft is a sneeze, which is a spasmodic effort of nature to start up the circulation and relieve the congestion. A person may be far gone toward contracting a cold before he sneezes, but the moment he gets this warning he should change his position, look around for the draft and move out of it or protect himself against it. A draft is something to be sneezed at—and to be avoided. Drafts cause more deaths than war, whisky, football, consumption and yellow fever put together. Almost everybody who dies from disease dates his sickness from taking cold. This is especially true of elderly people. Yet it is a matter in regard to which there are great ignorance and inattention.

Old Japanese Prints.

The collector of old Japanese prints must be guided in his selection by the quality of the paper, which should be soft and vibrant, the fibrous tentacles upon its surface often forming shadows where it has been exposed to the dust. The register must be perfect, each color being confined absolutely to its prescribed space. Perfection in the register is an infallible guide. The colors must be soft and melting, in many cases one tone shading into another, not harshly determined by the lines of the block.—Extract From "Impressions of Ukiyo-ye," by Mrs. Dora Amsden.

Doesn't Like to Move.

A most curious and sluggish creature is the tautawa, a nine inch lizard whose home is in New Zealand. This little imitation saurian has the reputation of being the laziest creature ever created. He is usually found clinging to rocks or logs along the shores of rivers and lakes and has been known to remain in one position perfectly motionless for many months. How the creature manages to exist is a mystery.

His Own Chair.

"Beg pardon," said the garrulous passenger, "but I think I heard you addressed as professor. Might I inquire what chair you hold?"

"The chair right next to the door," answered the professor. "I run a shop of my own."

The Proper Caper.

Tom—Here! You've started your note to Borroughs "Dr. Sir." Don't you know that sort of abbreviation is very slovenly? Dick—No, sir. "Dr." is all right in this case. He owes me money.—Philadelphia Press.

Experienced Man.

She—Is my hat on straight? He—I presume it is on the way you want it. It is not on horizontal.—Somerville Journal.

A man cannot escape in thought any more than he can in language from the past and the present.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 7	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 58 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square.
b Norfolk Downs,	g, Savin Hill.
c Atlantic,	h, Crescent Avenue
d Neponset,	i, South Boston.
e Pope's Hill.	r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 5.46 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.46 5.16 5.46 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.15 A. M. 12.15 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.47 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.47 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.55, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37 A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Daily Ledger extends a general invitation to everybody to forward news promptly; especially all churches and auxiliary societies; all lodges, clubs and other organizations, etc., etc. We do not want it two or three days after for the Daily Ledger of the "next day." When the presence of a reporter is desired an invitation or ticket should be forwarded. If some people were as alert to send reports, as they are to send advance announcements, the Ledger would be more pleased to hear from them.

Local Ins And Outs

Another meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening.

The stable on Cottage street partly destroyed by fire has been razed.

Monday, Colonial Hall, 8 P. M., the Annual Hospital meeting will be held.

Miss Grace Bowen of Medford is visiting friends in this city for a few weeks.

The newly elected officers of Division 18, A. O. H., will be installed tonight at French hall.

Another sudden change in the weather. Friday it was mild and spring-like. Today, cold and windy.

Frank Jenkins and his son Horace of Billings street have gone to New York for a few days' pleasure trip.

The annual meeting of the City Hospital corporation for the election of trustees will be held Monday evening.

The Quincy W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. George E. Hatch, 25 Miller Stile road, on Tuesday next at 3 P. M.

The Riverside house formerly under he management of Mrs. McDonald has been purchased by a Weymouth party.

The first 100 ladies arriving tonight at the Assembly in Quincy Muscle Hall will each recieve a handsome souvenir post card.

It is our City Hospital so we should all be interested in the annual reports which will be presented at the meeting this Monday.

The new block on Granite street, makes an imposing appearance, now that the front boarding has been removed, and the windows put in.

The house being built on the corner of South and East Howard streets will be occupied by Mr. Weston and family of the Fore River house,

The horse that was so badly burned in the fire Wednesday night is to be killed. The animal would probably have lived but he was so badly burned it was decided that the more human way was to kill him.

Rev. Henry E. Seconist, who will occupy the pulpit of the First church Sunday is one of the most active and well known Sunday School workers in the denomination. He will be the guest of the Sunday School at its 12 o'clock session.

"The Two Vanrevels."

"The Two Vanrevels."

"The Two Vanrevels."

One lady says she has seen the above so many times that she is constantly thinking about them. It is said each chapter will keep the readers guessing.

The Farmers' dance, which Miss Lena G. Crane ran successfully in Music hall, Atlantic, Thursday evening, was enjoyed by her many pupils and their friends. The costumes were comical and unique, and the true capacity for fun seemed uppermost throughout the evening. Miss Crane has made every venture a success and her parties are among the few where old and young find mutual pleasure.

Without Bail

Samuelson Held For Grand Jury Arguments of His Counsel

At the conclusion of Inspector Bradley's testimony on Friday in the hearing on the case of Samuel Samuelson for the murder of Favoretti Domenico, District Attorney French said that the government would offer no further testimony.

Counsel for the defendant offered no evidence. He argued, however, for the dismissal of the complaint on the ground that there was no evidence that the defendant was guilty. The theory of the government, he said, was that the defendant assaulted Domenico with a stone half an hour before the burning, and at the time of the burning Domenico was still alive.

The reasons for the medical examiner's theory are so absurb that he did not think the court could take notice of them.

The only explanation of how the thing happened is told by Samuelson. There is no evidence of any cause for trouble between the two men.

The most reasonable explanation is that the man in going out stumbled and fell and struck his face against a rock. There is no evidence to show the man was injured before he was burned. It is as absurb as the medical examiner's statement that a man must fall a distance of a 100 feet to receive these injuries.

If Samuelson had committed the crime, would he have left the rock and body there? Would he have gone with tears in his eyes and told his neighbor that John had been burned? Samuelson's every act is consistant with that of an innocent man.

District Attorney French made no argument. The court held Samuelson without bail for the grand jury.

Tubular Rivet Bowling League

Three games were bowled in the Tublar Rivet League at the Norfolk Downs alleys Friday night.

Team 1 beat team 3 by a score of 1259 to 1189 as folows:

TEAM NO. 1.

J. Thomas	114	80	74	268
B. Thomas	84	84	93	261
Ellison	79	87	85	251
Ago	72	82	74	228
Gallagher	81	89	81	251
	430	424	407	1259

TEAM NO 3.

Hussey	81	91	86	258
McKay	83	82	68	233
Jones	76	82	76	234
Aulback	85	73	76	231
Hamilton	87	75	68	230
	412	403	374	1189

The second game was between teams 2 and 5, and was won by team 2 by a total score of 1259 to 1131.

TEAM NO. 2.

G. Stevens	91	85	95	271
Kolson	76	79	82	237
Mullen	80	88	58	226
Hoyt	80	92	100	272
H. Stevens	85	83	85	253
	412	427	420	1252

TEAM NO. 5.

Cunniff	74	73	87	233
Johnson	77	61	72	210
Lochhead	80	70	84	234
Stebbins	67	69	85	221
Nelus	81	75	77	233
	379	347	405	1131

The last game of the evening was between teams 4 and 6, and was won by team 4. The total score was 1275 to 1090.

TEAM NO 4.

Hey	74	84	76	234
J. Thomas	79	95	96	270
Manimon	83	86	83	262
Phillips	87	82	83	252
Cox	64	97	88	249
	387	454	416	1257

TEAM NO 6.

Raiche	85	98	79	262
Decost	72	71	77	220
Crosby	72	83	74	229
Wamsley	74	74	83	231
Leach	81	95	92	268
	384	421	405	1210

Young People's Union.

The Young People's Religous Union, First church, will meet in the church parlor on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. All those who heard Mr. C. F. Harper speak last year will be glad to know that he will speak again. The subject will be "Some ways in which the world is growing better." All are cordially invited to attend.

Floral Tributes Were Numerous

The funeral of Mrs. Stephen M. Bennett, who passed away very unexpectedly last Saturday, was held from her home, 114 Newbury avenue on Monday afternoon of this week. The service was conducted by Rev. Jason B. Miller, pastor of Memorial Congregational church, of which the deceased was a member, and was attended by many friends and relatives. Sympathy for those left, and affection for the departed loved one, was shown by an abundance of flowers and set pieces.

Among the most beautiful were:

Wreath, galax with roses, "Wife".

Pillow, roses and pinks, "Mother."

Standing wreath from Repair shop B. and A., R. R.

Standing wreath from Letter Carrier's Asso.

Wreath from Ladies' Benevolent Society.

Panel of roses from Bigelow, Dowse & Co.

Wreath from employees of Bigelow Dowse & Co.

Spray from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bottome.

Cut flowers from Ladies Whist club.

Cluster of roses from Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brown.

Wreath, galax and roses from Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Hall.

Mound of roses from Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Clark.

Spray of roses from Mrs. Dunkerly and family.

Violets from Mr. and Mrs. George Hight.

Spray of lilies and roses from Edna Clark.

Panel of roses and pinks, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hill and daughters.

The following friends sent floral offerings also: Mrs. Chas. L. Coe, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hight, Jr., Percy A. Hall, Mr. T. Sullivan and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Welsh, Misses Marion and Alice Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Read, Mr. Herbert D. Gearwar, Mrs. G. Austin Waterhouse, Mrs. Cyrus Waterhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rix, Mr. J. T. Gardner, Mrs. M. A. Austin, Mr. William Johnson Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gurney, teachers of the Quincy School, Mrs. Chas. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah A. Kendall.

The interment was in the family lot at Mount Wollaston cemetery.

Installation of Odd Ladies

The installation of the officers of the Independent Order of Odd Ladies, M. U., took place on Thursday evening at Dobles hall, the new officers being:

P. N. G.,—Mary L. McCue.
N. G.,—Annie B. Cooper.
V. G.,—Catherine Cotter.
Treas.,—Carrie Williams.
E. S.,—Annie Burns.
P. S.,—Mary L. Thomas.
Chaplain,—Annie Stewart.
R. S. N. G.,—Mary Carroll.
L. S. N. G.,—Annie Cole.
R. S. V. G.,—Mary Garmory.
L. S. V. G.,—Julia Walsh.

The officers were installed by Deputy Effie Snow of Acacia lodge, No. 4, of Brockton, assisted by E. M. Boutilier as conductor. After remarks by visitors, refreshments were served. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Sons of Veterans Auxiliary, No. 3

The officers of S. of V. Auxiliary No. 3, were installed in G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening by Mrs. Estella W. Richards of Weymouth Heights. The officers are:

President,—Mrs. Geo. Dexhimer.
Vice President,—Mrs. Geo. E. Ela.
Treasurer,—Mrs. Alden Holbrook.
Secretary,—Mrs. W. C. Hart.
Chaplain,—Mrs. Wm. Godfrey.
Guide,—Miss Bertha Reede.
Assistant Guide,—Mary Backhoff.
Inside Guard,—Mrs. F. H. Stoddard.
Outside Guard,—Etta French.
Trustees,—Mrs. F. H. Stoddard, Miss Marcella A. Souther and Miss Ethel Merritt.
Judge Advocate,—W. C. Hart.
Color Bearers,—Mrs. Napoleon Reed and Mrs. Alexander Smith.

After the instalation a light collation was served and a general good time enjoyed. Mrs. Geo. C. Ella, in behalf of the members of the auxiliary presented the retiring president, Mrs. Arthur C. Merritt, with a solid gold watch chain. Mrs. A. C. Merritt then presented the installing officer, Mrs. Estella W. Richards, with a hand painted china plate. Visitors were present from Auxiliaries in Braintree, Weymouth and Brockton, also members of Posts 88, 87, and 58, G. A. R., and Camps 30, 32, and 36, S. of V.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Three R's—Repairing Rips and Rents.

If some American mothers heard that their young Jimmies or Waldos or Clarences had to perform the services in their private schools that English boys have to do in similar institutions there would be pity and indignation—pity for the youths and indignation at the hard hearted master. But the custom doesn't seem to hurt the young Britishers. At a school in Brighton where boys receive the first half decade of their learning even future peers are taught to sew on their buttons and darn their hose and rents in their underclothing. Only their outer garments are sent to the tailor. Any shirking of the tasks brings the same punishment that ill prepared lessons would. On certain days the small boys are taught the rudiments of cooking and laying a table, and at all times they must keep their rooms in order. It is true some parents object to this, but they must submit or take their sons away. The majority of fathers believe the plan a wise one.—New York Press.

Two of His Habits.

"Two things the average man does at every opportunity from mere force of habit," said the observing woman. "One is to set his watch every time he passes a standard timepiece, and the other—it isn't very delicate, but it's a fact—to expectorate every time he passes a public cuspidor. You watch a man inadvertently pass a timepiece. He always catches himself in time, goes back, compares his watch, and ten minutes later you'll see him absently doing the same thing farther down the street. To prove the other fact you need only stand five minutes within sight of a cuspidor in one of the big railway stations and watch man after man absentmindedly expectorate in passing, merely in response to the suggestion of the cuspidor.

"These two masculine habits about equalize a woman's inveterate habit of glancing at every mirror she passes."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Thackeray's Portrait.

The following story furnishes an example of the manner in which Thackeray did not hesitate to treat what he considered vanity in others. After long pleading his family induced the famous novelist to sit for his portrait, and Lawrence, the painter, gladly undertook the task. Soon after the picture was completed Thackeray chanced to be dining at his club when a pompous officer of the guards stopped beside the table and said:

"Haw, Thackeray, old boy, I hear Lawrence has been painting yer portrait!"

"So he has," was the reply.

"Full length?"

"No; full length portraits are for soldiers, that we may see their spurs, but the other end of the man is the principal thing with authors," said Thackeray.

Can Talk Without Tongue.

"There seems to be a mistaken impression abroad," remarked a doctor the other day in speaking of the case of a man who had his tongue cut out in an effort to cure a case of cancer of that member, "that when a man is unfortunate enough to lose his tongue thenceforth all power of speech is denied him. This is not so. While it is true that not many men survive this operation for any great length of time, it is equally true that they can speak so long as they live and with only a comparatively slight impediment in their utterances. If you will hold a pencil crossways between your teeth and speak while it remains in that position you can get just the effect it has on human speech when the tongue is entirely removed."

Sea or Desert?

If it be true, as conjectured by the latest explorers, that Lake Chad is rapidly drying up, the process will probably be regarded by the geologists as simply a continuation of one which has been going on for ages in northern Africa. The whole of the Sahara was certainly once either an arm of the sea or a vast lake, and Lake Chad is probably only the final remnant of that huge sheet of water. The Sahara sea must always have been very shallow, a fact which made its evaporation easy, and Lake Chad is reported to be little more than a morass over the greater portion of its area.

Giving Them Fits.

Some years ago George F. Haley of Biddeford was trying his first criminal case before the supreme judicial court of Maine, with Chief Justice John A. Peters on the bench. Mr. Haley was in the middle of his plea when a man in the audience fell over in a convulsion. The young lawyer stopped, disconcerted.

"Go on, sir; go on," said the chief justice: "You're giving them fits!"

An Honest Thief.

On leaving a Paris theater a German gentleman felt for his watch. It was gone. Having a strong suspicion, he laid violent hands on a man in the crowd, who quietly gave up the ticker. When he got home, he found his own watch lying on the table.—Paris Journal.

She Recognized Him.

"This," remarked Mr. Sappyhead, "is my photograph with my two French poodles. You recognize me, eh?"

"I think so," said Miss Sulfuric. "You are the one with the hat on, are you not?"—Houston Chronicle.

His Complaint.

Insurance Official—Of what complaint did your father die? Applicant—The jury found him guilty.—London Tit-Bits.

About two-thirds of the average human heart is occupied by self love.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street.

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

WHY NOT BECOME

A Regular Reader of the

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER?

1906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl tf

ANNUAL MARK DOWN SALE.

Your Opportunity Has Come.

SUITS.

That Were	$8 50	$10 00	$12 00	$15 00	$18 00
NOW	5.98	7.98	8.98	11.98	15.00

OVERCOATS.

That Were	$6 50	$10 00	$12 00	$15 00	$20 00
NOW	5.00	7.98	8.98	11.98	16.50

NOW is the TIME. THIS is the PLACE.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 11. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

The Greenleaf Hotel

A Select Family

First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties, Dinners and Suppers.

Also Hancock Hotel

Newly Furnished Throughout.
Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Moderate Rates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

HENRY L. KINCAIGE & CO., Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17.

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Boughs Neck.

Quincy, May 2. tf

You Can Increase
Your Business
With a Ledger "Ad"

W. G. CHUBBUCK, Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.

JOBBING.

Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block: or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.

August 20. tf

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned, heretofore doing business under the firm name GLENCOE GRANITE COMPANY, in Quincy, Massachusetts, have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. The business will hereafter be conducted by Robert Maver under the firm name of Glencoe Granite Company. Said Maver will collect all claims due to the late partnership and will pay all bills contracted by said partnership.

JOHN ROBBIE,
ROBERT MAVER.

8 January, 1906.

Jan. 13 3t-13-16-18

Divorce Libel.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court.

Respectfully shows Elizabeth A. Foss of Quincy, County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that she was lawfully married to Thomas H. Foss, now of Clackamas in the State of Oregon, at Portland, Oregon, on February 14th, A.D. 1876, that they have never lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, but said libellant has resided in this State for five years next preceding the filing of this libel; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, yet the said Thomas H. Foss being wholly regardless of the same at Grays River in the State of Washington on or about the 20th day of December, 1895, and on divers other days was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment toward your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Thomas H. Foss, and for such further orders and decrees in the premises as to law and justice may appertain.

ELIZABETH A. FOSS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

ON the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Thomas H. Foss, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of February next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of February next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Thomas H. Foss an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Thomas H. Foss may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

January 11, A.D. 1906.

A true copy of Petition and of order thereon.
Attest: R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.

Jan. 13, 15, 22. 3t

AMERICA'S PART

Favors International Control of Moroccan Police

ALSO WANTS OPEN DOOR

Protection of Jewish Residents In Morocco May Be Brought Up--Our Delegates May Line Up on Franco-German Row

Paris, Jan. 10.—The role of the United States at the Moroccan conference arouses much discussion and some apprehension, in which the officials and diplomats are taking an active part. This is due mainly to the dispatches printed in London papers and reproduced here, purporting to give the American policy.

One dispatch, stating that the United States will uphold the German contention, caused unfavorable comment, but a dispatch from Madrid to the London Times, saying that the United States will support Great Britain, Russia, Italy and Spain in the concert with France counteracted the first impression and caused more favorable comment.

The various outlines of the American policy are misleading through confusion on the main issues before the conference and inexactness concerning American intentions. As a matter of fact, the only questions in which the United States delegates are likely to take an important are: First, international control of the police; second, the open door; third, protection of the Jewish residents in Morocco.

However, it should be understood that the first two questions are the most delicate in the Franco-German controversy. France maintains that her special position in Morocco warrants her in undertaking a general surveillance of the police and other branches of Moroccan administration. Germany has contested this, maintaining that the powers should participate in an international control.

Concerning the open door, France advocates the 30-year open door clause in the Anglo-French agreement, whereas Germany advocates the open door without limit. Therefore the action of the United States delegates, being favorable to international control of the police and unlimited open door, may have an indirect effect in ranging them on one side or the other in the Franco-German controversy.

Relative to the Jewish phase of the question, Jacob Schiff of New York has urged this feature upon the authorities at Washington and there is reason to believe that this will have a sequel at the conference. However, the Franco-German agreement on the program of the conference, which has been approved by the sultan and accepted by all the powers, does not mention the Jewish question. Therefore it will be difficult to introduce it except as an incident in connection with the preservation of general order in Morocco.

M. Revoil, former governor of Algiers, head of the French delegation to the Moroccan conference at Algeciras, accompanied by a large suite, left Paris yesterday for Spain. His departure was the occasion for a notable gathering of officials, including representatives of Premier Rouvier and all the cabinet ministers, M. St. Rene Taillandier, who was French envoy to Morocco throughout the controversy, and numerous military and civilian officials. The farewells showed the deep concern felt over the result of the conference as involving Franco-German relations. M. Rignault, the second French delegate, left today. The party will stop at Madrid in order to participate in the wedding of the Infanta Maria Teresa, Jan. 12, to Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria, reaching Algeciras Jan. 15.

Germany Not Thinking of War

Vienna, Jan. 10.—The Neue Freie Presse, in what is obviously an officially inspired communication, probably from the German embassy, indicates the policy which Germany will adopt in the Moroccan conference at Algeciras. It declares that war is impossible, even should the conference break up ubruptly, but says that in that event the relations between France and Germany will be strained. Germany, it is pointed out, will stand unconditionally upon the basis of the Madrid convention of 1880 and will not intervene even should France attack Morocco. If the conference should be without result, it is added, Germany will continue to negotiate direct with the sultan of Morocco to secure German interests.

Extension of Martial Law

St. Petersburg, Jan. 10.—Martial law has been declared at Ekaterinodar, south Russia; Sumy, in the government of Kharkoff; Novorossysk, on the east coast of the Black sea; Yuzovka, on the north shore of the Sea of Azov, and Smiela, in the government of Kieff.

Agitator Slipped Away

Riga, Jan. 10.—An attempt was made last night to arrest M. Maxim, the ringleader of the Social Democrats in the Baltic provinces, while he was addressing his companions in the Lett theatre here. Maxim, however, managed to escape in female attire.

Shanghai Disturbances Ended

Shanghai, Jan. 10.—All the foreign bluejackets who have been patrolling the foreign concessions have been withdrawn.

Installations At Braintree

The newly elected officers of Delta lodge of Masons were publicly installed at Pythian hall, Tuesday evening. The exercises were attended by a large number of the members of the lodge and invited guests.

Frederic L. Putnam, grand lecturer of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, was the installing officer and he was assisted by Wor. Bro. George F. Fenn as grand marshal. The Harvard quartet of Boston furnished the music.

The officers installed were:
Worshipful Master—William S. Stone.
Senior Warden—George T. Burnham.
Junior Warden—John H. Guy.
Treasurer—David J. Pierce.
Secretary—Harry L. Patten.
Chaplain—Josephus Sampson.
Marshal—George Wilson.
Senior Deacon—Charles G. Jordon.
Junior Deacon—Walter J. Harrison.
Inside Sentinel—Wendall J. Gammons.
Organist—Walter F. Ellis.
Senior Steward—Byron C. Shanks.
Junior Steward—E. Atherton Hunt.
Tyler—Edward T. Jordan.
A banquet followed the installation.

Puritan Lodge.

Tuesday evening the first degree was exemplied on one candidate, and one application was received. Next Tuesday evening the installation of the officers elected for the coming term will be held. District Deputy G. M. West and suite will install the officers.

The degree staffs which are to do the work at the exemplification are hard at work. The initiatory degree staff of Puritan lodge, which is to represent that lodge on Feb. 22, performed the work on Jan. 2 in a very fine manner. They are working hard to perfect themselves in this degree, and should receive the hearty support, and encouragement of every member of Puritan lodge. Rehearsals are being held every week, and when the 22d of February arrives Puritan lodge members will be proud of their degree staff. Now, when the members are working is when they need the encouraging word, so let every member of Puritan lodge attend the meetings of the lodge, and remain to the rehearsals, and give the degree staff that encouraging word.

Joint Installation.

A joint installation of the officers of Antietam Camp No. 32 S. of V. and S. of V. Auxiliary No. 16 was held in G. A. R. hall, last Tuesday evening.

Following officers of S. of V. A. were installed by Massachusetts Division Installing officer, Miss Flora A. Staples of Wakefield:

President,—Bessie F. Holbrook.
Vice President,—Flora B. Turpel.
Trustees,—Maria B. Hollis, Lizzie Howe, Ethel B. Hayden.
Secretary,—Marion D. Holbrook.
Treasurer,—Elsie M. Bunker.
Chaplain,—Lizzie Howe.
Guide,—Jennie Jones.
Assistant guide,—Sadie Thayer.
Inside guard,—Grace I. Loring.
Outside guard,—May Thayer.
Color guards,—Alice Foster and Idella Thayer.
Judge advocate,—Paul Monaghan.

Following this the officers of Antietam Camp were installed by P. D. C. William Stevens of Roxbury. Guests were present from G. A. R. Post No. 87 and W.R.C., also from Randolph, Whitman, Quincy and East Weymouth. At the conclusion of the installation exercises a bountiful turkey supper was served and a social time enjoyed.

Amana Rebekah Lodge.

The Amana Rebekah lodge of Braintree held their regular meeting on Thursday night, January 11. The new officers were installed for the present year. A large number were present and plenty of refreshments served in the form of ice cream and cake. Following is a list of new officers:

N. G.,—Clara Call.
V. G.,—Mrs. Harry S. Bates.
Secretary,—Jennie McGibbon.
F. S.,—Gertrude Simonds.
Treasurer,—Annie J. Brett.
Warden,—Jennie Holbrook.
O. G.,—Mrs. Solon David.
I. G.,—Annie Orcutt.
R. S. N. G.,—Mrs. Charles Hobart.
L. S. N. G.,—Mrs. Sarah Mellen.
R. S. V. G.,—Mrs. Warren Page.
L. S. V. G.,—Mrs. F. M. Buzzell.
Chaplain,—Miss Houghton.

TODAY'S COURT.

The liquors seized from Edward M. V. Hunt and Louie Burton at Weymouth were forfeitted.

The Liquors seized from Herbert L. Whittier, Ellen Ford and Mary Robinson at Quincy were forfeitted.

The case of John Towney, for violation of the liquor law at Randolph, was called and he was defaulted.

Ellen Ford was fined $50 for violation of the liquor law at Quincy.

John F. McDonald and Cassio M. Foster was fined $5 each for malicious mischief at Milton.

The continued cases of Joseph, Sam and Isaac Catler and Max Keezle, for receiving stolen property, were heard. The case against Sam Catler was dismissed. The other cases were continued until Monday for disposition.

LOVE TAPS

[Original.]

It was a bright day in December, and Mabel and I were walking under the stripped trees, kicking the fallen leaves. We were both very young, and very young people are apt to fancy the discussion of abstruse subjects.

"Why is it," remarked Mabel, "that old people usually dislike autumn and winter?"

"Oh, old people have no appreciation! It has been all knocked out of them."

"All old people?"

"All? Yes. Why? What do you mean?"

"Mrs. Kennedy, for instance?"

Mabel did not look up at me. She bent her eyes to the ground. I saw her drift. I had been somewhat attentive to Mrs. Kennedy, who was a widow.

"Mrs. Kennedy is not old," I said.

"She is thirty."

"Not yet twenty-six."

The only reply to this was a scornful laugh.

"To return to what we were saying," I went on, "I think that people, birds, trees, flowers, all pass through the same stages. Each has its spring, summer, autumn, winter. When the leaves fall the old person is reminded that his or her autumn is at hand; when the snow is on the ground it is typical of the end of life."

"Oh, dear, how did you come to think of that? To hear you talk one would fancy you were in your dotage."

This left handed compliment caused a slight color to come into my face. I did not deign an answer.

"I have it," she went on. "You got it from the widow. Is she in her summer, fall or winter?"

"Mrs. Kennedy is but half a dozen years older than you," I said.

"Please don't bite my head off. I said nothing against your love. I merely referred to her age."

"Miss Sinclair," I replied sternly, "these references to Mrs. Kennedy are unpleasant to me. I wish you to understand that, situated as I am with regard to her, living under the same roof with her, I must walk a chalk line."

"With Mrs. Kennedy?"

"You are incorrigible."

Tired of this defensive warfare, I determined to carry fire and sword into the enemy's territory.

"Well," I said, "since you will have it so, I admit that I am partial to widows. Only last night one gave me a delicious kiss."

I was watching her closely and saw an involuntary shiver pass over her.

"'My darling boy,' the widow said to me, 'what would I do if anything should come up to part us?'"

"Do old women who mate with young fellows always call them 'darling boy?'"

"Then she put her arms around my neck and gave me a long kiss."

"Shameful!"

"Why shameful?"

"No, I don't mean that; anything that is legal is not shameful, but I never could endure these elderly women who get their claws on young men."

Mabel was turning white and red alternately, and I felt assured that I was getting the best of the argument. We came to a stone culvert underneath which ran a small stream and sat down on the coping. I sat very near her. She moved away. I moved nearer, and she retreated to the end of the coping. I arose and strolled about, finally bringing up directly behind her. Then, bending, I kissed her on the cheek.

The hand that boxed my ears was gloved, but the tingling that followed was worthy of a bare hand. She turned a fiery glance upon me.

"Keep your kisses for your superannuated widows.'"

"To kiss you is more spicy."

"I don't choose to divide my kisses with others."

"It's not a division. I kiss you once; I kiss the other a hundred times."

"The other gives you leave. I do not."

"That's where the spice comes in."

"You mean the ungentlemanlike conduct."

Why will not women understand that to call a man ungentlemanlike is insulting? I returned the thrust in kind.

"I don't consider it ungentlemanlike to kiss some women," I remarked coldly.

"Do you mean—you horrid—well, I never!"

"There are women who permit"—

"Do you dare call me one of that kind?"

"You do not permit me to finish. The widow who permitted me to kiss her"—

"Was of course one of those"—

This fencing was with pointed swords, and already there had been a deal of pinking. This last stab threw me into a fury.

"Stop!" I cried, holding up my hand. "She was my mother."

"Your mother," scornfully. "More likely your"—

She left the word unspoken. I turned on my heel and strode away. I had walked half a mile before I got sufficiently cooled to consider that the charge of "ungentlemanlike" would hold against a man who left a girl alone in a wood. I went back and found Mabel sitting on the coping. I sat down by her.

"Mabel," I said, "I had no business to mislead you."

"And I had no business not to understand you."

I put my arm about her waist and, drawing her to me, kissed her, this time on the lips. Then we arose and began kicking the leaves again.

M. ARMSTRONG HICKSON.

A Helping Hand To Women

There is help for every woman who suffers from headache, faintness, depression, backache and other ailments during those times when Nature makes a heavy demand on her strength and vitality. Every woman should take to help her through these trying periods and to keep the system in a normal and healthy condition. The girl just entering womanhood, and those of maturer years, find equal benefit from Beecham's Pills. Taken at the first sign of derangement, they give prompt assistance. Read the special directions for women with every box.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere in Boxes. 10c and 25c.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Social Realm.

(Continued from page 1)

The Monday Evening club has been missed as a social event every fortnight, more than any other function that Atlantic has ever had to draw people together. There is nothing like a common interest or an interchange of ideas to generate a spirit of good fellowship. The Monday Evening did both and was enjoyed by everyone as a musical and literary feast.

* * *

Mrs. Walter T. Babcock has been spending a few days at Hingham, with friends on Bradley Hill.

* * *

Among the notable weddings in Boston next month will be that of Miss Dorothy Quincy, elder daughter of Mrs. Henry P. Quincy, nee Adams, of Boston and Dedham, and Mr. Frederic Russell Nourse of Boston and Lincoln. Mr. Nourse is a Harvard '99 man.

* * *

Miss Marietta Conway of Peoria, Ohio, is spending a few weeks with Mrs. William H. Binnian of Adams street.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lightfaun, who were recently married, sailed from New York on Wednesday of last week for Bermunda, where they intend passing the remaining winter months. Mrs. Lightfaun will be remembered as Miss Martha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graham of Weymouth, formerly of Washington street, this city. A host of friends wish them bon voyage and a safe return.

* * *

Leon Vincent gave a most interesting talk on "Charles Dickens" at the Quincy Mansion school last evening.

* * *

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. George Bowditch of Chicago, formerly of East Braintree, for the wedding of her only daughter Grace, Jan. 17, to a Chicago business man. Miss Bowditch's friends of this, her native town, wish her much happiness with the man of her choice. They will reside in Chicago.

* * *

Mrs. Joseph Bartlett of Willow street gave a luncheon to Miss Marie Bartlett of Dorchester, last week Friday in honor of the latter's recent engagement to James Chandler of Wollaston.

* * *

The next meeting of the Philergians will be held Jan. 16, at 2.30 P. M. promptly, in Cochato hall. A speaker from the Reciprocity Bureau and a club social will be the entertainment for the afternoon. Club members are requested to be present if possible and promptly, as there is business to come before the club.

* * *

Miss Constance Fryer celebrated her fifth birthday by entertaining her little friends of Miss Hayward's dancing class in Colonial hall on Friday afternoon from four until six o'clock. The refreshment table was presided over in a dainty manner by Rachael Drinker, Mary Faxon and Clarice Doble. About thirty children took part in the German; Miss Louise Pray at the piano.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston.
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-ly

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.

1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

THE QUINCY LEDGER.

FOR SALE AT THE

South Terminal Station News Stand

After 3.35 P.M.

BY A MESSENGER

Moran Sent His Letter to the Home of Governor Guild

HAD POSTED REPORTERS

District Attorney Sends a Caustic Communication In Reply to Statement by Chief Executive as to Provident Securities

Boston, Jan. 13.—Governor Guild has answered John B. Moran's petition, asking the removal of the savings bank commissioners, by saying that he had, before receiving the letter, called the attention of the attorney general to certain specific acts of the commission and asked his opinion as to the proper course to pursue. He said that he would continue to be guided in the matter by the advice of the attorney general and that Moran would be informed later as to any decision that might be made.

The district attorney last night sent a reply to Governor Guild's communication. In his letter Moran took exception to a statement by Guild that the letter sent to the governor Thursday night, demanding the removal of the bank commissioners, had been delivered to the newspapers before it reached the chief executive.

"It is true," Moran said in his letter, "that my communication to you was left by my messenger at your residence. As it was addressed to the man who is governor and not to the official position he holds, I knew of, and now know of, no reason why I should not have caused it to be delivered at his residence at an hour when his official apartments were closed. No paper and no reporter of a paper had a copy of my letter until after the messenger boy had returned to his office after having delivered the letter at your residence, although I had previously told the reporters that I intended to send you a letter containing charges against the savings bank commissioners. I have secured affidavits from the messenger boys and reporters in corroboration of the truth as I have stated it. Somebody deceived you, and you owe it to yourself to retract that portion of your statement."

Replying to the statement of Governor Guild that the latter had already referred the action of the savings bank commissioners in connection with the Provident Securities and Banking company to the attorney general, Moran wrote to the governor:

"Whether the specific acts submitted by you to the attorney general are all of the acts upon which I based my charges, you have no means of knowing. The statute gives you and your council authority to remove the commissioners. I have filed charges against them. It is plain to all, and will be plain to you, unless you become lost in the entangling verbiage of the attorney general, that you should assign a day for a hearing, listen to the evidence and arguments and, with your council, render a decision favorable or adverse to the commissioners.

"If you choose to shield yourself behind the attorney general, I am content to leave you there, at least temporarily. The grafters connected with the Provident Securities and Banking company will approve of such a course by you; nobody else will. My attorney, Mr. Auerbach of 6 Beacon street, will call on you next Tuesday to arrange with you for a date for a hearing agreeable to you, your council and himself."

Violation of Banking Laws

Boston, Jan. 13.—District Attorney Moran will investigate the Italian banking system in the North End. He was informed that in recent years many Italian banks here had failed and that in 15 years the depositors had lost $300,000. Some of the existing banks in the Italian quarter, he was informed, were doing business in violation of the laws. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Biago Sciacco and Antonio Crisafulli, the proprietors of the closed Italian bank at 221 North street, the Banca Siciliano. Sciacco has been missing from his place of business since Monday.

Slight Balm For Stockholders

New York, Jan. 13.—Receiver Candee of the Anglo-American Savings and Loan association, which failed in this city in 1900, yesterday distributed $255,000 to the 5000 stockholders of that association. At the time of the failure the association's liability to stockholders was $2,490,000. The amount actually paid them yesterday was 9.42 percent of that amount.

Morales Discards Presidency

San Domingo, Jan. 13.—General Morales' resignation as president of Santo Domingo has been tendered and accepted. He will leave this city on board the U. S. gunboat Dubuque for Porto Rico. Vice President Caceres, who has been acting as president since the time Morales fled from the capital, is now, according to the constitution, president of Santo Domingo.

Newspaper Sells For $1,250,000

Pittsburg, Jan. 13.—The Pittsburg Leader, for 36 years an afternoon independent paper, has been purchased by John P. Hunter, "in trust," as he says, "for private clients." The price paid for the plant is understood to be $1,250,000. Hunter, who is one of ex-State Senator Flinn's attorneys, says the latter is not interested in the deal.

LOVE OF EXCITEMENT

Said to Have Caused a Youth to Start Disastrous Fire

Boston, Jan. 13.—Albert W. Deares, 16 years old, who three weeks ago made himself a hero at a fire in the New England Reed Manufacturing plant, where he was employed as an office boy, was last evening arrested on a charge of having set the fire.

At the time of the fire, in which the life of one employe was lost and several lives endangered, and a loss of $50,000 sustained, Deares won considerable commendation for the "discovery" of the blaze and for calming many women employes. His activity was looked upon with suspicion by the police, and an investigation has been in progress since the fire. Upon being taken into custody the police allege that Deares told them he fired the building because he loved excitement.

On the day of the fire there was a large consignment of chairs piled in a corner of the shipping room on the second floor, and packed about them was a large amount of excelsior and other inflammable material. Deares is said to have admitted that he scratched a bunch of matches and cast them among the chairs and inflammable material. Soon after this came his "discovery" of the fire. Deares was locked up.

Still Fighting For Tucker

Boston, Jan. 13.—Late last evening a petition for a new trial was filed with Judge Sherman by Messrs. Vahey and Innes, the attorneys for Charles L. Tucker, convicted of the murder of Mabel Page. The points on which Tucker's attorneys base their appeal are, in brief: New evidence tending to show that Tucker was owner of the so-called "Page pin" found in Tucker's pocket; a new witness who corroborates the testimony of Bryan Fish, the chum, who says Tucker cut his finger with a knife in a theatre, thus accounting for the blood on Tucker's clothing; an affidavit signed by Mrs. Joseph E. Grundy, formerly Mabel Walker, in which she admits being with Tucker on the day of the murder, from 1:30 to 3 o'clock, and declaring that she noticed no trace of excitement about him.

Little Ones Burned to Death

Providence, Jan. 13.—Two girls, Lillian, aged 5, and Mildred, 2 years old, children of Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. Sackett, were burned to a crisp at their home in Englewood last evening, after their father had made a vain attempt to rescue them, during which he was badly burned. Mrs. Sackett was at church when the fire occurred. Sackett could give no explanation regarding the origin of the fire before he was taken to a hospital and the police will make an investigation, during which the father will be kept under surveillance.

Coasters Seriously Injured

Augusta, Me., Jan. 13.—Perley Blanchette, aged 12; Fred Pooler, 12, and William Cain, 13, were seriously injured last night as the result of a collision between two sleds on which the boys were coasting. A heavy bobsled overtook and telescoped a lighter sled on a steep hill. Blanchette sustained terrible body bruises. Pooler and Cain suffered broken limbs.

Believers In Protection

Boston, Jan. 13.—Albert Clarke was re-elected secretary and B. W. Dixon, treasurer, of the Home Market club, a leading protective organization affiliated with the Republican party, at the annual meeting of the directors here. Resolutions were adopted reaffirming the policy of adequately protecting every American industry.

Used Revolver on Husband

Boston, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Clara Wiswold of West Roxbury district, in a dispute with her husband last night, shot him with a revolver. The man was not seriously injured. Mrs. Wiswold was arrested on a charge of assault and battery upon her husband.

Something Like Fireproof

Montreal, Jan. 13.—A section of the Windsor hotel was destroyed by fire last night, causing a loss of $150,000. Only the form in which the building was constructed saved the remainder of the hotel, which is one of the largest in Canada. Heavy brick walls and fireproof doors confined the flames to the section where they originated. There was no panic.

Fumigators Started Big Fire

Panama, Jan. 13.—Two blocks on Malambo street, inhabited by the poorer classes, were destroyed by fire. According to current reports, the fire was caused by the carelessness of employes of the sanitary department in fumigating the house where the flames started. The buildings burned include two public schools and an orphan asylum.

Bag and Money Disappeared

Newark, N. J., Jan. 13.—A daring robbery occurred in the National Banking company in this city when a satchel containing $3150 disappeared from the bank counter while the man who had just drawn the money turned for a minute to speak with a friend. The police have no clue. The empty bag was found by a boy in a hallway.

Siberian Situation Was Serious

St. Petersburg, Jan. 13.—The first advices received by the government from Siberia after the restoration of telegraphic communication show that the most critical conditions prevailed there during the recent strike, but that now, with the arrival of reliable troops, the worst is over.

A Reflection.

Mother—Well, what is it? Tommy—How lucky pumpkin pie ain't made like doughnuts, with a hole in the middle!—Harper's Bazar.

The Franklin Bicentenary

Ben Franklin, Scientist and Inventor

Born Jan. 17, 1706; Died April 17, 1790

ONE of the crowning glories of the life of Benjamin Franklin was that he would accept no pay for his inventions. When urged to take out patents, he refused to do so on the ground that others in past ages had given him the advantage of their researches and inventive ability and he had no right to withhold his discoveries and inventions from the use of all mankind. As a printer he was a shrewd business man and made money sufficient to lay aside a comfortable fortune for old age. In science he gave the world his best without money and without price.

From his earliest boyhood Franklin had shown a genius for invention. One of his first contrivances consisted of paddles on his hands and flaps on his feet to aid him in swimming. Later he so arranged a kite that it pulled him through the water. This was not the only kite with which he experimented, but it was the first. The one he used to coax the lightning on to a string came some thirty years later. This was the famous kite that is destined to fly down the ages, carrying Franklin's name with it. The early one only carried his body across a pond.

Franklin made an extensive study of fireplaces and drafts, doubtless occasioned by the fact than on one of the coldest mornings of winter his fire failed to draw. Then he observed that about three-fourths of the fuel was wasted, and this was a sorrow to his economical soul. The upshot was that he wrote an essay on drafts that is an authority even unto this day and invented a stove which was used extensively in the colonies and even in Europe, which was still on deck in the memory of people now living and which made a very snug amount of money—for the manufacturers. This Franklin stove was patented in England, but not by the inventor. The man who starts some new thing for the benefit of the race may get the glory for it and does not always receive even that, but some one who does not know enough to invent a mouse trap usually takes the money. Genius and graft never did go together. For a long time Franklin, by his own account, ate only bread and milk for his breakfast, and that out of a twopenny earthen porringer with a pewter spoon. He did this because he could afford nothing better. Yet he let an English firm of stovemakers get rich out of one of his inventions. Or maybe he couldn't help himself. At any rate they got the profits—and oblivion—while he ate bread and milk and is now one of the immortals.

It was Franklin who discovered that northeast storms start in the southwest, which created quite a stir in his day. He also contrived some improvements for ships. He crossed the ocean several times and probably noticed that there was room for improvement. He also discovered that waves may be quieted by pouring oil upon them, an idea that only now is being put to practical account. It is not on record that he also invented the phrase about pouring oil on the troubled waters, but he made so many other phrases that it would not be surprising if he were found to have been the author of this. He is accused of even more heinous things. For example, he wrote poetry and was one of the first humorists in America.

But Franklin's supreme contribution to science was in the field of electricity. So thoroughly did he identify himself with the first development of electrical knowledge and so fully did he succeed in bringing that knowledge to the masses of the people that future ages will probably regard him as the practical discoverer of this marvelous force.

It was in 1748 that Franklin, having laid by a competence, sold his paper, almanac and printing plant and resolved to devote the rest of his life to research and study. He had already become interested in the almost unknown power of electricity and had invented his "magic picture," "animated fish" and other electrical contrivances to amuse the curious. He had also assisted in inventing an electric motor, perhaps the first ever made. He had shown that the mysterious fluid, as it was then called, could be drawn off by sharp metal points and had propounded his startling theory that lightning and electricity are one and that therefore buildings might be protected by sharp pointed rods, a suggestion that was laughed at in England, but was taken up by the celebrated Buffon in France and resulted in the lightning rod.

It was then that the kite experiment came. This kite was constructed out of his silk handkerchief, attached to which was a pointed wire. The result probably had the most profound effect on the popular mind of any scientific experiment ever made.

Four characteristic circumstances are connected with that kiteflying episode, and, while they are not all scientific, they are so illuminating as to the character of Franklin as to be worth telling. In the first place, the experiment was exceedingly dangerous, and Franklin knew it to be dangerous. He had already killed birds by the current, had propounded the theory that electricity would take life and had himself been shocked into insensibility and nearly killed in a former experiment. But, though he knew the hazard, he faced it so calmly as to suggest that he had never thought of it.

The second circumstance was his calm deliberation about giving the results of his investigation to the world. He waited three months. Then a very short letter appeared in a London magazine reciting not that he had made the experiment, but merely that it had been made in Philadelphia, and signed by the modest initials "B. F." That was all—no hint of boasting or flourish of trumpets. It is real greatness that can afford to be humble.

The last thing connected with that world illuminating experiment was that Franklin was assisted in making it by his son William, which is a story in itself. For William Franklin was a "natural" son, born out of wedlock. He was the fruit of the philosopher's early indiscretion. But like a man Benjamin Franklin acknowledged the fault to the world. He took the boy to his home, raised him, educated him in the best schools of the time, took him to Europe and introduced him everywhere as his son and had him appointed colonial governor of New Jersey. The boy afterward turned Tory, but that was no fault of the father. So, while the lightning flashed for this modern Prometheus, bringing the celestial fire down to mortals, there were accompanying it little human lightning flashes revealing the character of his own soul.

Despite his modesty this achievement at once made Benjamin Franklin one of the most illustrious men of his age. He was elected a member of the Royal society and other learned bodies of Europe, was given doctors' degrees by Harvard, Yale and other universities, which, by the way, he regarded with a feeling of half amused contempt, and he was the lion of the hour both at home and abroad.

Such vogue had the lightning rod that the king had rods placed upon his palace. Then, when Franklin went with the colonies at the approach of the Revolution, a pseudo scientist named Wilson convinced his majesty that he should have rods topped with balls. Anent this there was a piece of punning doggerel that had quite a vogue at the time. One stanza of it ran like this:

While you, great George, for safety hunt
And sharp conductors change for blunt,
The empire's out of joint.
Franklin a wiser course pursues
And all your thunder fearless views
By keeping to the point.

J. A. EDGERTON.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

A Lawyer's Trick.

When Baron Bramwell was once sitting on the crown side on the south Wales circuit counsel for the defense in a certain case asked leave to address the jury in Welsh. The case being a simple one, permission was given without demur. He said but very few words. The baron also did not think much comment was necessary, but was somewhat startled by a prompt verdict of acquittal.

"What was it," he afterward inquired, "that Mr. L. said to the jury?"

"Oh, he just said: 'This case, gentlemen, lies in a nutshell. You see yourselves exactly how it stands. The judge is an Englishman, the prosecuting counsel is an Englishman, the complainant is an Englishman, but you are Welsh, and I am Welsh, and the prisoner is Welsh. Need I say more? I leave it all to you.'"

It is scarcely necessary to mention, says the writer of "Some Legal Reminiscences," that Baron Bramwell did not allow the experiment to be repeated of addressing the jury in a language which he did not understand.

Name Coincidences.

An English paper is collecting name coincidences. At Cambridge university are two Japanese students, M. Seda and M. Wisugi (pronounced whisky). Their names are side by side on the residence list. J. Hunter reports that he was once asked to fill a vacant village pulpit. The regular preacher bore the name of Fox. In Leeds Miss Orange married a Mr. Peel. There is fear that an offspring of this happy union will hyphenate the two surnames. Another matrimonial case is quoted by a correspondent from the published "Diary of John Epps, M. D." On page 605 the doctor notes: "Feb. 17. This morning a patient consulted me named Ann Devil. Finding she was a single woman, I suggested that some day she might become Ann Angel, which made her smile, though she was in great pain." A note made later states, "The curious thing is that she did marry a Mr. Angel."

An Example of Daring.

During the hottest fighting in the Shipka pass the leading battalion of the Russian General Dragomiroff's division recoiled before a hailstorm of Turkish bullets. The general was a very stout person and had the appearance of a peaceful German professor. But when he saw his men recoil he dismounted and walked slowly to and fro along a ridge swept by the enemy's bullets. He was a hundred yards in advance of the men, occupying the position they had abandoned. After staying there for awhile without being touched he shouted back to the battalion: "What are you doing, you geese? Did you think there was danger here? I don't find any!" The men responded with a roar of cheers, doubled up to him and charged so fiercely that the Turks were forced to retreat.

Why Bands Help Marching.

All men who have any appreciation of music feel prompted to step in time to a march tune, and music on the march therefore substitutes a new and pleasanter stimulus to exertion for the monotonous and somewhat dreary one of keeping place in the ranks. It is well known that weariness is, as a rule, more a matter of mind than of body and that the muscles of the body do not tire half so soon as the nerve centers which move them. Music, by bringing a fresh nerve center into play, will often banish all sense of weariness and will even sometimes afford rest to the usual nerve center, so that when the music ceases the soldier feels fresher than before it began.

Starting Tight Screws.

To start a tight screw press the screwdriver firmly in place with one hand, but do not turn it. Then take hold of it sideways with flat jawed pliers as close to the head of the screw as possible and turn it with them. A hand vise is better than pliers. Leave just enough of the tip of the screwdriver outside the vise to fill the slot of the screw, but no more. This reduces the danger of breaking or bending a badly tempered screwdriver to a minimum.—Scientific American.

Laughed First.

"What is the matter, darling?" asked the concerned mother when her small son came to her in tears.

"Well, you see, mummy, daddy was hanging a picture, and he dropped it, and it fell on his toe."

"But that is nothing to cry about," cried the mother cheerily. "You should have laughed at that, sonny."

"I did, mummy," responded her small son regretfully.—London Globe.

Symbols of Trade.

In Scotland it was for a long time usual to place on a man's tombstone the symbols of his trade. Especially was this the case at Dunblane, where, in the burial ground of the abby, it has been found that of those tombstones which are from 100 to 200 years old about one-fourth are thus marked, the symbols being in low relief.

Quite Feeble.

"I suppose you're going to Dr. Mason's funeral, grandpa?"

"Oh," snarled the infirm old man, "don't talk to me about other people's funerals. It's as much as I shall be able to do to get to my own."—Exchange.

A Close Father.

She—You must ask father for his consent. He—He won't give it to me. She—Why not? He—He's too close. He never gave anything to anybody in his life.

Wisdom is knowing what to do next; skill is knowing how to do it, and virtue is doing it.—Jordan.

HISTORIC QUINCY.

Pilgrmages Almost Daily to the City of Presidents.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Gofle street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall, which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

LEWIS N. CURTIS.
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
Old Furniture Refinished.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

A BREAK AT LAST

France Severs Friendship With Venezuela

ULTIMATUM COMES NEXT

Probability of Strong Measures to Enforce Demands--America's Efforts In the Interest of Peace Were Without Avail

Paris, Jan. 13.—Though M. Maubourguet, the Venezuelan charge of affairs, has not yet received his passports, diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela are considered to have been broken off. There is no question for the present of a naval demonstration, but there is no doubt that the French government intends to have the fullest recognition of and respect for its rights.

An official note says that, although an ultimatum has not yet been sent to Venezuela, France cannot tolerate much longer President Castro's refusal to accede to the French demands without considering the advisability of taking stronger means to enforce them.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Although the present breach in the diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela is technically chargeable against the personality of M. Taigny, the French charge at Caracas, the real issue, as it is understood here, is the attack by President Castro upon the properties and franchise of the French Cable company.

Castro asserted that the cable company had lent active assistance to the Matos rebellion. Therefore he began proceedings in the Venezuelan courts against the company on that score and also complained that the company had violated the terms of its concession in not laying certain coast lines of cable, especially in crossing the island of Santo Domingo with land wires subject to frequent interruption in times of rebellion on that island.

The courts sustained the president's view and practically took possession of the company's offices at certain points, when the French government intervened. In the absence of the regular minister, Taigny presented a written protest to the Venezuelan government. President Castro regarded this note as insulting to his government and refused to have anything more to do with Taigny. But the French government refused to allow the dispute to be made a personal one and declared that Taigny, in his presentment, had followed precisely the instructions of his foreign office.

At this point Mr. Russell, the American minister at Caracas, intervened in the interest of peace, and after many patient exchanges it was believed that he had finally succeeded. But while he induced Castro to withdraw a note refusing to do business with Taigny, which the French government regarded as offensive, he could not prevail upon Castro to resume his official relations with the French charge.

The climax came on New Year's day, when the French government, supposing that a satisfactory settlement had been reached, received with the usual honors of the New Year's day reception the Venezuelan minister at Paris, only to learn that Castro had refused to do likewise for Taigny at Caracas. This omission touched the pride of the French government, which felt it had been made the victim of double dealing and deceit, which fact the French ambassador in Washington was not slow to communicate to the state department.

Mr. Russell reported his failure to effect a settlement, thereby making himself unpopular in Caracas, and then came a notice from the French government that diplomatic relations with Venezuela were completely severed. There is a hint of punitive measures on the part of France and the situation is regarded officially as very unpleasant, with possibilities of serious consequences.

Direct Cable Suspended

New York, Jan. 13.—The Commercial Cable company announces that messages for Venezuela must be addressed via Trinidad, to be sent by mail from there, and are accepted only at sender's risk.

Got Away From Tariff Bill

Washington, Jan. 13.—During the Philippine tariff debate in the house a Massachusetts "idea" tariff exposition was given by Mr. McCall of that state, character study of the Filipino was presented by Mr. Longworth (O) and a defense of President Roosevelt was made by Mr. Pou (N. C.) Besides these, there were a number of speeches delivered on the merits of the bill, nearly all of which were in opposition of the measure.

Nuptial Knot Firmly Tied

Madrid, Jan. 13.—Cardinal Hervas celebrated the religious marriage of Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria to the Infanta Maria Teresa. There was a great gathering of members of the royal family, cabinet ministers and other notabilities. The civil marriage was performed Thursday night.

Yankee Fishermen Fared Badly

St. Johns, Jan. 13.—Winter herring fishing on the west coast closed yesterday. Ten American vessels, partly laden with salted and frozen herring, sailed during the past week. The American catch of herring in these waters, however, is not one-half of last year's total.

CRITICISM NOT SPARED

Our Navy Needs Better Ships and More of Them

New York, Jan. 13.—In an address before the Patria club in this city last night Rear Admiral Coghlan, commandant of the New York navy yard, delivered an address on "The Navy." He said that while on paper the United States in 1908 would be in second place as a naval power, yet if there were stricken from the lists such vessels as the "sainted Oregon," now a second rate battleship, instead of in the first line, the United States would not rank better than fifth or sixth among the sea powers of the world.

"There is but one kind of fighting ship," said Coghlan, "and that is the speedy battleship of the line." All others were doubtful quantities. The admiral referred to armored cruisers as being "beautiful to look at and good for something, such as scouting in the Caribbean." These ships, he asserted, are good for such purposes as a Santo Domingan difficulty and in other southern countries where we need to send our navy.

Admiral Coghlan spoke in praise of government-built battleships and referred especially to the Connecticut, now nearing completion at the New York navy yard. He believed she would outstrip her privately built sister ship and that in five or six years the saving in the cost of repairs would be especially noticeable.

"Don't think I am criticising the navy," said Coghlan. "I am not. There is no finer body of men in the world, but they need better ships and more of them."

Camp to Edit Football Rules

New York, Jan. 13.—A move which is taken to mean much toward establishing intercollegiate football on a higher plane than it hitherto has occupied and a reform in the more undesirable details of the sport, was made here when the old football rules committee, which for many years past has dictated the form the sport should take, voted to amalgamate with the new committee appointed by the so-called reform conference recently held in this city and attended by the representatives of 68 colleges and universities throughout the country. When the consolidation was perfected, it was agreed that Walter Camp should edit the new rules.

Senators Will Hear Bigelow

Washington, Jan. 13.—Poultney Bigelow has notified the committee on interoceanic canals that he will appear before the committee next Thursday to testify regarding canal conditions.

New York, Jan. 13.—Poultney Bigelow has published a letter on "Panama," reiterating his charges. He says no American engineer of standing cares to be identified with the canal. He asserts Mr. Taft has not met his charges. He adds: "I have made several broad charges that I authorize the trustees of the Boston university to withhold my salary for the coming year if these charges are not substantially true."

A Farewell For Good

Buffalo, Jan. 13.—Isidor Schweitzer, manager for a house furnishing firm, committed suicide last night in the presence of a roomfull of guests, invited to attend his farewell bachelor dinner. Schweitzer was to have been married next week. After the dinner, which was a merry affair, Schweitzer said: "I have a great joke in store for you." He took a number of envelopes from a drawer and distributed them among his guests and while they were examining them and trying to solve their host's mysterious actions, Schweitzer picked up a bottle of carbolic acid and drank it. He died before a doctor arrived.

Business Still Prospering

New York, Jan. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that seasonable weather has more than offset the effect on business conditions of increased strife between capital and labor. Low temperature and snow brought out the backward demand for heavyweight wearing apparel and rubber goods, restoring the one lagging trade factor, and the other departments of jobbing and manufacturing continue vigorously engaged in preparing for the future, except where a few strikes produce hesitation.

Rogers Case Goes Over

New York, Jan. 13.—In the New York supreme court, counsel for H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil company were successful in securing a further postponement of the rule against Rogers to show cause why he should not be compelled to answer certain questions asked by Attorney General Hadley of Missouri in the Standard Oil hearing in this city. The delay was secured through a plea that one of Rogers' counsel had a case on hearing in another court.

Five Prisoners Got Away

Norfolk, Jan. 13.—The fire which totally destroyed the Norfolk Storage company's peanut factory and threatened the city jail is still burning. The loss will be about $100,000. Only five prisoners escaped from among the 275 removed from the jail with the help of the militia. One returned to the jail.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The large plant of the American Hatters and Furriers' corporation at Danbury, Conn., was partially destroyed by fire. The damage is $35,000.

Secretary of State Root was chosen as president of the American Society of International Law, which perfected permanent organization at New York.

Bishop O'Connell of Portland, Me., who was sent as a special envoy of the pope to the Emperor of Japan, has arrived at Rome after carrying out his mission.

TWO FAMILY HOUSE.

A Model Double Dwelling Designed to Cost but $1,400.

[Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.]

The elevation and floor plans of the house herewith described show a low priced dwelling designed and arranged for two families. It has a very good interior for a low priced house and a pleasing and attractive exterior.

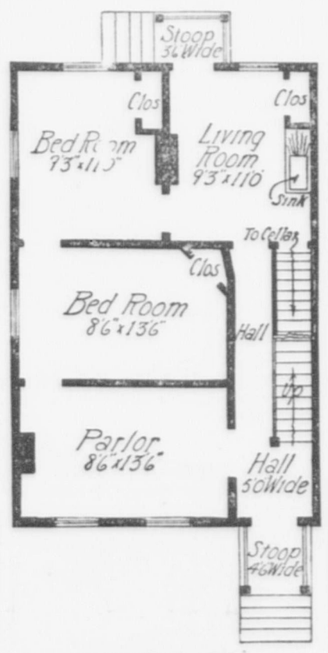

The first floor has parlor, dining room, kitchen, bedroom and hall. The kitchen contains sink, pump and range. There is a nice little dresser built in the dining room, and the parlor is large and roomy for so small a house. The second floor is laid out in the same manner as the first, except that it has one extra bedroom over the front hall.

FRONT ELEVATION.

The dimensions of the house are 20 by 30 feet. The underpinning is of brick laid up in cement mortar. There is a concrete floor under the entire house.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

The superstructure is of frame, sheathed and covered with siding on the first floor, while the second floor is shingled. The shingles are stained pea green before being put on. The body of the house is painted colonial yellow, with white trimmings, and the roof is covered with tin. All windows are fitted with outside blinds, painted green. The interior trim is of cypress of neat design, filled, rubbed and varnished in the natural wood.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

These plans have been used a number of times in New York and throughout the New England states at a cost not exceeding $1,400.

Houses of Hollow Tile.

The Architectural Record describes a novel fireproof house. Both the partitions and outer walls are built of hollow tile, which are locked together by modern inventions so that they are more solid and substantial than the wooden frames of houses. The latter will warp and shrink, but the former do neither. The floors are also built of hollow tile, supported on the partitions of the same material and joined together at the ends, corners and sides by steel interlocking inventions which make a perfectly indestructible joint. With the floors forming a solid block of hollow tiling that is absolutely fireproof, dust proof, sound proof and vermin proof, the home becomes a permanent structure that may well be termed indestructible and imperishable. From the roof to the basement the building is built of fireproof tiling, and a conflagration once started in it could easily be confined to a single room.

A Joke That Failed Twice.

Miss Adelbert had just returned from a vacation spent at a tiny village on the Maine coast. In recounting her experiences she talked somewhat for the benefit of a cousin, a quiet person, who was visiting her city relatives for the first time in many years.

"There was just one store in the place," said Miss Adelbert, "and they kept everything—that is, everything they had to keep. One day I went in to buy some soap, and just on a venture I asked the clerk if they had Browning. He stared at me a second, then went off and looked under the counters and on the shelves. Presently he came back and said: 'No, miss, we ain't got none. We got blacking, an' we got bluing, an' we got whiting, but we ain't got a bit o' browning in the store.'"

Miss Adelbert had to make several protests to assure her audience that this really happened. Finally the cousin asked gravely, "But, Cousin Bert, why didn't you say varnish in the first place?"—Youth's Companion.

The First Fiction.

The "Tale of Two Brothers," written 3,200 years ago by the Theban scribe, Ennana, librarian of the palace to King Merenptah, the supposed Pharaoh of the Exodus, is the oldest work of fiction extant. The tale was written apparently for the entertainment of the crown prince, who subsequently reigned as Seti II. His name appears in two places on the manuscript—probably the only surviving autograph signatures of an Egyptian king. This piece of antique fiction, written on nineteen sheets of papyrus in a bold hieratic hand, was purchased in Italy by Mme. d'Orbiney, who sold it in 1857 to the authorities of the British museum, where it is now known as the D'Orbiney papyrus. Other specimens of ancient Egyptian fiction have since come to light which appear to prove that the Nile valley was not only the birthplace of the arts and sciences, but was also the cradle of romance.

Japan's Pipe Bell.

There is a bell in Tokyo, Japan, which is made from tobacco pipes. So says the legend inscribed around the outside in four languages, English, French, German and Japanese.

The English version runs as follows: "This bell, cast in the city of Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 10, 1892, by Tsuda Sen, is made from the metal of tobacco pipes of more than a thousand men, once slaves, now free men."

The story is that in 1892 a woman missionary from America waged war on tobacco smoking and persuaded over a thousand men to forswear the habit. They therefore had no further use for their metal pipes, which were melted down and cast in the form of a bell. The metal resembles bronze, and the bell has a pleasant musical ring.

Curious Welsh Superstition.

Small glasslike, irregular circlets of some crystallized mineral are occasionally found in the mountains of Wales, and concerning these the Welsh people have some curious superstitions. Some believe that they are formed in the body of a snake as soon as he reaches the age of 100 years, while others declare that they are formed "of froth and venom" when two large male snakes meet. Camden, the great English historian and antiquarian, says: "It is usual for snakes to approach on St. John's eve and by joining heads together and hissing to form a kind of bubble, which passes through the snake and immediately hardens till it resembles a glass ring. Whoever finds one of these rings will ever after prosper."

Rude Baron Steuben.

Baron Steuben was known as the rudest, roughest, most uncivil and discourteous officer in the Revolutionary army. He spoke English to some extent—that is, he knew most of the oaths and expletives and had other words enough to string them together—but when a little excited he would burst forth into a most extraordinary mixture of German, French and English and in this polyglot composition would abuse everybody in hearing.

Fixed.

"Why don't you go to work?" demanded the housekeeper.

"Well, yer see," began the gray haired old loafer, "I got a wife and three children to support"—

"But if you don't work how can you support"—

"As I wuz a-sayin', lady, I got a wife and three children to support me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Cause For Fear.

Second (to duelist, who on confronting his adversary has suddenly grown pale and is only just prevented from falling)—Take courage, man. I know your opponent is going to fire in the air. Duelist—That's just what makes me afraid. He's such a notoriously bad shot.

Always Broke.

Shadbolt—Your finances are at a low ebb again, are they? Dinguss—Ebb? No; that would indicate that they're sometimes at the flow, which they never are. My finances are at their normal and unvarying level.—Chicago Tribune.

Conscientious.

Young Wife—What's the trouble? Why do you sit on the edge of the chair? Husband—Well, dear, you know we are buying it on the installment plan and that's all I feel entitled to.—Life.

Too Late.

She—I hear you have just got married. Is it too late to congratulate you? He—Oh, much too late. I was married three weeks ago.—Illustrated Bits.

SETTING THE TABLE.

Placing the Napkins, Doilies, Knives, Forks and Spoons.

The prettiest way to crease a napkin is to fold it once square and then bring the opposite corners together, forming a triangle. Have the napkins ironed in this shape. First place your chairs so that you will know exactly where to put your napkins. Bring the flat or broad edge of the napkin close up to the edge of the tablecloth in front of each chair, the point of the napkin toward the center of the table. Place your doilies on each side of the point of the napkin. On the right hand doily place the individual butter plate and on the left hand doily the water glass and between the doilies, right at the point of the napkin, the individual glass salt-cellar. Place your knives parallel with the right side of the napkin, first your large size, then the second size, a trifle nearer the edge of the table than the first, then your third size, or fruit knife, a little nearer the edge of the table than the second. Now place your spoons, their bowls up, alongside the knives, in the same parallel manner, their handles running downward. First comes the soup spoon, then a little lower and at intervals two teaspoons, one for compote, one for dessert, and, last, a little lower, the after dinner coffee spoon. Place your forks face downward, parallel with the left side of the napkin, first your large size, then the second size, a trifle lower than the first, then your third size, or oyster fork, a little lower than the second.

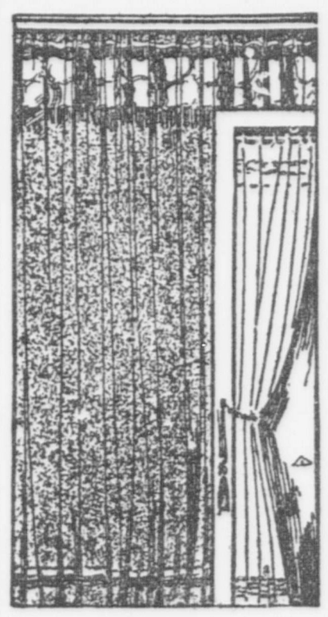

Four extra doilies may be put at different parts of the table on a line with the doilies already placed. On these extra ones stand a fancy mustard pot, a horseradish dish, a pepper box and a cruet.

The carving knife and fork and the large serving spoons are placed conveniently near the host and hostess, who do the carving and serving. The individual butter knife is put alongside each individual butter plate. Now that your places are properly set all that remains to be done to the table is to decorate around the centerpiece. This can be done as plainly or as elaborately as you see fit, according to the time at your disposal and the material at hand. —Men and Women.

THE DRAPED WALL.

An Artistic Arrangement For Interior Decoration.

The methods of treating walls in other materials than printed paper are numerous indeed, and there's a great variety of choice in burlaps, papier mache, tile, wainscoting, fabrics in different arrangements, real and imitation wall leather, stenciling, tempera ornamentation by hand, panel arrangements from Japanese sources and designs in hardwood inlay. The illustration given here, taken from the Interior Decoration Magazine, shows the possibilities of the "draped" wall hung with fifty inch patterned fabric. The material is hung from a concealed brass rod at the junction of the wall and ceiling. The box plaited fashion of hanging is used to conceal the seams in the fabric, which are turned under toward the concealed wall behind the hanging.

A DRAPED WALL.

Blankets.

A housewife whose blankets always retain their softness without shrinking gives the secret. Make the suds in a tub with any good white soap, having the water hot. Dissolve in it a tablespoonful of borax. Run threads around soiled spots on the blanket so that they may be found after they are wet. Rinse the blankets up and down vigorously, rubbing only the marked spots. Never rub soap directly on them. Prepare another hot suds with borax and put the blankets in it. Rinse up and down for several minutes, then rinse in clear hot water softened with borax. Rinse in as many hot waters as necessary, then run blankets through a wringer.—Housekeeper.

Women In Industrial Life.

The census returns show that 5,000,000 and more women are employed in the nation's industrial life. There are now three times as many women stenographers as there were ten years ago, while the number of women bookkeepers and accountants has doubled. The percentage of saleswomen also shows a corresponding increase. Women have risen to be treasurers of street railways, presidents of national and savings banks, secretaries of financiers on salaries of $10,000 and $12,500, executive heads of building and contracting firms, buyers for large stores, etc.—Kansas City Journal.

CATALOGUE PRINTING.

When in want of any little pamphlet or book to advertise your business, let us talk it over with you,

Club Books, Year Books, By-laws, Programs, Catalogues, anything in small pamphlets, promptly printed and tastefully bound. Get our prices.

GEO. W. PRESCOTT & SONS,

PRINTERS.

Quincy Fire Alarm.

12. Palmer st. near C. O. Whitten's.
13. Sea st. corner Shelton road.
14. Hose No. 5 house, Houghs Neck,
15. Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor.
19. Revere road, corner Bigelow
21. Granite st. corner Whitwell.
121. Presidents Hill.
23. Hancock st. near Hall's stable.
123. Hancock t. near car barn.
24. Whitwell st. near City Hospital.
124. Adams st. corner Goffe.
25. Canal st. corner Newcomb.
26. Unitarian Church, opp. City Hall.
27. Washington street, corner Elm.
28. Greenleaf st. corner Hancock.
29. Butler road, corner Putnam.
242. (P) City Hospital.
31. Phipps st. corner Payne.
32. Franklin st. cor. Independence ave.
34. High st. corner Franklin.
35. Hancock st. corner School.
36. Pleasant st. corner Quincy.
136 Water st. corner of Brook road.
37. Franklin st. cor. Water,
38. Liberty st. corner Plain.
39. Penn st. corner Liberty.
138. Brook st. corner Centre.
41. School st. corner Granite.
42. Copeland st. corner Granite.
43. Common st. corner Copeland.
143. Station st.
45. Crescent st. corner Willard.
46. Copeland st. near Furnace ave.
47. Bates ave. corner Grove st.
48. Robertsonst. corner Willard.
49. Willard st. corner Doble.
441. Smith st. near Quarry st.
442. Quarry st. near Hitchcock's.
443. West st. corner Hayden.
445. Common st. corner Quarry.
446. Copeland st. opp. Willard School.
51. Tubular Rivet Factory.
52. Elmwood ave. corner Farrington st.
53. Winthrop ave. corner Warren ave.
54. Fenno st. corner Hancock.
56. Beale st. opposite Woilaston Hotel.
57. Beach st. corner Willow.
58. Beale st. corner Adams.
59. Beale st. corner Central ave.
151. Billings road, corner Beach st.
152. Billings road, corner Rawson road.
153. Farrington st. near foundry.
154. Wollaston ave. near Sailors' Home.
61. Squantum st. corner Hancock.
62. Atlantic st. corner Hancock.
63. Hancock st. near Atlantic depot.
64. Billings st. corner Newbury ave.
164. D Combination No. 2 House.
65. Squantum st. corner Faxon road.
67. Atlantic st. corner Squantum.
68. Squantum.
69. Montclair.
71. Mill st. corner Washington.
72. Washington st. near South.
73. Winter st. corner Howard.
78. Fore River Ship Works.
74. River st. corner Washington.
75. Main st. corner Sumner.
76. Washington st. near bridge.
76. D Power House.
171. Whicher's Factory, Union st.
172. Glencoe place, cor. Scammell road.
173. Newcomb square, Quincy ave.
174. North st.
175. Quincy ave. near Mrs. Baxter's.
718. P Johnson's Lumber Yard.

OTHER SIGNALS.

Second Alarm—Ten 10 blows followed by Box number.

General Alarm—Twelve 12 blows followed by Box number.

Recall—Two 2 blows.

Chief Engineer's Call—Three 3 blows.

Special Calls—Three 3 blows for Hose No. 1. Four 4 blows for Relief Engine.

Fire Alarm Tests—One 1 blow, 7 A. M.; one 1 blow 5 P. M.

No School—Two Two 2-2 Three rounds,

Militia Call—Four 4 blows, Three rounds.

Police Call—Three 3 blows, Three rounds.

Lost Child Call—Five 5 blows, Three rounds, followed by one round of box.

Supt. of Water Works—Six 6 blows.

Electric Light to Shut off Current—Seven 7 blows.

Curfew Law—Two 2 blows 8.55 P. M

For Brush and Grass Fires—Send word by Telephone or otherwise to nearest Fire Station.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS

and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 18 8.
Sunday,	34	49	50	35	43
Monday,	27	41	52	33	46
Tuesday,	26	35	36	35	40
Wednesday,	24	34	45	32	38
Thursday,	29	58	30	42	38
Friday,	55	44	38	27	45
Saturday,	37	43	32	26	54

New Advertisements Today.

The City In Brief

The ladies of First church are to give a supper on Wednesday evening the 24th.

The Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, will meet with Mrs. Mabel Kirkwood, Brook street, on Monday.

Paul R. Blackmur, Esq., attended on Wednesday evening the lecture of Mrs. Craigie, his cousin, at Providence, R. I.

The old delapidated sheds of McKenzie Paterson on Canal street which have been an eyesore for some time, are being torn down.

Valley street is being improved by several loads of gravel; a much needed improvement as the street was always low and muddy even in good weather.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the home of Mrs. E. W. Sheppard, 85 Greenleaf street, Friday afternoon, Jan. 26, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Henry O. Fairbanks of Arlington street, has been quite ill with bronchial asthma, but is slowly convalescing.

The Wollaston W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2.20 with Mrs. F. R. Mills, 192 Arlington street. Subject, Loyal Temperance Legion, Leader Mrs. Caroline Cahoon.

Several naval officers are in town just at present. They are part of the crew of the battleship Rhode Island which will sail soon.

Cochato Club Ball.

The most successful event in the history of the club was the annual ball held last evening in the club hall. Mr. George E. Williams, who had entire charge, deserves the compliments of the large number in attendance. The hall decorations exceeded in beauty all former occasions. It was a profusion of paper pinks. The stage was banked in palms and potted plants.

Mr. C. F. Howe and Mr. G. S. Young were in charge of the floor and ushers were: Messrs. Moreton S. Swallow Harry L. Patten, Walter J. Harrison, Frederick R. Griffin, Edgar F. Norris, George H. Hamblett, Walter S. Lefavour and Edward A. Haskell.

From 8.30 to 9.30 the patronesses, Mrs. George O. Wales, Mrs. George E. Williams, Mrs. Aubrey Hilliard, Mrs. A. C. Drinkwater, Mrs. C. F. Howe, and Mrs. H. S. Barker received the guests. The patronesses held large bouquets; violets, roses and lilies of the valley.

Souvenirs of the ball were elaborate and will be treasured. Each lady was given a small white fan upon which was lettered by hand the order of dances. To the fan was attached a pretty white ribbon bearing in guilt letters the names of the patronesses and ushers.

During intermission, from 11 to 12 an elaborate supper was served. Dancing was then enjoyed until two o'clock.

Refreshments will be served this Saturday evening by Mrs. H. F. Kneeland, Mrs. F. N. Manning, Mrs. F. H. Dearing and Miss Bertha Arnold.

Wollaston Glee Club.

The Wollaston Glee Club, which is in the fifth year of its existence, is composed of well-known business and professional men of our city. Its membership is as follows: Herbert J. Gurney, Albert R. Moulton, Fred H. Bishop, Dr. Charles S. Adams, Rev. Rufus B. Tobey, Charles G. Farwell, J. Arthur Jewell, James P. Seeley, Dr. A. P. Thompson, Charles B. Laurd, T. B. Pollard, W. L. Peck, Herman I. Hahn, Frank K. Linscott, Charles W. Bailey, Albert A. Orcutt, Edward E. Bullock, George L. Anderson, W. Fred Sutherland, Charles W. Page, Albert L. Hayden, Dr. E. R. Johnson, George A. Smith, N. G. Nickerson, Jr., J. A. Horton, Ned Badger, and C. Ralph Taylor. Hon. Charles M. Bryant, and Mr. George Henry Page are associate members.

The club has made good progress under the able direction of Mr. J. A. Crowley of Hyde Park, and the members feel confident that they have a good concert in store for their friends on next Wednesday evening.

December a Warm Month.

The observations at the Blue Hill Observatory show that December averaged nine degrees warmer than last year and about three degrees warmer than normal, being the warmest December since 1899. Warmer Decembers occurred in 1891 and 1895. The number of days of rain was only about half as large as usual, but the total rainfall was greater than normal, owing to two or three heavy rains. The amount of sunshine was about three hours greater than for any December since 1900. The snowfall was about half the usual amount.—Milton Record.

BRAINTREE.

A son came to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Howes of Tremont street this week.

Mrs. H. A. Penniman who is spending the winter at Wakefield was in town Monday calling on friends.

Mrs. Annie C. Hayden, formerly of this town, has the sympathy of her many friends in the sudden death of her sister Gertrude, wife of Dr. Charles W. Pollard of Omaha, Nebraska.

Charles Loring, a faithful motorman who has run on the electrics since they started, has the sympathy of all in the loss of his oldest daughter.

The King's Daughters met Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Alice Holbrook.

Spearing eels through the ice on the Monatiquot river was a cold, but successful sport on Thursday morning furnishing a toothsome food to the plucky spearsmen.

Mrs. R. Belcher of Tremont street is the happy recipient of a beautiful little sachet bag filled with rose leaves, from Los Angeles, Cal.

F. O. Wellington of Quincy avenue, left on Monday for a business trip to the southern states.

The many friends of Miss Gertrude Allen of Crescent place will be glad to hear that she is recovering, after a long illness of inflamatory rheumatism.

Avonia Circle Companions of the Forest held a whist party with Miss Mary Matty Wednesday evening. Miss Alice McCarthy won the ladies first prize and John B. Liberty the gentlemen's prize.

Mrs. Stevenson of Commercial street was carried to the Quincy hospital on Thursday and on Friday was resting after the critical operation. Her friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Charles Hobart, an inmate at the poor farm, died last week Thursday and the funeral was held Saturday. His death was unexpected for he had been out the day of his death. He leaves two brothers. Myron and George.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carney, 301 Union street, gave a progressive whist party last Tuesday evening. Prizes were taken by Miss Josephine Burns, Frank Call and Mrs. H. Wardwell. Refreshments and music were enjoyed. There were about 25 people present.

The King's Daughters met with Miss Jessie McGregor of Liberty street on Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. W. S. Huntington of East Milton will occupy the pulpit of the Union church next Sunday, Jan. 14th, in exchange with the pastor.

Mrs. George Ingersoll of Beloit, Wisconsin, well known here as Miss Theresa Jenkins, is receiving congratulations on the advent of a little daughter on Christmas evening.

Amana Rebekah circle will meet in Odd Fellows' hall on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 16th at 2.30 P. M. A large attendance is desired as there is work to be done.

Charlotte A. Whiting died on Friday, January 5th, at 8.30 P. M. of diabetes. Mrs. Whiting, wife of Millard Whiting was living with her father Mr. Charles Loring on Cain avenue, Weymouth Center.

H. Grover Lassen a former resident has been in town, visiting friends having come on from New York, to visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. Victor C. Lassen, now of East Weymouth.

Joseph, the son of Alfred McGlone of Sunnyside Park jumped on a moving electric car Friday afternoon, and was thrown sustaining slight injuries. The car was nearly opposite Hollis avenue, being the 4.10 to Brockton. Parents should caution their children in this respect as it happens frequently.

The annual parish meeting of Union church will be held next Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, at 7.30. All adults who attent this church are expected to attend this meeting. The annual meeting of the members of the church will be held next Wednesday evening, Jan. 17, at 7.30.

The Thayer academy quintet added another to its already long string of victories by defeating Roxbury Latin school on Friday afternoon. The playing was fast, and the teams were evenly matched, the score at the end of the first half being 6-6. By brilliant individual play by Richmond and Shay in the second half, Thayer pulled out a victory, the final score being 17-8. Mills and Richardson excelled for the visitors and the team work of both sides was good.

—Some Marshfield citizens are anxious to rid that town of the moth pests. Among them is Lysander S. Richards, formerly of this city, who suggests that if owners are not willing to save the magnificent shade trees which line the thoroughfares, that the town buy the trees and protect them.

—Women can stand tight shoes, tight gloves and tight corsets, but they very properly draw the line at tight husbands.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

2D SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY.

Church services are inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week even though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented—Eds.

CHRIST CHURCH, Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue—Rev. W. E. Gardner, rector. 8.30 A. M., holy communion. 10.30 morning prayer and sermon. Sunday School in the Parish house, men's Bible class in the church at 12 M. Evening prayer and address at 7 o'clock. Evening prayer and address at 170 Washington street, Braintree, at 4 o'clock. All welcome.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, (UNITARIAN)—Rev. E. C. Butler, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by Rev. Mr. Secrist of Roxbury. Sunday School at 12 noon.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington street—Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., pastor. Afternoon service at 2.30. Preaching by pastor. Sunday School at 3.30. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, junction Hancock and Chestnut streets—Rev. E. N. Hardy, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by pastor. Second sermon on "The Autobiography of a Soul." Sunday School at 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.15. Evening church service in the church at 7.30. Special music and short address. Free seats and every one invited.

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Topic: "Holden Eyes." Sunday School at 12 M. Topic: "Finding Jesus." Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30. Topic: "What Christ taughtabout money and its uses." Service of song and sermon at 7.30. Topic: "Dare to be a Daniel" Prayer meeting Friday evening at 7.30. Our motto is, "A place for all and a welcome for all."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin street.—Rev. William Alva Brady, pastor. Residence 179 Franklin street. Preaching at 10.30 A. M. Sunday School at 11.45 A. M. B. Y. P. U. at 6 P. M. Preaching service at 7 o'clock Prayer meeting Friday evening at 7.30. A cordial invitation is extended to all of these services.

WEST QUINCY METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Rev. A. B. Tyler, M. A., pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sermon by Rev. John Galbraith D. D., presiding elder of Boston District. Sunday School at 12 M. Epworth League at 6.15. Praise service and preaching by the pastor at 7 o'clock.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, ATLANTIC—Rev. Jason G. Miller, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by pastor. Subject: "A White Stone." Rev. 2:17. Sunday School at 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Topic: "What Christ taught about money and its uses." Leader, Mr. Carl Stocker. Evening service at 7. Sermon by pastor. All are cordially invited.

METHODIST CHURCH ATLANTIC, corner Newbury avenue and Squantum street. Rev. M. C. Wright, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Subject: "The Heroism of Trust" Epworth League at 6 P. M. Mr. J. W. Sanford of the Student Volunteer Movement will speak. Evening service at 7 P. M. Subject: "The Divine Ultimatum."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, of Braintree, Pythian Hall,—Morning service and Sunday School at 10.45. Subject: "Sacrament." Golden Text: "I will sacrifice unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. Salvation is of the Lord." Jonah, 2:9. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M., at Christian Science hall, 460 Washington street, south of Hollis avenue, testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 and Tuesday evenings with gentlemen in attendance. All are welcome.

—A radical reform in college footbal has been suggested by the Harvard graduate athletes, which promises to be of mutual advantage.

BORN.

HOWES—In Braintree, Jan. 7, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Howes, 363 Tremont street.

SCHULTZ—In South Braintree, Jan. 7, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schultz, 14 Union street.

DIED

STUDLEY—In Dorchester, Jan. 12, Mr. George W. Studley, brother of Henry O. Studley of Quincy, aged 72 years and 6 months.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

SOMETHING NEW.

TO Introduce my goods I shall give $2.00 worth of anything in my line for 50 cents. Send this coupon and a 2 cent stamp for my introduction plan.

Address, B. W. FRENCH,
336 Washington St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 2. 6t

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner.

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence 76 Beverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

Weak Lungs Bronchitis

For over sixty years doctors have endorsed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, weak lungs, bronchitis, consumption. Cures hard cases, desperate cases, old cases. You can trust a medicine the best doctors approve.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Braintree Fire Department.

The fire department of precinct two organized Tuesday evening as follows:

HOSE 3.

Captain,—D. J. Gallivan.
First lieut.,—C. W. Woodworth.
Second lieut.,—William Hill.
Secretary and treasurer,—E. F. Watkins.
Steward,—William Hill

HOOK AND LADDER 3.

Captain,—J. H. Kirby, Jr.
First lieut., George Reviere.
Second lieut.,—B. Levangie.
Secretary and treasury,—Frank Mischler.
Steward,—George Reviere.

Keith's Theatre.

Something novel in the way of an animal act will be seen for the first time in Boston at Keith's the week of January 15, when Hermany's troupe of dogs and cats will make their debut. Everywhere these animals have been seen in this country they have received the highest praise from the critics and the public generally. There is a wealth of capital entertainment in the surrounding program, including Emil Hoch, Jane Elton and company in the comedy sketch "Mlle Ricci," into which Miss Elton inducts a capital portrayal of a Parisian music hall artiste; Matthews and Ashley, conversational comedians; Sidney Grant, a former Boston boy and one of the best monologists; "Toto," the mysterious musician; Lillian Tyce and Irene Jermen, "the Irish girl and the dainty singing comedienne;" the Madcaps, clever acrobatic dancers; Dora Pelletier, pleasing vocal comedienne; Musical Hubn, comedy instrumentalist; and Zinelle and Bouteile, in a funny comedy sketch. The customary new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be shown in the kinetograph.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Daily Ledger's New Serial.

"The Two Vanrevels" by Booth Tarkington, is an absorbing love story having a most unusual and original plot, which keeps the reader guessing to the end. Watch for the opening chapter in the Daily Ledger. We have never offered anything better.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Alumnum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante room. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 05. tf

House Bargain in Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence I offer for sale a very nice 6 room House with modern improvements; large lot of land; all connected with sewer; 2 minutes' walk to Station; all for $2,350. Easy terms.

F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine Street, Melrose, Mass.
Dec. 26. 12t

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. 1ptf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to GEO. W. PRESCOTT. Ledger Office.

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day. 25 cents
" " three days, 50 cents
" " one week. 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Between Farrington street, Wollaston, and Doble's corner, South Quincy, a Lady's Gold Watch. Will the finder please notify H. W. SPRAGUE, 222 Safford street, Wollaston. Jan. 12-2t-p-1w

LOST—Saturday afternoon, on Hancock street, a Diamond Snake Ring. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to FRANK CRONIN, 48 Quincy avenue. Jan 8. 3t

WANTED.

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.00 day. Good references. Address, C., Ledger Office. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t.

WANTED—Washing and Cleaning by the day. MRS. LANGTON FLOWERS, 27 Quincy street. Quincy, Jan. 13-1t

WANTED—Girls to learn Type Setting. Also Compositors, male or female, at the Daily Ledger Office. Apply to GEORGE W. PRESCOTT. Jan. 13 tf

WANTED—Ten Experienced Machinists at once, for work on new automobile parts in our new shop at Norfolk Downs, fitted up with all modern improvements and tools. 54 hour time. Good pay. BOSTON GEAR WORKS. Apply by letter only. Jan. 11-3t

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot. Jan. 11. 6t

WANTED—A first-class Stone Carver. None but first-class men need apply. LONG & SAUNDERS, South Quincy. Jan. 9. 6t

WANTED—Cook, Second, Chamber General and Office Girls. Ladies waiting all the time. Plenty of places. MISS FLYNN, City Employment Office 1522 Hancock street, Quincy Jan. 9-3t

WANTED—A First-class Salesman to sell Granite at Wholesale by a Barre Vermont manufacturer. Address BARRE, care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 5-6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—One Clayton Duplex Air Compressor 9 x 9. In first-class repair. Capable of running 30 pneumatic tools. Can be seen running. Cylinders recently bored out, and all new valves. Tank goes with this. A bargain. C. A SWINGLE & CO., Penn street, South Quincy, Mass. Jan. 13-3t

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street. Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—Two Pool Tables and fixtures also two Barber chairs and all barber shop fixtures. A. MALNATI, 76 Liberty street, Quincy. Jan. 4 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout Apply at 355 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan 5. tf

TO LET—Furnished Rooms with steam heat and electric lights in a private family. Apply at 42 Dimmock street, corner Upland road. Quincy, Dec. 26-12t

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point. Dec. 16. tf

You Can Increase Your Business With a Ledger "Ad"

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

All Kinds of Job Printing At Daily Ledger Office

Vol. 18. No. 13. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

EXTENDED REPORT TOMORROW OF THE CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Furniture Clearance Sale.

This time of the year above all others is the money saving time to buy house furnishings. Special bargains in every department with wonderful savings for everyone. Real downright legitimate bargains at this store. No inflated prices with large discounts taken off to mislead unthinking buyers.

Our prices are from 10 to 33 per cent lower than those of any other store on earth. The sooner you get the habit of buying at the Kincaide stores—the sooner your happiness will be more complete and your weekly cash balance larger.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
— THE —
NEW YEAR
— WITH A —
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1948 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties
Dinners and Suppers
Also Hancock Hotel
Newly Furnished Throughout.
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

E. M FREEMAN.
Real Estate
Mortgages,
Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4. Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
Old Furniture Refinished.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours. 8 A. M —6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

The Franklin Bicentenary

Ben Franklin, Statesman and Diplomat

Born, Jan. 17, 1706; Died April 17, 1790

GREAT as were Benjamin Franklin's services to journalism, literature and science, they were yet greater to his country and the freedom of man. As he was the first American newspaper man, author, philosopher and scientist, so he was the first American diplomat; not only so, but he was America's greatest diplomat. This is high praise when it is reflected that among our ministers abroad occur such names as Jefferson, Monroe, Livingston, Buchanan, Burlingame, Bayard, Lowell and Hay. Yet to say that Franklin, the founder of the school, was by all odds its most important figure would receive the cheerful and unanimous assent of all of these. In fact, his supremacy is not confined to America. In all the history of the world there have been few if any diplomats that take higher rank than he. He had long terms of service at the world's chief cities, London and Paris, and he brought the young American nation prestige and popularity throughout Europe.

FRANKLIN IN 1777.

Franklin's first service as a representative of the colonies came long before the Revolution, when he went to London on behalf of Pennsylvania to bring about the taxation of the Penn proprietary estates. These great holdings had been exempted, which made the burdens of taxation fall more heavily on others. In this effort he was finally successful. He afterward spent years in London, representing Pennsylvania and indirectly the other colonies in the growing troubles with the mother country. His tactful, able and convincing testimony before a parliamentary committee had much to do with the repeal of the obnoxious stamp act. He wrote anonymous pamphlets in behalf of the colonies that were so unique, so witty and so full of meat that they had great vogue even in England, where public opinion was hostile. Finally, when the feeling grew more bitter, Franklin, because of some letters he had received and would not divulge, regarding them as confidential, was subjected to an outrageous cross questioning and castigation by Mr. Wedderburn and was deprived of his office of deputy postmaster general for the colonies. To Wedderburn's accusations he answered not a word, but stood serene and unmoved to the end, when he took his departure. This composure gave him the moral victory in the contest even in the eyes of his foes.

It was probably with sincere regret that Franklin decided to leave England. He had been immensely popular there, had been made a member of nearly all the learned societies, had been given degrees from the leading universities and had been on terms of friendly intimacy with most of the celebrities in London. He had also striven to prevent a break between the colonies and the mother country to such an extent that at times he had gained the ill will of both. Relations had grown so strained, however, that it was useless for him to remain longer, so with a sore heart he returned to Philadelphia on the eve of the Revolution.

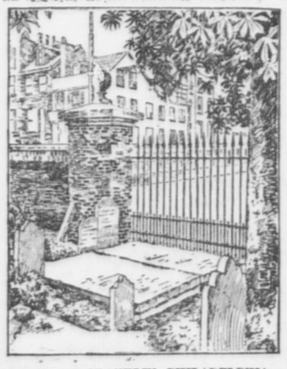

Benjamin Franklin's last diplomatic mission and most celebrated of all was to Paris. Here he went as the representative of the united colonies shortly after the outbreak of the war for independence. His reception was even more flattering than it had been in London. His fame as a scientist, author and friend of liberty made him a popular idol. He became the fashion. His quaint sayings, which he issued from time to time from a little printing press which he set up at his rooms, were quoted by every one. Even the plainness of his dress did not detract from the universal esteem in which he was held. It is said that when Franklin sent to the king a request that he might be permitted to wear the sort of clothes he had worn at home, knit stockings and all, the king smilingly gave his assent, and his court soon forgot the homeliness of the Quaker statesman's attire in the brilliancy of his mind. In the language of his friend Paine, he was willing to "let those wear fine clothes who need them." His inner adornment was such he did not require the outer.

Franklin's great popularity in Paris continued to the end, and that in spite of the fact that Lee, one of his fellow commissioners, tried to create a prejudice against him. None of the other American representatives even approached his popularity. Lee was finally recalled, Silas Deane was disgraced, John Adams failed to please, and Franklin was left to represent the colonies alone. The services he rendered at the court of France can never be overestimated. He has been credited, and no doubt rightfully, with having been the most considerable influence in securing France's intervention in our behalf. He certainly secured loans innumerable, arms and ammunition for the struggling colonists. Whenever congress needed money, which was quite often, it drew on Franklin, and he never failed to meet the drafts.

His crowning services as a diplomat were in signing the treaty of peace with Great Britain. By his influence and tact he secured more favorable terms than could have been got by another. It was he who insisted on holding the territory west of the Alleghanies. At the end of the diplomatic battle it was seen that Franklin and his fellow American envoys had scored a substantial triumph. The signing of that document made a new nation under the sun, and the sage who had done so much to bring the republic to birth soon hastened back to its welcoming shore. Before leaving, however, he ended his diplomatic career by signing a treaty with Prussia.

The record of this versatile man as a statesman is fully as conspicuous as the part he played in other fields. He was always interested in public questions. He was clerk of the Pennsylvania assembly for years and afterward a member of that body. He was postmaster of Philadelphia, assistant postmaster general of the colonies and postmaster general after independence was declared.

He was a colonel in the French and Indian war, though he participated in no battle. He was a member of the Albany convention about the time of that war and proposed the first plan of union for the colonies, which was the forerunner of the union under which they gained freedom. He was a member of the Continental congress, one of the committee appointed to draft the Declaration of Independence and one of its signers. He was one of the members of the constitutional convention, where he was known as the peacemaker and where his tact and finesse were in daily requisition to bring about an agreement between the bitterly contending factions. He proposed the plan of congressional and senatorial representation which finally made it possible for the factions to get together.

GRAVE OF FRANKLIN, PHILADELPHIA.

For a time Franklin held the office that corresponded to the governorship of Pennsylvania. He founded the Philadelphia Public library. He founded the American Philosophical society. He founded a school that grew into the University of Pennsylvania. He endowed scholarships and left a sum of money to bear interest for a hundred years, which was partly used to build a great manual training school in Boston. He was ever busy in some work to benefit mankind.

His last public act was to sign a memorial to congress against slavery. He was president of the antislavery society that drafted this memorial, by the way, and his last paper, and one of his brightest, was an answer to an attack upon it.

He died in 1790, a year after Washington had been inaugurated president. The new nation was safe. His work was done. A very inconspicuous slab is all that marks his grave. That is as he would have it. Let those have monuments who need them.

Perhaps no sketch of Benjamin Franklin would be complete without quoting his epitaph, written in youth, and his hanging remark. The epitaph runs like this: "The body of Benjamin Franklin, printer, like the cover of an old book, its contents torn out and stripped of its lettering and gilding, lies here, food for worms. But the work shall not be lost, for it will, as he believed, appear once more in a new and more elegant edition, revised and corrected by the Author."

The hanging remark was made in the second Continental congress. President Hancock had admonished the members that they must "all hang together." "Yes," said Franklin, "or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

As the constitution was being signed the genial philosopher looked at the sun painted on the wall behind the president's desk and remarked that he never could determine whether the scene represented a sunrise or sunset, but now he was sure it represented a sunrise.

This very human man, while usually abstemious, upon occasion loved the good things of life. In fact, he indulged in fine dinners so much that he was troubled with that very unromantic disease, the gout. Nor was he insensible to feminine charms. He was close to common life and had in him a touch of the earth, yet through this coarse exterior shone one of the largest and kindliest spirits that ever came to bless the human race. J. A. EDGERTON.

Work On the Warships

Nine of the 31 warships under construction for the United States government are being built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy. The list includes the following, being followed by figures which show the percentage of work done to Jan 1.

Rhode Island, battleship,	99.00
New Jersey, battleship,	95.50
Vermont, battleship,	70.70
Birmingham, scout cruiser,	18.20
Salem, scout cruiser,	17.60
Cuttlefish, submarine,	46.90
Tarantula, submarine,	39.90
Octopus, submarine,	38.70
Viper, submarine,	37.80

Probably the names of the submarine boats and the scout cruisers were unknown to Quincy people previous to this statement.

The work now under construction for the navy includes 13 battleships, 6 armored cruisers, 3 protected cruisers, 2 training ships, 3 scout cruisers and 4 submarine boats.

Population By Precincts

The population of the city by precincts was never ascertained until the oensus of 1905 just issued and there will be some surprises. The figures by precincts and wards are :

	Pre. 1	Pre. 2	Total
Ward One,	1966	2828	4794
Ward Two,	2100	2410	4510
Ward Three,	2595	3222	5817
Ward Four,	2525	3038	5563
Ward Five,	4036	——	4036
Ward Six,	1822	1534	3356

As already noted Ward Three is the most populous, with Ward Four second. Then come in order Wards One, Two, Five and Six.

The largest precinct is Ward Five which is not divided. Precinct 2 of Ward Three is second, Precinct 2 of Ward Four is third and Precinct 2 of Ward One fourth.

Both precincts of Ward Six are smaller than all other precincts, but Precinct 1 is pushing Precinct 1 of Ward One which is west of Hancock street.

January Hay Burned.

Saturday night some person set fire to a large stack of salt hay on the marsh off Atlantic street. The hay had been cut a few days before and was to have been carted off today. The Atlantic combination responded on a still alarm for the fire.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —State House, Boston, Jan. 13, 1906. The Joint Committee on the Judiciary will give a hearing to parties interested in House Bill No. 37, on terms of service of jurors in Middlesex and Norfolk counties; Senate Bill No. 11, that New Year's day be a legal holiday; House Bill No. 75, that the Land Court have jurisdiction as to ownership of certain lands and flats; House Bill No. 83, as to priority of liens over mortgages; and House Bill No. 84, as to publication of notices of sales to foreclosure mortgages, at room No. 227 State House, on Friday, Jan. 19, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. Chester W. Clark Chairman. M. Fred O'Connell, Clerk of the Committee. Jan. 15. 1t

Are City Finances Improving?

Review of Annual Report Of City Auditor And Treasurer

The annual report of City Treasurer Fay shows the total expenditures of the city for the year 1905 to have been $1,219,168.18 of which $869,238.94 were on account of 1905 and $349,929.24 on account of 1904. The latter includes $325,000.00 in payment of temporary loans.

The large expenditures of 1905 were: $20,515.46 for pay of city officers; $19,086.24 for pay of firemen; $19,720.75 for pay of police; $88,593.20 for pay of teachers; $14,323.69 for interest; $18,828.75 for sewer debt; $27,715.00 for water debt; $28,880.00 for State tax; $26,642.35 for Metropolitan sewer assessment; $27,381.66 for Metropolitan water assessment; $23,261.09 for Norfolk county tax; $76,942.00 for maturing city debt; $17,300.00 for maturing sewer debt; $37,500 for maturing water debt; $100,000.00 for payment of temporary loans: $24,161.77 for streets; $22,278.60 for street lighting; $24,945.05 for sewer extensions; and $38,594.23 for water construction. All other items were less than $10,000.00.

The receipts of the year aggregated $1,370,887.29, and included $113,097.48, cash on hand Jan. 1, 1905, and $360,000.00 borrowed in anticipation of taxes; also $157,000.00 borrowed for city improvements; $25,000.00 borrowed for sewer extensions, and $26,000.00 borrowed for water extensions.

The collections on account of the 1905 tax were $300,440.73 against $265,908.10 last year on account of 1904. The collections on back taxes, that is previous to the 1905 tax, were $189,057.67 against $219,707.52 the previous year. The total tax collections were over $5,000.00 less than in 1904, although the mayor said in his inaugural address "the showing made is an improvement over previous years."

The income from water rates was $94,738.05 against $96,819.39 in 1904. Heretofore there has been a big increase annually, and these figures will cause some surprise. The income in 1903 was $86,045.29, and in 1902 $78,093.48. The average increase has been over $8,000 per year, and a like increase this year would have made the receipts $105,000.00.

The receipts from sewer assessments in 1905 were $31,300.83 against $22,642.28 the year before.

City Auditor Sidelinger in his annual report shows the total appropriations of 1905 to have been $767,688.08 and the expenditures $636,215.85, leaving a balance of $131,372.25. This balance, however includes the $113,000.00 appropriated for the High school enlargement, none of which has been expended; also $3,900 for special street improvements which have not been started, and $1,800 balance for the Maple street work, leaving a balance of less than $13,000.00 from the annual appropriations.

The appropriations of 1905 were $23,926.15 larger than in 1904, and the expenditures $84,496.91 less.

Rumor has it that at least one department has unpaid bills for a large sum which are in excess of appropriations. These bills have not been forwarded to the City Auditor.

That unexpended balances are an uncertain sum is shown by the fact that the City Auditor reported on Dec. 31, 1904, a balance of $22,949.17 against the appropriations of the year. The Auditor's statement for Dec. 30, 1905, shows that the expenditures on account of 1904 were $24,920.24, about $2,000.00 in excess of the balances reported for 1904.

While the tax collection on account of 1905 amounted to $300,440.73, but $100,000.00 of the $360,000.00 borrowed in anticipation of taxes, were paid during the year 1905, and the cash on hand Dec. 31, 1905, was but $151,719.11, most of which was appropriated for the High school enlargement.

In other words the unpaid taxes of 1905 due on Jan. 1, 1906, plus the cash on hand at that date, would not pay the balance due on temporary loans of 1905 in anticipation of taxes together with the $113,000.00 appropriated for the High school enlargement.

Mitchell System.

The Wollaston Whist Club played Saturday night under the Mitchell System and resulted as follows.

NORTH & SOUTH.

E. E. Hoxie and J. H. Broughton	plus 12 1-2
H. C. Seymour and G. A. Thompson	minus 1 1-2
R. R. Freeman and C. W. Chapman	minus 5 1-2
R. F. Foster and A. B. Hillman	minus 5 1-2

EAST & WEST.

J. G. Brown and C. B. Hoxie	plus 10 1-5
C. E. Barker and J. I. Litchfield	plus 5 1-5
E. W. Taylor and G. A. Smith	plus 2 1-5
R. D. Mitchell and H. C. Lavelle	minus 5 4-5
H. A. Stevens and C. E. Hathaway	minus 11 4-5

A CARD.
We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.
E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.
Nov. 22. 6mos

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

Postponed
ENTERTAINMENT OF
FIRST CHURCH SOCIAL CLUB
to have been given this week Friday Evening has been postponed to Friday Evening, Feb. 2.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 3t

Buy Me Quick Price List!
We call this a "buy me quick" price list, because you'll want to buy the items mentioned below quickly—so good are they
"Hatchet Brand" cold packed Northern Tomatoes, 2 cans 25c.; good brand Tomatoes, 10c.; McLean's Advanced Peas, 2 cans 25c.; Advancer fine Marrowfat Peas, 3 cans 25c.; Preferred Stock, best Maine Corn, 2cans 25c.; Brier Bush Corn, 3 cans 25c.; Ideal Corn, 2 cans 15c.
Wyman's Maine Blueberries, 2 cans 25c.; 3 lb. Cans Apples, 10c.; Bridal Bell Beets, small, red and choice, 12c.; Table Brand Wax, Beans—the finest—10c.
These prices hold good until our stock is sold—better come early though, if you wish to be sure.
R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 307-3.
Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6 00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Metropolitan district council bill introduced into the Legislature by Representative Bennett of Boston has considerable merit. At present the Metropolitan boards are irresponsible and they have altogether too much authority Assessments upon the cities and towns are rapidly increasing but the cities and towns are powerless to check them.

The metropolitan district council bill, says the Globe, is not an annexation, or "Greater Boston" measure, but seeks to create a council composed of the chief executive officers of the cities and towns included within the scope of one or the other of the metropolitan departments—the water, or sewer or park—and which are, by this bill, officially designated as the Metropolitan district. The standing of each city or town toward the state, or the district or the other cities or towns within the the district, is not to be altered in any degree by this measure. Each unit will continue to be as at present, an absolutely independent municipality, conducting its own affairs and cooperating with its neighboring communities and the state, as it now does.

The exhaustive evidence taken by the metropolitan district commission of 1896 showed that the smaller cities and towns that are so closely allied to Boston by geographical, business and social ties, but are self-governed, were overwhelmingly opposed to annexation, and there is no reason to suppose that this sentiment is less strong now than it was 10 years ago. But it was very clear then, and is much clearer now, that some means of bringing these various communities into closer official relations was very desirable, and that great good would result from so doing.

The Bennett bill provides that the metropolitan district council shall consist of the mayors and chairman of the selectmen of the cities and towns within the district, and that each shall have one vote for each 100,000 inhabitants or major faction thereof, in his municipality, but that each shall have at least one vote. This gives Boston six votes and each other place one vote, as the population at present stands. This ratio has been adopted because it is necessary to keep the vote small, and to prevent the possibility of a few of the larger cities' combining and perhaps shutting out the smaller places.

As the function of the council is merely to approve or disapprove of legislation already enacted, and not to make new legislation, the ratio adopted endangers no community's welfare, but enables these executive officers in whose care the finances of their towns are placed to survey new projects, for which the district will have to pay, and decide whether it is wise or expedient to adopt them. At present they have no voice in the matter, although they have to provide the means to pay.

The bill provides further that every act which involves new expenses for the district to meet shall be referred to the council after being enacted, and shall not become operative unless accepted by a two-thirds vote. This in line with the practice which has prevailed in recent years of making all state legislation respecting new works in cities only effective after acceptance by a two-thirds vote of the city council. The council is to meet in Boston city hall, and is to elect its own officers and adopt its own rules.

In addition to the great advantage of enabling the executives to protect their communities against legislation upon which they may differ with the legislature, a still greater benefit will, it is claimed, undoubtedly arise from the intercourse between these officials and the improved methods which will certainly be developed by the discussions of handling the problems of the great community which is really all Boston, though politically separated into about 40 individual units. In other words, the metropolitan district council is intended to provide the benefits of consolidation, and at the same time not encroach one inch upon the jealousy guarded independence of any of the communities.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

WERE NOT POSTED

Bay State Bank Commissioners Misconstructed Law

TWO HAVE RESIGNED

Sequel to Agitation Brought About by Failure of Provident Securities and Banking Company at Boston

Boston, Jan. 15.—After a conference with Governor Guild, called by the governor, Warren E. Locke and James O. Otis, two of the three savings bank commissioners of this state, sent their resignations to the governor and the governor accepted them in a letter in which he said that the commissioners had frankly admitted that, until last September, they had neglected to inspect such corporations, through their misconstruction of the law, as the Provident Securities and Banking company.

This company had been brought before the courts by the commissioners and a temporary injunction obtained. A statement showed that that bank owed the depositors $182,000 and that its assets were mainly in a western irrigation company.

In their letter of resignation the two commissioners state that their associate, Andrew M. Dorr, who was but recently appointed, was, in their belief, in no way responsible for the present condition of affairs, and the governor states in his letter of reply that the plea for his retention will be taken under careful advisement.

The resignation of the commissioners was the outcome of the governor's investigations into the closing of the Provident Securities and Banking company on Jan. 4, the day of the governor's inauguration. The court proceedings on that day which resulted in the granting of a temporary injunction was taken by the attorney general at the instigation of the commissioners after the bank officers had admitted that they had only a few thousand dollars on hand to meet claims.

The bank, which was a South Dakota corporation, was started in 1902, with prominent Massachusetts men, such as Adjutant General Dalton, Inspector General Brigham and Colonel Hedges as officers and directors. After running a year a savings department was instituted and a large number of small metal banks were sold to depositors. Nearly 10,000 of these banks had been sold when the bank was closed, and a meeting of many of the depositors showed that they were people of comparatively little means.

Nearly a hundred of them, after finding that the bank was closed on the 5th, attended the court proceedings last Monday when the question of appointing a receiver was argued, and then, finding that there was little hope of obtaining their savings, at least for some time to come, they began to look for more stringent remedies.

In the meantime their cause had been taken up by District Attorney Moran, who had a brief conference last Thursday with Colonel Hedges and Chairman Locke of the savings bank commissioners. As the result of this conference, which was cut short in the case of Hedges by his retirement from the district attorney's office, Moran sent a letter to the governor in which he called for the immediate removal of the savings bank commissioners.

The governor replied Friday in a somewhat caustic communication, in which he informed Moran that he had already taken action in the matter of the closing of the bank by asking an opinion of the attorney general. A delegation of the depositors also called upon the governor and asked him to take some action in the matter of recovering their savings, which he promised to do. Another episode in connection with the matter was the resignation of Inspector General Brigham of the governor's staff and a former director of the company, which was not accepted by the governor.

Matters, as far as the savings bank commissioners were concerned, came to a head when the governor received an opinion from the attorney general in which the latter stated that the acts of 1902 clearly gave the board of commissioners of savings banks the power to examine and make disclosures of the condition of all such corporations as the Provident Securities and Banking company. The governor then sent for the three members of the board. After a conference they retired and within a short time the governor received and accepted their resignations.

Food For the Superstitious

St. Petersburg, Jan. 15.—A sanguinary tragedy in the famous restaurant, "The Bear," yesterday, in which a student was shot and killed by Count Sherometieff and the count was badly battered by friends of the dead man, has cast a shadow over the New Year festivities, it being universally accepted by superstitious Russians as an augury that blood, passion and violence will reign in the empire in 1906.

Scows and Two Men Lost

New York, Jan. 15.—Tugboat Eugene F. Moran was towing two scows out to sea when the hawser parted and the scows went adrift. One of the scows capsized and one of her crew was drowned. When the Moran attempted to pass a line to the other scow, a heavy sea swept a man from the deck of the craft. He, also, was drowned. The scows drifted down the coast and were lost.

BANKER ARRESTED

Held In Connection With Closing of Boston Place

Boston, Jan. 15.—Antonio Crisaffulli, senior member of the firm of Crisaffulli & Sciacca, which conducted the Bank of Sicily, at 221 North street, was arrested yesterday in New York at the instigation of the Boston police, charged with grand larceny. It is alleged that the arrested man, who is an importer in New York, was implicated in the disappearance of about $7000 in deposits.

The defunct bank went out of existence last Monday and, coincident with the closing of the bank, the junior partner, Sciacca, took his departure. The bank was an adjunct to a grocery store which Sciacca opened six months ago, and, contrary to the law passed last year compelling a house setting up in banking to give bonds for $15,000, Sciacca began to take the hard earned money of some of the Italians in the district.

In about six months he did a land office business, and he also sold bonds and drafts for the purpose of being sent to Italy. This system of drafts was responsible for the discontinuance of the bank.

Beloved Educator Laid Away

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The body of William R. Harper, late president of the University of Chicago, was laid to rest Sunday in a vault in Oakwoods cemetery. The final resting place of the body of the educator will, however, be on the university campus. The body lay in state for four hours, after which funeral services were held. The floral tributes were numerous and included wreaths from President Roosevelt, Emperor William of Germany and many other distinguished persons.

Moth Extermination

Boston, Jan. 15.—Dr. L. O. Howard, director of the national bureau of entmology, announced during a lecture here, with some qualifications, an early prospect for the extermination of the gypsy and brown-tail moths in Massachusetts. His hopes are based on the importation of 50,000 insect parasites already, and the coming of 3000 more. All of these insects are expected to hatch some time this coming spring and enter upon a career of destruction of the moth pests.

Two Accidental Electrocutions

New York, Jan. 15.—Two men met death in the storm which swept over New York and neighboring cities, both by electrocution from contact with fallen electric light wires. Sleet, snow and rain, which froze soon after it fell, ereated a condition in the streets which threatened to tie up vehicular traffic. Many persons were injured by falling on the slippery pavements. A sudden rise in the temperature soon brought a thaw.

The Franco-Venezuela Break

Caracas, Jan. 15.—The Venezuelan government having continued to abstain from renewing relations with France through M. Taigny, the French charge of affairs, Mr. Russell, the American minister, delivered a note to Venezuela on behalf of France, severing relations between the two countries. The archives and interests of France remain in the hands of Russell. Taigny has been recalled.

Intended to Purify Insurance

Washington, Jan. 15.—Senator Dryden has revised his bill contemplating government control of insurance and will reintroduce it in the senate. The investigation by the New York legislative committee has aided him in perfecting his measure, until now he expresses the belief that it will correct practically all of the insurance evils exposed by the New York inquiry.

Abandoned Bark at Sea

New York, Jan. 15.—Steamer St. Paul, from Southampton and Cherbourg, brought Captain Sheppard and crew of nine men of the American bark Edward L. Mayberry, which was abandoned at sea Dec. 15, when 250 miles east of Cape Hatteras. The men of the Mayberry's crew were rescued by bark Statia and were landed at Havre.

Girl Rivals In Love Fought Duel

Mexico City, Jan. 15.—Two girls, Nicholasa Elizalde and Francisca Fuento, rivals in love, decided to settle the question of possession of their lover by a duel and met in a field in the suburbs of the city and fought with knives. Miss Elizalde was stabbed five times and fatally injured. The surviving duellist has been arrested.

The Philippine Tariff Hitch

Washington, Jan. 15.—Rumors of a compromise between the Republican leaders and the Republican opponents of the Philippine tariff bill have been discussed by members of congress, but nothing like a definite proposition has been made and consequently no understanding has been reached.

Crowds Paid Homage to Nogi

Tokio, Jan. 15.—General Nogi, who arrived Sunday from Manchuria, was given a popular reception similar in enthusiasm to that accorded Admiral Togo. Cheering crowds lined the streets as the general and his staff drove to the palace.

Killed Mother by Accident

St. John, Jan. 15.—By the accidental discharge of a rifle in the hands of her 10-year-old son, Mrs. Robert Moore was instantly killed at her home, 15 miles outside this city. Mrs. Moore was 55 years old and leaves a husband and seven children.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Jan. 16.
Sun rises—7:11; sets—4:38.
Moon rises—11:22 p. m.
High water—3:15 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.

There will be rain or snow and warmer weather in New England.

Local Ins And Outs

City Council this evening.

Annual meeting tonight of the City Hospital corporation.

The Quincy people who sailed for Jamaica missed the first real tough storm of the winter.

The No Name whist club will meet with Mrs. William Lapham, Safford street, Friday Jan. 19.

With the opening of two new markets in City square, there will be enough and to spare. With so much competition there should be a little reduction in prices.

If the snow had come with a high wind early Saturday evening the storm would have been much more severe than it was. Considerable snow fell on Sunday and sleighing is very good.

The annual meeting of the City Hospital Corporation tonight at Colonial hall should be well attended. In addition to the election of clerk and trustees, the financial report will be read.

Eight Quincy gentlemen will act as ushers at the Henry H. Faxon memorial service to be held at Tremont Temple on Thursday morning, viz: Dr. C. T. Sherman, Delcevare King, Arthur W. Hall, Ernest G. Gay, George E. Adams, Arthur W. Newcomb, W. F. Cummings and Herbert O. Cassidy.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held tonight. President Piper will probably announce the standing committees. There is a possibility that Mayor Thompson may send in his appointments although it is doubtful if they come before the first meeting in February.

"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."
"The Two Vanrevels."

One lady says she has seen the above so many times that she is constantly thinking about them. It is said each chapter will keep the readers guessing.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

With the production of "The Merchant of Venice" at the Castle Square Theatre next week will come the third classic revival of the season at that house. Months have been spent in preparing a new acting version of the famous comedy, and the result will be that the Castle Square audiences will see the play without the many omissions of the scenes and characters so frequent on modern stage. Every one of its five acts will, moreover, be set with scenery especially designed for this production, and every scene will represent artistically and realistically the streets, the houses, the canals and the palaces of Venice. Portia's home at Belmont will be strikingly and beautifully set, and the duca court where in Shylock is tried for conspiracy against Antonio will be a faithfull copy of an actual Venetian scene.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The coming weeks at the Empire Theatre will be made notable by a series of productions calculated to show the Empire Stock Company or splendid advantage. So much interesst was shown in the production of "A Message From Mars" last fall, when its performances were necessarily limited to a single week, that Manager Morison has arranged to revive this interesting play next week with the same cast and excellent stage settings which were used in its earlier presentations. On the following Monday, January 22d, the Empire Stock Company will be seen for the first time in the great war play "Shenandoah" which has enjoyed a degree of popular favor since its original production as has been shown few dramas dealing with the civil war period.

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

CATHERINE C. GEARY,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Michael B Geary of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the seventeenth day of January, A. D. 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t-4, 11, 15

A GALLANT RESCUE

Sixty Persons Taken From Stranded Steamer Cherokee

HAD ABOUT LOST HOPE

Picked Men Put Out In Sloop Yacht and Accomplished Their Purpose After Assuming Terrible Risks

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 15.—After 24 hours of terrible anxiety, the passengers and crew, 60 in all, of steamer Cherokee, from San Domingo for New York, which went aground on the Brigantine shoals Friday, were rescued late yesterday afternoon and landed at the inlet here. Captain Archibald, two mates and the ship's carpenter decided to remain aboard the stranded steamer.

The rescue was accomplished by Captain Caste and a picked crew in the sloop yacht Alberta, and their experience was almost as thrilling as that of the stranded passengers. More than 1000 persons greeted the storm-tossed party as the sloop sailed into the inlet with the report that all hands were safe. Not in years have the inhabitants of Brigantine and Assecom beaches been so wrought up for the safety of a stranded ship's company, and never were so many attempts made nor perilous chances taken to reach a ship in the face of a fierce northeast storm as were ventured in the rescue of the Cherokee's party.

When the Cherokee ran into the treacherous Brigantine shoals there was no fear for the safety of the vessel or those on board. The sea was comparatively smooth and it was expected that she would be floated at the next high tide. The life crews immediately went to the rescue, but they were assured that there was no danger. Some of the passengers, of whom there were 10, became a little anxious and wanted to be landed, but this the captain could not permit without orders from the company, so all hands decided to make the best of it. At the request of the captain the South Brigantine lifesavers remained aboard the steamer.

During Friday night a moderate northeast storm set in, causing the sea to become choppy and sending the vessel deeper into the sand. Daylight Saturday found the storm in full blast, making it impossible to launch a boat or for a boat from shore to come near the steamer. A heavy rain set in and later in the day a fog settled down and the vessel was lost to view. The wind rose until it reached a velocity of 33 miles, which churned up the sea and caused the breakers to dash against the vessel with such violence that the passengers and crew had to leave the deck.

Nothing was heard from the passengers after the fog settled until dawn Sunday, when a signal from the steamer reported all hands still on board. All during the night the life guards of three stations watched for a slight moderation of the storm, but it did not come until noon, when there was a perceptable fall in the wind. The lifesavers deemed it folly to attempt to go to the steamer in the sea that was running, but it was decided to send two men in a launch. This was done, but the launch's machinery became disarranged and it drifted about helplessly. Another launch was sent out and brought back the two men and the disabled launch.

Then it was decided that the staunch sloop Alberta, with Captain Caste at the helm, and a picked crew, should make an attempt to reach the Cherokee, and, if possible, take off those on board. The Alberta went pitching up the coast towards the stranded vessel. When abreast of the stranded steamer the sloop put about and came to the leeward. A small boat was launched and several of the crew made the perilous trip to the steamer. They found the passengers and most of the crew in a terrible state of anxiety.

Captain Archibald and Captain Caste decided to make the attempt to transfer the passengers. Only four or five were taken at a time, and after nearly two hours' work all but the captain and three of his crew were safely aboard the Alberta. It did not take the sloop long to make the run to the inlet, where the passengers and crew were congratulated on their safe landing. Most of them were in an exhausted condition, not having slept for 48 hours. Agents of the company took charge of the party, sending all the passengers and crew to hotels, where physicians prescribed for those who suffered worst from the terrible experience.

Among those landed was Lieutenant Walker, formerly of the United States cruiser Yankee, who was returning to Washington from Puerto Plata. He said the scenes aboard the steamer were heartrending. The women prayed and men paced to and fro, believing that the great waves that were washing over the helpless vessel would tear her to pieces. All of Saturday night and Sunday morning the passengers and crew huddled about a fire in the galley. The terrific pounding caused the vessel to strain and leak badly. Early Saturday night there was 10 feet of water in the hold and all fires went out, with the exception of the one in the galley. Many gave up hope and awaited the worst.

The Cherokee, while in a perilous position, is in no immediate danger of breaking up unless another storm should set in.

The Jar of Coughing

Hammer blows, steadily applied, break the hardest rock. Coughing, day after day, jars and tears the throat and lungs until the healthy tissues give way. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops the hard coughing, heals the torn membranes.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

But one that concerns us is . . the question of your residence.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE? DO YOU OWN THE PROPERTY? WHY NOT?

REAL ESTATE

Is the safest investment known, and every man, particularly the man with a family, should own some. We can furnish a long list of desirable places, but more particularly one TEN-ROOM and one EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE just finished on Upland Road. This property is close to the Centre and in a nice neighborhood. Will be sold on easy terms. Apply

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

WHY NOT BECOME

A Regular Reader of the

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER?

906.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl t

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

If Your Eyes

Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Doll ara Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

Divorce Libel.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court.

Respectfully shows Elizabeth A. Foss of Quincy, County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that she was lawfully married to Thomas H. Foss, now of Clackamas in the State of Oregon, at Portland, Oregon, on February 14th, A.D. 1876, that they have never lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, but said libellant has resided in this State for five years next preceding the filing of this libel; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, yet the said Thomas H. Foss being wholly regardless of the same at Grays River in the State of Washington on or about the 20th day of December, 1895, and on divers other days was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment toward your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Thomas H. Foss, and for such further orders and decrees in the premises as to law and justice may appertain.

ELIZABETH A. FOSS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

ON the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Thomas H. Foss, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of February next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of February next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Thomas H. Foss an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Thomas H. Foss may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

January 11, A.D. 1906.

A true copy of Petition and of order thereon.
Attest: R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
Jan. 13, 15, 22. 3t

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE, reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co. Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Contiaued from Last Issue.)

Trumble retorted with the names of Benedict Arnold and Aaron Burr. "And if it comes to a war with these greasers," he spluttered apoplectically, "and it is coming, mighty soon, we'll find Mr. Gray down in Mexico throwing mud on the stars and stripes and cheering for that one legged horse thief, Santa Anna! Anything to seek out something foolish among your own people!"

"Don't have to seek far sometimes, general," murmured Crailey from the depths of the best chair in the club, whereupon Trumble, not trusting himself to answer, went out to the street.

CHAPTER V.

MISS CAREWE was at her desk, writing to Sister Cecilia, whom she most loved of all the world, when the bells startled her with their sudden clangor. The quill dropped from her hand, she started to her feet, wide eyed, not understanding, while the whole town, drowsing peacefully a moment ago, resounded immediately with a loud confusion. She ran to the front door and looked out, her heart beating wildly.

The western sky was touched with a soft rose color, which quickly became a warm glow, fluctuating, and in the instant shot up like the coming of a full aurora. Then through the broken foliage of the treetops could be seen the orange curls of flame, three-quarters of a mile away though they were.

People calling loudly that "it was Carewe's warehouses" were running down the street. From the stable old Nelson on her father's best horse came galloping and, seeing the white figure in the doorway, cried out in a quavering voice without checking his steed:

"I goin' to tell yo' pa, Miss Betty. He in de kentry on lan' bus'ness. Go back in de house, missy!"

The other servants, like ragged sketches in the night, flitted by with excited ejaculations to join the runners, and Miss Betty followed them across the dew strewn turf in her light slippers, but at the gate she stopped.

From up the street came the sound of a bell smaller than those of the churches and courthouse, yet one that outdid all others in the madness of its appeal to clear the way. It was borne along by what seemed at first an indefinite black mass, but which—as the aurora grew keener, producing even here a faint yellow twilight—resolved itself into a mob of hoarsely shouting men and boys, who were running and tugging at ropes which drew along three extraordinary vehicles. They came rapidly down the street and passed Miss Betty with a hubbub and din beyond all understanding—one line of men, most of them in red shirts and oilcloth helmets, at a dead run with the hose cart, a second with the hand engine, the third dragging the ladder wagon. One man was riding, a tall, straight gentleman in evening clothes and without a hat, who stood precariously in the hose cart calling in an annoyed tone through a brazen trumpet. Miss Betty recognized him at once. It was he who caught her kitten, and she thought that if she had been Fanchon Bareaud she must have screamed a warning, for his balance appeared a thing of mere luck, and if he fell he would be trampled under foot and probably run over by the engine. But happily, she remembered, she was not Fanchon Bareaud.

Before, behind and beside the department raced a throng of boys, wild with the joy experienced by their species when property is being handsomely destroyed. After them came panting women, holding their sides and gasping with the effort to keep up with the flying procession.

Miss Betty trembled, for she had never seen the like in her life. She stood close to the hedge and let them go by. Then she turned in after them and ran like a fleet young deer. She was going to the fire.

Over all the uproar could be heard the angry voice through the trumpet calling the turns of the streets to the men in vain, upbraiding them and those of the other two companies impartially, and few of his hearers denied the chief his right to express some chagrin, since the department, organized a half year, hard drilled and this its first fire worth the name, was late on account of the refusal of the members to move until they had donned their new uniforms, for the uniforms had arrived from Philadelphia two months ago, and tonight offered the first opportunity to display them in public.

She was going to the fire.

"Hail Vanrevel!" panted Tappingham Marsh to Eugene Madrillon as the two, running in the van of the "hose company," splattered through a mud puddle. "You'd think he was Carewe's only son and heir instead of his worst enemy. Hark to the man!"

"I'd let it burn if I were he," returned the other.

"It was all Crailey's fault," said Tappingham, swinging an arm free to wipe the spattered mud from his face. "He swore he wouldn't budge without his uniform, and the rest only backed him up, that was all. Crailey said Carewe could better afford to lose his shanties than the overworked department its first chance to look beautiful and earnest. Tom asked him why he didn't send for a fiddle," Marsh finished, with a chuckle.

"Carewe might afford to lose a little, even a warehouse or two, if only out of what he's taken from Crailey and the rest of us these three years."

"Taken from Vanrevel, you mean. Who doesn't know where Crailey's—Here's Main street. Look out for the turn."

They swung out of the thick shadows of Carewe street into full view of the fire, and their faces were illuminated as by sunrise.

The warehouses stood on the river bank, at the foot of the street, just south of the new "covered bridge." There were four of them, huge, bare sided buildings, the two nearer the bridge of brick, the others of wood and all of them rich with stores of every kind of river merchandise and costly freight—furniture that had voyaged from New England down the long coast, across the Mexican gulf, through the flat delta and had made the winding journey up the great river a thousand miles and almost a thousand more, following the greater and lesser tributaries; cloth from Connecticut that had been sold in Philadelphia, then carried over mountains and through forests by steam, by canal, by stage and six mule freight wagons to Pittsburg, down the Ohio and thence up to Rouen on the packet; Tennessee cotton, on its way to Massachusetts and Rhode Island spindles, lay there beside huge mounds of raw wool from Illinois, ready to be fed to the Rouen mill; dates and nuts from the Caribbean sea, lemons from groves of the faraway tropics, cigars from the Antilles, tobacco from Virginia and Kentucky; most precious of all, the great granary of the farmers' wheat from the level fields at home; and all the rich stores and the houses that held them, as well as the wharfs upon which they had been landed and the steamers that brought them up the Rouen river, belonged to Robert Carewe

(Continued in next issue.)

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

REVISE THE TARIFF

Ex-Governor Douglas Speaks From Manufacturer's View

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 15.—Former Governor Douglas has issued a statement declaring himself unreservedly in favor of immediate revision of the tariff, and stating that the interests of Massachusetts demand the admission duty free of hides, sole leather, coal, lumber, iron ore, and wood pulp.

"The total value of the product of the shoe industry in Massachusetts for 1904," says Douglas, "was $166,709,642, which is considerably more than half the total product of the country, which for the year 1905 is estimated at $313,000,000. With free hides, free sole leather and free coal, I believe the shoe manufacturers of Massachusetts could show an increase in their export trade equal to 25 percent of the present product, which would be $41,427,410.

"I would gladly give up the duty of 25 percent on shoes for free raw materials. I will go farther than this, and say that I would exchange the duty on shoes for free hides and sole leather.

"Today shoe manufacturers cannot reduce the cost of labor or the cost of materials, and they cannot take a smaller profit and remain in business. We must secure relief by the repeal of the duty on sole leather. Failing in this, we must increase the price of shoes to make them of less value for the money now paid by the wearer."

Chimney Crashed Into Dwelling

New York, Jan. 15.—Fifteen persons sleeping on the top floor of a tenement house had a narrow escape from death when 30 feet of a big chimney, seven feet square, fell from an adjoining factory and crashed through the roof of the dwelling. Although several tons of brick tore through to the third floor of the tenement, no one was injured. Many telegraph and telephone wires were attached to the chimney. These became heavily coated with ice during a storm and the chimney gave way under the unusual strain.

Perished When Near Rescue

New York, Jan. 15.—John A. Hart, living on the top floor of a four-story apartment house, which was destroyed by fire, was overwhelmed by the flames and burned to death. Firemen climbed on scaling ladders to the room where Hart was, reached through the window and seized the bathrobe in which he was clad, when the fall of a burning timber knocked him from their grasp. Before he was overcome Hart had saved his wife and 4-year-old son.

A Picturesque Crowd

Algeciras, Jan. 15.—Amid the roar of the guns of the Spanish warship, Mohammed El Torres, the Moroccan minister of foreign affairs, who will represent Morocco in the conference, landed here yesterday afternoon. His suite consisted of 61 persons, all richly garbed in flowing white robes and wearing white and red turbans.

A Victory For Caceres

Cape Haytien, Jan. 15.—A sanguinary and what probably will prove to be the final battle has taken place near Guayubin between the troops of General Caceres, the temporary president of Santo Domingo, and the insurgents. The former were victorious. Several generals on both sides were killed or wounded.

Skated to Their Death

Laconia, N. H., Jan. 15.—Hand-in-hand, Edward La Plant, 15 years old, and Florence Barlow, 14 years old, skated into a hole in Lake Winnesquam and drowned before the eyes of several companions, who were powerless to aid them. Their bodies were recovered about two hours later.

Bodies Buried In Ruins

Haverstraw, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Two more bodies have been recovered from the claypit into which 13 houses and their occupants were plunged by a landslide last Monday night. The bodies were those of Rabbi Alldem and Heskie Nelson. Several bodies still remain in the ruins.

Italian Fatally Stabbed

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 15.—During a fight among a number of Italians here last night Joseph Calabrose was twice stabbed in the head and died later. Tony Rutsch, his supposed murderer, was arrested. He was dressed in women's clothing when taken.

Bomb Throwing Continues

Chernigoff, Russia, Jan. 15.—Two bombs were hurled yesterday at Governor Khovostoff of this province as he was driving home from a cathedral. The governor was seriously and his wife slightly injured.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Korean government has decided to retain the services of Durham W. Stevens, the American diplomatic adviser to the Emperor of Korea.

Hiram Warren, the oldest resident of Springfield, Mass., is dead. He would have been 102 years old next month. He was a native of Ashfield, Mass., and lived there all his life until four years ago.

Rev. John Hargate, for 50 years connected with the St. Paul's school of Concord, N. H., died at his home in that city. He was born in 1839.

Schooner Atlanta of Gloucester, Mass., reports the loss of Albert Smith, aged 23, who fell overboard.

The report of the funds of Harvard university show that they amount to $18,036,025, an increase of $1,280,271 over last year. The largest fund is $736,225, the amount of the teachers' endowment fund.

Charles Holman, a former mayor of Nashua, N. H., as well as a member of the New Hampshire legislature and president of the state senate, died at Nashua, aged 73.

TO SAVE ENGLAND

Churchill Says Manchester Has Set the Example

BALFOUR BADLY BEATEN

Liberal Who Was Considered Weak by His Own Party Secures Remarkable Majority—Heavy Losses by the Unionists

London, Jan. 15.—"We have killed protection. This is the beginning of such a political upheaval as has not been seen in England since the days of the great reform bill. Manchester has saved herself by her exertions; she will save England by her example."

Thus spoke Winston Churchill Saturday night, and his opinion that free trade has gained a victory is the opinion of the more responsible of the Unionist newspapers. Nowhere is there any hint at minimizing the hurricane that has overtaken the Unionist party or a suggestion of doing anything but beat an orderly retreat and save what is possible from the rout.

The political map of England underwent a striking change as the result of parliamentary elections held in 39 constituencies in widely scattered, but important, centres, in which the Liberals gained 18 seats. The Laborites, who are counted manog the Liberal gains, secured four new seats against Unionist candidates.

In the eastern division of Manchester Arthur J. Balfour, the former prime minister, was defeated by T. G. Horridge, a Liberal, who was conceded even by the Liberals to be a weak candidate against such a person as Balfour. Horridge secured the remarkable majority of 1980. This victory was a decidedly sensational outcome of the day's polling, and will, it is believed, enormously affect the elections, which will continue for a fortnight.

Winston Churchill, Liberal and free trader, won the seat for the northwest division of Manchester by a majority of 1241. Everywhere the Liberal majorities were increased and the net result of the first day's contest was overwhelmingly in favor of the present government.

Although but 66 seats are now filled out of the 670 required for the new parliament which meets at Westminster Feb. 15, the composition of the house, as shown by the results thus far, is as follows: Liberals, 39; Unionists, 14; Laborites, 6; Nationalists, 7.

The question now uppermost in all minds is what fate will befall Joseph Chamberlain at Birmingham. The Morning Post points out that the temporary prosperity of the cotton industry may have made Manchester slow to accept even the Balfourian measure of tariff reform. It says that should Birmingham follow the example of Manchester, the meaning of the country's voice would no longer be a matter for the slightest doubt.

The Unionist Graphic says: "It cannot be doubted that the country was not prepared for such a revolution in its fiscal policy and declined to grasp the subtle distinction between free trade and protection as illustrated by Mr. Balfour's half way house."

The Standard thinks that the fear of American reprisals on its staple industry in the event of the adoption of fiscal reform largely influenced the action of the Manchester voters.

The Daily Telegraph says: "The combined forces of radicalism, separatism, socialism and secularism wrought a black day for the Unionists." The paper admits that the main cause is that the "country will not sanction any modification of the free trade system."

The Liberals organs naturally are jubilant. The Daily Chronicle says: "It is a result without parallel in the history of English electioneering and will fill every free trader with deep thankfulness."

The Daily News heralds Winston Churchill as "the rising hope of the Liberal party, a man whose career has now become one of the most interesting in the empire."

Mr. Balfour, though evidently deeply disappointed at the loss of his seat in Manchester, displays great calmness of demeanor. Already the former premier has had several safe seats offered him, but as yet he has reached no decision.

Joseph Chamberlain has thus far declined to comment on the result of Saturday's pollings.

Pollings are fixed for today in 21 London districts and 47 provincial boroughs. Today's results will afford a good test of whether London is to follow the lead of Manchester.

Deficit of Million and a Quarter

Cleveland, Jan. 15.—Regarding the total liabilities and assets of the firm of Denison, Prior & Co. and the chances for a distribution for the creditors, a member of the bankers' committee last evening said that there will be a loss to the creditors of about $500,000. In addition to this there are bond frauds amounting to $700,000 already known, so that the combined deficit will be from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000.

Marshall Field Desperately Ill

New York, Jan. 15.—The condition of Marshall Field of Chicago, who has been ill at a hotel in this city, is worse. The pneumonia is not yielding to treatment and the patient is greatly exhausted. Among those who called Sunday to inquire as to Field's condition were J. P. Morgan, Paul Morton and H. H. Rogers.

"POSSIBLE" SUICIDE

No Definite Decision by Coroner In the Edwards Case

New Haven, Jan. 15.—It is not expected that Coroner Mix will complete his report of the inquest into the death of Charles A. Edwards, which occurred at the Hiller homestead in this city on the night of Jan. 2, before Wednesday, and it may be delayed even later. The coroner says that his time for the past few days has been largely taken up with inquiry into other cases, and for this reason he has not been able to get the evidence at the Edwards inquest into complete form.

Mix said, in response to a question, that he had not formed definitely an opinion of suicide, and his final decision will be determined by the facts as set forth in the evidence. The opinion previously given, the coroner said, was that of possible suicide. He further said that the alleged discovery of a shirt sleeve bearing stains had nothing to do with the case. The sleeve was an old one, the marks on it were not of blood and the sleeve might have been behind the blind in Mrs. Hiller's home for months.

Ministers Opposed to Race Track

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 15.—A largely attended mass meeting, conducted by the Manchester Ministerial association, registered a protest against the invasion of New Hampshire by the New England Breeders' club, which was granted an exclusive charter at the last session of the legislature. The speakers favored a special session of the legislature for the purpose of repealing the charter or the enactment of rigid anti-gambling laws, if the state supreme court does not hand down a decision that there is law enough to prevent pool selling.

Tucker's Plea For New Trial

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 15.—One more effort was made in the Middlesex superior court by counsel for Charles L. Tucker to obtain from the justices who presided at his trial the granting of a petition for a new trial for their client, who was convicted of the murder of Mabel Page at Weston. A long affidavit signed by Tucker was read to the court, as well as 15 supplementary affidavits bearing on testimony taken at the trial. Judge Sherman, after a private conference with the lawyers, announced that he would render a decision later.

Murderer's Motive Was Robbery

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 15.—Peter Beaupre, aged 55, a hostler and night watchman at the C. S. Reed coal pocket, was found lying on a cot bed in the office attached to the coal pocket by a fellow-employe, John J. Nugent. He was taken to a hospital at once, but died in a short time. The wounds which caused his death were cuts on the head, made by some blunt instrument. The motive of the murder seems to have been robbery, for the man's pockets had been emptied and his watch was gone.

Shipping Had Ample Warning

Boston, Jan. 15.—A coast storm from the south, which was only of moderate energy except on outlying points like Block Island, Nantucket and Cape Cod, reached New England Saturday and hung off Nantucket nearly all day yesterday. The storm was well heralded and there was very little movement on the part of shipping, so that few accidents, and these of a trifling nature, have been reported.

End of Shoemakers' Strike

Lewiston, Me., Jan. 15.—The strike of workers in National No. 2 shoe factory in Auburn and National No. 1 factory in this city has been declared off and the men resumed work today. Neither side would make public the basis of settlement, merely saying the result was satisfactory. The strike was inaugurated on Dec. 26. It is understood the wages were increased.

Killed Alleged Intruder

Woodsville, N. H., Jan. 15.—George E. Baird of this town is held without bail on the charge of manslaughter. Baird claimed that he killed Sam Howe in self-defense after Howe, who, Baird claimed, was under the influence of liquor, had attempted to gain entrance to Baird's house. Four shots took effect in the victim's body.

Directed at Malpractitioners

Boston, Jan. 15.—It is announced that District Attorney Moran will tomorrow send to the legislature a bill, which, if passed, will enable the police to gather evidence in cases of illegal medical practice, which evidence they hitherto had no authority to get. The bill is an outcome of the so-called suit case tragedy.

Dog Bit Six Persons

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 15.—Six people were bitten here by a dog believed to have been made, which appeared from the direction of the Connecticut line. The most severely injured was Mrs. Fannie Pasee, who was bitten on the abdomen, hands and legs. The dog was killed by a local officer.

Perhaps Victims of Starvation

Fairview, Mass., Jan. 15.—Frank Guyott, who was found unconscious with his wife in a tenement in this place on Friday night, died yesterday. The authorities have been unable to decide whether the death was due to suicide or starvation. Mrs. Guyott is still in a critical condition.

Fireman Perhaps Fatally Hurt

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15.—Daniel Conroy, a Lowell fireman, was probably fatally injured while fighting a fire just over the city line in Chelmsford this morning. A falling chimney of a house that was burning swept four men from a ladder. Conroy received a fractured skull.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ibgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 09
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 30	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 31	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 59	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 32 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square.
b Norfolk Downs,	g, Savin Hill.
c Atlantic,	h, Crescent Avenue
d Neponset,	i, South Boston.
e Pope's Hill.	r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.15 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.25 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.15 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50 A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898.
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	—	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	—	24	37	26	23
Thursday,	—	29	41	35	34
Friday,	—	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	—	37	44	28	39

New Advertisements Today.

Henry L. Kincaide & Co.—Clearance Sale.
R. E. Foy & Co.—Low Priced Groceries.
Arnold & Johnson—Florists.
Postponed Entertainment.
For Sale—Piano.
Lost—Eyeglasses.

The City In Brief

Ex City Treasurer H. Walter Gray is substituting at Mt. Wollaston Bank.

Miss Mae Langley of Washington street leaves tomorrow for a few day's visit with friends at Hopedale.

Miss Rena C. Atwood of Waltham, was the guest of Miss Dot M. Paterson over Sunday.

Arnold & Johnson, Hancock street florists, have a large stock of primroses, cyclamen, azaleas and palms.

The Milton High school hockey team was defeated on Saturday at Cunningham's pond by an alumni team 7 to 0.

Cards were sent to the members of the Quincy Yacht club this morning, to get the sentiment of the club in relation to an annual banquet.

Another man has gone through the glass door of the post office. It would seem that there is too much glass in the door.

Miss Mary Mauhi re after a two weeks visit with her sister Grace, at New York has returned to her home on Albertina street.

Walter F. Carmen and family have moved from Wibird street to 110 Upland road, Calvin T. Dyer and daughter Maud will make their home with them.

A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin, (Mabel Tanner) of Huntington road, East Milton, on Friday, Jan. 12th.

There was a pink glow on the snow on the roofs this morning about sunrise that reminded one of the after-glow on snow covered mountains in Switzerland.

Six were admitted to membership of the Granite City club at its meeting Saturday night. The club is to expend several hundred dollars in beautifying its rooms.

Quincy was represented at the very interesting meetings held in the Park street church, Boston, on Saturday in celebration of the 20th anniversary of the King's Daughters and Sons in Massachusetts.

Word has been received from Mrs. Stephen Penniman who is in New York that she is rapidly recovering from the injuries received by a fall in the South terminal. Fortunatly no bones were broken her injuries consisting of bruises.

The entertainment in the Social club course to have been given at First church chapel on Friday evening of this week has been postponed to Friday evening, February second.

Assessor Julius Johnson made too sharp a turn in attempting to drive into the Woodward school yard this morning and thereby two young ladies were thrown into a snow bank. No one was injured and no damage done to the sleigh.

The funeral of John J. Kemp was held Sunday afternoon from his late residence on Newcomb street. The services were conducted by Rev. A. A. Ellsworth. A delegation from Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows were present. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Quincy will probably have a team in the New England roller polo league.

Mrs. Parker M. Dickey is confined to her home on Thayer street by sickness.

Miss Gertrude Stone of Somerville was the guest of Quincy friends over Sunday.

It see med quite old-fashioned to see the snow-plough out clearing the sidewalks on Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Whall has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Clifton Whall of Webster street.

The services at the Point church were largely attended Sunday in spite of the inclement weather.

Mrs. J. E. Poland will give a whist party in the hall at Norfolk Downs on Friday evening.

Miss Eva L. Maxime has severed her connections as bookkeeper with J. F. Sheppard & Sons of Granite street.

The thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Richards of Centre street is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Frank Byles, formerly of the electrical department, Fore River Shipbuilding Company, has accepted a position in Boston.

Mrs. Arthur W. Mitchell of Franklin street is enjoying a few weeks' rest with her brother John at his cosy home on the Cape.

Miss Clara Daffield of Independence avenue has severed her connections as clerk with the Mt. Wollaston bank, after several years' service.

Just as soon as the storm abated Sunday afternoon, the sidewalks and crossings all over Atlantic received a visit from the snowplow.

Mr. and Mrs. James Furse of Washington street has been entertaining Miss Mira Harrington of Milford, the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Briggs of Wollaston sailed on the steamer "Admiral Farragut" last week for an eight weeks' sojourn at Jamaica.

Charles G. Keser, after a six weeks business contract in New Hampshire, has returned to this city and accepted a position with the firm of J. S. Swingle.

Mrs. Rose A. Shepherd is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Jones of Hancock street, after an extended visit with relatives and friends in New Hampshire.

Some excavating is being done at the High school lot today, but Commissioner Burke informs the Daily Ledger that the contract has not been awarded for the enlargement of the building.

Mrs. Emma E. Marnock of Bennington street has been appointed deputy of Waverley lodge, K and L of H., of Charlestown and will install its officers on the 25th, accompanied by a full suite.

A workman fell from one of the battleships at the ship-yard on Saturday and landed in the water. The man was not seriously hurt, but it is said that he found the water a little too cold for bathing.

Surprise Party.

Louis Bouchard of 278 Water street was surprised Sunday night about half past seven. His friends entered his house with a beautiful gold watch chain and locket for souvenirs of his fiftieth anniversary. The evening was very pleasantly spent with songs and music. Refreshments were served. Mr. Bouchard was established in Quincy for over twent-six years.

At Hancock Hall Tonight.

The press notices given the McCays speak well of their entertainment. The Brockton Times of Nov. 7 says: John and Mary McCay, brother and sister, and both blind, gave a delightful entertainment of a musical character in A. O. H. hall last evening before a crowded house. Mr. McCay has a full rich baritone voice and sings with ease. Miss McCay has a sweet soprano voice.

—The annual dinner of the Megantic Fish and Game Corporation will be held at Copley Square Hotel, on Saturday evening.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

DIED.

YOUNG—In Quincy, Jan. 14, Mr. Andrew Young, of 266 Granite street, aged 81 years and 8 months.
Funeral services on Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 2 P. M. at his late residence, will be attended by Clan McGregor, O. S. C.

McENNEY—In Taunton, Jan. 14, Mrs. Catherine McENNEY of Quincy, aged 48 years.

JOHNSON—In Kennebunkport, Maine, Jan. 14, Mrs Lydia Frances Johnson, formerly of Quincy, in her 80th year.

LITTLETON—In Hingham, Jan. 12, Mrs. Clara A. Littleten, wife of Mr. Henry W. Littleton, in her 82d year.

DYEING

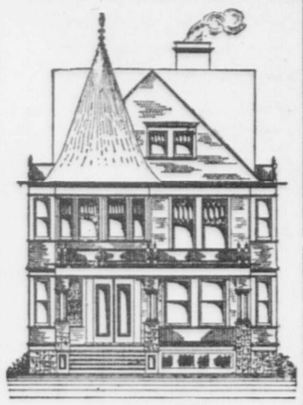

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

A COLONIAL RESIDENCE.

Modern and Roomy, With All Improvements—Cost, $4,000.

[Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.]

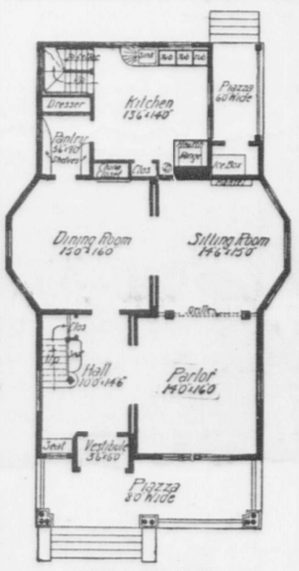

The accompanying plans and elevation show a comfortable and convenient modern colonial home. This house should be erected on at least two lots. There is a cellar under the entire house, the walls of which are stone, the floor of cement. The heating plant, which is a hot air furnace, is placed in the cellar and heats all of the house, including the attic, in which there are four finished rooms. The frame of the structure is of hemlock lumber and timber. The walls are sheathed, covered with two ply building paper, white pine beveled siding and cedar shingles. The main roof is of dimension cypress shingles. The piazza and bay window roofs are shingled in the same manner as the main roof. The piazza columns are of turned whitewood, bored in the center and fitted with composition caps.

FRONT ELEVATION.

All windows, except those of the cellar, are fitted with outside blinds of white pine, with rolling slats, hung with modern hardware. The exterior woodwork is finished with two coats of white lead and linseed oil paints. The interior walls are lathed and plastered. The floors are of narrow comb grained yellow pine.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

The interior trim is of clear kiln dried cypress, with plain casings and plain molded cabinet caps. The stairs are of cypress, with oak newels, rails and balusters. The grill in the main hall, the sliding doors, etc., are of oak. The china closet in the dining room and the dresser in the pantry are of the same wood as the trim, with drawers, closets and glass doors above the counter shelf and adjustable shelves to suit. The interior woodwork is finished in the natural wood on the first floor with one coat of wood fillers and two coats of interior hard drying varnish, properly rubbed between coats. The second story is finished with water color stains and two coats of varnish, also properly rubbed between coats.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

The kitchen and bathroom have modern plumbing and fixtures. All exposed work, pipes, etc., are of extra heavy nickel plate. The house is piped for gas and wired for electric lights. The hardware is of plain real bronze, with apple wood knobs, roses and escutcheons. The sliding doors are hung with overhead hangers.

Intending builders will do well to study this design and plan and its many attractive and convenient features. The cost is estimated at $4,000 under ordinary conditions.

THE SNAKESKIN BELT

By LILIAN C. PASCHAL

Copyright, 1905, by J. W. Muller

"Fine lot of western souvenirs you've got here," I commented through my teeth, which held in loving grip a particularly fragrant after dinner cigar. I had been nosing around the curio corner of Dane's huntifig lodge.

"The real thing—no machine made curios in this bunch."

I suddenly pounced upon a queer object of beautifully mottled grayish leather, evidently intended for a lady's girdle.

"What's this reptilian treasure?" I asked curiously, holding it up gingerly by its handsome gold buckle wrought into the semblance of a tiny revolver, perfect as to butt, muzzle and full complement of blue diamond bullets.

Dangling from the trigger by a single link of spun gold was the "burglar alarm" of a mountain rattlesnake. The number of rattles and the button tacked to the edge showed that its one time wearer was in the ninth year of his age when he came to his end.

"I STEPPED OUT IN THE ROAD, BOWED LOW AND PULLED MY GUN."

"Another trophy of the chase?" I glanced interrogatively at Dane.

"Yes, a trophy of the chase—the chase after the rainbow and the heart of gold at the end of it. Come along for a walk up the canyon a little way, where there's a fine moonrise now in course of preparation for our special benefit, and I'll tell you about that belt. You see, it belonged to my first sweetheart—I had it made for her—so it's just as well my wife doesn't hear me talk of it."

"Et tu, Brute," I scoffed, but rose and followed him as he led the way up the great gorge at the back of the lodge.

"It was when I first came to Montana," began Dane, taking no notice of my comment. "She lived on the next ranch. She was as willful a piece of skirts as ever climbed crags where nothing but goats and squaws ever before had rolled pebbles downhill. We'd quarreled about that Carolina chap I wrote you about once—name of Bailey.

"The fellow was a cad, and I'd told Nan so in language more distinguished for force than for frills. She called me jealous, turned up her little nose at me and flirted her quirt in my direction. She'd just ridden out o' the corral on her cayuse when I galloped up and our little tiff began. But it ended in a big one. She gave me a go-by for good and all, and when I'd see her after that riding the cattle range she'd be so absorbed in that long legged Carolina sandhill crane of a Bailey that she didn't know I was on earth at all apparently. He did tag her for fair, though he looked like Ichabod Crane astride of his Pinto. He couldn't ride any more than a jack rabbit.

"But I felt pretty blue, I tell you, those days. Big aches from little quarrels grow, as the poet says, and when a fellow's up against that kind of gnawing feeling at the pit of his stomach night and day like that Spartan kid with the foxes in his apron, why, he gets as sore headed as a grizzly in the springtime. I used to haul out my gun from my belt when I tramped over these hills looking for the yellow—that was before I'd found it—and think I'd let the old spitfire in my face just once and end the whole business."

No wonder his wife doesn't like to hear the story if he had it that bad. And again my bachelor cynicism smiled that he had so easily found consolation. But aloud I only grunted, "Well?" and smoked on.

"One morning when I was desperate from mooning over that minx of a girl I was going round this very ledge. You see how narrow it is even now, though I've had the road blasted out of the rock above us since then. You take notice there's a bit of a precipice just below?"

"I should say I did!" I exclaimed, drawing back from the brim with a tenderfoot shudder. "Your 'bit of a precipice' must go down a sheer 500 feet if it's an inch to that hustling western torrent down there."

Dane nodded. "Not a very good place for a girl to step aside to avoid a snake, for instance?"

I shuddered again.

"Well, this is just where I met Nan that day. I can see her now, bless her heart, dancing along in the little short skirts and baby cowboy boots she loved to wear and dangling her big sombrero by its cord. She hadn't seen me, and I turned to hike back the way I came, for Lee Bailey was on her trail and I'd seen them together as often as I could possibly stand it.

"Just as she came to that turn where the bowlder juts out she gave a little scream and turned so suddenly that her foot slipped and down she went right on the edge. She held on to that rock for dear life and shrieked: 'Lee! Oh, Lee!'

"That 'Lee' settled me, and I stood still, like a stubborn mule, and let her yell. I knew he could pick her up easily enough, and I wouldn't butt in. But when I reconnoitered around the bowlder I was behind I was the cause of the disturbance—this Mr. Rattler, ruffling himself up like the coil of an electrocutioner and disputing the right of way with my girl.

"And there was Miss Nan, white with fear, staggering right on the edge of the precipice, too paralyzed to move back up the trail."

"Where was Bailey, the noble rescuer?" I asked as Dane paused and gazed reflectively into the lighted end of his cigar.

"Yes; that was what I wanted to know. He'd made for camp on a lope—that's where he was, the coward—to get a fishing rod to kill the snake with, he explained afterward, but it didn't go down with Nan. When I saw her natural protector deserting her I stepped out in the road, bowed low, pulled my gun and blew the gentleman's head off—the rattler's, not Bailey's, though that would have been a job to my liking too. He wasn't as much of a gentleman as Mr. Snake, for he was polite enough to tell right out what sort of poison critter he was, while the human serpent wasn't."

"And Nan?" I even forgot to puff smoke in my interest.

"Acted just right, like the heroine in a melodrama—fainted promptly on to the shoulder of her faithful knight, and when he'd waked her up again by means of kisses and other shocks she promised to love and obey him ever after, and nothing would do but that snakeskin must be fixed up with the trimmings you saw as one of our Lares and Penates, but whether a Lar or a Penate I don't know, being rather misty on mythology since I left college. Ah, there's the moon at last! Isn't this country great at night?"

"Yes, yes!" I exclaimed impatiently, without a glance at the wonderful panorama of rolling, pine clad, snow capped summits now being transfigured by the rising glory. "But what became of Nan? Why didn't you marry"—

"Oh, there you are, dear!" called out a silvery voice ahead of us farther up the slope. "I've been waiting for you a long time. You have been two hours climbing the gulch. I came up the short cut. It takes more breath, but less time."

"Well, little girl, you've got plenty of both," answered her husband, sprawling himself over the thick pine needles at pretty Mrs. Dane's feet and laying his head shamelessly on her lap. Her small fingers buried themselves in his hair. He pulled them down to his lips. "We took the time because I was using up all my breath telling Jack about the snakeskin belt, Nan, dear."

"Oh, that old story!" I could see her blush delicately in the moonlight.

Another light than that of the moon broke in on my darkened senses. "Oh, then you did marry her? I thought you said"—

"My first sweetheart? Sure, so I did—and Nan's it!"

Mr. Gilder's Judicious Reply.

The woman journalist was entertaining half a dozen Wellesley undergraduates at tea. It was an expensive tea, served in an expensive apartment. Plainly the young woman journalist was doing well.

"Yes; I am doing well," she admitted. "I write fashions now. But when I was a high class journalist, interviewing celebrities on my own hook, I couldn't afford to give teas. These celebrities—if they would only talk! You visit them expecting to extract a twenty-five dollar story. You come away with a quarter one—or nothing. Once I sought out Richard Watson Gilder in order to get from him five or six columns on 'Young Women In Literature.' A fetching subject, eh? But, alas, Mr. Gilder wasn't in a talkative mood! When I suggested this glorious topic to him, when I opened fire with the first question, 'What is the chief requisite for a young woman entering the literary field?' he replied, 'Postage stamps.'"—Buffalo News.

Frost Makes Fat Turkeys.

"Cold weather makes fat turkeys," said the poulterer.

"Why?"

"Because in a warm fall the ground keeps soft, the vegetation lingers on and the fields are full of worms and bugs. What's the result? The result is that the turkeys from sunrise till dark tramp the tempting fields on long forages, eating the worms and bugs, which thin them, and walking all their soft and fine flesh into tough, stringy muscle. A cold fall, with early frosts and snows, freezes the ground and kills the bugs. Then the turkeys are not tempted to wander. They loaf in the farmyard, gorge an abundance of grain and put on flesh like a middle aged woman at a seashore hotel. But in a warm fall, hunting the irresistible bug, the turkeys do their fifteen to twenty miles regularly and become athletes. For athletic turkeys there is no public demand."—Minneapolis Journal.

New Officers Of Division 18

The newly elected officers of Division 18, A. O. H., were installed at French's hall Saturday evening in the presence of a large number of visitors. The installing officers were County Secretary D. J. Slattery, assisted by County President J. E. Cox and County Treasurer Daniel J. Reidy.

After the ceremonies there were addresses by the grand officers, songs by C. M. Duggan, George Flood, Daniel Donahue, William Brown, Michael Hartery, Michael Mahar and Joseph Phelan and recitations by John Doherty.

Refreshments were served and the new president, Michael T. Walsh, was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Thomas Cotter.

The officers installed were:
President,—Michael T. Walsh.
Vice President,—Joseph D. Griffin.
Recording Secretary,—Richard Gray.
Financial Secretary,—Henry F. Corbett.
Treasurer,—Timothy J. Carey.
Sentinel,—John P. Duffy.

Quincy Post Office.

Letters unclaimed for week ending Monday, Jan. 15.

Carl E. Anderson, P. J. Breman, Ronald Crumley, F. D Hale, Wm. Jones, Wm McNeice, James Mellen, Wm. E. Morton, John J. Powers, H. C Robinson, A. R. Thompson, Edward E. Welch, Edmund E. Welch.

Mrs. Minnie Berry, Mrs. Sadie C. Betts, Mrs. Jane Danforth, Mrs. M. J. Gilmore, Miss Seawell, Mrs. E. Woods.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Walter L. Taylor, for breaking and entering at Quincy, was called and dismissed for want of prosecution.

Taylor then pleaded guilty to a complaint for arceny from the N. Y., N. H. & H. RR. and was fined $25.

Charles Andersen was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

The continued cases of Esther Robinson for violation of the liquor law at Quincy was called and she was defaulted.

The continued cases of Joseph Catler, Isaac Catler and Max Keezle for receiving stolen property was heard. Isaac Catler and Max Keezle were held in $500 each for the grand jury. The case against Joseph Catler was dismissed.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point, Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 5-tf

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

WANTED.

WILL party who picked up eyeglasses at Hearn's corner, on Sunday, kindly return same to C. J. SOMERS, 13 Faxon block. Quincy, Jan. 15-1t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.00 day. Good references. Address, C., Ledger Office. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t.

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot. Jan. 11. 6t

WANTED—A first-class Stone Carver. None but first-class men need apply. LONG & SAUNDERS, South Quincy. Jan. 9. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A Henry F. Miller Grand Square Piano, will be sold cheap. Inquire corner of Kemper street and Elm avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 15-4t

FOR SALE—One Clayton Duplex Air Compressor 9x9. In first-class repair. Capable of running 30 pneumatic tools. Can be seen running. Cylinders recently bored out, and all new valves. Tank goes with this. A bargain. C. A. SWINGLE & CO., Penn street, South Quincy, Mass. Jan. 13-3t

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street. Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 355 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x45, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1451 Hancock street. July 1-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9 tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filed to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point. Dec. 16. tf

HALL TO LET.
PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 9. tf

TO LET.

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to GEO. W. PRESCOTT. Ledger Office.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy. Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Illustrated Fashion Hints Tomorrow

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Animal Story For Children Tomorrow

Vol. 18. No. 14. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The City to Have a New Chief Engineer.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,

C. H. BROOKS'

NEW MARKET.

No. 1375 Hancock Street.

Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Furniture Clearance Sale.

This time of the year above all others is the money saving time to buy house furnishings. Special bargains in every department with wonderful savings for everyone. Real downright legitimate bargains at this store. No inflated prices with large discounts taken off to mislead unthinking buyers.

Our prices are from 10 to 33 per cent lower than those of any other store on earth. The sooner you get the habit of buying at the Kincaide stores—the sooner your happiness will be more complete and your weekly cash balance larger.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Litchfield Appointed By Mayor

All the Other Department Officials Were Reappointed

Both Mayor Thompson and President Piper announced their appointments at the meeting of the City Council and several orders were introduced by Councilmen involving large sums of money.

Councilmen Chase and Nichols were absent.

APPROPRIATIONS OVERRUN.

A communication was received from the City Auditor stating that bills in excess of the appropriation had been filed with him as follows: Highways, $2,492; Repair of Public Buildings, $852.49; Sewer department, $1,323.62. Referred to Finance Committee.

A REQUEST

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Quincy Yacht Club for use of the Council chamber for its annual meeting Feb. 3. Laid on the table until later when an order was offered granting the same. Adopted.

GIFT TO CITY

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the trustees of the Edison Park Land Associates, accompanied by a deed, giving the city a triangular piece of land at the corner of Edison and Stewart streets. To Committee on Public Buildings.

CHAIRMAN STONE.

APPOINTMENTS.

The Mayor forwarded appointments of city officers which were placed on file.

The appointments were as follows:

Commissioner of public works,—Thomas F. Burke.

City treasurer,—Henry G. Fay.

City clerk,—Harrison A. Keith.

Collector of taxes,—James H. Cunningham.

City solicitor,—William R. Thomas.

Chief of police,—Frank E. Burrell.

Chief engineer of fire department,—Amos L. Litchfield.

Overseer of the poor,—Frederick F. Green.

City engineer,—Hamilton Flood.

City physician,—Henry C. Hallowell.

Assessor for three years,—Charles H. Johnson.

Park commissioners, — George E. Pfaffmann, Fred B. Rice and Dexter E. Wadsworth.

Board of Health,—William H. Teasdale, Ross K. Whiton, M. D., and Henry P. Kittredge.

Trustees of Thomas Crane Public Library,—Ellery C. Butler, Harrison A. Keith, George W. Morton, Harry L. Rice, Henry McGrath and Charles R. Safford, Managers of Adams Academy,—William Everett, Roger H. Wilde, Luther S. Anderson, George B. Dewson, Walter S. Pinkham and George M. Sheahan.

Managers of public burial places,—Albert W. Fay, Benjamin King, CHAIRMAN FLAHERTY.

John Q. Cudworth, John L. Johnson Alfred O. Diack and Joseph H. Vogel.

SIDEWALK ORDER.

Councilman Sawyer offered an order for $1,300 for a gravel sidewalk on Faxon Road. To Committee on Streets.

TRANSFERS.

Councilman Bass offered an order making transfers in the Police Department appropriation. To Finance Committee.

Councilman Bass offered an order authorizing the City Auditor to transfer any balances in the appropriation for fire department to any other item in that appropriation. To Finance Committee.

COLLECTION OF ASHES.

Councilman Hull offered an order for a special committee of five to consider the subject of the collection of ashes. Adopted.

The President appointed as that committee, Councilman Hull, Moir, Gelotte, Donovan and Ferguson.

WARD SIX ORDERS.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order for two incandescent lights on Holmes street. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order for $200 for crosswalks on Appleton, Squantum, Walker streets and Newbury avenue. To Committee on Streets.

MUNICIPAL GAS.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order requesting the Mayor to petition the Legislature to revoke the charter of the Citizens' Gas Company, and for authority to establish a gas plant for municipal and public lighting. To Joint Committee on Finance and Legislative Matters.

NEW CODDINGTON.

Councilmen Gelotte offered an order for the Committee on Public Buildings to procure, without cost to the city, plans for a new school building in Ward One, on the Coddington school lot. Adopted.

GLENCOE PLACE.

Councilman Stone offered an order for $1,200 to extend Glencoe place to Bigelow street. To Committee on Streets.

Upon motion of Councilman Stone an auctioneer's license was granted to Frank F. Crane.

SCHOOL LOAN.

Councilman Hobbs offered an order requesting the Mayor to petition th Legislature for authority to borrow the sum of $150,000 outside the debt limit for school buildings. Referred to Joint Committee on Finance and Legislative Matters.

CHAIRMAN POLK.

Upon motion of Councilman Hobbs the reference was withdrawn. The question then came on its adoption.

Mayor Thompson hoped the Council would go slow. That it would give the matter careful consideration before passage.

Councilman Hobbs said that he did not wish to urge the matter if the Mayor thought it undesirable. He however wished every child in Quincy to be properly housed.

The Council then refused to adopt the order.

President Piper then announced the make up of the standing committees as follows:

Finance, Accounts, Claims, Contracts and Salaries,—Polk, Nichols, Bass, Crane, Sawyer, Spargo, Flaherty.

Streets, Ways, Sidewalks, Bridges and Lights,—Crane, Hobbs, Cannon, Deacon, Ferguson, Donovan, Hull.

CHAIRMAN SAWYER.

Fire Department and Police,—Stone, Chase, Beal, Gelotte, Donovan.

Sewers, and Drains and Water Supply,—Flaherty, Hunter, Gross, Gilson, Beal, Hull, Moir.

Public Buildings and Grounds,—Sawyer, Gelotte, McGilvray, Gross, Deacon.

Ordinances, Licenses, Printing, Rules and Orders,—Chase, Ferguson, Stone.

Legislative Matters, Elections and Returns,—Cannon, Hobbs, McGilvray.

Health, Poor, State and Military Aid, —Spargo, Gilson, Hunter.

Adjourned at 8.05 to meet Monday, Feb. 5.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Hospital Almost Free From Debt

Improvement Shown In the Financial Statement of The Treasurer

A brighter future is evidently in store for the City Hospital of Quincy, as the institution will in a few days be free from debt. The corporation also has over 1000 new members.

The annual meeting was held Monday evening at Colonial hall.

In the absence of Hon. W. B. Rice, the president, James M. Nowland was elected president pro tem.

The first business in order was the election of new members of the corporation.

Arthur W. Newcomb proposed a long list made up largely of Ward Two ladies and gentlemen, all of whom were elected.

Timothy Reed also presented a list which was accepted.

Then the corporation elected a list composed of over 1,000 names which included those who contributed $1 or more to the Hospital during Hospital Week in 1905.

Secretary Reed reported for the board of Trustees that 323 patients had been admitted to the hospital during the year 1905, of whom 274 were discharged, 30 had died and 19 remain. Three nurses had been graduated. A tribute was paid to the late Joseph M. Sheahan, M. D., for many years on the Hospital staff.

The collections of Hospital week had amounted to $5,000.10, permitting a reduction of $3000 in the debt, leaving it at $2,147.85. The endowment fund had been increased and now amounted to $60,862.00.

Richard D. Chase, the treasurer, made an itemized report of the year, which showed the current income of the hospital to be $16,014.82, of which $4,000.00 was appropriated by the city, $3,329.08 was received in interest from endowment fund, $3,685.64 from patients, and the balance by collections.

The expenditures of $18,605.20 included a debt payment of $3,000.

The gross debt was now $4,200, but when the cash on hand was deducted, the net debt was $2,147.85. Mr. Chase stated he had been informed that W. B. Rice would in a few days forward a check for $2,000, which would practically wipe out the debt.

Warren W. Adams was reelected clerk of the corporation, and immediately sworn.

It was voted to increase the number of trustees from 15 to 25, of whom 22 should be elected.

The nominating committee presented a single list, explaining that it was desired to get representation from all wards upon the board. In the past, where there was a double list, the Ward One members who were in a majority at the annual meeting elected mostly Ward One gentlemen.

The following were elected:

George E. Adams, James F. Burke, Richard D. Chase, Joseph A. Dasha, Henry M. Faxon, Alexander Falconer, John A. Gordon, Charles P. Hutchins, Delecvare King, Henry McGrath, Nathan G. Nickerson, Arthur W. Newcomb, Theodore Parker, T. B. Pollard, Timothy Reed, William B. Rice, Fred B. Rice, William T. Shea, Frank P. Waterhouse, John F. Welch, Roger H. Wilde and Horace M. Willard.

A motion to appoint a nominating committee for the next annual meeting provoked a long discussion. There was objection to the appearance of a cut and dried list and yet a desire to secure representation from all wards.

It was finally voted that a double list of 44 should be presented, which should contain one woman from each ward.

The nominating committee are; Dr. J. F. Welch, R. D. Chase, L. S. Anderson, D. King and Mrs. J. M. Nowland.

Dinner and Musicale.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson of No. 4 Presidents avenue gave a dinner of fourteen covers on Sunday. Following dinner several vocal selections were given from the Italian and German operas by Mrs. Frederic L. Flowers. Scotch and English ballads were finely rendered by Mrs. John H. Roberts. Piano selections by Mr. William Wilson. La Traviata by Verdi was sung by Mrs. Frederic Flowers and Mrs. William Wilson. Piano selections by Mrs. William Wilson. Little Miss Wilma, daughter of the hostess, delighted her bearers by piano solos. "May Song" by Bohn and "Mazurka in A Minor by Chopin." Among those present from Boston were Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Roberts; From Braintree, Mrs. Charles E. White, Miss Hunt and Mr. Irving White. Also Mr. James Flowers and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic L. Flowers.

Canadian Shipping.

The Canadian government at Ottawa has appointed a Royal Commission to inquire into the reasons for the decay of the Canadian merchant marine, the commission also to recommend what steps should be taken with a view to the development of steel ship building at Canadian seaports. The suggestion was made by Mr. George Robertson, who represents St. John in the Legislature. Incidentally the question of Government bounties for ship-building was discussed, but Mr. Fielding did not speak very encouragingly as to the attitude of the Government towards this question.

Nothing Official.

There was a rumor this morning that Chief Engineer Williams had tendered his resignation. Mayor Thompson, when interviewed, said he had received no resignation from Mr. Williams.

Amy and Navy Friction

polish—easy—apply once a week, rub shoes each morning with cloth, keeps them soft and makes them wear longer.

WOLLASTON GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Wednesday, Jan. 17

At Wollaston Congregational Church,

Assisted by Miss Edna Goulland, soprano; Mr. Edward E. Bullock, tenor; Mr. Albert L. Hayden, baritone; and MISS S. ELLA MORSE, CORNETIST. Mr. J. A. Crowley, conductor, and Mira Richards Moulton, accompanist. Jan. 16-1t

Postponed

ENTERTAINMENT OF

FIRST CHURCH SOCIAL CLUB

to have been given this week Friday Evening has been postponed to

Friday Evening, Feb. 2.

Quincy, Jan. 15. 3t

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6 00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Probably there will be several objections raised to the proposed "School loan" outside the debt limit of the city, but were the city unanimous it is not sure that such permission could be obtained from the Legislature and Governor, as the Legislature is opposed to these exemptions.

There is great need of a new Coddington school and a new school building at Atlantic and of more accommodations in Ward Three, but would it not be unwise to give the Commissioner of Public Works all this work and also the High school enlargement in one year. Commissioner Burke is inexperienced in supervising the erection of public buildings, and his work in connection with the High school will be watched with interest.

Then the debt of the city is increasing alarmingly fast, and the city is paying more annually for interest than it does for the maintenance of several of its departments.

It may be impossible this year to make any appropriations within the debt limit for a new schoolhouse, but large payments will be made on maturing dedt, so that another year the city may be in a better financial condition.

It seems natural to say "Chief" Litchfield, because in 1898 under Mayor Sears, Amos L. Litchfield was Chief of Police. Now, however, it is Chief Engineer of the Fire Department. Mr. Litchfield's experience in the Fire Department dates back many years, having "run" with the Tiger engine and the John W. Hall hook and ladder, under the town government. He was the first president of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association. He has also served on the board of engineers both under the town and city government. Experience, together with the fact that he is a builder by occupation, gives him many qualifications for the new office.

A Woman's Excuse.

Aunt—Ah, my dear, don't deceive yourself! Fine feathers don't make fine birds.

Niece—Perhaps not, but they make jolly nice hats.—Ally Sloper's Half Holiday.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

1906	JANUARY					1906
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	9:52 a.m.	Third Quarter	17	3:48 p.m.
Full Moon	10	11:37 a.m.	New Moon	24	0:09 p.m.

TO TALK REFORMS

Gathering of Delegates to the Moroccan Conference

TENSION IS NOT VISIBLE

France and Germany Both Count on Support of America --German Envoys Prepared to Assume Modest Attitude

Algeciras, Jan. 16.—The opening of the international conference on Moroccan reforms has definitely been fixed for this afternoon. The Duke of Almodovar, the Spanish minister of foreign affairs, took the initiative soon after arriving here in arranging plans for the beginning of the deliberations. It is expected that the duke will preside and will make a brief address of welcome, after which he will doubtless be chosen as the permanent presiding officer.

Interesting features yesterday afternoon were the landing of Ambassador White, the American delegate, from the cruiser Galveston, and later the arrival of Samuel R. Gummere, American minister to Morocco, the second delegate, from Tangier on the French cruiser Galilee.

As the delegates assemble there is no outward evidence of tension, but on the contrary there is a notable exchange of amenities between the German and French delegations. There is, however, an undercurrent of sentiment that a supreme diplomatic struggle is imminent, with France and Germany occupying the center and the other powers ranged in varying degrees around them.

The French count upon Great Britain, Spain, Italy and Russia as sure, and consider that the ties between the United States and France and Great Britain warrant them in expecting the support of the American delegation. On the other hand, the prevailing sentiment is that Germany can count on Austria, Holland and Sweden and perhaps on Denmark, with Germany also expecting that the United States will support some of her contentions.

The Germany envoys will enter the conference with instructions to take up a modest attitude, insisting upon nothing, even proposing nothing, unless it shall be the wish of the other members of the conference. In the latter event Germany will put forward a plan of collective action toward Morocco, worked out under the principles agreed on in September with France—that is, for a permanent open door, including equal industrial and financial privileges for all countries, the territorial integrity of Morocco and the independence of the sultan, with administrative reforms, for which all the powers participating shall have identical responsibility.

The German plenipotentiaries will be strenuous upon nothing except that no one power shall obtain an international guarantee for predominance in Morocco, and as France is understood to be approaching the conference in the same spirit, an adjustment of the differing views is considered highly probable.

The principal cause of delay is likely to be with the sultan, to whom reports of each session must go. As the sultan does not use telegraph ciphers, the reports must go by courier to Tangier, and thence overland to Fez. This is the reason for holding the conference here, because were it held at Madrid the delays would be increased.

The Duke of Almodovar, when questioned last night, said: "Spain in the past has feared nothing from France and fears nothing now, as the Franco-Spanish agreement regarding Morocco abundantly protects Spanish rights there." The interviewer received the impression from the conversation with the duke that Spain would squarely support France.

Steamer Cherokee Abandoned

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 16.—Captain Archibald, his two mates and the life-saving crews who had refused to leave the steamer Cherokee, which lies stranded on the treacherous Brigantine shoals, last night abandoned the vessel. The big vessel, which is valued at about $500,000, will probably be a total loss.

Terrible Tragedy Recalled

New York, Jan. 16.—The jury which will try Captain Van Schaick, who was in command of the excursion steamer General Slocum when she was burned with a loss of nearly 1000 lives more than a year ago, was completed yesterday. His trial begun today.

The Greene-Gaynor Demurrers

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 16.—In the Greene and Gaynor case Monday's session of the court was taken up by argument for the defense and for the government upon the defense's demurrers to indictments. The arguments have not been concluded.

Police Lieutenants Murdered

Riga, Jan. 16.—A band of revolutionaries yesterday fell upon three lieutenants of police and killed them with revolvers. The assassins escaped. The lieutenants were returning from a conference at the palace of the governor general.

Ivens Had No Accomplices

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Richard G. Ivens, self-confessed murderer of Mrs. Franklin C. Hollister, positively declares that he had no accomplices, and that he alone committed the crime.

RADICAL REFORMS

Otherwise There Will Be No More Football at Harvard

Boston, Jan. 16.—Football has been abolished at Harvard, pending a reform in the game that will be acceptable to the board of overseers, according to an official announcement from the university. The discontinuance of the game is a result of a vote taken at a secret meeting of the board of overseers, when it was decided that intercollegiate football at Harvard would not be permitted until the rules and regulations had been so changed and amended as to remove what the overseers regard as the evils of the present game.

The overseers accepted unanimously the opinions of a special committee that the game as at present played is essentially bad in every respect; that the method of formation absolutely encourages trickery and foul play, and that the result is bad for the morals of the players as well as for the body. The committee declared that if changes were to be made no man now a member of the so-called intercollegiate rules committee should have a hand in it, the committee believing that these persons are so far committed to the present system that they could not agree to such changes as are absolutely necessary to produce a decent, clean, pleasurable contest, "instead of the present apology for a rough and tumble fight."

In Congress

Washington, Jan. 16.—Mr. Bacon succeeded in securing an open door discussion of the Moroccan question in the senate by the introduction of a resolution making a general declaration against interference on the part of the government of the United States in any controversy among European nations concerning their international affairs. The broad scope of the resolution relieved it from the point of order made on the Moroccan resolution.

General debate on the Philippine tariff bill was concluded in the house, having been in progress daily since Jan. 4. The bill will be taken up for amendment under the five-minute rule today and put on its passage either today or tomorrow.

Burbank's Sentence Stands

Leavenworth, Kas., Jan. 16.—Advices received at Fort Leavenworth state that President Roosevelt has declined to interfere with the findings of the court martial in the case of Lieutenant Burbank, Sixth infantry, recently sentenced in the Philippines to 15 months' imprisonment and dismissal from the army for deserting his Filipino wife, who was granted a divorce and alimony.

Million In Forged Securities

Cleveland, Jan. 16.—According to a statement made by H. R. Newcomb of the bankers' committee investigating the affairs of Denison, Prior & Co., which is in the hands of a receiver, the developments show that the gross liabilities of the firm will be $900,000, not including the $1,000,000 in supposedly forged securities. The assets of the firm, Newcomb believes, will be about $500,000.

Gale Brought Accident

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A seven-story warehouse in course of construction by the Harder Furniture and Van company partially collapsed, injuring three workmen, one of them seriously. A heavy gale carried down part of the north wall, which fell in upon the floors. The majority of the men were protected by the floors, none of which gave way. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

Mrs Taggart Goes Abroad

Cincinnati, Jan. 16.—The Times-Star publishes a story to the effect that Mrs. Grace Taggart, who was to have appeared in the Wooster court yesterday in connection with her recent divorce from Captain Taggart, U. S. A., is on board the steamship Cedric, with her two sons, en route to Paris, where friends have arranged for a visit of uncertain length.

New Billiard Champion

Paris, Jan. 16.—Willie Hoppe of New York, who is not yet 19 years old, defeated the 60-year-old veteran, Maurice Vignaux of France, in a billiard match here last night for the championship of the world. The game was for 500 points, 18-inch balk line, one shot allowed in balk. Hoppe won by 177 points. Hoppe's victory was a great surprise.

Hazer Must Leave Academy

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Bonaparte has approved the sentence of dismissal imposed by court martial at Annapolis in the case of Midshipman Coffin on conviction of hazing, and ordered his dismissal from the academy.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Senator Cullom has left Washington for St. Augustine, Fla. He is in bad health and it is doubtful whether he can resume his senatorial labors in the near future.

John B. Ward of Middletown, R. I., and a former member of the legislature of that state, committed suicide by cutting his throat. It is said that Ward had been despondent.

Charles M. Pepper of the department of commerce and labor has returned to Washington from an extensive tour of Mexico, involving a close study of the Mexican railway system.

The central council of the United Irish league of Philadelphia has decided to send $5000 to John Redmond, the Irish leader, for use in the present political campaign in Great Britain.

Commodore W. P. McCann, aged 75, retired, U. S. N., died at New Rochelle, N. Y. He was a native of Kentucky and served on the gulf blockading squadron during the Civil war.

Local Ins And Outs

January is half gone.

The days have increased over twenty minutes.

Henry P. Kittredge has gone south on his annual winter trip.

No more meetings of the City Council until Monday evening, Feb. 5.

The cold rain Monday night made walking, especially on the concrete sidewalks very slippery.

The Brownie whist club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Mary E. Powers of Washington street on Friday afternoon.

Miss Edna Maria Goulland, soprano, and Miss S. Ella Morse, solo cornetist, of Boston Ladies' Philharmonic orchestra, are to assist at the Wollaston Glee Club concert to-morrow evening.

At the fourth quarterly conference of the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday by a unanimous vote, the presiding elder was requested to secure the return of the Rev. A. B. Tyler for the next conference year.

The Hospital Aid association luncheon is to be given on Thursday the 18th at half past twelve in the chapel of First church, followed by a sewing bee. It is to be quite a social affair and a large attendance is looked for.

Patrick Barry is busy these days ridding the trees in Atlantic, and Norfolk Downs of the gypsy moth. Mr. Barry has not found his search for said pestilence fruitless, and his timely clipper has severed the connection of many a moth in its chrysalis from the young tree that innocently harbored such a relentless enemy.

Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., No. 313, at its meeting in Wilson's hall on Wednesday evening, will work the degree on several candidates, after which Mrs. Nellie E. Hallett, D. D. P., and suite of Charlestown, will install the officers elect for the ensuing year. To be followed by an entertainment and a social time, which is in charge of an able committee, which have taken great pains and labor to make the evening's pleasure one long to be remembered.

COLOR IS IMMATERIAL

Bigelow Says Any Fever That Kills Off People Is Bad

Providence, Jan. 16.—Poultney Bigelow, whose utterances concerning the state of affairs surrounding the construction of the isthmian canal at Panama have occasioned considerable comment recently, coupled with his controversy with Secretary of War Taft, spoke at Brown university last night concerning isthmian conditions.

Mr. Bigelow dealt with sanitary conditions in Colon, referring to the official report that yellow fever had been stamped out there and saying that "it does not matter what color the fever existing there is, as long as it kills people as it is now doing.

"Ten thousand negroes," said he, "who have been imported from the island of Jamaica, are living in a stinking, cozy swamp," and he attributed the prevalence of illness among them to the fact that they are not being properly cared for.

Mr. Bigelow stated that he had stayed only 28 hours at Colon, but that it was unnecessary to remain there longer in order to investigate conditions there, adding that the trip to the isthmus was at his own expense. He professed the most loyal friendship to both President Roosevelt and Taft, but said he was convinced they erred in regarding criticism as unpatriotic.

Prince Philip Gets Divorce

Gotha, Jan. 16.—The suit for divorce brought by Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha against his wife, Princess Louise, eldest daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, was concluded by a decision providing for an absolute divorce. The princess will bear the costs of the litigation. The question of which party was guilty was not raised. The princess receives a lump sum of $80,000 and $1400 monthly from Philip, and will also receive an annuity of $16,000 from King Leopold.

President Favors Lock Canal

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt is preparing to send to congress a message which will favor a lock canal. He had conferences with several members of the senate committee on interoceanic canals, which has in its possession an advance copy of the report furnished by the president for use in examinjng Chief Engineer Stevens when he appears before the committee at the investigation ordered by the senate.

Troubles Bleached Captain's Hair

Norfolk, Jan. 16.—Steamship Gresham, 16 days overdue from Sunderland, Eng., arrived in Hampton Roads after having encountered a series of terrific storms which swept her decks, carrying away everything portable, including the compass from the bridge. Captain Thompson, who had dark brown hair when he left England, now has silvery gray locks. The Gresham proceeded to Baltimore after receiving orders.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

UNSUSPECTED WORMS

are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When they are sick you rarely think their sickness is caused by worms. They are rarely treated for worms. Yet worms are the cause either directly or indirectly of over 75 per cent. of the ailments of children. They are also frequent cause of illness in adults. The familiar symptoms of worms are disturbed health, deranged stomach, furred tongue, variable appetite and bowels, increased thirst, itching of nostrils, indolence, malaria, irritability, distu bed sleep, grinding of teeth, slow fever and often in children, convulsions—

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

is the only safe, sure, entirely vegetable worm remedy ever compounded. It not only expels worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure and the whole system strong and healthy. Known and used successfully for three generations. This testimonial came with an order for more Elixir.

UNION, ME., March 27, 1905.

DR. J. F. TRUE, Auburn, Me.:

. . . My youngest son shows symptoms of having worms, and I know that your worm medicine will give prompt relief. My oldest son now a sea captain, was, when a boy, sickly and in poor health. We gave him your Elixir and he grew and thrived on it. We believe it saved his life.

MRS. JOHN COOKSON.

Sold by all dealers. Price 35c., 50c. and $1.00. Write for free booklet "Children and their Diseases."

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Maine.
Established 1851

1906

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl t

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

The following is a list of recent real estate sales in Quincy:

Kate E. Moran to Jane M. McDonald.
Elizabeth W. Trask et al to Ada F. J. Burgess.
Charles D. Thurlow guardian to Ada F. J. Burgess $173.
John H. Storer et al trustees to Eben L. Thurber.
John W. Chisholm to Fanny Jones.
Elias A. Perkins by execut or to Olof P. Lindberg, $5,600.
Herbert T. Whitman et al to Abbondio Bianchi.
John Kelman to Jessie L. Webb.
Jessie L. Webb to Isabella Kelman.
Charles C. Barton, trustees et al to Nellie M. Greenlaw.
Jesse Pye to Edward J. Ball.
William Scrannage to Newell Snowling Construction Co. (2.)—each 1.
James T. Young to Timothy J. Murphy. (2.)
Timothy J. Murphy et ux to James T. Young.
Henry B. Schwartz to Jennie H. Stearns.
Lorenzo D. Baker to Margaret S. Warren.
George S. Murray to John C. Murray.
Walter T. Fuller et al to Paul R. Blackmur.
Daniel L. F. Chase to Fred W. Wood, trustee.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover,
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

GAINS NUMBER 64

Liberals Continue to Win In the British Elections

HEAVY POLLS RECORDED

People as a Whole Taking More Interest Than Ever Before-- Two More Former Cabinet Officers Go Down and Out

London, Jan. 16.—The Liberal landslide continues. Out of 76 contests yesterday the Liberals and Laborites together secured 62 seats. The Liberal gains yesterday showed the surprising total of 42, while the Unionists gained only one seat, that of Hastings.

Two former cabinet officers went down before the storm of Liberal sentiment. Gerald Balfour, president of the local government board in the Balfour cabinet, was defeated at Leeds by a majority of 1069, and Walter H. Long, former chief secretary for Ireland, lost his seat for South Bristol, while Augustine Birrell, president of the board of education, defeated the Unionist candidate at North Bristol.

Aside from the overwhelming gains by the Liberals throughout the country, the immense majorities secured in the turnover are causes of surprises to both sides.

The labor candidates are showing remarkable strength, the total gains of the labor party yesterday being seven, not including one Socialist, W. Thorne, who at West Ham defeated the Unionist candidate, Sir J. G. Nutting, by a majority of 5000.

The composition of the new parliament up to the present is as follows: Liberals, 95; Unionists, 31; Laborites, 17; Nationalists, 18; Socialists, 1. The total Liberal gains number 64, the gains made by the Laborites being classed among the Liberals.

Twenty-one London districts voted yesterday. Out of these hitherto Unionist strongholds the Unionists only succeeded in securing five seats. Three members of the new ministry were returned by strong majorities—Herbert J. Gladstone, secretary for home affairs; Mr. Birrell, president of the board of education, and James Bryce, chief secretary for Ireland. Attorney General Walton also received a large majority.

Among the few Unionists who retained their seats were H. O. Arnold-Forster, former secretary of war at Croydon, and Sir Howard Vincent at Sheffield. Newcastle-on-Tyne only voted for two seats yesterday, but the returns have not been declared. These seats hitherto have given Unionist majorities, but it is predicted that the vote will be close and that both are likely to be turned over to the Liberals.

The declarations of the results of the pollings are received everywhere with enthusiasm. There are cheers and counter-cheers, but no serious disorders. Heavy polls are recorded in almost every case, and it is evident that the people as a whole, especially the working classes, are taking a deeper interest than ever before.

The tide is running so swiftly against the Unionists that an unexpected difficulty is being experienced in finding a safe seat for former Premier Balfour, who was defeated in the elections Saturday. Some of those whom it was expected would resign their seats to Balfour refuse point blank to do so, while in other cases it is seen that the issue is so doubtful there will be the risk of subjecting the former premier to a second defeat. Nothing, therefore, has yet been decided.

Mr. Balfour himself seems to be giving way to irritation. In a speech at Nottingham last night, in which he criticised the new government in a biting manner, he said: "The language used by one member of the cabinet would do credit to a bargee. It rather belonged to a 'slanging' match between rowdies quarreling over their cups than to a minister with great responsibilities, and, in the case of the one of whom I am thinking, of great abilities."

This obviously referred to John Burns, and was a great departure from Balfour's customary urbanity.

Mr. Burns, on the other hand, takes no pains to conceal his thoughts. In a speech at Battersea he referred to Joseph Chamberlain as the "Llama in the political Thibet of Birmingham" and declared that Toryism would receive its greatest stabs when the full story of the late government's connection with the Jameson raid and the Rand scandals became known.

The conservative newspapers have ceased their efforts to explain the defeats of the Unionist candidates and confine themselves to attacking the new government and its supporters at every point. They dilate especially on the danger to the nation through the new found power and influence of the labor party.

As an instance of the unexpectedness of the Liberal flood, Preston, which returned two Liberals, has been consistently a Tory stronghold for 41 years and it has been 14 years since the Liberals ran a candidate there.

Schooner Made Good Time

Norfolk, Jan. 16.—Nine days and 10 hours is the new sailing record between Philadelphia, Portland, Me., and Norfolk. Loaded with 4920 tons of cargo, schooner Ruth Merrill, Captain Waters, sailed from Philadelphia to Portland, discharged cargo, and sailed for Norfolk. She arrived at her pier here in the above time.

The Greenleaf Hotel

A Select Family

First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties.
Dinners and Suppers

Also Hancock Hotel

NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1236 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn, Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,

REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,

ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,

REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A.M.—6 P. M.
Jan. 11. 1m

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Continued from as Issue.)

That it was her father's property which was imperiled attested to the justification of Miss Betty in running to a fire, and as she followed the crowd into Main street she felt a not unpleasant proprietary interest in the spectacle. Very opposite sensations animated the breast of the man with the trumpet, who was more acutely conscious than any other that these were Robert Carewe's possessions which were burning so handsomely. Nor was he the only one among the firemen who ground his teeth over the folly of the uniforms, for now they could plainly see the ruin being wrought, the devastation threatened. The two upper stories of the southernmost warehouse had swathed themselves in one great flame, the building next on the north, also of frame, was smoking heavily, and there was a wind from the southwest which, continuing with the fire unchecked, threatened the town itself. There was work for the volunteer brigade that night.

They came down Main street with a rush, the figure of their chief swaying over them on his high perch, while their shouting was drowned in the louder roar of greeting from the crowd into which they plunged as a diver into the water, swirls and eddies of people marking the wake. A moment later a section of the roof of the burning warehouse fell in with a sonorous and reverberating crash.

The engine company ran the force pump out to the end of one of the lower wharfs, two lines of pipe were attached, two rows of men mounted the planks for the pumpers and at the word of command began the up and down of the hand machine with admirable vim. Nothing happened; the water did not come; something appeared to be wrong with the mechanism. As every one felt the crucial need of haste, nothing could have been more natural than that all the members of the engine company should simultaneously endeavor to repair the defect. Therefore ensued upon the spot a species of riot which put the engine out of its sphere of usefulness.

In the meantime fifty or sixty men and boys who ran with the machines, but who had no place in their operation, being the bucket brigade, had formed a line and were throwing large pails of water in the general direction of the southernmost warehouse, which it was now impossible to save, while the gentlemen of the hook and ladder company, abandoning their wagons and armed with axes, heroically assaulted the big door of the granary, the second building, whence they were driven by the exasperated chief, who informed them that the only way to save the wheat was to save the building. Crailey Gray, one of the berated axmen, remained by the shattered door after the others had gone and, struck by a sudden thought, set his hand upon the iron latch and opened the door by this simple process. It was not locked. Crailey leaned against the casement and laughed with his whole soul and body.

Meanwhile, by dint of shouting in men's ears when near them, through the trumpet when distant, tearing axes from their hands, imperiously gesticulating to subordinate commanders and lingering in no one spot for more than a second, Mr. Vanrevel reduced his forces to a semblance of order in a remarkably short time, considering the confusion into which they had fallen.

The space between the burning warehouse and that next it was not more than fifty feet in width, but fifty feet so hot no one took thought of entering there, an area as discomfiting in appearance as it was beautiful with the thick rain of sparks and firebrands that fell upon it. But the chief had decided that this space must be occupied and, more, must be held, since it was the only point of defense for the second warehouse. The roof of this building would burn, which would mean the destruction of the warehouse, unless it could be mounted, because the streams of water could not play upon it from the ground nor from the ladders do much more than wet the projecting eaves. It was a gable roof, the eaves twenty feet lower on the south side than on the north, where the ladders could not hope to reach. Vanrevel swung his line of bucketeers round to throw water not upon the flames, but upon the ladder men.

Miss Carewe stood in the crowd upon the opposite side of the broad street. Even there her cheeks were uncomfortably hot, and sometimes she had to brush a spark from her shoulder, though she was too much excited to mind this. She was watching the beautiful fiery furnace between the north wall of the burning warehouse and the south wall of its neighbor, the fifty feet brilliant and misty with vaporous rose color, dotted with the myriad red stars, her eyes shining with the reflection of their fierce beauty. She saw how the vapors moved there, like men walking in fire, and she was vaguely recalling Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, when over the silhouetted heads of the crowd before her a long black ladder rose, wabbled, tilted crazily, then lamely advanced and ranged itself against the south wall of the second warehouse, its top rung striking ten feet short of the eaves. She hoped that no one had any notion of mounting that ladder.

A figure appeared upon it immediately, that of a gentleman, bareheaded and in evening dress, with a brass trumpet swinging from a cord about his shoulders. The noise grew less, the shouting died away, and the crowd became almost silent as the figure, climbing slowly, drew up above their heads.

Two or three rungs beneath came a second, a man in helmet and uniform. The clothes of both men, drenched by the bucketeers, clung to them, steaming. As the second figure mounted a third appeared, but this was the last, for the ladder was frail and sagged toward the smoking wall with the weight of the three.

The chief, three-fourths of the way to the top, shouted down a stifled command, and a short grappling ladder, fitted at one end with a pair of spiked iron hooks, was passed to him. Then he toiled upward until his feet rested on the third rung from the top. Here he turned, setting his back to the wall, lifted the grappling ladder high over his head so that it rested against the eaves above him and brought it down sharply, fastening the spiked hooks in the roof. As the eaves projected fully three feet, this left the grappling ladder hanging that distance out from the wall, its lowest rung a little above the level of the chief's shoulders.

Miss Betty drew in her breath with a little choked cry. There was a small terraced hill of piled up packing boxes near her, possession of which had been taken by a company of raggamuffinish boys, and she found herself standing on the highest box and sharing the summit with these questionable youths, almost without noting her action in mounting thither, so strained was the concentration of her attention upon the figure high up in the rose glow against the warehouse wall. The man, surely, surely, was not going to trust himself to that bit of wooden web hanging from the roof! Where was Miss Bareaud that she permitted it? Ah, if Betty had been Fanchon, and mad woman enough to have accepted this madman, she would have compelled him to come down at once, and thereafter would lock him up in the house whenever the bells rang!

But the roof was to be mounted or Robert Carewe's property lost. Already little flames were dancing up from the shingles, where firebrands had fallen, their number increasing with each second. So Vanrevel raised his arms, took a hard grip upon the lowest rung of the grappling ladder and tried it with his weight. The iron hooks bit deeper into the roof; they held. He swung himself out into the air, with nothing beneath him, caught the rung under his knee, and for a moment hung there, while the crowd withheld from breathing. Then a cloud of smoke swirling that way made him the mere ghostly nucleus of itself, blotted him out altogether, and, as it rose slowly upward, showed the ladder free and empty, so that at first there was an instant when they thought that he had fallen, but, as the smoke cleared, there was the tall figure on the roof.

It was an agile and a daring thing to do, and the man who did it was mightily applauded. The cheering bothered him, however, for he was trying to make them understand below what would happen to the engine company in case the water was not sent through the lines directly, and what he said should be done to the engineers included things that would have blanched the cheek of the most inventive Spanish inquisitor that ever lived.

Miss Betty made a gesture as if to a person within whispering distance. "Your coat is on fire," she said in an ordinary conversational tone without knowing she had spoken aloud, and Mr. Vanrevel, more than a hundred feet away, seemed particularly conscious of the pertinence of her remark. He removed the garment with alacrity, and for the lack of the tardy water began to use it as a flail upon the fire-brands and little flames about him, the sheer desperate best of a man in a rage doing what he could when others failed him. Showers of sparks fell upon him. The smoke was rising everywhere from the roof and the walls below and, growing denser and denser, shrouded him in heavy veils, so that as he ran hither and thither, now visible, now unseen, stamping and beating and sweeping away the brands that fell, he seemed but the red and ghostly caricature of a Xerxes ineffectually lashing the sea. They were calling to him imploringly to come down, in heaven's name to come down!

The second man had followed to the top of the ladder against the wall, and there he paused, waiting to pass up the line of hose when the word should come that the force pump had been repaired, but the people thought that he waited because he was afraid to trust himself to the grappling ladder. He was afraid, exceedingly afraid, though that was not why he waited, and he was still chuckling over the assault of the axes.

He swung himself out into the air

His situation had not much the advantage of that of the chief. His red shirt might have been set with orange jewels, so studded it was with the flying sparks, and, a large brand dropping upon his helmet, he threw up his hand to dislodge it and lost the helmet. The great light fell upon his fair hair and smiling face, and it was then that Miss Betty recognized the incroyable of her garden.

(Continued in next issue.)

Marshall Field Much Better

New York, Jan. 16.—Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning Augustus N. Eddy, a friend of the Field family, came from the bedside of Marshall Field, ill in this city with pneumonia, and said that for the first time since Saturday night the attending physicians had told Field's immediate relatives that they might retire and rest easy. This was taken to indicate great improvement.

Palmed Off Confederate Money

Vienna, Jan. 16.—What seems to be an organized effort to pass off bills of the American confederacy has come to notice in this city, the shopkeepers of which have been victimized to the extent of several thousand crowns within the last few weeks. Two arrests have been made. One of the prisoners is a Roumanian and the other a Hungarian. The swindlers posed as Americans.

Plumbers Heavily Fined

Toronto, Jan. 16.—The government's prosecution of Toronto plumbers as individuals for combination in restraint of trade and conspiracy has resulted in 134 men pleading guilty. Forty of them were fined a total of $10,000, the remainder having fines suspended. The combination as a whole was fined $12,000 several weeks ago.

Commission Loses New Furniture

Colon, Jan. 16.—Two carloads of new office furniture belonging to the isthmian canal commission were destroyed by fire at Cristobal yesterday afternoon. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have been due to a spark from a passing engine.

Canal Commission Needs Money

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has submitted to congress a statement made by the war department of an additional $5,340,786 sought by the isthmian canal commission to continue its work for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906.

Union College Drops Football

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 16.—At a meeting of the student body of Union college it was voted unanimously to abolish football as it is played at present. The action was entirely voluntary and the faculty took no hand in it.

New State Department Solicitor

Washington, Jan. 16.—James B. Scott of California, professor of law at Columbia university, New York, has been appointed solicitor of the state department to succeed Judge Penfield, resigned.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Jan. 17.
Sun rises—7:10; sets—4:31.
Moon rises—11:47 p. m.
High water—4 a. m.; 4:45 p. m.
Rain and somewhat warmer weather is indicated for New England.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

UNTIL MARCH 19

Patrick Is Granted a Reprieve by Governor Higgins

TO ASK FOR NEW TRIAL

Counsel Claims to Have Newly Discovered Evidence Which Has Not Been Presented to Court--Did Not Ask Pardon

Albany, Jan. 16.—Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer convicted and now awaiting execution in Sing Sing prison next week for the murder of William M. Rice, an aged and very wealthy man in New York city in September, 1900, was reprieved yesterday afternoon by Governor Higgins until March 19.

This reprieve is granted for the purpose of giving Patrick's counsel time to bring before a trial court alleged newly discovered evidence. Its granting followed a hearing before the governor and was in accordance with the request of former Senator Hill and Judge Olcott, of counsel for Patrick, and with the full consent of District Attorney Jerome of New York county, who was present in person. Hill came forth for the first time from his sick room after an illness of more than two months in order to attend the hearing and addressed the governor at considerable length.

In announcing the reprieve of Patrick Governor Higgins gave out the following memorandum:

"It appears that Patrick is not at this time an applicant for executive clemency, but that he desires to present newly discovered evidence, bearing upon the question of his guilt or innocence, which has not been presented to the court. A motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence may be made at any time before execution in case of a sentence of death, and Patrick's counsel state that it is their intention to make such a motion in his case if time is given them.

"Patrick should exhaust his legal remedies before asking the governor to intervene. Newly discovered evidence should, in the first instance, whenever it is practicable, be presented to the court. The governor should not exercise judicial functions by a general retrial of the case. Pardon is technically an act of forgiveness which implies guilt, although pardons and commutations may be granted in the discretion of the governor as guided by his own conscience.

"The importance and notoriety of this case should not lead the governor to establish a precedent for setting up an extra constitutional court of last resort to retry the issues raised on the trial. Patrick should have ample opportunity to present his case to the court, and when his case is ended in the courts, an appeal to the executive for mercy will be in order."

Medical Officals Arrested

New York, Jan. 16.—Arthur H. Williams, treasurer of the Force of Life Medical company, surrendered himself to Commissioner Ridgeway and was at once released in $1500 bail. Last Friday Dr. W. W. Hadley, medical director of the company, and Mrs. L. M. Wilson, assistant medical director of the company, were arrested on charges of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses by the use of the United States mails. They were admitted to bail.

Another Blow to Bureaucracy

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—The czar has invited Metropolitan Antonius, president of the synod, to convene an extraordinary church council, pursuant to a desire expressed by the synod a year ago, to consider reforms in the organization of the national church. This will be the first council of the kind since the patriarchate of Nikon in 1654 and it signifies the downfall of the edifice of secular authority and bureaucratic restrictions.

Heroism Is Recoganized

Trenton, Jan. 16.—The legislature last night passed a joint resolution thanking Captain Casto and his men, who rescued the passengers and crew of the steamer Cherokee, which stranded on the Brigantine shoals. The resolution provides that a joint committee prepare and present to Casto and his crew medals in recognition of their heroism.

In Charge of Chicago University

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Henry P. Judson, head of the department of political science and head dean of the University of Chicago, was appointed acting president of the university at a meeting of the ruling body today. Judson's appointment will place him officially in the position which he has in many respects filled since President Harper's illness.

To Demand Depew's Resignation

Albany, Jan. 16.—The Brackett resolution demanding the resignation of United States Senator Depew is set down as a special order in the senate for today. Senator Brackett announces his intention to attempt to force every senator to vote one way or the other.

Not an Office Seeker

Washington, Jan. 16.—J. C. Napier, the negro lawyer and banker of Nashville, who was recently offered the position of United States consul at Bahia, Brazil, called on the president and thanked him for the proposed appointment, but declined it.

FORGERY IS CHARGED

John Dew and His Sister Jailed In Default of Bail

Boston, Jan. 16.—After waiting nearly all day in the detention room of the superior court, in company with a motley collection of ordinary criminals, John Dew and his alleged half-sister, Mrs. Louise S. M. Hood, who were brought back from Chicago to answer charges of forgery, were arraigned on the charge, pleaded not guilty and in default of $5000 and $3000 bail, respectively, were remanded to jail for trial.

Dew and his sister occupied aristocratic quarters in this city about two years ago, until indicted for forging the names of two maiden sisters to stock certificates amounting to several thousand dollars. Dew, it is said, obtained the certificates by announcing himself to be an inventor. He disappeared with his sister when the indictments were returned against him, but was arrested two weeks ago in Chicago on another charge. The Boston authorities learned of the arrest and requested the Chicago officials to hold the pair until the necessary papers could be obtained. They came back Sunday in charge of local inspectors. Their trial will take place in a few weeks.

Assault on Aged Cripple

Biddeford, Me., Jan. 16.—A stranger, whose motive is supposed to have been robbery, entered the store of Charles O. Gould, an aged cripple, and made a purchase. While Gould was wrapping up the bundle he was struck over the head with a fence picket, sustaining bad scalp wounds. Frightened by the storekeeper's shouts, the stranger ran out and disappeared. Later a young man who said he was Harry H. Kinney of Boston was arrested. A charge of assault with intent to kill has been lodged against him.

Child Was Disposed Of

Milford, Conn., Jan. 16.—Deputy Coroner Pond, who conducted an inquest into the death of Lulu Bronson, 19 years old, who died here under what appeared to be suspicious circumstances, declares that he found no evidence of a criminal nature. It is understood the girl died in giving birth to a child. Asked what had become of the child, Pond said he did not know, but heard that it had been thrown into the river. So far as he is concerned, he says, the case is ended.

Eight Years For Counterfeiter

Boston, Jan. 16.—Dr. Robert Thompson, sentenced last week to serve eight years in the Charlestown state prison for counterfeiting in connection with the famous gang of Wiggin-Wilson counterfeiters, was resentenced yesterday by Judge Lowell to serve the eight years, as a result of the refusal of the United States circuit court of appeals to change the sentence of the lower court. Thompson took his sentence with an indifferent air.

Bay State Street Railways

Boston, Jan. 16.—In the report of the railroad commissioners, submitted to the legislature, the board recommends legislation to require railroads and such street railways as are run practically as railroads, to equip with block signals of a type to be approved by the board. In general discussion of the street railway situation the board says that the financial outlook for street railway companies is none too good.

Wainwright Gets Life Sentence

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 16.—John Wainwright was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in the second degree of his daughter, Ada E. Lindley, at his home in this city. Before sentence was passed Wainwright addressed the court, proclaiming his innocence and maintaining that the shooting of his daughter was an accident.

University Professor a Mayor

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 16.—Professor Willard C. Fisher of Wesleyan university was yesterday elected mayor of Middletown on the Democratic ticket in the city elections, and took the oath of office last evening. The Democrats also elected the whole of their ticket with the exception of the assessor, which fell to the Republicans.

Store-Breaker's Heavy Sentence

Boston, Jan. 16.—Charles H. Martin, a young man who was arrested while attempting to break into a market, was sentenced to serve not less than eight nor more than 10 years in the state prison. Martin had been in prison several times and in view of his records Judge Holmes imposed a heavy sentence.

Died After Eating Oysters

Biddeford, Me., Jan. 16.—Miss Annie Brunelle, aged 26, died suddenly of what is supposed to be ptomaine poisoning, due to eating oysters. Miss Brunelle ate some oysters and was taken ill shortly after.

Miss Roosevelt Entertains

Washington, Jan. 16.—Miss Alice Roosevelt gave a tea at the White House yesterday afternoon to the members of the party whom she accompanied to the Philippines. Miss Roosevelt received her guests in the Blue parlor and tea was served in the state dining room. The president came in and for a half hour mingled with the guests.

Harper Was Very Generous

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The estate left by the late President Harper of Chicago university is small and consists almost entirely of life insurance policies. Dr. Harper, during his life, gave much money to needy students, but the amount will never be known. It is said that the entire estate is given to the widow without reserve.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 06
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 58 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1.33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 42
r 6 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 58 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Nortolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—5.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.13 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS

and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	49	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	—	24	37	26	23
Thursday,	—	29	41	35	34
Friday,	—	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	—	37	44	28	39

New Advertisements Today.

Julius Johnson—House for sale or to let.
C. H. Brooks—New Market.
Wollaston Glee Club Concert.
Administratrix's Notice.
Store to let.
Lost—Black and Tan Collie Pup
Found—Lady's Underwaist.
Wanted—Male Help.
Wanted—Board and Room.
Wanted—Cashier for Grocery Store.

The City In Brief

A newsy paper today

Didn't it rain hard at 12 o'clock!

The no-school signal was sounded at 12.30.

Today's rain has taken off the Sunday's snow rapidly.

Six more Wollaston school children are ill with the measles.

Concert tomorrow evening by the Wollaston Glee Club.

Miss Dickson of Shaw street is suffering from an attack of the measles.

The officers of Division 17, A. O. H., of Atlantic, will be installed tonight.

A short illustrated animal story for the children in tomorrow's Daily Ledger.

The W. C. T. U. meets with Mrs. F. R. Mills, of Arlington street this afternoon.

Julius Johnson advertises an eight room house with all the latest improvements.

The striking of the fire alarm bells this morning was caused by trouble on the line.

Fashion hints illustrated will be a feature in the Daily Ledger for the next few weeks.

The children in the Point district ave somewhat recovered from the chicken-pox epidemic,

Considerable rain water found its way into the basement of the High school this morning.

The newly elected officers of John A. Boyd camp, Legion of Spanish War Veterans, will be mustered in tonight.

Hence forth the Wollaston Congregational church will be supported by voluntary subscription and all seats will be free.

The new Charles H. Brooks market at 1375 Hancock street will be open for business tomorrow. It is in the store formerly occupied by John W. Nash.

In spite of the storm Sunday there was a good attendance at the Wollaston Unitarian church Snuday morning. Rev. Mr. Hunt preached a beautiful sermon upon "Reverence."

The Blind Artists.

A large and appreciative audience greeted John and Mary McCay, the blind brother and sister, at their unique entertainment Monday evening at Hancock hall.

The program was a long one and consisted of vocal solos and duets by the brother and sister, impersonations and specimens of Irish wit and humor.

Every number was well rendered and it was remarkable how good an entertainment it was when it is considered that both are blind.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

The Red And Blue

Banquet Of the Makaria Fraternity

Some ten weeks ago the members of the Makaria Fraternity were divided into two sides, the Reds with red buttons, reading "Get one," and the Blues with similar blue buttons, and they have been hustling ever since for more members, "fellows not connected with any Sunday School class anywhere or with any other church." Monday night came the celebration, the Reds, the defeated side, doing all the work of getting up the banquet.

As the fellows began to arrive at 6.30 P. M., they were given a tag, a pencil and a sheet of paper. First they had to write their name on the tag, and tie it on, then they had to start out to get names on their paper, first shaking hands with the fellow and then getting him to write his name.

And such a time! When a fellow arrived half a dozen were at him for his signature before he could take off his coat.

In the midst of it, the banquet was announced and all flocked below. Two long tables extended from the head table—one for the Blues, the other for the Reds. The room was simply but very effectively decorated with some half dozen big American flags and potted palms on the tables and around the walls.

With Mr. Griffiths and his excellent phonograph, and with "Bert" Miller in the kitchen, things moved merrily forward, and soon the ice cream and cake and then the oranges, such big ones, were reached.

In counting up the names on the various papers "Charlie" Laing had 86 and was presented with a sunshade, so that he might shield people from his brilliancy for with only 90 or 91 present his 86 names was surely a surprising feat. The second prize was a little rooster.

Then came a brief business meeting with President Baltzer presiding, and the welcoming in of over a dozen new members. Mr. D. King, who acted as toastmaster, then presented watch fobs with the letters "M. F." to the two captains, Charles W. Laing and Lawrence E. Pratt.

On behalf of the Reds, Vice President Newcomb handed over a crown to the winning captain and President Baltzer gave a drum to the vanquished—something they could beat.

"Bobbie" Mitchell said a few words about base ball, and Brother Tarbox made an impromptu and effective speech.

Theophilus King was introduced, also E. W. Branch, the superintendent of Bethany Sunday School, and the pastor of the church Rev. E. N. Hardy, all of whom combined jokes and earnest thought most effectively.

Colonel Edward Anderson just won the fellows with a stirring address, and at 9.30 the first annual Red and Blue banquet was over.

Unwelcomed Visitor.

A certain family on South street were surprised one morning last week when a strange noise was heard in the front of the house, and found upon investigation a drunken man seated in the parlor with his hat on the table. Unfortunately there were only women at home at the time and they thought the safest method of removing him was to coax rather than drive. After fifteen or twenty minutes of this sort of work the man was seen safely out of the house, and the door quickly locked. Evidently the fellow was looking for a comfortable place to rest, and when he found all the doors unlocked walked in. Experience, is said to be the best teacher and if that is true, there is one house at least at Quincy Point, whose doors will be barred and bolted hereafter.

A Long, Long Time.

"How long have you been after my daughter?"

"Er—evah since I lost me—er—job!"

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Superstitious Rooster

"I don't believe in your superstitions," said Mr. Dorking, looking very wise and scratching his head with his left claw.

"Well, I do," replied Mr. Shanghai, shaking himself as he rose from the sand. "I know they come true."

"What do?" queried Dorking.

"Oh, signs and omens," said Shanghai, looking wise as he shifted his position from one foot to the other. "Why, there was Mrs. Cochin, who sat on thir-

THE FULL MOON WAS SHINING.

teen eggs and hatched them all. Of course nothing but bad luck could follow that number, and they all died but one, and he became a suicide."

"You don't say so? How was that?"

"Oh, he jumped into a hay cutter by mistake and got fed to the cows."

"And then there was Bill, the Plymouth Rock rooster, who had his head cut off and was boiled for soup on Friday, and you know that's bad luck—to have a thing like that occur on Friday."

"Yes," Shanghai went on, "and omens help me out too. Now, for instance, no darky will ever steal a chicken in the full of the moon."

"Won't they, though?"

"No, they won't. They only come in the dark of the moon, same as when they go after the left hind foot of the graveyard rabbit. So you see I know when to sleep peacefully and am not afraid in full moonlight."

"Would you trust yourself with that idea?" asked Dorking in doubtful tones.

"Most certainly," replied Shanghai, with assurance.

"I wouldn't," said Dorking, "and don't you pin your safety on such nonsense."

He was right, for when he woke at midnight the full moon was shining, and in its light he saw poor Shanghai, with his head sticking out of a big bag, carried by Sam Slick, of amber hue, who was making tracks for the woods.

Superstitions and omens sometimes don't work.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

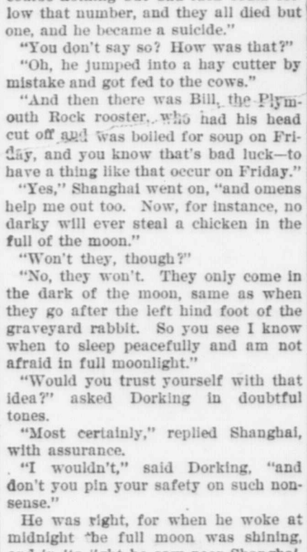

FASHION STRAWS.

Shadow Work on Collar and Cuff Sets. When Green Should Be Worn.

Collar and cuff sets done on fine linen in shadow work are perfectly charming. The work is easy to do and very effective. A tiny lace edge usually trims these sets.

Green is very fashionable this winter, but to wear this color successfully the skin must be quite clear, without a suspicion of sallowness, and a certain amount of color in cheeks and lips is also necessary, whether the wearer be dark or fair.

A wonderful hat seen at the horse show in New York was of purple velvet, with a vivid green bird perched at one side. The bird was not a whole one, for it consisted of only a small head, one brown red eye and three long tail feathers about eighteen inches in length that hung in coquettish curls about the wearer's ear. The bird has been named, for want of a better one, "the Philippine sparrow."

EMPIRE COAT.

The newest stockings are plaided, but all in one color. The plaids are nearly two inches square and marked off by bars of the same color, only heavier. A pair of these in gray worn with gray suede ties, fastened with wide, gray silk bows, are pretty and a lot daintier than the garish foot coverings so much affected.

The empire coat illustrated is designed for a girl of five or seven years of age. It is made of violet velvet adorned with a waist belt and collar of Irish lace edged with valenciennes. The buttons are of mother-of-pearl.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Lord Will Build

Mayor Thompson Selects Him for High School Enlargement

Mayor Thompson has decided to award the contract for building the addition to the High school to Rufus E. Lord, whose bid was $110,500. In fact it may be said that the contract has already been awarded, although it has not been signed as yet.

The delay in signing the contract is due to the illness of City Solicitor Thomas, whom the Mayor desires should look over the papers before they are signed.

The sub-contract for excavating has been awarded to John Fallon and Sons, who have already commenced work.

The sub-contract for the carpentry work will be awarded to George E. Thomas of Wollaston.

Mr. Lord will be remembered as the contractor who built the Wollaston fire station a few years ago.

Mr. Lord was not the lowest bidder, but all things considered, it was deemed best to award him the contract.

The original appropriation for the work was $113,000, but an additional appropriation of $6,500 has since been made, so that the total amount available for the work is $119,500.

By the terms of the contract the building must be completed by September of the present year.

CUT GLASS.

The Way to Make It Show to the Best Advantage.

Cut glass should never be placed among light colored surroundings, particularly cream or yellow. The crystal gathers all yellow light to itself, so that the effect is lacking in the sparkle and brilliancy that should be the principal charm of cut glass. There is also a noticeable lack of iridescence. One often sees a whole cabinet, probably light oak, full of a small fortune in glass, backed by a mirror. The result is a mere jumble of crystal with no meaning whatever, except perhaps to thrust at the observer an immense money value. The truly artistic eye is not impressed at all.

The ideal setting for cut glass is plain mahogany. It has a richness of color and a dullness of tone that are admirably suited to bring out all the best in the glass. Moreover, there should be no mirrors, for that only adds confusion. Then pieces should have plenty of room. No handsomer effect could be obtained than a bowl or dish standing on a mahogany shelf or cabinet with no other piece within at least twelve inches of it. If the housewife hasn't enough room for all this or has too many pieces to be extravagant with space let her put some away and change from time to time. It is better than having a congested mass where each piece robs the other of its fine effect.

The next best to mahogany is dark oak, bog and Flemish, or velvet or black or dark green or deep maroon. Furthermore, cut glass should be kept immaculate. Scrubbings with warm water and soap and thorough rinsings in cold water should occur very often.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

Buy Me Quick Price List!

We call this a "buy me quick" price list, because you'll want to buy the items mentioned below quickly—so good are they.

"Hatchet Brand" cold packed Northern Tomatoes, 2 cans 25c.; good brand Tomatoes, 10c.; McLean's Advancer Peas, 2 cans 25c.; fine Marrowfat Peas, 3 cans 25c.; Preferred Stock, best Maine Corn, 2 cans 25c.; Brier Bush Corn, 3 cans 25c.; Ideal Corn, 2 cans 15c.

Wyman's Maine Blueberries, 2 cans 25c.; 3 lb. Cans Apples, 10c.; Bridal Bell Beets, small, red and choice, 12c.; Table Brand Wax, Beans—the finest—10c.

These prices hold good until our stock is sold—better come early though, if you wish to be sure.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

AN EDITORIAL HIGHWAYMAN

[Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]

In traveling through the state of Kansas in pioneer days on horseback I was held up one afternoon by a man with a gun, who not only went through me in first class shape, but insisted that I follow him into the woods where he had his retreat. He seemed of ferocious disposition at first, and I believed he intended to murder me, but in a little time he thawed out, and I began to see that he was not such a bad fellow after all.

When supper had been prepared and disposed of he dug among the leaves and brought out an old satchel. The contents consisted of a dozen copies of the paper which had busted him, a liberal supply of print paper for writing on and half a dozen lead pencils. He took some of the blank paper and a pencil and scribbled away for a few minutes and then said:

"Although I am out of the sanctum the old habit still clings. I want you to see my style and criticise it. Listen to this: 'Mr. Joseph Gillam, our esteemed fellow townsman, called at this office yesterday to report that while he was on the highway between Joplin and Neosha last Tuesday he was suddenly confronted by a highwayman armed with a shotgun, who ordered him into the woods to be despoiled and probably murdered. Mr. Gillam, who was taken completely by surprise, appeared to cheerfully acquiesce, but just as he entered the woods he quickly drew his pistol and turned in his saddle and fired point blank at the daring burglar. As soon as he pulled the trigger he put spurs to his horse and in the confusion of the moment made good his escape. The robber fired two charges of buckshot at him?'

"What do you think of that?" asked the editor as he finished reading.

"It's very fair."

"But not up and up. It's too heavy—too Shakespearean. Our eminent fellow townsman, Mr. Gillam, would buy five extra copies of the paper to send away to his relatives, but the article would not produce widespread interest. That was my failing—nothing widespread about my writings. I'd like to see your style. Just dash off something based on the same facts."

I wrote a "side header" about half the length of his, and when he had read it he said:

"That knocks all my plans in the head. I was going to offer you a partnership in this business, thinking you, too, were also too Shakespearean in style for this section, but I find I'm mistaken. It's an elegant little article—not a word too little or too much."

The man had such a queer streak about him that I couldn't make up my mind whether he was a robber, as he claimed, or had gone daft over his troubles and was wandering about as crazy people often do. There was no cause to fear him, however, and we sat and smoked till a late hour and had a good visit. When morning came and we had disposed of breakfast, he urged me to accept $100 as a present, and when I firmly refused he wanted me to take a gold watch. In those days a tramp printer with $4 ahead of the game was a millionaire. My refusal seemed to hurt his feelings, but he shook hands heartily on parting and wished me all sorts of good luck. In due time I reached Neosho, went from there to Fayetteville, Ozark and Clarksville and about the middle of December brought up at Van Buren. One day I was sent over to Fort Smith to interview a man who was to be hanged ten days later. When admitted to the presence of the condemned I was almost paralyzed to discover in him the whilom editor of the Echo. His surprise was likewise great, but as soon as he had rallied a little his face fairly beamed with smiles as he said:

"What a godsend! Why, my dear boy, I'd rather see you than any other man on earth. It wasn't an hour ago that I was saying I'd give a day off the few left me to see you. You have come to interview me?"

"And what has happened?" I asked.

"Gun accidentally went off and killed a man. Pure accident, but I couldn't make 'em believe it. I am to be hung on the 29th. Too bad, of course, but it's too late for lamentation. You've been sent over today to get a preliminary—how the condemned looks and feels—no hope of reprieve—going to the gallows like a brave man, and so forth and so on?"

"That's it."

"All right. You can do yourself proud on that. Make about a column and put on three scare heads, all full-face caps. And now about the other—the actual event. There won't be much to it. Don't try a pad in it. You can't make over half a column of leaded minion without padding. The salient features will be: Reading the death warrant, coolness of the condemned, march to the scaffold, ringing down the curtain. See? Don't attempt anything Shakespearean. Make it all meat."

"I'll do my best."

"I'm sure you will. And one thing more. You are the only living man who knows I used to fill an editorial chair or tried to. I think you had better be silent on that point. You could point a moral by saying unsuccessful editors make good highwaymen, but it would sort o' smirch the profesh. No use to hurt the feelings of our esteemed, you know. I shall look for you on the 29th. Goodby."

Owing to an accident I did not reach the fort on the 29th until all was over. He had left me a line when they told him I was not present. It read:

"Don't exceed half a column and use only one top head. I leave you all my earthly possessions—twelve copies of the busted Echo and a revolver."

M. QUAD.

I'm Growing Old Fast

And you know why, too. It's those gray hairs! Don't you know that Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair? Well, it does. And it never fails, either. It stops falling hair also, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. Do not grow old so fast! No need of it. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point. Dec. 16. tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1695 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, automobile shed, etc. Apply to GEO. W. PRESCOTT. Ledger Office.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate not already administered of

EDMUND B. TAYLOR,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ABBIE F. FENNO, Adm'x.
(Address) 538 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 3, 1906. 3t-16, 23, 30

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned, heretofore doing business under the firm name GLENCOE GRANITE COMPANY, in Quincy, Massachusetts, have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. The business will hereafter be conducted by Robert Maver under the firm name of Glencoe Granite Company. Said Maver will collect all claims due to the late partnership and will pay all bills contracted by said partnership.

JOHN ROBBIE,
ROBERT MAVER.

8 January, 1906.
Jan. 13 3t-13-16-18

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day. . . 25 cents
" " three days. . . 50 cents
" " one week. . . 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Tuesday, Jan 9, Black and Tan Collie Pup. Finder please return to THOMSON'S, 92 Glencoe Place and receive reward. Quincy, Jan. 16, 3t

FOUND.

FOUND—In front of Granite bank a Lady's Underwaist. Owner may have by proving property and paying charges. Inquire at Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Cashier for a Grocery Store experience unnecessary. Address D., Ledger Office. Quincy, Jan. 16, 1t

WANTED—Board and Room for a Young Lady in private family. Addres G. C. Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED—Male Help everywhere to distribute samples; $3.00 weekly and expenses, address "Manager," 4 Wells St., Chicago, Ill. Jan. 16, 1t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.00 day. Good references. Address, C., Ledger Office. Quincy, Jan. 13 6t.

WANTED—First-class Quarry Outfit including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot. Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A Henry F. Miller Grand Square Piano, will be sold cheap. Inquire corner of Kemper street and Elm avenue Wollaston. Jan. 15-6t

FOR SALE—One Clayton Duplex Air Compressor 9 x 9. In first-class repair. Capable of running 30 pneumatic tools. Can be seen running. Cylinders recently bored out, and all new valves. Tank goes with this. A bargain. C. A SWINGLE & CO., Penn street, South Quincy, Mass. Jan. 13-3t

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street. Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

STORE TO LET—On Washington street Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Apply to E. R. STONE 87 North street. Jan. 16-6t

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1491 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 366 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x47, two stories suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Drug Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

All Kinds of Job Printing At Daily Ledger Office

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	49	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	—	24	37	26	23
Thursday,	—	29	41	35	34
Friday,	—	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	—	37	44	28	39

New Advertisements Today.

Julius Johnson—House for sale or to let.
C. H. Brooks—New Market.
Wollaston Glee Club Concert.
Administratrix's Notice.
Store to let.
Lost—Black and Tan Collie Pup
Found—Lady's Underwaist.
Wanted—Male Help.
Wanted—Board and Room.
Wanted—Cashier for Grocery Store.

The City In Brief

A newsy paper today

Didn't it rain hard at 12 o'clock!

The no-school signal was sounded at 12.30.

Today's rain has taken off the Sunday's snow rapidly.

Six more Wollaston school children are ill with the measles.

Concert tomorrow evening by the Wollaston Glee Club.

Miss Dickson of Shaw street is suffering from an attack of the measles.

The officers of Division 17, A. O. H., of Atlantic, will be installed tonight.

A short illustrated animal story for the children in tomorrow's Daily Ledger.

The W. C. T. U. meets with Mrs. F. R. Mills, of Arlington street this afternoon.

Julius Johnson advertises an eight room house with all the latest improvements.

The striking of the fire alarm bells this morning was caused by trouble on the line.

Fashion hints illustrated will be a feature in the Daily Ledger for the next few weeks.!

The children in the Point district ave somewhat recovered from the chicken-pox epidemic,

Considerable rain water found its way into the basement of the High school this morning.

The newly elected officers of John A. Boyd camp, Legion of Spanish War Veterans, will be mustered in tonight.

Hence forth the Wollaston Congregational church will be supported by voluntary subscription and all seats will be free.

The new Charles H. Brooks market at 1375 Hancock street will be open for business tomorrow. It is in the store formerly occupied by John W. Nash.

In spite of the storm Sunday there was a good attendance at the Wollaston Unitarian church Snuday morning. Rev. Mr. Hunt preached a beautiful sermon upon "Reverence."

The Blind Artists.

A large and appreciative audience greeted John and Mary McCay, the blind brother and sister, at their unique entertainment Monday evening at Hancock hall.

The program was a long one and consisted of vocal solos and duets by the brother and sister, impersonations and specimens of Irish wit and humor.

Every number was well rendered and it was remarkable how good an entertainment it was when it is considered that both are blind.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

The Red And Blue

Banquet Of the Makaria Fraternity

Some ten weeks ago the members of the Makaria Fraternity were divided into two sides, the Reds with red buttons, reading "Get one," and the Blues with similar blue buttons, and they have been hustling ever since for more members, "fellows not connected with any Sunday School class anywhere or with any other church." Monday night came the celebration, the Reds, the defeated side, doing all the work of getting up the banquet.

As the fellows began to arrive at 6.30 P. M., they were given a tag, a pencil and a sheet of paper. First they had to write their name on the tag, and tie it on, then they had to start out to get names on their paper, first shaking hands with the fellow and then getting him to write his name.

And such a time! When a fellow arrived half a dozen were at him for his signature before he could take off his coat.

In the midst of it, the banquet was announced and all flocked below. Two long tables extended from the head table—one for the Blues, the other for the Reds. The room was simply but very effectively decorated with some half dozen big American flags and potted palms on the tables and around the walls.

With Mr. Griffiths and his excellent phonograph, and with "Bert" Miller in the kitchen, things moved merrily forward, and soon the ice cream and cake and then the oranges, such big ones, were reached.

In counting up the names on the various papers "Charlie" Laing had 86 and was presented with a sunshade, so that he might shield people from his brilliancy for with only 90 or 91 present his 86 names was surely a surprising feat. The second prize was a little rooster.

Then came a brief business meeting with President Baltzer presiding, and the welcoming in of over a dozen new members. Mr. D. King, who acted as toastmaster, then presented watch fobs with the letters "M. F." to the two captains, Charles W. Laing and Lawrence E. Pratt.

On behalf of the Reds, Vice President Newcomb handed over a crown to the winning captain and President Baltzer gave a drum to the vanquished—something they could beat.

"Bobbie" Mitchell said a few words about base ball, and Brother Tarbox made an impromptu and effective speech.

Theophilus King was introduced, also E. W. Branch, the superintendent of Bethany Sunday School, and the pastor of the church Rev. E. N. Hardy, all of whom combined jokes and earnest thought most effectively.

Colonel Edward Anderson just won the fellows with a stirring address, and at 9.30 the first annual Red and Blue banquet was over.

Unwelcomed Visitor.

A certain family on South street were surprised one morning last week when a strange noise was heard in the front of the house, and found upon investigation a drunken man seated in the parlor with his hat on the table. Unfortunately there were only women at home at the time and they thought the safest method of removing him was to coax rather than drive. After fifteen or twenty minutes of this sort of work the man was seen safely out of the house, and the door quickly locked. Evidently the fellow was looking for a comfortable place to rest, and when he found all the doors unlocked walked in. Experience, is said to be the best teacher and if that is true, there is one house at least at Quincy Point, whose doors will be barred and bolted hereafter.

A Long, Long Time.

"How long have you been after my daughter?"

"Er—evah since I lost me—er—job!"

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Superstitious Rooster

"I don't believe in your superstitions," said Mr. Dorking, looking very wise and scratching his head with his left claw.

"Well, I do," replied Mr. Shanghai, shaking himself as he rose from the sand. "I know they come true."

"What do?" queried Dorking.

"Oh, signs and omens," said Shanghai, looking wise as he shifted his position from one foot to the other. "Why, there was Mrs. Cochin, who sat on thir-

THE FULL MOON WAS SHINING.

teen eggs and hatched them all. Of course nothing but bad luck could follow that number, and they all died but one, and he became a suicide."

"You don't say so? How was that?"

"Oh, he jumped into a hay cutter by mistake and got fed to the cows."

"And then there was Bill, the Plymouth Rock rooster, who had his head cut off and was boiled for soup on Friday, and you know that's bad luck—to have a thing like that occur on Friday."

"Yes," Shanghai went on, "and omens help me out too. Now, for instance, no darky will ever steal a chicken in the full of the moon."

"Won't they, though?"

"No, they won't. They only come in the dark of the moon, same as when they go after the left hind foot of the graveyard rabbit. So you see I know when to sleep peacefully and am not afraid in full moonlight."

"Would you trust yourself with that idea?" asked Dorking in doubtful tones.

"Most certainly," replied Shanghai, with assurance.

"I wouldn't," said Dorking, "and don't you pin your safety on such nonsense."

He was right, for when he woke at midnight the full moon was shining, and in its light he saw poor Shanghai, with his head sticking out of a big bag carried by Sam Slick, of amber hue, who was making tracks for the woods.

Superstitions and omens sometimes don't work.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

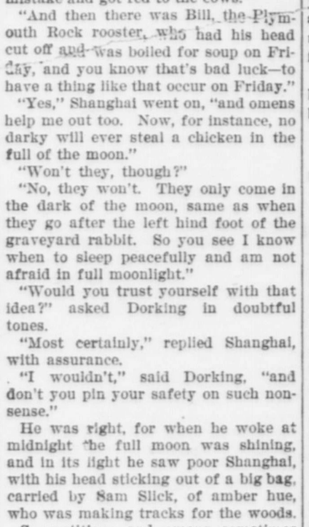

FASHION STRAWS.

Shadow Work on Collar and Cuff Sets. When Green Should Be Worn.

Collar and cuff sets done on fine linen in shadow work are perfectly charming. The work is easy to do and very effective. A tiny lace edge usually trims these sets.

Green is very fashionable this winter, but to wear this color successfully the skin must be quite clear, without a suspicion of sallowness, and a certain amount of color in cheeks and lips is also necessary, whether the wearer be dark or fair.

A wonderful hat seen at the horse show in New York was of purple velvet, with a vivid green bird perched at one side. The bird was not a whole one, for it consisted of only a small head, one brown red eye and three long tail feathers about eighteen inches in length that hung in coquettish curls about the wearer's ear. The bird has been named, for want of a better one, "the Philippine sparrow."

EMPIRE COAT.

The newest stockings are plaided, but all in one color. The plaids are nearly two inches square and marked off by bars of the same color, only heavier. A pair of these in gray worn with gray suede ties, fastened with wide, gray silk bows, are pretty and a lot daintier than the garish foot coverings so much affected.

The empire coat illustrated is designed for a girl of five or seven years of age. It is made of violet velvet adorned with a waist belt and collar of Irish lace edged with valenciennes. The buttons are of mother-of-pearl.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Lord Will Build

Mayor Thompson Selects Him for High School Enlargement

Mayor Thompson has decided to award the contract for building the addition to the High school to Rufus E. Lord, whose bid was $110,500. In fact it may be said that the contract has already been awarded, although it has not been signed as yet.

The delay in signing the contract is due to the illness of City Solicitor Thomas, whom the Mayor desires should look over the papers before they are signed.

The sub-contract for excavating has been awarded to John Fallon and Sons, who have already commenced work.

The sub-contract for the carpentry work will be awarded to George E. Thomas of Wollaston.

Mr. Lord will be remembered as the contractor who built the Wollaston fire station a few years ago.

Mr. Lord was not the lowest bidder, but all things considered, it was deemed best to award him the contract.

The original appropriation for the work was $113,000, but an additional appropriation of $6,500 has since been made, so that the total amount available for the work is $119,500.

By the terms of the contract the building must be completed by September of the present year.

CUT GLASS.

The Way to Make It Show to the Best Advantage.

Cut glass should never be placed among light colored surroundings, particularly cream or yellow. The crystal gathers all yellow light to itself, so that the effect is lacking in the sparkle and brilliancy that should be the principal charm of cut glass. There is also a noticeable lack of iridescence. One often sees a whole cabinet, probably light oak, full of a small fortune in glass, backed by a mirror. The result is a mere jumble of crystal with no meaning whatever, except perhaps to thrust at the observer an immense money value. The truly artistic eye is not impressed at all.

The ideal setting for cut glass is plain mahogany. It has a richness of color and a dullness of tone that are admirably suited to bring out all the best in the glass. Moreover, there should be no mirrors, for that only adds confusion. Then pieces should have plenty of room. No handsomer effect could be obtained than a bowl or dish standing on a mahogany shelf or cabinet with no other piece within at least twelve inches of it. If the housewife hasn't enough room for all this or has too many pieces to be extravagant with space let her put some away and change from time to time. It is better than having a congested mass where each piece robs the other of its fine effect.

The next best to mahogany is dark oak, bog and Flemish, or velvet or black or dark green or deep maroon. Furthermore, cut glass should be kept immaculate. Scrubbings with warm water and soap and thorough rinsings in cold water should occur very often.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

Buy Me Quick Price List!

We call this a "buy me quick" price list, because you'll want to buy the items mentioned below quickly—so good are they.

"Hatchet Brand" cold packed Northern Tomatoes, 2 cans 25c.; good brand Tomatoes, 10c.; McLean's Advancer Peas, 2 cans 25c.; fine Marrowfat Peas, 3 cans 25c.; Preferred Stock, best Maine Corn, 2 cans 25c.; Brier Bush Corn, 3 cans 25c.; Ideal Corn, 2 cans 15c.

Wyman's Maine Blueberries, 2 cans 25c.; 3 lb. Cans Apples, 10c.; Bridal Bell Beets, small, red and choice, 12c.; Table Brand Wax, Beans—the finest—10c.

These prices hold good until our stock is sold—better come early though, if you wish to be sure.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

R. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

AN EDITORIAL HIGHWAYMAN

[Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]

In traveling through the state of Kansas in pioneer days on horseback I was held up one afternoon by a man with a gun, who not only went through me in first class shape, but insisted that I follow him into the woods where he had his retreat. He seemed of ferocious disposition at first, and I believed he intended to murder me, but in a little time he thawed out, and I began to see that he was not such a bad fellow after all.

When supper had been prepared and disposed of he dug among the leaves and brought out an old satchel. The contents consisted of a dozen copies of the paper which had busted him, a liberal supply of print paper for writing on and half a dozen lead pencils. He took some of the blank paper and a pencil and scribbled away for a few minutes and then said:

"Although I am out of the sanctum the old habit still clings. I want you to see my style and criticise it. Listen to this: 'Mr. Joseph Gillam, our esteemed fellow townsman, called at this office yesterday to report that while he was on the highway between Joplin and Neosha last Tuesday he was suddenly confronted by a highwayman armed with a shotgun, who ordered him into the woods to be despoiled and probably murdered. Mr. Gillam, who was taken completely by surprise, appeared to cheerfully acquiesce, but just as he entered the woods he quickly drew his pistol and turned in his saddle and fired point blank at the daring burglar. As soon as he pulled the trigger he put spurs to his horse and in the confusion of the moment made good his escape. The robber fired two charges of buckshot at him?'

"What do you think of that?" asked the editor as he finished reading.

"It's very fair."

"But not up and up. It's too heavy—too Shakespearean. Our eminent fellow townsman, Mr. Gillam, would buy five extra copies of the paper to send away to his relatives, but the article would not produce widespread interest. That was my failing—nothing widespread about my writings. I'd like to see your style. Just dash off something based on the same facts."

I wrote a "side header" about half the length of his, and when he had read it he said:

"That knocks all my plans in the head. I was going to offer you a partnership in this business, thinking you, too, were also too Shakespearean in style for this section, but I find I'm mistaken. It's an elegant little article—not a word too little or too much."

The man had such a queer streak about him that I couldn't make up my mind whether he was a robber, as he claimed, or had gone daft over his troubles and was wandering about as crazy people often do. There was no cause to fear him, however, and we sat and smoked till a late hour and had a good visit. When morning came and we had disposed of breakfast, he urged me to accept $100 as a present, and when I firmly refused he wanted me to take a gold watch. In those days a tramp printer with $4 ahead of the game was a millionaire. My refusal seemed to hurt his feelings, but he shook hands heartily on parting and wished me all sorts of good luck. In due time I reached Neosho, went from there to Fayetteville, Ozark and Clarksville and about the middle of December brought up at Van Buren. One day I was sent over to Fort Smith to interview a man who was to be hanged ten days later. When admitted to the presence of the condemned I was almost paralyzed to discover in him the whilom editor of the Echo. His surprise was likewise great, but as soon as he had rallied a little his face fairly beamed with smiles as he said:

"What a godsend! Why, my dear boy, I'd rather see you than any other man on earth. It wasn't an hour ago that I was saying I'd give a day off the few left me to see you. You have come to interview me?"

"And what has happened?" I asked.

"Gun accidentally went off and killed a man. Pure accident, but I couldn't make 'em believe it. I am to be hung on the 29th. Too bad, of course, but it's too late for lamentation. You've been sent over today to get a preliminary—how the condemned looks and feels—no hope of reprieve—going to the gallows like a brave man, and so forth and so on?"

"That's it."

"All right. You can do yourself proud on that. Make about a column and put on three scare heads, all full-face caps. And now about the other—the actual event. There won't be much to it. Don't try a pad in it. You can't make over half a column of leaded minion without padding. The salient features will be: Reading the death warrant, coolness of the condemned, march to the scaffold, ringing down the curtain. See? Don't attempt anything Shakespearean. Make it all meat."

"I'll do my best."

"I'm sure you will. And one thing more. You are the only living man who knows I used to fill an editorial chair or tried to. I think you had better be silent on that point. You could point a moral by saying unsuccessful editors make good highwaymen, but it would sort o' smirch the profesh. No use to hurt the feelings of our esteemed, you know. I shall look for you on the 29th. Goodby."

Owing to an accident I did not reach the fort on the 29th until all was over. He had left me a line when they told him I was not present. It read:

"Don't exceed half a column and use only one top head. I leave you all my earthly possessions—twelve copies of the busted Echo and a revolver."

M. QUAD.

I'm Growing Old Fast

And you know why, too. It's those gray hairs! Don't you know that Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair? Well, it does. And it never fails, either. It stops falling hair also, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. Do not grow old so fast! No need of it. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Alumnum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point. Dec. 16. tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

FOR SALE.

AN outbuilding 8 x 10 feet, containing two sheds and two water closets. Made of matched boards, shingled roof, recently built, and in first-class condition. Suitable for small shop, au omobile shed, etc. Apply to GEO. W. PRESCOTT. Ledger Office.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 5-tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8.
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate not already administered of
EDMUND B. TAYLOR,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.
All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to
ABBIE F. FENNO, Adm'x.
(Address) 538 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 3, 1906. 3t-16, 23, 30

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned, heretofore doing business under the firm name GLENCOE GRANITE COMPANY, in Quincy, Massachusetts, have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. The business will hereafter be conducted by Robert Maver under the firm name of Glencoe Granite Company. Said Maver will collect all claims due to the late partnership and will pay all bills contracted by said partnership.
JOHN ROBBIE,
ROBERT MAVER.
8 January, 1906.
Jan. 13 3t-13-16-18

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:
Four lines, or less, one day, - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - 75 cents
Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Tuesday, Jan 9, Black and Tan Collie Pup. Finder please return to THOMSON'S, 92 Glencoe Place and receive reward. Quincy, Jan. 16, 3t

FOUND.

FOUND—In front of Granite bank a Lady's Underwaist. Owner may have by proving property and paying charges. Inquire at Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Cashier for a Grocery Store experience unnecessary. Address D., Ledger Office. Quincy, Jan. 16, 1t

WANTED—Board and Room for a Young Lady in private family. Addres G. C. Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED—Male Help everywhere to distribute samples; $ 0.00 weekly and expenses, address "Manager," 4 Wells St., Chicago, Ill. Jan. 16, 1t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.00 day. Good references. Address, C., Ledger Office. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t.

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot. Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A Henry F. Miller Grand Square Piano, will be sold cheap. Inquire corner of Kemper street and Elm avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 15-4t

FOR SALE—One Clayton Duplex Air Compressor 9 x 9. In first-class repair. Capable of running 30 pneumatic tools. Can be seen running Cylinders recently bored out, and all new valves. Tank goes with this. A bargain. C. A SWINGLE & CO., Penn street, South Quincy, Mass. Jan. 13-3t

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street. Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-6t

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1491 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Half a Double House in pleasant neighborhood. Contains seven rooms and bath and has modern conveniences: furnace, electric lights, window shades, etc. Immediate possession. Enquire at LEDGER OFFICE, or Miss Prescott, 41 Spear street. Quincy, Nov. 24. 1p tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 79 Upland road, Quincy. Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x47, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

All Kinds of Job Printing At Daily Ledger Office

Illustrated Fashion Hints Tomorrow

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Animal Story For Children Tomorrow

Vol. 18. No. 15. QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Memorial Services, Tomorrow, at Tremont Temple, to Henry H. Faxon

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S

Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS

WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,

C. H. BROOKS'

NEW MARKET.

No. 1375 Hancock Street.

Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

The Change In the Fire Department

Mayor Thompson Acts Against Wishes of Insurance Men

In spite of the protests filed by insurance and real estate men, Mayor Thompson has removed Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams. There have been many rumors that he would not be reappointed, but with his record it was believed by many that he would be retained.

The rumors of his non-appointment dates back to last fall during the campaign for the nomination of Mayor. It was claimed at that time that Chief Williams arrayed himself on the side favorable to Benjamin Johnson and that he attended smoke talks held in the interest of Mr. Jonnson's candidacy.

It was said at that time the Mayor had the Chief on the rack, and that the latter denied he was out for Johnson.

However since that time, there has been a growing feeling that the "big chief," as he is called would have to go. The insurance men, and others having large real estate interests, were unanimous to have Mr. Williams returned, and did all in their power toward that end. The insurance men called personally upon the Mayor to have Mr. Williams retained, and a petition issued by men having thousands of dollars of real estate at interest was forwarded to the Mayor, but all to no avail.

Meanwhile, the opposition to the Chief was not idle, and the Mayor was besieged by those who wished him removed.

Mayor Thompson made some personal investigations on his own account, and it is said that while the Chief's ability as a fire fighter was not questioned, the manner in which the department had been conducted did not please him.

All of this time Mayor Thompson never dropped a word of what he intended to do, and it is doubtful if anyone outside of his office knew until he announcement was made.

On the street the sporting fraternity had made up its mind that there would be a change. While early in the year there were those who were willing to wager that the Chief would be retained, there were few last week of that mind.

Who the new man would be no one knew. Many thought that ex-Chief Ripley would be the successful man. Few outside of Ward Three thought much about Mr. Litchfield, and until it was published in the Daily Ledger that his name had been mentioned it was hardly considered.

Mr. Litchfield said that personally he was not doing anything to receive the appointment. Friends in his ward took the matter up however and he was landed.

Chief Williams has been unusually successful and the losses by fire have been small during the many years that he has been chief.

Can Chief Litchfield make good? That is the question people are asking.

If he does, people will be satisfied. If he does not, there will be severe criticism.

To those who argued with the Mayor that there was no man like Williams for a fire fighter, His Honor's reply has been, what would happen if Williams should die?

Chief Williams has the consolation that in retiring he leaves behind him a good record.

It is understood that ex-chief Ripley was never seriously considered as a possible successor to Chief Williams.

New Commander Of Camp Boyd

The following officers of John A. Boyd Camp, Legion of Spanish War Veterans, were mustered in Tuesday evening by Asst. Adj't. General Jeremiah Taylor, assisted by Senior Vice Commander Neltson A. Farnham.

Commander,—John R. McGrath.

Senior Vice Commander,—Thomas J. Lamb.

Junior Vice Commander,—John N. Mead.

Adjutant,—Henry J. Matthews.

Officer of the Day,—John S. Gallagher.

Officer of the Guard,—Thompson B. Crane.

Officer of the Watch,—Francis M. Hodges.

Sergeant Major,—Hector Gillis.

Quartermaster Sergeant,—Thomas C. Brown.

Color Sergeants,—Patrick J. Sheehan and Oscar Swanson.

Bugler,—John F. Johnson.

Armorer,—Paul Madison.

Among the visitors present were: Past Inspector General James O. Lennan and Joseph J. Quinlan of Camp 1, Boston, and Harry Seithin of Camp 27, also members of Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R.

After the ceremonies of the evening there were addresses by the visitors. A collation was served.

A Society Item.

"After the party at Lady L.'s things were kept going until a late hour."—London Sketch.

—During 1905, 333,014 barrels of apples were shipped to Europe from Boston. Perhaps this accounts for the poor quality of this fruit and the high prices charged for it of late in the home market. Properly handled, fruit growing ought to be a profitable business, which our farmers will do well to give a little thoughtful consideration.

Postponed

ENTERTAINMENT OF

FIRST CHURCH SOCIAL CLUB

to have been given this week Friday Evening has been postponed to

Friday Evening, Feb. 2.

Quincy, Jan. 15. 3t

Attempt to Board Moving Train

There came very near being a serious accident at the Quincy depot this morning. Just as the 8.59 inward express was pulling out of the depot a man well along in years rushed up and attempted to board the moving train.

The train was a little late and was moving at a fair rate of speed. The man did not obtain a firm hold and was thrown back onto the platform and was being dragged. He was in immediate danger of being rolled under the wheels of the train when Driver Neagle of the New York and Boston Express and another man saw the danger and pulled him out just in time.

The man was taken to the office of Dr. Jones where it was found that besides being shaken up and bruised he had sustained a compound fracture of the thumb. The man gave his name as T. S. McNab of Weymouth.

The New Chief Engineer

Amos Lawrence Litchfield, the new Chief Engineer of the Fire Department is a man well known in Quincy where he has lived all of his life. He was born May 25, 1856, and was educated in the public schools graduating from the High school in the class of 1872. He then served as an apprentice to the carpenters trade which he has since followed.

He was for many years in the police department, first as constable and in 1898 as Chief of Police under Mayor Sears. He has also had a long experience as a fire fighter having joined the old Tiger Engine Co. in 1875. He served six years on this company, two of which were as clerk. When that engine went out of commission he joined the John W. Hall Hook & Ladder truck and served there three years, two of which were as foreman. He was the first president of the Firemen's Relief association.

In 1886 and 1887 he was on the board of engineers, and in 1889 and 1890 was district engineer in Ward Three under Chief Ripley.

He is a member of Nahanton tribe of Red Men and the Granite City club. He is married and resides on Quincy street.

Division 17 Installation

The officers of Division 17, A. O. H., were installed Tuesday evening at Atlantic by County officers. After the installation ceremonies there were addresses by Rev. John P. Cuffe, Matthew Cummings, State President; James E. Cox, County president; Deputy John J. Connors of Division 5, President Michael Walsh of Division 18, President John Dolan of Division 22, President Michael Barrett of Division 5, B. A. McLane and James H. Cunningham of Division 17. There were songs by Thomas Horan of Neponset, John Dennard of Division 5, Thomas J. Flood of Division 18 and Cornelius M. Duggan of Division 17; violin solo by John McCarthy of Neponset and an Irish hornpipe by Jeremiah Donovan and Daniel Reardon of Division 17. Refreshments were also served.

The officers installed were:

President, Cornelius M. Duggan.

Vice President, John F. Conley.

Secretary, Bernard Cullen.

Financial Secretary, Patrick McNeice.

Treasurer, Patrick Dolan.

Sergeant at Arms, Jeremiah Donovan.

Sentenel, Lawrence Curtin.

Held for Hearing.

Robert Kelley, one of the three men said to be concerned in the attempt to get money from Joseph A. Bedot at West Quincy, was brought into court this morning and arraigned upon a complaint to extort money by a threat. He was held in $500 until Jan. 27 for hearing.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

South Shore Grain Company In Trouble

Fred E. Betts Formerly of J. M. Fisher & Co. The Manager

City Square was full of rumors this morning regarding the affairs of the South Shore Hay and Grain Co., and the Ambler & Hobart Co. Affairs of the companies are so mixed that few understand just what the situation is. It is understood, however, that the two companies have been recently consolidated, and that Fred E. Betts was manager of the two concerns.

Many car loads of hay and grain have been arriving in Quincy and Braintree of late. Knowing ones have shaken their heads, and well known business men, who have been putting their names to papers, have been hastening to get under cover.

The beginning of the present trouble is said to have been a few days ago, when a local bank refused to honor any more of the concern's checks, or to do any business with them.

Tuesday the climax came when keepers were placed in several places.

It was reported this morning that keepers had been placed in the Braintree and Quincy offices, and that attachments had been placed on the property of A. G. Coffin, agent of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. at Quincy, and upon the property of the agent at the East Braintree station.

Several cars that arrived for the concern at Braintree on Tuesday were quickly hauled out of the way by a shifting engine.

Every business man in City Square knows more or less about the affairs of the concern and all agree that it is a mixed-up mess.

According to the stories the railroad agents at East Braintree and Quincy were stockholders in the concern and are said to have been a little lax in their dealings with the company, not looking after the railroad's business as sharp as the rules demand.

It is the custom when car loads of grain and hay are shipped to forward the bill of laden through some bank. The man to whom the goods are consigned goes to the bank, pays the bill, and receives his bill of laden.

The rules of the railroad are not to deliver the goods until presented with the bill of laden. Had this been lived up to some people would have probably avoided trouble.

Just who has placed the attachments on the different people, no one seem to know exactly, but it is understood to have been the railroad company.

Among bank people and other financial men no surprise is expressed that the concern is in trouble.

When the new company was floated early the present month the stock was grabbed up. Rumor has it that all the stock was sold, but that certain people were presented with blocks of it and it is these people who now find themselves in trouble.

Fred E. Betts, the manager of the concern, is known in Quincy where he has resided for many years. He is also equally known throughout the country through his connection with the banking house of J. M. Fisher & Co., and other get-rich-quick concerns.

This is the concern that was busted in 1901 when both John M. Fisher and Betts were arrested and held for the grand jury charged with using mails in a scheme to defraud.

Betts' case has been hanging fire in the courts ever since. Although he was sentenced to imprisonment by the courts he has never done time, his council being able to keep him out of prison.

Some time ago he tried to float a Virginia land scheme but it never materialized.

Then came the South Shore Grain Co. a year or so ago. Then the consolidation and formation of a new company now more trouble.

Henry H. Faxon Memorial Services.

The temperance societies of Massachusetts have done what the people Quincy should have done, by arranging a memorial service to the late Henry Hardwick Faxon of Quincy. As already noted this meeting will be held in Tremont Temple, tomorrow, at 11 A. M., with such notable speakers as Gov. Long of Hingham, Rev. A. Plumb, D. D., of Boston; Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson of Newton, representing the W. C. T. U.; Rev. D. Wilson, formerly a Quincy pastor; Rev. A. F. Roche, pastor of St. Mary church at West Quincy and a prayer by Rev. Edward A. Horton of Boston.

There should be a large attendance of Quincy ladies and gentlemen at the service, a general invitation having been extended to the public. Some choice musical selections may be expected from the Albion Quartette.

Barbers Union.

At the regular meeting of the Journeymen's Barbers International Union which was held in Doble's hall the following officers were installed for the ensuing year:

President,—O. A. Minot.

Vice President,—A. Russo.

Financial Secretary,—J. F. Cochran.

Treasurer,—Jas. F. Edwards.

Recording Secretary,—A. Botkin.

Delegates to the Central Labor Union,—O. A. Minot, James Edwards, F. Darling, C. J. Burke, A. Botkin.

New Express Deal.

It is reported that the New York Boston Dispatch Express Co. will continue doing business in Quincy after the first of the month.

A new deal has been made whereby the Austin—Winslow—Gallagher Express Company takes out all its teams from Boston, and the New York & Boston takes its teams from Quincy.

The Gallagher Co. will look after the Quincy end of the business, and the New York and Boston after the Boston end.

Buy Me Quick Price List!

We call this a "buy me quick" price list, because you'll want to buy the items mentioned below quickly—so good are they

"Hatchet Brand" cold packed Northern Tomatoes, 2 cans 25c.; good brand Tomatoes, 10c.; McLean's Advancer Peas, 2 cans 25c.; fine Marrowfat Peas, 3 cans 25c.; Preferred Stock, best Maine Corn, 2 cans 25c.; Brier Bush Corn, 3 cans 25c.; Ideal Corn, 2 cans 15c.

Wyman's Maine Blueberries, 2 cans 25c.; 3 lb. Cans Apples, 10c.; Bridal Bell Beets, small, red and choice, 12c.; Table Brand Wax, Beans—the finest—10c.

These prices hold good until our stock is sold—better come early though, if you wish to be sure.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257–263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.

Tel. 367-3.

Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted,
At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST.,
City of Quincy, Mass., by
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.
☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF
The Quincy Patriot.
A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the
Braintree Observer and Reporter
A Weekly Established in 1878.
TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.
Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Many residents of Ward One do not think the present location of the Coddington school, the right one for a new building and hope the Council will give the matter careful consideration before deciding to build. The present lot would sell for more than enough to buy good lot elsewhere.

Congratulations to the Quincy Hospital upon its good financial showing and the immediate prospects of emancipation from debt. As the endowment fund grows there will not be that necessity for so large an annual appropriation by the city. The income from patients appears rather small—only $3,685.64 last year from 323 patients; this was less than $11.50 per patient.

Almost annually some of the new councilmen make a move for the collection of ashes by the city, but somehow the work has never been inaugurated. Undoubtedly the appearance of many estates in the city would be improved, and we have been told the work would be self supporting. The special committee to whom the order has been referred is composed entirely of new councilmen, so it is up to the new members to solve the problem. The committee has already held a meeting.

There is a genuine regret among a large portion of the property owners of the city that Chief Engineer Williams will retire the first of February from the Fire Department. They have felt a security from conflagration while he was in control of the department which a new chief cannot expect to inspire immediately. Quincy's grand record cannot all be attributed to good luck; yet how often we hear the remark—"Quincy is lucky." Chief Williams has brought the Quincy Fire Department to a high state of efficiency, and he has established an enviable reputation as a fire fighter. The salary which he has received has not been commensurate with the work he has done.

There is a feeling that Quincy should have a permanent fire chief under civil service rules. That he should not be appointed annually, but should serve until removed for cause. That the Fire Department should be taken out of politics.

President Piper of the City Council, in his appointment of standing committees has distributed the chairmanships about as equally as possible among the different wards of the city. There were ten Councilmen reelected including the president, and seven of the members have chairmanships while the balance are on the most important committee, that of Finance. Each of the wards have a chairman and the other two go to Councilmen Crane and Chase who were elected at large. The minority is also recognized by the appointment of Councilman Flaherty, elected as a Democrat from Ward Four. All the members of the Finance Committee have served more than one year as Councilmen.

None of the chairmen are the same as last year. The most important change was in the Finance Committee where Councilman Bass is deposed after two years as chairman. Mr. Bass, however, has not been in full accord with Mayor Thompson. Councilman Polk, the new chairman, served on the committee last year, and is in the banking business, holding a position with the Old Colony Trust Company. He will give the chairmanship conscientious service.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.
Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

—Herbert F. Morgan, proprietor of the Morgan house of Gloucester, has a United States bond in his possession for $20 of the issue 1780 which is said to be worth $12,068. The bond was given Mr. Morgan who is a collector of old relics by an oldgentleman in Maine.

A CARD.
We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.
E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.
Nov. 22. 6mos

VOICE OF LONDON

Unionists Are Re-elected by Overwhelming Majorities

LIBERALS STILL GAINING

Great Demonstration Over Return of John Burns--Disposition to Blame Former Premier Balfour For Unionist Disasters

London, Jan. 17.—The commercial heart of the kingdom remained faithful to the Unionist cause in the elections, the city of London returning Messrs. Gibbs and Clarke with majorities approximating 10,000 over their Liberal opponents. Some of the other conservative London districts, like Westminster, and provincial seats like Oxford, where the working class population is small, managed to retain Unionist representatives.

Otherwise, yesterday's story of the struggle is a repetition of heavily increased pollings, of enormous labor votes and discomfiture of the Unionists, who did not gain a single seat in Tuesday's balloting, but lost 22 to the Liberals and Laborites.

The 247 seats already elected for the new parliament are distributed as follows: Liberals, 127; Unionists, 54; Laborites, 28; Nationalists, 38.

The solitary Unionist gain, at Hastings, since the elections began, is met by a combined Liberal and Labor gain of 89 seats. The elections in London and Liverpool have not gone so heavily in favor of the Liberals as did those at Manchester, but several seats were won in London and two at Liverpool. In most cases, however, the Unionists retained their seats with greatly reduced majorities.

T. P. O'Connor (Nationalist) was reelected for the Scotland division of Liverpool, while at Birkenhead also the Liberals gained a seat. The Liberals gained a seat at Edinburgh and the Laborites at Dundee. This is regarded as an important indication of the drift of feeling in Scotland.

Defeats of former cabinet secretaries continue to be announced, Alfred Lyttleton, colonial secretary in Balfour's cabinet, and Mr. Fisher, financial secretary to the treasury in 1902-03, being among those who lost their seats.

There was a great scene at Battersea last night after the poll showing John Burns to be elected was announced. Burns stood on the balcony of the town hall on Lavender hill, where he resides, wildly waving his hat, while fully 20,000 of his supporters were along the hill as wildly cheering. It was a long time before Burns could get a hearing to announce the figures. A few minutes afterward Burns was escorted shoulder high through the Battersea streets by thousands of workmen.

Walter H. Long, former chief secretary for Ireland, who lost his seat for South Bristol Monday, was yesterday elected to the Unionist seat for South Dublin, where the Unionist candidate had withdrawn in his favor.

The Morning Post openly suggests the dethronement of former Premier Balfour and says: "There must be a reconstruction of the party, and such reconstruction implies radical changes in the organization of the party, with possible changes in its leaders and the substitution of definiteness of aim for ambiguity and compromise."

This is the most outspoken note that has so far been sounded by a responsible Unionist newspaper. In the other papers, however, there are muttered complaints that Balfour has retained office too long and has failed to give his party a definite lead. Though the feeling of party loyalty towards the former premier is very strong, there is an almost equally strong feeling that he is largely responsible for the Unionist disasters.

The pollings today will be the heaviest of the elections and will involve the fate of 92 seats, of which 23 belong to London. Of these 23 all but five were held by Unionists in the last parliament.

Among the successful candidates yesterday was A. E. W. Mason, the novelist, who was elected in the Liberal interest for Coventry. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is also contesting a seat. The new house of commons will number among its members many authors and journalists.

On Hunt For Jurymen

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 17.—The Greene and Gaynor case has at last reached the point where jurymen have been summoned. Six deputy marshals have been sent out with summons for 72 jurors and these are to report on Thursday. None was drawn from this county, all being from elsewhere in the district.

Miners Lost Sight of Forever

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 17.—All hope for the three men shut up in the burning portion of the Tamarack mine has been abandoned. The company has sealed the mouth of the three shafts connected with the burning sections. The indications are that the fire has taken a turn for the worse.

No Disagreement Over Treaty

Berlin, Jan. 17.—The Neue Politische Correspondez declares that rumors to the effect that disagreements have arisen between Germany and the United States regarding the proposed commercial treaty are without foundation, as both countries desire to avoid a tariff war.

WAS WORTH $150,000,000

Death of Marshall Field, the Great Mercantile Prince

New York, Jan. 17.—Marshall Field of Chicago, millionaire merchant and a leader in the drygoods trade of the world, died at the Holland house at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after an illness extending over more than a week, beginning with a bad cold and developing quickly into pneumonia which affected both lungs.

Mr. Field, although 70 years of age, made a brave and strong fight against the disease. Mrs. Field and other members of the family were with the merchant when he lapsed into the period of unconsciousness which ended in his death. In an adjoining room were many persons prominent in the business and social life of Chicago who had come to New York when the probably fatal seriousness of his malady was made known to them.

A sinking spell early yesterday morning, which followed the remarkable rally of Monday, presaged the coming of the end. Field was told Monday night that he had but the slightest chance for recovery. During the period of consciousness which marked the last 24 hours of his life he talked but little, seeming resigned and peaceful.

The widow of Marshall Field, who became a bride but four months ago, was Mrs. Delia S. Caton of Chicago. The wedding was solemnized according to the rites of the Church of England in St. Margaret's church, Westminster. But because of a peculiar clause in the marriage license, which was issued by the Archbishop of Canterbury, many have claimed the marriage was not legal.

When she comes to claim the heritage which would be hers as widow of the merchant king, a contest may result.

Marshall Field began life in a little Massachusetts town as a chore boy on his father's farm and as a clerk in a small country store. By his own ability he acquired the immense fortune and exalted business position which he held before his death.

At his death his wealth was estimated at $150,000,000.

American Delegates' Instructions

Washington, Jan. 17.—Secretary Root's letter to the American delegates to the Moroccan conference is characterized by a fearless clarity of expression and definiteness of purpose calculated to impress the powers participatory to the conference with the impartial benevolence and unbiased friendship cherished by the Washington government toward all concerned. Messrs. White and Gummere are instructed to stand at all times for the square deal, not only for Morocco, but for all the interested powers, and they will make it clear that this government, in consenting to enter the conference, confidently expects fair play for all.

[General Porter Gets Testimonials

New York, Jan. 17.—At the decennial celebration of the American Scenic and Historic society last night, General Horace Porter, former ambassador to France, received two testimonials in recognition of his services in recovering the body of John Paul Jones. One was the official tribute of the city of New York, consisting of an album containing the resolutions adopted by the board of aldermen, signed by Mayor McClellan and illuminated with water-color illustrations. General Porter was also presented with the memento of the society, a silver replica of the gold medal struck by order of congress in 1789 for Commodore Jones.

"Countess de Betancourt" Dead

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Anita De McMurrow, also known as the "Countess De Betancourt," 75 years old, once famous because of her claim to ownership of vast estates in Spain and Cuba of the value of $32,000,000, died at her home here under circumstances that warranted the coroner in detaining her son, John, pending the outcome of the coroner's inquest. Neighbors had heard screams in the house and cries of murder, but no one interfered.

Triple Drowning Accident

New York, Jan. 17.—William Engfer, Joseph Deir and Frank Welmer were drowned in Pelham bay last night. Persons on shore heard cries for help. They rowed out on the bay and found an overturned rowboat which was recognized as one that had been borrowed by the three men. Engfer, with his companions, was searching the bay for his sister's body, she having disappeared several days ago and thought to be drowned.

Alleged Expulsion Without Reason

Havana, Jan. 17.—Six leaders of the Cuban Cigarmakers' union, who say they were forcibly expelled from Key West, have arrived here. They claim that they were guilty of nothing except the defense of the interests of their trade by the continuance of a pacific strike. The government is being urged to make representations to the state department at Washington regarding the expulsion of the cigarmakers.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A resolution favoring the reorganization of the savings bank commission by the substitution of a single commissioner was accepted at a meeting of the executive council of the Massachusetts State Board of Trade.

Dan Stuart, widely known as a promoter of pugilism, is critically ill at New York with pneumonia.

J. J. Crowley, special agent of the United States treasury department in Chicago for the past 22 years, died of heart failure. He was a native of Randolph, Mass.

Local Ins And Outs

The Aberdeen Granite Co. are to put in an electric motor to run their air compressor.

One of Mayor Thompson's appointments is not a resident of the city—Mr. George B. Dewson, who now resides in Boston.

Dr. George L. Perin of the Franklin Square house, Boston, was a recent speaker at the meeting of the Kosmos club of Wakefield giving "An Interesting Story of an Interesting Sociological Experiment."

After the regular meeting of St. Ambrose Ct. 172, M. C. O. F., Tuesday evening, Miss Katharine M. Shea, the retiring chief ranger, was presented with a beautiful chocolate set and bouquet of flowers, by Mrs. Alice T. Barry, in behalf of the court. A social hour followed with refreshment and music.

—C. J. Brownell of Worcester has offered to loan the city 1000 snakes to rid the trees of the moth pests, but the authorities are looking askance at the thought of 1000 wrigglers loose in the trees. Brownell who is called the snake king says the reptiles will do the job.

Not In His Case.

"Ah, my lad, the early bird gets the worm!"

"I guess dey has, boss. I been a-diggin' bait here since 4 o'clock an' ain't got none yet."—New York World.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral.
NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor.
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

1906
HIGH TIME
COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR
RIGHT.
SAVE MONEY.
Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.
C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 2. pl t

Furniture Clearance Sale.
This time of the year above all others is the money saving time to buy house furnishings. Special bargains in every department with wonderful savings for everyone. Real downright legitimate bargains at this store. No inflated prices with large discounts taken off to mislead unthinking buyers.
Our prices are from 10 to 33 per cent lower than those of any other store on earth. The sooner you get the habit of buying at the Kincaide stores—the sooner your happiness will be more complete and your weekly cash balance larger.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A Rather Brave Chicken

There was a chicken who wanted to be a policeman. Now, what do you think of that? A chicken a policeman!

Anyway he went down to see the police board, which is the body of men who make the policemen, and he told them just what he wanted.

"Very well," they said, and they turned him over to the doctors to see if he was strong and healthy, and they said he was.

"Now," they declared, "we will have a little talk with you to see if you are brave enough to be a policeman."

"IS THAT LIKELY TO HAPPEN?"

"Oh," exclaimed the chicken, "I'm very brave."

"Are you afraid of nothing?"

"I am afraid of nothing," said the chicken boldly.

"What would you do if you saw two big, bad robbers in the dark, with pistols in their hands, and they tried to shoot a poor man and take his money from him?"

"Is that likely to happen?" asked the chicken.

"Yes."

"Then I would seize the robbers and take their pistols from them and send them to jail for twenty years," answered the chicken.

"That's very good," replied the men. "But what would you do if you saw an old negro woman creeping up behind you, with a hatchet in her hand, about an hour before dinner?"

"Is that likely to happen?" asked the chicken.

"Yes."

"Then I guess I don't want to be a policeman. Good day, gentlemen." And the chicken was so frightened he hid behind the pigsty for two days before he ventured out to get something to eat and drink.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

MILLINERY MODES.

Violet Trimmed Hats Beginning to Make Their Annual Appearance.

The shops are making a great display of white felt hats in French sailor or plain flop shapes trimmed with ruches of plaited white tulle and clumps of wood or Parma violets. Violets in any shade are always in good taste, especially the light Parma ones, on white hats, and when a little old lace is added the effect is particularly charming.

The Henry VIII. or what is known as the Tudor toque is perhaps the most popular shape of the moment, but the general tendency is toward jaunty shapes in headgear, with clusters of ostrich plumes at the side.

A picturesque note is struck by the eighteenth century riding hat, with its long shaded plumes falling on the coiffure at the back.

The coiffure is getting tighter at the sides and back of the head, where it is practically unwaved, but it is tremendously bouffant in front. The enormous height of the cachepeigne certainly demands a cluster of curls on either side of the back, although some of these clusters are too obviously artificial to be chic. As a matter of fact, they are pinned in separately, but the woman who aims to be smart should take more pains to mix them in with her own hair and thus make some little attempt to deceive the "mere man" in the matter.

A WITCH'S COSTUME.

The witch's dress illustrated has a petticoat of yellow quilted satin, appliqued with black velvet snakes, demons, etc. A becoming bodice of black velvet, with a red silk cloak, a sugar loaf hat, a broom and a black velvet cat arranged as a tie about the neck, completes this original and effective costume. JUDIC CHOLLET.

If YOU Were Called upon to Give a Bond at a Moment's Notice, What Would You Do?

It is increasingly difficult to find friends who are willing to become personal sureties.

What would you do?

You would seek corporate security, which is fast superseding the personal kind. You would go to the nearest office of the American Surety Company and obtain the necessary bond, quickly and without red-tape.

When placed in a position which requires a bond, apply immediately to

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

If Your Eyes

Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc., where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES

— ONLY —

One Dollar a Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble Institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family

First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.

Catering for Clubs and Parties.
Dinners and Suppers

Also Hancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.

Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.

Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.

Good Table. Moderate Rates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER VI.

IT was an investigating negro child of tender years who, possessed of a petty sense of cause and effect, brought an illuminative simplicity to bear upon the problem of the force pump, and a multitudinous agitation greeted his discovery that the engineers had forgotten to connect their pipes with the river.

This naive omission was fatal to the second warehouse. The wall burst into flame below Crailey Gray, who clung to the top of the ladder, choking, stifled and dizzily fighting the sparks that covered him, yet still clutching the nozzle of the hose line they had passed to him. When the stream at last leaped forth, making the nozzle fight in his grasp, he sent it straight up into the air and let the cataract fall back upon himself and upon the two men beneath him on the ladder.

There came a moment of blessed relief, and he looked out over the broad rosy blur of faces in the street, where no one wondered more than he how the water was to reach the roof. Suddenly he started, wiped his eyes with his wet sleeve and peered intently down from under the shading arm. His roving glance crossed the smoke and flame to rest upon a tall, white figure that stood full length above the heads of the people upon a pedestal wrought with the grotesque images of boys; a girl's figure, still as noon, enrapt, like the statue of some young goddess for whom were made these sacrificial pyres. Mr. Gray recognized his opportunity.

A blackened and unrecognizable face peered down from the eaves, and the voice belonging to it said angrily:

"Why didn't they send up that line before they put the water through it?"

"Never mind, Tom," answered Crailey cheerfully, "I'll bring it up."

"You can't. I'll come down for it. Don't be every kind of a fool!"

"You want a monopoly, do you?" And Crailey, calling to Tappingham Marsh, next below him, to come higher, left the writhing nozzle in the latter's possession, swung himself out upon the grappling ladder, imitating the chief's gymnastics, and immediately, one hand grasping the second rung, one knee crooked over the lowest, leaned head down and took the nozzle from Marsh. It was a heavy weight, and, though Marsh supported the line beneath it, the great stream hurtling forth made it a difficult thing to manage, for it wriggled, recoiled and struggled as if it had been alive. Crailey made three attempts to draw himself up, but the strain was too much for his grip, and on the third attempt his fingers melted from the rung, and he swung down fearfully, hanging by his knee, but still clinging to the nozzle.

"Give it up, Crailey. It isn't worth it," Vanrevel called from overhead, not daring the weight of both on the light grappling ladder.

But though Crailey cared no more for the saving of Robert Carewe's property than for a butterfly's wing in China, he could not give up now, any more than as a lad he could have forborne to turn somersaults when the prettiest little girl looked out of the schoolhouse window. He passed the nozzle to Tappingham, caught the second rung with his left hand, and, once more dangling head downward, seized the nozzle; then, with his knee hooked tight, as the gushing water described a huge semicircle upon the smoke and hot vapor, he made a mad lurch through the air, while women shrieked, but he landed upright, half sitting on the lowest rung. He climbed the grappling ladder swiftly, in spite of the weight and contortions of the unmanageable beast he carried with him. Tom leaned far down and took it from him, and Crailey, passing the eaves, fell exhausted upon the roof. Just as he reached this temporary security a lady was borne, fainting, out of the acclaiming crowd. Fanchon was there.

Word had been passed to the gentlemen of the engine company to shut off the water in order to allow the line to be carried up the ladder, and they received the command at the moment Tom lifted the nozzle, so that the stream dried up in his hands. This was the last straw, and the blackened, singed and scarred chief, setting the trumpet to his lips, gave himself entirely to wrath.

It struck Crailey, even as he lay coughing and weeping with smoke, that there was something splendid and large in the other's rage. Vanrevel was ordinarily so steady and cool that this was worth seeing, this berserker gesture; worth hearing, this wonderful profanity, like Washington's one fit of cursing, and Crailey, knowing Tom, knew, too, that it had not come upon him because Carewe had a daughter into whose eyes Tom had looked; nor did he rage because he believed that Crailey's life and his were in the greater hazard for the lack of every drop of water that should have issued from the empty nozzle.

Their lungs were burdened with smoke, while the intolerable smarting of throat, eyes and nostrils was like the incision of a thousand needles in the membranes. Their clothes were luminous with glowing circles where the sparks were eating. The blaze widened on the wall beneath them, and Marsh was shouting hoarsely that he could no longer hold his position on the ladder, yet Crailey knew that none of this was in Tom's mind as he stood, scorched, blistered and haggard, on the edge of the roof, shaking his fist at the world. It was because his chance of saving the property of a man he despised was being endangered.

Crailey stretched forth a hand and touched his friend's knee. "Your side of the conversation is a trifle loud, Tom," he said. "Miss Carewe is down there across the street on a pile of boxes."

Tom stopped in the middle of a word, for which he may have received but half a black stroke from the recording angel. He wheeled toward the street and, shielding his inflamed eyes with his hand, gazed downward in a stricken silence. From that moment Mr. Vanrevel's instructions to his followers were of a decorum at which not the meekest Sunday school scholar dare have cavilled.

The three men now on the long ladder—Marsh, Eugene Madrillon and Will Cummings—found their position untenable, for the flames, reaching all along the wall, were licking at the ladder itself between Marsh and Eugene. "I can't stand this any longer," gasped Tappingham, "but I can't leave those two up there either."

"Not alone," shouted Cummings from beneath Madrillon. "Let's go up."

Thus it happened that when the water came again and Vanrevel let it fall in a grateful cascade upon Crailey and himself three manly voices were heard singing as three men toiled through the billows of rosy gray below the beleaguered pair:

"Oh, the noble Duke of York,
He had ten thousand men;
He marched them up the side of a house
And marched them down again!"

A head appeared above the eaves, and Marsh, then Eugene, then Cummings, came crawling over the cornice in turn to join their comrades. They were a gallant band, those young gentlemen of Rouen, and they came with the ironical song on their lips and, looking at one another, ragged and scarified, burst into hoarse but indomitable laughter.

(Continued in next issue.)

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M —6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting,
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mille. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

HOUSE ADOPTS TARIFF

McCall Fought For Independence on Philippine Measure

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Philippine tariff bill was passed by the house substantially as it came from the ways and means committee. The vote was 258 to 71. Rice was made subject to the same tariff as sugar and tobacco, 25 percent of the Dingley rates, and one or two changes were made as to language.

This result was attained after decidedly the most strenuous day of the present congress. The many amendments which were launched and went to pieces in the storm of debate and against the rock which the house committee on rules constituted, left much legislative wreckage, and many records only useful for future political purposes.

An effort, sustained by the Democrats, but opposed by all but three Republicans, was initiated by Mr. McCall (Mass.) to commit the United States to the policy of granting independence to the Philippine islands as soon as their inhabitants can be prepared for self-government.

The bill admits goods, the growth or product of the Philippine islands, into the United States free of duty except sugar, tobacco and rice, which a tariff of 25 percent of the Dingley rates is levied.

It provides that after April 11, 1909, there shall be absolute free trade each way between the United States and the Philippines. It also exempts Philippine goods coming to the United States from the export tax of those islands. Merchandise from either country is subject to the internal revenue tax of the country in which such merchandise is withdrawn for consumption.

Unexpectedly the senate found itself considering the railroad rate question.

One Vote to Oust Depew

Albany, Jan. 17.—The state senate defeated, by a vote of 34 to 1, (the 14 Democratic senators having been excused from the voting) Senator Brackett's resolution requesting the resignation of United States Senator Depew. Brackett alone supported the resolution. This action followed a long debate opened by Brackett in a speech of an hour and a quarter, in which he scathingly attacked Depew, with an incidental denunciation of Thomas C. Platt.

State Treasury Is $78,000 Short

Topeka, Jan. 17.—A total shortage in the Kansas state treasury of about $78,000 is shown by the report of Accountant Morris in the treasury examination just closed, according to a summary of the report prepared by Governor Hoch. The report covers the two full terms of former State Treasurer Grimes and one term and six months of the administration of present State Treasurer Kelley.

To Examine Boston Office

Cleveland, Jan. 17.—Receiver Bushnell of the firm of Denison, Prior & Co. has gone to Boston to file his papers there as receiver under the direction of the federal court, so that all the assets pertaining to the Boston office of the firm may also come under his jurisdiction. After acquainting himself with the affairs of the firm in Boston Bushnell will return to Cleveland.

Striking Printers' New Move

New York, Jan. 17.—A new move was made in the job printers' strike in this city when the stereotypers and electrotypers were ordered by the union officials not to make any plates from non-union set type, and electrotypers employed in five of the big printing concerns of the city who had adopted the "open shop" principle went on strike.

Reprimand For Naval Officer

Norfolk, Jan. 17.—The general court martial into the recent collision between the torpedo destroyers Worden and Lawrence has found Lieutenant Houston, commander of the Worden, guilty of culpable inefficiency in performance of duty and neglect of duty. He has been sentenced to be reprimanded by the commander of the fleet.

Stock Increased by $7,000,000

New York, Jan. 17.—Directors of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company have authorized an issue of $7,000,000 of new common stock of that company. This will increase the total of common stock to $30,000,000. It is announced that the proceeds of the new issue will be used in improving and developing the property of the company.

Cotton Mills In Receiver's Hands

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 17.—The Mississippi mills of Wesson, the largest cotton mills in the south, have gone into the hands of a receiver, ex-Treasurer Lampton of the Mississippi mills being named by Judge Niles. There is a bonded debt of $300,000, but other liabilities and the assets are not known.

Alsace-Lorraine Fears War

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Reports received here from Alsace-Lorraine say that the inhabitants fear that war will follow the Algeciras conference and that this fear is having its influence on the banks and other institutions.

Will Not Shut Out Our Fishermen

Washington, Jan. 17.—Official information has reached the French embassy here denying the report that the authorities of St. Pierre were planning to shut American fishermen out of the island.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Jan. 18.
Sun rises—7:10; sets—4:40.
Moon rises—12:32 a. m.
High water—5 a. m.; 5:30 p. m.
Fair weather is indicated for New England, except that snow will continue in the northern portion.

PEACE INDICATED

Auspicious Opening of the Moroccan Conference

SPANISH DUKE PRESIDES

His Counsel to Nations to Adjust Differences Meets Hearty Accord--Moorish Delegates Give Gathering a Picturesque Touch

Algeciras, Jan. 17.—The opening of the Moroccan conference was chiefly notable for the spirit of conciliation manifested throughout the formal inaugural session. The events of the day were the gathering of the ambassadors with their extensive staffs and the one-hour session in which the Duke of Almodovar, Spanish minister of foreign affairs, was unanimously elected president of the conference.

The duke's speech of acceptance breathed concord and peace. It counselled the nations to adjust their differences and emphasized the essential principles of the sovereignty of the sultan, the territorial integrity of Morocco and the open door. It was significant that both the French and German delegations heartily seconded the remarks of the duke, thus foreshadowing the amelioration of Franco-German relations.

The envoys were driven to the conference in court equipages sent from Madrid by King Alfonso. The mule trains in the narrow streets had to make way for these equipages, but otherwise the presence of these suggestions of more brilliant worlds than that of this little Spanish seaport in no way affected the calm-eyed townspeople.

The delegates had agreed to make themselves comfortable and not to trouble about uniforms, so most of them were in afternoon dress. The Moors were the last to arrive and their white draperies, turbans and yellow shoes added an odd touch to a gathering that otherwise looked like that at an afternoon tea.

There were seven of the Arabs, dignified men with watchful eyes, and all with athletic frames except Mohammed El Torres, whose figure is bent under the weight of his 83 years and who walks with a long staff which he handles more as a lance than as a cane. The Duke of Almodovar met Mohammed El Torres at the head of the stairs, a distinction which was not shown to the other delegates. The repose of the Moors was shaken for a second by the rattle of camera shutters in the hands of some 30 foreign photographers, which sounded as though a file of soldiers was cocking its rifles. Quite a hundred newspaper men and artists representing illustrated periodicals lined the approaches.

The Duke of Almodovar, in welcoming the conference in the name of King Alfonso, said it was the second time that Morocco and the great powers had met in Spain to deliberate on questions of the highest importance and he hoped that the common efforts of the envoys would result in the satisfactory fulfilment of the heavy task imposed upon them.

After the welcome, Herr Von Radowitz, chief of the German mission, proposed the Duke of Almodovar as president of the conference and the other countries represented seconded the proposal, with the result that the duke was unanimously elected president. During the course of his address the Duke of Almodovar said:

"The powers have clearly shown their desire that order, peace and prosperity shall reign throughout Morocco. The sultan, as well as the foreign governments, desire this end, which is obtainable by introducing reforms upon the triple principle of the sovereignty of the sultan, the integrity of his territory and equal commercial treatment, namely, the open door. Mutual respect for our reciprocal interests and a sincere desire to conciliate them must be, according to my view, our rule of conduct at this conference. Our own sentiment, as well as the expectant attitude of the entire world, would dictate such a conciliatory solution."

M. Revoil, former governor of Algiers, who heads the French delegation, warmly seconded the Duke of Almodovar's statements. He urged the conference to adhere to the ideas so happily expressed by the duke and to take as the basis of the projected reforms the triple principle enunciated. Herr Von Radowitz joined M. Revoil in expressing the hope that the work of the conference would give a fruitful result.

Secretaries were then chosen, among them being M. De Margerie, formerly secretary of the French embassy at Washington.

The conference decided to first take up the question of the surveillance of contraband and then that regarding the reform of Moroccan finances. This decision indicates the disposition of the conference to put off the more delicate questions involved until the last.

In order to give the secretaries an opportunity to prepare for their work the conference will not meet today. An interesting vote took place on the question of the hour for the daily session. Sir Arthur Nicholson, the British delegate, proposed 10 o'clock a. m. and this was carried by a vote of 6 to 4. France, Great Britain, the United States, Belgium, Italy and Austria-Hungary voted in the affirmative; Russia, Portugal, Holland and Sweden in the negative. Germany, Spain and Morocco did not vote.

VILLAGE IS DESERTED

Westinghouse Gives Up Search For Copper In Vermont

Vershire, Vt., Jan. 17.—After expending more than $1,600,000 during the past six years in purchasing and working the Copperfields mines, for many years the third largest in the United States, George Westinghouse, the multi-millionaire mine owner of Pittsburg, has abandoned his search for copper in the Vershire mountains.

Westinghouse's representatives declare that the copper vein is worthless, while those who are still in the village say that the mine owner and his agents did not give the mine a fair test. The refusal of the town, too, to rebate the taxes, caused the millionaire's managers considerable annoyance, some of the former mine owners contend.

Two good school houses were erected, as well as two churches, one Catholic and the other Methodist. Now the congregations are so small that a priest comes but once a month, and the Methodist minister simply looks upon the place as a mission. There are only six pupils in the school.

Two Deaths on Top of Car

Providence, Jan. 17.—Two young men, each aged about 22 years, believed to be James Parkinson of Fall River, Mass., and Thomas Kennedy of Bridgeport, Conn., were killed while riding on top of a freight train en route from Boston to New York last night. Their bodies were found together on the roof of a car when the train reached this city. They were probably struck by an overhead bridge, the skulls of both men being crushed.

Petition For Bank Wrecker's Pardon

Vergennes, Vt., Jan. 17.—A movement is in progress to petition President Roosevelt for the pardon of John W. Ketchum, formerly representative in the legislature from Vergennes, who is serving a sentence of seven years in jail for complicity with Cashier Lewis in wrecking the Farmers' National bank here. Ketchum went to jail in 1902. Lewis is serving a sentence in the Rutland jail.

Ladd's Shortage Made Good

Needham, Mass., Jan. 17.—According to the report of the expert accountants who had been engaged to examine the accounts of the late Town Treasurer Ladd, who died last August, there was a deficit of $10,000. The report was made public last night, and it was further stated that the family of the late treasurer had paid over to the selectmen the sum of $10,000 to cover the shortage.

Ubero Company to Reorganize

Boston, Jan. 17.—Receivers of the Ubero Plantation company have been discharged and all orders and injunctions that had been issued in the action brought by B. S. Tolman and others against the company have been vacated by Judge Lowell, who ordered a final decree to be entered. The company will be reorganized. The case is now out of the federal courts.

Burglar Shot Watchman

Calais, Me., Jan. 17.—Shot in the back by one burglar while pursuing another, whom he had detected in the act of blowing open the safe in the postoffice at Red Beach, John Brown, night watchman for the Red Beach Plaster company, lies at the point of death. Two men are held as suspects, and another man is sought by the police as a member of the gang.

Startling Evidence Intimated

Swampscott, Mass., Jan. 17.—Chief of Police Harris says that there is no foundation for the rumor that the inquiry into the death of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase is at an end. To the contrary, he says, his investigations are being continued with vigor, and he intimates that when the inquest is once more resumed there may be presented evidence of a startling nature.

Contractor Financially Embarrassed

Milford, Mass., Jan. 17.—Financial embarrassment, resulting, it is said, from the failure of some of the banks of which J. R. Walsh, the Chicago financier, had a controlling interest, has caused the assignment of G. Cenedella, an Italian contractor of this town, with large public undertakings in New York state and on railroads in Indiana and Ohio.

Second Big Barn to Burn

Weston, Mass., Jan. 17.—A fire believed to have been incendiary destroyed a large barn on the estate of Francis Balke last night. The loss is $15,000. A man was seen running from the premises at the time the fire was discovered. Another large barn in the vicinity was burned two weeks ago by an incendiary.

Standard Oil After Wood Pulp

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 17.—J. W. Phillips, said to be a representative of the Standard Oil company, is in this vicinity in the interests of his company, which, it is understood, is buying large tracts of woodland in various parts of Vermont. It is intimated that wood pulp is the desired object.

Cleaning Up Bank's Affairs

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 17.—The affairs of Merchants' National bank of this city, which failed March 26, 1900, have been practically wound up and Receiver Muir will shortly pay a final dividend of 11½ percent to creditors, which will bring the total payments to 96½ percent.

Express Jumped the Irons

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 17.—A Rutland railroad express from Montreal for this city was several hours late when it arrived here, due to a run-off at St. Johns, Que. The locomotive and three cars were thrown from the rails and the passengers were badly shaken up.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 15	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 58 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 6.40 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A.M., 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company
DIVISION 1
TIME TABLE.
In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *5.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:
BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	49	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	43	24	37	26	23
Thursday,	—	29	41	35	34
Friday,	—	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	—	37	44	28	39

New Advertisements Today.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.
Wanted—Demonstrators.
Probate Notice.

The City In Brief

The Copeland club are in rehearsal for its annual ministrel show.

There will be a parents meeting at the Wollaston school this evening.

Readers of the Daily Ledger may expect a good report tomorrow of the service.

Work was resumed in earnest this morning excavating for the addition to the High school.

Fred E. Goss has been removed by the Board of Health from the office of Inspector of Meats and Provisions.

Urbane C. Benoit filed a petition in bankruptcy on Tuesday. Liabilities are placed at $64.03, of which $33.03 is a judgment for rent in favor of S. Harvey Page of Cambridge.

James Forrest, of Wollaston, who for some time has been suffering with rheumatism, has been taken to a Boston hospital, and the doctors expect rapid improvement. Mr. Forrest is very popular in Quincy; he was the president of the class of 1903 of the High School. His many friends hope that he will soon be better.

DON'TS FOR ENGAGED GIRLS

Don't quote his opinion on every occasion.

Don't make an ostentatious display of your engagement ring.

Don't be jealous if he casually admires another pretty girl.

Don't expect him to spend every minute of his spare time with you.

Don't expect all your friends to think as much of your fiance as you do.

Don't let him spend his money too freely on flowers and sweets for you.

Don't always have your own way. Allow him to have his once in awhile.

Don't put off getting your trousseau ready till your marriage is close at hand.

Don't fail to try your hardest to win the favor of your prospective mother-in-law.

Don't let him tell you more than once a day that you are "a thousand times too good" for him or you may end by believing it.

Don't just for the fun of the thing pick a quarrel with your lover—don't. Many an unhappy wife and lonely old maid rue the result of having foolishly done so.

Bedspreads.

The clever housekeeper may beautify her bedroom greatly if she is capable of making pretty bedspreads. These cost a good deal if bought ready made, but are really not hard to sew. For instance, take a spread made of wide net. The center, or plain part, is cut square and edged with a band of inexpensive white lace insertion. Next comes the wide flounce, also edged with a narrow lace point. The fullness of the net ruffle is what makes it attractive, not the amount of lace on it. In the middle of the plain central part should be appliqued an effective figure of coarse lace, and the net is cut out from under this. Of course the proper thing is to have some color show through this filmy whiteness, and a covering of pink or blue sateen laid under the spread will do quite as well as one of silk, for the texture is never noticeable like the color.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

BURLEN HAS GONE

Police Fail to Locate Provident Securities Treasurer

SAID TO BE IN CANADA

Books Were Removed From the Bank by Burlen and His Son, Accompanied by a Policeman, the Night Before Suspension

Boston, Jan. 17.—District Attorney Moran has failed to make the progress desired by him in his investigation of the affairs of the Provident Securities and Banking company, whose business was suspended several days ago by order of the courts. Moran had sent word to Lorenzo W. Burlen of Brookline, secretary and treasurer of the bank, to appear at the district attorney's office yesterday for the purpose of assisting the district attorney in his investigation. Burlen did not appear, but later a communication was received from his attorney in which it was stated that, acting under his counsel's advice, Burlen declined to accede to Moran's summons.

Boston police have tried to see Burlen with reference to the present deplorable state of the bank's affairs, but they have not succeeded in finding him. Superintendent Pierce and Chief Watts, when they drove out to his Brookline house, were told through the speaking tube by his son that he was not at home, and they thereupon drove back to town again. Last evening it was learned that Burlen left this city for Montreal yesterday morning.

Another development of the day was the discovery that about 8:30 o'clock on the night of Jan. 4 (the bank suspended operations Jan. 5) Burlen called at police station 2 to have an officer go with him to the bank. He wanted to get in there, he said, to obtain some private papers. He stated that he was afraid to go there alone, lest he might be assaulted by the depositors. He told the officers that the savings bank commissioners were going to have an injunction on the bank the following morning. Burlen went to the bank with the patrolman from station 2. The patrolman waited outside with another patrolman while Burlen and his son, who accompanied him, went inside and brought out some books. Then they all drove to the police station, where neither the goods nor the men were detained.

What Moran is anxious to ascertain now is the nature of the contents of the boxes alleged to have been removed by Burlen and his son. He is determined to find out whether the boxes contained cash, and to learn also the motive that caused an official of the corporation to go on the night prior to the granting of an injunction by the court.

Samuel K. Hamilton, Burlen's attorney, declared last night that the treasurer of the banking company left Boston at his suggestion to endeavor to negotiate the sale of some of the company's assets. Counsel asserted that Burlen's destination was some western city in this country, presumably Chicago, and that he is passing through Canada on the way. Hamilton said that Burlen would return to Boston as soon as he ascertained whether or not he could find a purchaser for the company's assets.

Ivens Sticks to First Story

Chicago, Jan. 17.—The police believe Richard Ivens, the murderer of Mrs. F. C. Hollister, was assisted by other young men in the crime, having received information that a short time previous to her death she was in a drug store not far from the scene of the murder with a man whose description is different from that of Ivens. He bought her a box of candy and they left the place together. Ivens declares that he knows nothing of the matter and insists that nobody had anything to do with the murder but himself.

Sutherland's Good Offices

Washington, Jan. 17.—Commander Sutherland of the cruiser Cleveland reports to the navy department that he has offered his good offices to arrange terms for the capitulation of the revolutionary forces at Monte Cristi to prevent further bloodshed and protect the lives and property of non-combatants. He is already serving as a medium for exchanges between the triumphant government forces and the insurgent generals.

Forests Should Be Saved

Washington, Jan. 17.—In addressing the annual convention of the American Forestry association, which convened here, Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture sounded a note of warning against the denudation of the forests. The great problem for the association to work out was tree planting, he said.

Grover Cleveland Indisposed

New York, Jan. 17.—Former President Cleveland came to New York from his home in Princeton and later was joined by Mrs. Cleveland. It is said that Mr. Cleveland is not in the best of health. He spent the night at the home of Paul Morton, where he was visited by Dr. Bryant.

Mob Wanted to Get Negro

Milford, Del., Jan. 17.—A hurry call for the militia was sent out late last night to prevent a mob getting into the jail to take out a negro accused of attempting to assault Miss Flora Booze, a school teacher. Some of the windows of the jail were broken.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The January meeting of the executive board of the Women's club will be held tomorrow (Thursday) morning at ten o'clock at the club house.

The program for the Musicale of the Quincy Women's club, at the club house on Tuesday afternoon Jan. 23d will be published in the club column of the Patriot and in the Ledger of Jan. 20. It promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the club afternoons.

Article sixth of the By-laws of the Quincy Women's club is of special interest to members as it relates to guests. It reads: "Members may invite not more than two guests to each meeting on payment of twenty-five cents for each guest. No one shall be a guest twice in any year, except by permission." Guest tickets have been printed and may be procured by the treasurer.

The Quincy Women's club is one of largest in the greater Boston district, having three hundred and fifty members and a waiting list. Of the members 178 are from Quincy Centre, 88 Wollaston, 28 Atlantic, 26 Quincy Point, 10 South Quincy, 8 West Quincy, 4 Norfolk Downs, 2 Houghs Neck, 2 Boston, 2 East Braintree, 1 Squantum, 1 Weymouth, 1 Hingham.

Year books are to be issued this month which will make interesting reading for club members as they will contain list of officers, standing committees, program of meetings with dates, constitution and by-laws, and a full list of members with addresses.

Owing to the illness of Miss Randall the evening with Scotch ballads to have been given by her, assisted by Mrs. Buckingham, at the parish house of Christ church on Friday evening was given up. A course of cooking lessons will be given under the auspices of St. Margaret's Guild the first one being on Friday evening. Miss Alice Brooks Douglas of Hingham, a member of the Quincy Women's club, will be the teacher and members and friends are anticipating some pleasant and instructive evenings.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

The regular meeting of the Women's Alliance of the First church, will be held in the church parlor on Monday afternoon, Jan. 22d at three o'clock. The speaker will be Rev. C. E. Park of the New North church, Hingham who will speak on "Unitarianism and the Missionary Spirit."

The regular monthly meeting of the Quincy Charitable society, was held Jan. 15th at the residence of Mrs. Helen Bass, Hancock street. The president was in the chair and nine directors were present. The directors' report proved interesting showing prompt inquiry and thorough investigation necessary for helpful action.

The Jan. 26th meeting of the Friday club at the home of Mrs. W. E. Alden, Chestnut street, promises to be one of the best of the season. The subject for the afternoon is "The novels of Charles Dickens" and the committee is arranging an entertaining program.

The Manet club of Christ church, is arranging for a Valentine dance on Feb. 14th.

Owing to unforseen circumstances the entertainment to have been given this week in the First Church Social club course, has been postponed two weeks, to Friday evening Feb. 2d.

The Hospital Aid association demonstration luncheon in First church chapel Thursday noon is sure of wide patronage on account of its novelty and also the opportunity it gives for a social time. Its financial success is already assured as there are many subscribers. The sewing bee to make articles for the Hospital will interest many after the luncheon. The Association is an active body doing a needed and good work.

A pleasant meeting of the Junior Friday club was held on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry E. Russell of Greenleaf street. The president Miss Fay Hitchcock presided and the program was arranged by Mrs. Lawrance H. Sturtevant the subject being William Cullen Bryant and minor writers. Several guests were present. During the social hour the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Miss Annie Beecher Scoville, lectures this afternoon on Indian Handicraft, at the regular meeting of the Wellesley Hills Woman's club.

An interesting meeting of the Chelsea Woman's club is to be held on Friday afternoon, home talent day, when an original magazine will be presented.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

A goodly number of ladies were present at the January meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. held in the Association building on Monday afternoon at three o'clock.

The meeting was opened by a short song service. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. V. E. Miller and prayer was offered by the president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Collyer of Wollaston sang two inspiring solos, after which came the business part of the program.

Secretary Gay reported the membership of the Y. M. C. A. as being at the present time four hundred. Two hundred and fifty seniors, and one hundred and fifty juniors. He also reported the work being done at the Fore River Works by the Association. There are five hundred boys employed at the Works under seventeen years of age. Boys' noon meetings are being held there under the leadership of Secretary Noon and are addressed by the Quincy Point minister.

The speaker of the afternoon was State Secretary Armstrong, who is just entering upon his twentieth year of Y. M. C. A. service. Mr. Armstrong addressed the ladies in a very encouraging and inspiring way, throwing out many helpful suggestions for auxiliary work. After several items of business were discussed the meeting adjourned.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

An interesting meeting of the Jamaica Plain Tuesday club was held last week when Mrs. William C. Appleton gave a paper on Civic Art, showing how a city depends upon a broad, systematic plan carefully executed to make it beautiful. The Twentieth Century club's slides of "The City Beautiful" were used, showing the contrast in European and American treatment of architectural subjects, the credit being all in favor of Europe.

The Massachusetts State Federation is to be the guests of the Brighthelmstone club of Brighton, on Friday, Feb. 2d, at the New Century building, Huntington avenue, Boston. The session opens at ten o'clock when J. Horace Macfarland of Harrisburg, Pa., president of the American Civic League will speak on "The Awakening of Harrisburg." The afternoon speakers are Prof. Myron T. Scudder of New Paltz, N. Y., and Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr of New York.

The Norwood Woman's club is to have an Arts and Crafts afternoon on the 23d, when Mrs. Ada W. Tillinghast of New Bedford will be the speaker.

Mrs. Margaret Deland in her talk to the Newburyport Woman's club last week gave much practical advice and also told of the moral and social lessons to be drawn from making flowers grow.

TO SOUTH POLE BY AUTO.

Novel Antarctic Expedition Planned by Belgian Explorer.

Proposals to explore the poles are multiplying. On top of Wellman's offer to Santos-Dumont comes a suggestion that the south pole be discovered by a motor car, says a Paris special cable dispatch to the Chicago News.

M. Arctowski, who was a member of the Belgian expedition of 1897, has designed a car capable of traveling sixteen miles an hour over rough ice. By working several of these in relays he estimates that he could reach the south pole ten days after leaving Mount Erebus. M. Arctowski will make experiments in August, and should they prove successful he will be ready at the beginning of the following antartic summer to attempt the adventure.

Building to Baffle Time.

If present plans be not changed bids will be received March 1 for the new Field museum, in Grant park, Chicago, to cost about $8,000,000, says a Chicago dispatch. The drawings are being completed in the office of a firm of Chicago architects. The building is to be artistic and of the class commonly termed monumental. In area it will be 575 by 1,070 feet. It will be one story in height, of granite and steel, absolutely fireproof. Taken in connection with the new Field store this is said to be the greatest building operation ever undertaken by an individual. The museum will be so solid in its construction that it must endure until torn down.

A Keen Appetite
and a healthy stomach indicate an active Liver, which is enjoyed by all who use Beecham's Pills. They insure strong digestion, sweet breath and sound sleep. No other remedy is as good as
Beecham's Pills
Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

Established 1887. Probate Busines
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

Frederick W. Jennings.

Mr. Frederick Winslow Jennings of 401 Highland avenue, passed away Tuesday, January 16. He was 58 years, 4 months and 11 days old. Mr. Jehnings came to Wollaston from New Bedford, his former home. He leaves a widow, a son and a daughter. Mr. Jennings was a brother of Mrs. Charles M. Bryant of Wollaston. The funeral will be on Friday at 12 o'clock.

—The big German steamer of the Hansa line reached Boston Saturday from India and Ceylon. She has thirty-five Lascars in the engine room and in her cargo, which was one of the richest ever brought here, were 100 monkeys.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MARRIED.

GRAY—HACKETT—In Barre, Vt., Dec 30, by the Rev. A. F. Lowe, Mrs. Margaret Gray, formerly of Quincy, to Mr. George H. Hackett of Burlington, Vt.

DIED.

MCGOVERN—In Quincy, Jan. 16, Mrs. Catherine S., wife of Mr. John C. McGovern of Whitwell street, aged 61 years and 5 months. Funeral Friday, Jan. 19, at St. John's church at 9 A. M. Relatives and friends invited. 2t

CUNNINGHAM—In Milton, Jan 14, Mr. Horace Cunningham, in his 80th year.

JENNINGS—In Wollaston, Jan. 16, Mr. Frederick Winslow Jennings of 401 Highland avenue, in his 59th year.
Funeral from residence Friday at 12 o'clock.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

BY Virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by George H. Hitchcock to the Quincy Savings Bank, dated Aug. 24, 1899, recorded in Norfolk Deeds, Lib. 625, fol. 477, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, on the premises hereinafter described, on WEDNESDAY, the Fourteenth day of February, 1906, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, and therein described substantially as follows:

A certain lot of land containing 9,057 square feet, more or less, with all the buildings thereon, situated in said Quincy, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Northwesterly on Foster street, sixty-four and 3-4 feet; northeasterly on land of Edward B. Souther, one hundred forty feet and ten inches; southeasterly on land of Charles H. Hardwick, sixty-three feet and five inches; southwesterly on land of one Robinson, one hundred forty-one feet and ten inches.

This property will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles and assessments

Terms, $200 cash at sale, balance cash in ten days from said sale on delivery of deed.

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK, Mortgagee.
By CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.
Jan. 17. 3t--17-24-31

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of

SARAH J. F. CARR,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Horace F. Spear and Clarence Burgin, the trustees under the will of said deceased, have presented for allowance, the first account of their trust under said will.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said trustees are ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t--17, 24, 31

It Quiets the Cough
This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

TO LET
Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.
One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.
Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 30-6 with 11 stalls.
A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.
Storage—light and dry.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY.

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filed to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, 1 East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1226 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate,
Mortgages,
Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day	25 cents
" " three days,	50 cents
" " one week,	75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Tuesday, Jan 9, Black and Tan Collie Pup. Finder please return to THOMSON'S, 92 Glencoe Place and receive reward.
Quincy, Jan. 16, 3t

FOUND.

FOUND—In front of Granite bank a Lady's Underwaist. Owner may have by proving property and paying charges. Inquire at Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Demonstrators, men or women. Good money. H. H. HOWARD, 320 Centre street, Dorchester. Jan. 17-3t

WANTED—Board and Room for a Young Lady in private family. Addres G. C. Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot. Jan. 11. 6t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.50 day. Good references. MISS B. J CARLSON, 45 Curtis street. Quincy, Jan. 13. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A Henry F. Miller Grand Square Piano, will be sold cheap. Inquire corner of Kemper street and Elm avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 15-4t

FOR SALE—One Clayton Duplex Air Compressor 9x9. In first-class repair. Capable of running 30 pneumatic tools. Can be seen running Cylinders recently bored out, and all new valves. Tank goes with this. A bargain. C. A. SWINGLE & CO., Penn street, South Quincy, Mass. Jan. 13-3t

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street. Quincy, Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 1d-6t

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF.
Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 14-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Beverly Court, Quincy Point, Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Illustrated Fashion Hints Tomorrow

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Animal Story For Children Tomorrow

Vol. 18. No. 16. QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Henry H. Faxon Completes Work Started by John Adams

Wake up Your Liver

Not too much, just a little, just enough to start the bile nicely. One of Ayer's Pills at bedtime is all you need. These pills act directly on the liver. They cure constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick-headache. Sold for 60 years. We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THIS MARK DOWN SALE

OF OURS IS

No "Goat" Proposition.

There are no "BUTS" to it. No "IFS" either.

These SUITS and OVERCOATS and this WINTER UNDERWEAR

Wouldn't be half as good value next July.

We are reducing them now while you can get plenty of wear out of them

ALL HEAVY WEIGHT GOODS MARKED DOWN.

DON'T buy anything in our line until you have examined our stock. We do not handle anything but Reliable Merchandise.

YOURS FOR GENUINE BARGAINS

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock street City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 18. th. fri. sat.-tf-o-tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

Furniture Clearance Sale.

This time of the year above all others is the money saving time to buy house furnishings. Special bargains in every department with wonderful savings for everyone. Real downright legitimate bargains at this store. No inflated prices with large discounts taken off to mislead unthinking buyers.

Our prices are from 10 to 33 per cent lower than those of any other store on earth. The sooner you get the habit of buying at the Kincaide stores—the sooner your happiness will be more complete and your weekly cash balance larger.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

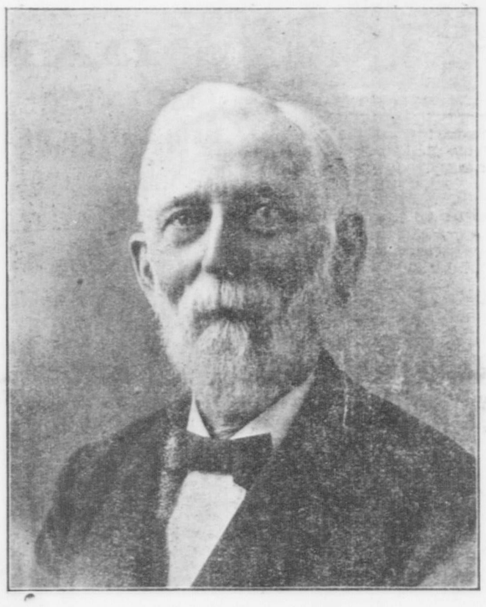

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Sincere Tributes to H. H. Faxon

Courage, Humanity Unflagging Persistence In a Righteous Cause Leading Characteristics

A large audience gathered at Lorimer hall in Tremont Temple, Boston, this morning at 11 o'clock at a memorial service to the late Henry Hardwick Faxon of Quincy. Probably half the number were from this city, and included: Mayor and Mrs. Thompson, President W. E. Piper of the City Council, ex-President Walter F. Nichols, Principal Assessor Charles H. Johnson, and other city officials, several of the clergymen, also the son of the deceased, Henry M. Faxon, and a brother, J. Franklin Faxon and other relatives.

The service was held under the auspices of the temperance societies of Massachusetts, and they had enlisted some notable speakers, as will be seen by the program below:

Report of committee of arrangements.
Address—John D Long, LL. D.
Resolutions.
Quartette—"He who is Upright," Fleming
Prayer—Rev. Edward A. Horton,
Address—Rev. Fa. A. F. Roche, of St. Marys, Quincy.
"Early days of service with Mr. Faxon."
Quartette—"Eternal Goodness," Bartlett
(Words by Whittier.)
Address—Rev. Daniel M. Wilson, of Northfield, Former pastor and fellow worker for Quincy.
Quartette—"The Homeland," Sullivan
Address—Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson, W. C. T. U.
"The voice of the women of Massachusetts."
Address—Rev. A. H. Plumb, D. D., of Roxbury.
Quartette—"Sunset and Evening Star," Macy

On the platform upon an easel was a large framed crayon of Henry H. Faxon, partly hid by a massive spray of choice roses. There were other flowers on the platform, also ferns and plants.

Hon. Byron B. Johnson the ex-mayor of Waltham, and chairman of the committee of arrangements was the first speaker. He said it was not a time for mourning, but for rejoicing. With brief enlogistic remarks, he introduced as the chairman of the meeting

HON. JOHN D. LONG

Ex-Governor John D. Long spoke as follows:

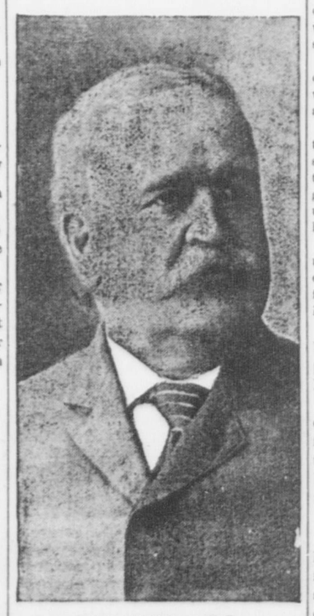

"There are some strong qualities of character which, while a man lives, excite toward him at first antagonism and depreciation, then at a later period respect, and when he is dead genuine admiration and praise. The most striking of these is what is called the courage of his convictions. It is natural enough, I suppose, that our usual estimate of this quality, at least while a man lives, is controlled by the consideration whether his convictions agree with ours or not. If they do we applaud him; if they do not we are apt to sneer at him.

"When Governor Bowtwell arrayed himself so emphatically against the attitude of our national government on the Philippine issue, those who differed from him regarded him as an old fogy, while those who agreed with him lauded him as an heroic martyr, but had he differed from them would have called him a time server though the courage of his convictions would have been exactly the same.

"But when the man is dead, everybody at last recognizes the merit and does honor to the honest conviction and to the fidelity and courage of its maintenance. Everybody today honors Elmer H. Capen for exactly the same courage of his convictions on the Philippine question which Governor Boutwell had as this, though their convictions were diametrically opposite, each maintaining them against an exacting opposition in his respective circle. Nobody today speaks of Neal Dow or William Lloyd Garrison without profound respect.

"So, we, meeting here to pay our tribute of honor to Henry H. Faxon who has gone to his rest, voice the general sentiment of Massachusetts. The strenuous adulatory phrases of today fit him. He was a hard fighter. He struck from the shoulder. He never flinched. He saw his duty and did it. He was not a coward. He always came up smiling.

"Mr. Faxon was an apostle of temperance in the matter of alcoholic drinks. Himself in early life engaged in the liquor traffic, he saw and felt its evils; and that incident in his early career was as inconsequential a reproach to him in his latter crusade against the rum seller as it would be to detract from the merit of the apostle Paul because before his conversion he prosecuted the Christians and took part in the stoning of Stephen. There is no doubt that Mr. Faxon was actuated by true humanity in putting himself, his fortune, his reputation, and his personal and social comfort into the cause of temperance. He saw the terrible evils of alcoholic intemperance, in the home, in the municipality, in the degredation of families, in the promotion of vice and crime, and he fought it to the end of his life with unflagging ardor and potency.

HON. JOHN D. LONG.
Photo by J. E. Purdy & Co., Boston, Copyright, 1897.

"He thus became one of the impelling and vital forces of the community. He fixed and maintained to this day the municipal standard of the prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors in his own town and city, and was the strongest faction in its maintenance in other towns and cities of the commonwealth. He was as plucky and dogmatic as an Adams, and that name and his, together with the name of the city itself, are the best known names today in the municipality of Quincy.

"There was a true and right spot in Faxon's heart. It responded to the call of many in need and want. A clear-headed, strong-handed business man, alive to his own material interests, and as thrifty as a disciple of Ben Franklin, it was for that reason all the more to his credit that his sympathies were practically strong with the unfortunate and dependent, especially in removing from them the temptations of intemperance.

"A noticable characteristic in him was his good cheer, his elasticity of temperament which, no matter how crushing the blow or fierce the attack or disappointing the campaign, rebounded like a rubber ball and was as alert and expansive as before, ready for a fresh kick and ascension.

"Courage, humanity, good cheer, unflagging persistence in a righteous cause, business clear headedness, these were among his leading characteristics. To these qualities so strikingly illustrated in him, to his good work to his zeal, and to him the fearless, we pay our tribute. I join in it with cordial appreciation and, let me add, with a personal sense of gratitude for his stout support at a time when without it my public career might have had an earlie end.

"We could better have spared all the sensation breeders, high or low, gilt or fustian, who fill the daily columns of our careless reading than a single spirit like that of Henry H. Faxon with his heroism and devotion in what was to him the cause of his fellow-men."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Hon. James S. Allen of Brockton, the chairman of the committee on resolutions reported the following draft, which was adopted unanimously:

HENRY H. FAXON.

Unique in his life, greatly missed in his death,—a man of positive moral convictions and the courage to stand by them under all circumstances,—wielding a trenchant sword in public and private in defense of his special line of work, that of temperance, yet always in good temper and without malice,—generous in giving his time and his money to the work he so earnestly espoused. Therefore:

Resolved—That in his death the temperance cause in his own city, in the state, and even in wider fields, has lost one of its strongest, most sagacious and most generous supporters.

Resolved—That the sincerity and unselfish devotion he always manifested in his temperance work is worthy of emulation by those who have at heart the same great cause.

Resolved—That especial attention is due to the fact that as Mr. Faxon's business ability secured increase of fortune, his generosity continued and expanded, so that at the time of his greatest success in his affairs, he showed unabated interest in the advancement of humanity in moral reform.

Resolved—That the best monument to his memory is the steadfast and successful support of all wise measures, whether moral or legal, for the suppression of the sale and use of intoxicating liquor.

After the selection by the quartette, Rev. Edward Horton of Boston offered prayer which also was eulogistic of Mr. Faxon.

Rev. A. F. Roche of St. Mary's church, West Quincy, made the most forcible address of the day, an informal talk, however, as he called it. The Ledger hopes to report it at length tomorrow.

REV. D. M. WILSON.

"Intimately," Mr. Wilson said, "he knew Mr. Faxon for more than twenty-five years. He knew him in his strength when he was a power in the community, when the efforts of years were crowned with a sweeping No-License vote and Quincy was redeemed from the thraldom of the saloon.

"That victory was the final battle in a campaign which had continued in Quincy for more than a hundred years. At one end of it is the great name of John Adams, at the other the name of Henry H. Faxon.

"In 1760 John Adams, fired with the zeal of enthusiasm, stirred up the citizens to limit the number of the taverns, and in 1882 Henry H. Faxon led a movement which abolished liquor selling altogether.

"It was my fortune to fight shoulder to shoulder in this battle with my fellow citizens and a united clergy. Yet however hard we fought a spirit more persistent than our own eminated from our leader.

(Continued on page 8)

REV. A. F. ROCHE

ALL A CANARD.

Story Published in this Paper Yesterday Concerning the South Shore Grain Company and Frederick E. Betts Untrue.

This paper was led into a serious error in the publication of the article in yesterday's issue concerning the South Shore Grain Company and Frederick E. Betts, and it now hastens to make retraction of the statements given currency through it.

The affairs of the companies mentioned in the article are not mixed, nor have the companies been recently consolidated. "No well known business men in this community" or in any other community, as far as we are aware, "have been putting their names to papers and hastening to get under cover." Neither Mr. Coffin, agent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad at Quincy, nor the agent at the East Braintree station of that road, is a director of the company, nor have they been attached, or are they in any way interested, as stockholders or otherwise, in either of the corporations mentioned in the article. No one has been presented with blocks of stock, shares of stock, or other interest in either of the companies, and the statement that "certain people were presented with blocks of the stock of the South Shore Grain Company, and it is these people who now find themselves in trouble" was entirely gratuitous, uncalled for and false in every particular.

Fred E. Betts is the local manager of the South Shore Grain Company and has built up a large business, which people of this city, especially those around City Square, among whom we said rumors were rife, have seen the business grow. We were wrong in saying that some time ago he tried to float a Virginia land scheme which never materialized, and we were equally wrong in saying that he consolidated the two companies named in our article.

We sincerely regret the error into which we were led and now give full publicity to this our retraction, expressing the hope that it may serve in a measure to repair any wrong which may have been done by our inconsiderate action in publishing an article based upon rumor without foundation, instead of first learning facts.

The Huscarls.

The boys' club, the "Huscarls of the King" initiated two more into membership on Monday evening. The Huscarls take full charge of the service this week Friday evening, at which time a gavel given by Miss Richardson, of 86 East Howard street, vice-president of the W. C. T. U. of Middlesex county, will be presented to the Huscarls.

Rev. Charles S. Bates, the founder of the Huscarls plans to be present next week Thursday, to meet the members of that order in and about Quincy.

Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood has been secured to address the Baracca Boys at their anniversary gathering at South Weymouth next Friday Jan. 26.

Plans are being made for the formation of a junior C. E. Society.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Buy Me Quick Price List!

We call this a "buy me quick" price list, because you'll want to buy the items mentioned below quickly—so good are they

"Hatchet Brand" cold packed Northern Tomatoes, 2 cans 25c.; good brand Tomatoes, 10c.; McLean's Advancer Peas, 2 cans 25c.; fine Marrowfat Peas, 3 cans 25c.; Preferred Stock, best Maine Corn, 2 cans 25c.; Brier Bush Corn, 3 cans 25c.; Ideal Corn, 2 cans 15c.

Wyman's Maine Blueberries, 2 cans 25c.; 3 lb. Cans Apples, 10c.; Bridal Bell Beets, small, red and choice, 12c.; Table Brand Wax, Beans—the finest—10c.

These prices hold good until our stock is sold—better come early though, if you wish to be sure.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.

Tel. 367-3.

Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The discovery has been made in the case of the Provident banking fiasco that there has been law enough to prevent it, if it had only been enforced. And that same discovery can be made in the majority of troubles for which we seek more legislation as a remedy. If present laws were enforced the ills of the present day would be minimized.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ No one can safely predict the limits to which electrical development will proceed, but it is safe to say that at the end of this century conditions of life upon this globe will be wonderfully changed from those which now exist, by reason of the increased ability of man to control this mysterious but marvelous force to his advantage.—Gloucester Times.

☞ An important phase of the rural invasion of the telephone has been its perceptible effect on the value of the lands. It is of record that two or three years after the establishment of lines through the country districts the prices of land begin to rise rapidly; immigrants come in with greater freedom; hamlets develop into towns; cross-roads develop into hamlets—and in the meantime quotations for wild and improved lands are steadily advancing. The thing is of course, to new as yet to permit any broadcast prophecy in this direction, but the healthful trend is already apparent.—Atlanta Constitution.

☞ Too much faith should not be placed in what parasites can do to the gypsy and brown-tail moths. The best parasite we know of is a good tree clipper, with its work followed up by a dose of good hot furnace fire. The tree owner who waits for a parasite to commence work on the moths, leans on a broken staff, while the man who goes at his trees with a clipper and burns up the clippings is far more sure that his trees will bear leaves and fruit next summer. The parasites are good as far as they go, but the contract is too large for them. And then what shall we do with the parasites after they have completed their job? Will we be obliged to go in search of other parasites to clean them out and so on "ad infinitum?" Clear up the trees and burn the nests. This is the best way for Common folks to do.—Lynn Item.

☞ If the Standard can really supply oil to consumers at prices lower than independent concerns, it is not easy to understand why it should not carry on its business in compliance with the law, instead of in defiance therefore. The trumpery device of maintaining half a dozen companies under the thin disguise of a pretended competition is outworn and childish. It is childish, too, to obstruct a legal inquiry by demanding that questions and answers be taken down in longhand. There is, of course, depth on depth of mystery in Standard Oil management, but it does seem that a business so vast and profitable might be carried on with decent regard for public opinion. The United States Steel Corporation makes public reports of its business. It has not suffered by that policy—it has gained visibly, and in a high degree. If the Standard Oil Company's secret ways conceal illicit practices they ought to be stopped. Sooner or later legislatures, prosecuting officers and the courts will find a way to stop them. The American public dislikes secrecy and subterranean methods in corporation management. That dislike is increased by such tactics as Mr. Rogers has employed. It is strange that men having the extraordinary business capacity of the Standard Oil group should lack the wisdom to comply voluntarily with the modern and growing demand for a fuller knowledge of what they are doing and how they do it.—New York Times.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

WAS UNEXPECTED

Birmingham Goes Strongly For Unionist Cause

A CHAMBERLAIN VICTORY

Indicates That Fiscal Agitation Will Continue--Liberal Tide Is Still Strong, London Running In That Direction

London, Jan. 18.—The most prominent feature of Wednesday's election returns is the wholly unexpected stand made by Birmingham. Not only were all of Joseph Chamberlain's seven candidates returned, but Chamberlain himself secured a majority of 5000, while the majority of the others averaged 3000.

Even allowing that the Liberal candidates were not very strong, as the seats were practically uncontested at the last general election, and though the Liberal organization was not as good as in other parts of the country, the results at Birmingham are of the highest importance. They prove the groundlessness of the Liberal contention that this general election has killed the fiscal agitation for a generation to come. Besides showing the unabated confidence of Birmingham in Chamberlain, the results there go also to confirm what already has been noticed in isolated contests, that the candidates who openly professed protectionist leanings had good support and in some cases were victorious.

The outcome at Birmingham affords a striking contrast. While former Premier Balfour stands discredited as a leader, with his supporters all swallowed up and himself angrily criticised from his own side, Chamberlain issues from the contest with flying colors. His courage to a large extent justifies him to persevere in his agitation and he is in a position to argue that it was Balfour's timidity which lost the campaign.

A considerable section of the Unionists on the protectionist side had predicted some such result, and it is now hinted that the party must in future look towards Birmingham for hope and guidance.

It is too late for the results at Birmingham to have any great effect on the campaign as a whole. Many of yesterday's polls have not yet been declared, but those already published show that the Liberal tide still runs strong. London has gone distinctly Liberal, no less than 12 seats showing Liberal gains. While the total gains of the Liberals yesterday numbered 22, the Unionists made but one gain. Portsmouth, which had previously been represented by two Unionists, elected two Liberals, and this despite the fact that a fifth candidate, a Laborite, threatened to split the Liberal vote. The Laborite, however, came third with a very large vote, the Unionists being at the bottom of the list. The members already elected are distributed as follows:

Liberals, 167; Unionists, 73; Laborites, 31; Nationalists, 50. Of the 23 London seats polled yesterday, 16 were won by the Liberals, 12 of them being net gains.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who ran in the Unionist interest for Hawick, Roxburghshire, Scotland, has been defeated.

Cuban Cigarmakers Deported

Key West, Fla., Jan. 18.—A crisis came in the cigarmakers' strike when a committee of the Torcedores union refused to consider any proposition to settle the strike. On a signal the citizens' committee, 75 strong and heavily armed, surrounded the Torcedores hall, captured the committee of 25 and escorted them to the steamer Mascotte, which sailed last night for Havana. The criticism these men made concerning American workmen was the cause alleged for their deportation.

Twelve Lives Lost In Wreck

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 18.—Adrift on a gang-plank from 9 o'clock last Saturday morning until 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, without food or water, Karl Sumner, the only known surviving member of a party of 13 people aboard the four-masted schooner Robert H. Stevenson of Boston, was picked up by steamer Europa and brought to Savannah. Sumner says the ship grounded on Diamond shoals.

Ex-Governor In a Hospital

Boston, Jan. 18.—Former Governor Brackett has been removed to a private hospital in the Back Bay from his home in Arlington to be treated for rheumatism. Mr. Brackett has been confined to his home for the past several months as a result of an attack of rheumatic trouble which left a part of his body almost powerless.

Deserters Talk of War

Berlin, Jan. 18.—The Neuesten Nachrichten prints a dispatch from Metz to the effect that two French deserters have arrived at Ars-Sur-Moselle (in Lorraine, six miles from Metz). They say they left their regiment at Verdun with 12 comrades in order to escape service in the war which they expected soon to take place.

Amnesty For Revolutionists

Havana, Jan. 18.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 19 to 17, passed a bill granting amnesty to all alleged revolutionists. The members of the administration party voted solidly against the measure.

TILLMAN WROUGHT UP

Wept as He Discussed an Ejectment From White House

Washington, Jan. 18.—The recent forcible removal from the White House of Mrs. Minor Morris was made the subject of emphatic denunciation by Mr. Tillman in the senate. His remarks called out remonstrances from Messrs. Hale, Hopkins and Daniel, and led to the very abrupt closing of the doors and the sudden adjournment of the senate in the middle of the afternoon.

The speech abounded in Tillman's peculiar expressions and was characterized by many severe and exceptionally personal thrusts at the president. At times he wept over what he regarded as indignities to the woman, and he declared in the face of protests from his fellow-senators that he would demand an investigation of the White House incident.

The reference to the treatment of Mrs. Morris constituted the latter half of a speech based upon the senator's resolution making inquiry of the president concerning the status of our relations with the republic of Santo Domingo, and was added to illustrate his theory that the present administration is tending towards imperialism.

With reference to the Morris occurrence he declared that the president had been derelict in failing to punish his subordinates for their course and quoted statements from persons said to have been witnesses to the show that the proceeding had been inhuman. He informally presented and said that he would today formally present a resolution for an investigation of the entire incident. The announcement occasioned a number of hurried conferences and it is understood that as a result of them Tillman will be urged not to carry out his purpose. Prominent senators on both sides say that the resolution will command few votes.

In a session of 2½ hours the house took favorable action on 166 pension bills. Under the rules the bills are considered the first time in committee of the whole, after which they are formally passed by the house. The whole number was put through the latter course by Speaker Cannon in just 11 minutes.

To Fight Accident Frauds

New York, Jan. 18.—At the annual meeting of the alliance against accident fraud, representatives of over 40 of the leading steam railroad and traction companies, accident insurance companies and large employers of labor were present. A sub-committee was appointed to draft a bill to be introduced at this session of congress calculated to "check the operations of unprincipled lawyers and physicians, paid witnesses and ambulance chasers." There are indications that the organization will become international in its scope during the next two months.

Murders Frequent In Russia

St. Petersburg, Jan. 18.—During the holidays the pacification of the country has been steadily going forward. By a unsparing use of the military and wholesale arrests of the leaders of the fighting organizations the revolutionists have been forced to return to their old methods of assassination. Not a day passes without reports of the murder of obnoxious officials in several cities.

Miners and Operatives to Meet

Indianapolis, Jan. 18.—It is understood among the leaders of the miners now in convention here that arrangements are progressing preliminary to a meeting of the anthracite miners' representatives and operators. The result, it is believed, will be a conference within the next month, or immediately following the present convention.

Conquering Gypsy Moth

Boston, Jan. 18.—A total of 2224 square miles of territory in Massachusetts is occupied by the gypsy moth, according to the first annual report of A. H. Kirkland, superintendent for suppressing the gypsy and brown-tail moths, which was given to the legislature yesterday. In 1900 the moths infested only 359 square miles.

Woman Suffrage In Finland

Helsingfors, Jan. 18.—The commission appointed by the senate to prepare a project for the reform of the diet has agreed to the principal of unicameral body, the members of which will be elected by universal suffrage. Both men and women who have reached the age of 21 will have the right to vote.

Yankee Fishermen Handicapped

St. Johns, Jan. 18.—Cruiser Fiona, from the Bay of Islands, reports that the American herring fleet secured only 43 cargoes this winter, against 104 last year, the colony's restrictive enactments having crippled their operations and caused the loss of thousands of dollars.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At the 39th annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press association Arthur E. Clarke of Manchester was elected president.

The faculty of Bowdoin college has selected Alpheus W. Smith of Harvard university to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph C. Pearson as professor of physics and mathematics.

A meeting of asphalt contractors from various cities of the United States and Canada which was held at New York resulted in the formation of an association called "The Independent Asphalt association."

The international yachting conference at its meeting at London will probably adopt the inter-European formula, which is widely different from the measurement rule of the New York Yacht club.

Local Ins And Outs

George W. Prescott and John W. Walsh secured the souvenirs at the whist tournament at the Granite City club, Wednesday evening.

The revival meeting at the United Presbyterian Church is very interesting. Rev. Smith of Lawrence is assisting the pastor, and is giving good satisfaction. The meetings will be continued next week.

The Alpha club met Monday evening at the parsonage of the West Quincy M. E. church on Hall place. Mrs. W. E. Alden of Quincy gave an interesting talk on National Parks. There were also musical selections by the club members.

The entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. course Wednesday evening was given by the University Male quartette, assisted by Laura May Belden, reader, and Ethel Beatrice Webster, accompanist. The entertainment was of a very pleasing nature.

A Feast Coming.

"Hi, Tommy! Come git a place in de line! Willie Jones is buying a cent's wort' of candy!"—New York World.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,

H. LITCHMAN.

Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.

All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.

303 Water Street, South Quincy.

Aug. 15. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN

DENTIST,

Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.

OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.

Jan. 31. tf

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds

Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.

Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.

Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.

Quincy, May 2. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,

REAL ESTATE,

AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,

Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.

Aug. 17 tf

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.

With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,

534-539 Tremont Building, Boston

Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9.

Tel. Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.

Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.

Hours. 8 A. M.—6 P. M.

Jan 11. 1m

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.

Ceiling work a specialty.

WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.

23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.

Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.

See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.

Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice

Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.

Teaming of all Kinds

THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,

70 Copeland Street.

Yard off Mills Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,

C. H. BROOKS'

NEW MARKET.

No. 1375 Hancock Street.

Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

1906

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR

RIGHT.

SAVE MONEY.

Start in by BUYING COAL of us. We buy the best, you get what we buy. That's economy for YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 2. pl t

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor,

21 Adams Building, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 105-3.

June 1. 1y

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.

Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.

Experienced and careful men only.

Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street.

Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START

—THE—

NEW YEAR

—WITH A—

New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.

1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

MYSTERY CLOSED

Coroner Finds That Edwards Died by Own Hand

POISONED BY MORPHINE

Took Poison After Self-Inflicted Gunshot Wound In His Head, Which "Did Not Even Daze Him"--Ill Health the Motive

New Haven, Jan. 18.—With a finding of suicide as the cause of death, and without comment whatever upon the evidence taken at an inquest lasting nearly two weeks, Coroner Mix has closed the case of the mysterious death of Charles A. Edwards of New York at the Abigail Hiller homestead during the morning of Jan. 3.

This formal verdict was forecasted by a preliminary one given last week. The finding is accompanied by a digest of the evidence given by some of the principal witnesses, with a statement of fact by the coroner himself descriptive of his investigation into the movements of Edwards and of the affairs of the Hiller family. The evidence shows that Edwards was in poor health and was continually a sufferer of physical pain and was morbidly in fear of dying of apoplexy. That he died by morphine poisoning was shown by the autopsy, as the gunshot wound in the head was superficial and probably did not even daze him. The autopsy showed that it was possible for the wound to have been self-inflicted and close scrutiny of Edwards' apparel, the bed clothing and the interior of the house demonstrated beyond question that the hemorrhage from the wound was very slight.

The coroner fixes the time that Edwards shot himself while at the back door of the Hiller house, at about 5 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 3. From this point until death ensued, the coroner shows by the evidence that it was an easy matter for Edwards to have drunk the laudanum after throwing away the pistol and then walked upstairs to his chamber, a drop of blood here and there oozing out between the fingers of his right hand as he held a handkerchief against the wound on the left side of his head. There were no signs of a struggle in or about the house, nothing to indicate that any stranger was near Edwards at the time he left his bed to go to the yard for the purpose of killing himself. The evidence showed that Edwards had suffered from insomnia and that he was also subject to spells of sleep walking. If the coroner found any other motive for self-destruction on Edwards' part than that of ill-health he does not make note of it in his condensation of the evidence taken at the inquest.

Coroner Mix completely exonerates A. M. Hiller and his brother, C. A. Hiller, from having any connection with the death of Edwards. The coroner finds that, in his questioning of members of the Hiller family to ascertain whether there was a motive for murder at the time this line of investigation was being followed, and afterward for a motive for Edwards' suicide, there were bitter disagreements over property matters dating from a time previous to the death of Mrs. Abigail Hiller. It was also shown that A. M. Hiller had made many threats against his brother, Charles, his sister, Mrs. Edwards, and her husband, but these were not found to have had any bearing on the case when suicide was proven to have been possible.

As State Attorney Williams accepts and fully agrees with the coroner's finding, it is believed that this most interesting case is closed.

Hill Invites Investigation

Albany, Jan. 18.—The annual retainer paid for many years to former Senator D. B. Hill by the Equitable Life Assurance society will be investigated at Hill's request by a committee of the New York State Bar association. Mr. Hill himself brought the matter before the association at its annual meeting here.

Charged With Setting Fire to School

Holbrook, Mass., Jan. 18.—Maurice Villers, 16 years old, and William McKinley, 11 years old, are under arrest on a charge of having set fire to the Sumner high school here. The police claim that the boys have confessed to having fired the school. The blaze was soon discovered and little damage was done.

Cannot Enter United States

St. John, Jan. 18.—A Hungarian, who arrived in the United States last March with the necessary passports, but who later came to Canada and has been working at Sydney, was refused readmission into the United States yesterday, upon his acknowledgment that he had been a convict in Hungary.

A Fireman's Fatal Fall

Millinocket, Me., Jan. 18.—William R. Connolly, a fireman in the Great Northern Paper company's mills, fell from the top of a boiler and died without regaining consciousness. His fall was caused, it is alleged, by the breaking of a rail against which he was leaning.

Dominicans at "Peace"

San Domingo, Jan. 18.—A treaty of peace between the insurgent generals at Monte Cristi and the government was signed on board the American cruiser Yankee. Monte Cristi is now in the hands of the constitutional government forces.

CLOSED

hat Edwards n Hand

MORPHINE

Self-Inflicted
In His Head,
t Even Daze
the Motive

S.—With a fluduse of death, and ntever upon the inquest lasting roner Mix has mysterious death s of New York at mestead during was forecasted given last week. nied by a digest by some of the ith a statement himself descripn into the move- of the affairs of The evidence was in poor ually a sufferer was morbidly in lexy. That he ning was shown gunshot wound rticial and probe him. The au- was possible for en self-inflicted Edwards' ap- and the interior strated beyond orrhage from the e time that Edhile at the back se, at about 5 of Jan. 3. From ensued, the cor- ence that it was wards to have after throwing hen walked up- a drop of blood out between the nd as he held a e wound on the There were no or about the ente that any ards at the time to the yard for himself. The Edwards had suffand that he was of sleep walking. y other motive Edwards' part e does not make ensation of the quest. ely exonerates rother, C. A. ny connection ards. The corquestioning of family to ascers a motive for line of investi- wed, and after- Edwards' sui- disagreements dating from a th of Mrs. Abi- shown that A. many threats aries, his sister, husband, but have had any en suicide was ssible. illiams accepts the coroner's at this most in-tigation annual re- ears to former the Equitable will be investi- a committee ar association. ht the matter t its annual

Fire to School
18.—Maurice William Me- under arrest set fire to the e. The police e confessed to The blaze was e damage was

ed States
Hungarian, ed States last ary passports, nada and has , was refused nited States nowledgment t in Hungary.

al Fall
18.—William n the Great y's mills, fell nd died without ess. His fall by the breakich he was

Peace"
—A treaty of gent generals government he American ristl is now in tional govern-

The Greenleaf
A Select Family Hotel
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties, Dinners and Suppers.

Also Hancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn. Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN, 653 Washington Street, Corner South Street, Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1236 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

Sheriff's Sale.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
NORFOLK, ss. Quincy, Dec. 16, 1905.

SEIZED on execution and will be sold at public auction on SATURDAY, the 27th day of January, 1906, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., at my residence, No. 163 Franklin Street, in Quincy, said County, all the right, title and interest which Frank P. Alexander of Brockton, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 16th day of December, 1905, at 2 o'clock A. M., (being the time the same was seized on execution) in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Quincy, comprising lot No. 160, in section "3" as shown on "plan of sea shore lots at Houghs Neck, Quincy, Mass., 1901, owned by Manet Land Association, H. T. Whitman, surveyor," recorded with Norfolk Deeds.

Said land is bounded on the North by Charles Street, there measuring 50 feet; on the South by lot No. 163 there measuring 50 feet; on the West by lot No. 161, there measuring 100 feet; and on the East by lot No. 159, there measuring 100 feet.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Deputy Sheriff.
Jan. 11. 3t-11-18-25

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the under signed, heretofore doing business under the firm name GLENCOE GRANITE COMPANY, in Quincy, Massachusetts, have this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent. The business will hereafter be conducted by Robert Maver under the firm name of Glencoe Granite Company. Said Maver will collect all claims due to the late partnership and will pay all bills contracted by said partnership.

JOHN ROBBIE,
ROBERT MAVER.

8 January, 1906.
Jan. 13 3t-13-16-18

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

Two others made an attempt to follow and would not be restrained. It was noticed that parts of the lower ladder had been charring, and the ladder men were preparing to remove it to a less dangerous point when old General Trumble and young Jefferson Bareaud made a rush to mount it and were well upon their upward way before the ladder, weakened at the middle, sagged, splintered and broke, Trumble and Bareaud falling with it. And there was the grappling ladder dangling forty feet above the ground, and there were the five upon the roof.

The department had no other ladder of more than half the length of the shattered one. Not only the department, but every soul in Rouen, knew that, and there rose the thick, low sigh of a multitude, a sound frightful to hear. It became a groan, then swelled into a deep cry of alarm and lamentation.

And now almost simultaneously the west wall of the building and the south wall and all the southwestern portions of the roof covered themselves with voluminous mantles of flame, which increased so hugely and with such savage rapidity that the one stream on the roof was seen to be but a ridiculous and useless opposition.

Everybody began to shout advice to his neighbor, and nobody listened even to himself. The firemen were in as great a turmoil as was the crowd, while women covered their eyes. Young Frank Chenoweth was sobbing curses upon the bruised and shaking Trumble and Jefferson Bareaud, who could only stand remorseful, impotently groaning, and made no answer.

The walls of the southernmost warehouse followed the roof, crashing in one after the other, a sacrifice pyre with its purpose consummated, and in the sceth and flare of its passing Tom Vanrevel again shaded his eyes with his hand and looked down across the upturned faces. The pedestal with the grotesque carvings was still there, but the crowning figure had disappeared—the young goddess was gone. For she, of all that throng, had an idea in her head, and, after screaming it to every man within reach, only to discover the impossibility of making herself understood in that babel, she was struggling to make her way toward the second warehouse, through the swaying jam of people. It was a difficult task, as the farther in she managed to go the denser became the press and the more tightly she found the people wedged, until she received involuntary aid from the firemen. In turning their second stream to play ineffectually upon the lower strata of flame they accidentally deflected it toward the crowd, who separated wildly, leaving a big gap, of which Miss Bett, took instant advantage. She darted across, and the next moment, unnoticed, had entered the building through the door which Crailey Gray had opened.

The five young men on the roof were well aware that there was little to do but to wait, and soon they would see which was to win, they or the fire, so they shifted their line of hose to the eastern front of the building, out of harm's way for a time at least, and held the muzzle steady, watching its work. And in truth it was not long before they understood which would conquer. The southern and western portions of the building had flung out great flames that fluttered and flared on the breeze like titanic flags, and steadily, slowly at first, then faster as the seconds flew, the five were driven backward, up the low slope of the roof toward the gable ridge. Tom Vanrevel held the first joint of the nozzle, and he retreated with a sulky face, lifting his foot grudgingly at each step. They were all silent now, and no one spoke until Will Cummings faltered:

"Surely they'll get a rope up to us some way?"

Will knew as well as did the others that there was no way, but his speech struck the sullen heart of the chief with remorse. He turned. "I hope you'll all forgive me for getting you up here."

A sound, half sob, half giggle, came from the parched lips of Eugene Madrillon as he patted Tom on the shoulder without speaking, and Crailey nodded quietly, then left the group and went to the eastern edge of the roof and looked out upon the crowd. Cummings dropped the line and sat down, burying his hot face in his arms, for they all saw that Vanrevel thought "it was no use," but a question of a few minutes, and they would retreat across the gable and either jump or go down with the roof.

* * * * * * * *

Since the world began idle and industrious philosophers have speculated much upon the thoughts of men about to die, yet it cannot be too ingenuous to believe that such thoughts vary as the men, their characters and conditions of life vary. Nevertheless, pursuant with the traditions of minstreisy and romance, it is conceivable that young unmarried men called upon to face desperate situations might, at the crucial moment, rush to a common experience of summoning the vision, each his heart's desire, and to meet, each his doom, with her name upon his lips.

An extraordinary thing occurred in the present instance, for, by means of some fragmentary remarks let fall at the time and afterward recalled, such as Tappingham Marsh's gasping, "At least it will be on her father's roof!" and from other things later overheard, an inevitable deduction has been reached that four of the five gentlemen in the perilous case herein described were occupied with the vision of the same person, to wit, Miss Elizabeth Carewe, "the last, the prettiest, to come to town!"

Crailey Gray, alone, spoke not at all, but why did he strain and strain his eyes toward that empty pedestal with the grotesque carvings? Did he seek Fanchon there, or was Miss Carewe the last sweet apparition in the fancies of all five of the unhappy young men?

The coincidence of the actual appearance of the lady among them therefore seemed the more miraculous when, wan and hopeless, staggering desperately backward to the gable ridge, they heard a clear contralto voice behind them:

"Hadn't you better all come down now?" it said. "The stairway will be on fire before long."

Only one thing could have been more shockingly unexpected to the five than that there should be a sixth person on the roof, and this was that the sixth person should be Miss Betty Carewe.

They turned, aghast, agape, chopfallen with astonishment, stunned and incredulous.

She stood just behind the gable ridge, smiling amiably, a most incon-

"Hadn't you better all come down now?"

gruous little pink fan in her hand, the smoke wreaths partly obscuring her and curling between the five and her white dress, like mists floating across the new moon.

Was it but a kindly phantasm of the brain? Was it the incarnation of the last vision of the lost volunteers? Was it a Valkyrie assuming that lovely likeness to perch upon this eyrie, waiting to bear their heroic souls to Valhalla, or was it Miss Betty Carewe?

To the chief she spoke—all of them agreed to that afterward—but it was Crailey who answered, while Tom could only stare and stand wagging his head at the lovely phantom like a mandarin on a shelf.

"My mother in heaven!" gasped Crailey. "How did you come up here?"

"There's a trap in the roof on the other side of the ridge," she said, and she began to fan herself with the pink fan. "A stairway runs all the way down—old Nelson showed me through these buildings yesterday—and that side isn't on fire yet. I'm so sorry I didn't think of it until a moment ago, because you could have brought the water up that way. But don't you think you'd better come down now?"

(Continued in next issue.)

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

"POOR RICHARD"

Philosopher Franklin Honored In City of His Birth

Boston, Jan. 18.—Of all Bostonians whose deeds have been such as to warrant them place in the history of the nation, none have been honored by commemorative exercises so extensive as those held yesterday celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin.

The commonwealth, the city, the public schools, the literary and historical societies, the typographical organizations, all united in speaking words of eulogy and in otherwise doing honor to the memory of the great American patriot.

The exercises at Symphony hall were participated in by Governor Guild, Mayor Fitzgerald, ex-Mayor Green, the French ambassador, M. Jusserand, and others of note.

The graves of Franklin's parents in the Granary burying ground were decorated and the gates of that old burial place were open to all who cared to enter. The national flag was raised over every school and in every school anniversary exercises were held.

At the hotels, in the evening, various patriotic and technical societies banqueted and listened to speeches extolling the deeds and memory of the great Franklin.

Body Drifted Many Miles

Nantucket, Mass., Jan. 19.—The body of a seafaring man, believed to be either that of Captain Joshua Norton or his mate, James Conley, both of whom were washed overboard from schooner Henry O. Barrett in Vineyard sound on Dec. 31, was washed ashore yesterday in the inner harbor. It is considered remarkable that the body should have not only drifted half the length of Vineyard sound, nearly the entire length of Nantucket sound and should have passed in between the narrow jetties of Nantucket harbor to an easy resting place at last on the harbor beach.

In Behalf of the Unfortunate

Boston, Jan. 18.—Councillor Sullivan, at a meeting of the governor's council, moved the appointment by the governor of a board of visitation, to consist of a Catholic priest, a Protestant minister and a Jewish rabbi, whose duty it should be to visit the various institutions of the state from time to time and make such report or complaint as they saw fit to the governor and council. The matter went over till the next meeting of the council.

Young Couple In Fatal Tragedy

Boston, Jan. 18.—Henry Middleton was arrested this morning on the charge of murdering Martha Barnett, his sweetheart, by shooting. The tragedy occurred late last night and is said to have been the result of jealousy on the part of Middleton. Both Middleton and the woman are negroes. Middleton and the Barnett woman, both of whom were about 20 years old, boarded at the same place in the West End, where the tragedy occurred.

Investigating House of Correction

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 18.—An investigation of affairs at the house of correction has been begun by the state commission appointed by Governor Bell. The commission has authority to investigate all the state penal institutions. Yesterday's session was held at the house of correction. Superintendent Morgan was the only witness examined. His testimony developed no sensational features.

Youngster With Counterfeit Bills

Providence, Jan. 18.—Raffaele Aiello, 16 years old, arrested in a local store on a charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit bill, was arraigned before Commissioner Cross and, pleading not guilty, was held in bonds of $3000 for a hearing before the United States court. According to the police, Aiello has admitted that he has passed eight bills similar to that found in his possession.

Investigating Child Labor

Boston, Jan. 18.—In an open letter to Congressman Gardner, regretting his inability to appear before the congressional committee on labor on the question of child labor, Governor Guild urges a general investigation of the subject by national authorities and invites any such action to begin in Massachusetts, saying: "We will gladly try to correct any shortcomings."

Bay State Leads at Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 18.—Statistics of the enrollment by states at Harvard university show that Massachusetts has a trifle over 50 percent of the whole. New York is second with 12½ percent. The figures for Massachusetts are 2016, and for New York 404. Forty-eight states are represented. There are 94 students from foreign countries.

Youth Charged With Forgery

Adams, Mass., Jan. 18.—James Lavine, 20 years old, who escaped from the Pittsfield jail last summer, was arrested in Pittsfield on a charge of forging the endorsement of a check and obtaining the money from a local business man. Lavine was brought back from Pittsfield last night.

Electric Car Kills Farmer

Hudson, N. H., Jan. 18.—Ross Blake, 50 years old, a farmer of this town, was killed last night by an electric car. According to the motorman of the car, Blake was asleep on the car track on the further side of a curve, and the car was going at such speed that it was impossible to stop it.

Obstruction to Navigation

Woods Hole, Mass., Jan. 18.—The revenue cutter Mohawk has left here for Pollock rip to blow up the wreck of the bark Altona, sunk in the slue directly in the path of the coastwise fleet.

WHOLE FAMILY IS WIPED OUT

Its Head the Supposed Perpetrator of the Deed

FIRE TO HIDE TRAGEDY

Charles Ayer Thought to Have Killed Seven Persons, Whose Bodies Were Consumed In a New Hampshire Farmhouse--Drove to Sister's Home, Six Miles Distant, and Ended Own Life by Shooting

Pembroke, N. H., Jan. 18.—What the authorities consider as the most appalling tragedy ever recorded in New Hampshire has been enacted in North Pembroke. Following the destruction of the farm buildings of Charles F. Ayer and the disappearance of seven members of Ayer's household yesterday forenoon, and the suicide of Ayer late yesterday afternoon at the home of his sister in Chichester, six miles distant, the announcement was made last night by County Solicitor Clifford that there was little doubt but that the seven persons had been murdered and the farmhouse set on fire.

The theory of the county authorities is that Ayer was the murderer, but they have been unable to find any evidence to indicate the methods employed to wipe out the family. Whether the victims were shot or killed by other means cannot be told until the medical referee has made an examination of the remains of the victims. Charred fragments of but two of the victims have been recovered, although persons who visited the scene of the fire thought that they observed two other trunks in the blazing ruins.

The victims of the tragedy were Charles F. Ayer, aged 43, killed himself by shooting; Mrs. Addie Ayer, his wife; Mrs. Isaac Lakeman, Ayer's mother-in-law; Flossie Ayer, aged 12; Alfred Ayer, aged 10; Bernice Ayer, aged 6; Andrew Ayer, aged 4, and a girl baby, all children of the Ayers.

The fire occurred about 9 o'clock yesterday forenoon. Before the flames were noticed by neighbors Ayer drove to the home of his sister, Mrs. George Bailey, who lives in Chichester. Ayer arrived at his sister's house just after 10 o'clock and had dinner. He remained at Mrs. Bailey's place during the afternoon. At 4 o'clock William Fowler, one of Ayer's nearest neighbors, went to the Bailey place and informed Ayer that his buildings had been burned. Ayer manifested some agitation, but made no statement as to what he would do. Instead he drew a revolver and, pointing it at his right temple, fired, and fell unconscious. Members of the household sent for a physician, but nothing could be done to save the man's life and he expired last night.

The selectmen of the town of Pembroke were notified of the tragic ending and Chairman Johnson immediately communicated with the authorities at Concord.

At first there was no suspicion that murder had been committed, but when news that Ayer had shot himself was received county officials hastened to the scene. They learned that none of the occupants of the Ayer house, with the exception of Ayer himself, had been seen by the neighbors since Monday night. The nearest neighbor, however, Edward Glidden, who is a brother of Mrs. Lakeman, Ayer's mother-in-law, lives several hundred yards distant. Glidden states that he saw a light in the house at 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Persons who passed the Ayer farm before the fire yesterday morning say that the curtains of the house were drawn, an unusual circumstance, and that there were no signs of life about the premises.

Glidden says that about 9 a. m. he saw a team drive out of the yard with a single occupant. He thought that the driver was Ayer, although he was not absolutely certain on this point. Shortly after the team left the premises smoke was seen to issue from the farmhouse and within a quarter of an hour the building was ablaze throughout. The flames extended from the main house to an ell, and apparently from the ell to a shed and barn, the flames spreading with remarkable rapidity. Everything in the farmhouse, barn and shed was destroyed.

The authorities think it probable that the inmates of the house died several hours before the fire was seen. The report that the curtains had not been raised in the morning led to the theory that the seven members of the household were killed some time before daylight, possibly many hours before.

Ayer had not been held in high esteem by his neighbors since he moved to North Pembroke from Epsom about three years ago. His father-in-law, Isaac Lakeman, died just before his removal. The Lakemans had occupied the farm for many years. The Ayer family had not been in prosperous circumstances in Epsom and Mrs. Lakeman, who was administratrix of the estate, invited him to live with her and take charge of the farm. Subsequently the property was sold to Lafayette Lakeman, one of Mrs. Lakeman's sons, for $2300. Lafayette Lakeman, however, had not taken possession of the place. Ayer, it appears, did not favor the change and is said to have urged his mother-in-law before the sale to divide the property among her children.

At the time of Ayer's marriage to Mrs. Lakeman's daughter Ayer's father gave him $1000 as a wedding present. He soon spent the money and had little to show for the outlay. In a short time Ayer found himself in straightened circumstances and was obliged to rely on his wife's relatives for support. He was a well-educated man, and possessed many talents, but he seldom engaged in any regular occupation. Since his removal to North Pembroke he had received aid from the town. His children were unable to attend school regularly on account of a lack of clothing.

The neighbors state that while they know of differences of opinion which have occurred in the family regarding the settlement of Isaac Lakeman's estate, they have no knowledge of any violent quarrels such as would lead to murder. One of the theories advanced is that the sale of the property and the dispute concerning it led to the tragedy, but a number of the townspeople are of the opinion that Ayer became suddenly demented and killed the entire family.

Ayer is survived by several brothers and sisters, but all of his immediate family are included in the list of victime of the tragedy. Mrs. Lakeman, his mother-in-law, is survived by four sons and two daughters.

NEW FRENCH PRESIDENT

Fallieres' Election Means Continuation of Loubet Policy

Paris, Jan. 18.—Clement Armand Fallieres, president of the French senate, was elected president of the republic on the first ballot. The vote was: Fallieres, 449; Doumer, 371; scattering, 28. One voter abstained from depositing his ballot. Total present 849.

M. Fallieres returned to Paris from Versailles escorted by a military guard of honor. He will take over his new duties Feb. 18.

M. Fallieres' election means the continuation of the regime inaugurated by President Loubet, with M. Clemenceau as the power behind the throne.

M. Fallieres has been a political factor in France for nearly 30 years, though he is only about 65 years old. He was born in Mezin, studied law, was admitted to the bar at Nerac, and was elected mayor of Paris May 25, 1875. At the elections in the following spring he was elected to the chamber of deputies. In the national legislature Fallieres joined the group of the Republican left. He jumped into prominence at once as an orator.

Steamer Had Rough Voyage

Boston, Jan. 18.—After a tempestuous passage across the Atlantic, during which fire added to the terrors of the storm, steamship Buceros, from Calcutta and Colombo, arrived here last evening. On Monday a gigantic comber lifted two of the lifeboats from the chocks and dashed them to pieces on the deck. The ventilators, rails, stanchions and deck fittings were smashed and carried away. Twice within the past week fires broke out in the cook's galley. The Buceros brought an Oriental cargo valued at more than $1,300,000.

Charged With Shooting Watchman

Calais, Me., Jan. 18.—With Watchman James Brown hovering between life and death as a result of being shot while trying to capture a burglar gang whom he discovered in the act of blowing the safe in the Red Beach postoffice, Henry J. Marshall and Guiseppe Quartarone, who were taken as suspects, were arraigned on the charge of assault with intent to murder Brown. Both pleaded not guilty and were held in $5000 to await the result of Brown's injuries. Sheriffs and the county attorney are engaged in running down another suspect.

Investigating Death of "Countess"

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—Coroner Jermon, who is making an investigation into the death of Mrs. Anita McMurrow, also known as the "Countess de Bettancourt," who was found dead at her home here, says that he believes she came to her death through natural causes. John McMurrow, her son, has been committed to prison to await the coroner's inquest.

Dismissal For Three Midshipmen

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 18.—Midshipmen Marzoni and Foster of the first class and Coffin of the third class have been publicly dismissed from the United States navy for hazing plebes, or fourth-classmen. The order of the secretary of the navy was a short one and each case was addressed personally to the midshipman directly concerned.

Charged With Awful Crime

Mount Holly, N. J., Jan. 18.—Albert L. Jones, a farmer, was arrested last night, charged with having assaulted and murdered his stepdaughter, Mary Clark, aged 9. It is alleged that when she threatened to make public his assault upon her Jones choked her to death, tied a heavy stone to her body and threw it in the Rancocas creek.

No Known Cause For Murder

Dover, N. J., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Hattie C. Decker, a member of a wealthy family at Montville, was shot and killed last evening by Samuel Monage, a Slav, who then shot himself fatally. What caused the tragedy is not known. The woman was 45 years of age and is survived by her husband and two children.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Jan. 19.
Sun rises—7:09; sets—4:41.
Moon rises—1:42 a. m.
High water—6 a. m.; 6:30 p. m.

In north New England there will be more or less precipitation. No marked cold weather is anticipated.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 48 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 43 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 31	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 42	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.15 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 1.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company
DIVISION 1
TIME TABLE.
In effect Dec. 24, 1905.
(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5, 5, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	49	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	43	24	37	26	25
Thursday,	41	29	41	35	34
Friday,	—	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	—	37	44	28	39

New Advertisements Today.

F. D. Fellows Co.—Mark Down Sale.
Wanted—Room and Board.
Wanted—Office Girl.

The City In Brief

A dredger is at work again in Bent's creek near East Howard street.

Miss Ruth Caswell of Lexington is visiting relatives at Quincy Point.

Mrs. Charles Seavey of Wollaston has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., for a few weeks' visit.

A report of the Maple Lodge installation and other local news is crowded out today, but will appear tomorrow.

Mrs. Frank Neff of Brooklyn, N. Y., formerly Miss Edith Bates, teacher in the Wollaston school is visiting friends in Wollaston and Boston.

Dr. Gordon gave a very interesting talk on his trip to Trinidad, Tuesday evening to the young ladies of the Quincy Mansion.

Eugene R. Stone has purchased the attractive residence on the corner of River and Farnum streets, now occupied by the White family.

It is reported that the coyote which has been running loose and doing so much mischief for the past few months was shot by a young man near the bathhouse at Quincy Point yesterday.

Seventy-five ladies attended the Heinz demonstration lunch this noon in First church chapel, given under the auspices of the Hospital Aid association. It was a very dainty lunch, prettily served.

Frederick E. Goss, Inspector of Meats and Provisions, tendered his resignation to the Board of Health on Wednesday. Mr. Goss was not dismissed from office, but was requested by the Board of Health to tender his resignation.

Mrs. Bosworth.

Mrs. Abigail Bosworth, widow of Epyrus Bosworth, died at the residence of her brother, S. F. Newcomb, Wednesday evening, in her 87th year. She was one of the oldest residents of Quincy and also a member of one of the oldest families of the city. She was of a quiet, retiring disposition, her home and its association taking all her thoughts. After the sudden death of her son and daughter a few years ago, she felt that she had a sorrow too heavy to bear and she slowly falled till she passed away.

Youthful Firebugs

Maurice Villiers, aged 16 yeas, and William McKinley, aged 12 years, were arraigned in the Quincy court this morning for burning the Summer High school building at Holbrook on the afternoon of Nov. 26.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Lynn was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Maurice Villiers and William McKinly were arraigned for setting fire to the Sumner school at Holbrook. Cases continued until next Thursday.

William McKinley, John McKinley and Willie McLaughlin were arraigned for setting fire to a hay stack at Holbrook. Cases continued until next Thursday.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

HENRY H. FAXON.

(Continued from Page 1.)

"Here on the soil of his native town his peculiar genius was most characteristically displayed. He was a genuine son of Quincy with all the persistence, pugnacity and independence which belongs to the ancient stock. And he was by no means chary in the use of all these qualities. He needed them. To win the No-License vote he needed them.

"But that was only half the battle. Would the law be enforced? If not, then it would be a flat failure. He had faith to believe it could be enforced. He would himself see to that and it was enforced.

"This half of the battle he fought alone. He alone deserves the credit of the achievement. The millionaire policeman, defying discomforts and perils, watched suspects night and day and made it impossible for them to sell liquor.

"Why did he do it? For one thing, to improve the conditions of living in his loved native town; and for another, to show the entire Commonwealth that the law could be enforced."

"Then, indeed, he could not help doing it. When you search for reasons you come to this,—he was made that way. He was a genuine New Englander of the Quincy brand, and what was not Yankee in him was Dutch.

"As we all know the right New Englander is made up of faculty and fibre. By faculty he does things, goes straight to the mark. Every fibre he persists, dealizes, and summons the heavenly powers to his aid. This is the New England conscience. It keeps the true son of this soil uncomfortable till it has its way, and then it is the turn for the other fellow to be uncomfortable.

"Mr. Faxon had these qualities in an unusual degree and with which independence and courage he sought to realize his plans and ideals. His independence was of the genuine Quincy quality. As Emerson said of Burns, the man did not exist who could look him down, or, for that matter, talk him down. Without fear or favor he said what he believed to be true. He was threatened with personal violence; it was intimated his home would be burned over his head. At these perils his friends looked grave. He laughed them off and continued his exposure of the lawless.

"That is an example the New England of today surely needs. Some men will not rebuke wrong-doers, dare not express their own minds for fear of losing trade, or votes, or having their property injured. New Englanders cravenly silent! He spoke out.

At times he may have been too drastic in his arraignments. Frequently I expostulated with him. But whether he was just or not, his vigorous English carried a wholesome air into a generation whose soft speech and shameful reticence has been the silent partner in the scoundrelism which affects every department of modern life.

I might say much of Mr. Faxon's generosity and his help to the needy. How often he would respond to appeals that were made to him. The poor will rise up and call him blessed. Marked was his love for children as his frequent gifts to them testify. Their recognition of him pleased him greatly, and nothing more deeply moved him during his illness than their inquiries for him. He was simple, plainand direct in his nature, and tender-hearted.

"In his last days he said to me, "I suppose a good many are glad I'm laid up.' 'No,' I answered, 'It is not exactly that. Every man has his enemies; but the feelings of those who were on the other side are modifying.' 'I'm glad to hear it,' he said with tears in his eyes, 'I'm glad to hear it.'

"With malice toward none, and love for his fellow beings filling his heart, he craved their good will. He has it now in full measure. Widely he is honored for his devotion to temperance, good government and morality; and for his generosity, courage and independence.

MRS. STEVENSON.

Mrs. Katharine Leut Stevenson, president of Mass. W. C. T. U., said:

"The voice of the women may well be heard at this memorial service for Henry H. Faxon. In him woman and the cause of woman's advancement had a true and steadfast friend. I remember at this hour, if you will pardon a personal word, that I first met Mr. Faxon at a Woman's Suffrage hearing at the State House, and I remember his keen enjoyment of the fact that I had conquered my natural timidity in the face of such an august body sufficently to give them a genuine, old-fashioned motherly scolding. He was always present at our suffrage hearings in those days and his appreciation of our efforts never lessened.

"In him the W. C. T. U. of Massachusetts had, from the beginning, its staunchest friend and ally. Only the records of those early days can tell how many difficult endeavors he made comparatively easy through his brotherly aid; how many rough places he smoothed.

"He was always ready to launch any enterprise which, to his mind, stood for aggressive works against the liquor traffic.

"No one could go too far or too fast to please him, provided the going was along the lines of what he considered most effective Temperance work.

"For other lines of endeavor—those which aim to reach the same ends by more indirect means, he had but little patience. He objected strenuously to what he considered the unnecessary branching out of the W. C. T. U. in latter years, but his heart remained true and brotherly to the last, and the entire State organization feels bereaved in his death.

"I remember so well, and it comes to me with special force in these days of strenuous endeavor in preparation for the convention of the World's W. C. T. U. which is to come to us next October, his splendid help, when in 1891 we welcomed the first convention to this very building. He had given generously to the Boston Union for its work of preparation and then, when the convention opened, he gave again $2,500—$500 to the World's Treasury, $500 to the National, and an equal amount to the State, to Boston Union, and to Mrs. Hunt for work in the department of scientific temperance instruction.

With characteristic modesty he refused to come to the platform to receive the enthusiastic thanks of the great body, and I can see him now just as he looked sitting in the first balcony of the upper hall while the building echoed and reechoed with tumulluous applause.

"With characteristic modesty he refused to come to the platform to receive the enthusiastic thanks of the great body, and I can see him now just as he looked sitting in the first balcony of the upper hall while the building echoed and reechoed with tumulluous applause.

"Do you wonder that, with the burden of the coming convention upon my shoulders, I find myself wishing again and again for another chapter in the life of Henry H. Faxon—praying earnestly that the mantle of his beneficence may fall upon some other shoulders and that some other man to whom God has given means may see the limitless possibilities for usefulness which the temperance cause and the W. C. T. U. afford?

"He was a good friend and an equally good foe. How he could fight the liquor power—not in Quincy alone but all over the State we know right well. He was brave to the point of daring, and yet there was always a cool sagacity, a business method in his warfare which made it effective. Perhaps the liquor dealers of the State hated him more than they did any other one man, and yet his very courage, his indomitable persistency compelled their admiration and respect.

"The women of Massachusetts—the women of the W. C. T. U.—have lost a true and a tried friend, and yet our sorrow for our loss is mingled with thanksgiving for a useful life, triumphantly closed. He is not dead but everywhere wherever the work for the temperance reform and for women's advancement is carried on—there Henry Faxon's life and influence must tell for bringing the final victory.

Rev. A. A. Plumb, D. D. of Roxbury was the concluding speaker. His tributes to Mr. Faxon were eloquent, and the Ledger wishes it might print them in full.

The four selections by the Albion Quartette were very appropriate to the service and beautifully rendered.

THE MANTEL.

If It Doesn't Look Well, See if It Won't Come Off.

Women of artistic sensibilities obliged to rent cheap houses or apartments have learned to dread what the agent describes as "a mantel." This mantel is usually a squarish structure with a forest of brackets and Ionic pillars. Over it run riot machine carved medallions and Chinese frets.

They are made presumably by the thousand and are set up in the different dwellings without regard to the woodwork already existing there. Almost invariably there is a simulated fireplace with ornate blower suggestion in metal. After struggling for some months to hide, conceal, build over or in any way blot out one of these mantel monstrosities a woman found a delightfully simple solution. She discovered that the whole affair, far from being built into the woodwork, as she had supposed, was in fact barely attached to it. A quarter to the janitor and the bugbear was carried off bodily to the cellar, where it still languishes. The little room gained considerably in space as well as in simplicity by the change. See if your mantel won't come off.—New York Press.

A Skeptic.

Smith—Do you believe in dreams?
Jones—No, I married one.—Leslie's Weekly.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

NOT SO BADLY MADE AFTER ALL

One day the giraffe and the elephant met on a plain by the side of the river Nile.

"I agree with you," said the giraffe hotly. "We were made to be perfect sights. Why, in the name of goodness, were we not made better looking? I can't for the life of me see. Look at my 'rubber' neck. It's so long and ugly that I feel uneasy whenever I go out in society. Why, I can't find a place in all Egypt where I can get a collar to fit me, and even if I could I could not get money enough together to pay for having it washed."

"True, true," said the elephant sadly. "And just look what a sight I am. It's bad enough to be covered with a hide

"I GUESS WE WERE NOT MADE SO BADLY."

like leather, all wrinkled and ugly, without having to have a tail put on my front and as well as my rear."

"I don't see," cried the elephant, switching his proboscis angrily, "why they ever made us such frights."

But just then it was dinner time, and both were hungry.

Mr. Giraffe reached gracefully up with his long neck and took a mouthful of sweet palm fards.

"Couldn't have done that without your neck," said Mr. Elephant.

Then he reached down and got a good wisp of rich grass and put it into his little mouth.

"Couldn't have done that without your trunk," said the giraffe.

"True," said the elephant. "I guess we weren't made so badly after all."—Detroit Journal.

FRIBBLES OF THE DAY.

Detachable Draperies—Sailor Suits For Small Boys—Dainty Shoes.

Quite a number of dressmakers are adopting the expedient of making a detachable drapery or overskirt for the new street gowns. In wet, warm or muddy weather the plain skirt is worn, but for more ceremonial occasions or on colder days it is supplemented with the extra drapery or overskirt.

Mothers who wish their children to appear well dressed should remember that the sailor suit is gaining rather than losing in popularity. A useful winter model shows a galatea cloth in black and white shepherd's plaid, with shield and sleeve insignia done in scarlet. With this is worn a scarlet tie.

CHALLIE SHIRT WAIST.

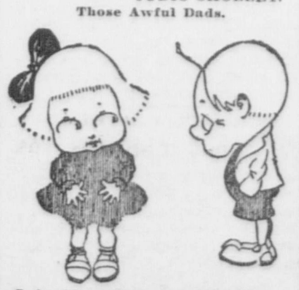

Dark red, dark blue and brown serge sailor suits are trimmed with white braid and white ornaments.

Among the novelties of the season are dainty gold and silver shoes, which are now worn quite as much as white shoes to accompany the white or colored evening gown. They are made in both kid and satin, and, being by no means expensive, there is no reason why every woman who chooses to do so should not indulge in this latest whim of fashion.

The shirt waist illustrated is a simple and pretty design for challie or any soft material. It is made smart by the long silk tie looped through straps fastened with large buttons.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Those Awful Dads.

Lulu—Me and me brudder can't do nothin' but what pa sees us. He can keep his eye on both of us at once.

Willie—My dad's cross eyed too.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Midwinter Concert Wollaston Glee Club

The midwinter concert of the Wollaston Glee club was given before a fine audience at the Congregational church, Wollaston, Wednesday evening and deserved every bit of the close attention and generous applause accorded it. Here is a club worthy of heartiest commendation and its annual concerts being the only demand made upon the public for an audience. Wollaston may well feel a pride in this really fine chorus which shows marked improvement under the leadership of its painstaking conductor, Mr. J. A. Crowley.

The club was assisted by Miss Edna Marie Goullaud, soprano; Mr. Edward E. Bullock, tenor; Mr. Albert L. Hayden, baritone; Miss S. Ella Morse, cornetist; Mrs. Mira Richards Moulton, accompanist. The opening selection by the club, "O Who will o'er the Downs so Free," was well rendered.

"A Summer Lullaby" by Gibson seemed to make a favorable impression on the audience. Perhaps the selection, "Spring Night," appeal to music lovers as more technically proficient. The Bedouin Song—"Footi" and "The Silly Goat" were enthusiastically applauded.

Miss Goullard's beautiful singing is fresh in the memory of Wollaston people, and the ease with which she carried her part in the gavotte, "Dell Acqua," was a delightful feature of her performance.

The group of songs, (a) "A Little Fleet of Cloud Boats," (b) "Irish Folk Bong," (c) "Spring's Awakening," was given by her with equal favor.

Miss Morse captivated the audience with a brilliant execution on the cornet of the Polka Brilliant—Franz. In response to an encore she gave, That I alone can know, by Grieg. She opened the second part of the program with another selection which was followed by an encore, Now I lay me down to sleep—Emerson. This was given with beautiful effect and feeling.

Mr. Hayden's singing was notable for purity of tone and expression. His selections, The Wreck of the Hesperus—J. Hullah, and Song of the Armorer—Nevin, received hearty applause from the audience. Mrs. Moulton's accompaniments were in her usual effective style. It was in every way a satisfying performance and the audience showed its appreciation by recalling the artists at the ending of the different selections.

Annual Meeting Church Prosperous

The annual meeting of the Bethany church was held Wednesday evening. The meeting was largely attended and was one of the best meetings ever held. Reports from the church officers and societies were read. All were very encouraging and showed them to be in a flourishing condition.

The Treasurer's report showed the total receipts of the year to have been 5,045.56 and the expenditures $5,021.52 leaving a balance on hand of $24.04. The receipts for benevolences were $854.71 all of which was paid out. All bills of the year have been paid.

The budget for the present year was not passed at this meeting.

The matter of a pastor's assistant was taken up and discussed at length. Final action on the matter was not taken, however, the subject being referred to the joint committee of the church, Finance and Prudential, who will thoroughly consider the matter and report at a future meeting.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Moderator,—Frank W. Crane.

Deacons for three years,—Cyrus T. Sherman, Simeon Scammell.

Deaconesses for one year,—Miss Amelia L. Bumpus, Mrs. Maria McPhail, Mrs. Angelia H. Sherman, Mrs. Annie M. Hayden, Mrs. Jennie E. Crane, Mrs. Jane D. Murdock.

Clerk,—Ernest D. Gourd.

Treasurer,—Charles W. Miller.

Prudential Committee,—Ernest V. Fitts.

Auditor,—William H. Fay.

Finance Committee,—Walter E. Blanchard, Frank W. Crane, Ernest D. Gourd, Victor E. Miller, William G. Shaw.

Music Committee,—Mrs. Edith C. Fitts, Mrs. Nellie S. Hayden, Mrs. Mary A. Belcher, James E. Myers, Dr. Cyrus T. Sherman.

THE QUINCY LEDGER.
FOR SALE AT THE
South Terminal Station News Stand
After 3.35 P.M.

Bernhardt's Boston Engagement.

With all the promp and circumstance befitting the occasion, the largest and most highly cultured audiences ever assembled within that historic Temple of the Muses, the Boston Theatre, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, the foremost actress of this or any other generation, is passing in review. Her engagement, which began Monday evening, the final engagement of the great Frenchwoman in Boston (for this is her farewell American tour,) is for two weeks only, and the first half is nearly over. Such triumphs of histrionic art on the part of this world renowned tragedienne, such enthusiam and such bravos and ravissimos on the part of her admirers have never been witnessed or experienced in the capital city of Massachusetts, the centre of culture and refinement, or, as Sarah Bernhardt herself styled it, "the Athens of America."

Beginning with "La Sorciere," Sardou's melodramatic masterpiece and glittering sensation, Mme. Bernhardt followed on Tuesday evening with "Camille," and then a different bill for every succeeding performance, her repertoire for the first week including also: "Adrienne Lecouvreur," her own creation, based upon the love affairs of Adrienne and Maurice, Count de Saxe, as told in drama by Ernest Legouve and Scribe; "Angelo," Victor Hugo's play, full of the exuberant and colorful romantic poetry of that celebrated author; Alphonse Daudet's "Sapho," for Thursday evening; "Fedora," Friday: Racine's famous poetic tragedy, "Phedre," for Saturday afternoon, and "La Femme de Claude" for Saturday evening.

There are two new bills in Mme. Bernhardt's repertoire for her second and final week—"Magda," which she offers on Tuesday evening, and "La Tosca," for Wednesday evening. On Monday night she will repeat "Adrienne Lecouvreur," giving "Camille" for the Wednesday matinee: "Sapho" for Thursday evening; "Phedre" Friday evening; "Fedora" for the Saturday matinee and "La Sorciere" for Saturday evening.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DIED.

BOSWORTH—In Quincy, Jan. 17, Mrs. Abigail Bosworth, widow of Mr. Epyrus Bosworth, aged 86 years, 10 months. Funeral strictly private.

CILLS—At National Sailors' Home, Jan. 17, Mr. Edward J. Cills, aged 57 years.

CARLSON—In Quincy, Jan. 16, Dangne. daughter of Mr. Hedrick and Mrs. Mary A. Carlson, of 30 Station street, aged 24 days.

MCGOVERN—In Quincy, Jan. 16, Mrs. Catherine S., wife of Mr. John C. McGovern of Whitwell street, aged 61 years and 5 months. Funeral Friday, Jan. 19, at St. John's church at 9 A. M. Relatives and friends invited. 2t

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 10-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point. Dec. 16. tf

R. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, . . . 25 cents
" " three days, . . . 50 cents
" " one week, . . . 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Tuesday, Jan. 9, Black and Tan Collie Pup. Finder please return to THOMSON'S, 92 Glencoe Place and receive reward. Quincy, Jan. 16, 3t

FOUND.

FOUND—In front of Granite bank a Lady's Underwaist. Owner may have by proving property and paying charges. Inquire at Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Office Girl wanted at the Consolidated. Only an experienced person wanted. GOOD PAY to the right one. Quincy, Jan. 18. tf

WANTED—Room and Board for young man near Water and Franklin streets. Address R., care of Post Office. Quincy, Jan. 18. 2t

WANTED—Demonstrators, men or women. Good money. H. H. HOWARD, 330 Centre street, Dorchester. Jan. 17-3t

WANTED—Board and Room for a Young Lady in private family. Addres G. C. Ledger Office. Jan. 16, 3t

WANTED—First-class Quarry Out-fit, including 25 or 30 h. p. Engine, Steam Drill, Medium Derrick, etc., etc. Apply to G. B. BATES, opposite Quincy Depot. Jan. 11. 6t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.50 day. Good references. MISS E. J. CARLSON, 43 Curtis street. Quincy, Jan. 13. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A Henry F. Miller Grand Square Piano, will be sold cheap. Inquire corner of Kemper street and Elm avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 15-4t

FOR SALE—One Clayton Duplex Air Compressor 9x9. In first-class repair. Capable of running 30 pneumatic tools. Can be seen running. Cylinders recently bored out, and all new valves. Tank goes with this. A bargain. C. A. SWINGLE & CO., Penn street, South Quincy, Mass. Jan. 13-3t

FOR SALE—The Depot Service of the late James H. Bisson, with horses, carriages, harnesses, etc. MARY BISSON, Administratrix, 325 Water street. Quincy Jan. 11. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager. Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-5t

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF. Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 79 Upland road, Quincy. Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x45, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1695 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 25. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleveriy Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Speak Well OF QUINCY At All Times.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Make Known YOUR WANTS In Daily Ledger.

Vol. 18. No. 17. QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE BATTLE AGAINST THE SALOON.

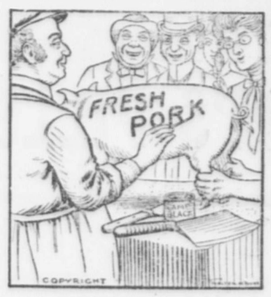

New Market!

J. K. Morton,

1249 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS, BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-2.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Furniture Clearance Sale.

This time of the year above all others is the money saving time to buy house furnishings. Special bargains in every department with wonderful savings for everyone. Real downright legitimate bargains at this store. No inflated prices with large discounts taken off to mislead unthinking buyers.

Our prices are from 10 to 33 per cent lower than those of any other store on earth. The sooner you get the habit of buying at the Kincaide stores—the sooner your happiness will be more complete and your weekly cash balance larger.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Asked to Resign.

Maurice I. Gatcomb, sealer of weights and measures, whose term of appointment expires May 1, has been requested to hand in his resignation to take effect Feb. 1. It is doubtful if he complies with the request.

Army and Navy Friction

polish for all black shoes. Nothing better; easy, quick, brilliant and lasting; oil and wax, no acid or turpentine.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

By the Purchase of a Home.

Deeds Drawn, Titles Searched.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.

Jan. 1. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD

DENTIST.

Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.

Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

Buy Me Quick Price List!

We call this a "buy me quick" price list, because you'll want to buy the items mentioned below quickly—so good are they

"Hatchet Brand" cold packed Northern Tomatoes, 2 cans 25c.; good brand Tomatoes, 10c.; McLean's Advancer Peas, 2 cans 25c.; fine Marrowfat Peas, 3 cans 25c.; Preferred Stock, best Maine Corn, 2 cans 25c.; Brier Bush Corn, 3 cans 25c.; Ideal Corn, 2 cans 15c.

Wyman's Maine Blueberries, 2 cans 25c.; 3 lb. Cans Apples, 10c.; Bridal Bell Beets, small, red and choice, 12c.; Table Brand Wax, Beans—the finest—10c.

These prices hold good until our stock is sold—better come early though, if you wish to be sure.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.

Tel. 367-3

Quincy, Jan. 10. tf

Almost All The Credit Due Mr. Faxon

For Keeping Quincy Free From the Saloon Says Fr. Roche

REV. A. F. ROCHE

At the Henry H. Faxon memorial service at Tremont Temple yesterday, the address of Rev. A. F. Roche was one of the best and the Daily Ledger is pleased to present a synopsis:

Fr. Roche prefaced his address by stating that it was to be an informal talk. He described conditions in Quincy just previous to the overthrow of the saloon power, as resulting in a very low tone to the town and consequent depreciations of morality and property.

The hardest battle had to be waged against political prejudice which led men of each party to personally vilify and abuse their opponents, because their opinions differed concerning state or national politics.

He had no sympathy with those who defend their party whether it be right or wrong. Political parties are to be regarded as tools or instruments to do the will of an intelligent and free people. No party has a monopoly of intelligence or patriotism.

Our motto should be, "United we stand—divided we fall." The members of any political party should not regard themselves as "preferred stock" and their opponents as "common stock."

Neither the Constitution of the United States nor that of Massachusetts makes any such distinction among citizens? Fr. Roche thanked God that he had an important part in conciliating the partisans and in uniting them on the broad platform of the public good.

He also said that it is easy to legislate; not so easy to execute. He paid a glowing tribute to the executive ability of Mr. Faxon, and stated that for more than 20 years almost all the credit of keeping Quincy free from the saloon was due to the energy and courage of Mr. Faxon.

One of Fr. Roche's best remarks was, "I believe that it is the duty of the church to battle against sin and its occasions; I know of no occasion of sin so prolific in its malignity as the saloon."

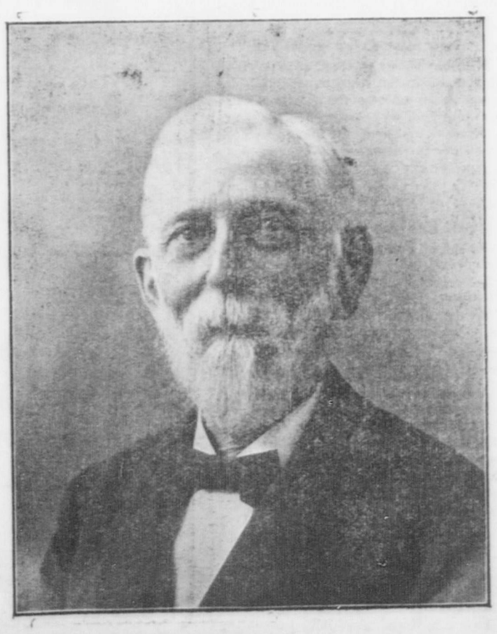

Another of his strong points was that the Chief of Police be held responsible for the enforcement of the law. He should be liberally paid in proportion to his great responsibility. He should not be fettered by any political or social affiliations, and in his efforts to keep the city free from the saloon plague he should receive the cordial support of every good citizen.

Father Roche concluded his remarks as follows: "Those who accuse us of fanaticism, either do not or will not understand our position. In our battle against the saloon we stand for the very best and highest moral interests of our communities. We make war against that evil which brings in its train, the anger of God, the ruin of families, the contempt of man, poverty, disease and crime, insanity, premature death, and eternal misery.

"Are not these, matters which deserve the attention of conscientious students of sociology? Are not these, themes to interest all who believe that there is a grave obligation in the words of our Divine Master, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself?"

At the close of the address Gov. Long said, "we are very grateful for Fr. Roche's informal talk. No formal address could be better."

Fr. Roche was also heartily congratulated by many of the audience.

K. and L. of H Installation

District Deputy Grand Protector Mrs. Nellie E. Hallett, accompanied by Mrs. Caroline Morse as Grand Guide, Edwin Smith as P. P., Mrs. Emma S. Romans as V. P., Mrs. Fannie Smith as G. G., G. W. Genther as Chaplain, Frank Sendler as G. S. Miss Fannie Smith as G. S., Vena Judor as G. F. S., J. F. Callahan as T., and a delegation from Waverley lodge, paid an official visit to Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., No. 313, at its regular meeting in Wilson's hall Wednesday evening and installed the following into office for the ensuing year in a most impressive manner:

Protector,—Mrs. Agnes Fletcher.
Vice-Protector,—Mrs. Rose A. Reed.
Past Protector,—Mrs. Bertha M. McLeod.
Secretary,—Edward B. Langley.
Financial Secretary,—Miss M. Lizzie Furnald.
Treasurer,—Charles Crane.
Chaplain,—Mrs. A. Cora Curtis.
Guide,—Mrs. Mary A. Oxford.
Guardian,—Samuel Oxford.
Sentinel,—Quincy Tirrell.
Pianist,—Mrs. Edis L. Eastwood.
Trustees,—Mrs. Mary A. Fox, Mrs. Annie G. Grignon and Quincy Tirrell.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to Mrs Nellie E. Hallett D. D. G. P. in behalf of Maple lodge of a beautiful gold D. G. P. badge and pin, which was done in a very pleasing manner by Edward B. Langley. For four year Mrs. Hallett has been the lodge Deputy, and having done a great deal to assist them she is held in high esteem by the members.

At the close of the business of the lodge, speeches for the good of the order were listened to with interest. They showed the order to be in a very flourishing condition and the good work constantly going on.

The degree was performed on two candidates, after which all adjourned to the banquet hall. A fine salad supper was enjoyed, being served by an able and hard working committee of six ladies, which deserve the credit and thanks of all. The, hall and tables were beautifully decorated in pink and green. This ended another enjoyable evening for which Maple lodge is is famous.

The musical entertainment of the evening was finely rendered and great praise is due the musicians. If one wants to have a good time join Maple lodge, the best order of its kind in the state. There was a large number of visitors and Maple lodge members turned out to the number of 63.

New Gas Company

Well Known Wollaston Men Have Obtained A Charter

There are good prospects that within a year all parts of Quincy will have a gas supply, This week a dozen well known gentlemen, mostly residents of Wollaston, secured a charter from the Secretary of State.

The incorporators are: Hon. Eugene H. Sprague, who is president; H. T. Whitman, vice president; Edward W. Capen, secretary and treasurer; Frank P. Waterhouse, J. P. Seely, Thomas Lacey, Eben W. Sheppard, Roger H. Wilde, Frank Burgess, Walter M. Hatch and N. G. Nickerson.

The capital of the new company will be $300,000 and possibly $500,000. It is the intention to pipe every street and way in the city where there is any call for gas, and if there are no serious delays it is expected that the plant will be in operation within a year.

The company will petition the City Council at its next meeting for a franchise and it will be necessary to obtain the approval of the Gas Commissioners.

The aim of the company will be to give the people what they want, and of what they have long been deprived, a supply of good gas. They will guarantee at the start that the price of gas will not exceed $1.50 per thousand, although it may be some years before the company declare a dividend.

Mr. Capen, the secretary and treasurer, is interested in electric railways and lighting plants, and knows the needs of Quincy. He was born in Wollaston where he now resides. All the other incorporators are Quincy men, and most of them have been prominent in city affairs. Four have served in the City Council, and two have represented Quincy at the State House.

Dead at Children's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Paul of Dorchester, mourn the loss of their little daughter Florence, who died this week in the Back Bay Children's Hospital after an illness of two weeks. The parents are deaf mutes and Mr. Paul formerly reside on Hancock street, Quincy, at the corner of Hancock court, of late he has been a compositor at the Daily Ledger office. Funeral services were held this afternoon at the residence of Mr. Paul's sister, Mrs. Lizzie Morton at 4 Laurrit avenue, New Dorcherter. The burial was at Mt. Auburn.

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB

MINSTRELS,

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24
THURSDAY, JAN. 25

Quincy

MUSIC HALL.

Chorus of Thirty-Five.
Six End Men,
Full Orchestra,
Original Songs
and Sketches

Tickets from Members,

25c, 50c, 75c.

Curtain, 7.45. Cars, 10.15

Quincy, Jan. 19. 6t

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted,
At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST.,
City of Quincy, Mass., by
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.
☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF
The Quincy Patriot.
A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the
Braintree Observer and Reporter
A Weekly Established in 1878.
TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.
Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

It is often said that the American people are discourteous and lacking in reverence, especially is this noticeable in the young American of today. Is is because of the strenuous life or is it the example of the daily press? In a prominent Boston daily paper the other day was a glaring headline "Alice to Wed." In the reading matter the announcement was made of the coming wedding of Miss Roosevelt. When newspapers take such liberties with the name of our president's daughter is it any wonder that the readers of the aforesaid paper get correspondingly careless and irreverent? Such familiarity either in newspapers or people is decidedly objectionable.

There are many in Quincy who hope the committee of the City Council having the investigation of the disposal of ashes in charge, will report favorably. It is an eyesore to the tidy resident to look out of his window at his untidy neighbor's ash heap. Under present conditions if people would only keep their ashes in barrels in the cellar near the bulkhead and have them carted frequently to the dump, it would help the appearance of things materially. A private concern or individual with horse and wagon could probably work up routes for each day in the week for collection of ashes with profit to himself and at small expense to householder.

Local Ins And Outs

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings will meet next Monday evening.

A large bell and striker will be put on the new fire station at Houghs Neck. The new apparatus should be in Quincy in a few days.

Within two weeks, Memorial church, Atlantic has added to its support twelve new members. This speaks well for the future of the church interests as well as for its present growth.

The late Henry H. Faxon of Quincy was particularly fortunate also in having the formal tribute to his memory as a temperance worker pronounced by the Hon. John D. Long. The ex-Governor eulogizes nobody whom he does not adorn.—Herald.

The advance sale of tickets for the Minstrels of the Squantum Yacht club is very gratifying and all present indications point to a full house. For the convenience of Quincy patrons the ticket office will be open on Saturday evening, Jan. 20.

At the session of the Norfolk Probate court at Dedham on Wednesday the will of Catherine Geary was allowed. An administration was granted on the estate of Deborah Blanchard of Weymouth. The account on the estate of Wilson Tisdale for $65,859.63 was allowed.

Using Her Talents.

Doctor—Yes, my wife used to be a lawyer.
Jones—What does she do now?
Doctor—Tries my patience.—New York World.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

THE LIBERAL TIDE

It Is Proving Too Powerful For the Unionists

DOWNFALL OF BALFOUR

Several Members of His Cabinet Among the Defeated--Results at Birmingham Due to Chamberlain and Local Influences

London, Jan. 19.—Taken altogether, the election returns are most disastrous from the Unionist standpoint. No less than six members of the Balfour ministry have been unseated, namely, M. St. J. Brodrick, secretary of state for India; A. B. Law, E. G. Pretyman, secretary to the admiralty; Lord Stanley, postmaster general; A. E. Fellowes, president of the board of agriculture, and C. S. Dickson, solicitor general for Scotland.

Henry Chaplin, who was president of the local government board in the Salisbury ministry, is also among the defeated, who now include 11 members of the late cabinet. The defeat of A. B. Law will be a serious loss to the tariff reformers, as he has been looked upon as one of the ablest advocates of Chamberlain's policy.

Since the elections opened the Unionists have only gained three seats, while the ministerialists have gained 132 seats. The seats up to the present are distributed as follows: Liberals, 202; Unionists, 87; Laborites, 35; Nationalists, 60.

The continued Liberal triumphs make the results at Birmingham seem all the more remarkable and lend color to the contention of the Liberals that they were due exclusively to the force of Chamberlain's personality and to local influences, and that they had no connection whatever with the fiscal problem.

Mr. Chamberlain himself is evidently undaunted. Speaking at Smithwick last night, he asseverated that there had been a fair fight at Birmingham on the question of fiscal reform. He added that there were two remedies for the existing social problems—socialism and tariff reform. For the moment, he said, the country preferred socialism, but when the quack remedies of the present government had failed there would be opportunity for his hobby and "no obstruction could prevent its taking root."

Former Premier Balfour and Premier Bannerman arrived on the same train at Iverness, Scotland, to fulfill political engagements. The enormous crowd gathered on the platform prevented a meeting between the leaders, each of whom was greeted with a hurricane of cheers.

Mr. Balfour, addressing a meeting on behalf of Sir Robert Finlay, the Unionist candidate for Iverness burghs, predicted for the new government a very unhappy existence of five years.

Premier Bannerman, speaking at a Liberal meeting, characterized Balfour's statement that there was some sort of a compact between the Liberal government and John Redmond, the Nationalist, as nothing short of scandal He said there was no foundation for such an allegation, and declared that there was no mystery whatever about the relations of the Liberals and the Nationalists.

Harmonizing Differences

Algeciras, Jan. 19.—The delegates to the Moroccan conference held a private session lasting two hours yesterday afternoon. The session resulted practically in an agreement on the main lines of a plan for the repression of contraband entering Morocco. The meeting strengthened the feeling among the delegates that the results of the conference will be satisfactory. The day was fruitful in meetings of various groups of delegates with a view to conciliating their different interests.

Mine Disaster In West Virginia

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 19.—Eighteen men are believed to have been killed in a terrific explosion in one of the mines of the Detroit and Kanawha Coal company, at Detroit, 25 miles from here. Even though the men survived the explosion, it is almost certain that they will fall victims to the deadly afterdamp. The cause of the explosion is not yet fully determined, but it is believed that a blast ignited the dust which accumulated in the mine.

Blessing Without the Czar

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—Distrustful of the spirit of his capital, and perhaps remembering the incident of last January, when one of the saluting guns showered grape on the imperial chapel, the czar did not come to St. Petersburg for the ceremony of the blessing of the waters of the Neva today. For the first time since 1732 the great church festival of the Epiphany will pass without the presence of the sovereign.

Still Stirring Up Strife

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—Undismayed by the arrests of their successive executive committees, a group of socialistic workmen yesterday elected a new workmen's council, whose president issued an address threatening with death all who do not obey the commands to abstain from work Jan. 22, the anniversary of "Red Sunday."

Large Condemnation of Fish

Boston, Jan. 19.—Shortly after the arrival of schooner Harmony, after a four weeks' fishing trip to the Georges bank, officers of the board of health condemned part of her cargo, amounting to 8000 pounds of cod and halibut.

BREAD AND WATER DIET

Bigelow Says He Prefers It to a Violation of Confidence

Washington, Jan. 19.—Poultney Bigelow, the magazine writer, whose arraignment of the administration and management of isthmian canal affairs in an article published in The Independent was denounced by Secretary of War Taft, proved to be a contumacious witness before the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals and involved the committee in a controversy which continued through two executive sessions and must be considered again before action can be taken.

The recalcitrancy of the witness was shown as the result of a statement made by him that many eminent engineers had declined to accept employment of the government because of physical conditions on the isthmus. The committee demanded the names of such engineers and Bigelow declined to give them, on the ground that to do so would be to violate confidence and subject these persons to embarrassment. He intimated that the displeasure of the administration would be exhibited in such manner that their "reputations would be worth nothing after the official replies had been concluded."

Upon being instructed to answer, Bigelow declared: "The committee can put me on bread and water, or even condemn me to Colon, but it cannot compel me to divulge that which was given me in confidence."

Dunne's Pet Scheme Endorsed

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Mayor Dunne last night found a majority of the aldermen back of him, and the city council did all it could to advance the municipal ownership plans. As the traction situation now stands, the voters of Chicago will have to decide next April whether they want to borrow $75,000,000 and go into the street railway business. Both of the mayor's ordinances were passed by the council. One provides for the issuance of $75,000,000 of street railway certificates. The other authorizes the city to operate as well as own street railways.

Shoe Company's Bad Finances

St. Louis, Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the creditors of the Tennet Shoe company the failure of the firm was announced. Until their resignation a short time ago, John H. Tennet was president and John H. Tennet, Jr., was secretary and manager of the company. An examination of the books of the concern disclosed a deficit of $220,000. Irregularities in the conduct of the business was shown by which Tennet, Jr., was permitted to draw $15,000 of the firm's money, for which there is no accounting except "overdrafts."

To Bar Consumptive Pupils

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The first decisive step toward excluding victims of pulmonary tuberculosis from the public schools was taken by the board of education, when that body instructed all principals and teachers to report the names of "suspects" to Superintendent Cooley. A recommendation calling for segregation will be made as soon as the data has been collected regarding the number afflicted.

To Become Up-to-Date

New York, Jan. 19.—American water works systems are to be installed in a dozen or more of the cities and towns of Cuba. The city of Cardenas, whose 25,000 inhabitants are sheltered in 3000 dwellings, with but 1000 faucets to supply them, will be the first municipality to be equipped. A company has been formed in this city to undertake the work.

Forgeries Amount to $1,135,000

Cleveland, Jan. 19.—The bankers' committee, having in charge the investigation into the affairs of the failed brokerage firm of Denison, Prior & Co., has definitely fixed the amount of alleged forged bonds put out by the late L. W. Prior at $1,135,000. The total liabilities of the firm will not exceed $3,000,000 and the assets remain at $1,500,000.

To School or Siberia

Odessa, Jan. 19.—The populace is terror-stricken by an order issued by the governor general that all the pupils of the high schools must resume their studies Jan. 25 and that the penalty for disobedience or incitement to disobedience will be exile to Siberia. A bomb thrown at a policeman yesterday afternoon in a crowded street killed five persons.

Two Men Killed In Wreck

Newton Falls, O., Jan. 19.—A crash of freight trains here caused the instant death of two men, who cannot be identified, as their bodies were partially consumed by flames which broke out in the wreck. The men were probably stealing a ride. Fireman Berry's legs were badly crushed and he may die from his injuries.

Will End His Days In Prison

Agham, Hungary, Jan. 19.—Ivan Palencsuk, who is 103 years old, was released from prison yesterday after 50 years' confinement. He protested tearfully against his release, but in vain, and he immediately committed another crime in order to be reimprisoned.

Would Investigate Child Labor

Washington, Jan. 19.—Representatives McNary and Gardner, both of Massachusetts, appeared before the house committee on labor in support of resolutions authorizing the secretary of commerce and labor to investigate child labor.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Jan. 20.
Sun rises—7:08; sets—4:42.
Moon rises—2:52 a. m.
High water—7 a. m.; 7:30 p. m.
Fair and somewhat colder weather is indicated for New England.

Who Gets the Most Out of Life?

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is trite, but not trivial.

Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain.

Keep your grip on health by regular exercise, reasonable care in eating and requisite sleep. Take Beecham's Pills occasionally, to tone the stomach and keep the liver and bowels in good working order. And don't worry.

Observe these simple rules and you will agree that the one who gets the most from life is

The Man Who Uses
BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere in Boxes. 10c and 25c.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting,
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

FOR WOMEN

Two Pages of Latest Fashions
Compiled by the Boston Sunday Post by expert dressmakers and milliners—Full directions for making up-to-date gowns and hats.

"Each and All Society"
Every woman reader of the Boston Sunday Post is eligible to membership. Thousands of women members in America.

Housekeeper's Page
Best cooking recipes and household suggestions contributed by New England housewives.

"Hints to Health and Beauty" Page
Questions on these topics answered for Boston Sunday Post readers by an authority on health and beauty.

THOUSANDS OF NEW ENGLAND WOMEN SAY THAT THE Boston Sunday Post is the BEST
.... PAPER FOR WOMEN ....
Why Not Try It Next Sunday?

. TRACY,
surance of all kinds
ed and Estates
l For.
shington Street.
Justice of the Peace.
ots For Sale or To Let
d Houghs Neck.
tf

Portrait Studio,
TCHMAN.
d in Crayons
Vater Colors.
Frames made to order.
rk Guaranteed.
South Quincy.
tf

R. MARSTIN
TIST,
Bros.' Market,
t., Quincy.
30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Wednesday and Friday.
tf

VAIST STORE.
ART
E —
YEAR
A — Coat.
o warm that we find
ats too Large.
The only way to Coat for the Children.
l be sure to find one
t Price.
orth & Co.
Hancock Street.
VAIST STORE.

N
's
Page use-by h age
an-Post alth
ST
y?

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties.
Dinners and Suppers.
Also Hancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T
DELAY ONE MOMENT.
Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc., where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollara Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1236 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station
New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader, in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER VII.

NOT savage Hun nor "barbarous Vandyke" nor demon Apache could wish to dwell upon the state of mind of the chief of the Rouen volunteer fire department; therefore let the curtain of mercy descend. Without a word he turned and dragged the nozzle to the eastern eaves, whence, after a warning gesture to those below, he dropped it to the ground, and, out of compassion, it should be little more than hinted that the gesture of warning was very slight.

When the rescued band reached the foot of the last flight of stairs they beheld the open doorway as a frame for a great press of intent and contorted faces, every eye still strained to watch the roof, none of the harrowed spectators comprehending the appearance of the girl's figure there, nor able to see whither she had led the five young men, until Tappingham Marsh raised a shout as he leaped out of the door and danced upon the solid earth again.

Then, indeed, there was a mighty uproar. Cheer after cheer ascended to the red vault of heaven. Women wept, men whooped and the people rushed for the heroes with wide open, welcoming arms. Jefferson Bareaud and Frank Chenoweth and General Trumble dashed at Tom Vanrevel with incoherent cries of thanksgiving, shaking his hands and beating him hysterically upon the back. He greeted them with bitter laughter.

"Help get the water into the next warehouse. This one is beyond control, but we can save the other two. Take the lines in—through the door!" He brushed the rejoicing friends off abruptly, and went on in a queer, hollow voice: "There are stairs—and I'm so sorry I didn't think of it until a moment ago, because you could have brought the water up that way!"

A remarkable case of desertion had occurred the previous instant under his eyes. As the party emerged from the warehouse into the street Tom heard Crailey say hurriedly to Miss Carewe: "Let me get you away—come quickly!" saw him suddenly seize her hand and, eluding the onrushing crowd, run with her round the corner of the building. And somehow, through what inspiration or through what knowledge of his partner's "temperament," heaven knows, the prophetic soul of the chief was unhappily assured that Crailey would offer himself as escort to her home and find acceptance. But why not? Was it Crailey who had publicly called his fellow man fool, idiot, imbecile, at the top of his lungs only to find himself the proven numskull of the universe! Tom stood for a moment staring after the vanishing pair, while over his face stole the strangest expression that ever man saw there; then, with meekly bowed shoulders, he turned again to his work.

At the corner of the warehouse Miss Carewe detached her hand from Crailey's, yet still followed him as he made a quick detour round the next building. A minute or two later they found themselves, undetected, upon Main street in the rear of the crowd. There Crailey paused.

"Forgive me," he said breathlessly, "for taking your hand. I thought you would like to get away."

She regarded him gravely, so that he found it difficult to read her look, except that it was seriously questioning, but whether the interrogation was addressed to him or to herself he could not determine. After a silence she said:

"I don't know why I followed you. I believe it must have been because you didn't give me time to think."

This, of course, made him even quicker with her than before. "It's all over," he said briskly. "The first warehouse is gone, the second will go, but they'll save the others easily enough now that you have pointed out that the lines may be utilized otherwise than as adjuncts of performances on the high trapeze." They were standing by a picket fence, and he leaned against it, overcome by mirth in which she did not join. Her gravity reacted upon him at once, and his laughter was stopped short. "Will you not accept me as an escort to your home?" he said formally.

"I do not know," she returned simply, the sort of honest trouble in her glance that is seen only in very young eyes.

"What reason in the world?" he returned, with a crafty sharpness of astonishment.

She continued to gaze upon him thoughtfully, while he tried to look into her eyes, but was baffled because the radiant beams from the lady's orbs, as the elder Chenoweth might have said, rested somewhere dangerously near his chin, which worried him, for, though his chin made no retreat and was far from ill looking, it was nevertheless that feature which he most distrusted. "Won't you tell me why not?" he repeated uneasily.

"Because," she answered at last, speaking hesitatingly—"because it isn't so easy a matter for me as you seem to think. You have not been introduced to me, and I know you never will be, and that what you told me was true."

"Which part of what I told you?" The question escaped from him instanter.

"That the others might come when they liked, but that you could not."

"Oh, yes, yes." His expression altered to a sincere dejection, his shoulders drooped and his voice indicated supreme annoyance. "I might have known some one would tell you. Who was it? Did they say why I"—

"On account of your quarrel with my father."

"My quarrel with your father!" he exclaimed, and his face lit with an elated surprise. His shoulders straightened. He took a step nearer her and asked eagerly, "Who told you that?"

"My father himself. He spoke of a Mr. Vanrevel whom he disliked and whom I must not meet, and, remembering what you had said, of course I knew that you were he."

"Oh!" Crailey's lips began to form a smile of such appealing and inimitable sweetness that Voltaire would have trusted him, a smile altogether rose leaves. "Then I lose you," he said, "for my only chance to know you was in keeping it hidden from you. And now you understand."

"No," she answered gravely, "I don't understand. That is what troubles me. If I did and believed you had the right of the difference I could believe it no sin that you should speak to me, should take me home now. I think it is wrong not to act from your own understanding of things."

The young man set his expression as one indomitably fixed upon the course of honor, cost what it might, and in the very action his lurking pleasure in doing it hopped out in the flicker of a twinkle in his eyes and as instantly sought cover again—the flea in the rose jar.

"Then you must ask some other," he said firmly. "A disinterested person should tell you. The difference was political in the beginning, but became personal afterward, and it is now a quarrel which can never be patched up, though, for my part, I wish that it could be. I can say no more, because a party to it should not speak."

She met his level look squarely at last, and no man ever had a more truthful pair of eyes than Crailey Gray, for it was his great accomplishment that he could adjust his emotion, his reason and something that might be called his faith to fit any situation in any character.

"You may take me home," she answered. "I may be wrong and even disloyal, but I do not feel it so now. You did a very brave thing tonight to save him from loss, and I think that what you have said was just what you should have said."

So they went down the street, the hubbub and confusion of the fire growing more and more indistinct behind them. They walked slowly, and for a time neither spoke, yet the silence was of a kind which the adept rejoiced to have produced thus soon—their second meeting. He waited until they passed into the shadows of the deserted Carewe street before he spoke. There he stopped abruptly, at which she turned, astonished.

(Continued in next issue.)

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furnitura and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

MORAN FORESTALLED

Governor Guild Had Relieved a Member of His Staff

Boston, Jan. 19.—Governor Guild has again forestalled District Attorney Moran, just as he did in the case of the savings bank commissioners. Guild, as commander-in-chief, Wednesday relieved General Brigham from duty as inspector general on his staff and detailed Adjutant General Frye as acting inspector general until the issuance of further orders.

The district attorney's latest suggestion of what is the governor's duty came yesterday. Moran called up General Brigham by telephone and requested him to come to the district attorney's office to see him regarding the conduct of the business of the Provident Securities and Banking company. Brigham, it is understood, intimated that if Moran intended having a stenographer present and desired to cross-examine him and to use anything he might say against him, then Brigham thought he ought not to call.

In reply, Moran said: "I am making an investigation for the purpose of finding out if any crime was committed; and, if so, by whom it was committed. If I find by your admissions that you participated in any crime I shall use your admissions against you for the purpose of obtaining an indictment and prosecuting you."

It is understood Brigham then refused to call upon Moran.

District Attorney Moran said to the newspaper men, commenting upon Brigham's refusal to call: "Under these circumstances it is the duty of the governor to accept Brigham's resignation at once. If he refrains from accepting it now it will appear that the governor countenances Brigham's refusal to submit to an examination."

Governor Guild was asked what he had to say in reply to Moran's statement to the press, if anything. He answered laconically, "Nothing."

Seeking Roosevelt's Good Offices

Washington, Jan. 19.—Prominent European statesmen, educators, publicists and citizens have joined in a petition to President Roosevelt to endeavor, in the interests of humanity and civilization, by such means as may seem proper to him, to bring about "the concert of the powers of Europe, with the view of securing for the subjects of the Ottoman empire that condition of public peace and order, of which the absence has already drawn upon that empire so many disasters, menacing it with the catastrophe of its total annihilation." The president has made no response to the appeal, but has promised to give it the most careful consideration.

Alleged Utterer of Forged Bonds

New York, Jan. 19.—Charles Murray is held by the district attorney's office in $5000 bail, charged with uttering the forged Norfolk and Western railroad bonds recently offered to brokers in this city. Earlier in the day Murray had appeared in court to show cause why he should not forfeit his bond in a case involving an alleged fraudulent transaction in which Charles P. Buchanan lost $40,000 two years ago. The court paroled him in custody of his counsel and then followed the examination in connection with the Norfolk and Western bonds.

House Passes Indian Bill

Washington, Jan. 19.—After paying a tribute to the frigate Constitution and ordering an investigation to ascertain the annual amount necessary to preserve the ship, the house perfected and passed a bill providing for the final disposition of the affairs of the five civilized tribes in Indian Territory. The bill provides for concluding the enrollment of the Indians of these tribes and the allotment of lands to them. The enrollment and allotment is made the subject of many restrictions and provisions.

Doings of Savages

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 19.—Reports of massacres by blacks in New Guinea and north Australia were brought by the steamer Moana. In New Guinea a party of warriors made a raid on the village of Ekiri and killed and mutilated 33 villagers. The village was looted and destroyed. The other massacre, at Port Keath, involved the killing by blacks of six white men and three natives.

Up to State Department

Washington, Jan. 19.—Strong representations have been made to Secretary Root by Mr. Quesada, the Cuban minister here, touching the forcible deportation from Key West of a number of striking cigarmakers of Cuban nationality. Secretary Root will make an immediate investigation.

Burlen Will Face the Music

Montreal, Jan. 19.—Lorenzo Burlen, treasurer of the defunct Provident Banking company of Boston, left last night for Boston on advice of his counsel.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The stockholders of the Naugatuck road held a special meeting at New Haven at which it was voted to make a formal transfer of the road to the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad system.

William Porter, 84 years of age, died at his home in Johnsonburg, N. Y. He was the last survivor of the original Christie minstrels.

Booker T. Washington, when shown the statement recently published to the effect that he advised the president to remove all colored officeholders in the south from office, said the statement was false.

The huge plant of the J. B. Schoo Saddlery company at Quincy, Ills., was burned. The flames ignited the city hall, which was almost completely destroyed. The total loss exceeds $300,000.

MIDDIES ABUSED

Hazed Until They Lacked the Power to Continue

BLOEBAUM'S BRUTALITY

One You h Punished For Refusing to Introduce Him to a Young Woman--The Accused an Appointee of Champ Clark

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 19.—Hazing of a brutal nature was revealed during the trial of Midshipman Chester Bloebaum more plainly than in any of the previous proceedings. Three fourth-classmen testified without the slightest hesitation that they had been hazed by Bloebaum until they were utterly exhausted, one severe physical exercise after another being required of them until they lacked power to continue. Bloebaum is an appointee of Congressman Champ Clark, who said recently on the floor of the house of representatives that he would arm a youth he sent to Annapolis with a bowie knife and a hatchet.

The witnesses in the trial of Bloebaum were clear and certain in their statements. Levin H. Campbell, Jr., the first of them, said that Bloebaum had put him on his head a number of times about 8 o'clock p. m., Sept. 22. He said that Bloebaum had made the rounds of the fourth-classmen's rooms, asking them to tell him when he was to leave Annapolis. If they did not answer correctly they were told to stand on their heads.

Oscar C. Green said that Bloebaum had stood him on his head and then had ordered him to precede Midshipmen De Saussure and himself and open the doors of all the fourth-classmen, announcing at the same time the approach of "their majesties, the Irishman and the Black Prince." They would repeat the questions, the witness said, and then stand the plebes on their heads.

William D. Kilduff said he was hazed to the point of collapse because he had gone to "Lovers lane" in obedience to the request of a young lady. He said that Bloebaum had compelled him to stand on his head from 50 to 100 times, hang on the locker with feet extended and back to locker, perform the "crew" for about five minutes and do the "sixteenth" about 100 times, all in rapid succession. "I was used up," he said, in answer to a question, "and was sore for several days afterwards."

Kilduff said that Joseph M. Deem had been hazed at the same time. Deem corroborated the testimony of Kilduff and said that Bloebaum had put him on his head about 50 times and made him do the "sixteenth" and "leaning rest" until he was exhausted.

John E. Sloan had to stand on his head only 10 or 15 times and did not mind it particularly, nor did Theodore H. Winter object particularly to the same thing, according to his testimony.

Edgar N. Caldwell of Glasgow, Ky., stated that Bloebaum had ordered him to write a letter to a young lady of his acquaintance in Annapolis fixing a date when Bloebaum could call. He had refused to do this, he said, and Bloebaum had made him lie on a box and raise and lower his legs until it was impossible for him to continue.

Several other fourth-classmen gave testimony corroborative of the latter specification and of other parts of the charge. Bloebaum did not go on the stand nor offer any other witnesses in his defense.

Greene-Gaynor Jury Complete

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 19.—A jury has been chosen in the Greene and Gaynor case and this morning the actual trial of the defendants upon the charges of conspiracy against the United States government, embezzlement and receiving funds known to have been embezzled from the United States, commenced. There is a greater mass of documentary evidence to be presented than the oral testimony will constitute.

Hero Presented With a Medal

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—Captain Mark Casto of the yacht Alberta last night received the first public recognition of his heroism in rescuing the passengers and crew of the steamer Cherokee off Brigantine beach on Sunday last. The captain was the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Clover club. He was given a handsome diamond-studded medal suitably inscribed.

Peppery Governor Vardaman

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 19.—Governor Vardaman admits that he recently thrashed a convict at the executive mansion because the convict, while shining the governor's shoes, had made an impudent remark. The governor says he kicked the convict and then gave him a sound thrashing with a broom.

Boy Studied Too Hard

New York, Jan. 19.—Crazed from overstudy, Herbert Carson, aged 14, after driving his mother and father from the house, threatening to cut them with a carving knife, dived from a third story window of his home last night and was so seriously injured that he died soon afterward.

Revolutionists' Daring Exploit

Kieff, Jan. 19.—The local revolutionists have obtained a large quantity of war munitions from the arsenal of the fortress. A number of men in military uniforms appeared at the arsenal with forged requisitions, loaded two wagons with munitions and escaped.

FLOORING GAVE WAY

Over Sixty Persons Dropped Into a Church Cellar

Boylston, Mass., Jan. 19.—The flooring of the vestibule of the Congregational church in Boylston Center collapsed last night under the weight of a crowd of people who were there to attend a turkey supper, and between 60 and 70 persons were precipitated into the cellar. One man was seriously injured, several others were so badly hurt that they required the attention of physicians, while nearly all suffered from shock and bruises. Henry L. Hopkins of Worcester was the most seriously hurt. One leg was fractured and he was also injured internally.

Just before the accident happened two trolley cars filled with people had arrived at the church. People who had already dined went into the vestibule of the building, intending to wait there for the beginning of an entertainment later in the church auditorium, and they were met by the new arrivals from the trolley cars. In the crush in the little vestibule some of the timbers beneath gave way and a hole was opened up under the feet of the throng. Through the opening three score or more persons dropped into the cellar, a distance of 10 feet. There was a wild scramble to escape, but cool-headed persons prevented a panic and the women and children were first assisted from the mass. A lamp fell with the flooring and broke, but the fire was extinguished before it had caused any damage.

Fitzgerald Emulates Franklin

Boston, Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the directors of the Franklin fund, which has been accumulating for 100 years and which now amounts to almost $500,000, Mayor Fitzgerald announced that he had decided to emulate Benjamin Franklin by donating $1000 to form a fund that is to accumulate interest for 100 years. The donation, with its accumulations, is to be expended 100 years from now for the purpose or purposes which will, in the opinion of the managers composing the board at that time, best serve the interests of humanity.

Paradise For Vagabonds

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 19.—At the investigation of conditions at the house of correction here, Eugene W. Eastman, in charge of the dispensary at the institution, asserted that officers in Windsor, White River Junction and Hartford have induced tramps and vagabonds to go to the house of correction, which place the officers represented to the tramps as a sort of "hotel," for the sake of the commission they get on such arrests.

Boys Ask For Higher Wages

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 19.—About 25 boys employed as burrers in the milling department of the United States armory have struck for an increase in wages from $1 to $1.50 a day. The boys claim that they put in the petition only upon learning that there was no chance for promotion to the milling machines, for which men are selected from a civil service list.

Timber Land Changes Hands

Bangor, Me., Jan. 19.—A sale of an unusually large tract of timber land has been made by the Rowland Pulp and Paper company to the Moosehead Investment company. The sale includes the greater portion of two small towns, known as the Bowdoin college grant and covering 33,500 acres. The amount of money involved in the transaction was not stated.

Divorce For Colonel Haggard

Portland, Me., Jan. 19.—Colonel A. C. P. Haggard, a retired British army officer, author and brother of H. Rider Haggard, has been granted a divorce by the supreme court here. The libel alleged that Mrs. Haggard left her husband in 1889, and that he had not seen her since that time. Intoxication was also alleged by Haggard. The two were married in 1883.

Suicide From a Bridge

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 19.—An unknown man jumped from the bridge over the Winooski river between this city and Winooski last night. The body went underneath the ice and probably will not be recovered for some time, if at all. Only a meagre description of the man could be obtained from those who saw him jump.

Manchester Has $70,000 Fire

Manchester, Mass., Jan. 19.—A recently constructed wooden block on Union street, in the centre of the town, occupied by the postoffice, telephone headquarters and several stores and offices, as well as a newspaper, was destroyed by fire last evening. The loss is estimated at $70,000. The fire caught in the lower floor.

Marshal to Enforce Law

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 19.—City Marshal Sheehan has served notice upon the officials of athletic clubs of the city to the effect that no more boxing bouts can be held under the same conditions as heretofore. There must be no admission charged to bouts, and all attending must be bonafide members.

Doctors For Pure Food

Boston, Jan. 19.—A number of prominent Boston physicians have addressed letters to the Massachusetts delegation in congress urging them to support the pure food bill. The bill prohibits the adulteration of all food and drugs and calls for a proper labelling of all prepared foods.

Juvenile Courts Favored

Boston, Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the Boston school committee last night it was voted to send to the legislature bills providing for juvenile courts in this city, and for the extension of the terms of superintendent and supervisor of Boston schools from two to six years.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 59 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 28	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	3 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15*	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 31	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 50 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 43 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 15	ihgfedcba	1 43 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 42
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 5.49 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6 37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.41, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	49	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	43	24	57	26	23
Thursday,	41	29	41	35	34
Friday,	38	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	—	37	44	28	39

The City In Brief

C. Patch & Co. advertise clean coal, the economical kind.

The new market of Charles H. Brooks is clean and attractive.

The concert of the Wollaston Glee club will probably be repeated at Readville.

The Board of Health has appointed James F. Allen as Inspector of Meats and Provisions.

Mr. C. E. Richardson of Gay street has gone to Edgarton, Martha's Vineyard for a time to regain his health.

The special committee of the City Council, to whom was referred the collection of ashes, expect to make an early report.

Anything in the real estate line will receive the attention of E. M. Freeman. Houses to let and for sale; insurance and mortgages placed, etc., etc.

Delia W. Smith of this city took several prizes in the cavie department of the Boston poultry show for Peruvian white boars and sows and Abyssinian cream boars.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Musicale.

A very entertaining musical was given Thursday evening at the rooms of Mrs. Laura Tirrell in the Adams building. The program included a violin solo with piano obligato by N. Norton Gurney and Herman French; piano solos by Mrs. Otto Hayward; vocal solos by Mason Reynolds, Mrs. Henry Tirrell, Master Harold Curtis, Jesse F. Curtis, and sermon by, W. F. Winsor. The evening closed with a play entitled "The Hyporandriae" by John Fletcher, W. F. Winsor and Roy Prout.

Ex-Mayor Sears President.

Hon. Russell A. Sears of this city, who is at the head of the law department of the Boston Elevated Railway Co., was on Wednesday elected president of the alliance against accident fraud, at the annual meeting in New York. An address was made by Mr. Sears, telling of the work of the 12 allied interests in New England, comprising the common carriers, accident companies, public service corporations and insurance companies.

Mass at St. John's.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine S., wife of Mr. John C. McGovern was held this morning from St. John's church. The services were largely attended. Mass was celebrated by Rev. John J. Coan. At the offertory John Mahan sang De Profoundis and after the mass, Miss Mary McConarty sang "Face to Face." The burial was at St. Mary's cemetry.

High School Work.

Quite a gang of men and teams are at work excavating for the addition to the High school. This winter has been unusually favorable for this kind of work and considerable progress will be made, so that work on the building can be commenced in the early spring.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

Installation of Knights of Columbus

The following officers of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, were installed Thursday evening by D. D. Peter Daly with Frank Smith as Grand Knight:

G. K.,—Peter J. Cahill.
D. G. K.,—Timothy J. Carey.
Chan.,—Bartholemew A. McLane.
R. S.,—John J. Cunniff.
F. S.,—Joseph A. Keating.
Treasurer,—Michael T. Sullivan.
W.,—Michael T. Walsh.
L.,—Robert J. Williams, Jr.
A.,—Robert E. McDonnell.
P.,—Dr. D. B. Reardon.
C.,—Rev. John P. Cuff.
I. G.,—Martin W. Cunniff.
O. G.,—Thomas F. Shea.
Trustee,—Bernard Cullen.

After the business of the evening, addresses were made by Rev. J. P. Cuff and the visiting officers. There were many visitors.

The Central Labor Union.

The officers of the Central Labor Union were installed Thursday evening by William J. Walsh, president of the Amalgamated Street Railways Employes Union. The officers are:

President,—Frank W. Hilbett.
Vice President,—William Walter.
Recording Secretary,—George Smith.
Secretary and Treasurer, — Charles Wilkins, Jr.
Sergant-at-Arms,—George Raymond.
Trustees,—William Caldwell, John Lynch, B. F. Healey.

After the installation addresses were made by Charles Morris of the United Hatters Union and James Duncan, secretary-treasurer of the Granite Cutters' Union.

It was voted that it be the sense of the meeting that a union mechanic should be employed as inspector of the new High school building.

The labor unions in Quincy were reported in a flourishing condition, seventeen trades being represented in the Central Labor Unions.

Officers Elected.

The Merrymount Granite Co. held its annual meeting this week and elected the following officers: President, James H. Sullivan; clerk, Michael B. Geary; treasurer, John C. Kapples; agent, Patrick W. Driscoll; directors, the above with Enos S. Costa, Lemuel J. Meyers and John M. Tiernan.

The Lawson Ashore.

The seven-master schooner Thomas W. Lawson, built at Quincy, was driven ashore at Vineyard Haven Thursday noon. She was pulled off about 5 P. M. apparently without injury.

New Market

J. K. Morton, for some time connected with local markets, has opened an up-to-date market of his own at 1259 Hancock street. He will make a specialty of John P. Squire's pork products.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—House of Representatives, Boston, Jan. 18, 1906. The Committee on Rules will give a hearing on the question of suspending the 9th Joint Rule on the petition of John J. Whipple and others for the incorporation of the New York, Brockton and Boston Canal and Transportation Company, at the Speaker's Room, State House, at 1 o'clock on Tuesday, Jan. 23d next. Henry C. Mc.win, Clerk of the Committee.

Jan. 19. 1t

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—State House, Boston, Jan. 17, 1906. The Committee on Liquor Law will give a hearing to parties interested in a petition to amend the law relative to the sale of intoxicating liquor in the vicinity of public schools; and in a petition to revise the law relative to the distance to be maintained between public school buildings and premises where intoxicating liquors are sold, at room No. 439, State House, on Monday, Jan. 22, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. Daniel W. Lane, Chairman. Grafton D. Cushing, Clerk of the Committee.

Jan. 19 2t

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled.

THE Undersigned Petitioners, citizens of the United States, respectfully represent for themselves, their successors and associates, that they desire to be incorporated by an act of your honorable body under the corporate name of the New York, Brockton and Boston Canal and Transportation Company, with full power to locate, construct, equip, operate and maintain a canal and way with all such wharves, docks, power plants, and other structures and works as may be necessary or proper for the convenient construction, use, operation and maintenance of the canal or transportation facilities of said corporation. To locate the said canal and way across the State of Massachusetts, beginning at a point on Narraganset Bay or on Taunton River and extending to Massachutetts Bay or to Weymouth Fore River.

JOHN J. WHIPPLE,
HERBERT E. GUY,
B. E. JONES,
W. C. FLAGG,
ELMER C. PACKARD,
GEORGE B. FRENCH,
D. W. FIELD,
HERBERT L. TINKHAM,
GEORGE CLARENCE HOLMES,
BENJAMIN BUFFINGTON,
GEORGE T. DURFEE,
RICHARD E. WARNER,
and 145 others.

Jan 19-3t 19-22-29

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.

Dec. 16. tf

FATHER AND SON

Mother and daughter, old and young often need a good, reliable family tonic remedy. Complaints of stomach, liver and bowels—especially constipation—are common in every home at this time of the year.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

should be taken promptly when you notice any of these well-known symptoms: Furred tongue, variable appetite, disturbed sleep, irritability, malaria, poor complexion, costiveness.

Dr. True's Elixir is a pure vegetable home remedy with a wonderfully successful record. For three generations it has been in use. Its gentle laxative action keeps the stomach sweet, the bowels regular, the blood pure, increases the appetite, and gives rugged robust health. Given regularly it is a preventative of coughs, colds, fever and worms.

DR. J. F. TRUE & Co.: Portland, Me.
I shall in future know just what to recommend to others who are not feeling well; stomach out of order, headache, poor appetite, or a bad cold. Your Elixir has helped me out of just this combination of bad feelings. I want to thank you for it, as it cured me of all these troubles and destroyed the cold I had.
Yours truly, MRS. E. A. SKOLFIELD.

Sold by all dealers, 35c, 50c, $1.00. Write for free booklet, "Children and Their Diseases."

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me. Established 1854

ECONOMY.

COAL

CLEAN COAL.
THAT'S OUR KIND.
Clean Coal Means Economy for
YOU.
C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

THIS MARK DOWN SALE
OF OURS IS
No "Goat" Proposition.

There are no "BUTS" to it. No "IFS" either.

These SUITS and OVERCOATS and this WINTER UNDERWEAR

Wouldn't be half as good value next July.

We are reducing them now while you can get plenty of wear out of them.

ALL HEAVY WEIGHT GOODS MARKED DOWN.

DON'T buy anything in our line until you have examined our stock. We do not handle anything but Reliable Merchandise.

YOURS FOR GENUINE BARGAINS.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,
Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.
1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 18. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

Roosevelt, the Great Unbossed!

Lincoln Steffens says. Many Governors and Mayors are figureheads in a land which is land of bosses, but no man can boss Theodore Roosevelt! Remember that Lincoln Steffens, the great political writer, will report his searching investigation of corruption in American politics exclusively for the Boston Sunday Globe.

William J. Bryan Says

Japanese Babies never cry! Strange land where there are no milliners, no bedsteads no chairs, no tables.—Studied the Japanese at Tokio during the reception to Togo.—Japanese people the most orderly in the world—Remember that William J. Bryan, while traveling around the world, is writing up his experiences exclusively for the Boston Sunday Globe.

A Rip Van Winkle Theatre

Free with next Sunday's Globe. All the characters in the famous play can be cut out and placed on a stage. Rip and his Gun, Rip and the men playing ninepins, Rip as a young man when he went up into the mountains, Rip as a man with a big white beard when he came down after sleeping twenty years. Order the Boston Sunday Globe today and make everyone in the house happy.

296,258 Average circulation of the Boston Sunday Globe for December larger by far than that of any other newspaper in Boston or New England.

Dec. 19. 1t

Wedding Bells Shorter--Phillips

A quiet home wedding took place Thursday evening at Hotel Ilkley, Boston, at the apartments of the bride's sister, Mrs. Herbert D. Boyd, when Miss Elsie Carlyle Phillips, daughter of Mr. Hiram W. Phillips of Quincy, was united in marriage with Mr. Wade Hamilton Shorter.

The nuptials were attended by the uncles and aunts of the bride, and a very few of the most intimate friends of the bride and groom.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a white lace dress over silk. The veil was caught with hyacinths and the bride carried a large bunch of roses.

Rev. Edward Anderson officiated and as usual performed the ceremony impressively. A wedding supper followed and a most informal social hour, at the close of which the bride distributed her bouquet among the guests and each will treasure his rose for many days to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorter left this morn for Detroit, Michigan, where they will reside for the present, going first to Chicago for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Shorter has always been a resident of Quincy Point and is popular with the people of this place, and will be missed. Mr. Shorter is a Virginian and a promising young man.

Quincys Win Two Out of Three

The second game of the series of seven was rolled Thursday night on the South Braintree alleys between the Quincy and South Braintree teams, Quincy winning two out of three. Quincy won the first by 33 pins, the second by 32 and lost the last by 2 pins. Westland was high man in both the single and totals.

QUINCYS.

	1	2	3	Total.
Jenkins,	94	83	84	261
Ferris,	77	88	88	253
Moorhead,	81	83	79	243
Westland,	78	102	94	274
Keene,	78	89	85	252
Totals,	408	445	430	1283

SOUTH BRAINTREES.

Stetson,	74	91	73	228
Johnson,	71	76	86	233
H. Stone,	75	80	89	244
Jones,	80	81	88	249
W. Stone,	75	85	96	255
Totals,	375	413	432	1220

Demonstration Luncheon.

All the seats were occupied at the demonstration luncheon given on Thursday noon in First Church chapel, under the auspices of the Hospital Aid association. Little tables seating from four to ten were arranged about the dining hall.

Before the lunch the demonstrator from the Heinz Company of Pittsburg, Penn., told of the growth of that company from a little home production of horse radish by a young boy to a large concern which now employed thousands in the producing of its famous pickles. The lunch was served to show that they not only made pickles but a great many other things, as the menu would show, it being as follows: Tomato soup, croutons, baked beans, pickles, rolls, salad, olives, mince meat for pies served on crackers, preserved cherries and hot coffee.

With the exception of the rolls, coffee and materials for the salad, everything was from the Heinz Company.

The lunch was daintily served and enjoyed. It was followed by a sewing bee, many ladies stopping to help make articles for the Hospital.

Fine Lectures.

Quincy Mansion School has been especially favored with lectures the past week. Mr. Leon Vincent gave his fine lecture on Charles Dickens on January 12th and on Tuesday evening Dr. Gordon gave a most delightful geography lesson to the girls in an account of his trip to the West Indies. His audience was so enthusiastic that he has been persuaded to continue his narrative sometime in the near future.

Spray At Shipyard

The steam trawler Spray is again at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, where her boilers are receiving attention.

TODAY'S COURT.

William Eastman, William Nelson and Frank J. Mullen were fined $5 each for disturbing the peace at Milton.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Why Refer to Doctors

Because we make medicines for them. They know all about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, so they prescribe it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak lungs, consumption. They trust it. Then you can afford to trust it. Sold for over sixty years.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS
Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,
C. H. BROOKS'
NEW MARKET.
No. 1375 Hancock Street.
Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

MILTON.

The Warrant committee gave a hearing this week on the construction of Brook road between Canton avenue and Adams street.

Rev. Mr. Clark of Boston will preach at the Mission of Our Saviour church on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The annual ball of the Firemen's Relief Association will be held next Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bearse returned this week from a two weeks' visit to Brewer, Me.

There was a cake sale at the East Milton Congregational church Saturday afternoon.

A New Year's supper was served at the Baptist church on Tuesday evening.

The ladies guild of the Mission of Our Saviour church are arranging for a social to be held next week,

Death of Former Resident.

The body of Mrs. Levi Crane was brought to Quincy this morning for interment at Mount Wollaston. Mrs. Crane died at Taunton where funeral services were held Thursday. Mrs. Crane was formerly Miss Lizzie Lougee of Quincy Point, where she married Mr. Crane about 37 years ago. Mr. Crane at that time was a merchant at Quincy Point in the store now occupied by Charles Hall. He has since been in the custom house, and has resided at Brockton and Taunton.

MARRIED.

SHORTER—PHILLIPS—In Boston, at Hotel Ilkley, Jan. 18, by Rev. Edward Anderson, Mr. Wade Hampton Shorter of Virginia to Miss Elsie Cargill Phillips of Quincy.

DIED.

LINCOLN—In Boston, Jan. 18, suddenly, Mr. William L. Lincoln of Hingham, in his 6 th year.

CRANE—In Taunton, Jan. 16, Mrs. Lizzie Lougee, wife of Levi Crane, formerly of Quincy Point.

FOSTER—In Hyde Park, Jan. 18, Mrs. Sarah E., wife of Mr. Alfred Foster, in her 71st year.

GILMARTIN—In Hyde Park, Jan. 17, Mr. Patrick Gilmartin.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

TO LET

Burgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hayloft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 9-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 8.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 9 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

LOST.

LOST—A Gentleman's Watch, between Trafford or Taber streets and Masson's Polishing Mill. Finder will please return to JOHN SMITH, 44 Taber street, South Quincy.
Jan. 19. 1t

WANTED.

MRS ALIDA OLANDER, 15 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc. 187 1-2 Granite street.
Quincy Jan. 19 6t

AGENTS Wanted for Quincy, Dorchestor. Good money to right man. Call at stables, 80 Washington street, Quincy, after 5 P. M. Mondays, or address Ideal Tea Co. 10 Meridian street, East Boston. Jan. 19-8t-1s.

WANTED—Room and Board for young man near Water and Franklin streets. Address R., care of Post Office.
Quincy, Jan. 18. 2t

WANTED—Demonstrators, men or women. Good money. H. H. HOWARD, 330 Centre street, Dorchester. Jan. 17-3t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.50 day. Good references. MISS B. J CARLSON, 45 Curtis street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-6t

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF.
Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy.
Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9 tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleveriy Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

medicines for them.
t Ayer's Cherry Pec-
scribe it for coughs,
eak lungs, consump-
Then you can afford
r over sixty years.
ublish J. C. Ayer Co.,
dicines. Lowell, Mass.

NESS
Jan. 17,
KS'
ET.
Street.
st of every-he stock of arket.
tf

ADVERTISEMENTS.

OST.

gman's Watch, between aber streets and Masson's nder will please return to Taber street, South Quincy.
1t

NTED.

DLANDER, 15 years with Hall will go out by the shing or any housework.
of weddings, parties, etc.
et.
6t

d for Quincy, Dorchester, to right man. Call at gton street, Quincy, after or address Ideal Tea Co., 10
Boston. Jan. 19-8t-t.s.

om and Board for young
Water and Franklin streets.
Post Office.
2t

monstrators, men or women.
y. H. H. HOWARD, 330
ester. Jan. 17-3t

seamstress would go out
0 day. Good references.
SON, 45 Curtis street.
6t

SALE.

new and second-hand
ncy Variety Co.'s. WAL-
Manager, Water Street,
Nov. 15-tf

LET.

ET—On Washington street,
; one of the best locations in
Apply to E. R. STONE,
Jan. 13-6t

nt, warm Rooms now va-
GREENLEAF.
Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

two large Rooms at 1416 et, over McConnell's Fruit for either Professional or session given immediately.
TSON, 49 School Street.
lp tf

nicely furnished Rooms in
. All modern conveniences.
land road, Quincy.
tf

Wollaston, a pleasant, Fur
, with or without board.
Ledger office.
tf

Building, 50x40, two story storage or manufacturing cock street, Quincy. Apply
WILSON, Office, 1433
July 11-tf

m with table board in private ace heat, electric lights, etc.
line on Washington street.
Park. Dec. 18 tf

opening for a Druggist's
Hancock and School streets,
dward J. Murphy. Posses-
t. Apply to GEORGE H.
Quincy, Oct. 9 tf

TO LET.

LL at No. 1605 Hancock en leased by Polar Star
n, and can be rented for ents and lodge purposes.
Apply to THEODORE
Buckley street, Quincy.
tf

N. CURTIS
GLAZIER.
TAINED GLASS.
d Paper Hanger.
TURE REFINISHED.
. of Spear Street, Quincy
phone 318-2.

A. HAYDEN
Tuner.
Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock
verly Court, Quincy Point
Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Probate Busine
Savings Bank Building.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Vol. 18. No. 18. QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

SPEAK WELL OF QUINCY AT ALL TIMES.

GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S

Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS

WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

ECONOMY.

COAL

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

Clean Coal Means Economy for

YOU.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

E. M. FREEMAN,

653 Washington Street, Corner South Street,

QUINCY POINT.

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages.

FOR SALE.

BOARDING HOUSE BUSINESS.
near Fore River Plant.
Furnishings of eighteen (18) rooms with good will of well established business.

To Let.

No. 42—One Half Double House.
EYMOUTH LANDING.
Seven (7) rooms and bath.
Hot water heat, good cellar and attic.
Fruit trees and garden.
$18 per month.

For Sale.

No. 1—$3,000.
All the year round
DELIGHTFUL HOME.
Near salt water at North Weymouth.
7 Rooms and Bath. Electric Lights.
All modern—on line of electrics.

TO LET.

No. 149—Two Rooms for Light Housekeeping.
NEAR POINT BRIDGE.

For Sale.

HOUSE LOTS.
Riverside Lawn,
(Formerly Federhen Estate.)
Lots from 6c. to 12c. foot.
This is a tract of the best land offered for sale at Quincy Point.
Easy payments or discount for CASH.

FOR SALE.

For $2,300 and $2,600 I can offer you
Two very Desirable Homes, near Hose House,
QUINCY POINT.

TO LET.

No. 153—House, seven (7) Rooms and Bath. Modern conveniences, electric lights, etc. $25 per month.
QUINCY POINT.

TO LET.

No. 154—House, eight (8) Rooms and Bath. Steam heat electric lights. All modern. $40 per month.
WASHINGTON ST., QUINCY.
Let only to private family.

FOR SALE.

No. 156—House, nine (9) rooms.
Hot water heat—modern.
6,000 feet land—ELM STREET.
Price $4,200.

☞ I have a good list of desirable properties and some of the best land that has been placed on the market for years

☞ A lady said to me yesterday "I felt quite calm a few days ago, when the building opposite me was in flames, on account of the insurance you placed for me recently."

☞ If you are without insurance—secure it without delay of E. M. F.

☞ Have you a farm for sale—productive or unproductive—in size from three to ten acres, not over four or five miles from Quincy? It must be very reasonable in price. I have a customer looking for a hen farm.

☞ Are you going away, and wish to store your furniture, tool chests, trunks, or valuables? I have accommodations for storage goods—and will quote you a reasonable rate.

E. M. FREEMAN.

The Social Realm.

Our lives are songs;
God writes the words
And we set them to music at leisure;
And the song is sad or the song is glad
As we choose the fashion to measure.
We must write the song
Whatever the words,
Whatever its rhyme or metre;
And if it is sad, we must make it glad,
And if sweet, we must make it sweeter.
Gibbon.

* * *

A particularly interesting meeting of the Pickwick club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Plummer, Greenleaf street on Wednesday evening, when Mr. John O. Hall and Mr. Plummer ably assisted by club members soared to realms above and visited the planet Uranus.

* * *

Judge and Mrs. E. C. Bumpus are giving a dinner in honor of Mrs. Pearl Craigie on Jan. 26th at the Algonquin club. The dinner will follow the reception given Mrs. Craigie at hotel Vendome by the Woman's Press club.

* * *

Miss Marion Swesy of Beverly is spending a week with Mrs. E. C Butler.

* * *

Mrs. Henry W. Smith of New Bedford is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles M. Bryant. Both have the sympathy of friends this week in the death of their brother, Mr. Frederick W. Jennings.

* * *

The Norfolk club will hold its annual dinner on Saturday afternoon, Jan 27, at Hotel Brunswick, Boston, with Congressman Duncal E. McKinley of California as the speaker.

* * *

Mrs. Frank Fessenden Crane of Washington street entertained the Emerson club at her home on Monday afternoon, when there was a full attendance and a pleasant meeting held. Readings from Browning's "Idyls" entertained the members.

* * *

The ball given last evening at hotel Somerset, Boston by Mrs. Roger Wolcott, Sr., of Milton and Boston, for Miss Mary Amory, who was presented to society last week, was a very swell affair. Dinner was served to 144, covers being laid for twelve at each table. The decorations were pink roses except at the debutante table which was of white lilacs. The hall room was in smilax and laurel.

The fourth meeting of the Kitnalta club met on Thursday evening at the home of Miss Laura Hall. Prizes were won by Miss Mabeth Fish, Miss Gertrude Warren, Miss Laura Hall and Miss Addie Ruggles. The next meeting will be with Miss Florence Gray on February first.

* * *

Miss Corinna Wilde of Billings street has been visiting in Cambridge this week.

* * *

The event in Quincy's social life is the annual assembly which occurs this year on Friday evening, Jan. 26th, at Quincy Music hall. Prominent people of this city and Braintree are among the list of patronesses and there are many subscribers which indicate that it will be a most brilliant affair and probably the most successful one ever held.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs of Ashmont, formerly of Atlantic, welcomed a son into their home last week.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin of Huntington road, East Milton, added a little daughter to the home circle on Friday of last week. Their other child is a boy. Mrs. Goodwin was Miss Mabel Tanner of Spear street, Quincy.

* * *

Hon. and Mrs. William B. Rice of Adams street have gone south for several weeks' stay.

* * *

Since the announcement last week of their engagement, Miss Susan Godfrey Morse of Boston and Mr. Carleton Cushing Lane of this city has been showered with congratulations. Miss Morse has also been the recipient of many beautiful flowers and gifts from her host of young friends.

* * *

The Shakespeare club of Atlantic attended The Merchant of Venice at the Castle Square theatre Thursday evening. The club leaves no stone unturned to foster enthusiasm among its members.

* * *

The regular meeting of the Women's Alliance will be held at the Unitarian chapel on Monday, Jan. 22d, at 3 P. M. Rev. Mr. Parks of the North church, Hingham, will give a paper on "Unitarians and the Missionary Spirit."

* * *

A regular meeting of the Social Science and Literary club was held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Thompson, 11 Squantum street, Jan. 16. A very interesting paper—Peonage, or the Lease System of Convict Labor was read by Mrs. Conway. King Richard III was the study. Members of the club wishing red tickets for the Federation meeting Feb. 2, may obtain them of Mrs. Francis L. Conway.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Parker, of Bath, Me., have been visiting friends in Wollaston for the last few days.

* * *

Several Wollaston young people attended a very pretty party Saturday evening given by Mrs. de Silva, of Roxbury, for her daughter Miss Joan de Silva. Games and dancing were enjoyed and dainty refreshments served.

* * *

Information has just been received here, of the marriage of Mrs. Margaret Gray to Mr. George H. Hackett, both of Burlington, Vermont. Mrs. Gray will be remembered as Miss Margaret Gould, daughter of Thomas A. R. Gould of South Quincy, and formerly a compositor in the Patriot office.

* * *

A number of Quincy people attended the Shorter—Phillips wedding at Hotel Ilkley, Boston, on Thursday evening.

* * *

Mrs. John G. Faxon, president of the Fitchburg Woman's club, a large club which has been doing good club work for nearly twelve years, is to be one of the soloists at the musicale of the Quincy Women's club on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Faxon is a popular president and a most delightful woman socially. She is the wife of John G. Faxon, a former Quincy boy, son of Mrs. Annie E. Faxon.

At the Holy Cross Cathedral in Boston at 9 o'clock this morning there was a notable wedding when James Donovan, recently superintendent of streets in Boston, was married to Miss Henrietta Louisa Webber, sister of Chief Webber late of Boston and Quincy. Mr. and Mrs. Donovan will take a trip to the Pacific coast.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morton entertain their whist club on Wednesday evening of next week.

* * *

Members of the Quincy and Squantum Yacht clubs attended a vaudeville show given at Hingham last evening by the Hingham Yacht club. It was a society event on the South Shore, and a success in every way.

* * *

Chandler W. Smith of Wollaston has been to New York this week on a business trip. He returned to Boston last night accompanied by his son Mr. C. Nelson Smith of New Rochelle.

* * *

Fogg's opera house at South Weymouth was prettily decorated last evening for the annual ball of the Weymouth Firemen's Relief Assocation, and there was a large attendance from all the neighboring towns. Edward Fahey of East Weymouth, the president of the association was chief marshal.

* * *

One of the most enjoyable of the small social affairs of the week was the luncheon given on Thursday by Mrs. George W. Morton of Spear street. Covers were laid for ten.

* * *

Among the well known people who will be guests at the reception given in honor of Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) by the New England Woman's Press association, next Friday afternoon at hotel Vendome, Boston, are: Gov. and Mrs. Guild, Mrs. Roger Wolcott, Mr. and Mr. William Dean Howells, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Revere Frothingham, Bishop and Mrs. Lawrence, ex-Gov. Long, Col. T. W. Higginson, Real Admiral and Mrs. Snow and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kitson. Mrs. Craigie's Quincy cousins, the Eldridges and Blackmurs and friends are planning to attend.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown of Bridgewater are stopping at the Greenleaf hotel.

* * *

A surprise party was tendered Miss Hattie A. Tilton of Rawson road on Tuesday evening. After a very enjoyable entertainment given by the Tilton family and members of the party, a very neat presentation of a handsome gold signet ring and an umbrella took place. Mrs. Tilton made a very effective presentation speech which was one of the features of the surprise. Refreshments were served.

* * *

F. E. Larkin of the U. S. Navy, assigned to the battleship Rhode Island, now under contract at the Fore River Shipbuilding plant, is stopping at hotel Greenleaf, until her departure.

* * *

P. L. Glenn and family of Long Island have been spending a few days at The Greenleaf. Mr. Glenn is connected with the Holland Submarine ship building at the Fore River works.

* * *

Representative George L. Barnes of Weymouth was the guest of honor last evening at the annual ball of the Veteran Firemen's Association of Stoughton. The attendance was large.

* * *

Ex-Mayor Charles M. Bryant has been in Cincinnati the past week attending a poultry show.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud of this city had a family reunion on Wednesday, Jan. 17, at their residence on Washington street, entertaining his sisters, brothers and wives of South Weymouth. These pleasant family gatherings are held frequently, and thoroughly enjoyed. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Loud, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loud, Mr. and Mrs. Gilman B. Loud, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Loud, Mrs. Mary L. Cady, Mrs. Maria J. Lewis. There were ten present, their combined ages reaching seven hundred years, the oldest being 81 and the youngest 63.

Silver Anniversary

Celebrated by Quincy Branch Of Irish Land League

The Quincy branch of the Irish National Land League which enjoys the distinction of being one of the first leagues to be formed in this state, observed its silver anniversary last evening at Malnati hall.

Although now affiliated with the United Irish League its still retains its old name.

John Cavanagh was chosen president at the institution of the league Jan. 16, 1881, and has filled that office practically ever since.

In his address of welcome President Cavanagh gave a brief history of the league. He said it started with a membership of 59, and the other officers besides himself were: Vice President, James Collins; secretary, George Cahill, and treasurer, Thomas McDonnell.

All these officers, with the exception of the president, had passed away, as had also, at least 24 of the charter members. The present membership was 60.

Other speakers were John O'Callaghan of Boston, National secretary of the United Irish League, M. H. Crehan of Boston, and John J. Byron.

Mr. Callahan spoke of the conditions which surround the people of Ireland today compared with those of 25 years ago, when Charles Stewart Parnel and his confreres started the movement for home rule in Ireland. It was only a question of time when victory would crown their efforts.

Mr. Crehan spoke of the advance made by the people of Ireland and predicted that when Ireland had home rule the emigrations to the United States would largely diminish.

John J. Byron spoke of the work in general of the league.

During the evening there were songs by Peter McCourty, Joseph Fay, Robert Wylie, Morgan Davis, Miss Josephine Daley, Miss Maria McCarthy and Miss Annie Cahill. Irish horupipe by Richard McCarthy, and recitations by George D. Cahill.

The festivities of the evening closed with dancing, Edward Burns being in charge of the floor.

—Albert S. Barbour of Natick has been elected superintendent of schools at Hyde Park.

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB

MINSTRELS,

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24
THURSDAY, JAN. 25

Quincy

MUSIC HALL.

Chorus of Thirty-Five.
Six End Men,
Full Orchestra,
Original Songs
and Sketches.

Tickets from Members

25c, 50c, 75c.

Curtain, 7.45. Cars, 10.15
Quincy, Jan. 19. 6t

FRANCE'S ANSWER

Will Be Delivered to President Castro by Warships

SITUATION IS DELICATE

Washington Will Not Permit Treatment of Our Minister Similar to That Accorded the Representative of France

Washington, Jan. 20.—Three French warships are now off the Venezuelan coast, prepared to deliver the answer of France to President Castro's treatment of M. Taigny, the French representative at Caracas, by a naval demonstration in Venezuelan waters. Two additional warships will join them as soon as they can make the trip across the Atlantic. Until the demonstration has been initiated the French government will share only with the president and Secretary Root the knowledge of the exact form which this expression of her displeasure at President Castro's action will take.

Meantime the delicacy of the situation at Caracas is greatly increased by news which has recently reached here from the Venezuelan capital regarding the attitude President Castro now appears to be assuming toward Mr. Russell, the American minister.

Unless this attitude is radically modified it may be necessary to dispatch an American warship even nearer the Venezuelan coast than has already been planned. President Castro, it is said, will be given to understand that any treatment of an American representative such as that accorded Taigny will not be tolerated by the Washington government.

The only cause which can be assigned here for Castro's coolness toward Russell is that the former insists upon regarding as personal rather than official the efforts which Russell, acting under instructions from Washington, has made to assist in a peaceful settlement of the Franco-Venezuelan troubles. The request of the French government that its interests in Venezuela be looked after by Russell was immediately granted, for the reason that such a request is invariably granted by a friendly power, however difficult the task.

France has adopted a simple program for her treatment of the Venezuelan situation. It provides for an immediate and comprehinsive apology by President Castro for his treatment of Taigny, which treatment the Paris officials regard as "insulting" and "intolerable." Until this apology is made discussion of the claims and other grievances which France has against Venezuela will be withheld. The French government regards the action of Castro's agents in La Guaira, in refusing to permit Taigny to return to shore after he had boarded a French liner, as an act of war. France demands that her representative shall receive the same treatment at Caracas as is given the Venezuelan representative at Paris.

In continuance of the policy rigidly adhered to, Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, who has kept the Washington government informed at every stage of the course to be pursued by France in Venezuela, had a long conference with Secretary Root yesterday afternoon. Jusserand gave to the secretary a detailed account of the latest treatment to which Taigny was subjected, which was substantially the same as the account given by Taigny to a press correspondent at Willemstad several days ago.

It now appears that three important dispatches containing instructions for Taigny never reached him, and the supposition is that they were intercepted by the Venezuelan government. This is regarded as a very serious phase of the situation and will be thoroughly investigated by Russell. Care also will be taken to insure the delivery without interception of all dispatches to Russell.

One dispatch sent Russell last Sunday had not been delivered to him up to the time the last dispatch was sent by him to the state department. This is being inquired into by the department. The latest information received from Russell came in a dispatch sent Thursday and the facts it contained were communicated to the French ambassador yesterday afternoon.

Whether the French squadron will content itself for the present with a peaceful blockade or will go to the extent of seizing a custom house is not known. Should the latter step be taken it is probable that a neutral power would be asked to receive all customs dues collected, that the powers having claims against Venezuela which are now undergoing settlement may not be made anxious by the French demonstration.

It can be announced that a French demonstration in Venezuelan waters under the circumstances will be viewed here with complacence.

Depew Not In Good Health

New York, Jan. 20.—Senator Chauncey M. Depew was in consultation here with several physicians and it was announced that he had cancelled all his social engagements. Chauncey M. Depew, Jr., says his father has no intention of giving up his work in the senate.

The Ecuadorian Rebellion

Guayaquil, Jan. 20.—The revolutionaries have entered Quito (the capital of Ecuador). Vice President Baquerizo Moreno has assumed executive power and will appoint a new cabinet.

CAR COLLAPSED

Jumped From Elevated Tracks and Plunged Thirty Feet

New York, Jan. 20.—The middle coach of a three-car elevated train on the Cypress Hills branch of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company was derailed at an "uncontrolled" switch and plunged 30 feet from the overhead structure to a vacant lot. The forward end of the car struck a heavy boulder. For an instant the car stood on end, then fell heavily to one side, splitting from end to end and collapsing into a mass of wreckage.

Of the 12 passengers who went down with the car, Simon C. Wilson was killed and the others more or less seriously injured. A guard named Samuel Rosenthal was probably fatally hurt.

Police Captain Cullen reports that immediately after the accident employes of the railroad requested permission to burn the wrecked car. This, he says, he denied. Going upon the elevated structure to get evidence as to the condition of the switches, Cullen says he was surprised to see flames burst from the wreckage. The fire department was called, but the remnants of the cars were practically destroyed before the coroner reached the scene to investigate.

Culberson Seeks Information

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Post says: Senator Culberson's resolution calling upon the war department to inform the senate what members of the civil and military government in the Philippines have become financially interested in land and other valuable property in the islands probably will be responded to within a few days. Secretary Taft has cabled the acting governor of the Philippines, Mr. Ide, to ascertain everything available on the subject and report the result of his inquiry as soon as practicable.

Gans Knocks Out Sullivan

San Francisco, Jan. 20.—Joseph Gans, the Baltimore chocolate drop, got back into the pugilistic game again when he defeated Mike (Twin) Sullivan of Boston in the 15th round of a furious battle scheduled for 25 rounds. Both fighters declared before entering the ring that the mill would be of rapid fire variety, and they made good. It was a case of hammer and tongs in every round and in the 15th the Baltimorean slipped over one that sent the Boston man to dreamland—a clean knockout.

Personnel Needs Revision

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—After a long conference, the committee of 25 men invited by the Republican city committee to confer with that body to revise the rules of the Republican party in Philadelphia decided not to participate in their proposed revision, declaring that the Republican city committee does not come to the independents with a just title, that it is the creature of snap-primaries, and that what the people want is not merely a revision of the rules but a revision of the personnel.

Americans Run Whole Show

Washington, Jan. 20.—Broad charges as to the indifference of American officials in Porto Rico to the wishes of Porto Ricans were made by Mayor Robert Todd of San Juan, in a hearing before the house committee on insular affairs. Todd charged that the six American members of the executive council, who are also the heads of the departments of the insular government, do not consult the five native members of the body and do not even invite them to meetings of the council.

"Urgent Deficiency" Sample

Washington, Jan. 20.—Reform in the matter of making deficiency appropriations occupied the house. The urgent deficiency appropriation bill was being considered and one specific illustration of the need for reform which was cited was the appropriation of $2165 for a portrait of ex-Attorney General Knox, which Attorney General Moody had paid for out of the contingent fund of the department of justice and for which the bill makes provision to reimburse.

Disorder Not Anticipated

St. Petersburg, Jan. 20.—There is little prospect of any disorder Monday next, though the revolutionist labor organizations and a vast mass of the liberals of Russia are determined to honor the memory of the ill-starred followers of Father Gapon by the cessation of work and pleasure on the anniversary of their death. A dispatch to The Associated Press from Moscow says that no bloodshed is expected there.

White an Important Factor

London, Jan. 20.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Algeciras emphasizes the conviction that Henry White, who heads the American delegation, will play a highly important part in the Moroccan conference. Due account has not been taken, he says, of the power White will exert as the spokesman of a great and peace-loving republic.

Simpson Held For Grand Jury

Northport, L. I., Jan. 20.—The preliminary hearing of Dr. James W. Simpson, the New York dentist, accused of the murder of his father-in-law, Bartley T. Horner, was concluded last evening and Justice Partridge held Simpson for the action of the grand jury which meets in March. The accused man was taken to Riverhead jail.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Jan. 21.
Sun rises—7:08; sets—4:44.
Moon rises—4 a. m.
High water—8 a. m.; 8:45 p. m.

Fair weather is indicated for New England, followed by snow or rain in north and west portion.

CANOEISTS

By DONALD ALLEN

Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

Among the things Pillsbury Smith prided himself on were his luck with women and the way that he could manage a canoe. It was said of him that he had such a taking way that in seven minutes by the clock he could make an old maid wince with palpitation and that he could manage a canoe better than any Indian ever born. There might have been other things in his life to brag of, but they were kept in the background. He was a man of about thirty-eight, well to do, and matrimony was not in his line.

There were three or four reasons why Pillsbury Smith appeared at Gosport one day in August and informed the landlord of the village inn that he might stay the month out. One was canoeing. He was an authority on hooks and lines and bait and fish. At Gosport a bay swept in almost to the steps of the hotel, and one part of it in escaping to the lake again fell over a dam and furnished water power to a sawmill. It was an ideal place for canoeing, and the fishing was always good.

On the first morning after his arrival Mr. Smith arose at the early hour of 7; but, early as it was, a fine view rewarded him as he stepped out on the veranda. A girl about eighteen years old was paddling about the bay in a canoe. She was bareheaded and attired in such a manner that he easily reasoned it out that she was camping with a party on one of the islands in the bay.

It was altogether improbable that she had heard of his arrival in the village, but she maneuvered up and down in front of the hotel in a way that gave him the impression that she was showing off for his benefit. This naturally flattered him, and when he saw that, according to his standard, she didn't know the first thing about managing a canoe, the way to make her acquaintance seemed clear to him. Before he could launch his canoe she had disappeared, but his disappointment was not to last long.

At 9 o'clock he took his station at the head of the mill race to fish. Within half an hour the girl joined him. That is, she appeared on the other side of the race, climbed up on an old water wheel and threw in her line without seeming to be aware of the existence of Smith.

THE BARKS WERE NOT TEN FEET APART WHEN THEY TOOK THE LEAP.

In the first place the girl was not fishing with the proper hooks or bait. In the next her position was dangerous. At any moment she might slip and be carried over the dam. Thirdly, Pillsbury Smith had given her every chance to recognize his presence, and she had failed to do so.

"Excuse me, please," he said finally, "but you can hardly expect to catch any fish with such hooks and bait. If I may be so bold as"—

In reply she hooked a three pounder and hauled it out.

"By Jove!" exclaimed Mr. Smith.

The girl's second fish was much larger, and as she was playing it Mr. Smith's excitement got the better of him, and he called across:

"Give him line—more line! You are sure to lose him if you don't!"

The girl did not turn her head, but landed that fish and two more before he had had a bite. Then she got into her canoe and paddled off toward one of the islands.

That afternoon Mr. Smith learned that the girl belonged to a party of campers on the island opposite and that she seemed to be one who had her own way about things. Most of her time was spent on the bay, paddling, fishing and shooting at mud hens with a shotgun, and she had been seen paddling along the edge of the nine foot dam as if she contemplated a trip over its brink.

"Ba Jove, but I will take her under my wing, as it were," said the club man to himself, and that night he left orders to be called at 6 o'clock next morning.

He launched his bark just as the girl came sweeping up, but though he planned to pass within six feet of her she stared straight ahead and did not acknowledge his existence by so much as the flicker of an eyelash. She showed no disposition to leave the waters because he was there, but paddled about for nearly an hour to get an appetite for breakfast. The first time Mr. Smith addressed her he said:

"Your pardon, I am sure, but you sit too far forward in your canoe. The bow of the craft should rest on the surface, instead of pushing the water in front of it."

There was no response, except that perhaps she moved an inch or two farther forward, and ten minutes later he tried again.

"If I may make so bold I would say that you grip your paddle altogether too high."

She let her hands slide up to grip it higher and turned the bow of the canoe toward camp. Mr. Smith hoped the girl would return to the race that afternoon to fish, and he was not disappointed. She appeared at half past 2 o'clock and went right to business. He gave her a friendly nod as she appeared, but her eyes were on her fish line.

The club man saw that he had a flint hearted girl to deal with and he did not know how to act with her. The best he could hope for was that she might fall into the race from her insecure position, and it was this hope that had caused him to tie his canoe at a convenient spot. If he could have the luck to save her life she must unbend.

The thing that Mr. Smith wanted to happen did happen. The girl was playing a big fish when she suddenly lost her balance and went into the water with a great splash. While Mr. Smith was hoping for and half expecting it, he wasn't prepared for the event. He had to secure his fish pole and then untie it. It was all of a minute and a half before he was afloat. Then the girl was out of sight. He drove the canoe down the race, but fate was against him. It struck a snag and turned over, and he had a hard swim to reach the bank. When he had shaken the water from his clothes and looked around the first thing he saw was the girl. She was fishing in her old place.

"Ba Jove, but I thought you drowned!" called Mr. Smith when he had walked up the stream to his old place.

The girl lifted her hook and renewed the bait, but that was all. Mr. Smith and his canoe withdrew for the rest of the afternoon, but that night he took a terrible resolve. That girl should recognize his presence on earth or he would run her down and drown her. He had fully made up his mind to that when he fell asleep and he was firm in the resolve when he turned out at sunrise.

He was hardly afloat when he caught sight of the other canoeist. Something in her attitude expressed defiance. She paddled up the bay, and he followed. When a good half mile above the dam she turned her canoe and stiffened up. It was a plain challenge to a race, and Mr. Smith accepted it.

The girl had a start of thirty feet, and the man generously allowed her to keep it for half the distance. Then, to his surprise, though he put forth every effort he could to close the gap, he could only do so inch by inch. Soon he saw that she was making for the center of the dam. Had he been offered $100 to send his canoe over that fall he would have refused it. He wanted to refuse now, but the figure in the canoe ahead was defying him. He was a canoeist, and, if he dared not follow where a girl led, what would become of his reputation?

He hoped until the last moment that it was only a bluff and that before the canoe approached too closely it would sheer off, but the girl held her way and the barks were not ten feet apart when they took the long leap.

An hour later Pillsbury Smith opened his eyes. He was in his bed in the hotel.

"How do you feel?" asked the doctor.

"Say, did I save her life?" was asked.

"No, you dunce. She swam to the bank with you and afterward saved both canoes."

"Ba Jove, doctor; ba Jove!"

Land and Water.

John Murray in his learned monograph entitled "The Height of the Land and Depth of the Ocean," calculates that our globe's total area of dry land is equal to 55,000,000 square miles and that the area of the ocean is 137,200,000 square miles. He estimates the volume of dry land above the level of the sea at 23,450,000 cubic miles and the volume of all ocean waters at 323,800,000 cubic miles. He also gives figures to prove that the mean height of the land above the sea is 2,250 feet and the mean depth of all oceans 12,480 feet. It is estimated that the rivers and other streams carry into the ocean each year sediment to the amount of not less than two and a half cubic miles and that they also carry away not less than 1,183 miles of matter in solution. Murray, Peterman, Von Gosse and other noted geographers, hydrographers, mathematicians and civil engineers spent much time figuring on the above estimates and find that, according to the calculations given, it will take 6,340,000 years to transport the whole of the solid land into the oceans.

Why He Didn't.

A gentleman in a strange city desiring the advice of a lawyer entered one day an office on the door of which he read the name, "A. Swindle, Attorney-at-law." After receiving excellent counsel he ventured to say to the lawyer: "You, sir, are a splendid type of man, and why do you place yourself open to ridicule by wording your sign as you have done? Why not put your first name in full?"

"I would, indeed," smilingly replied the lawyer, "were not my first name Adam!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Mortgagee's Sale.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Wallace C. Sprague to the City Trust Company dated July 24, 1902, and recorded with Plymouth Deeds, Book 849, Page 330, Norfolk Deeds, Book 927, Page 293 and Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 2,902, Page 303, for breach of the condition of said mortgage deed, will be sold at public auction at the Real Estate Exchange, 4 Liberty Square in Boston in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on TUESDAY the thirtieth day of January, 1906, at twelve o'clock noon, so much of the property conveyed by said mortgage as now remains subject thereto, namely:

A certain lot of land situated on the North side of Auburn Street in Whitman, in the County of Plymouth and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, containing 8 acres 150 rods, more or less and bounded as follows:—Beginning at the center of the center abutment of the bridge near the ice houses; thence running north six rods and fifteen links to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence south 89 degrees 30 minutes east six rods and two links to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence north two degrees west fifty rods and fifteen links to a stake at land formerly of William H. Dudley; thence north 86 degrees west by land formerly of said William H. Dudley twenty-seven rods and seven links to a stake at land formerly of Joseph Reed, but later of William Glover; thence south 3 degrees west thirty-five rods; thence south no degrees 35 minutes east sixteen rods and eighteen links by said Glover's land to Auburn Street; thence south 75 degrees 30 minutes east eleven rods and five links to said land formerly of said William H. Dudley; thence north five rods to a point formerly marked by a stake; thence easterly by said land formerly of said William H. Dudley; fourteen rods to the north end of the first course above mentioned.

Also a certain lot of land situated in said Whitman lying on the northerly side of Auburn Street and bounded and described as follows:—Beginning at the south west corner of the lot at the middle pier of the bridge that spans the stream near what is known as the "Dudley Ice-House;" thence running northerly by the middle of the stream and in the easterly line of land formerly of said William H. Dudley, one hundred and six feet to a point marked by a stake north of Dam and to other land formerly of said Mary F. Dudley; thence easterly by land of said Mary F. Dudley (being the land above described), one hundred feet to a stone monument at land now or formerly of Wilmot V. Everson; thence southerly by said land of said Everson one hundred eighteen and three quarters feet to said Auburn Street; thence running westerly by said Auburn Street sixty five feet to the point of beginning;

Also a certain lot of land situated on the north side of Auburn Street, in said Whitman containing 80 rods, and bounded as follows, to wit: Beginning on said street at the south easterly corner of the premises; thence northerly six rods and fifteen links; thence westerly thirteen rods and twenty links; thence southerly five rods to said street; thence easterly by said street thirteen rods and twenty links to the point of beginning; together with the dam, formerly used in connection with said premises, and the stone and other materials used in the construction of said dam, if any there be now remaining on the premises of land formerly of Lebbens Smith, and later of Wilmot V. Everson, and the right to enter in and upon the premises of said Everson at all times, to repair or rebuild said dam. Also the right to flow the premises of said Everson to such height as the said grantees may desire from the first of November in each year to the tenth of April in the succeeding year. Also a right and privilege to flow and cover with water at all times hereafter forever all land now or formerly of William H. Dudley, situated in said Whitman, and above the water stop and dam above referred to, so far as the same may be flowed and covered by water by said dam, as now constructed; also any and all other rights of flowage, running with said privilege.

A certain lot of land in said Whitman lying on the northerly side of Auburn Street that is known as lot No. 80 on map No. 2 drawn and surveyed by J. C. Torrey, Civ. Eng. May 1892, and recorded with Plymouth Deeds Blank Book 1, page 157; and bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at the north east corner of May and Auburn streets, and running easterly in the northerly line of Auburn Street, ninety-seven feet to the land formerly of Bradford French; thence northerly in the westerly line of the Bradford French land two hundred twelve and one half feet, more or less, to the south east corner of lot 81, as laid out on said map; thence westerly thirty-four feet, in the southerly line of lot 81 to May Street; thence southerly in the easterly line of said May Street one hundred eighty-four feet to the point of beginning, it being a part of the same premises conveyed to Wilmot V. Everson by Samuel R. Smith, December 12, 1890. The deed of which was recorded with Plymouth Deeds Book 618, page 219.

A certain tract or parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in the village of North Hanson, in Hanson in said County of Plymouth, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a corner of land now or formerly of the F. P. Howland heirs, at head of lane, so called, and running south 64 degrees 38 minutes W. six hundred and ten feet to the channel of the mill pond; thence by said channel up stream about five hundred feet to a point in range of the old stone wall; thence N. 29 degrees 9 minutes E. by said wall about fifty feet to a fence; thence by said fence south, five hundred and twenty-five feet; thence east to a point in range of west line of said lane and seventy feet from point of beginning; thence in a southerly direction seventy feet to the point of beginning. Said tract contains 4 acres of land, more or less, with an ice house and its equipments which are all hereby conveyed together with the use of the land above referred to, subject nevertheless, to the usual repairs abutting the above described premises, and their proportionate part from the point of beginning, above described, to the highway.

A certain parcel of land containing four and one-half acres more or less, situated north of Washington Street in said Hanson, and bounded as follows:

Beginning at the northeast corner of the land conveyed to Borden and Lantz by deed dated Feb. 20, 1896; thence westerly by said land four hundred and four feet to a stone wall; thence northerly by said wall, five hundred feet to a wall at right angles, being the southerly line of a former wood lot of Frank Bourne; thence easterly by said wall four hundred and sixty feet to a point eighteen feet from the bounds of the land now or formerly of Joseph White thence southerly by a line parallel to and eighteen feet from the westerly line of the land of Joseph White, to the point of beginning, being part of the premises conveyed from Frank Bourne by deed dated, August 22, 1894. The right of way between the above described lot and the land of Joseph White, grantee, to have the use of, but to keep open and in good passable condition.

All that certain lot, piece or parcel, together with the ice houses and the other buildings and improvements thereon, said premises being on the northerly side of Granite Street in Abington in said County of Plymouth, and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at the south easterly corner of the premises on Granite Street, at a stake at the corner of premises of the late N. O. Holbrook; thence running westerly by said street nine rods to the south easterly corner of premises now or late of D. Y. Soper; thence northerly by said Soper's land ten rods to the northeasterly corner thereof; thence westerly along the northerly side of said Soper land to the north westerly corner thereof; thence westerly to the thread of the mill stream, so called, in said pond; thence northerly to the thread of the stream running westerly through said pond; thence easterly till it intersects a line of the northerly range of the westerly line of the house lot of the late N. O. Holbrook; thence southerly in range of the westerly line of the said Holbrook lot to north westerly corner of said lot; thence southerly along the westerly side of said lot to the point or place above mentioned. Part of the aforementioned premises are subject to a perpetual right of flowage.

A certain lot or parcel of land with the ice houses and other buildings and improvements thereon, situated in Quincy and Braintree, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at a post and stones on the southerly side of Wendall Road, near and north east from the ice house of Adelaide E. White, and running thence southerly by a wire fence, as it now stands, to a stone wall; thence by said wall southerly to a stone wall running about east and west; thence easterly along said stone wall to a stone wall running southerly; thence southerly along said wall to a stone wall running westerly; thence westerly along the said wall to a stone wall running northerly; thence northerly along said wall to two maple trees standing on the northerly side of an old railroad embankment and dam; thence easterly along the northerly side of said embankment to a large elm tree standing near the ice house runs of said White; thence by stone wall in a curved line, northerly, northwesterly and westerly to a stone wall running northerly; thence northerly along the said wall and until it intersects southerly line of Wendall Road at a point west of said White's ice house; thence along southerly line of Wendall Road easterly and passing by northerly side of said White's ice house to the point of beginning.

The above property includes property conveyed by Francis H. Crane to Osborne Rogers by deed dated June 25, 1892, recorded February 26th, 1892, with Norfolk Deeds Book 668, Page 269.

The property conveyed by Joseph Crane to Carry S. Rogers by deed dated December 15, 1894, recorded May 5, 1895, with Norfolk Deeds, Book 735, Page 8.

A certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in Arlington, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth and bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Spy Pond; northwesterly by land now or late of Philip Whittemore; northeasterly by the location of the Arlington branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad, formerly the Lexington and West Cambridge Railroad; southeasterly by Pond Lane so called. Also a certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in said Arlington and bounded as follows: Southwesterly by Spy Pond; northwesterly by Pond Lane, so called, northeasterly by the location of the aforesaid railroad; southeasterly by land of the heirs of John P. Wyman, deceased, formerly of Samuel F. Wyman, deceased.

A certain parcel of land with buildings thereon situated in said Arlington, being lots 5 and 6 on a plan of lots belonging to George E. Richardson, drawn by J. O. Goodwin, Surveyor, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 51 plan No. one said lots being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner of the described premises on Pond Lane and next to lot 7 the line runs southeasterly along lot 7 one hundred eight and 48-100 feet to land of William E. Wood; thence northeasterly along land of said Wood one hundred feet to lot 4 on said plan; thence northwesterly along lot 4 one hundred and fifty-seven and 81-100 feet to Pond Lane; thence southwesterly along Pond Lane one hundred and thirty-five and 94-100 feet to the point of beginning, containing 15,259 square feet. Being the same premises conveyed to E. John Kaufman by Charles W. and H. Ella Ilsley in her own right by deed dated May 22, 1902.

All the property conveyed or transferred by said mortgage other than that herein above described has been released from said mortgage.

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments.

Terms cash. $3,000 to be paid by the purchaser to the auctioneer at the time and place of sale and the remainder in ten days thereafter.

FREDERICK H. ALLEN.
Assignee and present holder of said mortgage.
Hill, Bangs, Barlow & Homans, Attorneys,
53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
January 3, 1906
Saturday, Jan. 6. 3t

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 9.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co. Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

post and stones on the endall Road, near and north house of Adelaide E. White,
southerly by a wire fence,
a stone wall; thence by said stone wall running about east asterly along said stone wall running southerly; thence wall to a stone wall running esterly along the said wall running northerly; thence d wall to two maple trees therly side of an old railroad am; thence easterly along said embankment to a large ear the ice house runs of
by stone wall in a curved hwesterly and westerly to nning northerly; thence said wall and until it inter-
of Wendall Road at a point
's ice house; thence along Vendall Road easterly and side of said White's ice
beginning.

tv includes property con-
Crane to Osborne Rogers
5, 1892, recorded February
olk Deeds Book 668, Page

veyed by Joseph Crane to ieed dated December 15,
6, 1895, with Norfolk
ge 8.

of land with buildings
rlington, in the County of ommonwealth and bounded ws:

Spy Pond; northwesterly
e of Philip Whittemore;
ocation of the Arlington
ton & Maine Railroad, ton and West Cambridge
ily by Pond Lane so
ain parcel of land with situated in said Arlington
llows: Southwesterly by sterly by Pond Lane, so
by the location of the utheasterly by land of the yman, deceased, formerly
, deceased.

and with buildings thereon rton, being lots 5 and 6 on ng to George E. Richard-
Goodwin, Surveyor, re-
ex South District Deeds,
No. one said lots being
d as follows: Beginning scribed premises on Pond
the line runs southeaster-undred eight and 48-100
E. Wood; thence north-said Wood one hundred an; thence northwesterly dred and fifty-seven and d Lane; thence south-Lane one hundred and eet to the point of begin-259 square feet. Being nveyed to E John Kauff-
nd H. Ella Illsley in her d May 22, 1902.

oveyed or transferred by than that herein above
ased from said mortgage.
e sold subject to any and sessments.

0 to be paid by the purer at the time and place
inder in ten days there-

ERICK H. ALLEN.
holder of said mortgage.
Homans, Attorneys,
ston, Mass.

3t

DOWN SALE.
TRIMMED HATS
ry low prices
LEICHMAN,
South Quincy,
tf

H. BURGESS,
urance, Mortgages
nd Appraiser.
Constable.
Bills Collected.
ies a Specialty.
ams Building, Room 13
Office, 219-3
Residence, 25-6

F. BURKE,
and INSURANCE.
GAGES.
Notary Public
Bank Building.

t a BARGAIN.
d Square Piano
Terms.
Granite Street.
EATING,
nd Furniture, Stoves,
d Carpets.
aiser. Nov. 21-tf

OOD
Order at Short Notice
avel and Posts.
f all Kinds
HEN & SONS,
nd Street.
Tel. 207-2, Quincy

ion Hotel
1,00 Per Day Up
Central Station.
York
To and From Station FREE

TRACY,
surance of all kinds
d and Estates
d For.
hington Street.
Justice of the Peace.
ts For Sale or To Let
d Houghs Neck.
tf

'S ENGLISH
YAL PILLS
and Only Genuine.
eciale. Ladies, ask Druggist
ESTER'S ENGLISH
Gold metallic boxes, sealed
. Take no other. Refuse bstitutions and Imitayour Druggist, or send 4c. in rticulars, Testimonials for Ladies," in letter, by re-0,000 Testimonials. Sold by Chichester Chemical Co.
a Square, PHILA., Pa.

The Federal Government

in common with large employers of bonded persons, prefers Corporate Suretyship because of its greater stability.

Those who are required to furnish Internal Revenue Bonds, as brewers and tobacco manufacturers; or who desire guarantees on Contracts for Supplies to the State, or to the Federal Government, will save themselves annoyance by coming to us.

When the Local, the State, or the United States Government requires a bond of you, apply to the

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Atty. Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties.
Dinners and Suppers.

Also Hancock Hotel
Newly Furnished Throughout.
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER.
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
Office Hours: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5. Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

"Now that you have saved my life," he said in a low, tremulous tone, "what are you going to do with it?"

Her eyes opened almost as widely as they had at her first sight of him in her garden. There was a long pause before she replied, and when she did it was to his considerable surprise.

"I have never seen a play except the funny little ones we acted at the convent," she said. "But isn't that the way they speak on the stage?"

Crailey realized that his judgment of the silence had been mistaken, and yet it was with a thrill of delight that he recognized her clear reading of him. He had been too florid again.

"Let us go." His voice was soft with restrained forgiveness. "You mocked me once before."

"Mocked you?" she repeated as they went on.

"Mocked me," he said firmly. "Mocked me for seeming theatrical, and yet you have learned that what I said was true, as you will again."

She mused upon this, then, as in whimsical indulgence to an importunate child:

"Well, tell me what you mean when you say I saved your life."

"You came alone," he began hastily, "to stand upon that burning roof"—

"Whence all but him had fled!" Her laughter rang out, interrupting him. "My room was on the fourth floor at St. Mary's, and I didn't mind climbing three flights this evening."

Crailey's good nature was always perfect. "You mock me, and you mock me!" he cried, and made her laughter but part of a gay duet. "I know I have gone too fast, have said things I should have waited to say, but, ah, remember the small chance I have against the others who can see you when they like. Don't flout me because I try to make the most of a rare, stolen moment with you."

"Do!" she exclaimed, grave upon the instant. "Do make the most of it! I have nothing but inexperience. Make the most by treating me seriously, won't you? I know you can, and I—I"— She faltered to a full stop. She was earnest and quiet, and there had been something in her tone, too, as very often there was, that showed how young she was. "Oh," she began again, turning to him impulsively, "I have thought about you since that evening in the garden, and I have wished I could know you. I can't be quite clear how it happened, but even those few minutes left a number of strong impressions about you. And the strongest was that you were one with whom I could talk of a great many things, if you would only be real with me. I believe, though I'm not sure why I do, that it is very difficult for you to be real. Perhaps because you are so different at different times that you aren't sure yourself which the real you is. But the person that you are beginning to be for my benefit must be the most trifling of all your selves, lighter and easier to put on than the little mask you carried the other night. If there were nothing better underneath the mask, I might play too."

"Did you learn this at the convent?" gasped Crailey.

"There was a world there in miniature," she answered, speaking very quickly. "I think all people are made of the same materials, only in such different proportions. I think a little world might hold as much as the largest, if you thought it all out hard enough, and your experience might be just as broad and deep in a small corner of the earth as anywhere else, but I don't know! I want to understand—I want to understand everything! I read books, and there are people, but no one who tells me what I want—I"—

"Stop!" He lifted his hand. A singular exaltation rose in him, together with the reckless impulse to speak from the mood her vehement confidence had inspired. He gave way to it.

"I know, I know," he said huskily. "I understand all you mean, all you feel, all you wish. It is all echoing here and here and here!" He touched his breast, his eyes and his forehead with the fingers of his long and slender hand. "We sigh and strain our eyes and stretch out our arms in the dark, groping always for the strange blessing that is just beyond our grasp, seeking for the precious unknown that lies just over the horizon! It's what they meant by the pot of gold where the rainbow ends—only, it may be there, after all!"

They stopped unconsciously and remained standing at the lower end of the Carewe hedge. The western glow had faded, and she was gazing at him through the darkness, leaning forward, never dreaming that her tight grasp had broken the sticks of the little pink fan.

"Yes," she whispered eagerly. "You are right; you understand!"

He went on, the words coming faster and faster: "We are haunted, you and I, by the wish to know all things, and by the question that lies under every thought we have, the agonizing Whither? Isn't it like that? It is really death that makes us think."

She shivered slightly, but her steadfast eyes did not shift from him. He threw back his head, and his face, uplifted to the jeweled sky of the moonless night, was beatific in its peacefulness as he continued in an altered tone, gentle and low:

"I think all questions are answered there. The stars tell it all. When you look at them you know. Do you see the constellations swinging above us, such unimaginable vastnesses, not roving or crashing through the illimitable at haphazard, but moving in more excellent measure and to a finer rhythm than the most delicate clockwork man ever made? Ah, when you wonder look above you—look above you in the night, I say," he cried, his hand upraised like his transfigured face. "Look above you and you will never fear that a sparrow's fall could go unmarked."

It was not to the stars that she looked, but to the orator, as long as he held that pose, which lasted until a hard ridden horse came galloping down the street. As it dashed by, though the rider looked neither to right nor left, Miss Betty unconsciously made a feverish clutch at her companion's sleeve, drawing him closer to the hedge.

"It is my father."

"It is my father," she said hurriedly in a low voice. "He must not see you. You must never come here. Perhaps"—She paused, then quickly whispered: "You have been very kind to me. Good night."

He did not speak again, but, taking a step backward, smiled faintly, bent his head in humble acquiescence and made a slight gesture of his hand for her to leave him. She waved him an uncertain farewell and ran into the garden, both palms against her burning cheeks.

(Continued in next issue.)

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

HENRY L. KINGAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

MONEY MATTERS

Motive Ascribed For the Tragedy at Pembroke

BULLET IN ONE BRAIN

Other Bodies So Badly Burned That No Indication of Cause of Death Remains--Quarrel Over Division of Property

Pembroke, N. H., Jan. 19.—While the official report of the tragedy of Wednesday, by which the lives of all the eight members of the household of Charles H. Ayer were blotted out, will not be completed probably for several days, the county authorities believe that a dispute over money matters furnished the motive for Ayer's alleged crime.

The theory held by County Solicitor Clifford is that Ayer shot his mother-in-law, Mrs. Laura Lakeman, that his wife interfered to protect her mother, and that, hoping to conceal the evidences of his act, the man in a frenzy put an end to the lives of the entire family. His own death by suicide occurred some hours later at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Bailey, in Chichester. Immediately upon the arrival of a messenger announcing the burning of his house, Ayer drew a revolver and fired a shot into his own brain.

According to the county authorities it is known that Ayer had had trouble with his mother-in-law over the estate of her husband, the late Isaac Lakeman, who died about three years ago, leaving as his principal property the homestead farm on which the tragedy occurred. As administratrix of the estate, Mrs. Lakeman had recently disposed of the farm by sale to one of her sons, Lafayette Lakeman, though the latter had not taken possession. Ayer's desire for a division of the proceeds of this sale is said to have led to a dispute with Mrs. Lakeman, and this is considered by the authorities as pointing to the motive for the alleged wholesale murder.

The discovery yesterday of a bullet in the brain of the charred body supposed to be that of Mrs. Lakeman shows the manner of her death, but the bodies of the other victims were so incinerated that no indication of the cause of death remains. Only three cartridges were fired from the revolver with which Ayer shot himself, so that some other weapon must have been used in carrying out a part of the murderous work.

The authorities have a theory that after shooting Mrs. Lakeman, Ayer aimed a bullet at his wife, who had perhaps interfered to save her mother, and that he afterward killed the children and set fire to the house. The theory that the mother and children were locked in the cellar and burned to death is not regarded as likely, as it is believed that some at least would have been able to make their escape by the cellar window.

Mrs. Ayer was a woman of more than average strength, so that there is considered to be a strong likelihood that she met her death before Ayer made his supposed attack upon his five children. No noise of revolver shooting was heard by any neighbor, so that the time the tragedy was enacted is not known.

The bodies of all the victims of the tragedy rest together in the rooms of an undertaker in Suncook. No arrangements have been made yet for the funeral service.

Tillman Resolution Tabled

Washington, Jan. 19.—There was an echo of Wednesday's stormy session in the senate when Mr. Tillman presented his resolution directing a senatorial investigation into the removal of Mrs. Minor Morris from the White House. The resolution provoked no debate. Tillman said that he would not have introduced the resolution but for the taunts of Mr. Hale. When he concluded, Mr. Daniel moved that the resolution be laid on the table, and this disposition was made of it by a vote of 54 to 8.

Death in Prize Ring

New York, Jan. 19.—"Kid" Goog, a prize fighter, was killed in the second round of a three-round bout last night in a place known as George McFadden's club. Goog's opponent was known as "Kid" Sis, who has escaped. Both were 18 years old. There were about 500 spectators present and when Goog, whose real name is Nathan Rosenberg, was found to be dying there was much excitement. Four arrests were made of men alleged to be connected with the affair.

Chinese Rights In Thibet

Pekin, Jan. 19.—British Minister Satow and the Chinese officials are discussing Thibetan affairs. The Chinese persist in their refusal to sign the Thibetan treaty. They are anxious to assert the sovereignty of China over Thibet and are considering a project to send a Tartar general to govern the country with a force of foreign-drilled troops to be stationed at Lhassa, the capital.

Burglar Suspects Arrested

St. John, Jan. 19.—The police here arrested a negro who refused to give his name and William Daley, a white sailor of Eastport, Me., on suspicion of being implicated in the attempt to rob the Red Beach (Me.) postoffice and the shooting of Watchman James Brown, who surprised the burglars at work.

SMARTEST FOOLS ON EARTH

Commodore Benedict's Opinion of the American People.

Commodore E. C. Benedict was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Hotel Elton, in Waterbury, Conn., the other night, says a special dispatch from Stamford, Conn., to the New York Times. After the dinner he expressed his views on some public matters in his characteristic manner.

"How much longer shall we be content to be the smartest race of darned fools that ever existed?" he asked, adding:

"If this country was administered on business principles, without regard to politics, we would soon own or control everything in the world that is worth owning or controlling, and that without firing anything but a commercial shot. The country suffers vastly more from the acts of its lawmakers than the acts of its lawbreakers in impeding commerce, in discriminating in taxation and in uncivilized methods of finance.

"The stock speculators of Wall street have been accused by financial editors of being the cause of high money rates. The statement is absurd. Wall street is the heart of this country's financial system. Back of it are the veins and arteries which quicken or retard its pulsations. The fault is with our currency system. Wall street is no more chargeable for the high rates of interest than are the hands of a clock responsible for the marking of time."

RELIC HUNTERS AROUSED.

Rockefeller Expedition In Sudan Excites Rivalry by British.

The authorities at the British museum in London will soon make a special effort to interest the government in the purchase by the public of valuable Egyptian relics, says a special cable dispatch from London to the Chicago News. This action, it appears, is due to the information that John D. Rockefeller has commissioned a well known American Egyptologist to survey the whole of the Sudan and has placed practically unlimited finances at his disposal to pick up anything he can that is worth buying.

The most famous Egyptologist in England, in the course of a recent interview, said he sincerely trusted the government would take some decided steps to deal with the habit of American millionaires of presenting their native towns with Egyptian antiquities, for with their wealth the Americans seemed able at present to snap up everything that is precious in connection with Egypt's past.

SUNDAY EGGS FOR CHURCH.

Money Received For Those Laid on Sunday Goes to Debt Fund.

The Forest City (Pa.) Methodist Episcopal church is raising money to pay debts, and one novel method was adopted, says a special dispatch from Forest City, Pa., to the Philadelphia Press.

A year ago Jesse Rounds, a poultry raiser of Uniondale, agreed to give as his share of the debt subscription all eggs laid by his hens on alternate Sundays throughout the year. He recently reported to the Epworth League the amount of money raised, for he turned the eggs into cash. Six hundred and twenty-seven were laid, and their market value was $11.11.

Instead of the money the congregation will take its value in chicken and will give a chicken supper.

Miss Alice Roosevelt's Fine Furs.

Miss Alice Roosevelt, the president's daughter, will have in her trousseau a set of very valuable silver fox, the skins of which were presented to her in Hongkong by the British governor general, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York Times. They are now being made up by a Washington furrier, who has been ordered to deliver them on Feb. 15 at the White House. The collar will be in the wide stole effect, reaching far down the back and running to a point close to the hem of the skirt in front. The muff will be in the prevailing large flat shape, and there will be a toque of the same, with a white feather. The collar and muff will be lined with pale gray brocaded satin.

Telephones In Mad Dog Roundups.

Telephones are being used almost daily in the farming districts to give warning of dogs which are afflicted with rabies, says a Winsted (Conn.) dispatch to the New York Tribune. Whenever a dog thus afflicted is seen in the country the farmer making the discovery telephones ahead to his neighbor, who shoots the canine before it can attack his stock.

Mule Pawned For Marriage License.

James Richardson of Rodger Mills county, Okla., recently tendered a mule as a chattel to a Cheyenne money lender in order to get funds with which to get a marriage license and pay the preacher, says the Guthrie Gazette. He had ridden the mule in—eighteen miles—and expected to walk back in time for the wedding.

Letter Box Novelty.

Letter boxes with electric bells are being erected in Paris in consequence of frequent thefts of letters. When the flap which covers the slit in the box is moved the bell rings.

Canes With Lights.

Illuminated walking sticks are among the latest applications of electricity. A small incandescent lamp is concealed in the head of the cane and can be ignited by a spring.

Speedy War Craft.

Forty-one miles an hour will be the speed of the next torpedo boat destroyer to be built for the British navy.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 5.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 5.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6 21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.21 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 2d, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.42, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Fortunately, the City Council of 1905 did not vote favorable on the order for the purchase of the lighting plants of the city as a step toward municipal lighting. The new City Council will probably take the same view of the suject, especially since Corporation Counsel Babson has given his opinion this week. In part he says:

"The provisions of law applicable to the matter are contained in chapter 34 of the Revised Laws, as amended by chapter 410 of the acts of 1905. This chapter is in substance an act prohibiting a city or town from establishing a gas or electric light plant unless it buys the PLANTS already existing within its corporate limits at a price to be fixed by the courts if the companies offer to sell. Section 2 of the act provides that a city shall not acquire such a plant until it is authorized by a vote of two-thirds of each branch of its City Council passed in each of two consecutive municipal years and thereafter ratified by a majority of the voters at an annual or special city election.

"If the second vote required by section 2 of chapter 34 has once been passed and approved by the mayor and has been ratified at a city election, the city is definitely committed and cannot thereafter rescind its action no matter how unwise or impractible under existing laws and conditions the undertaking may thereafter be found to be. (Hudson Electric Light Company vs. Hudson, 163 Mass., 346.)

The price to be paid by the city for the property and plants of the companies is its fair market value for the purpose of its use. This has been interpreted by the courts to mean its value as a going plant.

Under the provisions of chapter 34 of the Revised Laws, section 15, the mayor, committees of the city council and experts employed by the city to determine the value of the plants offered for sale, were authorized to examine the property and report on its value and the desirability of its purchase. As far as I am informed nothing of the kind has been done by the mayor, committees of the city council or experts employed by the city.

"The provisions for the payment of the purchase money appear in sections 7 and 8 of said chapter 34, and bonds may be issued for that purpose outside the debt limit, provided the whole amount of bonds so issued shall not at par exceed 2 1-2 per cent of the valuation of the city according to the last preceding State valuation."

Mr. Babson also found that the companies valued their plants at twice as much as the city was allowed to borrow for the purchase. This might be the case in Quincy where two and one half per cent of the valuation is less than $600,000.

It is not municipal light which the people of the city desire, but good light at a fair price, which a live company can supply at as low a figure as a municipality. May the efforts therefore to establish a new company and new plant in Quincy be successful.

It has been a subject of some comment that the Boston press did not report more fully the memorial service to Henry H. Faxon which was held at Tremont Temple. Can it be, as one gentleman commented, that the Boston press is afraid of offending the rum interests? During his life, the Boston dailies were anxious to publish Mr. Faxon's bombshells, because there was ginger in them, but when it comes to praise of the temperance apostle and good temperance doctrine it seems to be different. It was a notable service and the readers of the Daily Ledger were favored with an almost verbatim report. It was a pleasure to publish the eulogies of one whom all Quincy should respect.

Lucky Escape

Frank, the 12 year old son of Councilman E. R. Stone had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning. He had driven his father to the depot and was returning home. While on Washington street near the Public library, he got caught between an electric car and a grain wagon. To save himself he ran into the grain wagon. He was thrown out and the buggy and harness badly smashed.

Fortunately the young man was uninjured save from a severe shaking up and bruises. He continued his way home on horseback.

The Wollaston Glee club will give their concert at the Washington street, Congregational church Wednesday evening Jan. 24, at 8 o'clock.

Drum Corps Ball At Braintree

The sixth annual concert and ball of the Braintree Fife and Drum Corps, held in the Town hall last night, was very successful socially and financially. From eight-thirty to nine Cuff's orchestra of seven pieces rendered the following concert program:

March,	College Life.
Concert waltz,	Loveland Waltzes.
Overture,	Popular Medley.
Intermezzo,	In Roseland.
Xylophone solo,	Selected.

Two professional musicians assisted the orchestra; Gerald A. Sullivan at drums and xylophone, Henry J. Harding with flute and piccolo.

During the concert program the matrons, Mrs. H. C. Thayer, Mrs. S. S. Bridgham and Mrs. M. C. Gillette, received. They were charmingly gowned and carried pink carnations and violets. Mrs. Bridgham wore grey Eolian silk over pink silk with oriental lace; Mrs. Gillette, black silk Point d Esprit with jet and sequin trimmings, girdle of pink silk; Mrs. Thayer, Alice blue voile over blue silk.

Past-matron occupied a cosy bower at the left of the stage. Mrs. W. H. Cuff, Mrs. W. A. Torrey, Mrs. G. W. Stevens, Mrs. N. G. Torrey, and Mrs. C. B. Cummings, were past matrons. Mrs. Cummings was unable to be present.

At nine o'clock the grand march led by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. David was a display of dress suits and pretty dresses. Mrs. David wore white eolian silk over tafeta silk. Miss Pearl Madan was gowned in white feau de cygne with lace trimmings.

The floor was in charge of Arthur C. David and he was assisted by Walter R. Howland, James G. Cuff, Frank C. Allen, Courtney Atkinson and members of the corps.

At midnight a supper was served in the lower hall, the caterers being Westover & Foss. The dance was continued until two o'clock. A special car was run to Braintree and Quincy.

The members of the drum corps worked hard in preparing for the ball, and the hall looked very pretty with decorations of blue and white streamers, potted plants, etc.

The success of the ball is due to the committee of arrangements; Arthur C. David, James G. Cuff, Walter R. Howland, Courtney Atkinson and Frank C. Allen.

Railroad Magnate of State of Maine.

The Bangor News, of Jan. 14, says that it is rumored upon good authority that John R. Graham would within a short time take over the management of the Lewiston, Brunswick and Bath street railway, which operates 60 miles of track.

The company operates in Auburn, Brunswick, Bath and Lewiston.

Mr. Graham is now Preisdent of the Bangor Railroad and Electric Co. and Public Works Companies.

Mr. Graham has made great improvements in the Bangor lines since he assumed control and if the new deal goes through it means a great deal to the places reached by the lines.

New Officers.

Quincy lodge, N. E. O. P., 261, installed the following officers last evening. Afterwards a collation was served to the many visitors. The officers are:

Past Warden,—Catherine Harvey.
Warden,—Alton Baker.
Vice Warden,—Mary E. Spooner.
Chaplain,—Joshua Howe.
Secretary,—Laura E. Holt.
Financial secretary,—Lois J. Davidson.
Treasurer,—Albert Taber.
Guide,—Edwin Bliss.
Sentinel,—Henry Langelier.
Trustee for three years,—Catherine Harvey.

Local Ins And Outs

Quincy may have "gas to burn."

It tried hard to snow this morning,

There will be no meeting of the City Council until Feb. 5.

The Republican City Committee will meet for organization next Saturday evening.

Handsome calendars given at the dance tonight in Quincy Music hall; first 100 ladies.

It is reported that a Boston clothing company will open the large store in the new post office block.

Work was commenced this morning excavating at the northerly end of the High school building.

A large crowd attended the second "old-fashioned" dance which was held in Wollaston hall last evening.

A few people from this city took their pet dogs to Lynn this week and had them entered at the dog show.

A special meeting of the Granite City club will be held next Saturday evening to take action on beautifying the club rooms.

Dennis Foley, aged 74, who died in Charlestown yesterday will be brought to West Quincy on Sunday for interment.

The first supper to be given this season by the ladies of the First parish is to be on Wednesday evening of next week, the 24th.

Emily F. Fisher, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Fisher, Washington street, Weymouth Landing, died Wednesday night.

Two Quincy merchants were hailed into court this morning for selling adulterated food that was not marked as such, as required by law.

The annual meeting of the Wollaston Yacht club will be held Tuesday Feb. 6. It is said that the club will have a new commodore this year.

Atlantic is proud to number among its structures at least one of brick, and this one is nearing completion rapidly. Its excellent site adds to its dignity.

Rev. E. W. Hunt of the Wollaston Unitarian church officiated yesterday at the funeral of Frederick W. Jennings. The body was cremated at Forest Hills.

The January meeting of the Hospital Aid association will be held at the Women's club house, Presidents hill, at three o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 25th.

Prof. Erastus Osgood the impersonator, and Master John Smith the soloist will assist at an entertainment at St. Chrysostom's church on Thursday evening, Feb. 1.

Miss Blanche Thayer, matron of the Quincy Hospital, after several months' rest, returned to the Hospital on Monday, where she has been warmly welcomed by her many friends.

Richard R. Freeman of Wollaston was reelected recretary at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Golf Association this week. He reports that 45 clubs belong to the association.

Dr. Whiton of the Board of Health visited the Wollaston school Thursday looking for symptons of measles, advising that any children having symptons should be sent home.

Charles F. Knowlton of this city who is to have charge of the consolidated departments, those of the superintendent of streets and city engineer at Marlboro, will begin his duties the first of next month.

Frank W. Nightingale gave his patent snow shoes for carriages a practical test this week and they worked to perfection. The snow shoes fit on each wheel and can be adjusted in a few minutes. In winter weather teamsters could carry a set of them on their teams and if caught in a snow storm it would be but the matter of a few minutes time to place the shoes under their wheels.

Friends of Mrs. Adelaide A. Claflin, formerly of this city, will sympathize with her and her family in their sorrow for the loss of mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lucinda Miller Avery, who passed from earth, very suddenly, Jan. 10, at the great age of about ninety-five years. Of most unselfish and devoted affections, she was a noble example of true womanhood, and is deeply mourned.

The Wollaston Congregational church has by a practically unanimous vote of its members adopted the free pew system. If the experience of other churches adopting this system is realized, a largely increased attendance will be the result of this action. It is hoped that many who seldom go to church will now attend. Everybody will be cordially welcomed.

—It is reported that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. will commence soon to operate an outside line of steamers between Boston and New York, under the name of the New England Navigation Company.

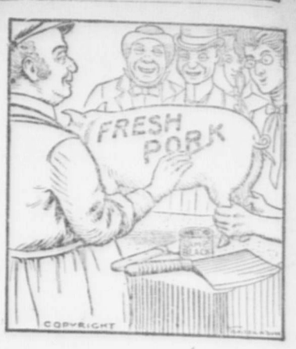

New Market!

J. K. Morton,

1249 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS, BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-2.

Falvey—Creegan.

At St. Mary's church, West Quincy, on Wednesday, Mr. Lawrence Johnson Falvey and Miss Anna Louise Creegan were married by Rev. Fr. Mitchell. Miss Alice McDonough was the bridesmaid and Mr. John Falvey acted as groomsman.

The bride's gown was of blue silk trimmed with fine lace. She wore a large picture hat of blue velvet and white ostrich tips. The bridemaid's gown was of white silk and her hat was white lace.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was held at their home, 175 Willard street. The presents were numerous and costly. Amid a shower of old shoes, rice and confetti, the happy couple departed for New York, to enjoy their honeymoon.

New Major.

Capt. W. G. Geekie has been promoted to Major of the Quincy battalion, and First Lieut. Henry Welch will fill the vacant position.

First Sargeant Stocker has been promoted to Battalion Adjutant.

C. G. M. Carlson has been appointed Battalion Sargeant Major.

The Atlantic company have a supper next Tuesday evening, tendered them by the battalion staff officers.

The boys are preparing for their fifth annual prize drill.

The earnest work of the Atlantic boys and their former commandant, Mr. W. F. Blake have been the means of starting a good company in Wollaston another in Neponset and it is thought that Mr. Lee of Quincy Point will have one under way pretty soon. With each company trying hard to go ahead of the other we should have plenty of exhibition drills in Quincy. Let us hope the good work will be upheld.

Twenty-one Years of Success.

New York, January 17, 1906.—At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the American Surety Company of New York, which was held today, the financial report for the fiscal year ending December 31st last was approved.

The report showed the total assets to be $6,193,137.53, and the total capital and surplus $4,845,466.30.

This is the largest Company in the world whose business is restricted to the furnishing of suretyship bonds.

It is operating in practically all the States and Territories, and in Canada, Porto Rico, Mexico and the Philippine Islands. Since its organization, twenty-one years ago, it has paid nearly $8,000,000 in claims.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

JEREMIAH CAREY,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Mary M. Carey of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t-20, 27, 3

Furniture Clearance Sale.

This time of the year above all others is the money saving time to buy house furnishings. Special bargains in every department with wonderful savings for everyone. Real downright legitimate bargains at this store. No inflated prices with large discounts taken off to mislead unthinking buyers.

Our prices are from 10 to 33 per cent lower than those of any other store on earth. The sooner you get the habit of buying at the Kincaide stores—the sooner your happiness will be more complete and your weekly cash balance larger.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

The Best of Job Printing at This Office.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START

—THE—

NEW YEAR

—WITH A—

New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.

1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —State House, Boston, Jan. 17, 1906. The Committee on Liquor Law will give a hearing to parties interested in a petition to amend the law relative to the sale of intoxicating liquor in the vicinity of public schools; and in a petition to revise the law relative to the distance to be maintained between public school buildings and premises where intoxicating liquors are sold, at room No. 439, State House, on Monday, Jan. 22, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. Daniel W. Lane, Chairman. Grafton D. Cushing, Clerk of the Committee.

Jan. 19 3t-21

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

oducts

Best.

AGE.

e.

ers is the rnishings,
ent with al down-ice. No
ken off to ent lower art's. The ng at the happiness eesky cash

& CO.
Store,
uincy.
ings.

This Office.

J. FEGAN,
r at Law.
B. Sullivan, Esq.,
t Building, Boston

Tel. Haymarket 724.
Justice of the Peace.
1p-1y

ARDWICK,
or at Law,
k Building, Quincy.
tain, City Square.
, Settlement and Care of Estates.
e Peace.
nd Conveyances.
M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
, Wednesday and Friday.
Saturday afternoons.

OSPITAL
Hospital of Quincy)
ORATED 1889
City Hospital of Quincy earn-ts and bequests for the En-
w amounts to over $60,000,
0,000 is urgently needed.
($5,000) will endow a Free
e may be given as the Donor
m for this noble institution ive us all in the hour of need, ceived.
MOTHY REED, Adams St.,
RET, RICHARD D. CHASE,
Quincy, will be very glad
r to answer any inquiries.

THE
hristian Association
NCY, MASS.
Incorporated 1892.)
e YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN
, with a firm faith in the great
h is being done for the young y, make their appeal for donaard paying the mortgage in-Association Building. When um debt it will serve as an s a goodly income from the prefer, such sum as might be ch Endowment for an educathe Boys Department, or as a ways, and could be designated Donor.

LLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive
General Secretary, ERNEST to answer inquiries.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

THIS MARK DOWN SALE

OF OURS IS

No "Goat" Proposition.

There are no "BUTS" to it. No "IFS" either.

These SUITS and OVERCOATS and this WINTER UNDERWEAR

Wouldn't be half as good value next July.

We are reducing them now while you can get plenty of wear out of them.

ALL HEAVY WEIGHT GOODS MARKED DOWN.

DON'T buy anything in our line until you have examined
We do not handle anything but Reliable Merchandise.

YOURS FOR GENUINE BARGAINS.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,
Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 18. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Boston Gas Co.

Said to be In Control Of Citizens Gas Company

It is understood that the Boston Gas Co. has taken over all of the property and franchise of the Citizen Gas Light Co., and will during the coming season lay several miles of new mains.

The Boston Co. will of course reduce the price of gas to a low figure. This combine will give all of Quincy Metripolitan gas as well as Metropolitan water, sewers and parks.

Puritan Lodge.

The officers elect of Puritan lodge were installed Tuesday evening by District Deputy Grand Master C. F. West and suite. The work was done in an especially fine manner.

The following officers were installed:
Noble Grand,—Harry L. Chase.
Vice Grand,—Fred M. Buzzell.
Recording Sec.,—Harry A. Simonds.
Financial Sec.,—William Bates.
Treasurer,—R. H. Woodsum.
Warden,—C. Gordon Whitcomb, Jr.
Conductor,—Courtney Atkinson.
R. S. N. G.,—Charles A. Hobart.
L. S. N. G.,—Frank C. Allen.
R. S. V. G.,—J. Sidney Storms.
L. S. V. G., Herbert Stevens.
R. S. S.,—George E. Woodworth.
L. S. S.,—Charles F. Mellen.
I. G.,—Forest I. Neal.
O. G.,—Walter Gieger.
Chaplain,—Henry A. Monk.

The District Deputy was assisted by the following: G. M. Past Grand Johnson; G. W. Past Grand Brown; G. T. Past Grand Smith; G. R. S. Past Grand Oakum; G. F. S. Past Grand Collett; G. A. Past Grand Furnald.

Puritan lodge is to be congratulated on having such an able deputy.

After the installation the doors of the banquet hall were thrown open and all present marched in to partake of a clam chowder supper, one of Brother Harry S. Bates' best. After supper the members and guests returned to the lodge room where speech making was the next in order.

The new officers now start on their work with the lodge in an excellent condition with plenty of degree work ahead of them. One application being received Tuesday night and one the week before.

All Odd Fellows in this section are now looking forward to the exemplification which is to be held Feb. 22, in the town hall, Braintree.

HARRY L. CHASE.

Noble Grand Harry L. Chase has been an active member for the past two years and we feel that the lodge will prosper under his leadership. He always stands ready to do his part and a little more. Members of Puritan lodge should give him their hearty support. [Editor.]

G. A. R. and W. R. C.

The Plymouth County Association of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. met in Brockton Wednesday. The business meeting of the G. A. R. was held in G. A. R. hall and that of the W. R. C. in the First Congregational church. On arrival of the train at Brockton the beautiful chimes of the Frst church greeted us, bidding all a welcome. The afternoon exercises were of a high order and the church was crowded with members of both orders, friends and townspeople. An orchestra was heard in various selections and a quartet entertained. Rev. Alan Hudson, pastor of the church, spoke eloquently, also Rev. Albert M. Hyde, D. D., the new pastor of the Porter church, and Rev. William Morrison. Mrs. Mary E. Knowles past dept. president gave three recitations in her usual fine style.

BRAINTREE.

Mr. Galvin, principal of the Noah Torrey school, and sixteen of his pupils will attend the Castle Square theatre today to see the Merchant of Venice.

Mr. J. D. Leatherbee long a citizen of this town was unanimously elected president of the old First Regiment Mass. Infantry Veteran Association last Monday evening.

Last Monday evening, the Matrons club met with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Woodsum of Pearl street. It was the first gentlemen's night of the season and a most enjoyable occasion it proved to be. The souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. E. E. Thayer, Mrs. F. W. Brett, J. E. Hayden and N. L. Wood.

Alfred Fisher and wife of Weymouth formerly of South Braintree have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss by death of their only child a little daughter one year old whose death occurred last Wednesday.

Mrs. G. W. Stevens of Tremont street has recently been entertaining her friend, Mrs. Knowlton of South Framingham.

The annual meeting of All Souls church parish will be held in the Sunday school room of the church on Monday evening Jan. 22 at 7.45.

Chester the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Connell of Monantiquiot avenue is quite ill.

Ten pupils from grades seven and eight of the Penniman school with the principal, Miss Clara Rowley, will attend "The Merchant of Venice," as presented by the Castle Square Stock Co. this afternoon.

A number of young people of this place attended a social last Wednesday evening, at the Presbyterian church, Quincy.

Elisha May and daughter Florence of St. Johnsbury, Vermont who have many relatives and friends in this town have gone to Camden, South Carolina, for the benefit of Miss May whose health is much impaired. They are pleasantly situated at "Sunshine Cottage" where it is hoped Miss May will soon improve.

Next Tuesday evening the people of the Braintree Baptist church are going to tender a reception to the new pastor, Rev. William O. Ayer. A special invitation has been given to the clergymen and prominent citizens of the town. Addresses and special music have been arranged. Refreshments will be served. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Ralph Chauncy Willoby of Weymouth and Miss Carrie M. Dillie of Rockland were united in marriage at Tremont Temple, Boston, on Sunday Jan. 14, by Rev. Mr. Parker.

John V. Powers was installed chief ranger of Monatiquot lodge No. 150 Foresters of America at Weymouth, Tuesday evening.

Benjaman F. Torrey who has been undergoing treatment at the Carney hospital for a serious eye trouble is now getting along nicely.

Mrs. Stevenson of Commercial street is doing well at the Quincy hospital and it is expected she will be able to come home soon to her little family.

Miss Lyle Graves has pneumonia at her home on Front street, Weymouth. We regret to learn of the severe nature of the disease and that two nurses are in attendance.

The entertainment at the Methodist Episcopal church on Wednesday evening was by the following talent: Mrs. Charles O. Miller, reader; Miss Vesta M. Dobson, soprano soloist; Mr. B. Brooks, Wollaston, clareint and saxophone soloist. "The three maids of B—" was amusing. Ice cream and candy were on sale.

Mrs. A. A. Richardson of New Hampshire, formerly of Allen street, East Braintree, is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Parker, who is not in good health. Mrs. Parker's friends of this locality hope to hear of her improvement under her mother's excellent care.

Chief Frank O. Whitmarsh attended the dinner of the Massachusetts Fire Chiefs' club at hotel Cecil, Boston, Wednesday.

The Abington High school basket ball team came to Braintree yesterday and were defeated at the gymnasium by the Thayer Academy team 12 to 6.

The Pond Cemetery association will meet with Mrs. C. H. Hobart Tuesday, Jan. 23, at half past two. There will be meetings every two weeks until the fair.

Blue Hill lodge No. 208 A. O. U. W. held a very interesting meeting at G. A. R. hall last Wednesday evening. Master Workman J. P. Poore has appointed a committee to arrange for a mock trial at the next meeting, Feb. 7, when one of the young members who is accused of matrimonial intentions, and who, has already been indicted will be placed on trial.

The Quincy Women's Club

The club is so well established now that its members can start special classes if they so desire. A choral class is about to begin regular work under the direction of Mrs. Jennie B. Worster. There are others, such as home science, cooking, current events, literature, arts and crafts, physical development, parliamentary law, etc., which members might find interesting and profitable if classes were formed. In the home department competent teachers may be found among the club members in Mrs. Wade or Miss Douglas.

The choral class meets this afternoon at the club house at half past two. The music is ready and rehearsals will be begun.

The music committee consisting of Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, chairman, Miss Alice G. Coe, Mrs. F. J. Moore, Mrs. F. A. Page, Miss Edith Randall, Mrs. H. W. Tirrell and Mrs. Levi H. Turner have charge of the meeting of the Quincy Women's club to be held at the club-house on Tuesday next, the 23d at 3 o'clock. It will take the form of a musicale and following is the program which club members will do well to cut out and carry with them:

Piano Solos
Menuet
March MacDowell—Bach
Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith

Vocal Trio
Flower Greetings Curschmian
Mrs. Irene Chipman Tirrell 1st Soprano.
Mrs. Emma Shufelt Moore 2d Soprano.
Miss Alice Gertrude Coe Contralto.
Mrs. Daisy Bemis Sampson Accomp'nist.

Aria from "Samson and Dalila"
Saint-Saens
Mrs. John Griffin Faxon

Piano Solo
Impromptu in F sharp—Op. 36
Chopin
Mrs. Smith

Vocal Trios
Snowflakes Cowen
Winds in the Trees Thomas—Lynes
Mrs. Tirrell, Mrs. Moore and Miss Coe:

Song Circle
a. The Rose Noel Johnson
b. The River and the Sea.
Mrs. Faxon.

Piano Solo
Gavotte Op. 4. No. 2. Sapellnikoff
Mrs. Smith

The committee think themselves particularly fortunate in securing Mrs. John Griffin Faxon to assist at the muscale. Mrs. Faxon is president of the Fitchburg Woman's club and will be enthusiastically welcomed on that account.

New Noble Grand At Braintree

Quincy will have a strong team in the New England roller polo league that was organized last week. There will be five teams in the league: Brockton, Quincy, Plymouth, Providence and New Bedford.

Quincy's team will be managed by John J. Whalen of Brockton, who is secretary of the league. Ten weeks' playing is planned, closing the season on April 21. Quincy's home nights will probably be about the middle of the week.

The schedule and players have not been arranged, but probably will in a few days. The playing will be commenced immediately after the completion of the new rink at Campello, probably by the tenth of February.

Wheaton Seminary Club.

One hundred and thirty-eight members and friends of the N. E. Wheaton club met at the Vendome, Boston, on Saturday. The programme consisted of eulogies on the life and character of Mrs. Eliza B. Wheaton, founder and patroness of the seminary at Norton, Mass. Miss Stanton who was principal of the school 17 years spoke of her unfailing kindness to the teachers and good reminiscenes of her summers at the Isle of Shoals.

Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln spoke of her generous gifts to the people of Norton during her long life and gave her own remembrances of her personal kindness to her and her mother.

Miss Mabel Perry told of her generosity to the town of Norton, giving the public library, rebuilding the church and chapel and also giving the High school a legacy of money.

Other papers were read from those not able to be present. Mrs. Louise B. Brooks sang at the close, "Goodbye sweet day."

Little Mike—"Feyther, what is an octogenarian?"

McLubberty—"An octogenarian, me b'y, is a mon thot has eight toes on aich fut."

Tenor (singing)—Oh, 'appy, 'appy, 'appy be the dreams.

Professor—"Stop, stop! Why don't you sound the H?"

Tenor—"It don't go no 'igher than G."

The Sunday Dinner List!

Fresh Pork Roast,	12c. lb
Leg Lamb,	15c. lb
Roasting Chickens,	18c. lb
Face Rump Roast,	15c. lb
Rib Roasts,	10c., 12c. and 14c. lb
Sugar Cured Hams,	13c. lb

Fresh Vegetables.

We have new Rhubarb, Fresh Lettuce, Spinach, Celery, etc., at lowest market prices.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257 and 263 Water St., Quincy Adams.
Telephone 367-3.
Jan. 20. tf

The Fore River Presbyterian Club

The letters "F. R. P. S. C." will recall a most enjoyable evening's entertainment to the minds of all who were present at the first grand concert given last evening in the First Presbyterian church by the Fore River Presbyterian Social club. The aim and object of the club, "To be good, and do good," had not been forgotten when the program was prepared.

The evening opened with a selection by the orchestra composed of Mr. Stuart, Mr. Harris, Mr. Park and Miss Alice Joss. This was followed by remarks from the chairman of the evening, Rev. N. J. Sproul, who made mention of the strength the club had gained since its organization although so short a time ago.

The songs by Mr. Thomas J. Campbell and Mr. Varney were much enjoyed and called forth enthusiastic applause from the audience as did also the cornet solo by Mr. Harris and the violin duet by Mr. Park and Miss Joss.

The quartette composed of Mr. Sinclair, Mrs. John Birnie, Miss Esson and Mr. Robertson, accompained by Miss Jessie Shirley. pleased the audience with favorite songs.

The pianist of the evening, Mrs. Thomas Milne, added much to the musical part of the program.

Special mention should be made of Miss Nelson of New York City, who was the reciter of the evening. The variety of Miss Nelson's selections testified to her ability, and her pleasing manner charmed her hearers. The audience was quick in expression of its appreciation and Miss Nelson was obliged to respond to an encore after each number.

Teams 4 and 6 Victorious

Two games were played in the Tubular Rivet bowling league Friday evening.

Team 4 was lined up against Team 1 and the former won by a total of 1274 to 1265. The summary:

TEAM NO. 4.

	1	2	3	Total.
Hey,	95	76	84	255
J. Thomas,	92	77	81	250
Manimon,	82	85	87	254
Phillips,	83	89	91	263
Cox,	72	94	83	252
Totals,	424	421	429	1274

TEAM NO. 1.

J. Thomas	80	80	85	255
B. Thomas	56	74	72	202
Ellison	103	88	109	300
Ago	67	71	88	226
Gallagher	85	90	107	282
	401	403	461	1265

The game between Teams 6 and 2 was won by the former, by a total score of 1239 to 1224. The summary:

TEAM NO. 6.

Raiche	93	84	75	252
De Coste	85	75	80	241
Crosby	70	71	75	216
Brown	81	83	79	243
Lee	87	97	103	287
	417	410	412	1239

TEAM NO. 2.

G. Stevens	77	85	78	240
Kolson	77	80	83	240
Mullen	88	83	110	281
Hoyt	65	76	81	222
H. Stevens	82	77	83	242
	389	401	434	1224

"One of the signs in the grocery store announced "Raspberry jam, 25 cents the jar."

"Ah!" said Mrs. Newliwed, isn't that dam jear?"

"Beg pardon!" exclaimed the grocer.

She tried it again.

"I said, isn't that dam dear?"

Then she blushed vividly and retired in confusion.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

LIBERALS' SWEEP

Two More Former Ministers Go Down Before It

A VICTORY FOR DEVLIN

Carries West Belfast, Where Rioting Is Indulged In--Liberals Will Invade Unionist Side of the House of Commons

London, Jan. 20.—The election returns continue to show Liberal gains. Two more former ministers were defeated yesterday—William Bromley-Davenport, financial secretary to the war office, and Sir Robert Finlay, attorney general for Inverness, Scotland. Another prominent Unionist, Sir Frederick Milner, was unseated.

The most interesting feature of yesterday's election returns was the capture of West Belfast by an Irish Nationalist, Joseph Devlin. Belfast has been a Unionist stronghold from time immemorial, with the exception of a few years when the seat now won by Devlin was held by Thomas Sexton. Devlin has also been re-elected unopposed for North Kilkenny, but he will hold the Belfast seat. He toured the United States in behalf of the Irish cause in 1902. Devlin's victory led to rather serious rioting, in which a number of houses were partially wrecked.

It is now believed that the Labor party will muster about 40 members in the new parliament, divided into three croups. The largest group, composed of 22 independents, will act and vote together. The next group in importance includes John Burns, William R. Cremer, Henry Broadhurst, Thomas Burt and other moderates, and this group is likely to co-operate with the government. The third and smallest group is composed of extremists of a socialist type. The question of inviting Sir Charles Dilke to lead the Labor party as a whole has been raised, but this is hardly practicable, considering the rivalries of John Burns and James K. Hardie.

In connection with the Liberal argument that the Unionist success at Birmingham was mainly owing to the personality of Joseph Chamberlain, it is pointed out as noteworthy that the seven members of Chamberlain's parliamentary tariff commission appointed in December, 1903, have been defeated.

Among the minor embarrassments of the new parliament will be that of finding seats for the enormous crowd of Liberal members, who will be compelled to invade the side of the house of commons hitherto occupied by the Unionists. It is estimated that there will be fully 300 absolutely new members.

It is said that J. F. P. Rawlinson, who has been elected in the Unionist interest for Cambridge university, will retire in favor of Mr. Balfour.

Ramsey MacDonald, secretary of the labor representative committee which is largely concerned in the election campaign on behalf of the Laborites, declares that the newspapers have not yet correctly appreciated the position attained by the Labor party or its causes. He asserts that the question of protection versus free trade was merely secondary, the real situation being that the Laborite propaganda had cut the working classes clean away from the Unionists.

Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, speaking at Berwick last night,, said that the wage earners of the country were beginning to take things into their own hands, but that he did not fear a revolution because the labor leaders were reasonable and practical men. It followed, he said, that, though there might be considerable legislative changes, such reforms would be reasonable and practicable.

Hard on Negro Children

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 20.—Senator Clover introduced into the Mississippi senate a concurrent resolution to amend the constitution by providing that no children shall be admitted to the public schools of the state, where the parent is liable for the poll tax for the current year and the same remains unpaid. If this amendment should pass it would bar nine-tenths of the negro children of the state from the schools unless the negroes pay the poll tax with greater frequency than at present.

Shoe Company's Big Deficit

St. Louis, Jan. 20.—Following a joint meeting of creditors and stockholders of the Tennet Shoe company, during which it was revealed that a total deficit of $583,630 between liabilities and assets exists, expert accountants were installed to ascertain the reasons for the deficit and it is stated that legal proceedings will depend upon the result of the investigation.

Inspector Forfeits $12,500 Bail

New York, Jan. 20.—A bail bond of $12,500 was forfeited by Charles Browne, a government customs inspector, who is under sentence to two years in Sing Sing prison for conspiracy in silk importation frauds. Browne was convicted and sentenced some time ago and had agreed to give himself up yesterday.

Our Ambassador to Japan

Washington, Jan. 20.—Luke E. Wright of Tennessee, governor general of the Philippines, is to be the first American ambassador to Japan, if the senate approves the nomination which President Roosevelt will next Monday submit to it. This announcement was made by Secretary Root.

PRIOR'S HEAVY LOSSES

Creditors May Get After Those Who Profited by Them

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—Acting on information that Leland W. Prior made a great many of his largest losses in the stock market while trading in a local brokerage house, a number of the creditors of the firm of Denison, Prior & Co. have started an investigation to see if there is any way by which a part of the money can be recovered.

Sensational developments in this case are probable and a number of prominent business men will be dragged into it in a very unpleasant manner if it can be proved, as it is claimed, that they are the backers of the firm where Prior met his losses.

The information has been in the hands of some of the people most interested in the Prior failure for some time, but they have withheld the information. It has finally been taken in hand by men who have been heavy losers. They intend to see if the manner of trading in which Prior was such a conspicuous loser was such as made the men who profited liable to his creditors for any part of the sum.

It is said that the office in which Prior speculated has been located. Customers at other brokerage houses on the same wire with the "club" office were amazed at the extent and size of the orders which it is said were sent therefrom every day.

Verdict Reached in Seven Minutes

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 20.—In the trial of Midshipman Bloebaum on charges of hazing, George H. Mann, Bloebaum's counsel, addressing the court in his behalf, said that this case was remarkable in the fact that witnesses had shown resentment against the accused and that, as was frequently the case, there was a girl at the bottom of it. The judge advocate defended Midshipman Caldwell from the imputations of the counsel for the defense. A verdict was reached in seven minutes, by far the shortest period in any case.

Says He Set Yacht Afire

New York, Jan. 20.—Testifying before a jury in the suit brought by the London and Liverpool Globe Insurance company to recover a part of the insurance money paid by the company to Mrs. Susan D. Parker, owner of the steam yacht Scythian, which was partly burned off Marblehead, Mass., in 1900, Captain James Cardiff, who commanded the yacht, declared he had set fire to the craft at the instance of the owner's husband, Dr. C. T. Parker. The insurance money paid to Mrs. Parker amounted to $21,000.

Will Not Recognize Unions

New York, Jan. 20.—The National Association of Directors of Structural Steel and Iron Work met in this city last night, with delegates present from nearly all of the large cities of the country, and passed a resolution declaring that hereafter it will stand for the "open shop" principle and will not recognize the International Association of Structural Iron Workers or any of the Housesmiths or Bridgemen's unions. The association employs about 200,000 men.

Numerous Arrests For Murder

Moorestown, N. J., Jan. 20.—More than a dozen negroes have been arrested on suspicion of knowing something about the murder of Miss Florence Allinson, who was found dead in the stable on the farm of Mrs. Edward Strawbridge. The negro who is suspected of having committed the crime is described as having worn, when seen on the farm, a long coat and a slouch hat, and every negro taken into custody yesterday was so attired.

Christian Doctrine Spreading

New York, Jan. 20.—Current events indicate the coming acceptance of Christianity of Japan as one of the fruits of the recent war, according to the annual report of the American Tract society. Among the cities from which, during the past year, have come requests for the permanent support of administrative secretaries, is Tokio, the Japanese capital.

Conservatives Opposed to Strike

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 20.—It is reported that the older and more conservative firemen along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western system are beginning to declare themselves forcibly against the proposed strike, and in two instances have resolved themselves into committees to oppose the declaring of a strike, no matter what the referendum vote may be.

Taggart Wants His Children

Wooster, O., Jan. 20.—On the ground that Mrs. Taggart has become in contempt of common pleas court in taking their two children from the state of Ohio, attorneys for Captain Taggart last night filed a petition to compel Mrs. Taggart to bring the two boys back into the state and surrender them to their father.

Many Victims of Collision

Atlanta, Jan. 20.—Two men were instantly killed, another is missing and a fourth fatally scalded as the result of a head-on collision between a freight train and a switch engine near Mina last night. All the dead were railroad employes.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mrs. Ann Carney died at Newport, R. I., aged 100 years. She was born in Ireland and had lived in Newport 60 years.

George B. Stetson, a Boston merchant, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities amount to $66,072.

While chopping wood near his house at Bristol, Vt., Josiah Purinton was pinned to the ground by a falling tree and almost instantly killed.

GLIMPSES OF HARPER

Remarkable Fortitude of Chicago University's President.

KEEN SUFFERER, BUT EVER CHEERY

How He Followed In Bed the Moves of a Football Game While Racked With Terrible Pain—Incident of His Early Days When He Led a Band. His Methods of Working.

The late Dr. William Rainey Harper, who had been president of the University of Chicago since its inception in 1891, excelled in many things—as a scholar, as a teacher, as a great educational organizer, as an authority on Hebrew and other Semitic languages—but in nothing was he more admirable than in the fortitude he displayed in the illness that resulted in his death, says the New York Times. During the many months in which he suffered terrible pain, when he knew that his days were numbered, that all the physicians and surgeons could do was to prolong them for a little while, he remained ever cheerful and to the last minute possible carried on the duties of his position with all his usual keenness and vigor.

It has been an inspiring spectacle—that of this doomed man refusing to give in. Two months ago, when the cancer which killed him had grown to such a size that the abdominal region had to be kept numb in order to make it possible for Dr. Harper to endure the pain, he was sitting up in bed receiving the bulletins of the Chicago-Northwestern football game and following the moves on a plan he had prepared. Like so many other men who afterward became well known, he was a sickly child, but after his seventh birthday his health improved, and when he was ten years old he entered Muskingum college, near Granville, O., from which he received the degree of bachelor of arts at the early age of fourteen. He caused local scholars to gape with wonder when he delivered his commencement oration in Hebrew.

In 1873 when members of the senior class of Dennison university, Granville, O., were preparing for their commencement events a member of the class, C. T. Thompson, a well known lawyer of Minneapolis, was authorized to arrange for the services of a country band at Cambridge, not far from Granville, says the Minneapolis Journal. The band went to Granville, performed satisfactorily, and the leader, who had been a student at Muskingum college, a little institution not far from Granville, made a favorable impression upon both the students and the members of the faculty with whom he came in contact at Dennison. He also was pleased with the reception given him—so much so that he decided to return there as a student. He proved a bright fellow and under the persuasion of the Dennison faculty decided to study theology and prepare for the ministry. Prior to that time he had no special aim in life, no particular ambition beyond that of leading the Cambridge band, but ambitions were awakened at Dennison which led to his becoming a notable scholar, particularly in the field of Greek and Hebrew literature.

A few years ago he came to Minneapolis to deliver several lectures in a course under the auspices of the Institute of Biblical Literature, an organization formed for the promotion of study of the Bible. While resting one afternoon in the study of the First Baptist church, where these lectures were delivered, this eminent scholar said to Mr. Thompson:

"What was your college?"

"Dennison university," was the reply.

"What class?"

"Seventy-three."

"Well, do you remember that your class engaged the Cambridge band for your commencement?"

"I certainly do," said Mr. Thompson, "as I made the engagement myself."

"Well, do you remember the leader of that band?"

"Yes, I remember that the leader was a pleasant, agreeable fellow, who gave us our money's worth."

"Ah, thank you! I am rather glad to hear you say that," said the lecturer, "for I was the leader of that band."

Mr. Thompson was not more surprised than the reader will be when he discovers that the leader of the band was Dr. W. R. Harper, the late president of the University of Chicago.

For fifteen years Dr. Harper slept no more than five hours a night. Midnight found him at his desk. At 5 o'clock he arose and went to work again. Vainly his wife urged him to take eight hours' rest, says the New York World.

"I am luxurious," he told her. "Nature needs only four hours sleep. I take five."

An intimate friend, speaking, of the doctor's methods of working, said:

"The story is told that Mrs. Harper came into his study one morning at daybreak and found him seated at his desk writing.

"'Perhaps I had better go to bed,' he observed as she came in. 'It must be getting late,' he added, as a sort of concession.

"'It is half past 5 o'clock,' said Mrs. Harper. Instead of going to bed the doctor took his bath, dressed, had his cup of coffee in his room and, taking up his memorandum book, began the details of the next day's work without a hint of sleep or rest."

A few days ago Dr. Harper said to Professor Small: "I am going before my work is finished. I do not know where I am going, but I hope my work will go on. I expect to continue work in the future state, for this is only a small part of the glorious whole."

TRICK WITH DOMINOES.

A Feat That Will Puzzle Those Not In the Secret.

An interesting feat can be performed with the dominoes, which the operator announces as follows: "I will lay the dominoes in a line, one beside another, lying on their sides and making one black line. Now I will go into the next room, with my eyes as closely covered as you may desire. In my absence you may take from the line any number of dominoes you please provided you take them from that end which is now at my right hand and place them at the opposite end, so that, except for the change in the places of the piece, the line is just the same as before. On my return, without unbandaging my eyes, I will tell you the number transported from one end to the other. I will do more. From the midst of these dominoes, of which you have changed the position, I will draw one which, by the addition of its spots, will tell you exactly the number which you took from right to left. After they have made the change count with your fingers—if your eyes are bandaged—the dominoes from left to right as far as the thirteenth. The spots on this thirteenth will invariably represent the number of dominoes whose position has been altered. But in forming the line originally you must have arranged the first thirteen dominoes, beginning at the left, so that the spots on the first form the number 12, of the second 11, of the third 10, and so on up to a double blank for the last and thirteenth. You place the other dominoes afterward in the order in which they happen to present themselves."

THINGS NOT TO EAT.

Among Them, According to a Medical Man, Are Baked Beans.

Abolish soup from the dinner table, eschew tea and coffee, pass the baked beans with silent contempt, beware the genuine pancake, be not lured into turning traitor to your stomach by America's common enemy, pie; be tranquil and cheerful at mealtimes, even if you are nursing a chronic grouch the rest of the time, and never, never go to bed with your stomach filled.

These are scattering fragments of a thirty-two inch shell of advice fired before the Chicago Medical society by Dr. Edwin B. Tuteur, who lectured on "When to Eat, What to Eat and How to Eat."

"Soup," declared the doctor, "is superfluous in a substantial dinner menu. So is tea and so is coffee and, in fact, any moisture except that which is naturally contained in the foods. Soup in the form of beef broth, without eggs, cereals or vegetables, would starve a dog to death in ten days. Beef tea made from the solid extract sold for the use of invalids is a mere stimulant, a non-nutritious, queer tasting temperance drink. Tea and coffee are not foods, but stimulants. They retard digestion and often cause gastric catarrh, nervousness and insomnia.

"Beans, the dried and baked variety, cooked with salt pork, are baneful. Teamsters, soldiers and Boston intellectuals subsist upon them to some extent. Pass them by."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Belcher Artesian Well.

The Belcher well in St. Louis is one of the famous artesian wells of the world. The boring of it was begun in the spring of 1849 by William H. Belcher, who had a sugar refinery near the river a few blocks north of where the Eads bridge now is. After the expenditure of $10,000 the well was in 1854 driven to a depth of 2,199 feet, where a flow of seventy-five gallons a minute was struck, but the water proved to be so impregnated with mineral matter that it was unfit for use in the sugar refinery, for which Mr. Belcher wanted it. It is used now only for medicinal purposes and for sanitary baths.—St. Louis Republic.

A Hostess and an Emergency.

Lady K. had sent Parnell an invitation to dinner, but Charles, who was very absentminded with respect to social functions and unconventional in the extreme, had forgotten the right date of the party. He therefore turned up a couple of evenings afterward an hour before the time. Lady K., glad to have him on any terms, did not undeceive him as to his error, but hastily sent off several notes explaining the situation and asking some of her most intimate friends to help her in her emergency. She also ordered a hastily improvised dinner from a near caterer's.—Life of Parnell.

The Pottery Tree of Para.

One of the curiosities of Brazil is a tree whose wood and bark contain so much silica that they are used by potters. Both wood and bark are burned, and the ashes are pulverized and mixed in equal proportions with clay, producing a very superior ware. The tree grows to a height of 100 feet, but does not exceed a foot in diameter. The fresh bark cuts like sandstone, and when dried is brittle and hard.

The Right Name.

"Officer, what is this man charged with?"

"Carryin' congealed weapons, yer anner."

"Carrying what?"

"Congealed weapons. He soaked Murphy in the eye wid a chunk av ice."—Cleveland Leader.

An Observing Youngster.

Papa (sternly)—Come here, sir. Your mother and I agree that you deserve a sound whipping. Small Boy (bitterly)—Oh, yes, that's about the only thing that you and mamma ever do agree about.

Enjoy present pleasures in such a way as not to injure future ones.—Seneca.

LOUISIANA A FIGHTER

New Battleship Can Whip Any Ship, Says W. E. Curtis.

AMERICA TO LEAD IN WAR CRAFT

Six Vessels Now Building Expected to Form the Most Powerful Fleet In the World—Japan a Strong Rival—How She Is Taking the Lead In Naval Construction.

The battleship Louisiana, which represents the most advanced type of the fighting machine ever constructed, has returned to her dock at the Newport News shipyard after her speed trial and is now receiving her armament and being fitted out for sea, says William E. Curtis, the Chicago Record-Herald's Washington correspondent. In several particulars the Louisiana exceeds all other ships of all other nations, and properly officered and manned she ought to whip anything that floats. In speed, armament and coal carrying capacity, which are the three essentials for a man-of-war, she surpasses the best and the latest and the strongest battleships in the European navies. She is 450 feet long, 76.10 feet beam and 24.6 feet draft, with a displacement of 16,000 tons. Her speed on her trial trip averaged 18.8 knots per hour. She can carry 2,300 tons of coal, which will enable her to steam 7,000 miles at a speed of twelve knots, and her armament is four twelve-inch guns, eight eight-inch guns and twelve seven-inch guns. She will have forty-five officers and a crew of 840 men.

The strongest ship in the British navy is the Edward VII., of the same tonnage (16,000), a speed of 18.6, or two-tenths of a knot less than the Louisiana; a coal capacity of 2,000 tons and an armament of four twelve-inch, four nine-inch and ten six-inch guns. The strongest ship in the French navy is the Republique, 15,000 tons, eighteen knots speed, capacity for 1,800 tons of coal and an armament of four twelve-inch and eighteen six and one-half inch guns. The best ship in the German navy is the Elsass, 13,200 tons, eighteen knots speed, 1,600 tons coal capacity and an armament of four eleven-inch and fourteen six and one-half inch guns.

The Louisiana will cost about $5,000,000 and is being built by contract by a company in Newport News which was the lowest bidder. The Connecticut, an exact duplicate, is being built at the New York navy yard by the government and by day labor. There is a good deal of rivalry between the two. The New Hampshire and the Kansas, also duplicates of the Louisiana, are now under construction at Camden, N. J.; the Minnesota at Newport News and the Vermont at the Fore River yard, Quincy, Mass. When they are finished these six ships will form the finest fleet of fighting machines that were ever built in the world and will be more formidable than anything that floats. The next best ships in our navy are the Virginia, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Nebraska and Georgia, which are now approaching completion. They have a displacement of 14,000 tons.

The Louisiana is expected to be ready to go into commission in May, and several of her officers have already been selected. She will be commanded by Captain A. R. Couden, who was appointed to the Naval academy from Utah and graduated in the class of '67.

The Japanese are taking the lead in naval construction. They have adopted a broad and comprehensive programme since the war. They expect to replace their old fleet with new and larger battleships and armored cruisers and propose to design and build their own ships hereafter. They have recently constructed a new shipyard and gun factory on the Sumida river, covering eighty-three acres, with twenty large machine shops, foundries and gun factories, in which 4,000 men will be employed. Heretofore they have built only about one-half of their warships. The remainder have been constructed in England and the United States or have been purchased from foreign countries, but hereafter they will build their own ships and their own guns.

The Japanese naval programme is considerably in advance of that of any other nation. They now have under construction the following:

	To be completed.
Battleship Aki, 18,000 tons	1908
Battleship Satsuma, 18,000 tons	1908
Battleship Kashima, 14,000 tons	1907
Battleship Katoria, 14,000 tons	1907
Armored cruiser Tsukuba, 14,000 tons	1906
Armored cruiser Ikoma, 14,000 tons	1906
Armored cruiser Kuroma, 14,000 tons	1906
Armored cruiser Ibutki, 14,000 tons	1906

The largest battleships will have a speed of eighteen knots and will be armed with eight twelve-inch and eight six-inch guns. The second class battleships will have a speed of eighteen knots and an armament of eight twelve-inch and eight six-inch guns. The four armored cruisers will have a speed of twenty-one knots and an armament of four twelve-inch and ten six-inch guns. Five destroyers of the most advanced design have recently been launched and will be ready for commission before the end of the year. They are expected to make twenty-five knots.

Designs are about completed and appropriations have already been made for four enormous battleships of 22,000 tons, twenty knots speed and an armament of fourteen twelve-inch and eight six-inch guns; also for four armored cruisers of 15,000 tons, twenty-five knots speed and four twelve-inch and ten six-inch guns.

The future policy of the Japanese navy, founded upon its experience during the late war, is to build big battleships and fast armored cruisers, with a few destroyers in addition to its present fleet.

HISTORIC QUINCY.

Pilgrmages Almost Daily to the City of Presidents.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on applicat on to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,

H. LITCHMAN.

Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.

All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.

303 Water Street, South Quincy.

Aug. 15. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD

DENTIST.

Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8.

Except Wednesday Evening.

Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

IMPORTANT.

BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.

Dec. 16. tf

TWO RE

They Will Loo
dent Securitie

BUT $450 IN C

Constitutes All t sets--Liabilites
Due Depositor
In the Securit

Boston, Jan. 20.—
curities and Banki
placed in the hand
Judge Braley in th court. The court na and Charles F. We acting as temporary bank assets, to be for the bank made receivership, thoug company did not ass lieving it not for t
the depositors.

At the request o
Charles F. Weed t
said he had made the books of the
and found that ther proximately $450 i assets comprised 14
Shenandoah Land a
pany, a Colorado co
500 in notes of the Gelatine company.
until the giver is s without inconvenie were found six $10
Shenandoah compan
be held as security f
was all of the tangi

The liabilities c
due depositors in th
ment (that in whic banks were used) securities departme
had no knowledge th
meet the liabilities.
records showed an witness said they sh
in December, 1904, o
he had not found if

"Have you a list
this corporation?" as Weed replied that h possession.

"How many of th
setts men?" was the replied that two dire 1904, were from th
stated that on two sions when he had company's rooms he talked with Lorenz
Justice Braley then
Weed considered th
come in contact wi capable to run such replied that he did n

The court started from Henry A. Wy
first looked into the but decided not to thought he already h

Addressing Mr. Ea
ing the depositors' p tee, the court said: "I your allegation that hopelessly insolvent."
on to say that the all had been waste was must be set up that wilful waste of the
pany.

Superintendent of Chief Inspector W
awaited the arrival
Montreal in order tha isfy themselves that had returned to Bos
on the station platfor pulled in. Burlen's s as well as a large co
men and photograph
treasurer found himse
he alighted from the his son assisted hi soon as possible. W
tion the pair hastened drove away. The p
tered into no conver with Burlen.

Operation Upon E

Washington, Jan. 2
Walsh, daughter of T was operated upon ag
the fracture of the ri
ing from the tragic dent at Newport last
Miss Walsh's brother life. The fracture ha
The operation was de
and the patient is rest

Viola Allen Report

New York, Jan.
Allen, the actress, has
of Peter Duryea, a we er, since last August ha here. They were ma
ville Aug. 16 last. Fr
the announcement of t that it had been kept this time because of M
fessional engagements

American Academ

St. Petersburg, Jan.
further the good rel
Russia and America,
Gardner, an American,
a resident of Russia, h minister of education f open a Russo-American the name of Franklin

Weather Distur

New York, Jan. 20.—
Co.'s Weekly Review that trade reports are chiefly because of the weather. Nothing dist ous preparations for s which promises to make ing exhibit.

C QUINCY.

ost Daily to the Presidents.

be as famous for mouth and Concord, now almost daily. many historic spots st, and enterprises many. A brief list dams, the first Vice Pres- dent of the United States, y Adams; house built in 1897 by Adams Chapter, lution. Open to public.

OF PRESIDENTS.

Quincy Adams, the sixth ted States, junction of dents road and Indepen- 1716, restored 1896 by Society. Open to public Admission charged.

K BIRTHPLACE.

n of Dimmock and Han- e tablet has been placed on Adams Academy to he house stood in which ncock, the bold signer of pendence, was born.

NDISH CAIRN.

erected in 1895 by the lution, of Massachusetts, Myles Standish and his olony, who landed here by the indian Tisquan-

ADAMS CAIRN.

June 17, 1896, by Adams the Revolution, to the ams, who with her son, e spot watched the smoke Hill. Cairn composed of the corner stone being first railroad in United n Quincy quarries to tide

OF PRESIDENTS AMS.

al Church (Unitarian) ditorium each side of high uments, to the memory cond president, and John th president of the United s. In cellar is old town which was brought from of John Quincy Adams front steps are the vaults assive stone door closing ion may be secured on ewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple of L. S. Anderson, treas- k building, whose office 2 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A ance, etc.

Y Q. HOUSE.

ner Butler road, Quincy, d in which Dorothy Q was Massachusetts Society of as quaint old paper on edding of John Hancock ; also secret chamber and tures. Open free to the from 11 A. M. until 4

K CEMETERY.

cross from First Church. ong the oldest that of Rev. of the Patriot, who died fifth minister of First corner Newport avenue, f President John Adams mily relics. Occupied by en to public.

ADAMS MANSION.

ENTS LANE.

ading from Adams street, ned by John Adams to ure.

W ROCK.

ich is a perfect head of a tioned in early Squantum lso Sachem's Knoll.

NDISH SPRING.

left and back of Squan- fresh cold water, where y breakfasted and taence country around Boston

nts of interest might Thomas Crane Memo- s the public library nount, the home of ncy Adams, where s famous May pole in monument at Mount y with its tablets; the anite quarries, many e granite yards where atuary are being cut, mills where granite the plant of the Fore ng Company where ing built for the

Portrait Studio,

ITCHMAN.

ied in Crayons Water Colors.

e Frames made to order. Work Guaranteed.

et, South Quincy. tf

PACKARD

VTIST.

ity Square, 1382 Hancock rt, Quincy.

2, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, dnesday Evening.

Sept. 6-lp-ly

RTANT.

uses and Rooms can be tage if application is made AGENCY, East Howard er Works, Quincy Point. tf

TWO RECEIVERS

They Will Look After Provident Securities Bank Affairs

BUT $450 IN CASH ON HAND

Constitutes All the Tangible Assets--Liabilites of $182,000 Due Depositors and $11,000 In the Securities Department

Boston, Jan. 20.—The Provident Securities and Banking company was placed in the hands of receivers by Judge Braley in the supreme judicial court. The court named Alfred S. Hall and Charles F. Weed, who have been acting as temporary custodians of the bank assets, to be receivers. Counsel for the bank made no opposition to the receivership, though stating that the company did not assent to this step, believing it not for the best interests of the depositors.

At the request of Judge Braley, Charles F. Weed took the stand. He said he had made an examination of the books of the Provident company and found that there was on hand approximately $450 in cash. The other assets comprised 142,500 shares of the Shenandoah Land and Irrigation company, a Colorado corporation, and $22,500 in notes of the Franco-American Gelatine company, subject to renewal until the giver is satisfied it can pay without inconvenience. There also were found six $1000 bonds of the Shenandoah company which seemed to be held as security for loans. The cash was all of the tangible assets found.

The liabilities comprised $182,000 due depositors in the auxiliary department (that in which the small metal banks were used) and $11,000 in the securities department. Weed said he had no knowledge that the assets would meet the liabilities. When asked if the records showed any dividends paid, witness said they showed one declared in December, 1904, of $2.50 a share, but he had not found if it had been paid.

"Have you a list of the officers of this corporation?" asked Judge Braley. Weed replied that he had none in his possession.

"How many of them are Massachusetts men?" was the next query. Weed replied that two directors in December, 1904, were from this state. Witness stated that on two of the three occasions when he had visited the banking company's rooms he had seen and talked with Lorenzo Burlen there. Justice Braley then wanted to know if Weed considered the officers he had come in contact with business men capable to run such a concern. Weed replied that he did not.

The court started to call for a report from Henry A. Wyman, the expert who first looked into the company's affairs, but decided not to do so, saying he thought he already had the main facts.

Addressing Mr. Eastman, representing the depositors' protection committee, the court said: "I think I may accept your allegation that the company is hopelessly insolvent." He then went on to say that the allegation that there had been waste was not sufficient. It must be set up that there had been wilful waste of the funds of the company.

Superintendent of Police Pierce and Chief Inspector Watts personally awaited the arrival of a train from Montreal in order that they might satisfy themselves that Treasurer Burlen had returned to Boston. They were on the station platform when the train pulled in. Burlen's son was also there, as well as a large corps of newspaper men and photographers. The bank treasurer found himself surrounded as he alighted from the sleeping car, but his son assisted him in escaping as soon as possible. Without conversation the pair hastened to a carriage and drove away. The police officials entered into no conversation whatever with Burlen.

Operation Upon Evelyn Walsh

Washington, Jan. 20.—Miss Evelyn Walsh, daughter of Thomas F. Walsh, was operated upon again yesterday for the fracture of the right thigh resulting from the tragic automobile accident at Newport last August, in which Miss Walsh's brother, Vinson, lost his life. The fracture had failed to unite. The operation was declared successful and the patient is resting comfortably.

Viola Allen Reported Wedded

New York, Jan. 20.—That Viola Allen, the actress, has been the wife of Peter Duryea, a wealthy horse owner, since last August has become known here. They were married at Louisville Aug. 16 last. Friends who made the announcement of the marriage said that it had been kept a secret up to this time because of Miss Allen's professional engagements for the season.

American Academy in Russia

St. Petersburg, Jan. 20.—In order to further the good relations between Russia and America, Professor Boris Gardner, an American, for many years a resident of Russia, has applied to the minister of education for permission to open a Russo-American academy under the name of Franklin college.

Weather Disturbs Trade

New York, Jan. 20.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that trade reports are more irregular, chiefly because of the vagaries of the weather. Nothing disturbs the vigorous preparations for spring business, which promises to make a most gratifying exhibit.

MIND WAS UNEASY

Bridgeport's Town Clerk Meets Death by Gas In Hotel

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 20.—Town Clerk William S. Schrieber, aged 40, was found dead last night in a room filled with gas in the Union hotel. He had been missing since Thursday night at 10 o'clock. Medical Examiner Downs, after viewing the body, pronounced death due to asphyxiation.

Schrieber had figured in the alleged ballot box stuffing investigation which is now being conducted here by Judge Elmer, and it is believed that the matter had preyed on his mind, as for a part of the time the ballot boxes were stored in the town clerk's office. It was declared by Judge Wheeler in his finding in the Donnelly-Gotthardt contested election case that the boxes were tampered with either while they were in the town clerk's office or later when they were removed to the city hall.

Death Knell For Horse Racing

Providence, Jan. 20.—Governor Utter has put his foot down hard, and incidentally sounded the death knell of horse-racing in Rhode Island by absolutely forbidding pool selling on Rhode Island tracks and, unless special legislation is obtained from the general assembly, pool selling and book making are things of the past at Narragansett Park. With Massachusetts under the ban against pool selling, the local track was the Mecca last season of thousands of Bay State sports, who crowded special trains from Boston to "pick the winners" at Narragansett Park. It is probable that great pressure will be brought to bear on the members of the legislature to secure authority for pool selling.

School to Give Way to Hotel

Boston, Jan. 20.—Mayor Fitzgerald, while speaking as a guest at a dinner at Young's hotel last evening, made the announcement that he had made arrangements whereby the Winthrop school could be sold at a profit to the city and the Hotel Touraine would be enabled to obtain a license. This location of the Winthrop school has been a perplexing problem for some time, and more especially since the Hotel Touraine lost its license.

Wreck Almost Blown Up

Hyannis, Mass., Jan. 20.—After working two days to clear the channel off Shovelful shoal of the wreck of the bark Altoona, which sank on Jan. 11, the revenue cutter Mohawk was forced to run into this harbor by the heavy seas and high winds. Altogether 220 pounds of gun cotton has been used to blow up the wreck and all that now remain in sight are the jibboom and a part of the keel.

City Had Martial Aspect

Newport, R. I., Jan. 20.—The city took on the appearance of a siege last night when four companies of coast artillery and the siege battery turned out with arms, horses and ammunition in response to a general alarm to capture Private Maher, a prisoner, who had escaped from the guard house. Details of men patrolled the streets of the city until Maher was caught.

Insurance People May Chip In

Boston, Jan. 20.—Mayor Fitzgerald believes that he can obtain for the city treasury $50,000 additional revenue by making liability insurance companies doing business in Boston pay to the city hospital fees for medical attendance rendered policyholders of these companies. It is said that the hospital trustees are in accord with the mayor in his scheme.

Postoffice Thieves at Work

Exeter, N. H., Jan. 20.—Burglars secured $30 in money and stamps from the postoffice in Newfields and also a small amount of cash belonging to Ernest Neal, who owns the store in which the postoffice is located. Nitroglycerine was used to crack the safe. This is the third time that the Newfields postoffice has been robbed.

Polar Corporation Organized

Augusta, Me., Jan. 20.—The Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald Polar expedition, a corporation, whose object is the carrying on of a scientific and exploring expedition to the North Pole with the aid of balloons and airships, has been organized in this city. The certificate of incorporation has been filed with the secretary of state.

Held For New York Police

Boston, Jan. 20.—David R. McVey was arrested here last night on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, being wanted in New York city for the alleged larceny of five diamond and three pearl rings, valued at $1000, from Miss Ethel Millers. McVey was found at the home of relatives here.

Athletic System Criticised

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Objectionable features of football and of the college athletic system in general were subjected to severe criticism at the first day's session of representatives of the "big nine" colleges of the middle west. The conference will not announce its action until the meeting adjourns finally.

Seven Men Lost In Shipwreck

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 20.—The British ship King David was wrecked off Vancouver island and the mate and six men are missing. Steamer Queen City reports having picked up Captain Cottrell and the survivors, 18 in all, from the Bajos Point beach. The men had suffered severe privations.

King Edward Visits London

London, Jan. 20.—King Edward journeyed from Sandringham to London yesterday and went to a theatre last evening. He will go to Windsor today. He appeared to be in good health and spirits. There had been rumors that he was quite ill.

"I'm From Missouri— You'll Have to Show Me!"

Attorney General Hadley's Mandate to the Standard Oil Company. Why His Inquiry Into the Trust's Methods Has Produced More Humor Than Facts --- How Henry H. Rogers Regards It as a Joke.

THE jokesmiths must look to their laurels. The high finance funny men are crowding into the field. First came Rockefeller and Harriman, and now Henry H. Rogers is exuding an oily humor and is causing explosions of mirth that sound like the bursting of tanks. Rogers' jokes are of the Standard variety. They are nearly as bad as that pun. They belong to the village cut-up order. They are of the sort that our great-grandfathers used to enjoy and are as playful as those of Chauncey M. Depew. When a man gets to be worth fifty or a hundred millions the humor simply pours out of him like petroleum out of a flowing well. To him a lawsuit is one unending round of merriment. Every time he receives a dividend he bursts into uproarious laughter. Whenever he drives a small competitor out of business his glee can be heard around a block even if the competitor does commit suicide. The putting up of prices that bring him in an extra million makes him guffaw and double up with the pure fun of the thing. His wit grows keener as his fortune increases. The spectacle of the public sweating and straining to pour money into his coffers is so excruciatingly laughable that he almost chokes with hilarity. And when the said public becomes tired of the programme and tries to apply the law to him as it does to ordinary folks his mirth knows no bounds. It is so ludicrous he almost explodes with merriment. He pokes fun at the lawyers who ask him questions, at the states they represent, at the supreme courts and at the world in general. It is so deliriously amusing that he roars at his own jokes. He is so full of good nature that he could extract joy from a funeral. To be reminded that he has broken the laws makes him kittenish in his mirth.

Nero may have fiddled while Rome burned, but if some of our high financiers had been there their cachinnations would have drowned the cries of the victims. It would, that is, if the high financiers were losing no money by the flames. There is nothing like a well developed sense of humor, especially when you have a strangle hold on the world and it is struggling to get away.

HERBERT S. HADLEY, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF MISSOURI.

An Oily Streak For Tall Timber.

As all the world knows, the Rogers jokes were sprung at the investigation made by the state of Missouri into the subsidiary concerns of the Standard Oil company. Governor Folk and Attorney General Hadley of that state got an idea that the Waters-Pierce Oil company, the Republic Oil company and the Standard Oil company of Indiana were all owned by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, although they were posing as independent concerns. This would constitute a conspiracy in restraint of trade, which is in contravention of the state laws, and Hadley started a suit to drive the companies from Missouri. He first held hearings at home, but found all trails led to the Standard offices in New York. So he concluded to face the lion in his den. The chief difficulty in this programme was to find the lion. If there is anything that will make the Standard king of beasts chase himself out of a state, it is the approach of a process server. He can smell a subpoena for a mile, and when that dreaded scent greets his nostrils he makes an oily streak for tall timber. Hadley finally did get service on H. H. Rogers, now known as "Ha-Ha" Rogers, but Rockefeller and most of the other big fellows got away.

"The Man of Mystery."

The man chiefly wanted was Henry Clay Pierce of the Waters-Pierce company. He has lived at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel for a number of years, where his seclusion and secretiveness have caused him to be called "the man of mystery." A process server went to the great magnate's rooms, which consist of two sumptuous suits in about the highest priced hotel on earth. How the man with the subpoena got access to the apartments is not related, but it was probably through a subterfuge. At any rate, Pierce saw him first and fled to the bathroom. There he locked himself in. The process server calmly waited outside, while the oil king hammered and banged to attract attention. As all the family were out, he failed to raise any one for over an hour. At last a servant heard the racket and came to the rescue. Pierce explained that he wanted the hotel to eject the man with the subpoena, which was accordingly done, after which Mr. Pierce emerged from the bathroom in all his ruffled dignity. If an ordinary man is wanted for a witness, court officers generally have no trouble in nabbing him, but if the presence of a Standard Oil man is required every method to evade summons that ingenuity can devise or money can buy is evoked to outwit the law of the land. The only way service was had on Rogers was that a man waited outside the oil king's door and thrust the paper into his hand as he stepped into a cab. Even then a burly attendant almost knocked the process server down. As for Rockefeller, he fled to Florida to avoid testifying. One big Standard official escaped in an open boat. Others kept in hiding or skipped the state. Out of over a score of big oil men wanted only two, Rogers and W. G. Rockefeller, were caught.

HENRY H. ROGERS.

This is an old game with the Standard Oil crowd. In every legal inquiry into their methods they have dodged service or secured delay until their papers and chief witnesses were spirited out of the country. If these methods did not serve they wriggled out through a technicality. At the beginning of the present hearing they demanded that the testimony be taken down in long hand, which legally they have a right to do, but the result was that progress was greatly impeded. At last they consented that a typewriter be used, but this also greatly delayed proceedings. Almost the universal method is to employ shorthand. Then, while the state of Missouri had only one lawyer present, the Standard had five. These high priced attorneys interposed constant objections, advised the witnesses not to answer questions and blocked the proceedings in other ways. One of the trust lawyers, who was not accredited as representing any of the interests in action, made himself so obnoxious that the commissioner conducting the hearing ordered him from the room. Rather insolently the attorney refused to go. The matter was patched up by allowing him to stay if he would keep silent, which he did.

Oil Magnate's Wit.

When Mr. Rogers was on the stand he still further occasioned delay by asking that the stenographer repeat each question, though all other persons in the room said that they heard Attorney General Hadley's questions very distinctly. All germane inquiries Rogers refused to answer, "on advice of counsel." Questions to which he did deign a reply were treated flippantly for the most part. As an example, when he was asked as to his knowledge of one of the other oil kings by the name of Van Buren, he said he had known a Van Buren once, but he was dead. When required to give the first name he replied that it was Martin and that he was once president of the United States. His wit was only equalled by his lack of memory and assumed ignorance of all the affairs of the oil business, yet he is popularly credited with knowing more about that business than any man on earth, not excepting John D. Rockefeller. At one time he was asked as to one of the Standard's new refineries in Kansas. He professed to know nothing about it. When Mr. Hadley evinced surprise Rogers sneeringly informed him that he took about as much interest in a Kansas refinery as he did in Carrie Nation. The oil magnate made almost as sneering a reference to the supreme court of Missouri. His manner was equally offensive toward Attorney General Hadley. He professed to be amused at Hadley's questions, called him "judge" or "colonel" until corrected for doing so and sought in other ways to make the entire inquiry a farce. In practically a whole day's investigation Rogers succeeded in giving his name and little else that was to the point. As a result, Mr. Hadley had to apply to the supreme court of New York to force the witness to answer.

But Mr. Rogers was not always humorous. Sometimes he almost snarled. At others he grew belligerent. But always he was overbearing, patronizing and evasive. One rather amusing but momentarily startling incident occurred. While Mr. Rogers was testifying a photographer set off a flashlight in the back of the room. The oil magnate mumbled something, left the witness chair and without so much as a "by your leave" fled from the room. After one day's hearing Rogers took the reporters into his confidence and informed them that the whole inquiry was for a political purpose, its object being to make Attorney General Hadley governor of Missouri.

Not a Joke With Hadley.

Hadley himself has taken the matter more seriously. It is not a joke with him, and he evinces a determination that before he is through with the matter it shall not be a joke to the other people. The charge that he is trying to use the investigation as a lever to elevate himself into the governorship he said he would not dignify by answering. Herbert S. Hadley is a young man, was born in Kansas, educated in the Northwestern university and began the practice of law in Kansas City. In 1900 he was elected prosecuting attorney of the county, where he lost but one out of twenty-one murder cases and but six out of 128 cases in all. He was as indefatigable in prosecuting election frauds as Governor Folk was in prosecuting boodlers. While Hadley is a Republican and Folk a Democrat, the two often cooperated. Against his will Hadley was nominated for the office of attorney general. At the time it was regarded as a forlorn hope, but he was carried in on the Republican landslide, although the Democrats captured the governorship. The young attorney general had sympathized with the fight of his native state of Kansas against the Standard Oil company, and this fact may have had something to do with his taking up the cudgels in his own state. When he discovered that the Standard did no business in so important a city as St. Louis his suspicions were aroused. When he discovered further that the state seemed to be divided between two ostensibly independent concerns he began to "smell a mouse." Following up these investigations, he concluded that these two "independent" concerns were both owned by the Standard, bought their oil from it and shared with it their profits. As a result he instituted the present inquiry. Being from the state whose accredited motto is "You'll have to show me," he demanded to be shown why a foreign corporation could break the laws he was sworn to enforce. He is enough of a fighter that his desires will either have to be complied with or there will be trouble. He may not be as old and deft as the high priced Standard attorneys, but he is in earnest. Moreover, he has Governor Folk and the great state of Missouri behind him, besides being supported by public opinion throughout the country. Mr. Hadley is a rather tall, smooth faced man, an accomplished speaker and is one who is not to be bulldozed, overawed or ridiculed from following a course that he believes to be right. His case is before the supreme court of Missouri, and he proposes either to make the Standard Oil company obey the law or cease doing business in the state.

The "independent" company game is believed to be an old one with Rockefeller and his satellites.

Garfield's Inquiry.

At the same time Hadley is conducting his investigation Commissioner Garfield, by direction of the president, is holding another inquiry into the Rockefeller methods. It is predicted that his report will be ready by March 1, and enough of it has leaked out to show that it will make some startling disclosures. Mr. Hadley has had access to this testimony to assist him in making his own case. Mr. Garfield is said to be following especially the subsidiary concerns of the Standard. The ramifications of the "system" are so wide as to be almost baffling. For example, it owns over 40,000 miles of pipe lines, and along every line is a telegraph wire. The company has its own operators, so it possesses a telegraph system of its own. It earns an annual profit variously estimated at from 40 to 50 per cent on its actual investment. It has invaded the steel field, the copper field, the railroad field and other departments of business. It has a spy system more extensive than that of the government. It has a string of banks across the country, and it is increasing in wealth and power by leaps and bounds every year. Even now Standard men have been reported as saying that "Rockefeller is a bigger man than the president." If they talk that way now, how will they talk in five years?

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

All this may be a joke to H. H. Rogers, but is it a joke to the American people?

J. A. EDGERTON.

CATALOGUE PRINTING.

When in want of any little pamphlet or book to advertise your business, let us talk it over with you,

Club Books, Year Books, By-laws, Programs, Catalogues, anything in small pamphlets, promptly printed and tastefully bound. Get our prices.

GEO. W. PRESCOTT & SONS, PRINTERS.

Quincy Fire Alarm.

12. Palmer st. near C. O. Whitten's.
13. Sea st. corner Shelton road.
14. Hose No. 5 house, Houghs Neck,
15. Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor.
19. Revere road, corner Bigelow
21. Granite st. corner Whitwell
121. Presidents Hill.
23. Hancock st. near Hall's stable.
123. Hancock t. near car barn.
24. Whitwell st. near City Hospital.
124. Adams st. corner Goffe.
25. Canal st. corner Newcomb.
26. Unitarian Church, opp. City Hall.
27. Washington street, corner Elm.
28. Greenleaf st. corner Hancock.
29. Butler road, corner Putnam.
212. (P) City Hospital.
31. Phipps st. corner Payne.
32. Franklin st. cor. Independence ave.
34. High st. corner Franklin.
35. Hancock st. corner School.
36. Pleasant st. corner Quincy.
136 Water st. corner of Brook road.
37. Franklin st. cor. Water,
38. Liberty st. corner Plain.
39. Penn st. corner Liberty.
138. Brook st. co ner Centre.
41. School st. corner Granite.
42. Copeland st. corner Granite.
43. Common st. corner Copeland.
143. Station st.
45. Crescent st. corner Willard.
46. Copeland st. near Furnace ave.
47. Bates ave. corner Grove st.
48. Robertsonst. corner Willard.
49. Willard st. corner Doble.
441. Smith st. near Quarry st.
442. Quarry st. near Hitchcock's.
443. West st. corner Hayden.
445. Common st. corner Quarry.
446. Copeland st. opp. Willard School.
51. Tubular Rivet Factory.
52. Elmwood ave. corner Farrington st.
53. Winthrop ave. corner Warren ave.
54. Fenno st. corner Hancock.
56. Beale st. opposite Wollaston Hotel.
57. Beach st. corner Willow.
58. Beale st. corner Adams.
59. Beale st. corner Central ave.
151. Billings road, corner Beach st.
152. Billings road, corner Rawson road.
153. Farrington st. near foundry.
154. Wollaston ave. near Sailors' Home.
61. Squantum st. corner Hancock.
62. Atlantic st. corner Hancock.
63. Hancock st. near Atlantic depot.
64. Billings st. corner Newbury ave.
164. D Combination No. 2 House.
65. Squantum st. corner Faxon road.
67. Atlantic st. corner Squantum.
68. Squantum.
69. Montclair.
71. Mill st. corner Washington.
72. Washington st. near South.
74. Winter st. corner Howard.
78. Fore River Ship Works.
74. River st. corner Washington.
75. Main st. corner Sumner.
76. Washington st. near bridge.
76. D Power House.
171. Whicher's Factory, Union st.
172. Glencoe place, cor. Scammell road.
173. Newcomb square, Quincy ave.
174. North st.
175. Quincy ave. near Mrs. Baxter's.
718. P Johnson's Lumber Yard.

OTHER SIGNALS.

Second Alarm—Ten 10 blows followed by Box number.
General Alarm—Twelve 12 blows followed by Box number.
Recall—Two 2 blows.
Chief Engineer's Call—Three 3 blows.
Special Calls—Three 3 blows for Hose No. 1. Four 4 blows for Relief Engine.
Fire Alarm Tests—One 1 blow, 7 A. M.; one 1 blow 5 P. M.
No School—Two Two 2-2 Three rounds,
Militia Call—Four 4 blows, Three rounds.
Police Call—Three 3 blows, Three rounds.
Lost Child Call—Five 5 blows, Three rounds, followed by one round of box.
Supt. of Water Works—Six 6 blows.
Electric Light to Shut off Current—Seven 7 blows.
Curfew Law—Two 2 blows 8.55 P. M.
For Brush and Grass Fires—Send word by Telephone or otherwise to nearest Fire Station.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902.	In 1898
Sunday,	27	34	22	23	35
Monday,	36	27	20	38	35
Tuesday,	49	26	32	38	36
Wednesday,	43	24	37	26	23
Thursday,	41	29	41	35	34
Friday,	38	55	47	37	35
Saturday,	38	37	44	28	39

New Advertisements Today.

Wanted—Pupils in music.
Probate Notice.
R. E. Foy & Co.—Sunday Dinner List.

The City In Brief

Wilton Hayes of Appleton street has been appointed electrician with the "Just out of College Co." now at Chicago. They are to tour through the Middle West and Pacific coast.

Several members of the G. I. A. to the B. of L. E., Division 256, spent Tuesday with Mrs. Harry Fisher of Upland road. A good time was enjoyed by all. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Rehearsals for the Squantum Yacht Club Minstrel performances Jan. 24 and 25 are nearing an end. Under the skilful direction of Mr. Nolan, the men have attained a proficiency rarely excelled by professional talent. All the sketches and many of the songs are original. A musical treat awaits those fortunate enough to procure tickets.

Miss Florence M. Gray of Botolph street has just received a very flattering offer from the Bryant & Stratton Commercial School of Boston, as a teacher of shorthand and typewriting. Mr. Hibbard, the principal, was in court as a witness where Miss Gray was the stenographic reporter; and at the conclusion of the session he made her so tempting an offer that considerable heroism was required to refuse it. She has, however an office in the Tremont building with a high grade clientele.

Mothers' meetings have been held this week at both the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields schools. Music was furnished by children of the lower grades, after which Mr. C. Ralph Taylor gave an informal talk in which he made a plea for parents, teachers, and pupils. He urged hearty cooperation on the part of the parents which would make the work of the school much more satisfactory.

Charles L. Hammond of Billings street, who has been in the employ of the government for some time, is at present personally supervising the construction of a new postoffice and federal court house building in Lincoln, Neb. The Sunday State Journal, in introducing the full facts of the structure says: "The new postoffice and federal court house building in Lincoln, now in process of construction will be ready for the public if plans of contractors do not fail, by August of this year. The work is being hurried as fast as possible and though some delays have occurred, they have not been serious. The structure is a stately one, located on the east side of the government square. Its magnificent lines have drawn compliment after compliment for the designers and the comparative rapidity with which the work has progressed have created a new impression of the possibilities of government work."

DIED.

DATTELLAMN—In South Quincy, Jan. 18 Mrs. Rachel, widow of Mr. Moses J Dattellamn of 40 Franklin street, aged 88 years.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

SNAPSHOTS OF MODES.

All Over Sleeve Trimmings—An Attractive Evening Hat—Sleeve Puffs.

Trimming sleeves near the elbow and, in fact, all over their short length is one of the fads of the moment.

An attractive evening hat has a dome crown of mink and rolling brim of Irish lace. Falling over the back of the shape are three white ostrich tips.

Sleeve puffs are held out with featherbone inserted at the arm's eye in a loop. This support must not be in evidence. If so, the effect is lost.

Brown with rose pink, champagne with sapphire blue, black with purple, are among the artistic combinations of the year.

For street wear a great deal of corduroy and velveteen is seen, and these fabrics also make charming frocks. But they are perhaps seen at their best for outdoor wear in all the new colors, simply made and worn with plain shirt waists and linen collars. The finer ribs are more in vogue than those of coarser make. Silver gray, fawn and wine color all look well in the short skirt suits accompanied by a sack coat or smart bolero. Extremely fetching is a suit of myrtle green velveteen with tiny edgings of beaver.

HAT OF SILVER CLOTH.

A charming little hat of silver cloth is herewith illustrated. The only trimming is a garland of La France roses with silvery green foliage.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

THE UNFAITHFUL GIRAFFE'S FATE

The giraffe and the rooster once formed a partnership. They agreed to share and share alike all things they got.

One day after they had looked in vain for something to eat they came to a tall banana tree.

"Ah, here we are!" cried Mr. Rooster. "Help yourself, Brother Giraffe, and toss a few of the juicy bananas down here to me."

But Mr. Giraffe had forgotten the bargain he had made.

"COME UP AND HELP YOURSELF."

"Hand me a banana, I say!" cried Mr. Rooster. "I am so hungry I can hardly see straight. Hand me a banana or two."

But Mr. Giraffe only laughed and said: "There is plenty of good, ripe fruit up here, partner. Come up and help yourself."

"Very well," replied Mr. Rooster. "If you will not let me share your dinner I shall let everybody know that you are here."

Then he raised himself upon his toes, flapped his wings and crowed as loud as he could, "Cock-a-doodle-doo-o-o-o-o!"

Some hunters who were near by heard the rooster and came running to the scene. They threw a lasso about the giraffe's neck and took him away to spend the rest of his days in a circus. The rooster they gave a good home, and he lived to a ripe age very happily.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Good Beginning.

Smythe—I intend Harry for the bar. Would you advise his beginning on such old works as Coke and Blackstone? Tompkins—No. I would begin by grounding him even further back. Smythe—Indeed! In what? Tompkins—The Ten Commandments.

Division of Profits.

Litigant—You take nine-tenths of the judgment? Outrageous! Lawyer—I furnished all the skill and eloquence and legal learning for your cause. Litigant—But I furnished the cause. Lawyer—Oh, anybody could do that!

The Braintree Pine Tree Club

The Pine Tree club held their regular monthly business meeting and social in Grand Army hall last Tuesday evening, the hall being filled to the doors. At 8:05 the meeting was called to order by President Will W. Mayhew, the secretary's report was read and accepted after which Pres. Mayhew turned the meeting over to Mr. A. S. Pennock, chairman of the committee of arrangements. The following program was given, every number receiving hearty applause:

Song—"Among the Pines of Maine" Miss Azella French accompanied by Mrs. Oakman. Chorus by club.
Reading—Miss Hazel Jennings.
Violin—Overture. Mr. I. P. Hadley accompanied by Miss Grace Hadley.
Song—"In My Old Penobscot Home," Miss French accompanied by Mrs. Oakman.
Violin—Marine March. Mr. Hadley, accompanied by Miss Hadley.
Reading—Miss Jennings.

A chafing dish lunch was then served by the committee of arrangements after which President Mayhew announced that the next business meeting would be held with Col. and Mrs. A. C. Drinkwater, February 20. He also announced that Mr. and Mrs. Moody, Mr. and Mrs. Wales and Mr. and Mrs. Gerry would have charge of the meeting for March. A unanimous vote of thanks was given to the following committee of arrangements; chairman, and Mrs. A. S. Pennock, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Duckworth, Miss Susie Clark, Mrs. Charles Whitman and Miss Mary Foss. After the business was transacted Mr. and Miss Hadley furnished music for dancing and this over all declared they had spent a very enjoyable evening.

Braintree Veterans.

At the meeting of the Union Veteran Association held Friday evening Jan. 12 the following officers were elected for 1906.

President,—F. O. Whitmarsh.
Vice President,—James Dundon.
Second Vice President,—W. P. Brown.
Recording Secretary,—C. E. Harding.
Financial Secretary and treasurer,—John Cahill.
Directors,—F. O. Whitmarsh, W. E. Mabury, J. J. Downs.
Foreman,—W. E. Mabury.
First Assststant,—Thomas South.
Second Assistant,—Peter Fowler.
Steward,—Clarence Williams.
Delegate to New England league,—W. E. Maybury.

Keith's Theatre.

Alice Pierce, a former Boston girl, who has been scoring a tremendous hit in England and on the Continent during the past four years, is to be one of the principal entertainers in a big vaudeville program at Keith's the week of Jan. 22. Miss Pierce is an imitator or "impressionist," as she prefers to be known, on the order of "Cissy" Loftus, impersonating such well-known stage celebrities as Mrs. Leslie Carter, Mrs. Patrick Cambell, Digby Bell and others. The surrounding show is unquestionably one of the strongest of the winter including Rose Wentworth and her equestrienne novelty, in an excellent exhibition of expert reinsmanship, bareback riding and high school horsemanship. Alfred Arnessen, skillful European equilibrist specially imported for the Keith circuit; Saona, impersonator of "Great Men, Past and Present;" Renier and Gourdier, pleasing singers and dancers, and Henella, magician and illusionist. A complete new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be shown in the kinetograph.

Empire Theatre

At the Empire Theatre next week Manager Morison announces a production of Bronson Howard's famous war drama "Shenandoah." First played nearly twenty years ago this series of pictures of the civil war period has held constant favor with the amusement seeking public. Nearly all of the members of the Empire Stock company have, at one time or another, taken part in this fathous play so that more than usual finish may be expected in the coming presentations. The scenes introduced by the author recall vividly the opening events of the civil war and to those who did not live through that period of American history "Shenandoah" offers much that is instructive as well as interesting and amusing for Bronson Howard can always be relied upon to present the needed contrasts in his stage productions.

Castle Square Theatre.

The production of "Madame Sans Gene" at the Castle Square Theatre next week will bring the name of Sardou again into local prominence. It is scarcely more than a few weeks since his "Cleopatra" and his "Diplomacy" were brought out at the Castle Square, and so warmly were they welcomed that there can be no mistake in presenting a third play of his within so brief a period. "Madame Sans Gene" is one of Sardou's recent plays. It is a romantic and historical comedy, and with the great Napoleon as its central figure, it has attracted wide-spread attention.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

3D SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY.

Church services are inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week even though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented—Eds.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, (UNITARIAN)—Rev. E. C. Butler, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by pastor. Sunday School at 12 noon.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington street—Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., pastor. Afternoon service at 2.30. Preaching by pastor. Sunday School at 3.30. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, of Braintree, Pythian Hall,—Morning service and Sunday School at 10.45. Subject: "Love." Golden Text: "If a man love me he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him." John 14: 3. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. at Christian Science hall, 460 Washington street, south of Hollis avenue, testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 and Tuesday evenings with gentlemen in attendance. All are welcome.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, junction Hancock and Chestnut streets—Rev. E. N. Hardy, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by pastor. Sunday School at 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.15. Evening church service at 7.30. Special music by the church chorus. Free seats and every one invited.

CHRIST CHURCH, Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue—Rev. W. E. Gardner, rector. 8.30 A. M., holy communion. 10.30 morning prayer and sermon. Sunday School in the Parish house, men's Bible class in the church at 12 M. Evening prayer and address at 7 o'clock. Evening prayer and address at 170 Washington street, Braintree, at 4 o'clock. All welcome.

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood, pastor. Services at Sailors' Snug Harbor at 9.15 A. M. Address by Rev. Lewis P. Atwood. Morning service at 10.45. Topic: "The Church Formed." Sunday School at 12 M. Topic: "The Boyhood of Jesus." Music by the boys' choir. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30. Leader, Mr. Fred Barnard. Topic: "Lessons from Christ's Boyhood." Service of song and sermon at 7.30. Topic: "From Slavery to Sinai." Special music by quartet. Prayer meeting Friday evening at 7.30. Our motto is, "A place for all and a welcome for all."

WEST QUINCY METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Rev. A. B. Tyler, M. A., pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sermon by pastor. Sunday School at 12 M. Epworth League at 6.15. Praise service and preaching at 7 o'clock. Friday evening prayer meeting at 7.30.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH—Rev. Ernest W. Hunt, minister. Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by the minister. Subject: "What do Unitarians Believe" Sunday School at 12 M. All are invited.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, WOLLASTON—Rev. Edward Abbott Chase, minister. Morning service at 10.45. Subject: "Christian Love and the Fearless Life." Sunday School at 12.15. A happy hour service for boys and girls at 4 o'clock. Christian Endeavor meeting at 6.30. Evening service at 7.30 o'clock. Illustrated Stereopticon lecture on "Higher Institutions of Learning in Mission Lands." The seats in this church are free at all services.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH Fort Square—Rev. W. B. Barr, pastor. Public service 10.30 A. M. Preaching Rev. J. A. Alexander of Cambridge. Men's Bible class and Sabbath School at 11.45. Junior C. E. at 3 P. M., led by the pastor. Senior C. E. meeting at 6. Evening service at 7. Sermon by pastor. Evangelistic meetings each evening of the week. All are cordially invited.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, ATLANTIC—Rev. Jason G. Miller, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by Rev. George H. Flint of Central church, Dorchester, in exchange with the pastor. Sunday School at 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Topic: "Christ's Life; 1. Lessons From His Boyhood." Union meeting with the Juniors. Leader, Miss Harriet Hawkins. Evening service at 7. Sermon by pastor. All are cordially invited.

TODAY'S COURT.

The liquors seized from M. Fiori at Quincy were forfeitted.

Samuel Sterenberg was arraigned for collecting junk without a license at Quincy. He was found guilty and was fined $3.

The continued case of Felix D'Alesandro for assault on Catherine Pace was heard and he was fined $75. Appealed.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

All Kinds of
Job Printing
At Daily Ledger Office

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE
With All the Latest Improvements,
ON UPLAND ROAD.
--- APPLY ---
JULIUS JOHNSON,
Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

Do Please Your Hair

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? Better please it by giving it a good hair-food—Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair stops coming out, becomes soft and smooth, and all the deep, rich color of youth comes back to gray hair. Sold for 60 years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS
Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,
C. H. BROOKS'
NEW MARKET.
No. 1375 Hancock Street.
Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.
Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
Have a large stock of Primroses, Cyclemen, Palms and Azaleas on hand.
Also a special sale of Ornamental Peppers.
Quincy, Jan. 15. 6t

TO LET
Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.
One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.
Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30xf0 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.
A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.
Storage—light and dry.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence 78 Newport Court, Quincy Point.
Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 4-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SUPERIOR COURT. NORFOLK ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

RESPECTFULLY libels and represents Rose Murphy of Quincy in said County, that she was lawfully married to Edward Murphy, formerly of Braintree in said County, but whose present address or place of residence is to your petitioner unknown, at Quincy aforesaid on the twenty-third day of May, A. D. 1892, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Edward Murphy lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said Quincy and in said Braintree; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Edward Murphy being wholly regardless of the same at said Braintree on the first day of July, A. D. 1897, utterly deserted your petitioner, which desertion has continued for three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel, and said Edward Murphy, while living with your libellant as aforesaid, contracted gross and confirmed habits of intoxication, caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, which habits continued during said time.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Edward Murphy.

Dated the second day of December, A. D. 1905.

HER
ROSE X MURPHY.
MARK.

Witness.
J. W. MCANARNEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Edward Murphy, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of March next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of March next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Edward Murphy an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Edward Murphy may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,
LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.
January 19, A. D. 1906.

A true copy of Petition and of order thereon.
Attest; R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
Jan. 20. 3t-20-22-29.

THE QUINCY LEDGER,
FOR SALE AT THE
South Terminal Station News Stand
After 3.35 P.M.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - 50 cents
" " one week, - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

WANTED.

WANTED—Pupils in music, pyrography and painting at reasonable rates. Class work a specialty. MISS MARGUERITE BRADBURY, 9 Kent street
Quincy, Jan. 20. 1t

MRS ALIDA OLANDER, 16 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc. 187 1-2 Granite street.
Quincy Jan. 19 6t

AGENTS Wanted for Quincy, Dorchester. Good money to right man. Call at Stables, 80 Washington street, Quincy, after 5 P. M. Mondays, or address Ideal Tea Co., 19 Meridian street, East Boston. Jan. 19-8t-1s.

WANTED—Demonstrators, men or women. Good money. H. H. HOWARD, 330 Centre street, Dorchester. Jan. 17-3t

EXPERIENCED seamstress would go out by day, $1.50 day. Good references. MISS B. J CARLSON, 45 Curtis street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—Pleasant, warm Rooms now vacant at THE GREENLEAF.
Quincy, Jan. 13-6t

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy.
Jan 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1433 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1459 Hancock street. July 1-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large suite rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

Speak Well
OF QUINCY
At All Times.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Make Known
YOUR WANTS
In Daily Ledger.

Vol. 18. No. 19. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Advertise It. Have You a House To Let? Advertise It.

A Doctor's Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is not a simple cough syrup. It is a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. It cures hard cases, severe and desperate cases. Especially good in bronchitis, pleurisy, consumption. Ask your doctor all about this.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,

C. H. BROOKS'

NEW MARKET.

No. 1375 Hancock Street.

Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

Complete Outfits for Married Folks.

Furniture you must have. You can't live without it. The perplexing problem is buying it right. Low suburban rents enable us to save you much from Boston prices.

We furnish your house from cellar to attic even to the smallest details. Special combinations for three, four and five room houses from $100.00 to $300.00.

Time payments for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

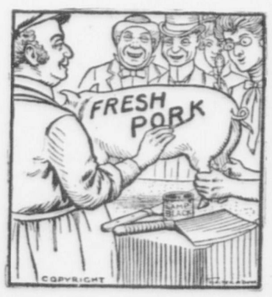

New Market!

J. K Morton,

1259 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS,
BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-3

A Remarkably Warm Day

The 75 degree temperature on Sunday is probably without a precedent in January. By the Daily Ledger record the highest noon temperature in January since 1896 was 59 on Jan. 5, 1897.

The highest February record during the same year was 60. In one March only did the mercury climb as high as 70.

No December day for ten years was as warm as Sunday, and only one November day.

Jan. 21, will certainly go on record as a remarkably hot day, reminding one of summer. Many houses had their windows open, and several sought the piazza for comfort. One gentleman picked a pansy on his grounds.

The highest and lowest noon temperature for January for the last nine years, as kept by the Daily Ledger, was:

	Highest.	Lowest.
1897	59	10
1898	54	11
1899	58	9
1900	52	22
1901	47	11
1902	55	13
1903	50	10
1904	42	4
1905	50	14

Church Debt Being Wiped Out

The annual financial statement of St. John's church was read at the 10.30 mass on Sunday by the pastor, Rev. John J. Coan, and made the most creditable showing of any of the successful years that Rev. Fr. Coan has been pastor here. The receipts of the church were $13,776.50 which was raised without the aid of any unusual collection. Of this sum there was expended $13,689.82, leaving a balance of $86.68. Included in the sum expended was $5,000 which went toward paying the debt on the church.

This amount, together with $3000 which Rev. Fr. Coan has already paid off on the debt of the church, makes a total of $8,000, which he has paid during the three years he has been here as pastor, and leaves only $4,000 more to be paid. If the same rate is maintained the church will be free from debt a year hence. This showing is considered most gratifying considering the short time Rev. Fr. Coan has been pastor here.

The Fitchburg Hospital

The Daily Ledger in its review of the Massachusetts Hospitals in a recent issue stated that Fitchburg was the only city to support a hospital from the city treasury, and that the cost was over $50 per patient. The following correspondence explains the situation:

Editor of the Daily Ledger:

Although this letter giving the correct story of the Burbank Hospital of Fitchburg was not written for publication, I take the liberty of asking you to print it, as the statement about this in the table of Hospital accounts may lead to a mistake here, and it is pleasant to know about such a generous way of building a charity as this was.

Annie E. Faxon
Ex-Secy. Hospial Aid.

Fitchburg, January 12th, 1906.

Dear Madam: Your letter of January 9th, addressed to the Secretary of the Trustees of the Burbank Hospital is before me.

The information you allude to, so far as it applies to the Burbank hospital, is practically true at the present time.

The condition of the hospital in brief is this. The property of the late Gardner S. Burbank, upon the death of his wife, comes to the city for a hospital. In order that the city might more speedily obtain some of the benefits of a hospital, his widow very generously enabled the city to borrow money for the purchase of a site and the erection of a hospital, by agreeing to pay the interest on the debt so contracted until the entire fund should become available namely, at her decease.

The running expenses of the hospital less the amounts received from the board and nursing of paying patients, has been and is paid by an appropriation made by the City Government each year. This I believe briefly states the facts.

Yours very truly,
Chas. E. Ware,
of Executive Committee.

Foster and Hillman The Winners

The Wollaston Whist club played as usual Saturday night in the club room and the results were as follows:

R. F. Foster and A. B. Hillman	plus 8 6-7
E. E. Hoxie and J. H. Broughton	plus 6 3-7
C. B. Hoxie and J. G. Brown	plus 3 4-7
A. C. Littlefield and A. P. Thompson	plus 3 4-7
H. A. Stevens and C. E. Hathaway	plus 2
V. S. Brokaw, and Wm. Chase	plus 1 5-7
J. B. Lane and E. S. Bray	plus 1 1-7
G. R. Thompson and H. C. Seymour	plus 1
J. Fuller and D. Spaans	minus 5-7
J. I. Litchfield and C. E. Barker	minus 5-7
C. A. Albertson and L. Ford	minus 2
L. N. Chapman and E. E. Phinney	minus 5
R. M. Watt and E. W. Taylor	minus 6
R. D. Mitchell and H. G. Lavelle	minus 6 1-7
H. J. Gurney and Ira Litchfield	minus 7 5-7

TODAY'S COURT.

Thomas Ackerman was fined $10 for drunkenness at Quincy.

James McDermott was arraigned for assault at Quincy. Case continued until Jan. 29.

Michael Crowley was sent to the State farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

William G. Dorr was fined $15 for drunkenness at Randolph.

James Powers of Randolph was brought in on a default warrant for drunkenness at Quincy and was fined $5.

The continued cases of Charles L. Perry and William Mansfield for drunkenness at Quincy were called and they were defaulted.

William Sullivan was fined $10 for breaking glass at Braintree.

Henry Raymond and John Haggleled were fined $5 each for disturbing the peace at Quincy.

Mary Woodman was arraigned for drunkenness at Weymouth. Case continued until Jan 25.

☞If this country was administered on business principles without regard to politics we would soon own or control everything in the world that is worth owning or controling, and that without firing anything but a commercial shot. The country suffers vastly more from the acts of its lawmakers than the acts of its lawbreakers in impeding commerce, in discriminating in taxation, and uncivilized methods of finance.—Commodore E. C. Benedict at a dinner at Waterbury Conn.

Death of Commander Warner

After an illness of long duration, during which William H. Warner made a stubborn fight for life he passed away Saturday night at his home 45 Penn street.

He was born in Pennsylvannia in 1848. May 4, 1864, he enlisted in the 5th unattached infantry, and was mustered out of service July 18, 1865. On Aug. 7, 1890, he became a member of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R. In 1897 he became its commander, and has held that position since that time with the exception of the year 1903, up to a few weeks ago.

Previous to coming to Quincy he was affiliated with the Smart Post at Cambridge. Commander Warner was a granite cutter by trade which he followed for many years. Twelve years ago he became an inspector in the Water department of this city where he has since been employed.

He also served one year in the City Council in 1892, representing Ward Three. He was one of the early members of the St. John's C. L. and A. A. and was prominent in the theatricals given by that association.

He leaves a widow and family.

Church Free From Debt

Rev. W. E. Gardner of Christ church Sunday morning reviewed the missionary work that had been done in 1905, and announced that for the first time for a number of years the church had no deficit in its finances, starting a new year free from any debt. The sermon touched upon the Episcopal church work in the South, and he said that while the negro men and women might be too old to be influenced, there were 9,000,000 children of the black race who could be easily reached, and we might add that the especial accessory of this church can make an especial influence upon these natures. The beautiful setting of the church appeals to the nature of these children and its music and its ritual in which they can be a part, can make vital impression upon them. The menace of the negro can be solved only by Christianizing influences from all churches. Mr. Gardner spoke of the excellent nurses in hospitals that young colored women make.

Have You Got One?

The 1906 World Almanac and Encyclopedia is a tabloid library of reference. It fits the pocket both in size and price and there are more solid fact and figures in its 680 pages than in a whole shelf full of costly encyclopedias. That is why the voluminous publications are "shelved." The Almanac buyer carries his reference library in his pocket. It is a "people's book"—for the man who cannot afford a library display and for the man who can afford it, but wants practical knowledge quickly. It is not written beyond the understanding of any man. To see it is to buy it! It is its own best advertisement! It is the most active agent for the dissemination of quick and practical knowledge ever presented to the public.

Ladies' Night.

Ladies' Night will be observed by the Men's club of the Wollaston Congregational church tomorrow evening. It will also be a Burns anniversary night, the program including two of the poet's songs in which all will be invited to join, and also a homily on Burns by Rev. E. A. Chase. Mr. Thomas Henry will contribute two solos, and Mr. John R. Anderson will read.

High Salaries

Two of the highest salaried men of Boston are directors of the Fore River Ship Building Company of Quincy. A. S. Bigelow is president of the Osceola Mining Company at a salary of $20,000, T. Jefferson Coolidge is president of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company at a salary of $20,000. Both are directors of several companies which net them several thousand dollars more.

A full dress rehersal of the ministrel show of the Squantum Yacht club will take place this evening at Quincy Music hall. The ministrels will appear in public on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Only a few tickets remain unsold. Commodore Bryant is expected to touch up the Rhode Island Reds and the Daily Ledger in his topical song.

Wollaston Affidavit In Favor of Tucker

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cook of Franklin avenue, Wollaston, have been brought into prominence in murder case of Mabel Page, and the efforts of counsel to obtain a new trial for Charles L. Tucker.

The following affidavit was filed on Saturday in the Middlesex Superior court:

"I, George B. Cook, on oath depose and say that I live on Franklin avenue, in the Wollaston district, Quincy; that I am married, and my wife's name is Emma M. Cook; that from January, 1903, until April, 1903, I lived in the lower flat of a house on Kaposia street, in the Auburndale district, Newton; that Charles L. Tucker, the defendant in the above named case, and his wife, Grace Tucker, lived in the upper flat during that period; that during that time I frequently saw in Tucker's yachting cap a Canadian stickpin; that it was about the size of a 10-cent piece and had a crown on it; that I spoke to my wife about it; that the pin was stuck through the top part of the cap and went through out the visor; that I did not communicate this information to the defendant or his counsel until Jan. 18, 1906, at which time I communicated it to James H. Vahey in the office of Hayes Lougee, my counsel, at 54 Devonshire street in Boston; that so far as I know the defendant had no knowledge of the information I possess." Signed by George B. Cook. Attested to by James H. Vahey.

Has a Chapel And a Morgue

The new undertaking rooms of A. W. Fay in the Adams building were opened today. The new rooms are located in the room recently occupied by the post office. There has been a great change in the interior however.

In place of one large room there are now seven rooms. The partitions are of plaster and sound proof. The interior finish and furnishing are of mahogany and are very handsome. The walls are covered with burlap paper of subdued tint, giving a soft tone to the rooms. Soft tone carpets also cover the floors.

In the front part is the main office, with a mahogany desk and chairs. Off this is Mr. Fay's private office.

In the rear is a good sized chapel where funeral services can be held. This chapel will fill a long felt want.

At the left is a long corridor leading to the trimming room in the rear as well as the sleeping room of the night man.

This room contains a telephone extension bell, as well as a bell connected with a pull at the front door.

In the basement is a large store room and morgue.

An attendant will be at the rooms night and day.

Mr. Fay will also retain his office at Wollaston.

Credit Due to Mr. Bryant.

The Rhode Island Red club is greatful to Hon. Charles M. Bryant of this city for his efforts at the Cincinnati poultry show. He sends word that the rose-comb Rhode Island red has been admitted to the American poultry association standard of perfection.

The club admits that this triumph for this breed is due largely to the energy of Mr. Bryant.

At the annual meeting of the club on Saturday Mr. Bryant was elected on the executive committee.

Now Chief Clerk

Fred W. Abele of Adams street, this city, has been named chief clerk to the commandant of the United States naval station at Guantanamo. Mr. Abele was born in Boston in 1871. He entered the government employ in 1899 as stenographer in the engineer department of the army, Boston district. He has been employed in Manila and in the American legation in Pekin.

☞Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Socialists Observe Bloody Sunday

A meeting in commemoration of "Bloody Sunday" was held in Hancock hall on Sunday. The Quincy Socialist club, the Finn Socialist club, the Italian and Swedish Socialist clubs all took part in the exercises. The stage was draped in red with a large picture of Karl Marx as a centre piece.

Levi H. Turner acted as chairman. Theo. Curtis of Boston, spoke in English for the American socialists. Two of the speakers spoke in the Finnish language. One speaker spoke Italian, one Swedish and one Russian. Music was furnished by the Italian Socialist string band. The Finn chorus of mixed voices rendered several songs. A collection was taken for the benefit of the Russian revolutionists.

The hall was crowded to the doors fully half the audience being women. This meeting showed the cosmopolitan character of Quincy's population.

Pastor's Assistant

Bethany Congregational church is making an effort to raise more money for church purposes this year that a pastor's assistant or Christian worker, to relieve the overcrowded duties of the pastor, Rev. E. N. Hardy may be employed. Action will be taken at an adjorned meeting of the church on Friday evening.

GOOD OPPORTUNITY

TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.

I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building.
Jan. 22.

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB

MINSTRELS,

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, JAN. 24 25

Quincy

MUSIC HALL.

Chorus of Thirty-Five.
Six End Men,
Full Orchestra,
Original Songs
and Sketches

Tickets from Members

25c, 50c, 75c.

Curtain, 7.45. Cars, 10.15
Qsincy, Jan. 19. 6t

SIX BIG SPECIALS!

We don't do things by halves here—when we make a special offer, it is sure to be worth buying and there's variety enough to suit all.

For example, how could you do better than take advantage of one or all of these special offers:

Graham Flour, 10 lbs. 25c.
Rye Flour, 10 lbs 25c.
Indian Meal, 10 lbs. 25c.
5 lb. pkg. Quaker Whole Wheat Flour, 22c.
Yellow Eye Beans, 9c. qt. 65c. peck.
California Pea Beans, 10c. qt., 75c. peck.

There are goods of special value all over the store at prices which are especially attractive to thrifty housewives.

Buy everything good to eat here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 22. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted,
At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST.,
City of Quincy, Mass., by
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.
☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.
Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF
The Quincy Patriot.
A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the
Braintree Observer and Reporter
A Weekly Established in 1878.
TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.
Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Even in the beginning one might have guessed that the Hero Fund Commission would be more or less handicapped by the fact that heroes who are heroes usually don't want to say anything about it, and heroes who aren't heroes often want to work a good thing for all it is worth.—Boston Transcript.

☞Cheer up.

What right have you to carry a funeral in your face? The world has troubles of its own.

Cheer up and change your point of view.

You can't? Nonsense. Your point of view is largely a matter of habit. Quit looking for the dark side of things. Your life is what you make it. Your happiness or misery is in your own hands. School yourself to see the silver lining of the clouds about your life.

Cheer up.—Beverly Times.

☞When an agent shows you a prospectus nowadays and tells you to "Read the names of the noted men who are directing the company," it is time for you to get doubtful, to put the purse away in a dark place in the cellar, and then have the dog watch the agent till he is out of sight. The "prominent director" game just now seems to be in itself almost a confession that there's something rotten in Denmark, or in that particular company that depends on a few directors' names as its chief argument why you should hand up your money to the man in charge.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞We have all heard of the mother's expression that it is so wonderful—so unlike anything else in the world—artists have found it very hard to paint—that is the reason we have so many pictures of the Madonna in the world—these old Masters found the expression elusive—something not easily reproduced—babies then are lovable from their first appearance—then when they make that little gurgling noise—a forerunner of the little prattling to come—how amusing they are: when they discover that their tiny fingers are under their own control—how funny it is to watch them—all mothers will remember the day when their little ones first noticed their little hands—and made the tiny fingers move. So too, when the first tooth comes it is an event—compared to it—all the other items of family history pale.—Polly Puritan in Beverly Times.

Local Ins And Outs

Sunday was an ideal spring day.

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings will meet tonight.

Arnold & Johnston, the florists are giving checks with all designs ordered.

Chief Engineer Williams has recovered from his illness and is again on duty.

A special convocation of St. Stephen's Chapter, R. A. M., will be held Wednesday evening.

There will be a meeting of the Fragment Society in the Unitarian chapel on Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

Hon. W. B. Rice is taxed in Boston for $859,500 of real estate and $3,000 of personal estate, and pays a tax of $13,800.

Rev. D. M. Wilson, formerly of Quincy, delivered the address at the Burns anniversary observed by the Boston Y. M. C. U. on Sunday evening.

Again has a petition been introduced in the Massachusetts Legislature for the revival of the charter of the Boston Quincy & Fall River Bicycle Railroad.

At the nineteenth annual meeting of the Cape Cod Commercial Travellers' Association held at Hotel Westminster, Jan. 19, George F. Sawyer Jr., was elected vice president after serving three years on the executive committee.

AGUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.
Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

PANIC IN CHURCH

Eighteen Persons Killed and Half a Hundred Hurt

CRY OF "FIRE" RAISED

Caused General Stampede and Frenzied People Were Caught In Bend In Stairway When Frail Banister Gave Way

Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—Eighteen persons were killed and probably half a hundred injured in a panic following the cry of "fire" last night in St. Paul's negro Baptist church on Eighth street. The services were being held on the second floor of the building. A defective flue set fire to the chimney, causing smoke to issue through the crevices in the floor near the pulpit. The room was well filled at the time, and the cry of "fire," coupled with the sight of the smoke, threw the congregation into a panic.

A wild rush was made for the stairs, despite the efforts of Rev. E. W. Johnson, the pastor, to allay the fears of the frenzied people, and men, women and children alike were knocked down and trampled upon by those pushing from behind. The stairway to the first floor had one sharp turn in it, and the frightened people became so tightly wedged in the bend of the stairs that the frail wooden banister gave way, precipitating many to the first floor.

The crash and the screams and shrieks of the women and children added to the frenzy of those above. They did not stop in their onward rush to get out. Notwithstanding the wide open doors on the first floor leading to the street, the crush was so great that 18 persons had the life stamped out of them before the panic was ended.

A general alarm was sent in for ambulances, firemen and policemen. In the meantime the greatest confusion reigned. Men and women ran about the streets calling for missed loved ones. A great crowd gathered and the work of rescue was promptly started. Dead and injured were quickly taken to hospitals and nearby houses.

The fire was only trifling, the flames being extinguished before the firemen arrived.

No Reappointment For Sharkey

Washington, Jan. 22.—President Roosevelt had a conference at the White House last night with former Lieutenant Governor Woodruff of New York and the four Republican members of the house of representatives from Brooklyn, mainly with reference to the consideration of the appointment of a successor to Robert Sharkey, the naval officer at the port of New York, whom the president has declined to reappoint because of alleged violations of the civil service law in the administration of Sharkey. No conclusion was reached.

Mescal Bean Sets Indians Crazy

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 22.—Thomas Hill, a Winnebago Indian, is dead, a dozen more are insane, and 300 members of the tribe are on the road to destruction through eating the Mexican mescal bean. It is feared by people outside the reservation that should drastic means be employed to deprive the Winnebagoes of this pernicious bean there might be armed rebellion. Agent McFatridge, while admitting that there is no way of coping with this new evil, scoffs at the idea of an outbreak.

One Jailbreaker Still Free

Dover, N. H., Jan. 22.—John Rogers, one of three prisoners who escaped from the Strafford county jail here Saturday, was captured Sunday at a local boarding house. In scaling an 18-foot wall at the jail, Rogers broke a bone in his leg. William Hanna, a second member of the trio, was found by the officers late last night at another boarding house. Hanna also complained of a broken leg by jumping from the top of the wall. Cleophas Vallie remains at large.

Death Reported Due to Hazing

Natchez, Miss., Jan. 22.—Joseph Sitman, a sub-freshman who left Jefferson military academy, six miles from here, on Jan. 11, is dead at his home at Greenburg, and it is alleged his death was due to injuries received at the hands of a crowd of hazers at the college. The boy's father will demand an investigation.

No Mercy to Law Breakers

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—Governor General Sologub continues to act with merciless severity against revolutionists in Courland caught with arms in hand or convicted of participation in incendiarism or murder. Twenty-two more persons have been tried by drumhead court martial and shot near Libau.

Aeronaut Falls 2000 Feet

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 22.—Lindsay Cooper, an aeronaut, fell 2000 feet from his balloon at Wolfe City and was instantly killed. Cooper was ascending, when he lost hold on the trapeze. About 400 persons witnessed the accident. With the exception of a broken wrist, no bones were broken.

Kentucky Again In Commission

New York, Jan. 22.—The United States battleship Kentucky, which was damaged in collision with the battleship Alabama in this harbor two weeks ago and since that time has been undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn navy yard, has sailed for Hampton Roads.

NEARLY 80 DEGREES

Mercury Climbed to Midsummer Notch In New England

Boston, Jan. 22.—A midwinter's day with summer-like conditions made Sunday in the greater part of New England one of the most remarkable from the weather point of view for many years. The official thermometer in Boston in the shade of the cold stone of the postoffice roof reached 67.8 yesterday afternoon. In the suburbs, however, where the full effect of the soft southerly air and the bright sun was felt, reliable instruments registered a trifle under 80 at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Artificial heat was almost superfluous and furs and winter clothing nearly unbearable. Most of the inhabitants of greater Boston spent the middle portion of the day out of doors, and it was not uncommon to see whole families, especially in the suburbs, seated on the verandas enjoying the warm sunshine.

Bees hummed, birds sang, and the buds on the trees had swelled perceptibly at the close of the day, while crocuses showed their heads in many warm spots.

What frost remained in the ground after weeks of comparatively mild weather came out rapidly, so that walking and riding, except on the paved streets of the city, was not particularly enjoyable. Electric cars, many of them of the open type, enabled many to reach the warm fields of the spacious park system, and the attractive reservations like the Blue Hills and the Middlesex Fells were thronged. The day seemed a culmination of many weeks of equally unusual winter weather.

Hot Wave Is General

Washington, Jan. 22.—A warm wave prevailed Sunday throughout the region between the Mississippi valley and the Atlantic coast. Its crest was in Ohio, where the temperatures ranged from 70 to 74 degrees. South of the Ohio river it was less warm, because of heavy rains and thunder showers. Thunderstorms also prevailed in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and northwest Georgia. A cold wave which developed in the west is rapidly following the warm wave, and the forecasters say it will reach the Atlantic coast tonight, but its force will be diminished as it progresses east.

Bordered Close on Riot

Boston, Jan. 22.—Infuriated by the bitter attacks made on Catholics, societies, and the city and national governments by anarchists in open air speeches in North square last evening, several hundred Italians, together with Portuguese and others, attacked them and a big riot seemed imminent when the police broke up the meeting and hustled off five of the alleged anarchists to the station. After questioning the men, only two of the five were held. They were complained of for disturbing the peace, using profanity and violating the city ordinance.

Miss Roosevelt as Mediator

Antwerp, Jan. 22.—A committee of Belgians appointed for the purpose of seeking the release by the Turkish government of Edward Joris, the Belgian condemned to death by a native court at Constantinople for alleged participation in the attempt to assassinate the sultan, has decided to send a petition to Miss Alice Roosevelt, asking her to interest President Roosevelt in the hope that he might personally intervene in behalf of Joris.

May Ask Sanitarium Inquiry

Boston, Jan. 22.—The Post says: It is expected that Governor Guild will be asked this week to begin a thorough investigation of conditions at the Rutland sanitarium, from which Dr. Bowditch was recently dismissed by the trustees. Friends of Bowditch have taken up the matter, and a private investigation has been made during the past week by people, ostensibly visitors, but in reality persons looking closely into affairs.

Imprisonment For Editor

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—The sentence of M. Souvorin, editor of The Russ, to a year's imprisonment for incitation of the people to high treason by publishing proclamations and statements designed to instigate riot, sedition and armed revolt and tending to cause the bankruptcy of the state, is the general topic of conversation in the capital. As Souvorin is a member of the nobility, his case must be reviewed by the czar.

Young Fellow Was Jealous

Littleton, N. H., Jan. 22.—Benjamin Dodge, aged 17, apparently jealous of his young sweetheart, Myrtle Silver, 16 years old, as she was talking over the telephone, supposedly to a young man, shot the girl last night. Dodge gave himself up to the authorities. Miss Silver was not wounded seriously. The young couple were engaged to be married.

Particular About His Harem

Tangier, Jan. 22.—Sidi El Mokhri, one of the delegates to the Moroccan conference, will leave at midnight for Algeciras on a specially chartered steamer. The sole object of his journey is to convey the ladies of his harem to Algeciras before daylight in order to prevent their being seen either here or at Algeciras.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Miss Mabel Weddell of Limerick, Me., filed a petition in bankruptcy, in which she placed her liabilities at $37,414 and assets at $5950.

Patrick Stewart, 32 years old, was instantly killed at Rapid River, Me., by a falling tree.

Pascal Gagner, aged 34, is dead from injuries received while at work on a planer in a lumber mill at Green Lake, Me.

GIVEN FREE HAND

France Will Deal With Venezuela as She Deems Just

MONROE DOCTRINE SAFE

Retiring French Charge at Caracas Cannot Decipher Instructions Until He Reaches Washington—No Hasty Action

Washington, Jan. 22.—Convinced of the sincerity of the assurances received from France regarding her loyalty to the Monroe doctrine and all that it involves, the Washington government has given the Paris government a free hand in the execution of its program for the solution of the Venezuelan problem. The conferences on this phase of the question occurred some time ago and Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, has final assurance that the efforts of France to obtain diplomatic treatment for her charge of affairs at Caracas will not be interpreted at Washington as in any way violative of the Monroe doctrine.

The first move in the execution of the French program may be expected at any time, but on this point the French government is observing the strictest secrecy, the orders to the squadron going direct from Paris and not through the embassy here. Mr. Taigny, the retiring French charge, who, it is believed, is now at Curuaco, will come to this country on his way home, and on his arrival at New York he will find an invitation from the French ambassador at Washington to spend several days here in conference in order that Jusserand, on whom the burden of an important phase of the Venezuelan negotiations naturally falls, may have the benefit of the facts about the situation. It is not unlikely that Taigny will also see Secretary Root.

The whereabouts of the French ships remains a mystery, so far as the officials of the state department and French embassy are concerned, it is stated. It is assumed, however, that they are daily in touch with the ministry of marine at Paris and are awaiting an opportune moment to take such action as their instructions may provide for.

At last accounts, Taigny had not been able to decipher three long cablegrams received on board the Martinique, which contained important instructions from the foreign office, one of which directed him to await the arrival of a French man-of-war then on its way to La Guaira to take him away. Taigny went on board the French steamship to obtain these instructions, intending to return with them to Caracas and decipher them in the legation, where the cipher code is kept under close guard. He was not allowed to land, however, and it will be impossible for him to become acquainted with the nature of the instructions until his arrival in Washington, where he will have access to the embassy code. The state department has received no advices from Minister Russell at Caracas.

Great interest is felt in diplomatic circles here about the exact nature of a sentence found objectionable in the note of President Castro to Taigny. This sentence in substance referred to the presentation by Taigny of a note to the Venezuelan government and announced the complete severance of all relations until adequate explanation was made of conduct which was, in effect, described by Castro as not customary among well-mannered nations.

Awaiting Report of Taigny

Paris, Jan. 22.—It appears to be certain that the French government has resolved to take no action with regard to Venezuela until the full report of Taigny reaches the foreign office. This report is expected to come by way of Washington, where Taigny will turn it over to Ambassador Jusserand.

The question of demanding an extraordinary credit is held in abeyance for the present. According to authoritative information, Premier Rouvier does not see the necessity at the present moment of using forcible means to obtain reparation for the insult to Taigny, and it is probable that he will mainly rely on the exercise of the influence of the United States with President Castro. The desire to see in what direction the Moroccan conference will turn also forms a factor which restrains France from precipitately burdening herself with another difficult question, the solution of which is possible and which might involve a delicate situation in connection with other powers having dealings with the Venezuelan government.

A Long-Drawn-Out Trial

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 22.—The case of the United States against Greene and Gaynor, the two contractors charged with conspiracy in connection with former Captain Carter and others, entered today upon its third week. It is generally expected that it will require four weeks longer for its conclusion, while there are many who declare that eight weeks hence will not have brought the end.

Explosion Set Guests In Panic

Chicago, Jan. 22.—A panic among the guests of the Windmere hotel followed the explosion of a steam boiler in the basement. John Rapkoch, engineer, was killed and Mrs. Seeta May, a guest, was injured. The explosion partly wrecked the hotel building and damaged adjacent buildings. The damage is $15,000.

CASH HAS DWINDLED

But Little to Show For Deposits In Provident Securities

Boston, Jan. 22.—The receivers of the Provident Securities and Banking company, in taking charge of the office, found that the total amount of cash in the office was $364.31. In addition the company holds notes of a gelatine company amounting to $22,606 and 142,500 shares of the stock of a Colorado irrigation company. The amount of cash turned into the company by the 9000 depositors is said to amount to about $182,000.

Receivers Hall and Weed qualified by giving bonds of $5000 each and will have 10 days in which to examine the bank and file their report of its condition.

In connection with the examination it was stated that on Jan. 17, 1903, the savings bank commissioners wrote a letter in response to an inquiry from Samuel Dalton, at that time the president of the Provident company, stating that in their opinion, as well as in the opinion of the attorney general, that the use of the small steel boxes which the company sold to its depositors did not conflict with the provisions of the law. The commissioners, it is said, warned the company against using the word "savings bank" in its advertisements. It is said that the original letter was not found by the receivers among the company's papers.

Long Overdue Bark Is Safe

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 22.—After a voyage of 116 days and after being given up by her owners as lost, the British bark Ednyfed arrived here from Trapani, Italy. Captain Evans, who commands the vessel, reports the voyage as the worst he has experienced in his 27 years of seafaring life. Evans and his crew of 19 men had provisions in plenty and arrived here in good health. The bark weathered the storms without the loss of a single piece of its rigging.

Probable Case of Suicide

Gardner, Mass., Jan. 22.—The body of George Anderson, aged 21, who mysteriously disappeared from his home here more than three months ago, was found yesterday in the woods about half a mile from the centre of the town. Anderson was employed in a local drug store and at the time of his disappearance a bottle of chloroform and a towel were missed from the store, which leads to the theory of suicide. Anderson suffered from violent headaches.

Gas Kills Wrestler Hully

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 22.—Peter Hully, 27, widely known as the French heavyweight champion wrestler, was found dead in bed in his room in this city. The room was filled with illuminating gas. One burner was lighted and the other turned on half way, from which the gas was escaping, and which is believed to have been the cause of his death. Hully was an employe of a shoe manufacturing firm. His death is believed to have been accidental.

Jealous Man Shoots Two

Boston, Jan. 22.—The police are engaged in a search for William F. Boring, 21 years old, a waiter in a restaurant, who, it is charged, was responsible for the shooting last evening of Andrew Chase, proprietor of a lodging house, and also Miss Zelma E. Cole, one of the lodgers. Chase has a dangerous wound in his neck, while Miss Cole had her jaw shattered. It is said that Boring was jealous of Miss Cole.

Boy Mangled by Dynamite

Waltham, Mass., Jan. 22.—Joseph Deroslers, 12 years old, was probably fatally injured by the explosion of what is believed to have been a dynamite cartridge. The boy's right eye was destroyed, his right hand blown off and his left leg shattered. It is thought that the boy picked up a stray cartridge near a stone crusher and, while handling it, the cartridge exploded.

Bad Nickels In Circulation

Boston, Jan. 22.—Because of complaints from street railway officials and shopkeepers throughout the city a general order has been sent out from police headquarters commanding all policemen to be on the watch for a gang of counterfeiters supposed to be making and circulating bad nickels in this city. For the past few days thousands of spurious 5-cent pieces have turned up.

Safeguarding People's Health

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 22.—According to a report made by the Vermont board of cattle commissioners, 3161 cattle have been killed by the state during the past three years in an attempt to exterminate bovine tuberculosis. The state has reimbursed owners of all cattle killed at a cost of $68,181.

Bribery Charge Not Sustained

Boston, Jan. 22.—A disagreement was reported by the jury in the case of Timothy J. Swift, formerly assistant custodian of the federal building, who has been on trial for the alleged acceptance of a bribe for securing the wooden cases in one of the departments of the local postoffice.

Great Collection by Boston Church

Boston, Jan. 22.—The announcement was made last evening at the Old South church that the annual collection this year for the American Board of Foreign Missions amounted to $11,000. This amount is the largest ever made for congregational missions by any one parish in the country.

Railroad Wreck and Fire

Ayer, Mass., Jan. 22.—A rear-end collision between two freight trains near the Nashua river bridge impeded traffic and resulted in considerable damage to several cars and a caboose. One of the cars loaded with coke caught fire and was practically destroyed.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

ECONOMY.

COAL

CLEAN COAL.
THAT'S OUR KIND.
Clean Coal Means Economy for
YOU.
C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 19. pl tf

For Sale or To Let.
An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE
With All the Latest Improvements,
ON UPLAND ROAD.
--- APPLY ---
JULIUS JOHNSON,
Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING,
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.
A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices
MISS D. LITCHMAN,
330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 3.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mill. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office,
1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel. Haymarket 724.
Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.

We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollara Pair

We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.

FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

Divorce Libel.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court.

Respectfully shows Elizabeth A. Foss of Quincy, County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that she was lawfully married to Thomas H. Foss, now of Clackamas in the State of Oregon, at Portland, Oregon, on February 14th, A.D. 1876, that they have never lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, but said libellant has resided in this State for five years next preceding the filing of this libel; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, yet the said Thomas H. Foss being wholly regardless of the same at Grays River in the State of Washington on or about the 20th day of December, 1895, and on divers other days was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment toward your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Thomas H. Foss, and for such further orders and decrees in the premises as to law and justice may appertain.

ELIZABETH A. FOSS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

ON the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Thomas H. Foss, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of February next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of February next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Thomas H. Foss an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Thomas H. Foss may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,
LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

January 11, A.D. 1906.

A true copy of Petition and of order thereon.
Attest: R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
Jan. 13, 15, 22 3t

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER VIII.

MR. CAREWE was already at the breakfast table, but the light of his countenance, hidden behind the Rouen Journal, was not vouchsafed to his daughter when she took her place opposite him, nor did he see fit to return her morning greeting, from which she generously concluded that the burning of the two warehouses had meant a severe loss to him.

"I am so sorry, father," she said gently. (She had not called him "papa" since the morning after her ball.) "I hope it isn't to be a great trouble to you." There was no response, and after waiting for some time she spoke again rather tremulously, yet not timidly, "Father?"

He rose, and upon his brow were marked the blackest lines of anger she had ever seen, so that she leaned back from him, startled, but he threw down the open paper before her on the table and struck it with his clinched fist.

"Read that!" he said, and he stood over her while she read.

There were some grandiloquent headlines: "Miss Elizabeth Carewe an Angel of Mercy! Charming Belle Saves the Lives of Five Prominent Citizens! Her Presence of Mind Prevents Conflagration From Wiping Out the City!" It may be noted that Will Cummings, editor and proprietor of the Journal, had written these tributes as well as the whole account of the evening's transactions, and Miss Betty loomed as large in Will's narrative as in his good and lovelorn heart. There was very little concerning the fire in the Journal. It was nearly all about Betty. That is one of the misfortunes which pursue a lady who allows an editor to fall in love with her.

However, there was a scant mention of the arrival of the volunteers "upon the scene," though none at all at the cause of their delay, and an eloquent paragraph was devoted to their handsome appearance, Mr. Cummings having been one of those who insisted that the new uniforms should be worn. "Soon," said the Journal, "through the daring of the chief of the department and the captain of the hook and ladder company, one of whom placed and mounted the grappling ladder, over which he was immediately followed by the other carrying the hose, a stream was sent to play upon the devouring element, a feat of derring-do personally witnessed by a majority of our readers. Mr. Vanrevel and Mr. Gray were joined by Eugene Madrillon, Tappingham Marsh and the editor of this paper, after which occurred the unfortunate accident to the long ladder, leaving the five named gentlemen in their terrible predicament, face to face with death in its most awful form. At this frightful moment"— And all the rest was about Miss Carewe.

As Will himself admitted, he had "laid himself out on that description." One paragraph was composed of short sentences, each beginning with the word "alone." "Alone she entered the shattered door! Alone she set foot upon the first flight of stairs! Alone she ascended the second! Alone she mounted the third! Alone she lifted her hand to the trap! Alone she opened it!" She was declared to have made her appearance to the unfortunate prisoners on the roof, even as "the palm laden dove to the despairing Noah," and Will also asserted repeatedly that she was the "heroine of the hour."

Miss Betty blushed to see her name so blazoned forth in print, but she lacked one kind of vanity and failed to find good reason for more than a somewhat troubled laughter, the writer's purpose was so manifestly kind in spite of the bizarre result.

"Oh, I wish Mr. Cummings hadn't!" she exclaimed. "It would have been better not to speak of me at all, of course. But I can't see that there is anything to resent. It is so funny!"

"Funny!" Mr. Carewe repeated the word in a cracked falsetto, with the evident intention of mocking her, and at the same time hideously contorted his face into a grotesque idiocy of expression, pursing his lips so extremely and setting his brows so awry that his other features were carried out of all familiar likeness, effecting an alteration as shocking to behold in a man of his severe cast of countenance as was his falsetto mimicry to hear. She rose in a kind of terror, perceiving that this contortion was produced in burlesque of her own expression, and as he pressed nearer her stepped back, overturning her chair. She had little recollection of her father during her childhood, and as long as she could remember no one had spoken to her angrily or even roughly.

As she retreated from him he leaned forward, thrusting the hideous mask closer to her white and horror stricken face.

"You can't see anything to resent in that!" he gibbered. "It's so funny, is it? Funny! Funny! Funny! I'll show you whether it's funny or not! I'll show you!" His voice rose almost to a shriek. "You hang around fires, do you, on the public streets at night? You're a nice one for me to leave in charge of my house while I'm away, you trollop! What did you mean by going up on that roof? You knew that rascal Vanrevel was there! You did, I say, you knew it!"

She ran toward the door with a frightened cry. But he got between it and her, menacing her with his upraised open hands, shaking them over her.

"You're a lovely daughter, aren't you?" he shouted hoarsely. "You knew perfectly well who was on that roof, and you went. Didn't you go? Answer me that! If I'd had arms about me when I got there I'd have shot that man dead! He was on my property giving orders, the black hound! And when I ordered him out he told me if I interfered with his work before it was finished he'd have me thrown out—me that owned the whole place—and there wasn't a man that would lend me a pistol! 'Rescue!' You'd better rescue him from me, you palm laden dove, for I'll shoot him, I will! I'll kill that dog, and he knows it. He can bluster in a crowd, but he'll hide now! He's a coward and"—

"He came home with me. He brought me home last night!" Her voice rang out in the room like that of some other person, and she hardly knew that it was herself who spoke.

"You lie!" he screamed, and fell back from her, his face working as though under the dominance of some physical disorder, the flesh of it plastic beyond conception, so that she cried out and covered her face with her arm. "You lie! I saw you at the hedge with Crailey Gray, though you thought I didn't. What do you want to lie like that for? Vanrevel didn't even speak to you. I asked Madrillon. You lie!"

He choked upon the words. A racking cough shook him from head to foot. He staggered back and dropped upon her overturned chair, his arms beating the table in front of him, his head jerking spasmodically backward and forward as he gasped for breath.

"Ring the bell!" he panted thickly, with an incoherent gesture. "Nelson knows! Ring!"

Nelson evidently knew. He brought brandy and water from the sideboard with no stinting hand, and within ten minutes Mr. Carewe was in his accustomed seat, competent to finish his breakfast.

For Miss Betty had fled to her own room and had bolted the door. She lay upon the bed, shuddering and shivering with nausea and cold, though the day was warm. After a time she began to grow quieter, turned and lay

"You're a lovely daughter, aren't you?"

with wet eyes staring unseeingly at the wall, her underlip quivering with the deep intake of each broken sigh.

"Missy!" There came a soft knock upon the door and the clink of silver upon china. "Missy!"

"What is it?"

So quick was Miss Betty that, although she answered almost at once, the tears were washed away and she was passing a cool, wet towel over her eyes at the moment she spoke.

"Jass me. I brung yo' breakfas', honey."

Old Nelson's voice was always low and gentle, with a quaver and hesitancy in the utterance. Now it was tender and comforting with the comprehension of one in suffering, the extraordinary tact which the old of his race nearly all come to possess. "Li'l chicken wing on piece brown toast, honey."

When she opened the door he came in, bending attentively over his tray, and without a glance toward his young mistress made some show of fuss and bustle as he placed it upon a table near the window and drew up a chair for her so that she could sit with her back to the light.

"Dah, now!" he exclaimed softly, removing the white napkin and displaying other dainties besides the chicken wing. "Dass de way! Dat ole Mamie in de kitchen, she got her failin's an' her grievin' sins, but de way she do han'le chicken an' biscuit sutney ain't none on 'em. She plead fo' me to ax you how you like dem biscuit."

He kept his head bent low over the table, setting a fork closer to Betty's hand; arranging the plates, then rearranging them, but never turning his eyes in her direction.

(Continued in next issue.)

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Dog Who Had His Day

Mr. Hoss and Beedle Dog were great cronies. One never saw them separated. They both belonged to an old farmer named Screw, who was very appropriately named, so they both thought, as he got all he could out of every one and spared none.

He was especially hard on Mr. Hoss, whom he forced to work all day in the hot sun and beat and kicked him sadly when he lagged.

"It's a shame," whined Beedle Dog as he crept into Mr. Hoss' stall for the night. "He makes you work too hard. He's a cruel old tike."

"Well, you see," said the horse, "he doesn't understand. He never has to pull a heavy cart, and he doesn't know how we suffer."

"Better teach him, then," said Beedle curtly. "I always believe in giving folks all the information they need."

"How are you going to do it?" queried the horse, munching a mouthful.

"I'll tell you. Tomorrow when he lets you out you make tracks down the road when he isn't looking. Hide in the grove a mile down the road and leave the rest to me."

RATHER WARM.

When Mr. Screw came to look for Mr. Horse next day he was gone.

"Wonder where in the name o' sense he went to now?" he growled.

"I know," spoke up Beedle. "He's sick down the road yonder—awful sick; worked too hard. Guess he'll die."

"How do you know, you brute?"

"Saw him," said Beedle. "Better get your wagon and go down and get him, or you'll have a funeral."

"How'm I to git it down thar?"

"Pull it, I guess. Walking's good."

So off they set, Beedle heading at a rapid pace and poor Mr. Screw pulling hard between the shafts.

"My, it's hot!" said Screw.

"Rather warm," said Beedle.

"Heavy as lead," said Screw.

"Rather weighty," laughed Beedle.

Soon they came to Mr. Hoss. Mr. Screw was played out.

"Feel better?" said Beedle.

"Yes. I'll pull home," the horse replied.

As they went down the road Beedle said:

"Guess he knows now."—Atlanta Constitution.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1236 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

LAND OF WEALTH

Vast and Valuable Mines In Morocco Are Untouched

NEED OF DEVELOPMENT

Abundant Crops Could Be Raised by Barely Scratching Soil--Moors Are Resolutely Set Against Modern Conveniences

Algeciras, Jan. 22.—The American delegates to the Moroccan conference, as the result of talks with others of the envoys, have become impressed with the undeveloped wealth of Morocco and the opportunities it affords for American enterprises.

Wonderful stories are told of coal deposits within an hour's ride of Tangier, of untouched forests of cork trees near at hand and of gold fields in the Atlas mountains. The Moors continue to work on a small scale the copper veins opened by the Romans, but mining engineers, who have scarcely dared to turn a stone for fear of the natives, aver that not only copper, but tin and iron mines exist which are equal to the best mines of Spain.

"Why should not the United States share in the development of these resources, which are greater than those of Manchuria or the Philippines?" remarked one of the plenipotentiaries. Samuel R. Gummere, the American minister to Morocco and one of the delegates to the convention, however, raised some practical difficulties in the way of Americans profiting in this field, as Europeans control the shipping lines and send their goods in bulk, while Americans send merely English literature and samples. Some tons of this literature, Gummere said, reached the American legation every year for distribution among the Arabs.

Mr. Gummere, however, confirmed many of the reports of the undeveloped riches of the country. He said the soil need only to be scratched to produce each year two abundant crops of corn, barley and vegetables. American agricultural machinery, according to Gummere, is greatly needed in Morocco, as the primitive wooden plow is still used there. Moreover, Morocco needs railroads, telegraphs, electricity and a hundred of other conveniences which it could have if the country were opened, but against these things the Moors hitherto have resolutely set their faces.

Mr. Gummere said that although a considerable quantity of American flour, petroleum and lard, the latter for the use of the Spanish population, is imported, yet these things are brought through Marseilles, Hamburg and other European ports and upon European ships and are distributed by European traders. Nine-tenths of the flour imported is American. The Standard Oil company has an exclusive market in Morocco, having displaced Russian oil concerns.

Much of the Moroccan market, Gummere thinks, could be occupied by American merchants if a direct steamship line were established.

Speaking of the huge profits made in Morocco, Gummere remarked that investors there think they are losing money if they do not make from 30 to 40 percent profit, while 80 to 100 percent is not rare.

Time to Stop Atrocities

Washington, Jan. 22.—A mass meeting of citizens of Washington was held last night to express sentiments on the atrocities on the Jews in Russia. Resolutions which were unanimously adopted endorsed the speeches made at the meeting and denounced "these terrible atrocities as great crimes against a common humanity that must be stopped, and stopped at once and for all time to come, by the Russian government." Tribute was paid President Roosevelt for all that he has done and is doing to "cause a cessation of these unspeakable crimes against the oppressed and the outraged in Russia.

Signed Depew's Name to Check

Washington, Jan. 22.—Elizabeth Ray, 14 years old, admits forging the name of Senator Depew to a $50 check with which she attempted to purchase a gold watch in a jewelry store here. She says she and her mother came to Washington from New York last Monday. Mrs. Katherine Berger, the mother of the girl, was arrested. Both mother and daughter told stories to the effect that money had been left the daughter in care of Depew, though the police received word saying the senator denied these statements.

Grievances Adjusted

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 22.—There will be no strike of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad firemen, an amicable agreement of the controversy having been arrived at during a conference of several hours' duration. The men recede from the three demands for which they were holding out, and the company concedes the men's contention relating to engineers who retain their membership in the firemen's brotherhood after promotion.

Serious Row in Lumber Camp

Bangor, Me., Jan. 22.—Elias Dobson of Mars Hill, who was brought to Bangor suffering from a fractured skull, is unconscious most of the time, but physicians express a hope of his recovery. The blow from which Dobson is suffering was struck, it is said, by Charles Perkins, a companion, as the two were working in a lumber camp. Perkins has disappeared.

HOME RULE ASSURED

Such Is the View Taken of the British Liberals' Victory

London, Jan. 22.—Within the last few days the political complexion of the United Kingdom has been completely changed by the tide of Liberalism that now is higher than the most sanguine radical dared to hope for or predict. The new parliament will be overwhelmingly Liberal.

Up to this time the total number of members elected is 480, of whom 247 are Liberals, 114 Unionists, 40 Laborites, 78 Nationalists and one Socialist. This leaves 190 seats still vacant.

The Liberals thus far have gained no less than 177 seats, counting labor gains as Liberal or government gains; and if the same proportion is kept up for the remaining 190 seats, the Liberals will have 407 votes in the next parliament, to which may be added those of 42 Laborites, one Socialist and 33 Nationalists, which would give Prime Minister Campbell-Bannerman 533 votes against 137 for the Conservatives.

One of the most prominent politicians in England says: "It is useless to minimize the present revolution, and we might as well begin to take a new view of the situation. In my opinion, a parliament sitting at Dublin may be looked for within the next two years. Assuredly, John Redmond, the leader of the Nationalist party, and Prime Minister Campbell-Bannerman have reached a working agreement, and it is inconceivable that Redmond would be content with anything less than an Irish parliament.

Poison Rather Than Wedding

Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—Rather than marry a man she did not love Jennie Graham, 19 years old, swallowed laudanum in the presence of her aunt and friends. She may recover. Miss Graham was to have been married to Reuben Dean, 21 years old, at her aunt's house. All the arrangements had been made for the ceremony, and the guests were waiting for the arrival of the bridegroom when the girl attempted to end her life. She had known Dean for many months, but in the meantime she met Charles Parfitt, with whom she fell in love. Nevertheless, having engaged herself to Dean, she determined to keep her troth, but when the decisive moment came she weakened.

Killed Sister's Assailant

New York, Jan. 22.—Felix Betelli, 25 years old, went to the home of Lena Campano at Green Point and attempted to force his attentions on the woman, trying to stifle her cries by drawing his pistol. She dared him to fire and he promptly sent two shots into her right arm and hand. The sounds of the reports aroused the girl's brother, Nicholas, aged 17, and, springing from his bed, he attacked Betelli. He received a bullet wound in his right arm, but continued the attack and plunged a hunter's knife into Betelli's left side, inflicting an injury which caused death an hour later.

Shipwrecked Mariners Rescued

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 22.—The steamer Queen City arrived here with Captain Davidson and 16 other survivors of ship King David, which was wrecked on Bajou reef on Dec. 13, when the survivors left her a total wreck, after spending five weeks in an abandoned fishing camp on an uninhabited island. The shipwrecked men did not suffer severely and had provisions for a month longer when picked up.

"Bloody Sunday" Anniversary

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—There is almost an entire lack of prognostications of disorder today, the anniversary of the historic march of Father Gapon and his followers to the winter palace. There is general confidence that the day will pass without serious occurrences in St. Petersburg and in Moscow, though there may be collisions in the provincial towns.

Indication of Murder

New York, Jan. 22.—Amid the disorder of a squalid apartment in a large tenement house occupied by negroes the police found the body of Lucille Sparks. About her neck was tightly twisted a knotted towel, her nose was broken and her face badly bruised. The police are now looking for the reputed husband of the dead woman, and Hester Brown, a boarder.

Suffocated by Gas

Providence, Jan. 22.—Edwin B. Mason, aged 30, an employe of the Providence Gas company, was found dead in the gas storage house of the concern in this city, having been asphyxiated by illuminating gas. It is believed that Mason met his death while endeavoring to relieve the pressure in the big tank in the structure.

New Order Displeases Weavers

Pawtucket, R. I., Jan. 22.—The weavers at the American Haircloth company of Central Falls have been notified that the company will require them to handle 10 instead of eight looms hereafter. A committee of the weavers, of which there are about 150 in the mills, will endeavor to have the new order rescinded.

Abused Mail Privileges

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Edward F. Hansen, president of the Nutrical company, and formerly mayor of a town in northern Maine, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary and fined $5000 for sending objectionable literature through the United States mails, advertising his concern.

Appointment Pleases Japan

Tokio, Jan. 22.—The news of the appointment of Luke E. Wright, governor general of the Philippines, to be the first American ambassador to Japan, has been received here with general satisfaction.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 04	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 1
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 1
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 1
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 1
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abodef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abodef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 15	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfdcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abodefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 53 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square.
b Norfolk Downs,	g, Savin Hill.
c Atlantic,	h, Crescent Avenue.
d Neponset,	i, South Boston.
e Pope's Hill.	r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Dec. 24, 1905.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—6.02, 6.32, 7.02, 7.32 A.M., then 2 and 32 minutes past each hour until and including 11.02 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.17, 6.47, 7.17, 7.47 A.M., then 17 and 47 minutes past each hour until and including 10.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	75	27	36	38	45
Monday,	66	36	37	47	40
Tuesday,	—	49	24	40	42
Wednesday,	—	43	24	36	30
Thursday,	—	41	20	33	32
Friday,	—	38	17	55	33
Saturday,	—	38	30	20	31

New Advertisements Today.

Arnold & Johnson—Florists.
Henry L. Kincaide & Co.—Furniture.
R. E. Foy & Co.—Six Big Articles.
C. H. Burgess—Houses for sale.
To Let—Rooms.
Lost—Kitten.
For Sale—Building.
Wanted—Work by competent woman.

The City In Brief

It is said that the heat of Sunday caused some gypsy moths to crawl out of their nest.

Mrs. A. F. Spencer of Dorchester, was a guest of friends in this city the past week.

Representative Hultman and Sandberg will on Thursday attend the reception given by Gov. Guild at Hotel Somerset.

The annual meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian parish will be held this evening. Supper at 6.20. Business meeting at 7.45.

Rev. E. A. Chase, of the Wollaston Congregational church, gave an illustrated lecture Sunday evening on "Higher Education in Mission Lands."

The Wollaston Ladies' Alliance will hold its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Rev. Frederick Griffin of Braintree will be the speaker.

A son was born on Friday, Jan. 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rich of Gloucester. Mrs. Rich will be remembered as Miss Audrey Rhines of Miller Stile road, Quincy.

St. Johns church contributed $53.75 and the Sacred Heart church $56.60 last year for the propagation of the faith in foreign fields. The contributions of the archdiocese amounted to more than $40,000.

On a little tree in the pasture just below Woodward avenue as you go down Coddington street, may be seen some fine specimens of Browntail moth nests.

Miss Almira Simmons had charge of the meeting of the Wollaston Y. P. R. U. Sunday evening. Mrs. George G. Saville of Quincy, gave a short history of "Our Faith," and commented upon it briefly but instructively.

The parish suppers given by the ladies of First church have always been particularly enjoyable affairs and the one on Wednesday evening, which is a public supper, will be even more so as an informal musical entertainment is to follow the supper.

Mrs. Harris, one of the missionaries to the Congo Free State, gave a most interesting lecture as to the condition of affairs there, at the Wollaston Baptist church, Sunday evening. Dr. Barbour then told of the attempts at reform that are being made.

Among the residents of Wollaston to visit the automobile show in New York was J. A. Barbour of Grand View avenue. He passed the week there returning Sunday morning. By his enthusiasm we judge he enjoyed the hippodrome almost as well, as he says it would repay anyone the trip to see it.

Chairs will be in demand at the Quincy Woman's club musicale tomorrow afternoon at the club house. The club, instead of having an initialion fee, as is customary in most clubs, asked its members to each contribute one dollar toward furnishing the house with chairs, china, etc. The ready response helped materially and most of the members occupy the chairs at the club entertainments with the comfortable feeling which ownership always gives.

Railroad Accident Narrowly Averted

If the habit of running express trains through Quincy, while another train is at the depot continues, there will be a serious accident. There has been one accident at the depot for this reason, and two very narrow escapes.

The first was some weeks ago when but for the presence of mind of the engineer of the outward train, in suddenly putting on steam and running his train by the depot an inward express would have ploughed its way through a hundred or more passengers alighting from the outward train.

A similar accident was narrowly averted Sunday night. The outward train due at Quincy at 9 o'clock had just come to a stop and passengers had begun to leave the train when an inward express was heard coming at a high rate of speed.

Officer Goodhue and the railroad men at the depot rushed onto the inward track and shouted loudly to the passengers to keep back.

The engineer of the inward train, however, applied his emergency brake. A stream of fire spurted from the wheels. The engine did run as far as the baggage room door before it was stopped.

It was a mighty narrow escape for the passengers of the outward train.

Bridgewater Negro Is Captured

John Ashton, arrested at Portland on a post office break, is thought to be Minot St. Clair Francis, who escaped from the State farm at Bridgewater Sept. 17 and gave officers in Quincy and elsewhere much anxiety for several weeks.

Prize Dogs.

G. L. Haupt's red Corker Spaniel "Red Peggy" again succeeded in carrying off second honors at the Lynn Kennell clubs show held in that city last week, making 1 first, 3 seconds, and two thirds won by this little dog since her entrance in the ring last August. She was accompanied by another dog owned by Mr. Haupt, Sport VI, who also carried a yellow ribbon back to Quincy and in view of the fact that this dog is only twenty months old and never having been shown before, the owner predicts for him a successful career both as a stud dog and prize winner.

Christmas In England.

When Cromwell ruled England he issued an edict against all festivities at Christmas. The festival was altogether abolished, and the displaying of holly and mistletoe and other emblems of the happy time was held to be seditious. In 1644 the long parliament commanded that Christmas day should be observed as a strict fast, when all people should think over and deplore the great sin of which they and their forefathers had been guilty in making merry at that season. This act so provoked the people that on the following natal day the law was violently resisted in many places. Though these scenes were disgraceful, they served their purpose and put an end to an unjust order. When Charles II. regained the throne the populace once more made Christmastide a time of rejoicing.

The Great Bed of Ware.

In Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" Sir Toby Belch urges Sir Andrew Aguecheek to pen a challenge and to put in it "as many lies as will lie in the sheet of paper, although the sheet were big enough for the bed of Ware." This enormous bed, which was a wonder in Shakespeare's time and still exists in Ware, is seven feet six inches high and ten feet nine inches square, so that twelve people can lie comfortably in it. Beautifully carved, it is a splendid specimen of antique furniture, dating from the days of Queen Elizabeth. This wonderful bed is naturally an object of curiosity and interest to many visitors. In the same room there hung a pair of horns, upon which all strangers formerly were sworn.

It was rumored on the street this morning that Mr. A. F. Hayward was arrested Saturday for selling adulterated hamburg steak, when the facts are,—he was charged with selling Browns pickled lambs tongues in glass jars which were said to contain preservatives. The Lambs Tongue Co. claim there is no preservative used and the case will be heard next Friday.

DIED.

WARNER—In Quincy, Jan. 20, Mr. William H. Warner of 42 Penn street, aged 58 years.
PIERCE—Jan. 22, Mr. James F. Pierce of Quincy, aged 47 years.
HAWES—In South Weymouth, Jan. 20, Mrs. Mary E., wife of Mr. George M. Hawes, aged 64 years.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

"Only Me."

There may be a world of pathos and even of rebuke in a very few words, and so the rather thoughtless wife of a contributor of ours discovered recently. She has two sweet little children, both girls, and, almost without knowing it, she made a pet and favorite of the younger and prettier child. "Sweet," as she called her, had every care and attention lavished upon her, and good natured neglect was more or less the portion of the elder.

The mother was sitting in her bedroom quietly reading recently when the soft patter of tiny feet sounded on the stairs.

"Is that you, Sweet?" she called.

"No, mamma," was the sad reply; "it isn't Sweet—it's only me!"

That pathetic little "Only me!" haunted the wife of our contributor for longer than she would have cared to admit, but a change has since marked her treatment of her eldest born.—London Tit-Bits.

English Names.

Puzzling enough to an American is the English fashion of spelling a name one way and pronouncing it in quite another, but the cities are even worse than the individuals, since they deliberately adopt some alias. The town of Hull, for instance, is Kingston-on-Hull. It has no official recognition as anything else, yet as Hull it is known to nine out of ten, who would wonder if Kingston-on-Hull was near the town of Hull should they hear it mentioned. Even supposedly respectable cathedral towns are not above hiding identity, and to call New Sarum "Salisbury" is to give it its alias. The royal town of Windsor is really New Windsor, and the county of Hampshire, popularly shortened to Hants, is in reality the county of Southampton. Bradford-by-the-Sea is more correctly Morecambe, but rightly Poulton le Sande, while Bridlington, sometimes called Burlington, is more popularly Wakefield-by-the-Sea.

Deadly Trades.

"Tobacco workers are prone to deadly nervous diseases. I have never yet seen a tobacco worker who is not a nervous crank, who is not off in his head," complained the owner of a large cigar factory. "I don't know why it is. I used to be a worker myself, and I have never recovered from the effects of the trade. Half the time my men are away sick or dying, they are always ill tempered and flighty, and a public agitation makes idiots of them. I don't know the reason, as I said." He was advised to consult a physician and find out.

The foreman of a stonecutting yard, when questioned, was better informed as to the evils of his trade.

"See those dust clouds all over the yard?" he said. "Consumption there! And quick, at that."—Technical World.

Bin Measurements.

To measure corn find number of cubic feet in crib, then multiply by 9 and divide by 20, which gives the amount in bushels. To determine amount of shelled corn to be obtained from crib of corn in ear find cubic feet of corn, divide by 2, and the product will be the number of bushels of shelled corn, as two cubic feet of corn if sound and dry will produce one bushel of shelled corn.

To find the number of bushels of apples, potatoes, etc., in a bin multiply the length, breadth and thickness together and this product by 8 and point off one figure in the product for decimals.—Iowa State Register and Farmer.

A Dilemma.

A well known college professor offers the two horns of a dilemma to advocates of coeducation.

"If you lecture to twenty boys and twenty girls in the same room," he asks, "will the boys attend to the lecture or to the girls?"

Of course the coeducationist, to be consistent, must say that they will listen to the lecture.

"Well, if they do," replies the dean, "they are not worth lecturing to."—Harper's.

Muscles.

Many muscles are located at a considerable distance from the point where their force is to be exerted and are connected with the point of operation by slender strings or tendons. This is a provision of nature solely for convenience. If all the muscles whose power is concentrated in the hand and foot were located in the hands or feet these members would assume an inordinate size and weight and become more troublesome than useful.

Mirabeau's Trumpet Voice.

Mirabeau had a voice like a trumpet, and when he raised it in threat or denunciation the effect was awe inspiring. The impression he created was greatly heightened by his manner, his personal appearance being exceedingly imposing. He had a way of lifting his head and shaking it to give emphasis to his periods that made the beholders involuntarily draw back with fear.

Temporarily Silenced.

"Why did you insist on sending that young man to congress?"

"Got tired of his speechmakin'," answered Farmer Corntossel. "We thought we'd put him where the speaker would keep him quiet for a few years."—Washington Star.

Choice of a Vocation.

Aunt Rosa—Well, Juanito, what would you like to be when you are grown up? Juanito (whose parents are very strict)—I'd like to be an orphan.—Dia.

Doubting Science.

She (from a book)—A woman's brain declines in weight after she is thirty. He—How do they know? I thought a woman never got to be thirty.

DRESS HINTS.

Fans of the Season—A New Pocketbook—Old Fashioned Cardcases.

Fans run to extremes this season. They are either very large or very small. The latter are of gauze thickly strewn with paillettes. The large ones are of long waving ostrich plumes or of lace.

The shopping bag has become so universal that despite its convenience fickle women will welcome the new envelope pocketbook. Made in leather of every color and kind, this pocketbook resembles a huge envelope. Inside there is plenty of room for cardcase, purse, notebook and vanity case, not to mention handkerchief, pins and a score of other trifles. At the back of the purse is a strap through which hand or finger is passed and which secures the envelope without fear of losing or forgetting it in the excitement of shopping.

Cardcases in gold or silver are set with tiny jewels. They are attached to the wrist chain, and within are pockets for cards and small coins.

BLACK CLOTH GOWN.

For evening wear jet is being much used on such filmy materials as net and chiffon. Dog collars of jet barred with diamonds are considered very chic.

The latest belts are wide at the back and narrow in front. They are fitted with two elaborate buckles in dull gold and frequently set with jewels. The buckles harmonize, but differ in shape. The one at the back is high and narrow and concave to fit the form. The front buckle is smaller and horizontal.

The street gown in the cut is of black cloth. The three-quarter coat is made chic, with wide collar, cuffs and pockets of velvet embroidered in Persian colorings. JUDIC CHOLLET.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Quincy Post Office.

Letters remaining uclaimed for the week ending Monday, Jan. 22:

J. F. Blanchard, Patrick J. Brennan, Wm. O'Brien, P. Burgon, Wm. H. Carey, Frank E. Carter, Smith Crowell, John Fahey, Fisher Medical Co., M. Flemming, S. A. Gardner, P. Grady, K Hardwick, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hay, Pitts Hendrikson, Charles Jorguson, G. F. Magee, David McBain, John McTaggat, S. Marcharson, William O'Brien, Peter Peterson, E. D. Pierce, W. S. Poole, Erti Sanstad, P. J. Smith, George Stavers, Marcus Thayer, T. Vesten, F. C. Webber, A. Williams.

Miss Maud Briggs, Mrs. Mary Cummings, Josephine Devean, Mrs. E L. Drew, Mrs. Amanda Hermanson, Mrs. Fred W. Holmes, Margaret Reefe, Mrs. Lucy A. Pearce, Miss Teckla Stavilin, Miss Lulu Summis.

☞The ladies of the First Parish are to serve one of their fine suppers in the chapel Wednesday night at half past six. Instead of being free as formerly to the people of the parish it is to be a paid supper and everyone is cordially invited to attend. Tickets 25 cents each. An informal musical program will follow the supper.

H. A. Burgess of Wollaston has recently moved to Bass street, Wollaston Park.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

The following is a list of recent real estate sales in Quincy:

Charles E. S. MacCorry et al to Mary E. Harrahan.
Thomas Ross to George S. Troupe.
James J. Naughton to Barbara J. Bishop, tr.
Manet Spring Ice Co. to Charles L. Eaton.
Woodward Hudson to Fred B. Rice.
Andrew S. Odom to Sarah E. Marr.
Herbert T. Whitman to Herbert T. Drake.
Adolphus Bangs to Nathan G. Nickerson.
Edwin W. Baxter to Evelyn B. Newcomb.
Hugh A. Gillis to Hattie L Burrell.
Hattie L. Burrell to Annie Gillis.
Willard Welsh to Charles J. Hendrie, (2.)
Charles F. Knowlton to Hamilton Flood.
Charles F. Knowlton to Charles M. Bryant.
Charles F. Knowlton to Paul R Blackmur.
Mabel A. Pfaffmann to John Shaw.
Clifford S. Drake to George H. Wilson et al exs., (2.)
Charles F. Adams et al trs. to Alfred O. Diack et al.
Emma C. Washburn to James C. Hall, $100.
George W. Hopkins et al trs. to Washburn Wright.

The question, "What do Unitorian believe?" was most eloquently and efficiently answered by the Rev. Mr. Hunt of Wollaston in his sermon on Sunday.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.
E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.
Nov. 22. 6mos

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
A Check good for one 50c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-lp-1y

IMPORTANT.
BOARDING Houses and Rooms can be filled to advantage if application is made at PETER HYNES' AGENCY, East Howard street, near Fore River Works, Quincy Point.
Dec. 16. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate,
Mortgages,
Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan. 11. 1m

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

The Greenleaf
A Select Family Hotel
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties.
Dinners and Suppers.
Also Hancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleveriy Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SUPERIOR COURT. NORFOLK SS.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

RESPECTFULLY libels and represents Rose Murphy of Quincy in said County, that she was lawfully married to Edward Murphy, formerly of Braintree in said County, but whose present address or place of residence is to your petitioner unknown, at Quincy aforesaid on the twenty-third day of May, A. D. 1892, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Edward Murphy lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said Quincy and in said Braintree; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Edward Murphy being wholly regardless of the same at said Braintree on the first day of July, A. D. 1897, utterly deserted your petitioner, which desertion has continued for three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel, and said Edward Murphy, while living with your libellant as aforesaid, contracted gross and confirmed habits of intoxication, caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, which habits continued during said time.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Edward Murphy.

Dated the second day of December, A. D. 1905

HER
ROSE X MURPHY.
MARK.

Witness.
J. W. McANARNEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. SUPERIOR COURT.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Edward Murphy, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of March next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of March next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Edward Murphy an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Edward Murphy may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,
LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.
January 19, A. D. 1906.

A true copy of Petition and of order thereon.
Attest; R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
Jan. 20. 3t-20-22-29.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled.

THE Undersigned Petitioners, citizens of the United States, respectfully represent for themselves, their successors and associates, that they desire to be incorporated by an act of your honorable body under the corporate name of the New York, Brockton and Boston Canal and Transportation Company, with full power to locate, construct, equip, operate and maintain a canal and way with all such wharves, docks, power plants, and other structures and works as may be necessary or proper for the convenient construction, use, operation and maintenance of the canal or transportation facilities of said corporation. To locate the said canal and way across the State of Massachusetts, beginning at a point on Narraganset Bay or on Taunton River and extending to Massachusetts Bay or to Weymouth Fore River.

JOHN J. WHIPPLE,
HERBERT E. GUY,
B. E. JONES,
W. C. FLAGG,
ELMER C. PACKARD,
GEORGE B. FRENCH,
D. W. FIELD,
HERBERT L. TINKHAM.
GE RGE CLARENCE HOLMES,
BENJAMIN BUFFINGTON,
GEORGE T. DURFEE,
RICHARD E. WARNER,
and 145 others.

Jan 19-3t 19-22-29

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—A maltese and white bob tail Kitten. Reward if returned to 1621 Hancock street, Quincy. Jan. 22-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy. Jan. 22. 6t

MRS. ALIDA OLANDER, 15 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc. 187 1-2 Granite street. Quincy Jan. 19 6t

AGENTS Wanted for Quincy, Dorchestor. Good money to right man. Call at Stables, 89 Washington street, Quincy, after 5 P. M. Mondays, or address Ideal Tea Co., 10 Meridian street, East Boston. Jan. 19-8t-t s.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel. Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—2 large connecting and 2 single Rooms; modern conveniences. Best neighborhood. Handy to cars. Address C., Ledger office. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-12t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—Two nicely furnished Rooms in private family. All modern conveniences. Near depot. 70 Upland road, Quincy. Jan. 5. tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1451 Hancock street. July 14-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, 03 Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER.
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Good for club rooms, for a shop, etc.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

Speak Well
OF QUINCY
At All Times.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Make Known
YOUR WANTS
In Daily Ledger.

Vol. 18. No. 20. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

A FEATURE OF TOMORROW'S LEDGER WILL BE CLUB NOTES

Buy Hair at Auction? At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It checks falling hair, and always restores color to gray hair. A splendid dressing also. Sold for over sixty years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS
Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,
C. H. BROOKS'
NEW MARKET.
No. 1375 Hancock Street.
Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.
Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

Complete Outfits for Married Folks.

Furniture you must have. You can't live without it. The perplexing problem is buying it right. Low suburban rents enable us to save you much from Boston prices.

We furnish your house from cellar to attic even to the smallest details. Special combinations for three, four and five room houses from $100.00 to $300.00.

Time payments for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Trolley Freight

Local Express Companies Hope to See It In Operation

The practical consolidation of the New York & Boston and the Austin Winslow & Gallagher Express Companys bring to mind the fact that is not generally known that the latter company will now have a monopoly of the express business done on the trains.

Some time ago the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad sought to have all express business, done on its road handled, by the New York & Boston Co. and this order went into effect. The Austin Winslow Co. however had a hold on the railroad and carried the matter into the courts where it was decided that the railroad must allow the Austin Winslow Co. to do business on its trains but need not allow any other company. This means that now that the New York & Boston have, or are about to give up the business, that the Austin Winslow Co. will have a monopoly.

This is in reality a hardship to the other express companies who in many ways are not able to compete as their Boston business has to be by teams which run over the road. Delivery by these firms is therefore not so quick.

It is these companies that will hail with delight the advent of the trolley freight which must come at an early date. The Old Colony Street Railway Company, already has a petition before the City Council for permission to operate a trolley freight and a public hearing will probably be given by the City Council upon the matter at an early date.

It would seem at first that such an enterprise would not be advantageous for Quincy as it would encourage people to transfer their trade to Boston. It is doubtful if it would do so any more that than does the carrying of freight or express packages by the steam road as is now being done.

On the other hand it would seem that it would be a good thing for Quincy as it would permit business men who do not care to patronize the express that has a monopoly of the steam railroad, to have their business done by other firms. For instance Abbott & Miller now run a team over the road to Boston every day. With a trolley freight they could have a central distributing point in Quincy, and could send all of their express packages to this city by this line. As the cars would run fully as frequent as do the trains they would be able to give the citizens of Quincy the same service, and just as quick if not quicker than does the company now operating on the railroad.

Another argument which would be in favor of the proposed line in that storekeepers on the line of the street cars could get any hurry order out from Boston very quickly. This often means much to the local business man with the competition that now exists in all lines in Quincy.

It has been said that a trolley freight line would interfere with the operation of passenger cars which would experience more or less delay. The railway people however say that it will in no way interfere with the operation of the passenger service, for the reason that in all cases the passenger cars have the right of way and when necessary the freight car must pull on to a sliding and let a passenger car pass.

The proposed line through Quincy would run via. Hancock street. There is a double track on this line which would also prevent delays.

Officers of the company say that when established it is proposed to have central points at which the freight will be left and that it will be delivered by express companies and others to its final destination from there.

It is understood that the City of Brockton has already granted the necessary permission for the operation of the trolley freight cars in that city.

Grand Army Funeral

The funeral of Past Commander William H. Warner of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., was held this morning from St. John's Church. The services were very largely attended. Paul Revere Post being present in a body. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers including pieces from the Grand Army and the Water Department of the city.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated with Rev. John J. Coan as celebrant, Rev. Julian Johnston as deacon, Rev. John J. Casey as sub deacon, and Rev. John P. Cuffe as master of ceremonies.

After the services the remains were escorted to St. Mary's cemetery by Paul Revere Post, and the burial service was performed by Commander John D. Williams and Chaplain Henry Chubbuck. Three volleys by the firing squad closed the service.

Religious Work.

A delegation of eight Y. M. C. A. workers are attending an institute upon religious work at the Brockton Association this afternoon and evening. This institute is led by Mr. Agustes Nash, religious work director of the Cleveland, Ohio, Association. Similar institutes have been held the past week at North Adams, Northampton, Fall River, Haverhill and Cambridge. Those attending from Quincy are. R. D. Chase, George H. Brown, J. A. Sedgwick, Dr. C. T. Sherman, George E. Thomas, J. G. Miller, Harold Thomas and E. G. Gay.

Congressmen As Speakers.

The annual dinner of the Home Market Club will be at the Somerset Thursday, Feb. 8. The speakers will include Senator J. H. Gallinger of New Hampshire, Congressman John F. Lacey of Iowa and Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine.

—The world's consumption of tea outside of the countries in which it is grown may be taken to be about 500,000,000 pounds per annum, valued at $85,000,000. About 90 per cent. of the tea exported from Asia is consumed by English speaking people.

—A number of prominent Massachusetts physicians have addressed letters to the Massachusetts delegation in Congress urging them to support the pure food bill.

Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Parish Meeting Wollaston Unitarians

The annual meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian parish was held in the vestry Monday evening. At six thirty over one hundred and twenty-five members sat down to a fine supper consisting of cold turkey and ham, salad, pie, etc. At seven forty five the tables were cleared away and the meeting was called to order by the president.

A large number of people were voted into the parish. Rev. E. W. Hunt was then called upon to make a few remarks. He thanked the congregation for his kind reception in Wollaston and spoke hopefully for the future of the church.

Reports of the Alliance, Sunday-school, Y. P. R. U.' Unitarian club, Unity club, and Dial were given by the heads of these departments respectively, Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, Mr. Ernest W. Arnold, Mr. Walter E. Simmons, Mrs. George W. Bennett and Mr. Frank A. Page.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President,—F. H. Bishop.
Treasurer,—W. J. Wellington.
Secretary,—G. H. Collyer.
Parish Committee,—Frank Waterhouse, E. H. Sprague, W. M. Hatch, Thomas Lacey and F. E. Parlin.

Special committees were appointed to attend to various matters during the coming year and the meetsng was adjourned at eleven o'clock.

The Battleship Rhode Island

The Rhode Island, the first battleship built in Quincy and New England, will go into commission in a few days. The date set is Thursday, Feb. 8, but it may be a day or two later.

The Rhode Island will be commanded by Capt. Perry Garst, who until recently was captain at the Portsmouth navy yard. It is one of Uncle Sam's largest battleships, having a displacement of 14,932 tons. Her length on the load water line is 435 feet, and her extreme breadth 76 feet.

The contract for building the Rhode Island was awarded to the Fore River Shipbuilding Company in December 1900, and her keel was laid in December 1901. The contract price was $3,405,000.

At her standardization test the Rhode Island made 19.33 knots, and became the fastest American battleship. Quincy expects much of her if ever called into action.

Basket Ball.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the "Employed Boys" of Brockton will line up against the "Employed Boys" of Quincy at the Quincy Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Saturday afternoon at 3.30 the Junior and Intermediate teams from Melrose will play the Junior and Intermediate basket ball teams of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. at Quincy.

A Fruit Bill.

The suit of Philip Barkas et al appellants of Boston, vs. Kappas Salerailis et al of Quincy is on trial in the Norfolk Superior civil court at Dedham. It is to recover on a bill of $212.95 for fruit sold to defendant.

—The order passed by the aldermen providing that all dogs in Marlboro shall be muzzled is being strictly enforced; every dog seen in the streets by the police without a muzzle is quickly caught and muzzled.

—Mayor MacMahon of Fitchburg is opposed to the free use of City Hall and if the city government of that city grants a petition he will veto the same. He says he is in sympathy with charitable entertainments but once a precedent is established it is hard to draw the line.

—Oliver B. Titus, well known in Charlestown and Somerville, without doubt wears the largest sized hat of any man in greater Boston. if not in the United States—a size 10. Around the top his head measures exactly 30 inches. His last hat, a soft felt, was made to order by a Roxbury firm.

New Barracks.

The new building on Granite street for the Salvation Army has been raised and is being covered in. It will be used as barracks for the local corps, and is a commodious structure.

School Needs

John L. Miller Advocates Going Outside The Debt Limit

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Permit me to discuss our school question through your paper. I noticed in your columns in an edition about two weeks ago you appeared to approve the idea of getting permission to borrow $150,000 outside the debt limit for school purposes, but last week you take a stand against it.

Now, Mr. Editor, I think if our citizens were cognizant of the facts there could not be such apathy in the matter, for it appears as if a crisis was at hand in our city. We have been growing fast; likewise the school population, and what have we done in ten years to relieve it? We have built the Cranch, Massachusetts Field and the Gridley Bryant as new buildings in new districts. In replacing the Washington we added little to the capacity.

Now we have an imperative demand for two new buildings to replace the Quincy and Coddington buildings, also more room for the Lincoln.

Below I will show in tabulated form the number of scholars each building was built for in the first column, and in the second column the number of pupils that entered at the fall term. Many have entered since.

School Buildings.	Built for.	Present number
ADAMS	466	486
CRANCH	426	356
CODDINGTON	390	472
GRIDLEY BRYANT	426	328
JOHN HANCOCK	4?0	4?0
LINCOLN	396	5?0
MASS. FIELD	426	394
QUINCY	340	519
WASHINGTON	475	502
WOLLASTON	335	388
WILLARD	920	845
	5050	5210

What do we find? Taking all the school buildings of the city, excepting the High, and we have a school population of nearly two hundred more than the combined capacity of our buildings, with an added increase this year, say 250 more. What are we going to do about it? Are we going to say to our sister cities that old Quincy cannot school her children; cannot provide buildings for them; she that has been such a model in educational affairs? Is it possible that we shall barter off the education of our children to accept some more new streets or some more lights or additional police or firemen? I hope not, but where is the money coming from?

By the cash statement that you published anyone can see that our finances are not improving, and but a small margin to the debt limit, which I think should not be further impaired.

Under the circumstances what would a business man do in like condition? We will say that he had the offer of business, but did not have the capital, yet the business was a profitable one. He would certainly borrow the capital. Now, can we as a city do less?

Here is the business, families have moved into our city. Shall we drive them away by sayng that we cannot school their children? We are asking for new industries to locate here, and what can we say when they ask about our schools? Must we confess that we cannot provide the buildings for what we already have? Must we confess we have degenerated in twenty years from one of the communities of first rank in our State as to the pay of our teachers (which insured the very best) until now at the present time where we pay our teachers nearly the smallest salaries in the State, and having to put up with the quality of teacher the salary will command? Our teachers have to pay more for board, more for clothes and all living expenses, yet the School Committee has been compelled to get along with less per scholar each year.

Mr. Editor, is this to go on indefinitely? What can our people give in exchange for their public schools, the glory and hope of our nation?

Let our Council be prudent or lavish, expensive buildings, but give us plenty of good, plain structures, well heated well ventilated and well lighted, where our children will not have to get their education in half-lighted basements or cold attic rooms.

So, Mr. Editor, I claim the only thing to do is to go to the Legislature and ask for the privilege to borrow this amount. We are not the only city that has done it, for I find that Beverly got $150,000; Brockton, $30,000; Everett, $250,000; Leominster, $100,000; Saugus, $100,000; and New Bedford $550,000. So what good reason is there why we should not?

It will be but two years at the most until the new Washington building will have to be relieved and a new building provided. Our citizens should awake to the importance of this question.

Yours very truly,
J. L. Miller.

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1906.

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

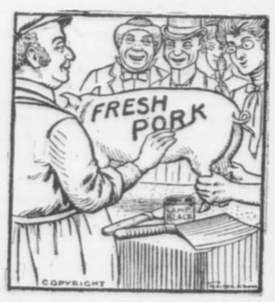

Exciting races every night this week.
GOOD MUSIC.
During all racing and Special Events, admission to all 10 cents. Other nights, Gents, 10 cents; ladies, free.
Gents' skates, 25 cents; Ladies', 15 cents.
Quincy, Jan. 23. tf

SQUANTUM
YACHT CLUB
MINSTRELS
WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, JAN. 24 25
Quincy
MUSIC HALL.
Chorus of Thirty-Five.
Six End Men,
Full Orchestra,
Original Songs
and Sketches
Tickets from Members
25c, 50c, 75c.
Curtain, 7.45. Cars, 10.15
Quincy, Jan. 19. 6t

SIX BIG SPECIALS!
We don't do things by halves here—when we make a special offer, it is sure to be worth buying and there's variety enough to suit all.
For example, how could you do better than take advantage of one or all of these special offers:
Graham Flour, 10 lbs. 25c.
Rye Flour, 10 lbs 25c.
Indian Meal, 10 lbs. 25c.
5 lb. pkg. Quaker Whole Wheat Flour, 22c.
Yellow Eye Beans, 9c. qt. 65c. peck.
California Pea Beans, 10c. qt., 75c. peck.
There are goods of special value all over the store at prices which are especially attractive to thrifty housewives.
Buy everything good to eat here.
R. E. FOY & CO.,
257–263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 22. tf

New Market!
J. K Morton,
1259 Hancock Street,
Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products
Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.
Prices Lowest. Quality Best.
PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'
ARLINGTON HAMS,
BACON and SAUSAGE.
Fresh Fish in Connection.
Telephone 382-3.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

"Corporate domination of legislatures and elections has been shown to exist to an amazing extent. It is not yet made public what other great concerns may have done, but the recent insurance disclosures furnished some startling information as to the methods of these companies. It is an established fact that corporations are the chief corruptors of our public life. The creatures of the state have thus become the most dangerous enemies of the state. That something must be done to protect representative government from being thwarted by the domination of corporate influences is manifest. The honestly conducted corporations would have nothing to fear from publication of their expenditures—reporting to the state their expenditures with proper vouchers. It would then be difficult to conceal the use of corporate moneys for corrupt purposes. In securing a representative government, the influences of special interests in legislative halls must be curtailed.—Gov. Folk at Boston.

Local Ins And Outs

Miss Alice Appleonco is a guest of Miss Corinna Wilde of Billings street this week.

The contractors for the addition to the High school are making the most of the open weather.

The annual meeting of the Republican City Committee will be held Saturday evening.

Some six-inch ice has been cut this year at Quincy Neck but only enough for immediate demands.

If the weather of the past few days continues, farmers can begin to plant their gardens.

Mrs. Adelaide McGrath of Botolph street, Atlantic, will entertain the Brownie whist club on Wednesday afternoon.

A testimonial for the benefit of James E. McDonnell will be held at Mainati hall Wednesday evening.

It was rather an unusual sight for January to see several small boys in swimming in the flooded creek back of Atlantic street, Sunday afternoon.

Joseph Walker of the Aberdeen Granite Co. is making some improvements to his plant, also putting in power to operate an air compresser.

The pussy willows of which Atlantic has a great abundance in the early spring, are already in bud and ready to appear if this warm weather continues.

The committee on the good of order of the Improved Order of Red Men, will hold a whist party in I. O. O. F. hall Wollaston on Thursday evening.

A large delegation of Maple Lodge K. and L. of H. will be the guests of Waverley lodge of Charlestown at its installation of officers on Thursday evening.

The new piece of fire apparatus for Houghs Neck should arrive in Quincy in a few days. The contract called for its delivery within forty days from the time the order was placed.

There are few granite sheds in Quincy now that do not operate one or more pneumatic tools. They are a great labor saving device. Not only do they do the work quicker than it can be done by hand, but better.

Mrs. H. P. Furnald, D. D. G. M. and suite will install the officers elect of Golden Star Rebekah lodge of Randolph on Friday evening, accompanied by several members from George L. Gill Rebekah lodge.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

A BRIEF VACATION

Officer Took It to Give Hazers a Clear Field

LAUGHING IN THE RANKS

Breach of "Etiquette" by Fourth Class Men at Annapolis Due to the Fact That They "Did Not Get Enough" of Hazing

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 23.—For the first time since the present hazing trials began evidence has been given before the court martial tending to support the assertion that officers on duty at Annapolis have winked at hazing. Midshipman Mayo, testifying in his own behalf, swore that Lieutenant Synder, the officer in charge of Bancroft hall last September, had used language which was generally interpreted by the upper class of midshipmen to mean that they should discipline the fourth-classmen by applying some of the usual hazing methods.

Midshipman Relbe of the first class testified as to the fourth-classmen laughing in ranks and said that Snyder had asked Midshipman Brainard what was the matter with the fourth class and Brainard replied: "They don't get enough of it."

The officer then asked him why and Brainard said: "We don't get at them enough."

"That's so," the officer replied, according to the witness, and there was something said, he thought, about the officer going away after dinner.

Roland M. Brainard, with whom Snyder had the alleged conversation, repeated it substantially, as did the previous witness, and testified that he had the same understanding of it. Midshipmen Garcelon and Eccleston gave similar testimony.

Mayo then told of the conversation, but he did not remember exactly what was said by the officer about leaving the building, although he received an impression that he would do so, which was strengthened, he said, by the fact that the officer actually did leave the building after dinner. He had then, he said, gone to the rooms of some fourth-classmen and had put them on their heads or caused them to do the "Sixteenth" for a very short time each. He had held a watch, he said, so that the time would not be too long, and had scratched their names from a list so that they would not be punished twice.

Lieutenant Snyder was called by the prosecution in rebuttal. He remembered only that he had spoken to Brainard about the laughter. He denied positively, however, that he had said to Brainard that he was going to leave the building.

Quaker City Church Disaster

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—The last body of the 18 persons killed in the panic in St. Paul's Baptist church (negro) has been identified and claimed by relatives. Of those in hospitals all will be discharged in a day or two. There is much indignation expressed by eyewitnesses of the disaster over the conduct of many of the men who fought their way out of the church. Of the 18 who lost their lives, 17 were women and children and the other was an elderly man.

Wants of Filipinos

Manila, Jan. 23.—T. H. Pardo de Tavara has resigned his position as a member of the United States Philippine commission, assigning as a reason his belief that the Filipinos should have a portfolio. His resignation has offered an opportunity for one of his colleagues to express a desire that in the future there be a Filipino delegate in congress.

Admiral Manney Retired

Washington, Jan. 23.—Having reached the statutory age of 62 years, Rear Admiral Manney, chief of the bureau of equipment, has been placed on the retired list. He was succeeded in the bureau by Captain Cowles. The retirement of Manney removes from the active list a name associated with considerable important service at sea and ashore.

Open Shop Rule In Force

New York, Jan. 23.—The "open shop" rule has gone into effect on all the contracts of the allied iron trades. It is said also that many of the independent contractors have also joined in the "open shop" movement. The enforcement of the "open shop" rule is practically a lockout against the International Association of Iron Workers.

Strike In Texas Oil Fields

Houston, Tex., Jan. 23.—The strike in the Humble oil field now involves 400 men. The largest producers are seriously handicapped, some plants being entirely shut down. Non-recognition of the union and discharge of union men is given as the cause of the strike.

Held For Shooting Sweetheart

Littleton, N. H., Jan. 23.—Benjamin Dodge, 17 years old, was held in $3000 for the grand jury on the charge of attempting to kill his sweetheart, Myrtle Silver. Miss Silver, who received a bullet in the knee, is reported as comfortable.

Pendleton's Sentence Reduced

Manila, Jan. 23.—The sentence of Lieutenant Pendleton, who was condemned to life imprisonment for murder, has been reconsidered and changed to imprisonment for 20 years.

212 LIVES LOST

Brazil's Greatest Battleship Is Blown Up While at Anchor

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 23.—Four rear admirals, supernumerary officers, the complete staff of the battleship and nearly 200 of the crew perished, blown to atoms or carried to death by drowning, when the powder magazine on the Brazilian steel turret ship Aquidaban exploded and the immense fighting ship, the pride of the Brazilian navy, and one of the most powerful of her kind, sank almost instantly, in the harbor of Port Jacarepagna, south of this city. The dead number 212. The cruiser Buroso has arrived here with 98 survivors, many of them dangerously wounded.

The Aquidaban had dropped her anchors and the Buroso was just entering the harbor when the explosion came. There was a flash, an immense cloud of smoke, a detonation that shook houses, shattered glass, and then the huge ship seemed to spring from the water as if alive, and with a plunge disappeared into the water.

Huge pieces of guns, steel plates, woodwork and the limbs and mutilated bodies of victims were hurled into the air to a great height. The water was crimsoned with the blood of the dead.

Divers will be secured to go below and extricate the bodies of those who were imprisoned in turrets and below decks and to discover, if it is possible, what caused the catastrophe.

The Aquidaban was the best of the Brazilian navy and was a duplicate of the Maine, which was blown up in Havana harbor.

Traffic Crippled by Storm

Chicago, Jan. 23.—A severe storm of alternating rain, sleet and snow tied up elevated roads, crippled other transportation and stopped wire communication for several hours. Traffic in the business section, however, has been opened. A workman hazarded his life on the elevated road by holding a scraper on the third rail just in front of the transmission shoe while the train was moving and thereby cleared the way for the first trip.

Mayflower Gets a Punch Bowl

Washington, Jan. 23.—Baron Rosen has presented to the U. S. S. Mayflower, in behalf of Count Witte, himself and the other delegates to the Portsmouth peace conference, a handsome punch bowl, in recognition of the hospitality which was extended to the delegates on board that vessel during the course of the peace conference.

Entertainment For Chinese

Washington, Jan. 23.—A tentative program prepared for the entertainment of the imperial Chinese commission looks to a round of banquets and visits to points of interest calculated to prove attractive to the Oriental eye. The visitors will be first received by Secretary Root, then by the president.

Coler a Strong Candidate

New York, Jan. 23.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, says that Bird S. Coler will be a strong candidate of the Democratic party for governor next year. Coler was elected president of the borough of Brooklyn on the Hearst municipal ownership ticket last November.

May Save the Cherokee

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 23.—A diver has found that the leak in the stranded steamer Cherokee is not so serious as at first believed and that an attempt to save the vessel will likely prove successful. The cargo will be thrown overboard in the hope that the steamer then can be moved.

Steamer Struck a Snag

Memphis, Jan. 23.—Steamer Rees Lee, plying between Cincinnati and Memphis, sank near Tiptonville, Tenn. No lives were lost. The boat is believed to have struck a snag. A large hole was torn in her bottom. The Lee carried a heavy cargo, a large part of which was saved.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A Madrid dispatch says that the marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Ena of Battenberg will be shortly officially announced.

There is little hope for the recovery of Cardinal Gotti, who has sent to Pope Pius X asking the apostolic benediction.

Wilson McDonald, 83 years old, a sculptor, was run over by a delivery wagon while crossing a street at New York and probably fatally injured.

B. C. Stephenson, the dramatist, died at London. In collaboration with Clement Scott, he wrote many successful plays.

Rev. Howard C. Dunham, a clergyman of the Methodist denomination and at the time of his death the oldest member of the American Peace society, died at his home at Winthrop, Mass., aged 93. For several years he had been blind, but before that he was a frequent contributor to the leading magazines.

The Cuban congress passed an appropriation for the raising of the Cuban legation at Madrid to its full status by the appointment of a minister. The legation is now in charge of a secretary.

Reports presented at the annual meeting of the Republican Club of Massachusetts showed the membership of the organization to be 1815, the largest since its organization in 1891.

A three weeks' recess of the supreme court of the United States will begin next Monday, for the consideration of cases which have been presented to the court.

With the opening of the fourth week of the printers' strike the New York Typothetae issued a statement declaring that from their point of view the conditions are steadily improving.

$2000,000 LOANS

Editor Mann Borrowed From Many Notable Men

TOWN TOPICS FINANCES

Many "Fads and Fancies" Subscribers Had to Be "Gone After" Many Times--Scathing Denuncia ion of Methods

New York, Jan. 23.—Colonel W. D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, testified at the Hapgood criminal libel trial that he had borrowed nearly $200,000 from J. P. Morgan, James R. Keene, W. K. Vanderbilt, William C. Whitney and other prominent financiers. Many of these loans were repaid so far as Mann could recall, and others were repaid in stock of the Town Topics company at $1000 a share.

Among the others named by Mann in the list of men from whom he had borrowed large sums were Collis P. Huntington, Charles M. Schwab, Howard Gould, George Gould, Thomas F. Ryan and John W. Gates.

The largest single loan was obtained from James R. Keene, who loaned the Town Topics editor $90,000. From W. K. Vanderbilt Mann obtained $25,000, from J. P. Morgan $2500; from W. C. Whitney $10,000, from Collis P. Huntington $5000, John W. Gates $20,000, Charles M. Schwab $10,000, Thomas F. Ryan $10,000.

When Mann testified that many of these loans were paid in Town Topics stock at $1000 a share, James W. Osborne, counsel for Hapgood, asked if the par value of the stock is not $10 per share. Mann replied that $10 per share is the par value.

The stockholders of Town Topics, Mann testified, are W. K. Vanderbilt, 25 shares; J. W. Gates, 20 shares; Howard Gould, 20; Dr. Seward Webb, 20; and the balance of the shares are owned by Justice J. M. Deuel, Mann and his wife and daughter. Mann said that he himself owned but one share in the stock. Many of those who subscribed to Fads and Fancies, Mann said, had to be "gone after 15 times" before being seen. In accounting for Deuel's connection with Town Topics, he said: "He has been kind to us, my daughter and myself, and we felt that when we could repay him we should, and we did it by giving him shares of our own stock."

Colonel Mann said that there were perhaps three or four persons who paid $1500 apiece for the book called Fads and Fancies, whose names did not appear therein. They did not care to be mentioned in the book, he said. The witness said that for $10,000 he gave Mrs. Collis P. Huntington two copies of the book Fads and Fancies.

Just before leaving the stand Mann said: "I forgot to say that W. K. Vanderbilt sent me back my notes and later returned me the stock."

The witness had previously testified that he repaid a $25,000 loan from W. K. Vanderbilt by giving him 25 shares in the Town Topics stock. Here the prosecution announced that it rested its case.

Mr. Osborne, in summing up, compared the Town Topics publication to the story of the three fates painted on the wall of the courtroom. In this comparison the agent of the paper was the Spinner, Judge Deuel was the Measurer, and the old man, whom Osborne called the king of assassins of reputation, was Mann.

"We claim it was disgraceful," Osborne continued, "for a judge to be connected with such a paper. We claim that Judge Deuel, a judge of a children's court, read the proofs of this vile Town Topics. We claim it was disgraceful for a judge to be connected with a paper that aimed at the destruction of the purity of the youth of the country. We claim Town Topics produced scandal. Judge Deul and Colonel Mann knew they were building up a power of terror that was felt all over the land.

"Colonel Mann went to Oliver Belmont, a man he didn't know, and boldly asked him for money. But Belmont would not give up and he was bad Oliver in Town Topics ever after. But Perry Belmont gave up and he was the good Perry. Judge Deuel, our trustee by law, sits in judgment on our libel suits and goes down and reads proofs of Town Topics.

"Colonel Mann demanded money and did it so boldly that one millionaire gave him the money and told him 'for God's sake, take back your notes and your stock.' Colonel Mann sent his agents to men and demanded $1500 for a pint of cherries from Mount Lebanon. This king of assassins of character.

"Judge Deuel was connected with a paper that was a venomous swamp of libels. They were like poisoned arrows of the bushman. They were sent from ambush. A verdict against Hapgood is a verdict against decency and a love of virtue in this community."

Here adjournment was taken until today. There were several well known society women in court during the trial.

Picked Up Lost Fishermen

Halifax, Jan. 23.—Steamer Numidian, St. John for Liverpool, arrived here and reported having rescued George Wadlin and Edmund White, who, while trawling on Brown's bank, lost their schooner, the Irene and May of Boston, in a fog, and, failing to find her again, drifted about for 24 hours without either food or water. The men were much exhausted. They are being cared for by the United States consul.

DENOUNCED THE CZAR

Former Russian Subjects Have a Demonstration at Boston

Boston, Jan. 23.—"March on, march on, all hearts resolved on liberty or death." To the stirring strains of the Marseillaise more than 3000 former subjects of the czar marched through the streets of Boston last night and later held an enthusiastic mass meeting in Faneuil hall in memory of their countrymen who fell in St. Petersburg on "Red Sunday," a year ago yesterday.

The demonstration, which was under the auspices of Socialist organizations in the city, was remarkable. The paraders were peaceful, and there was absolutely no display of violence further than the inscriptions on the many banners and the utterances of the speakers at the Faneuil hall meeting.

Women and children ploughed through the muddy streets beside the men. Three bands were in line, and torches, banners and red flags were greatly in evidence. The inscriptions on the banners were of a revolutionary character.

The personnel of the paraders was as cosmopolitan as a parade of Russian subjects could be. There were in line Russians, Russian Jews, Armenians, Lithuanians, Poles and Finns. Singing and cheering, and waving their red flags, they marched from Castle square in the South End, where the parade was organized, through the centre of the city to Faneuil hall.

Fearing an outbreak of violence, the police authorities had lined the streets with patrolmen, and squads of officers marched in the van and in the rear of the parade.

Claim of Packer Cudahy

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Edward A. Cudahy, the Omaha packer, was directly threatened with imprisonment by Commissioner Garfield if Cudahy refused to give the commissioner information regarding the packing business, according to a statement made by Attorney Cowin in court here. Cowin argued that the securing of evidence against the packers from the packers themselves in itself constituted a promise of immunity to the informants.

Insurance Company's Claim

New York, Jan. 23.—In the suit of the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance company against Mrs. Susan D. Parker to recover $7000 paid as insurance on the yacht Scythian, destroyed by fire at sea, several witnesses testified that much of the valuable fittings of the yacht and practically all the stores were removed before she was burned.

Great Landslide In Switzerland

Geneva, Jan. 23.—A huge landslide is taking place in the canton of Vilois. The villages of Chamoton and Graugnay have been completely evacuated and the villagers are watching the progress of the slide from a distance. Government engineers announce that it is impossible to stop the slide in any way. Several other villages are threatened.

French Bishop Defies the Law

Nancy, Jan. 23.—Government Inspector Rouvier went to the bishop's palace to take inventory of the contents, but Bishop Turinaz protested and refused to allow the inventory to be made, saying that the laws of the church did not permit him to take part in such acts. The inspector will refer the matter to the prefect.

Uprising of Bulgarians

Bender, Bessarabia, Jan. 23.—There is a serious uprising in the vicinity of Kamrat, a Bulgarian colony in the government of Bessarabia. The entire population has risen and made prisoners of the local authorities. It is reported that many persons have been killed in the neighboring villages.

Boxing Bout Stopped by Police

Portland, Me., Jan. 23.—Abe Attel of California, featherweight champion of the world, and Billy Maynard of New York met here in what was scheduled to be a 15-round bout. Maynard was sent to the floor twice in the 10th and was in a weak condition when the police stopped the fight.

Liberal Landslide Continues

London, Jan. 23.—The Liberal gains continue. Robert W. Peel, son and heir of Viscount Peel and grandson of Sir Robert Peel, was defeated by the Liberal candidate, J. Gibb. The seats are now distributed as follows: Liberals, 267; Unionists, 117; Nationalists, 79; Laborites, 42.

Schooner Met With Disaster

Port Arthur, Tex., Jan. 23.—Five members of the crew of schooner Gwaladis, Carbonero, N. F., to Bristol, Eng., were picked up at sea by steamer Balakani, which has arrived here. The schooner became disabled at sea and the captain fell overboard and was lost.

Labor Party Stirring Up Strife

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—Trouble is looming up in Finland, where the extremists of the labor party are bent on causing trouble. Arms have been secured for the so-called Red guard and thefts of dynamite to be used in charging bombs are constantly reported.

Money For Probing Purposes

Washington, Jan. 23.—The president sent a message to congress urging an appropriation of $25,000 for the employment of experts to investigate the methods employed in the various executive departments in connection with the work of the Keep commission.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Jan. 24.
Sun rises—7:06; sets—4:47.
New moon—12:09 p. m.
High water—10:45 a. m.; 11:30 p. m.

There will be snow in north portion of New England; rain in south; colder.

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements, ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

COAL

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS Sold at very low prices

MISS D. LITCHMAN,

330 Water Street, South Quincy, Jan. 4. tf

JAMES F. BURKE, REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.

MORTGAGES.

Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

W. G. CHUBBUCK, Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.

JOBBING.

Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice

Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.

Teaming of all Kinds

THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Hard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds

Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

The Greenleaf
A Select Family Hotel
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties, Dinners and Suppers.

AlsoHancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Quincy, Jan. 1.
Tel. Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.
lp-1y

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A.M.—6 P. M.
Jan. 11. 1m

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy. Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence. 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate not already administered of

EDMUND B. TAYLOR,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ABBIE F. FENNO, Adm'x.

(Address) 538 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 3, 1906. 3t-16, 23, 30

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

"Has father gone out, Nelson?" asked Betty in a low voice.

"Yes'm; he uptown." The old man's tone sank at once to the level of her own; became confidential, as one speaks to another in a room where somebody is ill. "He mekkin' perpetration to go down de rivuh dis aft'noon. He say he done broke de news to you dat he goin' 'way. Dey goin' buil' dem wa'house righ up, an' yo' pa he necistate go way 'count de contrack. He be gone two week, honey," Nelson finished without too much the air of imparting cheery tidings, but with just enough.

"I am to stay here alone?"

"Law', no, missy! Dat big Miz Tanberry, dass de bes' frien' we all got, she home ag'in, an' yo' pa goin' invite her visit at de house whiles he gone, an' to stay a mont' aftuh he git back, too, soze she kin go to all de doin's an' junketin's wid you and talk wid de young mens dat you don' like whiles you talks wid dem you does like."

"What time will father come home?"

"Home? He be gone two week, honey!"

"No; I mean today."

"Law', he ain' comin' back! Bid me pack de trunk an' ca'y um down to de boat at noon. Den he bid me say far'-ye-well an' a kine goodby fo' him, honey. Say he thinks you ain't feelin' too well, soze he won't 'sturb ye hisself, an' dat he unestly do hope you goin' have splen'id time whiles he trablin'." (Nelson's imagination covered many deficits in his master's courtesy.) "Say he reckon you an' ole Miz Tanberry goin' git 'long mighty nice wid one'nurr. An' dass what me an' Mamie reckon 'specially boun' to take place, 'case dat a mighty gay lady, dat big Miz Tanberry, an' ole frien' 'er owah fambly. She 'uz a frien' er yo' momma's, honey."

Miss Betty had begun by making a pretense to eat only to please the old man, but the vain woman's cookery had not been unduly extolled, and Nelson laughed with pleasure to see the fluffy biscuits and the chicken wing not nibbled at, but actually eaten. He was an old house servant; therefore he had seen many young ladies go through unhappy hours, and he admired Miss Betty the more because she was the first who had indulged in strong weeping and did not snuffle at intervals afterward. He understood perfectly everything that had passed between father and daughter that morning.

When her breakfast was finished she turned slowly to the window, and, while her eyes did not refill, a slight twitching of the upper lids made him believe that she was going over the whole scene again in her mind, whereupon he began to move briskly about the room with a busy air, picking up her napkin, dusting a chair with his hand, exchanging the position of the andirons in the fireplace, and, apparently discovering that the portrait of Georges Meilhac was out of line, he set it awry, then straight again, the while he hummed an old "spiritual" of which only the words "Chain de lion down" were allowed to be quite audible. They were repeated often, and at each repetition of them he seemed profoundly, though decorously, amused in a way which might have led to a conjecture that the refrain bore some distant reference to his master's eccentricity of temper. At first he chuckled softly, but at the final iteration of "Chain de lion down" burst into outright laughter.

"Honey, my Law'," he exclaimed, "but yo' pa de 'ceivin'dest man! He mighty proud er you!"

"Proud of me!" She turned to him in astonishment.

Nelson's laughter increased. "Hain't he jass de 'ceivin'dest man? Yessuh, he de sot uppest man in dis town 'count what you done last night. What he say dis mawn', dat jass his way!"

"Ah, no!" said Miss Betty sadly.

"Yes'm! He proud er you, but he teahbul mad at dat man. He hain't mad at you, but he gotter cuss somebody. Jass reach out fo' de nighes' he kin lay han's on, an' dis mawn' it happen soze it were you, honey. Uhuh! You oughter hearn him las' night when he come home. Den it were me. Bless God, I ain't keerin'. He weren't mad at me, no mo'n he were at you. He jass mad."

Miss Betty looked at the old fellow keenly. He remained, however, apparently unconscious of her scrutiny and occupied himself with preparations for removing the tray.

"Nelson, what is the quarrel between my father and Mr. Vanrevel?"

He had lifted the tray, but set it down precipitately, bending upon her a surprised and sobered countenance.

"Missy," he said gravely, "dey big trouble 'twix dem two."

"I know," she returned quietly. "What is it?"

"Wha' fo' you ax me, missy?"

"Because you're the only one I can ask. I don't know any one here well enough except you."

Nelson's lips puckered solemnly. "Mist' Vanrevel vote Whig, but he ag'in Texas."

"Well, what if he is?"

"Yo' pa mighty strong fo' Texas."

"Is that all?"

"No'm, dat ain't hardly de beginnin'. Mist' Vanrevel he a ab'litionist."

"Well? Won't you tell me?"

"Honey, folks roun' heah mos' on 'em like Mist' Vanrevel so well dey ain't hole it up ag'in' him; but, missy, ef dey one thing topper God's worl' yo' pa do desp'itly and contestably despise, hate, cuss an' outrageously 'bominate wuss'n a yaller August spiduh it are a ab'litionist. He want stomple 'em eve'y las' one under he boot heel 'cep'n dat one Mist' Crailey Gray. Dey's a considabul sprinklin' er dem ab'litionist 'bout de kentry, honey. Dey's mo' dat don' know w'ich dey is, an' dey's mo' still dat don' keer. Soze dat why dey go git up a quo'l 'twix yo' pa an' dat man, an' 'range to have 'er on a platfawm de yeah 'fo' de las' campaign, an', suh, dey call de quo'l a debate, an' all de folks come in f'um de kentry, an' all de folks in town come too. De whole possetucky on 'em sit an' listen.

"Fus' yo' pa talk. Den Mist' Vanrevel, bofe on 'em mighty cole an' civ'lized. Den yo' pa git wo'm up, missy, like he do, 'case he so useter have his own way. 'Tain't his fault, he jass cain't help hollerin' an' cussin' if anybody 'pose him. But Mist' Vanrevel he jass as suvvige, but he stay cole, w'ich make yo' pa all de hotter. He holler mighty strong, missy, an' some de back ranks 'gun snickerin' at him. Uhuh! He fa'r jump, he did. An' den bimeby Mist' Vanrevel he say dat no man oughter be given de pilverige to sell another ner to wollop him wid a blacksnake, whether he 'buse dat pilverige er not. 'My honabul 'ponent,' s's he, 'Mist' Carewe, rep'sent in hisself de 'ristocratic slave ownin' class er de souf, do' he live in de nawf an' 'ploy free labor. Yit it 'sca'sely to be b'lieve dat any er you would willin'ly trus' him wid de powah er life an' death ovah yo' own chillun, w'ich is virchously what de slave ownah p'sess.'

"Honey, but yo' pa de 'ceivin'dest man!"

"Missy, you jass oughter see yo' pa den! He blue in de face an' dance de quadrille on de boa'ds. He leave his cha'h, git up an' run 'cross to de odder side de platfawm an' shake he fis' ovah dat man's head an' screech out how it all lies dat de slaves evah 'ceive sich treatments. 'Dat all lies, yo' pu'juh!' he holler. 'All lies, you misabul thief!' he holler. 'All lies, an' yo' know it, yo' low bawn slandah' an' scoun'le!'

"An' wid dat Mist' Vanrevel he laff in yo' pa face an' tuhn to de crowd, he did, an' say, 'You reckon dat if dish yuh man a slave ownah an' a slave had anguhed him as I have anguhed him tonight, does any er you b'lieve dat dat slave wouldn' be tied up an' whipped tell de blood run an' den sole down de rivuh tomorrer?'

"Well, suh, 'co'se mos' on 'em b'lieve same as yo' pa, but dat sutney fotch 'em, an' win de debate, 'case dey jass natchully lay back an' roah, dey did, missy. Dey laff an' stomp an' holler tell you could 'a' hearn 'em a mild away. An', honey, yo' pa'd a millyum times druther Mist' Vanrevel a kilt him dan tuhn de laff on him. He'd shoot a man, honey, ef he jass s'picion him to grin out de corndor his eye at him, an' to stan' up dah wid de whole county fa'r roahin' at him—it's de God's mussy he didn' have no ahms wid him dat night. Ole Mist' Chen'eth done brung him home, an' yo' pa reach out an' kick me squah out'n' de liberry winder soon's he ketch sight er me." The old man's gravity gave way to his enjoyment of the recollection, and he threw back his head to laugh. "He sho' did, honey!" Uhuh! Ho, ho, ho! He sho' did, honey; he sho' did!"

(Continued in next issue.)

An Animal Story For Little Folks

THE BUSYBODY

One day Mr. Trunks was quite sick. It was all because he had taken too much of the pink lemonade that the peanut boy in the circus, where Mr. Trunks resided, had given him for a joke. And just as he was feeling the worst there came buzzing along Mr. Bluebottle Fly.

He was one of those busybodies that always mix themselves up in other people's affairs and always know what is best for boys and girls, much better, indeed, than their parents.

"Oh, dear, I'm so sick!" moaned Mr. Trunks.

"You eat too much," buzzed the fly in his right ear.

"You ought to take antifat."

"Oh, fly off!" cried Mr. Trunks. "You increase my pain." And he jabbed at him with his trunk and missed him again.

"I know all about your case," buzzed Mr. Bluebottle close to his mouth. "I have been all summer around a soda water fountain in a drug store, and I am now quite a skilled doctor. You should take liver pills and then salts

"NEXT TIME YOU WILL MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS."

and then tonic. No candy, no tarts, no peanuts. Go to bed at 8. Study your lessons in the afternoon and never at night. I should advise you to give up the circus business, as it is too wearing."

"Will you please go away?" groaned Trunks.

"You ought to have a mustard plaster on your stomach and a blister on your head."

An idea struck Mr. Trunks.

"Mr. Fly," he said, "do you suppose if you stung me on the head it would do for a fly blister?"

"Of course! Most certainly! I shall try at once," buzzed the busybody.

Trunks lowered his head and Mr. Fly lit. He began to sting. Mr. Trunks began to fill his trunk with pink lemonade.

Suddenly he raised his trunk, shook off Mr. Bluebottle, aimed at him as he flew by and doused him with the contents. "Next time," said he, "you will mind your own business." I think he did.—Detroit Journal.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Great Sport.

Jimmie—Gee! Dis is an excitin' game, seein' how clost I kin hold my candy to de kid widout his gittin' it!—New York Journal.

The Simple Life.

For a cultured person to relinquish his wonted mode of life, to dwell in a three rpomed cottage, to be clad in corduroy or fustian and to fare sumptuously every day on beans, cabbage soup and black bread would not be a return to the simple but to the sordid life. One can live a simple life just as well in a castle as in a cottage.—Race Builder.

The Whole Thing.

Jackson Parke—What do you consider the two most important places in the world? Gotham—Oh, that's easy, of course— Jackson Parke—Oh, don't say New York for one. Gotham—I wasn't going to. I was going to say "Manhattan and the Bronx," of course. —Philadelphia Ledger.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED

Murderer Tucker's Latest Motion Denied by Judge Sherman

Boston, Jan. 23.—The motion for a new trial in the case of Charles L. Tucker, under conviction of the murder of Mabel Page, was denied by Judge Sherman of the superior court. The court holds that the trial justices had believed there was evidence in regard to the larceny of money from the Page house, and if counsel believed that there was no such evidence they should have called it to the attention of the court at the time of the judge's charge, when a mistake of fact, if any, could have been corrected. There was evidence of loss of money, and the value and weight of it was for the jury.

In regard to the newly discovered evidence, the court says part of it is hearsay, and therefore incompetent, and the rest cumulative and would not have changed the result if offered at the trial. So the last move made by counsel for the youthful prisoner for a new trial avails nothing.

Electric Smashup Kills Two

Portland, Me., Jan. 23.—The collision of two electric cars on the Portland street railroad, in which two persons were crushed so badly that they died within a few hours, four were seriously injured and 11 were bruised, cut or sustained nervous shocks, is being investigated by Railroad Commissioner Chadborne, in connection with a coroner. The dead are Perley C. Roberts of Westbrook, aged 28, who leaves a wife and infant child, and Winfield S. Leighton of Westbrook, aged 16.

Stranger Acted Queerly

Madison, Conn., Jan. 23.—A stranger, acting in a strange manner, appeared here yesterday afternoon, spent some time in throwing money to the schoolchildren, sold some silver knives and forks to a plumber for a very low price, and then left the city. Persons who saw him thought he resembled the picture and description of Frank J. Constantine, who is wanted at Chicago in connection with the murder of Mrs. William Jentry.

Suicide In a Hospital

Boston, Jan. 23.—Charles R. Roberts' wife had left him and his children were taken in charge yesterday by agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The father acted queerly and an agent of the Children's Aid society accompanied him to a hospital for examination. At the hospital Roberts entered a lavatory and, drawing a razor from his pocket, cut his throat, dying almost immediately.

Bigelow Quits Lecturer's Job

Boston, Jan. 23.—Poultney Bigelow has resigned his position as special lecturer on international law at Boston university. This action was taken suddenly, his letter of resignation reaching the university authorities yesterday. The letter of resignation does not specify the reasons for Bigelow's action. It is understood that the resignation will be accepted.

Water Route For Railroad

Boston, Jan. 23.—Recent reports that the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company had decided to operate a line of steamers between Boston and New York were confirmed last night by the management. The company has contracted for three steamships, one of which will be of the turbine type and the others propellers.

Descent on Boxing Match

Holyoke, Mass., Jan. 23.—The local police raided a newly formed athletic club at South Holyoke last evening and arrested 32 men on a charge of being present at a boxing match. The clubroom was in a remodeled tenement, with an entrance from an alleyway. Two local boxers were in the ring and were among those taken into custody.

Escaped Naval Quarantine

Newport, R. I., Jan. 23.—A marine guard is searching for an apprentice seaman who escaped from the detention barracks at the naval training station, being one of 13 apprentices who tried to escape the spotted fever quarantine. All the others were soon recaptured. It is believed he made his way to the mainland in a boat.

Hub Aldermen Without Chairman

Boston, Jan. 23.—The deadlock in the board of aldermen over the election of a chairman was not broken yesterday at the board's regular meeting. Only a small amount of routine business was transacted by the board, and when the matter of the chairmanship came up it was voted to postpone action until the next meeting.

Ocean Tug Struck Ledges

Eastport, Me., Jan. 23.—While rounding the southwest head of Grand Manan during a thick fog, the New York tug Gypsum King, with one barge in tow, struck on the famous Murr ledges and will probably become a total wreck. The crew of both vessels landed at Seal cove. The fate of the barge is not known.

Left $200,000 For Parks

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 23.—The will of William A. Richardson, a wealthy recluse who committed suicide by hanging, was allowed in probate court by Judge Forbes, after a contest by relatives. The will leaves the bulk of the fortune, estimated at $200,000, to Worcester, for its public parks.

Ice Much Thinner Than Usual

Bangor, Me., Jan. 23.—The Penobscot river is clear of ice to a point three miles below Bangor, and a few days more of warm weather might take out what ice remains. The ice opposite the city is from six to seven inches thick. The usual thickness at this date is 12 to 16 inches.

NOT IN SYMPATHY

French and German Diplomats In a Skirmish

THE HITCH ON MOROCCO

Amenities Not Observed Outside the Council Room—Sultan's Message to Conference Gives Ample Evidence of Selfishness

Algeciras, Jan. 23.—The plenipotentiaries were entertained at Monday's sitting of the Moroccan conference by an almost continuous skirmish between M. Revoil, head of the French delegation, and Count Von Tattenbach, the second of Germany's delegates. While the amenities were carefully observed, the other delegates were conscious that it was the beginning of fresh controversies between France and Germany, which are likely to be long protracted and of increasing earnestness.

The styles of offense displayed by the two plenipotentiaries suggested their differences of race. Revoil was keen, analytical of mind, skilful in fine diplomatic phrasings, and with a grace of expression and a winning personality. Von Tattenbach was downright of speech and soldierly in manner, trusting to the solidity of his ideas and to his facts. The two plenipotentiaries are not in sympathy and draw apart outside the council room. Both are of high ambition and it will be difficult for either to yield to the other.

Sidi El Mokhri's message from the sultan, delivered to the conference yesterday, began with an allusion to the French minister's presentation of the project for reforms which, El Mokhri said, had decided the sultan to convoke the notables of his empire, who had asked for a conference of the powers signatory to the Madrid convention.

"The sultan asks of those powers," said El Mokhri, "counsel that will strengthen his independence and improve the sources of income. He intends to make the reforms genuine."

El Mokhri enunciates the various points of the program—the repression of contraband arms; the creation of a bank of the sultan's government, which the delegates emphasized as being different from an international institution; and the aid of the powers in increasing the sultan's revenues by organizing the taxes to be levied on his subjects and on persons protected by the powers. Although public improvements are necessary, they ought, it is pointed out, be made on a basis conformable to the independence of the sultan.

The sultan's message began and ended with the most intricate phrases of Arabic politeness. His clear purpose is to ask the advice of the powers, but not their interference. He asks for assistance only when he speaks of increasing his income.

Lovesick Lad Shoots Three

New York, Jan. 23.—Enraged because he was told to cease his attentions to Lillian Murphy, aged 17, Paul Deltz, a youth 18 years old, last night emptied a revolver at the girl, her brother, George, 16 years, and their mother, Mrs. Delia Murphy, in their apartments, wounding all three seriously. He had fired every shot at the Murphys and while running from the house reloaded his weapon and was about to send a bullet into his own head when he was overpowered.

Ecuadorian Rebels Win

Guayaquil, Jan. 23.—During an attack made on the barracks by rioters 60 persons were killed and 84 wounded. The soldiers resisted throughout the night and then recognized the new government. Before entering Quito, the capital, General Alfaro, the leader of the revolution, had a fight at Machachi with the government troops, resulting in 300 being killed and 100 wounded. Former President Garcia's troops are on their way to Quito, where they will surrender their arms.

Negroes Strike Against White Man

Talladega, Ala., Jan. 23.—Over 100 students left Talladega college (negro) because a white man, L. O. Parks, was employed as superintendent of the college farm. The students demanded his discharge and that was refused by President Nice. They appealed to Secretary Baird of the American Missionary society, which fosters Talladega college, but Baird upheld Nice.

Trying to Find Shooter

Boston, Jan. 23.—The police are searching the city for William E. Boring, who is wanted on a charge of attempting to murder his sweetheart, Zelma E. Cole, and also shooting Andrew Chase, the landlord of the house where Miss Cole was shot. The police believe Boring is in the city.

England Buys Famous Painting

London, Jan. 23.—The Standard says it understands that the "Venus" of Velasquez was purchased for the nation yesterday, owing to an anonymous personage becoming the guarantor of the purchase money. The Paris Louvre had without avail offered $250,000 for the canvas.

Heavy Theft of Jewelry

Boston, Jan. 23.—The local police have been requested by New York officials to search in this city for jewels valued at $10,000, which were stolen from Mrs. George D. Mumford of New York. The New York officials believe the jewels were sold here.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 59	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 03
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49 r
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
s 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 50	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 04
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 23	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 43	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 31	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfedcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 18	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 48	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate where trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square.
b Norfolk Downs,	g, Savin Hill.
c Atlantic,	h, Crescent Avenue.
d Neponset,	i, South Boston.
e Pope's Hill.	r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.15 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.15 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.49 5.16 5.49 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6 21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Jan 20, 1906.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.10, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5 20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.10, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	75	27	36	38	45
Monday,	66	36	37	47	40
Tuesday,	65	49	24	40	42
Wednesday,	—	43	24	36	30
Thursday,	—	41	20	33	32
Friday,	—	38	17	55	33
Saturday,	—	38	30	20	31

New Advertisements Today.

Quincy Coliseum—Roller Skating.
Gas and Electric Light Commissioners' Notice.
Probate Notice.
Wanted—Girl for housework.

The City In Brief

Colder tomorrow.

The temperature at sunrise this morning was higher than on Sunday.

Merrymount lodge, A. O. U. W., will install officers this evening.

City Solicitor Thomas is again on deck, having recovered from a severe cold.

Roger Wolcott court of Foresters will have installation of officers on Thursday evening.

M. V. Collins is confined to the house by illness and is under the doctor's care.

Mrs. E. Young has recovered from her recent illness and able to be about once more.

Many people are looking forward to the Glee Club concert to be held at the Point church tomorrow evening.

Mrs. R. D. Chase of Goffe street has a pretty snow-drop in blossom, and reports that crocuses and tulips have started.

A party of young people from the Point will see Viola Allen at the Colonial theatre tonight in "The Toast of the Town."

J. Warren Nightingale, who underwent a surgical operation at the City Hospital, is reported as comfortable this morning.

It is rumored that a large boarding house is soon to be opened on Washington street near South. If boarding houses become much more popular in this district, the private families will seek other localities.

The members of the Wollaston Unitarian Club who were so delightfully entertained Jan. 9, and other friends, will regret to learn that Postmaster Hibbard of Boston is ill with pneumonia and not out of danger.

Charles H. Johnson, the Principal Assessor, was one of the speakers at the 25th anniversary of Corner Stone lodge of Good Templars at Hingham on Monday evening, which was largely attended. He paid a tribute to the late Henry H. Faxon.

John E. Lennon is to sever his connections after several years' service with the Citizens Gas Light Co. of this city, having accepted a position with the Gas Company at Marlboro. In a short time he will move his family to that place. He will be greatly missed by his many friends and acquaintances, but all wish him success in his new place.

Ladies' Night.

Saturday evening, Jan. 27, an opportunity will be given to all who wish, to visit the gymnasium class at the Y. M. C. A. It will be known as "Ladies' night," and will be the first of a series. All ladies and friends are cordially invited.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

Increase of Capital Wanted

The Gas and Electric Light Commissioners of Massachusetts give notice in the Daily Ledger that they will give a hearing Tuesday morning, Feb. 6, on a petition of the Citizens' Gas Light Company for approval of additional stock to the amount of $350,000.

Probably there will be a remonstrance against the petition; at least an effort to ascertain whether the company really mean business. They will be asked to show what they contemplate doing and when, and if possible a guarantee will be required.

There have been many reports of late as to this company and new companies, and also relative to Boston companies seeking rights to extend their mains into Quincy, which are somewhat confusing.

Dress Rehearsal of the Minstrels

Great! Was the verdict of the favored few who were privileged to attend the full dress rehearsal of the Squantum Yacht club ministrels, and two nights of fun are assured at Quincy Music hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Ex-Mayor Charles M. Bryant will be the interlocutor. The bones will be rattled by W. W. Whitcher, John Norton and Frank Harding, who promise to hold up their end against the tambos, Joe Daly, W. J. Croucher and R. A. Crown.

Well known gentlemen are in the chorus, viz: J. Hilderbrand, G. Bean, A. N. Briggs, C. N. Colstead, A. Fowler, G. Coleman, F. Maxwell, C. Hillier, W. A. Johnson, C. C. Giardino, E. F. Drew, J. J. Burke, H. Gannett, Jr., F. E. Curtin, J. B. Atkins, Ralph Reed, C. N. Brown, A. H. Hatch, F. C. Fowler, W. L. Winlock, L. W. Coles, Peter Malone, W. S. Fiander, L. H. Brown, Walter E. Hammett, John Harrison, Perly Cummings, E. F. Grafeney and Niel N. Alexander.

Many specialties will be introduced.

Y. M. C. A. Defeat Copeland Club

The Copeland Club Bowling team with a good following, journeyed to Quincy Monday evening to wrest a victory from the Y. M. C. A. bowlers. It was a good and enthusiastic crowd that watched the contest, and once again the Y. M. C. A. drubbed the visitors, taking three strings straight.

Y. M. C. A.

	1	2	3	Totals.
J. Ruggles,	100	81	73	254
Hughes,	65	79	67	211
Morris,	80	97	73	250
R. Tupper,	75	77	80	232
C. Thomas,	79	90	85	254
	399	424	378	1201

COPELAND CLUB.

	1	2	3	Totals
Martell,	89	67	73	229
Henry,	70	73	89	232
Laranden,	91	70	57	218
Elcock,	62	86	53	201
Joyce,	80	86	79	245
	392	382	351	1125

Spring! Spring! Gentle Spring!

Summer heat.

Fifty-five degrees at sunrise.

Mercury at noon, 66 degrees.

Grass is getting green.

Lilac bushes have started.

Crocuses are in blossom.

Coats and wraps are a burden.

The cold wave has been sidetracked.

Cape Cod Canal.

A petition was introduced into the Legislature this week by George H. Jackson to incorporate the Massachusetts ship canal company, with a capital stock of $6,000,000, to construct a ship canal across Cape Cod via the so-called Bass river route. The proposed incorporators are Rufus G. F. Candage, Nathan Appleton, Robert S. Rantoul, Benjamin F. French, James H. Sisk, Wilmot R. Hastings, Nathan B. Burgess, Watson F. Baker, Henry N. Berry, Charles A. Campbell, Charles P. Mudge, George W. Eldredge and George H. Newhall.

DIED.

MORSE—In Canton, Jan. 22, Mr. Oliver Morse, aged 76 years, 6 months.

MALVENA—In Braintree, Jan. 23, Mrs Betsey E., widow of John G. Malvena, of 617 Washington street, aged 78 years 4 months and 24 days.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

Throwing Fire at Soldiers.

Greek fire, which had several other names—wild fire, liquid fire, wet fire and fire rain—was the most destructive war material used before the introduction of gunpowder. Discovered by Callinicus, a Syrian, it was first used in the siege of Constantinople, 673-678, and at Mecca, 690. According to an eyewitness, it made a noise like thunder, looked like a dragon flying through the air and made night light as day. This, allowing for a vivid imagination, gives its striking characteristics when poured from caldrons, shot from copper tubes in balls of twisted flax or expelled from catapults in vials during sieges and naval engagements. Water made it burn more fiercely, and wherever it fell it spread a torrent of fire. So well was the secret of its production kept that its precise ingredients and admixture were still unknown, but it is certain that naphtha, sulphur, gums of resinous trees, charcoal, saltpeter, pitch and other bitumens were used.

Hot and Cold Crystals.

Whether we watch with the microscope a tiny crystal growing from a drop of solution or contemplate with the imagination the stages by which the fiery lavas of past geological periods sank to rest and crystallized, said Professor H. A. Miers in an address before the geological section of the British association at Cape Town, we view the same process. It is the transformation of liquid into crystal—not necessarily into a solid, for research shows there is no dividing line between liquid and solid. A plastic solid body may flow; a solid glass is only a super-cooled liquid. The real primary distinction is between crystalline and noncrystalline material. There are two great liquid reservoirs from which materials have crystallized—the sea with its dissolved salts and the subterranean baths of molten glass from which the igneous rocks have been derived.—New York Globe.

German Care of Landscapes.

Most German states have laws to prevent the disfigurement of landscapes by advertisements. The district authorities are authorized to determine what landscapes, buildings or monuments of historical or artistic value should be protected. Violations of the statute are made punishable by fine, with or without imprisonment. The statute provides against the display of pictures, advertisements or other things calculated to mar or disfigure any especially attractive landscape or detract from the artistic or aesthetic effect of any building or other structure of special importance or as highly prejudicial to any street or part of a city. The alteration of buildings of historical or artistic value may be prohibited by the local authorities, as may the construction of other buildings calculated to interfere with such historical monuments.

Found a Way.

A widow of an old Lyceum theater servant applied to Irving for some sort of occupation about the theater whereby she might earn a living. Irving appealed to Loveday, his manager.

"There is absolutely no vacancy of any kind," said Loveday.

"Can't you give her a job to look after the theater cats? I think we've too many mice about, not to mention rats."

"No," said Loveday, "there are two women already on that job."

"Hum, ha, let me see," said Irving reflectively, then suddenly brightening with an idea. "Very well, then, give her the job of looking after the two women who are looking after the cats."

The widow was at once engaged on the permanent staff of the theater.

Judgments.

If judgment is obtained against a man in one state and he moves into another before the judgment is satisfied the plaintiff proceeds against defendant at his new residence by what is known as "suing on a judgment." He has simply to bring into court a certified copy of the original judgment and execution is issued. This is in accordance with that provision of the constitution of the United States which says that "full faith and credit in each state shall be given to the acts, records and judicial proceedings of another state."

A Wonderful Child.

Zerah Colburn when a child had the most wonderful memory for figures ever known. He performed operations of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division on sums involving from eleven to twenty places of figures without setting one down on paper. Being once asked to raise eight to the sixteenth power, he almost instantly responded, "The answer is 281,474,976,710,656."

Rapid Growth.

One time when Joaquin Miller was in Chicago he was interviewed for one of the newspapers. While he was telling of the progress of things western the reporter interrupted him with an inquiry about the numerous city conflagrations out west. The poet of the Sierras instantly replied, "Our fires are caused by the friction of rapid growth."

An Expert Required.

"I wish an electrician would get rejected by Miss Snubem."

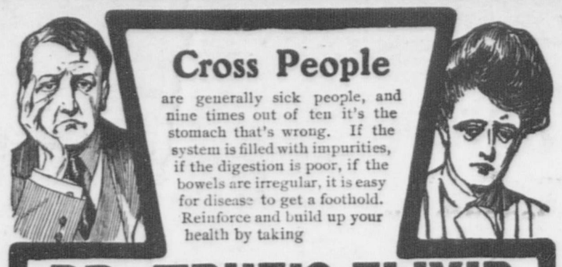

"Why do you wish that?"

"Because he might be able to explain why her negative is so positive."—Baltimore American.

Not What He Wanted.

Skinflint—I have no money, but I will give you a little advice. Beggar—Well, if yer hain't got no money yer advice can't be very valuable.

The atmosphere is so clear in Zululand that objects can be seen by starlight at a distance of seven miles.

Cross People

are generally sick people, and nine times out of ten it's the stomach that's wrong. If the system is filled with impurities, if the digestion is poor, if the bowels are irregular, it is easy for disease to get a foothold. Reinforce and build up your health by taking the standard remedy for over three generations. Restores lost appetite, regulates the bowels, assists digestion, enriches the blood and cures all those diseases arising from a disordered stomach or liver, such as constipation, malaria, biliousness, indigestion, loss of appetite, headaches, catarrh of the stomach and intestines, piles, etc. The Mother's Safeguard in all the common disorders of childhood.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

A few doses given occasionally will guard against worms, and if present will expel them without fail.

Dr. J. F. TRUE & Co.: Augusta, Maine.
Gentlemen: By the use of your Elixir I was relieved of a tape worm between seventy-seven and eighty-five feet in length. For eighteen years I had been doctoring for Liver, Kidney and Heart trouble and Indigestion, all of which disappeared when that worm was slaughtered by True's Elixir. There is not a medicine before the public to-day that can do the work of your Elixir. The expenditure of $2.50 for this medicine did for me what many dollars and years spent in search of relief through other sources failed to do.
Yours very truly, A. F. BRAGG, No. 77 Main St., Foxcroft, Me.

Sold by all dealers. 35c, 50c, $1.00.

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me. Established 1851.

The Magazines.

The February issue of Suburban Life is a beautiful product of the printer's art. It can in no way fail to delight its readers. The beautiful hand-set type and the abundance of half tones, admirably executed, go to make up a perfect periodical. With this issue, the magazine has been considerably enlarged and is more general in its tone. It contains a wealth of practical and entertaining features.

"Frenzied Finance," Mr. Lawson's remarkable history of financial crimes, closes with a bang in the February Everybody's. It is not unlikely that this instalment, with its brilliant side-lights on the story of Bay State Gas, will be considered the most fascinating Mr. Lawson has ever written. By no means its least interesting paragraphs are those relating to Mr. Lawson's long anticipated Remedy, which he will begin to set forth in the next issue of the magazine.

—The condition of ex-Governor J. Q. A. Brackett of Arlington, whose illness has occasioned some uneasiness among his friends, was said last night to be considerably improved. Although it was originally given out that Mr. Brackett was suffering from nothing more serious than an attack of rheumatism, it is known that his trouble is a mild attack of locomotor ataxia.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
50 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners.

Boston, January 19, 1906.

ON the petition of the Citizens Gas Light Company of Quincy for approval of an issue of new capital stock of the par value of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) for the purpose of paying outstanding liabilities and those hereafter to be incurred for additions and extensions to its plant and property, the Board will give a hearing to the parties in interest at its office, Room 145, State House, Boston, on Tuesday, the sixth day of February next, at ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon.

And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by publication hereof in the "Quincy Daily Ledger," a newspaper published in the city of Quincy, twice each week for two successive weeks prior to said time of hearing.

By order of the Board.
R. G. TOBEY, Clerk.

A true copy, Attest:
R. G. TOBEY, Clerk.
Jan. 23. 2w-tu., th.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of

JONATHAN PRATT,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Richard D. Chase, the trustee under the will of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the second account of his trust under said will:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
31-22, 30, 6

TODAY'S COURT.

Patrick J. Barns was sent to the State farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

John Desmond was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Randolph. Case continued until Feb. 10.

John Evans, John Mann, Mattie Topio and Jacob Meimi were arraigned upon two complaints, each for selling unmarked renovated butter. They were fined $25 each upon one complaint, the second being placed on file.

Antoni Castino was fined $15 for gunning without a license at Merrymount park, Quincy.

GOOD OPPORTUNITY
TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.

I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy.
A Check good for one 10c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons
Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6-1p-1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate,
Mortgages,
Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

A Case of American Push

[Original.]

"It's no use, Pete; father is immovable. He wants me to marry some distinguished personage. He has always been sensitive about our family name and would like me to change it for a better one."

"Brown is better than Skrable."

"He doesn't think so. Mrs. Peter Brown would be but little improvement on Miss Alice Skrable."

The lover went away sorrowful.

One day Brown's eye fell on a paragraph in a newspaper that set him thinking. He thought all day and most of the night. When he awoke in the morning his thoughts went right on like an automobile in which the stopping apparatus has become unmanageable. He thought a whole week, at the end of which he brought his fist down on a table and exclaimed:

"I'll do it!"

From that time Brown's law partner noticed that he was paying very little attention to business. He seemed to be spending all his time searching for something. It was not a legal matter, for no legally drawn papers appeared to be passing through his hands. He received a great many letters, but never spoke of the contents of any one of them. Indeed, whatever was his purpose he kept it a profound secret.

Then suddenly Brown announced that he was going abroad. His partner, astonished and dissatisfied, threatened to dissolve the firm, complaining that Brown would leave him to do all the work—it was not onerous—and was keeping important matters from him. Brown told him just enough to satisfy him, then suddenly disappeared.

Six months passed. The Skrable family, Alice excepted, had forgotten Mr. Brown and were greatly pleased to have an opportunity to forget him. His intimate friends wondered where he was and how he obtained the means to spend so much time away from home. Some one said that an uncle, his mother's brother, was furnishing him with money. This was true. The uncle supplied him with barely enough for his purpose. Brown's partner sat in his office waiting for clients who did not come and wished for Brown, who was a pushing fellow and had many ingenious methods of securing business. "Have you heard from Brown?" everybody asked of everybody, and everybody replied: "No. Have you?" "No. I wonder where he is and what he's up to." "Oh, he's got some wild scheme on hand. But, no matter how wild Brown's schemes, he has a way of carrying them out. He's probably getting a contract for replacing the street cars in some foreign city with American flying machines. But he'll do it. You bet, he'll work it through."

There was a good deal of such talk, and the uncle who was "grub staking" Brown looked very knowing whenever approached on the subject, but said nothing. All this increased the curiosity of Brown's friends and acquaintances.

One day a steamer arrived, and in the passenger list published was the name of Sir Peter Brown. The name, in the minds of Brown's friends, had no connection with him whatever. Some of them saw it, but went on with their daily avocations just the same. It occasioned not the slightest ruffle among them, but the next morning a paragraph in a newspaper let out the secret of Brown's absence, and none of his friends did anything during the day except visit one another and gossip with mouth and eyes wide open upon this exploit. This was the paragraph referred to:

Our fellow citizen, Peter Brown, has just returned from a trip to England, where he has established his right to the baronetcy granted in 1662 to Hugh Brown, after the restoration of Charles II., for loyalty to the house of Stuart, dormant since 1783.

These few lines were quite enough to stir every one who had ever heard of Peter Brown. For a week nothing else was talked of, and every one wondered that Brown had never been heard to claim any relationship whatever with any baronet. Meanwhile invitations were showered upon Sir Peter, and cards came from the Skrable family for a musicale. Sir Peter accepted, and during the evening he and the smiling Alice vanished into a corner by themselves.

"Come, tell me all about it," she asked. "How did you ever do it?"

"One morning I read a paragraph in a newspaper stating that as the law of England now stands any man can assume with impunity some presumably extinct or dormant baronetcy prior to 1783. A recent work, called 'Extinct and Dormant Baronetcies,' says that a thousand of these titles have lapsed between the original creation and the present day. Of these the majority became extinct or dormant before 1783. Armed with as much information about my family as I could collect, I went to England to find a dormant Brown baronetcy. I lighted on the one granted Hugh Brown. I proved that my ancestors came from the same county and before I got through made the discovery that I am really Sir Peter Brown."

Alice Skrable clapped her hands, then threw her arms around her lover's neck.

In a few days the engagement of Sir Peter Brown and Alice Skrable was announced, and they were married in due time. Lady Brown was furnished with money by her father to buy the original Brown property, and the present Sir Peter Brown and his family live in England.

WENDELL C. M'LAIN.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—A maltese and white bob tail Kitten. Reward if returned to 1621 Hancock street, Quincy. Jan. 22-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy. Jan. 22. 6t

MRS ALIDA OLANDER, 16 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc. 187 1-2 Granite street. Quincy Jan. 19 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel. Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—2 large connecting and 2 single Rooms; modern conveniences. Best neighborhood. Handy to cars. Address C., Ledger office. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1451 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy. Oct. 9. tf

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

Make Known
YOUR WANTS
In Daily Ledger.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Speak Well
OF QUINCY
At All Times.

Vol. 18. No. 21. QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Advertise It. Have You a House To Let? Advertise It.

A Square Deal!

The CONSOLIDATED

Are firm believers in "A SQUARE DEAL," and they are now convinced after a week's trial that the only way they can give their customers a "SQUARE DEAL" is to return to the keeping of a full line of both

MEATS AND PROVISIONS.

Accordingly they have bought from SWIFT & CO. a complete stock of the

CHOICEST SELECTION
—OF—
SWIFT'S DRESSED BEEF, etc.,

which is as fine as anything to be seen in Quincy. And the Consolidated can assure their customers that the quality will always be the best the market can supply.

QUALITY

Will be their hobby in every line. Don't forget that they have the most complete line of

HIGH GRADE GROCERIES

in Quincy. And are Agents for KING ARTHUR, JOHN ALDEN, and JONES' SUPERLATIVE FLOUR, HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING, HUNTLEY & PALMER WAFERS, and many other Imported Goods. Also the FAMOUS STAR BRAND COFFEE, ORANGE PEKOE TEA, etc., etc.

Teams will call for and deliver your orders promptly.

CONSOLIDATED, Adams Building.

Tel. No. 236 A. F. HAYWARD, Manager.

Quincy, Jan. 24. tf

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,
ON UPLAND ROAD.
--- APPLY ---
JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2 50 $3 00 $3 50.

W. L. DOUCLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB

MINSTRELS,

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, JAN. 24 25

Quincy
MUSIC HALL.

Chorus of Thirty-Five.
Six End Men,
Full Orchestra,
Original Songs
and Sketches

Tickets from Members
25c, 50c, 75c.
Curtain, 7.45. Cars, 10.15
Quincy, Jan. 19. 6t

SIX BIG SPECIALS!

We don't do things by halves here—when we make a special offer, it is sure to be worth buying and there's variety enough to suit all.

For example, how could you do better than take advantage of one or all of these special offers:

Graham Flour, 10 lbs. 25c.
Rye Flour, 10 lbs 25c.
Indian Meal, 10 lbs. 25c.
5 lb. pkg. Quaker Whole Wheat Flour, 22c.
Yellow Eye Beans, 9c. qt. 65c. peck.
California Pea Beans, 10c. qt, 75c. peck.

There are goods of special value all over the store at prices which are especially attractive to thrifty housewives.

Buy everything good to eat here.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 22. tf

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
A Check good for one 10c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6 -lp-1y

Fatally Burned.

A Domestic Alone in House Accidentally Set Clothes on Fire

Miss Cecilia F. Phien, a Russian Jewish, employed as a domestic in the family of Henry Berger, at 7 Nightingale avenue, was so frightfully burned Tuesday evening that she died a few hours later at the City Hospital.

The girl was alone in the house at the time, and it is supposed that she attempted to fill a lighted lamp, when an explosion followed setting fire to her clothing.

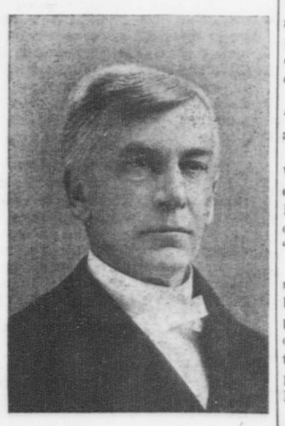

George Dubois and another man passing the house heard her screams and saw the fire. They rushed in and found her one mass of flames. With the use of mats and clothes they succeeded in extinguishing the flames, and in putting out the fire which had communicated to the wood work.

The girl's clothing was almost entirely burned off, and she was frightfully burned about the head, arms and body. The police ambulance was called and she was removed to the City Hospital, where she died about 10 o'clock.

But little is known of the family of the girl, other than that she has two brothers in Russia. She was about 19 years of age.

Welcomed By Dr. Hallowell

Rev. William O. Ayer, for the past twelve years a Baptist minister in Campello, and recently called to Braintree, was given a reception Tuesday evening in the Braintree Baptist church. Mr. Wendell Harvey was master of ceremonies and words of welcome were given by the Braintree clergymen, Dr. Spaulding of Boston, Dr. McAllister of Randolph and H. C. Hallowell, M. D. of Quincy.

REV. WILLIAM O. AYER.

Dr. Hallowell's was especially interesting, for he knew Rev. Mr. Ayer better than any person present. They attended public school together, graduating for the high school in the same class, then they attended the same college and later drank from the same canteen during the war '61—'65.

Rev. William O. Ayer was given the right hand of fellowship by Dr. Spaulding, and following that interesting part of the program Rev. Mr. Ayer, Deacon and Mrs. R. E. Spinney received the large number of guests in the church parlor.

Are You Up to the Mark?

If not feeling as well as you should, do not make the mistake of letting your health take care of itself. Resort to

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

Ladies' Night

Men's Club of Wollaston Congregational Church Celebrate

A rare treat was enjoyed by the Men's Club of the Wollaston Congregational church and their ladies on Tuesday evening, it being ladies' night and Burns night combined. It was a pleasure to the gentlemen to have the ladies present, but it was those who took part in the program that gave the greatest delight.

The special committee of the evening were Richard M. Watt, the president, and Messrs. James G. Brown, George Fleming and Charles E. Hathaway. Arrayed in Scotch plaids they extended a hearty welcome to the guests upon their arrival. The decorations were also of a Scotch flavor. While the desk was draped with American flags there was a picture of Robert Burns in front, beneath the folds of small flags of Scotland and the United States. The colors of the flag of Scotland were also festooned about the vestry.

Mr. John R. Anderson, of Floating Hospital fame, and Thomas Henry, the tenor, both Scotchmen by birth, took prominent parts in the program, and Rev. E. A. Chase, the pastor of the church, gave the address.

President Watts opened the program with a welcome, and Secretary Osgood read the records of the last regular meeting.

Bruce's address to his army was printed on the program with the music and was sung with spirit under the leadership of Mr. Henry.

Mr. Anderson was down for two groups of readings from Burns, but his reminiscences of the poet and his place of birth were equally interesting. It was a pleasure, he said, to be back in Wollaston, where he resided a number of years.

Mr. Anderson recited in Scotch dialect "Epistle to Davie" and "To a Mouse." He was in full sympathy with the selections and enthused his audience. They applauded if they did not understand every word. Mr. Anderson said it was their fault if they did not understand.

Later, he gave with equal success, "To a Mountain Daisy" and "A Man 's a Man for a' that."

Mr. Henry sang "A' the Airts the Wind Can Blow," and to an enthusiastic encore gave "Coming Thro' the Rye." Later, he sang "The Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon," and as an encore, "March! March!!"

Mr. Chase's address of twenty five minutes was called "A homily on Burns'." He sketched briefly the poet's life and environments, and told of his parents. Then he interpreted the poet's life by reading three of his poems:—"Duncan Gray," "The Bank's Doon" and "John Anderson."

The closing song was "Auld Lang Syne," sung in unison.

Ices, cake and coffee were then served by the committee. A social hour followed.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Gunner Arrested At Merrymount Park

There have been many complaints of late of gunners at Merrymount park shooting squirrels. The gunners are rather careless about their shooting and people in that neighborhood have been in danger of getting shot. Thursday morning word was telephoned the police that gunners were about again, and Officer Murray was sent down.

The officer located the fellow at the extreme end of the park. The fellow had shot four squirrels and was trying to smoke out others when the officer nabbed him. The fellow gave his name as Antonio Castino. He was immediately taken to court where he was fined $15 for gunning without a license.

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S
Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS
WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We have made their prices very low. Every piece will be appreciated by [illegible]

PRICES ALWAYS

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Ot

Granite Cutters Must Stand Trial For Conspiracy Also James Duncan National Secretary

The Globe prints the following dispatch from Montpelier, Vt., under date of Jan. 23: The upholding of the indictment returned against James Duncan, international secretary of the granite cutters' union, and 10 Hardwick stonecutters, all charged with conspiracy, by the supreme court, in a decision handed down today, will result, it is expected, in the trial of the men within a short time.

By the decision of the court, the testimony of five of the cutters before the Caledonia grand jury may now be used against them in the trial.

The court in its decision could not classify a reluctant witness as one who objected to testify under his constitutional right, as that question was not raised at the time of the grand jury hearing.

Ten members of the granite cutters' union withdrew from the union about a year ago, and began granite cutting on their own account. The officials of the union endeavored to inforce some of its rules and the new manufacturers entered a complaint, alleging that an effort was being made to destroy their business.

The complaint resulted in the arrest of 10 members of the union on an indictment charging them with conspiracy. James Duncan of Quincy, Mass., secretary of the international granite Cutters' union, was included in the indictment.

Capt. Hunt Receives A Purse

A few of the many friends of Capt. Charles N. Hunt made him a friendly call Tuesday evening. Capt. had no intimation that he was to receive callers, so that he was more than surprised when they walked in upon him.

The visitors were quickly made welcome, however, and a few pleasant hours were passed in reminiscences of the good old days when all were boys together. The changes in Quincy in their time have been many, and many of their old friends have been called beyond. They have not been forgotten, however, and there were silent moments when the name of some departed was brought to mind.

Refreshments were served during the evening, and when the guests took their departure they left behind them a substantial purse as a reminder of their friendship.

Installation And Banquet

Merrymount lodge, A. O. U. W., had a gala evening Tuesday night on the occasion of the installation of its officers. The installation was held at Wilson's hall, and was for members only. There was a good attendance and the ceremony was performed by Grand Master Workman Edward P. Sullivan, assisted by Grand Guide, John J. O'Brien; Past Grand Master Workman, Francis P. Turnball, and Grand Inside Watchman, William Enas.

The officers installed were:
P. M. W.,—F. G. Wheatly.
M. W.,—Edward Pearce.
F.,—John Cain.
O.,—Jos. Burns.
G.,—Jos. E. Bean.
R.,—Dr. A. H. Gilson.
Treas.,—N. O. Parker.
Fin. R.,—C. H. Johnson.
I. W.,—P. A. Peterson.
O. W.,—J. E. Mayhire.
Trustee for three years.,—C. W. Garey., M. D.

At 9 o'clock the lodge with its guests marched to The Greenleaf, where a banquet was served. The menu was one that could not fail to appeal to the inner man. It was well cooked and well served.

After the banquet Past Master Charles H. Johnson was introduced as toastmaster. He opened the exercises with a few joking remarks, and then introduced the speakers. All of the grand officers had a good word to say for the order in general, telling of its growth and what it had accomplished.

Other speakers were: Master Workman Edward Pearce, Councilman A. H. Gilson, N. O. Parker, George Bean, William Laing, A. L. Taber and Walter H. Cobb.

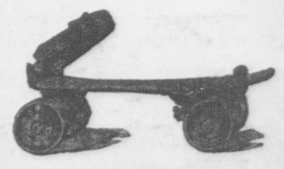

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

Exciting races every night this week.
GOOD MUSIC.
During all racing and Special Events, admission to all 10 cents. Other nights, Gents, 10 cents; ladies, free.
Gents' skates, 25 cents; Ladies', 15 cents.
Quincy, Jan. 23. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Dry dock Dewey is moving along, not very fast, but safely and surely. She was picked up by the Maryland, one of the armored cruisers sent out by Admiral Evans to keep up wireless communication with the big craft. The whole expedition is a wonder. The building of a dry dock on this side, and sending it to the Philippines, would have been considered impossible only a few years ago. And

...oes it ...ou item.

Local Ins And Outs

A patent was issued this week to William E. Badger of Crescent street.

The turkey supper tonight at First church is to be followed by an informal musical program.

Two of the new stores in the new post office block have been let. The large store adjoining the Dr. Welch block will be occupied by George W. Jones, dealer in boots, shoes and gentlemen's furnishings. The store at the west of the post office will be occupied by the Hardware Supply Co.

—Some English schoolboys have been writing of the joys of their half holidays: "On Satdy I do all the work, and then I go over and do all my Ants, in the afternoon I take Misses greens' baby out in the Pram, I get a apeny on Satdy, sumtimes I by bulls i's. On Satdy nite I have a baf and wate up for my father."

Evils of Anxiety.

Anxiety is the poison of human life. It is the parent of many sins and of more miseries. In a world where everything is doubtful, where you may be disappointed and be blessed in disappointment, what means this restless stir and commotion of mind? Can your solicitude alter the cause or unravel the intricacy of human events? Can your curiosity pierce through the cloud which the Supreme Being hath made impenetrable to mortal eye? To provide against every important danger by the employment of the most promising means is the office of wisdom, but at this point wisdom stops.—Selected.

Jilted.

Mag—Billy, I regrets ter say dat our engagement has got ter be broke off.

Billy—Wot's de trouble now?

Mag—Me ma won't leave me wear yer ring no more 'cos it makes me finger black.—Leslie's Weekly.

GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

HUGH P. TRACY,

Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds

Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.

Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

A "BLACK HAND" PLOT

Documents Decreeing Death of Noted Men Are Unearthed

Washington, Pa., Jan. 24.—In hunting for the murderers of Michael Carrazola, a wealthy Italian who was shot at Dunlevy, Washington county authorities have unearthed a plot to assassinate some of the leading men of the country. They have secured evidence that among those marked for death was Governor Pennypacker. Letters and papers are also in possession of the authorities which decree the death of other leading men.

The existence of this band of anarchists was revealed when Coroner Sipe and Chief of Police Logan of Monongahela began to follow up clues which indicated that Carrazola's death was due to the mechanisms of the Italian "Black Hand" society. The evidence on which charges will be based was discovered in a squalid shanty three miles from Monongahela city. In this house were found documents pointing to a wholesale assassination scheme. Anarchists in many parts of the country are implicated and arrests in many sections are looked for.

John Spida, the alleged president of the society, was arrested last night and was put in jail along with George Barli, who is suspected of implication in the death of Carrazola. Other arrests are expected to be made shortly.

In Congress

Washington, Jan. 24.—For more than three hours Mr. Spooner occupied the time of the senate in explanation ...he course of the admin... to the Moroccan conciras and in ...nnection ...be abro... ...a canal ...ot re... ...esides ... These ... urgent deficiency ...priation bill now under consideration in the house were the net result of Tuesday's session.

Valuables Removed "as Usual"

New York, Jan. 24.—In the suit brought against Mrs. C. T. Parker by the Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance company to recover $7000 insurance it had paid to her on the burning of her steam yacht, the Scythian, the captain of the yacht had testified that he set the yacht on fire by orders and that much valuable furnishings was taken out of the craft before it was burned. Mrs. Parker testified yesterday that it was the custom to take the rugs from the yacht to be cleaned. The silverware, she said, had been taken from the yacht and "sent to a safety vault as usual."

Alger Out of Court Martial

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 24.—A challenge against Professor P. R. Alger, a member of the court martial which is trying Midshipman Mayo on charges of hazing, was sustained, and Alger was excused from further attendance during the trial. Alger had talked with Lieutenant Snyder, a witness, with regard to the latter's testimony, and had expressed an opinion before the court upon certain matters connected with the case before the evidence had been completed.

Sentiment Favors Lock Canal

Washington, Jan. 24.—A lock canal at a cost of $147,000,000 and not more than eight years to build, or a sea-level canal at a cost of about $250,000,000 and from 12 to 15 years to build, were two problems discussed by the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals. The lock type was favored by Chief Engineer Stevens and informal expressions of members of the committee favor Stevens' recommendations.

Charged With Triple Murder

Dayton, O., Jan. 24.—Dr. Oliver Haugh was arraigned here on the charge of murdering his father, mother and brother, and burning their bodies. Haugh refused to speak and his attorney pleaded not guilty for him. The attorney told the judge that Haugh was without means and that the county would have to bear the expense of the prisoner's defense.

Escaped Murderer Arrested

Havana, Jan. 24.—T. J. Pennington, who escaped from prison at Houston, Ala., after he had been sentenced to imprisonment for life for murder, was arrested here. Pennington complained to the police that his money had been stolen in a boarding house. He was recognized through a photograph which previously had been furnished the Cuban police.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Northern Mexico Mining company has been organized at Portland, Me., with a capitalization of $1,000,000. The par value of shares is 25 cents. The names of the real incorporators do not appear.

There is practically no change in the printers' strike situation at New York. Both sides declare that everything is progressing entirely to their satisfaction.

Mrs. Rebecca Wagner died at Toronto, aged 104. She was a daughter of Humphrey May, who married Sarah Madison, daughter of President Madison of the United States.

At a meeting of the Boston Ministers' association resolutions were adopted condemning the establishment of a race track at Salem, N. H.

According to the annual report of President Pritchett of the Boston Institute of Technology, the deficit of the college for the year ending Sept. 30, 1905, was only $10,582. The deficit for the previous year was $55,405.

Chester A. Lovering, 12 years old, was drowned at Oxford, Mass., while trying to recover his school lunch pail which he had dropped from a bridge.

"A TRENCHANT PEN"

Mann Wielded It In Conducting Town Topics

IS AGAIN ON THE STAND

Found No Difficulty In Gathering In Heavy Loans From Men In High Standing In the World of Finance

New York, Jan. 24.—The trial of Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, charged with criminal libel by Justice Joseph M. Deuel, as a result of the publication of a paragraph concerning the latter's connection with Town Topics, is nearing an end. After the examination of Colonel W. D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, was concluded yesterday the defense introduced a number of witnesses, and upon adjournment last evening counsel for Hapgood announced that they probably would finish their case today.

The witnesses introduced by the defense included Commodore E. T. Gerry, who testified as to Deuel's efforts to induce him to subscribe to "Fads and Fancies"; Charles S. Wayne, formerly managing editor of Town Topics, who gave the "immune list" of that publication; two solicitors for "Fads and Fancies," and J. A. Burden, Jr., of Troy, N. Y., who also was approached in connection with "Fads and Fancies." Gerry said he found that Town Topics was interested in "Fads and Fancies" and that he refused to subscribe to the work. Burden said that when he was approached he was told that Mann "wielded a trenchant pen." This, however, did not induce him to subscribe.

Before James W. Osborne began to examine witnesses in behalf of Hapgood, Mr. Jerome decided to ask Colonel Mann a few more questions. When asked why William K. Vanderbilt gave him back the 25 shares of Town Topics stock, handed to him in payment of a $25,000 loan, Mann replied that he (the colonel) had invented vestibule platforms in 1878 and had been in the parlor car business until squeezed out by the Pullman company, and that when he afterwards bought the control of Town Topics he went to the men he knew for aid in building up his new business.

One of the men was Dr. W. S. Webb. Another was Vanderbilt. They and the others, explained Mann, were men too good and brave to have given up money for any ulterior reasons. Some years later, after Mann had handed Vanderbilt the 25 shares, they were returned with a kindly letter, but with a polite refusal to lend more. His notes, too, he said, were returned, and Vanderbilt told him not to worry. Subsequently he asked Vanderbilt to give him "some information" that would enable him to make enough money to repay the debt. Vanderbilt, he said, replied that the debt need not cause him worry, but added: "I'll keep you in mind, colonel."

"Are you on terms of friendship with J. Pierpont Morgan?" asked Jerome. The reply was that Mann had known Morgan for years, having met him in Europe. When he wanted $2500 he went to Morgan..

"What reason was there for his letting you have it?"

"I think it was respect for me. I think I knew him well enough to ask him for it."

Mr. Jerome inquired why he hadn't gone to some other banker. Why particularly Morgan? The jury would like to know, said the district attorney, whether there was any vicious or scandalous report about Morgan at the time—whether the colonel was seeking the money in payment for suppressing the rumor. The witness turned to the jury, smiling benignly through his white whiskers, and denied that such had been the case.

Explaining the $10,000 loan from Ryan, Mann said he had been introduced to the vice president of the Morton Trust company by the late William C. Whitney; that was long ago. He did not see Ryan again until he asked him for $10,000, offering Town Topics shares as collateral. Ryan told him to call on the next day. Then, he continued, Ryan said—"I don't want those shares. They're all right, but you just give me your personal note, and I'll lend you the $10,000."

E. Clarence Jones was another who lent him $10,000, testified Mann, and the collateral security was 500 shares of Alger Lumber company stock.

Mr. Osborne, after obtaining the court's permission to renew the cross-examination briefly, asked Mann to tell how the $10,000 loan was secured from E. Clarence Jones. The witness did not remember whether Jones visited him or he visited Jones. He said he did not recall bitter paragraphs concerning Jones, but Osborne read a paragraph describing the divorced wife of the banker as discarded by Jones. The colonel was asked if he remembered that item when he got the $10,000. He said he did not. He admitted that "pleasant paragraphs" had been written by him about Jones after the loan, but insisted that a few "pleasant" ones had preceded the loan transaction.

Russia Weathering the Storm

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—The peaceful passage of the dreaded "Red Sunday" anniversary, the apparent impotency of the active revolutionists and the initiation of constructive labors by all the political factions taking part in the electoral campaign, have greatly encouraged the government. The chief apprehension is the financial situation.

CRUCIAL TEST NEAR

Efforts to Induce France and Germany to Bury Differences

Algeciras, Jan. 24.—Henry White, head of the American delegation to the Moroccan conference, is making the weight of the United States felt in quiet endeavors to bring France and Germany nearer together before the disputed questions arise in the conference. These questions cannot be long delayed, as the consideration of economic and financial reforms in Morocco will begin next week.

It has been impossible for the United States to take the lead in seeking a way toward an agreement that shall guarantee to all countries an equal footing in Morocco and yet recognize in some respects the special position of France. It is a difficult task, but all the governments except those directly concerned are assisting in it because of the danger of the situation should the conference fail of a settlement.

Great Britain is acting entirely with France and is not disposed now to ask France to modify her views. Italy, however, as the ally of Germany and the friend of France, and Russia, as the ally of France and the friend of Germany, are co-operating in the effort to find a compromise.

Someone Got a Bargain

New York, Jan. 24.—John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, has parted with the summer palace he erected and furnished at Long Branch, at an expense of $600,000. The place was sold to Myron H. Oppendein, a lawyer, for a client who is not now in this country. The purchase price was little more than half the sum expended by McCall upon the place. Of this amount McCall receives about $100,000, as the property is encumbered with mortgages amounting to $250,000.

Taxation Laws Sustained

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 24.—The supreme court has declared that the tax upon non-resident deer hunters is constitutional, as well as certain provisions of the law providing for a tax on inheritances. The latter decision was the outcome of a suit brought by the state tax commissioner against part of the estate of Julia Hicock of this city. Several beneficiaries under the will, but residing outside the state, claimed that they were exempt from the tax.

A Compromise Rate Bill

Washington, Jan. 24.—The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce has agreed upon a rate bill to be known as the Hepburn bill and to be reported to the house with the unanimous recommendation of the 18 members of the committee. In the main the bill is the original Hepburn bill, but a number of concessions were made to the Democrats and their ideas were freely incorporated in the perfected measure.

"Dead" Cadet Is Alive

Natchez, Miss., Jan. 24.—Cadet Sitman of Greensburg, La., who was said to have died from injuries received from hazing at Jefferson military college, is alive, and his uncle, D. C. Lee, who reported the matter to the grand jury, has notified that body of the fact. The grand jury failed to uncover any attempt at hazing at Jefferson and the entire matter has been dropped.

Repairs on Warships Stopped

Washington, Jan. 24.—Because of the refusal of congress to include in the urgent deficiency bill $1,000,000 asked for to cover the cost of repairs on ships in need of overhauling, Secretary Bonaparte has issued an order reducing by 44 percent the force of employes under the bureau of steam engineering at all yards and stations. This will cause the discharge of about 1000 men.

Liberals Have Great Lead

London, Jan. 244.—The Unionists gained a seat in Lanarkshire yesterday through a Laborite dividing the Liberal vote, but otherwise the Liberal successes were unchecked. Up to the present the new parliament is composed as follows: Liberals, 284; Unionists, 125; Laborites, 43; Nationalists, 79.

No Free Passes of Any Kind

New York, Jan. 24.—The board of directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company has ordered a discontinuance of all advertising contracts based on payment by transportation instead of cash. The action is taken to prevent any possible issue of free passes.

Defeat For French Ministry

Paris, Jan. 24.—In the chamber of deputies the government was defeated on the question of abolishing the subprefects, which was demanded by the Socialists. The vote was 300 to 219. The debate was adjourned. There is no suggestion that the government will resign.

Eighty-Cent Gas For Gotham

New York, Jan. 24.—Mayor McClellan has requested the board of aldermen of this city to declare itself in favor of a bill now pending in the state legislature which fixes the maximum price of gas in New York city at 80 cents a thousand feet.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Jan. 25.
Sun rises—7:05; sets—4:48.
Moon sets—6:04 p. m.
High water—11:45 a. m.; 12 p. m.

A remnant of the warm wave of the last few days still lingers in New England and along the Atlantic coast southward to the Carolinas, where temperatures of 60 and above prevailed last night. Elsewhere east of the Mississippi there has been a marked fall in temperature, accompanied by general rains in Atlantic coast districts. It will be fair and colder in New England.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,

C. H. BROOKS'

NEW MARKET.

No. 1375 Hancock Street.

Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

The Use of Sarcasm.

For many years one of the states was represented in the senate by a man who possessed many fine qualities, but who frequently injured the causes he advocated and alienated those who desired to be friendly by his sarcastic manner both in speaking and in writing. The senator had an intimate friend who had written to him to urge the appointment of another friend to a position under the government. To this letter the senator returned a very sarcastic answer, declining at the same time to recommend the appointment. It is said that he never forgot the merited rebuke he received from the friend who had suggested the appointment.

"My Dear Senator—I think it would be well for you to reserve your sarcasm for the rapidly increasing number of your enemies instead of offering it to the decreasing number of your friends, of whom I am one."

Soon after the senator received this communication he brought about the desired appointment.

A Prehistoric Monument.

In southern California, in the county of San Luis Obispo, there is situated one of the most remarkable prehistoric monuments known to the archaeologists. From a distance it looks like an immense rock rising from the plains of Carissa, but upon nearer approach it is seen to be a temple of extraordinary dimensions and of unknown antiquity. The inner court has a level floor 225 feet long and 125 feet wide, and the ceiling is from 60 to 100 feet high, according to situation. The building was evidently used by prehistoric man, but for what purpose and how long since no one knows. It has been suggested, however, that it was either a temple of worship or the capitol of some ancient government. The walls and portions of the ceiling are beautifully decorated with paintings in colors red, white and black, many of the i supposed to have some symbolic meaning.

The ritualistic use of candles in churches was forbidden in England in 1548.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

BY Virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by George H. Hitchcock to the Quincy Savings Bank, dated Aug. 24, 1899, recorded in Norfolk Deeds, Lib. 625, fol. 477, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, on the premises hereinafter described, on WEDNESDAY, the Fourteenth day of February, 1906, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, and therein described substantially as follows:

A certain lot of land containing 9,057 square feet, more or less, with all the buildings thereon, situated in said Quincy, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Northwesterly on Foster street, sixty-four and 3-4 feet; northeasterly on land of Edward B. Souther, one hundred forty feet and ten inches; southeasterly on land of Charles H. Hardwick, sixty-three feet and five inches; southwesterly on land of one Robinson, one hundred forty-one feet and ten inches.

This property will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles and assessments

Terms, $200 cash at sale, balance cash in ten days from said sale on delivery of deed.

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK, Mortgagee.
By CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.
Jan. 17. 3t--17-24-31

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of

SARAH J. F. CARR,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Horace F. Spear and Clarence Burgin, the trustees under the will of said deceased, have presented for allowance, the first account of their trust under said will.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said trustees are ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t--17, 24, 31

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH

PENNYROYAL PILLS

Original and Only Genuine. SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

Mention this paper.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.

Ceiling work a specialty.

WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.

23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.

Quincy, Feb. 25. ly

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.

Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

C. H. HARDWICK,

Counsellor at Law,

Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy. Opposite Fountain, City Square.

Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.

Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.

Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.

With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,

534-539 Tremont Building, Boston

Quincy Office,
2048 Hancock St., Tel Haymarket 724.
Evenings, 7 to 9. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. ly

WOOD

Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice

Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.

Teaming of all Kinds

THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mills. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices

MISS D. LITCHMAN,

330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan. 4. tf

FRANK F. CRANE,

REAL ESTATE,

AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,

Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE

Young Men's Christian Association

OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

JAMES F. BURKE,

REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.

MORTGAGES.

Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

COLLIDED IN A FOG

Steamer Trojan Is Cut Down by the Nacoochee

SOON WENT TO BOTTOM

No Lives Were Lost, Though Men on Freighter Had Barely Time to Escape--Accident Occured In Vineyard Sound

Boston, Jan. 24.—News of the loss of the freight steamer Trojan of the Boston and Philadelphia Steamship company's line, in collision with the Ocean line steamer Nacoochee in a dense fog at the entrance to Vineyard sound was brought here by the Nacoochee, which arrived 36 hours late, and having on board the Trojan's crew.

The accident happened at about 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon, while both vessels were feeling their way about Vineyard sound lightship endeavoring to locate that vessel by her whistle and from that signal to lay their course through the dangerous waters of the sound.

The Trojan had heard the lightship's warning, but her captain, deeming it too hazardous to proceed on account of the fog, was about to come to anchor when he heard the whistle of the Nacoochee. He promptly sounded his own whistle, but a moment later found his vessel fairly impaled upon the sharp iron prow of a big black steamship. It was apparent almost instantly that the Trojan had received a blow which would send her to the bottom, and before examination could be made by the officers on deck the water had rushed into her engine room, had put out her fires and, aided by shifted cargo, had given her a dangerous list. The Nacoochee struck her almost fairly abeam on the port side and her bow entered the hull almost to the very doors of her boilers.

Quickly appreciating the emergency, the captain of the Nacoochee had her put at full speed ahead and in this way forced his steamer hard into the opening. While the craft were thus held together the captain and the 27 men of the Trojan succeeded in climbing over the bow of the Nacoochee to safety, although 17 of them had been asleep below when the accident happened. Before the last of them had reached the deck the Trojan had listed so badly that they were unable to obtain foothold on the inclined planking and reached safety only after lines had been thrown them by the crew of the Nacoochee. When the last man had been rescued the Nacoochee backed away and the Trojan almost immediately sank. It was barely three quarters of an hour from the time of the collision until the Philadelphia steamer had gone down in 16 fathoms of water.

Both vessels were bound northward for Boston, the Nacoochee having sailed from Savannah Thursday night and the Trojan from Philadelphia on Friday. The Trojan had on board a general cargo, but no passengers. The Nacoochee also carried a valuable general cargo and seven passengers. The collision caused considerable excitement among the Nacoochee's passengers for a short time, but all anxiety was allayed after an examination had shown that the only damage to that vessel was superficial.

No attempt has been made to place the responsibility for the accident. Captain J. H. Diehl of the Nacoochee says: "It was about 11:15 when we made out the whistle of the lightship. The steamer was started slowly ahead. Out of the dense vapor came the whistle of another steamer lying off the lightship. I blew a warning whistle, when out of the fog appeared the lines of another steamer dead ahead and lying broadside to our course. I gave four short, sharp blasts, but the steamers were so close together that nothing could prevent a collision. I saw the damage to the other steamer was serious and stood by until the crew was rescued."

Captain Thatcher of the Trojan said: "We made the fog whistle of the lightship, but the fog was too dense to proceed. The steamer was lying to, barely under steerage way, and I was about to anchor when at 11:18 we were struck by the Nacoochee. The fog was so dense that I could scarcely see the bow of my own vessel. We were blowing our fog blasts at regular intervals. I had just blown my whistle when there came four short toots and the other steamer struck us broadside. We had none too much time to leave the vessel. The ship's papers and everything else on board except the men went down. There is no hope of saving the ship or any of the cargo."

The Trojan was valued by her owners at $250,000 and her cargo at about the same amount. She was formerly the Orion, owned by the Boston Towboat company, and used as a collier. The Philadelphia company purchased her several months ago and she had been in commission in the new service less than three months. She was built at Wilmington, Del., in 1888. Her general dimensions were: Length, 200.5 feet; beam, 38.4; depth of hold, 23.5; gross tonnage, 2632; net tonnage, 1636.

The Nacoochee was built at Chester, Pa., in 1882 and is one of the finest vessels plying along the coast. She is 290 feet long, 40-foot beam, 25.9 depth of hold and of a net tonnage of 1905 and gross tonnage of 2680.

The accident happened about a mile south-southwest of Vineyard sound lightship and about six miles from Gay head.

IN A FOG

Is Cut Down
acoochee

TO BOTTOM

Lost, Though
ter Had Barely
--Accident Oc-
ard Sound

News of the loss
ner Trojan of the elphia Steamship collision with the Nacoochee in a rance to Vineyard
here by the Nacoo-
36 hours late, and Trojan's crew.
pened at about 11
noon, while both their way about itship endeavoring by her whistle and lay their course
ous waters of the

heard the light
her captain, deeni
s to proceed on ac-is about to come to ard the whistle of promptly sounded
it a moment later
irly impaled upon
w of a big black pparent almost in-jan had received a end her to the bot-mination could be s on deck the water
e engine room, had d, aided by shifted
r a dangerous list.
ck her almost fair-
rt side and her bow lmost to the very

ing the emergency,
Nacoochee had her end and in this way
hard into the open-aft were thus held n and the 27 men
ceeded in climbing
the Nacoochee to
of them had been the accident hap-
t last of them had e Trojan had listed ere unable to obtain lined planking and y after lines had
by the crew of the
the last man had Nacoochee backed jan almost immedi-barely three quar-
om the time of the Philadelphia steamer
6 fathoms of water.
e bound northward
Nacoochee having ah Thursday night
m Philadelphia on jan had on board a no passengers. The ried a valuable genn passengers. The onsiderable exciteacoochee's passen-
me, but all anxiety
an examination had ly damage to that ial.
been made to place
for the accident.
l of the Nacoochee ut 11:15 when we
tle of the lightship.
arted slowly ahead.
por came the whistle
lying off the lightrning whistle, when ared the lines of an-l ahead and lying ourse. I gave four
, but the steamers
ther that nothing llision. I saw the r steamer was seri-until the crew was

r of the Trojan said:
whistle of the light-
as too dense to prowas lying to, bare-way, and I was en at 11:18 we were ochee. The fog was ld scarcely see the vessel. We were lasts at regular int blown my whistle
four short toots and struck us broadside.
much time to leave ship's papers and board except the
There is no hope of any of the cargo."
valued by her owners
r cargo at about the e was formerly the
the Boston Towboat
l as a collier. The any purchased her o and she had been the new service less
s. She was built at in 1888. Her gen-vere: Length, 200.5
depth of hold, 23.5;
2; net tonnage, 1636.
was built at Chester,
one of the finest ves-
the coast. She is 290 beam, 25.9 depth of tonnage of 1905 and 2680. ppened about a mile of Vineyard sound
ut six miles from Gay

Before Building

see that your contractor furnishes genuine security for the strict performance of his contract.

Many owners require the contractor to furnish an American Surety Company Bond. If you do this you will be secured by the strongest Surety Company in existence.

It is of advantage to contractors also in bidding, to be able to offer a Contract Bond which affords the highest form of security to the owner.

For Bonds Guaranteeing Contracts, and Surety Bonds of every kind, apply to

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy.
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties, Dinners and Suppers.

AlsoHancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
— THE —
NEW YEAR
— WITH A —
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station, New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

Nevertheless, as he lifted the tray again and crossed the room to go, his solemnity returned. "Missy," he said earnestly, "ef dat young gelmun fall in love wid you, w'ich I knows he will ef he ketch sight er you, lemme say dis, an' please fo' to ba'h in mine—better have nuttin' do wid him 'tall fo' he own sake, an' 'bove all keep him fur 'way f'um dese p'emises. Don' let him come in a mild er dis house."

"Nelson, was that all the quarrel between them?"

"Blessed mussy, ain' dat 'nough? Ef dey's any mo' I ain' hearn what dat part were," he answered quickly, but with a dogged tightening of the lips which convinced Miss Betty that he knew very well.

"Nelson, what was the rest of it?"

"Please, missy, I got pack yo' pa trunk, an' it time long ago fer me to be at my wu'k." He was half out of the door.

"What was the rest of it?" she repeated quietly.

"Now, honey," he returned, with a deprecatory shake of his head, "I got my own wu'k 'tend to, an' I ain't nevah ax nobody what 'twas, an' I ain't goin' ax 'em. An' lemme jass beg you foller de ole man's advice. You do de same, 'case nobody ain't goin' tell you. All I know is dat it come later and were somep'n 'bout dat riprarin Crailey Gray. Yo' pa he sent a channelge to Mist' Vanrevel, an' Mist' Vanrevel 'fuse to fight him 'case he say he don' b'lieve shootin' yo' pa goin' do yo' pa any good, an' he still got hope mekkin' good citizen outer him. Dat brung de laff on yo' pa ag'in, an' he 'clare to God ef he ketch Vanrevel on any groun' er his'n he shoot him like a mad dog. 'Pon my livin' soul, he mean dem wuds, missy! Dey had hard 'nough time las' night keepin' him fum teahin' dat man to pieces at de fiah. You mus' keep dat young gelmun 'way fum heah!"

"He came home with me last night, Nelson. I told father so."

"Yes'm. Yo' pa tole me you say dat, but he reckon you done it to mek him madder, 'ease you mad too. He say he done see dat Crailey Gray comin' 'long de hedge wid you."

"He was mistaken. It was Mr. Vanrevel."

Nelson rolled his eyes fervently to heaven. "Den dat young man run pintedly on he death! Ef you want keep us all dis side er de Jawdan rivuh don' let him set foot in dis neighbo'hood when yo' pa come back! An', honey"—his voice sank to a penetrating whisper—"'fo' I do a lick er wu'k I goin' out in de stable an' git down on my knees an' retu'n thanksgivin' to de good God 'case he hole Carewe street in de dahkness las' night!"

This was the speech he chose for his exit, but after closing the door behind him he opened it again and said cheerfully:

"Soon's I git de trunk fix f' yo' pa I bring 'roun' dat bay colt wid de sidesaddle. Yo' better set 'bout gittin' on yo' ridin' habit, missy. De roads is mighty good dis sunshiny wedduh."

"Nelson."

"Yes'm."

"Do you think such an attack as father had this morning—is—dangerous?"

He had hoped for another chance to laugh violently before he left her, and this completely fitted his desire. "Ho, ho, ho!" he shouted. "No'm; no, no, honey! He jass git so mad it mek him sick! You couldn't kill dat man wid a broadax, missy!"

And he went down the hall leaving the reverberations of his hilarity behind him. The purpose of his visit had been effected, for when Miss Betty appeared upon the horse block in her green habit and gauntlets she was smiling so that only a woman—or a wise old man—could have guessed that she had wept bitterly that morning.

She cantered out to the flat, open country to the east, where she found soft dirt roads that were good for the bay colt's feet, and she reached a crossroad several miles from town before she was overcome by the conviction that she was a wicked and ungrateful girl. She could not place the exact spot of her guilt, but she knew it was there, somewhere, since she felt herself a guilty thing.

For the picture which Nelson had drawn rose before her—the one man standing alone in his rage on the platform, overwhelmed by his calm young adversary, beaten and made the butt of laughter for a thousand. Her father had been in the wrong in that quarrel, and somehow she was sure, too, he must have been wrong in the "personal" one as well—the mysterious difficulty over Fanchon's Mr. Gray, who had looked so ashamed last night. What feud could they make over him, of all people in the world? He looked strong enough to take care of his own quarrels, even if he was so rigorously bound by Fanchon's apron string when it came to a word with another girl.

But the conclusion that her father had been in error did not lessen the pathetic appeal of the solitary figure facing the ridicule of the crowd. She felt that he always honestly believed himself in the right. She knew that he was vain; that he had an almost monstrous conception of his dignity, and realizing the bitterness of that public humiliation which he had undergone she understood the wrath, the unspeakable pain and sense of outrage which must have possessed him.

And now she was letting him go forth upon a journey, his way beset with the chances of illness and accident, whence he might never return. She was letting him go without seeing him again, letting him go with no word of farewell from his daughter. In brief, she was a wicked girl. She turned the colt's head abruptly to the west and touched his flanks with her whip.

So it fell out that as the packet foamed its passage backward from Carewe's wharf into the current the owner of the boat, standing upon the hurricane deck, heard a cry from the shore and turned to behold his daughter dash down to the very end of the wharf on the well lathered colt. Miss Betty's hair was blown about her face, her cheeks were rosy, her eager eyes sparkling from more than the hard riding.

"Papa," she cried, "I'm sorry!"

She leaned forward out of the saddle, extending her arms to him appealingly in a charming gesture and, absolutely ignoring the idlers on the wharf and the passengers on the steamer, was singly intent upon the tall figure on the hurricane deck. "Papa, goodby. Please forgive me!"

"By the Almighty, but that's a fine woman!" said the captain of the boat to a passenger from Rouen. "Is she his daughter?"

"Please forgive me!" the clear voice came again, with its quaver of entreaty across the widening water, and then as Mr. Carewe made no sign by word or movement of hearing her and stood without the slightest alteration of his attitude she cried to him once more:

"Goodby!"

The paddle wheels reversed, the boat swung down the river, Mr. Carewe still standing immovable on the hurricane deck, while to the gaze of those on the steamer the figure on the bay colt at the end of the wharf began to grow smaller and smaller. She was waving her handkerchief in farewell, and they could see the little white speck in the distance, dimmer and dimmer, yet fluttering still as they passed out of sight round the bend nearly three-quarters of a mile below.

(Continued in next issue.)

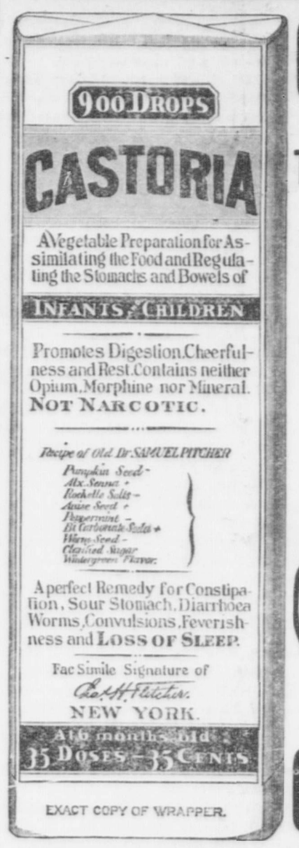

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

They All Agreed.

Pompous Orator—Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen; I have lived long enough—

The Crowd—Hear, hear! Hooray! Quite right!

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Complete Outfits for Married Folks.

Furniture you must have. You can't live without it. The perplexing problem is buying it right. Low suburban rents enable us to save you much from B ston prices.

We furnish your house from cellar to attic even to the smallest details. Special combinations for three, four and five room houses from $100.00 to $300.00.

Time payments for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

COAL

CLEAN COAL.
THAT'S OUR KIND.
C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 19. pl tf

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

AGAINST A CLIFF

Steamer Valencia Strikes Off Vancouver Island

LARGE NUMBER DROWNED

Those Still Aboard Pacific Liner Are Facing Almost Certain Death--Gale Will Render Rescue Very Difficult

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 24.—Steamer Valencia, en route from San Francisco with 94 passengers and a crew of 60, went ashore at midnight Monday off Cape Beale, Vancouver island, during a thick fog, and a large number were drowned when attempting to leave the ship.

The steamer is on the rocks against a high cliff, and is likely to go to pieces at any time. One boat's crew reached Cape Beale after a long struggle, and nine men got ashore near the telegraph hut, about 15 miles from the lighthouse.

There are still about 125 persons on the wreck with almost certain death staring them in the face.

The steamer Queen, which arrived here from San Francisco, landed her passengers and left at once for the scene of the wreck. Urgent messages are being received for assistance.

It is reported that the whaling steamer Orion has arrived at the Valencia wreck from the whaling station at Sechart, seeking to save as many as possible.

The wrecking steamer Salvor has been started from this city to render aid to those who may still be alive on board the Valencia.

The steamer Valencia belongs to the Pacific Coast Steamship company, and sailed from San Francisco on Jan 20 for Puget sound ports with many passengers and a general cargo.

The meteorological station reports that a gale has been in progress on the island coast in the vicinity of the wreck for two days. Reports from the mouth of the Columbia river state that the wind was blowing 50 miles an hour. Off Vancouver island a velocity of 40 miles an hour was reported. A tremendous sea is sweeping in on the rock-bound shore near Cape Beale.

Dowager Empress Still Boss

Pekin, Jan. 24.—Since Prince Tuan's son was dismissed on account of his father's complicity in the "Boxer" disturbances there has been no heir to the throne. The dowager empress, therefore, has ordered all eligible princes to be presented at the palace and from these she will select three or four who will be kept in the palace for a year or two. From these princes the emperor's successor will be nominated.

The Iroquois Theatre Holocaust

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Judge Kavanaugh has overruled the motion made by the attorneys for Will J. Davis to quash the indictments charging involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Iroquois theatre fire. Under the decision Davis will now be compelled to stand trial in the criminal court. Attorneys for Davis declare that they will attempt to secure a change of venue to another county.

New Owners of Trolley Road

Bangor, Me., Jan. 24.—The Bangor and Northern road, formerly the Penobscot Central, a trolley line extending from this city to Charleston, 26 miles, has been sold to the Bangor Railway and Electric company, which now controls all the local and suburban electric lines. It is understood that extensive improvements are to be made on the line. The terms of the sale are not made public.

"Insurgents" Gaining Strength

Washington, Jan. 24.—Thirty-four Republican statehood "insurgents" held a caucus and outlined their fight against the Hamilton bill. This is the largest number of Republican members so far at an anti-joint statehood meeting, and leaders of the fight against the Hamilton bill say it shows their strength is increasing as the fight approaches.

Beri-Beri on Government Tug

Washington, Jan. 24.—News has reached the navy department that two of the Chinese crew of the Caesar, one of the tugs that is towing the drydock Dewey, have died of beri-beri, and that another is ill of it. The Caesar recently returned from the Asiatic station and brought among her crew a number of Chinese.

Bigelow Confirms Resignation

New York, Jan. 24.—Poultney Bigelow last night confirmed the report that he has severed his connection with Boston university. "I felt that I am not just the kind of a man the university needs," he said, "and although nothing has been said to me on the subject, I could see that a resignation would be a good thing."

Auto Racing Record Lowered

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 24.—The world's record for the mile was lowered in the fourth annual Ormond-Daytona automobile tournament by the cigar-shaped steamer driven by Fred Marlott, which made the mile in 32 1-5 seconds.

Boycott on American Cloths

London, Jan. 24.—A dispatch to The Tribune from Penang says that the Chinese drapers' guild has issued a formal notice boycotting all cloths of American manufacture.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *6 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 08
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 04
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 23	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 43 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a	Wollaston,	f	Harrison Square.
b	Norfolk Downs,	g,	Savin Hill.
c	Atlantic,	h,	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset,	i,	South Boston.
e	Pope's Hill.	r,	Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.15 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 5.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6 21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.13 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company
DIVISION 1
TIME TABLE.
In effect Jan. 20, 1906.
(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

* QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.30, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.30, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	75	27	36	38	45
Monday,	66	36	37	47	40
Tuesday,	65	49	24	40	42
Wednesday,	46	43	24	36	30
Thursday,	—	41	20	33	32
Friday,	—	38	17	55	33
Saturday,	—	38	30	20	31

New Advertisements Today.

Consolidated Grocery Store—Square Deal.
Wanted—Meat Cutter.

The City In Brief

Minstrels to-night.

Colder weather is predicted.

More seasonable temperature to-day.

Pansies were picked in a garden on Old Colony street, Atlantic, on Monday.

A concert will be given in Atlantic this week by the blind artists, Mr. John and Miss Mary McCay.

Crocuses were in blossom today at the residence of George W. Morton on Spear street.

A fence is being built on the west side of the railroad track near the Saville street crossing.

The case of James McKinsie Park vs the Quincy Beef Company is on trial in the Superior court at Dedham.

Kappas Saterallis et al secured a favorable verdict in the Superior court on Tuesday in the case brought by Philip Barkas et al of Boston.

Word was received this morning of the death at Ashburnham, Tuesday night, of Mrs. Joseph S. Whall formerly of Greenleaf street, Quincy.

The Consolidated in the Adams building will continue to carry meats and provisions as well as groceries. "Quality" will be their hobby in every line.

Thomas J. Cole is very ill, at the home of his brother William F. V. Cole 58 Idaho street, Dorchester Lower Mills, with a complication of diseasesr.

The many friends of Jeremiah Mahoney, formerly of Atlantic, will regret very much to hear that he is dangerously ill at his home in Dorchester.

Mrs. Rebecca B. Usher, for several years a resident of Spear street, passed away on Tuesday afternoon at the home of her granddaughter Mrs. Joseph Goodwin, of Huntington road, East Milton. She was within a few weeks of being ninety years old.

The Republican committee of Ward Four met on Tuesday evening and organized for the year 1906. The same committee will serve as in 1905. Charles Owens resigned as chairman and J. Leonard Ferguson was elected to that office for the year. James M. Walker was reelected secretary and treasurer.

Board of Health Case Argued

In the Supreme Judicial court on Tuesday the case of the Quincy Board of Health vs the Newell & Snowling Company was argued before Chief Justice Knowlton and Judges Morton, Lothrop, Hammond and Sheldon.

The question seems to hinge on whether the Board of Health or the Metropolitan Park Commissioners have jurisdiction to authorize the erection and useof thisstable which it is claimed is on Commonwealth land.

The Quincy Board of Health sought to restrain the use of the stable, because of the want of a license after a decree dismissing the bill.

The Board of Health was represented by A. E. Pillsbury and George E. Adams, and the company by S. C. Brackett.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

On Monday afternoon, Jan. 29th Miss Edith Randall is to entertain the Junior Friday club at her home on Wibird street. Mrs. Thompson of Wollaston is arranging the literary program, the afternoon's subject being Edward Everett, Rufus Choate and Daniel Webster.

The Pickwick club anticipates a pleasant meeting next week with Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Simmons of Wollaston. It will be a Dickens' evening with Mr. Simmons as chairman.

The Hospital Aid association meets tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at three o'clock in the tea room, at the Women's club house Presidents hill.

The postponed entertainment by Mr. James and Mr. Stutson in the First Church Social club course will be held in the chapel of the church on Friday evening Feb. 2.

A very interesting meeting of the Wollaston Unity Club is assured for Friday evening. Rev. E. W. Hunt will have the meeting in charge. Mr. Kingsbury will speak on "British Columbia and Manitoba," and Mr. Parlin on the "Public Schools" and Mr. Bishop on the "Northwest Territories." The music of the evening has been arranged by Mrs. Charles T. Baker.

All clubs enjoy a frolic in the midst of routine club work and none more so than the Friday club which is to have a Dickens afternoon on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Alden. The club calendar gives as the subject: "The Novels of Charles Dickens" but it is said some well known Dickens characters in flesh and blood are to participate in the afternoon's program.

The Wednesday Morning club of Pittsfield is unique in that it has had the same president for twenty-six years. This is a record which the Quincy Women's club as well as many others, will never attain as there is a time limit of two years' continuous service for the president and officers. Adams Chapter has had the same regent for ten years and other small clubs have also presidents with long years of service.

Several Quincy women have enjoyed the three Shakesperian recitals given this month at hotel Somerset, Boston, by Mr. Marshall Darrach of New York, the last of the series being given Monday. Mr. Darrach's rendering of "Twelfth Night," was thoroughly enjoyable. The attendance was so large many had to stand. It would be a great treat if another season Mr. Darrach could be secured for a recital by the Quincy Women's club.

The Social Science and Literary club of Atlantic is to hold a public parlor meeting Wednesday evening, January 31st, at the residence of Mrs. R. S. Eastman, 357 Hancock street, Norfolk Downs. Mr. Edwin M. White of Boston will speak on the "Merger" bill. The address will be followed by general discussion. All persons interested in this important subject, both ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited to be present.

FIRST CHURCH ALLIANCE.

There was a large attendance on Monday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Alliance. Reports from neighborhood meeting at Brockton and Randolph were given. The Religious Intelligence committee reported from other churches and from the social gatherings held Wednesday afternoons at 25 Beacon street, Boston, to promote friendship and acquaintance among Unitarian people. The president hoped members would avail themselves of the opportunity.

Rev. C. E. Park of Hingham gave an interesting and practical paper on "Unitarianism and the Missionary Spirit." A pleasant social half hour followed in which members were given an opportunity to meet the speaker.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

One of the largest meetings held by the Quincy Women's club was that of Tuesday afternoon, which tested the seating capacity of the club house. The special attraction was a musicale arranged by the music committee, Mrs. Chandler W. Smith chairman, assisted by Miss Alice Gertrude Coe, Mrs. Frank J. Moore, Mrs. Frank A. Page, Miss Edith Randall, Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell and Mrs. Levi H. Turner.

Beside club members there were about fifty guests, among them two club presidents, Mrs. Heckman of Monday club of Weymouth and Mrs. John G. Faxon of the Fitchburg Woman's club.

A fine musical program was given consisting of piano solos by Mrs. Smith; vocal trios by Mrs. Tirrell, Mrs. Moore and Miss Coe, with Mrs. Daisy Bemis Sampson at the piano, and songs by Mrs. John Griffin Faxon. With the exception of Mrs. Faxon all were club members and were cordially greeted and encored. Mrs. Faxon was charming as to personality and as a singer. She has a voice of wide range, sweetness and power showing not only thorough cultivation but an artistic temperament and musical appreciation. Her singing was very much enjoyed as was also her greeting to the Quincy club from the Fitchburg club. The endeavors and success of other clubs is always an encouragement, especially to a new club like the Quincy.

A little informal business was discussed, the president Mrs. Bumpus presiding. It was announced that the year books would be ready for distribution at the club meeting on Feb. 13th, and would contain program of club afternoons, officers, committees, by-laws and full list of members.

The club decided to give a series of card parties, one in the afternoon, and an evening one for men to raise money. The club is free from debt, but owing to the great expense of fitting up the Brackett house suitable for a club home, the reserve fund has been drawn upon, and it was thought best to replace it before entering upon the new club year in May. Subscriptions are to be received by Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick, Miss Abbie Wood, Mrs. George Badger, Miss Margaret L. Thomas, Mrs. F. J. Peirce, Mrs. Roger H. Wilde and Mrs. Chandler W. Smith.

All committees of the club are in good working order, except the Arts and Crafts, and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse had been asked to take it in hand, so that before long this department will be heard from.

Interest in the club continues unabated, and every meeting names are handed in for the waiting list.

The club is indebted to Mr. Harry L. Rice for globes for all the chandeliers and gas jets at the club house. They are a great improvement and the gift is appreciated.

ADAMS CHAPTER, D. R.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution, are to celebrate their tenth anniversary and also their one hundreth meeting by a family party at the birthplace of President John Adams Saturday afternoon and evening. No outside guests have been invited except the officers of the Junior society and Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould a special friend of the chapter since its formation.

The chapter meets at half past three when an oil painting of John Adams will be unveiled. It is to hang in the room in which he was born. The painting was expensive and its purchase was made possible through a very generous addition by Mr. Charles Francis Adams to the fund raised by the chapter for the purchase.

At half past five the chapter is to enjoy an old fashioned supper of baked beans, cold meats, Indian pudding, pies, doughnuts, coffee, etc. Fires in the fireplaces and candles will add their cheerful glow to the festivities. All present and former members are expected to participate in the celebration.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Quinshipaug Women's club of Milford had a musicale last week in the regular club series which was a great success. On Tuesday afternoon Jan. 30, Vesper Lincoln George, who is connected with the Lowell Textile school, is to lecture on "Household Art," which should prove especially interesting and profitable.

Miss Susan Tuckerman of East Milton has been elected president of the Wolcott Relief Corps of Milton, presiding at the meeting held last week. The corps has signed a petition asking the town of Milton at its town meeting in March to appropriate money for the purchase of a flag staff to be erected on the grass plot in front of the Town hall.

On Jan. 26 the Reading Woman's club is to observe gentlemen's night, when Mr. Bradley Gilman is to speak on "How and Why Man Laughs.

The Roxburghe club celebrated its tenth anniversary by a dinner at hotel Westminister, Boston. At its meeting Friday Miss Caroline J. Cook speaks on "Business Training. What it Does for a Women."

At the gentlemen's night of the North Shore club on Tuesday evening the reception was followed by a lecture by Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith on "Old Plantation Days."

Miss Anna Marie Egenhoff is to give a dramatic recital of F. Marion Crawford's "Marietta, a maid of Venice" on January 29th, at Copley hall, Boston, for the New England Women's club.

The Kate Douglas Wiggins afternoon of the Revere Woman's club last week was most enjoyable. A sketch was given of the life of Mrs. Wiggins, followed by readings from her books. Her quaint humor appealed to all and proved one of the most interesting afternoons held by the club.

The Currents Events class of the Philergians of Braintree met with Mrs. A. H. Dow of Middle street, Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. T. Babcock gave a sketch of the history of the Philippine Islands, their present condition and future plans. The different races, their education, natural ability and disabilities by the difficulties involved, were all discussed, and the hour a very interesting one.

Prize Drill Boys' Brigade

A very pleasant evening was passed at the headquarters of B. Co. 3d Regt., U. B. B. A. in Congregational church, Atlantic. The occasion was an entertainment, prize drill and supper tendered by officers and non commission staff of the company to the privates.

Exercises were opened by Rev. J. G. Miller pastor of the church, who is very much interested in the Boys' Brigade. This was followed by a piano solo by Miss Tilton and a song by Boys' Brigade choir.

Addresses were made by Major-General O. E. Perigo of the Brigade Staff, and Col. Cullis of the 3d regiment. Lieut. G. A. Wardwell, Instructor of the Wollaston Company and by Capt. F. M. Chubbuck, instructor of the Atlantic Company.

Other features were songs by Boys' Brigade Choir, bones and piano duet by the Tiltons, mandolin solo by Sergt. Rhodes and piano solo by Priv. Fratus.

The last number on the program was the prize drill for privates in command of Capt. Welch. After a few rounds of the manual of arms the competitors were reduced to two—Private Fratus and Private Sherwin. Private Sherwin won by a few points and was presented with a medal by Lieut. Wardwell in behalf of the non-commissioned officers of the company.

A supper was then enjoyed.

The company is in good condition and there is no reason why B. Company of Atlantic should not be one of the best companies of the Quincy battalion, as their drilling compares very favorably with that of the regular militia companies.

Serious Fall By Carpenter

Wilfred Bennett of Braintree, a carpenter employed by A. O. Sewell at Edison Park, received a bad fall this morning. He was at work on a staging when he stepped on a loose board and fell to the ground, a distance of twenty feet. He landed on his back and received numerous bruises as well as a general shaking up. Dr. Middleton was called and ordered his removal to the City Hospital, where he was taken in one of Bisson's carriages.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Roller Skating.

The races at the Quincy Coliseum are certainly drawing the people. There is lots of excitement there every evening as the contestants are all well known Quincy young men.

Monday evening the first race was for boys under 17 for a gold medal. The competitors, Peter Fontoni vs. Charles Knight, one mile; won by Fontoni time 5 minutes, which equals the best time ever made in the rink.

A second race was for the championship of Quincy between the well known Quincy skater, John Esson vs. John Morrison. This race was very close until the 20th lap when Esson took a bad fall leaving Morrison an easy winner.

Tuesday night's race was a one mile challenge race between George Cushing and Chas. Chartier. Chartier took the lead and held it for four laps when Cushing passed him and the rest was easy for Cushing. Watch the Ledger for further events.

The musical director for the Squantum Yacht club minstrels this evening will be Willis N. Clark; the pianist William W. Chute, and the stage director, John J. Nolan.

DIED.

USHER—In East Milton, Jan. 23, Mrs. Rebecca B., widow of William Usher, formerly of Quincy, aged 89 years, 11 months and 7 days.
Funeral private.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

New Market!
J K Morton,
1259 Hancock Street,
Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products
Fresh Every Day [Direct] From the Factory.
Prices Lowest. Quality Best.
PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'
ARLINGTON HAMS,
BACON and SAUSAGE.
Fresh Fish in Connection.
Telephone 382-3.

Ask Your Own Doctor
If he tells you to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for your severe cough or bronchial trouble, then take it. If he has anything better, then take that. But we know his answer; for doctors have prescribed this medicine for over 60 years.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn. Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

GOOD OPPORTUNITY
TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.
I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc., where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollara Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day,	25 cents
" " three days,	50 cents
" " one week,	75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—A maltese and white bob tail Kitten. Reward if returned to 1621 Hancock street, Quincy. Jan. 22-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Experienced Meat Cutter wanted at the CONSOLIDATED. Apply immediately.
Quincy, Jan. 24. 3t

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

MRS ALIDA OLANDER, 16 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc. 187 1-2 Granite street.
Quincy Jan. 19 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel.
Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—2 large connecting and 2 single Rooms; modern conveniences. Best neighborhood. Handy to cars. Address C, Ledger office. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1458 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x45, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 1-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

Established 1887. Probate Busine
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

Make Known
YOUR WANTS
In Daily Ledger.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Speak Well
OF QUINCY
At All Times.

Vol. 18. No. 22. QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Advertise It. Have You a House To Let? Advertise It.

FOY'S FOR ALL THINGS!

Many people come to Foy's for all good things needed for the daily and Sunday dinner table.

They're secure in the knowledge that no matter what they need, if they buy here, it's sure to be of first quality and lowest price.

Our offerings for Sunday's spread include Native Poultry, Lamb, Mutton, Beef, Pork, Vegetables and Fruit, in most abundant variety.

Also:

Fine Granulated Sugar,	5 cts. lb
Kennedy's Graham Wafers,	3 pkgs. 25c
Condensed Milk,	3 cans 25c
Best Seeded Raisins,	10c. pkg
Cream of Wheat,	13c

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3
Quincy, Jan. 25. tf

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB
MINSTRELS,
WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, JAN. 24 25
Quincy
MUSIC HALL.

Chorus of Thirty-Five.
Six End Men,
Full Orchestra,
Original Songs
and Sketches

Tickets from Members
25c, 50c, 75c.
Curtain, 7.45. Cars, 10.15
Quincy, Jan. 19. 6t

Delicate Children
The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. A sluggish liver gives a coated tongue, bad breath, constipated bowels. Correct all these by giving small doses of Ayer's Pills. Genuine liver pills, gently laxative, all vegetable, sugar-coated.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

COAL
CLEAN COAL.
THAT'S OUR KIND.
C. PATCH & SON.
Jan. 19. pl tf

SERVICE.
Not the kind you have been used to, but OUR service.
You are made to feel that your patronage is appreciated.
Eight separate glass rooms in which to hear and select your PHONOGRAPH RECORDS. Under these new conditions selecting records becomes a pleasure.
We sell every good make record and machine; Edison, Columbia, Disc and Cylinder, Victor, and American Disc. Easy payment on everything we sell if desired.
We are right on your way from the South Terminal Station. Directly opposite the Boston American. Catalogues mailed on request.
THE WINCHELL COMPANY
95 SUMMER STREET—BOSTON.
Jan. 25. 1-tu. th. sat.—po-tf

A Square Deal!
The CONSOLIDATED
Are firm believers in "A SQUARE DEAL," and they are now convinced after a week's trial that the only way they can give their customers a "SQUARE DEAL" is to return to the keeping of a full line of both
MEATS AND PROVISIONS.
Accordingly they have bought from SWIFT & CO. a complete stock of the CHOICEST SELECTION
—OF—
SWIFT'S DRESSED BEEF, etc.,
which is as fine as anything to be seen in Quincy. And the Consolidated can assure their customers that the quality will always be the best the market can supply.
QUALITY
Will be their hobby in every line. Don't forget that they have the most complete line of
HIGH GRADE GROCERIES
in Quincy. And are Agents for KING ARTHUR, JOHN ALDEN, and JONES' SUPERLATIVE FLOUR, HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING, HUNTLEY & PALMER WAFERS, and many other Imported Goods.
Also the FAMOUS STAR BRAND COFFEE, ORANGE PEKOE TEA, etc., etc.
Teams will call for and deliver your orders promptly.
CONSOLIDATED, Adams Building.
Tel. No. 236 A. F. HAYWARD, Manager.
Quincy, Jan. 24. tf

SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB MINSTRELS

"Going Some" But Program Enough for Midnight Show

Probably the Squantum Yacht club did not expect so many encores last night at their minstrel show when they advertised "carriages at 10.15." It was nearly 10 o'clock however, before part one of the program was completed and it was necessary to cut out and abridge many of the good things in part two to even ring down the curtain at 11 o'clock.

The hearty encores, however, showed that the efforts of the soloists were appreciated. For some it was their maiden bow before the public, while others made such good hits with topical verses, etc., that of course the people wanted more. The audience was a very large one, in fact a full house.

Part one of the program was as follows:

Overture,—"A Piping Breeze and Rolling Seas," Willis Clark
Opening Chorus,—Squantum Yacht Club Minstrels.
End Song,—"Nobody," Williams
Frank Harding.
"Squantum Yacht Club Song,"—Willis Clark
Solo by William A. Johnson.
"I Love Thee So," (violin obligato)—Willis Clark
Fenton C. Fowler.
"Show Me the Way to Get Home,"—Murray
Robert A. Crown.
Quartet and Chorus,—"Oh! Susanna," Willis Clark
William A. Johnson, William T. Meek, Fenton C. Fowler, Joseph D. Daley and Chorus.
"Taint the Kind o' Grub I've Been Gittin' Down Home,"—Smith and Brown
John S. Norton.
"The Girl You Leave Behind,"—Powell
Clifford G. Hillier.
"The Whole Dam Family,"—Von Tilzer
William J. Croucher.
Opera Chorus,—"O Hail Us, Ye Free," (from Ernani), Verdi
"Who's There,"—Smith
Joe Daley.
"The Old Man's Song to His Wife,"—Millard
Neil M. Alexander.
"Everywhere,"—
Ward Whitcher.
"Gypsy Love Song,"—Herbert
Edward P. Gaffney.
Grand Finale,—
By Prof. John Fillup Snoozer and his famous (Sub-) Marine Band.

The club is fortunate in having among its members such an able conductor as Mr. Willis Clark. The overture, the club song, and some of the solos were composed by him. The orchestra of ten pieces under his direction added much to the success of the program.

Some were disappointed not to have Commodore Bryant as interlocutor as advertised, but it was reported that he was snowbound in the west, where he went to attend a poultry exhibition. "Genial Jim" Broughton was called into the breech only a few hours before the curtain went up, and without a rehearsal gave great satisfaction as interlocutor. He was a dandy too in his snow white wig, white satin coat and vest, black satin knickerbockers, etc.

The six end men were arrayed in bronze suits with very conspicuous barber pole collars and neckties almost as striking. The chorus with their black faces, yellow coats and vests, and white pants resembled a field of ox-eyed daisies.

On the stage were:

The interlocutor was James H. Broughton.

Bones,—Ward Whitcher, John Norton and Frank Harding.

Tambos,—Joe Daley, Wm. Croucher and Robert Crown.

Gentlemen of the Chorus,—Howard Gannett, John Hildebrand, Fred Maxwell, William Johnson, A. H. Hatch, F. C. Fowler, E. F. Drew, Chas. N. Brown, Cummings Gladding, A. S. Fowler, Clifford Hillier, G. L. Bean, C. N. Kolsted, Ralph Reed, George Coleman, A. H. Briggs, John Burke, Lewis Coles, C. W. Whittaker, Walter Winlock, F. E. Curtin, Perley Cummings, C. B. Atkins, F. C. Fowler, E. P. Gaffney, W. M. Alexander, Peter Malen, W. E. Hammett and John Harrison.

Musical Director,—Prof. Willis Clark.
Stage Director,—John J. Nolan.
Pianist, William W. Chute.

THE MUSICAL DIRECTOR.

THE COMMODORE.

VICE-COMMODORE SAWYER.

THE CLUBHOUSE.

There was considerable snap and life in the opening chorus, the marches and manoeuvres of the end men adding to the number.

Without exception every soloist in part one was recalled, Messrs Crown, Norton, Alexander and Whitcher.

The club song made a hit. The first verse follows, but there were others even better which related to the commodore, the janitor, the house committee and others:

In a certain part of Quincy town,
Way down beside the sea,
Is a yachting club called Squantum,
So its been told to me.
They say they've dandy skippers there,
And lubbers like you and me,
A jolly set now you can bet,
So its been told to me.

CHORUS.

Yo! Yo! A jolly set now you can bet!
Yo! Yo! As ever sailed the sea!
Yo! Yo! A piping breeze and rolling seas!
There's nothing like a ship to gladden you and me!
S-Q-U-A-N-T-U-M!
Squantum, Rah! Rah! Squantum!

The verses of Ward Whitcher were also very clever. One related to Quincy, and her battleship, another to No-License, the chief engineers of the Fire department, race suicide, and one about schoolhouses, which we give below:

"The High school contract Thompson let,
Will make a little more room,
But, Mr. Mayor, don't forget
Ward Six is on the boom;
The babies, dear, are coming fast,
Like rabbits they multiply,
And what we need is four more schools
The size of Quincy High.
Ward Six is on the gain
We need another room
We need another schoolhouse everywhere

There were vegetables and bouquets presented to Messrs. Crown and Daley in appreciation of their services.

The submarine band in the grand finale was something great and should be seen, as words cannot do it justice.

Parts 2 and 3 were not given a fair show, because of the great length of the program, but included some really good specialties, a banjo comique, dancing, sketches, etc. The sympathy of the audience was with the House Committee, who were called upon to entertain two females. It was one of the best things on the program.

Testimonial to James E. McDonnell

Maloati hall presented a gay scene Wednesday evening at the testimonial tendered to James E. McDonnell. Fully one hundred couples were present and the evening proved to be one of rare enjoyment to all. During the first part of the evening there were brief addresses by Representative Edward J. Sandberg, ex-Representative Harry S. Nicol and others. Between the speaking there were musical selections. While the festivities were at their zenith Representative Sandberg presented Mr. McDonnell with a handsome couch. The latter in accepting the gift thanked all heartily. Dancing was then in order and was continued until 2 o'clock in the morning. Refreshments were served at midnight.

—The Portland suspect has been identified by Dr. Eliot of Bridgewater as Minot St. Clair Francis.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price. $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Local Ins And Outs

The last Thursday of the month.

A decided drop in the temperature last night.

If the weather of today continues there may be an opportunity to try those skates received at Christmas.

A snapping cold morning. The ice men, however, say a week of zero weather is what is wanted to make good ice.

St. Stephens Chapter, R. A. M., expects a visitation from the Brockton chapter at its convocation next month.

The crack whist players of the Wollaston club will be the guests of the Granite City club on Friday evening, when they will try conclusions with some of the authorities of the latter club.

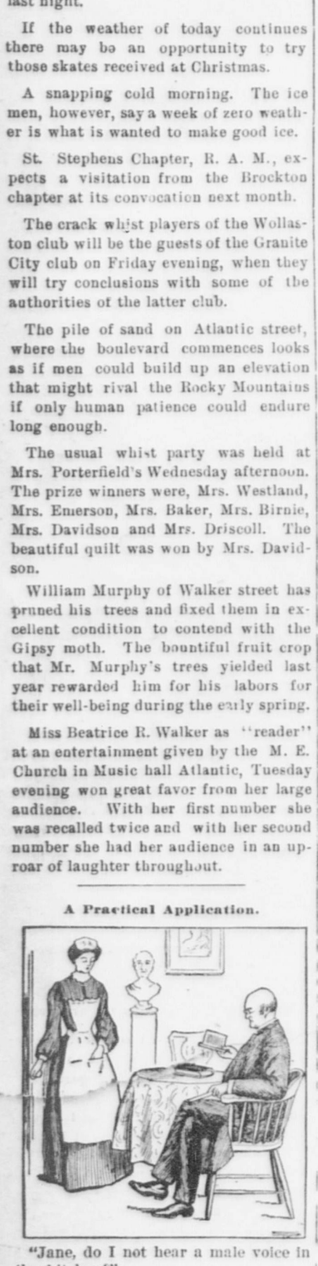

The pile of sand on Atlantic street, where the boulevard commences looks as if men could build up an elevation that might rival the Rocky Mountains if only human patience could endure long enough.

The usual whist party was held at Mrs. Porterfield's Wednesday afternoon. The prize winners were, Mrs. Westland, Mrs. Emerson, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Birnie, Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Driscoll. The beautiful quilt was won by Mrs. Davidson.

William Murphy of Walker street has pruned his trees and fixed them in excellent condition to contend with the Gipsy moth. The bountiful fruit crop that Mr. Murphy's trees yielded last year rewarded him for his labors for their well-being during the early spring.

Miss Beatrice R. Walker as "reader" at an entertainment given by the M. E. Church in Music hall Atlantic, Tuesday evening won great favor from her large audience. With her first number she was recalled twice and with her second number she had her audience in an uproar of laughter throughout.

A Practical Application.

"Jane, do I not hear a male voice in the kitchen?"

"It's only one of my brothers, sir."

"I was not aware you had any brothers, Jane."

"Neither was I until this morning, sir, when you said in your sermon we was all brothers and sisters."—Tatler

Mild Weather Hurts Business

Woonsocket, R. I., Jan. 24.—Notices announcing that the plants will be run only five days a week until further notice have been posted in two mills controlled by the Woonsocket Rubber company, because of the slight call for the product of the company on account of the exceedingly mild and open winter thus far. Other rubber mills in this vicinity are either running on short time or are closed altogether.

Murdered His Friend

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 24.—Andrea Luciano was found guilty of murder in stabbing to death Vincentio Filligo in this city. Sentence will be imposed later. The two Italians were engaged on some of the construction work in the city. They were fast friends until a quarrel on Oct. 31 last. That night Luciano stabbed Filligo twice in the back. The victim died within a short time.

Bad Season For Icemen

Gardiner, Me., Jan. 24.—Under the influence of a high temperature and a heavy fog of several days' duration, the ice in the Kennebec river is rapidly becoming porous and wearing away. It will not require many days' continuation of these conditions to completely ruin the present ice fields. The ice now is from four to seven inches in thickness, according to location.

A FEAR OF LIBEL

All That Kept Certain Articles From Town Topics

DEUEL AS AN EDITOR

Did Not Worry Over Anything That Was Brutal or Indecent --Further Interesting Testimony In the Hapgood Trial

New York, Jan. 25.—The defense in the trial of Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, charged with criminal libel, in publishing a paragraph relating to the connection of City Magistrate Joseph M. Deuel with Town Topics, continued the introduction of testimony as to the methods employed by Town Topics in securing its news matter and gossip, along with the experience of several men of prominence in dealing with publications concerning them in that paper.

Charles S. Wayne, formerly managing editor of Town Topics, was again a witness and testified at length. He said that Recorder Goff and Justice VanBrunt of the appellate division of the supreme court had been criticised in Town Topics while Justice Deuel was connected with the publication.

"You suppressed paragraphs prepared for the printer at the office of Town Topics, because the persons referred to were subscribers to 'Fads and Fancies?'"

"I did," replied Wayne.

In reply to other questions, Wayne identified an article which appeared in Town Topics in 1905 as referring to Harry Lehr. The witness said he composed the article except four lines of it, which were dictated by Justice Deuel, whom the witness had consulted about it. The witness said that he told Deuel that the publication of the item might prevent a lady's marriage and that he consented on that ground.

A copy of Town Topics in which an item about Recorder Goff was printed was shown to the witness, who said that Deuel was on the editorial staff of Town Topics at the time it was printed. He said that Deuel never objected to the publication of any article on the ground that it was brutal or indecent, but on legal grounds from fear of libel.

"Who wrote the articles that caused 'Billy' Travers to commit suicide?" asked District Attorney Jerome, for the prosecution.

"Rowe, the Newport correspondent," the witness replied.

Robert R. Rowe, who gave his occupation as Newport correspondent of Town Topics, later was called to the stand. He said he had been a telegraph operator at Newport and admitted he had given the information secured by means of his connection with the telegraph company to Town Topics. He said also that he had disguised himself as a violin player in order to get into the Duchess of Marlborough's ball at Newport to report it for Town Topics.

Harry S. Lehr testified that Town Topics had been printing articles about him ever since he came to New York eight years ago. Subsequent to his marriage in 1901, Lehr said he went to see Colonel Mann at his office and asked him to leave his name out of Town Topics, explaining that the attacks in the paper were extremely distasteful to himself and to his wife.

"He promised to do so," said Lehr, "saying he had no ill-feeling toward me, and suggested that I ought to consider myself complimented at the fact that Town Topics printed notices about me." Lehr said the following summer he subscribed to "Fads and Fancies."

"After Colonel Mann promised to let up on you, did he do it?"

"He did."

"When you saw Colonel Mann what did you say to him?" asked Jerome.

"I told the colonel that after these attacks on me in Town Topics I felt very badly about them and was ashamed to go among my friends."

"Why did you not sue him?"

"They were not serious enough for that."

"Why did you not thrash him?"

"It never occurred to me to thrash Colonel Mann."

Here Osborne said he was astonished to hear the district attorney advocating the thrashing of a man. He said it was a crime to thrash anybody.

Mr. Jerome then called George C. Webb, who said he had never been blackmailed by Town Topics and had never paid any consideration for any articles appearing in it.

Mr. Osborne asked: "Did you not go to see Colonel Mann because you had been badly treated?"

"I did."

"What did he say?"

"He said that as I was a public man I had the right to expect to be written up, but that if I objected to the articles he would have them stopped. No articles appeared adverse to me for some time afterward. When these did appear I saw Colonel Mann as an ex-officer of the United States army. Nothing appeared then until 1904; in the summer an article was published in Town Topics which caused me to leave Bar Harbor."

"Did you make any physical threats against the colonel?" asked Jerome.

"I told him my back was against the wall and that I would not stand for any more of those articles."

The case will be continued today, when it is expected the defense will close.

PROSECUTION USELESS

District Attorney Drops Cases Against Boston Breweries

Boston, Jan. 25.—District Attorney Moran has nol prossed the indictments found by the September grand jury against the Massachusetts Breweries company, the Harvard Brewing company, Frank H. Adams and John Drewson, charging them with selling beer or ale containing "a certain added antiseptic substance, namely, a compound of hydrofluoric acid," without having the bottles in which the liquor was sold properly labelled.

The district attorney took his action at the suggestion of Dr. Harrington of the state board of health.

The defendants' lawyers and Harrington met in the office of the district attorney and Harrington, for the state board, stated that in the samples taken from the various concerns fluorine was found, but he said that traces of the same substance were found in the barley used in the manufacture of beer.

Mr. Moran said that it would be impossible for the government to present a case that the judge would allow to go to the jury and that further prosecution would be useless.

The indictment against the A. G. Van Nostrand company was not nol prossed, as it is claimed that the beverage sold by that company contained salicylic acid and the board says that this acid is not present in any of the component parts of the beer or ale.

Ice Companies Not Worrying

Boston, Jan. 25.—This has been a poor season for ice cutting. Lakes in this vicinity have not remained frozen long enough for the formation of suitable ice, so that some companies have done no cutting at all this year. What effect this will have upon the supply next summer is a little beyond valuable calculations at this time, however, because February usually is the best month for cutting, and the companies are not deeply concerned over the prospects at the present time.

Floating Zoo From Far East

Boston, Jan. 25.—With the youngest orang-outang that ever crossed the seas, with monster pythons and ferocious animals of the jungles of the Malay archipelago aboard, steamer Indrasamha, Captain Craven, docked yesterday at Mystic wharf. As motley a crew as is rarely seen in Massachusetts bay manned the steamer, for swarming the sides were Malays, Japanese, Chinese, Hindoos and several nationalities of whites, numbering all told 61 men.

Baby Killed by Elevator

Boston, Jan. 25.—Its tiny head caught beneath the floor of a rapidly moving elevator and the sill of an elevator door, William H. Daly, the 14-months-old son of Mrs. Mary Daly of the Hotel Baldwin, met a horrible fate by its mother losing control of an elevator at that place last evening. Jolted from its baby carriage, the infant fell in the doorway of the car, and the next instant had its neck broken and skull crushed beneath the gaze of its mother.

Boston Shows Great Growth

Boston, Jan. 25.—The population of Boston for 1905 was 595,380, an increase over the figures for 1895 of about 100,000, according to the latest census bulletin issued by Charles F. Pidgin of the state bureau of statistics. In 1905 the population of Massachusetts was 3,003,680, as against 2,500,183 in 1895. The total excess of females in the state is 80,502, of which number 50,938 were born here and 29,564 born in foreign lands.

Shoe Manufacturers' Ideas

Boston, Jan. 25.—At a meeting of 100 members of the New England Shoe Manufacturers' association in the Shoe and Leather Exchange it was decided that it was absolutely necessary either to use inferior material in shoes or to increase the price, and that the only remedy for the leather situation was to expose the tactics of the "beer, hide and leather trusts" in an effort to arouse the public to demand free hides.

Was Advised to Resign

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 25.—Robert R. Topham, the clerk of the board of assessors, has not been at his office since Tuesday morning, and the assessors do not know his whereabouts or the reason of his absence. Since Mayor Thompson began his campaign against Topham several persons have advised him to resign and leave town.

Hugged Girl Against Her Will

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 25.—Josef Krzynowek, a Pole, was fined $5 and directed to pay Miss Cholek $1 for attempting to hug her while both were at work in a local mill. Judge Sanford further warned Krzynowek if he did not refrain from his unwelcome attentions to Miss Cholek he would be sent to jail.

Thaw Hinders Railroad Traffic

Franklin, N. H., Jan. 25.—The ice in Pemigewasset river broke up under the spell of the warm wave, and the formation of jams in gorges at various points caused conditions approaching those of the freshet season. Railroad traffic was held up in some places owing to the depth of water on the tracks.

Death In Midnight Fire

Boston, Jan. 25.—As the result of a fire on Fifth street, South Boston, about midnight, William Carey was suffocated and seven families, numbering some 40 people in all, were driven in panic into the street. Several were rescued only through the heroism of police and firemen.

Life Sentence For Murder

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 25.—Andrea Luciano of this city, who was found guilty of the murder of Vincenzo Fillipo here, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Crosby in the superior court.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 17,

C. H. BROOKS'

NEW MARKET.

No. 1375 Hancock Street.

Nothing but the very best of everything will be included in the stock of this thoroughly up-to-date Market.

Quincy, Jan. 16. tf

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Mortgages, Insurance.

MAKE THIS

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

By the Purchase of a Home.

Deeds Drawn. Titles Searched.

E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.

Jan. 1. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

The Greenleaf

A Select Family Hotel

First Class Steam Heat, Baths on each floor.

Catering for Clubs and Parties Dinners and Suppers.

Also Hancock Hotel

NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.

Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.

Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.

Good Table. Mod rate Rates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO., Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy. Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc. Experienced and careful men only. Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street. Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

HOPE ABANDONED

Those Aboard the Valencia Are Probably Lost

NUMBERED ABOUT 140

Latest Story Is That Wreck Has Gone to Pieces--But Fifteen Persons Known to Have Been Saved From Watery Grave

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 25.—Although the latest news from the wreck of the Valencia is conflicting, it is probable that 140 lives were lost, while only 15 persons were saved. A late report from the steamship Queen that 25 passengers were clinging to the vessel's rigging with little chance of saving any of them was followed by a still later story that the wreck had gone to pieces. As only 15 survivors have been heard from so far, it is probable that the loss of life will reach 140.

A press correspondent on board the steamer Salvor has wired from Bamfield as follows:

"The steamer Valencia was located by the steamer Queen 9 a. m. Wednesday on Point Klanaway, about five miles from Cape Beale. The tug Czar went in to investigate and reported that the steamer was ashore, stern first, with her decks swept clear, with the exception of a small part of the house, and her two masts standing. In the rigging of the foremast was what the captain of the Czar took to be a signal, although he was unable to say whether it was a piece of sail or a human being clinging to the rigging.

"The steamer Salvor stood in for about two miles, but was unable to go any further, as a heavy sea and a westerly gale was blowing, making it highly dangerous, if not impossible, to make a closer approach.

"The Czar was within three quarters of a mile from the wreck, but could go no further toward the Valencia, and after making as complete an examination as possible, she returned to the Queen and Salvor. The latter steamer and the tug then left for Bamfield creek, the Queen standing by her companion liner. When the Salvor left the scene there was a heavy swell from the southwest and rain was falling in torrents.

"The Queen reported having heard three gunshots shortly before the arrival of the Salvor, but nothing of any living person was to be seen.

"Advices from Cape Beale say that 15 men have arrived, one of whom is the boatswain, the others being sailors. They reported a passenger list of 94 and a crew of 60 and said that when they left the wreck Wednesday morning there were about 100 persons on board, a large percentage of whom were women and children who were on the quarterdeck. Two boats were smashed alongside and all the occupants drowned.

"The Valencia left San Francisco about 11 o'clock on Saturday last and heard no sound and saw no light presaging danger. The officers were running by dead reckoning and were on the outlook for Umatilla reef lightship when the steamer struck. She was backed off after she struck, but the water filled the engine room, the fires were extinguished, and the engine crew forced out of the room, although not before the Valencia had been driven hard on the beach. Among the survivors were the boat's crew that was sent for assistance, the members of which are still at Cape Beale.

"Lineman Logan, Lightkeeper Daykin of Carman and J. Martin all went to the wreck by land Thursday morning at 4 o'clock, taking ropes, and prepared to render whatever assistance possible."

Chinese Visitors at White House

Washington, Jan. 25.—China's imperial commission, sent to the United States to study American conditions—social, educational and industrial—was received formally by President Roosevelt at the White House. Tai Hung Chi, one of the most eminent scholars in the Chinese empire, addressed the president and presented an autograph letter from the Emperor of China, the president making a happy response.

Wheeler at Death's Door

New York, Jan. 25.—General Wheeler, who is ill with pneumonia, is in such a critical condition that the members of his family have almost abandoned hope and his death is not unlooked for. Gathered at his bedside are all the children, Major Joseph Wheeler, Jr., Mrs. W. J. Harris and the Misses Anna, Lucille and Carrie Wheeler.

Extraordinary Auto Records

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 25.—In the second day's races in the automobile tournament the record of 3:17 for five miles was reduced by Mariott in the little steamer to 2:47 1-5. In the heavyweight class Lancia went over the course in 2:54 3-5, Fletcher in 3:02 and Earp, in the contest of gasoline cars only, in 2:56.

Devastation by Fire

Melbourne, Jan. 25.—Bush fires are raging throughout Victoria and great stretches of the country have been devastated. A wall of fire 100 feet high passed with appalling swiftness over Mount Fatigue, killing at least 15 persons.

Mine Disaster In Indian Territory

Poteau, I. T., Jan. 25.—News has been received of an explosion in a mine at Witteville, and it is said that 16 miners are entombed.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER

Interior and Exterior Painting.

Ceiling work a specialty.

WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.

23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.

Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

C. H. HARDWICK,

Counsellor at Law,

Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy. Opposite Fountain, City Square.

Business Consultations. Settlement and Care Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.

Justice of the Peace.

Mortgages and Conveyances.

Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

QUINCY

New Employment Office

At Brewer's Corner.

DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.

Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.

Hours. 8 A. M —6 P. M.

Jan 11. 1m

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.

With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,

534-539 Tremont Building, Boston

Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.

Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.

See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.

Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages Auctioneer and Appraiser.

Notary Public. Constable.

Rents and Bills Collected.

Care of Estates a Specialty.

1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13

Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6

Quincy, March 30.

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS

Sold at very low prices

MISS D. LITCHMAN,

330 Water Street, South Quincy,

Jan. 4. tf

GOOD OPPORTUNITY

TO OWN A HOME on very easy payments.

I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.

Call and see me about them.

C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.

Jan. 22. 6t

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor,

21 Adams Building, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 105-3.

June 1. 1y

Sheriff's Sale.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. Quincy, Dec. 16, 1905.

SEIZED on execution and will be sold at public auction on SATURDAY, the 27th day of January, 1906, at 9 30 o'clock A. M., at my residence, No. 163 Franklin Street, in Quincy, said County, all the right, title and interest which Frank P. Alexander of Brockton, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 16th day of December, 1905, at 9 o'clock A. M., (being the time the same was seized on execution) in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Quincy, comprising lot No. 160, in section "3" as shown on "plan of sea shore lots at Houghs Neck, Quincy, Mass., 1901, owned by Manet Land Association, H. T. Whitman, surveyor," recorded with Norfolk Deeds.

Said land is bounded on the North by Charles Street, there measuring 70 feet; on the South by lot No. 163 there measuring 50 feet; on the West by lot No. 161, there measuring 100 feet; and on the East by lot No. 159, there measuring 100 feet.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Deputy Sheriff.

Jan. 11. 3t-11-18-25

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners.

Boston, January 19, 1906.

ON the petition of the Citizens Gas Light Company of Quincy for approval of an issue of new capital stock of the par value of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) for the purpose of paying outstanding liabilities and those hereafter to be incurred for additions and extensions to its plant and property, the Board will give a hearing to the parties in interest at its office, Room 145, State House, Boston, on Tuesday, the sixth day of February next, at ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon.

And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by publication hereof in the "Quincy Daily Ledger," a newspaper published in the city of Quincy, twice each week for two successive weeks prior to said time of hearing.

By order of the Board.

R. G. TOBEY, Clerk.

A true copy, Attest:

R. G. TOBEY, Clerk.

Jan. 23. 2w -tu., th.

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up

Opposite Grand Central Station New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mille. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
A Check good for one 10c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order.
First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point, Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tu

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER IX.

BETTY never forgot her first sight of the old friend of her family. Returning with a sad heart, she was walking the colt slowly through the carriage gates when an extravagantly stout lady in green muslin, illustrated with huge red flowers, came out upon the porch and waved a fat arm to the girl. The visitor wore a dark green turban and a cashmere shawl, while the expanse of her skirts was nothing short of magnificent. Some cathedral dome seemed to have been misplaced and the lady dropped into it. Her outstretched hand terrified Betty. How was she to approach near enough to take it?

Mrs. Tanberry was about sixty, looked forty, and at first you might have guessed she weighed nearly 300, but the lightness of her smile and the actual buoyancy which she somehow imparted to her whole dominion lessened that by at least a hundredweight. She ballooned out to the horse block with a billowy rush somewhere between bounding and soaring, and Miss Betty slid down from the colt, who shied violently, to find herself enveloped, in spite of the dome, in a vast surf of green and red muslin.

"My charming girl!" exclaimed the lady vehemently in a voice of such husky richness, of such merriment and unction of delight, that it fell upon Miss Betty's ear with more of the quality of sheer gayety than any she had ever heard. "Beautiful child! What a beautiful child you are!"

She kissed the girl resoundingly on both cheeks, stepped back from her and laughed and clapped her fat hands, which were covered with flashing rings. "Oh, but you are a true blue beauty! You're a princess! I am Mrs. Tanberry, Jane Tanberry, young Janie Tanberry. I haven't seen you since you were a baby and your pretty mother was a girl like us!"

"You are so kind to come," said Betty hesitatingly. "I shall try to be very obedient."

"Obedient!" Mrs. Tanberry uttered the word with a shriek. "You'll be nothing of the kind. I am the light mindedest woman in the universe, and any one who obeyed me would be embroiled in everlasting trouble every second in the day. You'll find that I am the one that needs looking after, my charmer."

She tapped Miss Betty's cheek with her jeweled fingers as the two mounted the veranda steps. "It will be worry enough for you to obey yourself. A body sees that at the first blush. You have conscience in your forehead and rebellion in your chin. Ha, ha, ha!" Here Mrs. Tanberry sat upon and obliterated a large chair, Miss Carewe taking a stool at her knee.

"People of our age oughtn't to be bothered with obeying. There'll be time enough for that when we get old and can't enjoy anything. Ha, ha!"

Mrs. Tanberry punctuated her observations with short volleys of husky laughter, so abrupt in both discharge and cessation that, until Miss Betty became accustomed to the habit, she was apt to start slightly at each salvo. "I had a husband—once," the lady resumed, "but only once, my friend! He had ideas like your father's—your father is such an imbecile—and he thought that wives, sisters, daughters and such like ought to be obedient—that is, the rest of the world was wrong unless it was right, and right was just his own little teeny squeeny prejudices and emotions dressed up for a crazy masquerade as facts. Poor man! He lasted only about a year!" And Mrs. Tanberry laughed heartily.

"They've been at me time and again to take another." She lowered her voice and leaned toward Betty confidentially. "Not I! I'd be willing to engage myself to Crailey Gray (though Crailey hasn't got round to me yet), for I don't mind just being engaged, my dear, but they'll have to invent something better than a man before I marry any one of 'em again! But I love 'em, I do, the charming Billies! And you'll see how they follow me!" She patted the girl's shoulder, her small eyes beaming quizzically. "We'll have the gayest house in Rouen, ladybird! The young men all go to the Bareauds', but they'll come here now, and we'll have the Bareauds along with 'em. I've been away a long time; just finished unpacking yesterday night when your father came in after the fire. Whoo! What a state he was in, with that temper of his! Didn't I snap him up when he asked me to come and stay with you? Ha, ha! I'd have come even if you hadn't been beautiful, but I was wild to be your playmate, for I'd heard nothing but 'Miss Betty Carewe, Miss Betty Carewe,' from everybody I saw since the minute my stage came in. You set 'em all mad at your ball, and I knew we'd make a glorious houseful, you and I! Some of the vagabonds will turn up this very evening, you'll see if they don't. Ha, ha! The way they follow me!"

"My charming girl!"

Mrs. Tanberry was irresistible. She filled the whole place otherwise than by the mere material voluminousness of her, bubbling over with froth of nonsense which flew through the house, driven by her energy, like sea foam on a spring gale, and the day, so discordantly begun for Miss Betty, grew musical with her own laughter, answering the husky staccato of the vivacious newcomer. Nelson waited upon them at table, radiant, his smile like the keyboard of an ebony piano, and his disappearances into the kitchen were accomplished by means of a surreptitious double shuffle and followed by the cachinnating echoes of the vain Mamie's reception of the visitor's sallies, which Nelson hastily retailed in passing.

Nor was Mrs. Tanberry's prediction allowed to go unfulfilled regarding the advent of those persons whom she had designated as vagabonds. It may have been out of deference to Mr. Carewe's sense of decorum or from a cautious regard of what he was liable to do when he considered that sense outraged that the gallants of Rouen had placed themselves under the severe restraint of allowing three days to elapse after their introduction to Miss Carewe before they "paid their respects at the house;" but, be that as it may, the dictator was now safely under way down the Rouen river, and Mrs. Tanberry reigned in his stead. Thus, at about 8 o'clock that evening, the two ladies sat in the library engaged in conversation, though, for the sake of accuracy, it should be said that Mrs. Tanberry was engaged in conversation, Miss Betty in giving ear, when their attention was arrested by sounds of a somewhat musical nature from the lawn, which sounds were immediately identified as emanating from a flute and violin.

Mrs. Tanberry bounded across the room like a public building caught by a cyclone, and, dashing at the candles, "Blow 'em out, blow 'em out!" she exclaimed, suiting the action to the word in a fluster of excitement.

"Why?" asked Miss Carewe, startled, as she rose to her feet. The candles were out before the question.

"Why!" repeated the merry, husky voice in the darkness. "My goodness, child precious, those vagabonds are here! To think of your never having been serenaded before!"

She drew the girl to the window and pointed to a group of dim figures near the lilac bushes. "The dear, delightful vagabonds!" she chuckled. "I knew they'd come! It's the beautiful Tappingham Marsh with his fiddle and young Jeff Bareaud with his flute and 'Gene Madrillon and little Frank Chenoweth and thin Will Cummings to sing. Hark to the rascals!"

(Continued in next issue.)

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

PAGE MURDER SUSPECT

Woman Says Her Husband Was Accomplice In the Crime

New York, Jan. 25.—A woman who caused the arrest of her husband in Brooklyn last night on a charge of assault declared to the police that the man was an accomplice in the murder of Mabel Page at Weston, Mass. While not placing too great faith in the story, the Brooklyn police have communicated with the Massachusetts authorities and will hold the prisoner until they learn from them whether or not they desire to come on here to question the man.

The man accused by his wife gave the name of John MacIsaacs. Mrs. McIsaacs declares that at about the time of the Page murder and prior to her marriage to him, MacIsaacs was employed as a barber at the Plaza hotel, Boston, where he was known as J. L. Morton. When the woman told her story to Captain Haikins, head of the Brooklyn detective office, he took her before her husband and questioned them both closely. He said subsequently that the man denied the story emphatically, but that he thought it worth while to further investigate the case. Charles Tucker was convicted for the murder of Miss Page.

The McIsaacs Knew Tucker

Boston, Jan. 25.—John MacIsaacs, who was arrested in Brooklyn, was formerly employed at the barber shop of the Hotel Plaza in this city. During the trial of Tucker the name J. L. Morton played an important part. Neither the prosecution nor the defense were able, however, to locate any J. L. Morton up to the time of the trial.

Mrs. MacIsaacs is the daughter of William T. Brooks of 187 Brooks street, East Boston. The couple left Boston some time ago. Mr. Brooks, the father of Mrs. MacIsaacs, stated that his daughter and her husband were well acquainted with Tucker.

In Court For Twenty Years

Buffalo, Jan. 25.—Judge Hazel yesterday handed down a decision in a suit that was started in 1876. The principal defendant in the action was Jay Gould, who was accused in the bill of complaint of stealing the patents invented by Thomas A. Edison for the more rapid transmission of telegraphic communication. The decision is adverse to the Gould interests. The amount involved is problematical. An accounting has been ordered.

Chinamen In Mortal Combat

New York, Jan. 25.—A score of Chinamen engaged in a revolver battle in the streets of Chinatown, which resulted in the death of two Chinamen, the mortal wounding of a third and the serious injury of a fourth combatant. The battle was between members of the two rival Chinese societies the Hip Sings and the On Leongs. When the battle ended four Chinamen lay dead or unconscious in the street and seven Chinamen were prisoners.

Brave Girl Saves a Life

Warren, Mass., Jan. 25.—By running in front of an electric car going at high speed down West Main street hill, Catherine Mosso, aged 14, saved the life of Mildred Ruddy, aged 6, and barely escaped being run over. The front end of the car barely struck her as she stumbled from the tracks with the little girl in her arms.

Revolutionists to Take a Rest

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—An important conference of the revolutionary organizations was concluded yesterday in Finland after several sessions. It was decided to postpone all further revolutionary operations until March, when, it was hoped by the delegates, the agrarian troubles would recommence.

Warm Weather "Down East"

St. John, Jan. 25.—The mild weather of the past few days has cleared the St. John river of ice for a distance of 20 miles from this city. An excursion party boarded a tug which went upstream the entire distance. Such an excursion on the river in January has not been possible since 1892.

Fifty Thousand Viewed Body

Montreal, Jan. 25.—The body of Raymond Prefontaine, the late Canadian minister of marine and fisheries, who died suddenly in Paris, lay in state all day yesterday at city hall. It is estimated that 50,000 people passed before the body during the day. The funeral occurred today.

Copper Mill For Pittsburg

Pittsburg, Jan. 25.—The Atlas Brass and Copper company has been formed with $6,000,000 capital and will build a plant at once. James Hay is president. This will be the first copper mill in Pittsburg, where vast amounts are consumed. Tubing will be the principal production.

Kentucky Mines Caved In

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 25.—The Bellewood mines, near here, caved in, instantly killing William Burnett, the proprietor, and Edward Pierce and Herbert Waldon, his guests, who were inspecting the mines. There were no miners in the mine at the time of the cave-in.

Sanitarium For Catchings

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—Benjamin S. Catchings, who was taken into custody here for annoying President Roosevelt and others by sending them letters urging them to become members of the "Civic Cadets of America," has been placed in a private sanitarium.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Jan. 26.
Sun rises—7:04; sets—4:50.
Moon sets—7:07 p. m.
High water—12 a. m.; 12:30 p. m.
Fair weather is indicated for New England.

CLAIM OF FRANCE

Entitled to Special Privileges In Morocco

IS OPPOSED BY GERMANY

Latter Wants the Country Controlled by Semi-Military Body --Italy Hesitates to Line Up as Favoring Either Nation

Algeciras, Jan. 25.—The confidential exchanges now going on among the representatives of the powers in the Moroccan conference disclose the extreme difficulty of arranging an agreement that both France and Germany would accept.

The German delegates put forward the attractive principle of disinterestedness and equal privileges for all countries. The French delegates, on the other hand, maintain that France cannot be disinterested. They affirm that, having followed an active policy in Morocco for eight years and having obtained numerous advantages, France should not now be asked to take the same position as all the rest of the world.

France virtually enunciates, in a modified form, the principle of the Monroe doctrine in Northwest Africa. She has acquired and holds a position toward Morocco that, according to her view, makes equal political influence with other powers impossible. On the question of economic equality she says "Yes," but on that of political equality she answers "No."

Germany insists on political equality with even more tenacity than she does on the question of economic equality.

The real struggle, however, is over the political future of Morocco. France would rather withdraw from the conference than tie up the political destiny of Morocco by international control. While this is not an authoritative official utterance, it unmistakably represents the feeling of the French delegation. France refuses to be excluded from what she holds to be the legitimated expansion of her influence in northern Africa.

The French delegates appear to realize that the current of the conference is against them, because neutral powers such as the United States lean toward the idea of disinterested equality rather than toward France's special geographical and historical paramountcy.

France therefore may strive for a negative result, so far as political questions go, accepting fully a commercial equality and joining in the effort to reach just economic conclusions, but resisting suggestions for the internationalism of any of the public services of Morocco.

Germany will press for the internationalization of the police. It should be understood that this question of police does not refer to the ordinary force for the maintenance of local order, but, in the larger sense, to the semi-military body which is to exercise a powerful general control.

France still counts upon Great Britain, Russia, Spain and Portugal, but her earliest hopes that the United States would be with her are beginning to diminish. Germany believes that her view as to international control has been accepted in principle by the United States, Austria and Sweden.

The position of Italy is one of uncommon perplexity. Italy naturally inclines toward equality of privileges, and besides she is the ally of Germany; yet, according to her secret agreement with France in 1902, Italy gave up to the latter country all her claims in Morocco. France expects Italy in consequence of this agreement to side with her, but Italy hesitates.

Belgium is non-committal, through fear that either France or Germany will raise the Congo question to an international issue after the conference, if either should consider itself offended.

The foregoing tendencies are the outgrowth of constant private meetings of the delegates. The British villa is one of the centres for these meetings and the French and American delegates are frequent visitors there. The American delegates have also conferred with the Germans and French. Their discussions with the French delegates Tuesday and yesterday were prolonged and earnest.

Libel Charge Against Syrian

Torrington, Conn., Jan. 25.—Kaisar Koury, a young Syrian, was arrested here on a charge of criminal libel. It is alleged that Koury has been getting out a small weekly paper in Syrian and that he has been sending letters to prominent Syrians in New York, telling them that if they did not subscribe to his paper he would publish uncomplimentary things about them.

Wanted by Russian Authorities

New York, Jan. 25.—Felix Gaidsis, a distinguished looking Russian, who was a cabin passenger on the steamer Moltke, was arrested on the steamer's arrival here from Hamburg, the arrest being made at the instance of the secret police of St. Petersburg. A charge of embezzlement was made but it is said by friends that Gaidsis is wanted in Russia for political reasons.

Sixteen More For Liberals

London, Jan. 25.—The latest election returns show that the Liberals have gained 16 more seats and that the Laborites have three additional seats to their credit. The totals now are: Liberals, 311; Unionists, 139; Nationalists, 81; Laborites, 47.

JOINT STATEHOOD

"In urgents" Fail In Attempt to Overturn the Administration

Washington, Jan. 25.—When the smoke of the liveliest legislative battle of the session had cleared in the house Speaker Cannon and his organization were in complete control and the joint statehood program of the administration had been adopted. Forty-three Republican "insurgents" went down to defeat, having voted vainly with the Democrats to gain control of the rule, the terms of which are to govern the statehood bill in its passage through the house.

The vote ordering the previous question on the rule was 192 ayes and 165 nays. This clearly defeated the opposition, the full strength of which was polled, and little interest was taken on the vote for the adoption of the rule, which immediately followed and was carried by a majority of 30.

The rule adopted provided that the bill granting statehood to Oklahoma and the Indian Territory as "Oklahoma," and Arizona and New Mexico as "Arizona" should be debated until 3 o'clock today and then voted on without opportunity for amendment. After the rule had been adopted general debate proceeded on the measure until 5:15 o'clock, but because of the foregone conclusion, made clear by the vote on the rule, the debate lost practically all of its interest.

Mr. Lodge presented in the senate his views on the policy of the administration in the matter of the Algeciras conference over Morocco and also with reference to Santo Domingo. He defended the course of the president in both instances, contending that our representation at the Moroccan conference was essential to the protection of American commercial interests and that only by the course pursued in Santo Domingo could foreign nations have been prevented from seizing the customs houses of that country and securing a position there which might threaten the approaches to the Panama canal.

Murderous Work by Raisuli

Tangier, Jan. 25.—The Anjera tribes sent three notables to Fez to offer presents to the sultan. After leaving Fez they were not heard from and their bodies have just been found in the territory of the bandit Raisuli. The Anjeras accuse Raisuli of assassinating the notables in order to obtain the letters they were carrying. Representatives of the tribe came to Tangier to demand justice, but as they could not get satisfaction the tribesmen are likely to immediately attack Raisuli, who is ensconced in a fortress.

Isle of Pines Goes to Cuba

Washington, Jan. 25.—The treaty under which the United States relinquishes to Cuba all claim or title to the Isle of Pines, which has been pending since Nov. 11, 1903, has been ordered reported by a majority of the senate committee on foreign relations. The treaty provides that the title to the island shall be relinquished to Cuba in consideration of the grants of coaling and naval stations in Cuba heretofore made by the Cuban government to the United States.

For Preservation of Niagara

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—The international waterways commission has submitted an interim report to the minister of public works, one of the principal points in it being the preservation of Niagara Falls. There is no doubt that the government will agree to the view of the commission and minister, which is that Canada should co-operate with the United States so as to save the falls from destruction by the power companies.

Roosevelt Against Third Term

Washington, Jan. 25.—The closest friends of President Roosevelt know that he will not be a candidate for a third term. Not only will he not again be a candidate for the presidential nomination, but he will not accept the nomination if it is offered to him. After his declaration on the night of his election the president feels that no authoritative announcement of his position is necessary.

A Bloodthirsty Crowd

Washington, Pa., Jan.—While officers were hunting for alleged leaders of the desperate anarchist gang discovered to be in existence at Baird, a meeting of the members of the society was held in the saloon of John Eckert at Courtney, at which impassioned speeches were made, urging the members of the society to resist arrest and conceal their fellow-members wherever possible.

Armored Trains Necessary

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—In preparation for possible trouble on the railroads, the government has equipped an armored train for the accommodation of artillery and machine guns. This train is kept in constant readiness there and similar trains are in course of equipment in other cities.

Another Revolution In Ecuador

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Jan. 25.—Colonel Costales has started an uprising against General Alfaro's government. A commission of rebel conservatives is soon expected here to enter into peace negotiations with the Alfaro party.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Bay State Card and Paper company of Boston has made an assignment. No statement of assets and liabilities has been prepared.

Head Coach Coburn of the Harvard baseball nine announces that Harvard will have no professional coaching this year.

The Belgian chamber of representatives passed the government measure for the fortification of Antwerp by a vote of 82 to 77.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	3 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 40	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdefg	8 28	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 24	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 25	fedcba	10 50 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 06	ihgfedcba	11 10 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 50*
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cbA	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 46	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adam.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.15 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.15 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.13 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Jan 20, 1906.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston. Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5, 5.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store. 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. Lamb's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	75	27	36	38	45
Monday,	66	36	37	47	40
Tuesday,	65	49	24	40	42
Wednesday,	46	43	24	36	30
Thursday,	29	41	20	33	32
Friday,	—	38	17	55	33
Saturday,	—	38	20	20	31

New Advertisements Today.

Witchell Company—Phonograph Records.
R. E. Foy & Co.—All Things for dinner table.
Means Ear Phone Co.
To Let—Rooms.

The City In Brief

Minstrels again to-night.

Mr. Murray has purchased the Mitchell estate on Quincy avenue.

Dr. Underwood has closed his office on Washington street, Quincy Point.

Twenty degree temperature at sunrise and below the freezing point all day.

Seventeen men are now employed in excavating for the High school enlargement.

Mrs. James Gillespie, formerly of Quincy Neck, died recently at her late home in Spokane, Washington.

Fred Smith of Baxter avenue has accepted a position in the pattern shop at the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

One of our local physicians was called to Maine this week to peform an operation upon a former patient.

Mrs. Alonzo H. Flood of Neponset, a daughter of the late Charles Curtis of Quincy died this morning in her 56th year.

Louis Smith of Sumner street mourns the death of his wife, who died at a Boston hospital Tuesday. She underwent a surgical operation which resulted fatally.

Miss Prescott has cards for the reception which the N. E. Woman's Press club is giving Friday afternoon at hotel Vendome, Boston, for Mrs. Craigie, if any of her Quincy friends desire one.

Mrs. Charles W. Miller of Cherry avenue entertained the girls of her Sunday school class at her home on Wednesday evening. Seventeen were present and a very jolly time was had. There was a discussion about forming a club composed of members of the class.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure you cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.
E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.
Nov. 22. 6mos

THE DEAF CAN HEAR
By Using the AUROPHONE.
THE MEARS EAR PHONE CO.,
1 West 34th St., N. Y.
NEW ENGLAND OFFICES:
Boston, 43 Tremont St., and
Hartford, 26 State St. 3t-25, 27, 29

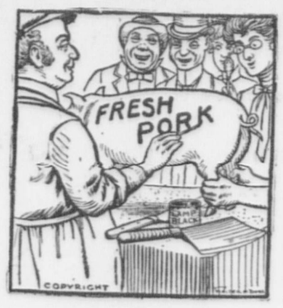

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

Exciting races every night this week.
GOOD MUSIC.
During all racing and Special Events, admission to all 10 cents. Other nights, Gents, 10 cents; ladies, free.
Gents' skates, 25 cents; Ladies', 15 cents.
Quincy, Jan. 23. tf

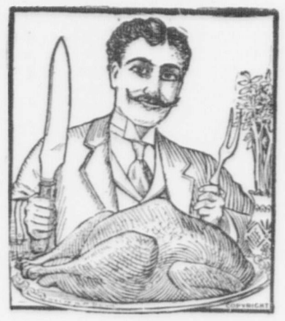

New Market!
J. K. Morton,
1259 Hancock Street,
Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products
Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.
Prices Lowest. Quality Best.
PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'
ARLINGTON HAMS,
BACON and SAUSAGE.
Fresh Fish in Connection.
Telephone 382-3.

Annual Meeting Christ Church

The annual meeting of Christ church which was held Wednesday evening in the parish house, was attended by over one hundred enthusiastic parishoners. It was an occasion of great rejoicing, because for the first time in many years the treasurer's report showed all bills paid and a balance in the treasury. The only debt against the Parish is a mortgage of $2,525.00 on the new Rectory. The receipts during the year amounted to $5,728.90 and the expenditures were $5,044.00.

The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock by the rector, Rev. William E. Gardner. After devotional exercises, the report of the treasurer was read and a budget for 1906 recommended and adopted. The annual election then took place resulting in the following officers:

Wardens,—George H. Brown and C. Theodore Hardwick.
Clerk,—James Smith, Jr.
Treasurer,—Elmer F. Ricker.
Vestrymen,—H. H. Bemis, W. H. Deacon, E. E. Newcomb, Dr. A. B. Packard, H. E. Ricker, A. C. Smith, J. H. Stedman, R. L. Tappenden, W. L. Thomas, C. H. Wilson.

Following the election, the rector read his annual report. During the year there has been 41 baptisms, 30 confirmations, 15 marriages and 17 burials. The parish consists of 348 families, 248 of which contain 386 communicants, and 100 are connected by having children in the Sunday School or through membership in some of the parish organizations.

At the conclusion of the meeting there was a piano solo by Miss Helen Bemis, and a group of songs sung by Miss Carrie F. Spear. Frappe, cake and coffee were served by the Woman's Guild.

During the reading of his report the rector called on the following secretaries for reports from their organizations Mr. W. L. Thomas, superintendent of the Sunday School; Miss Emily Wilde of the Woman's Guild, Miss Gertrude Jones of the St. Margaret's Guild; Mrs. W. L. Thomas of the Reapers Circle of Kings' Daughters, and Clara Pearce of the Junior Auxiliary.

The report closed with recommendation pertaining to a rector's assistant: increase in salaries, a new parish house and necessary repairs.

TODAY'S COURT.

Thomas H. Moran was sent to the State farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Amato DeLouroso, Louis Piscelle and Michael Melicert were arraigned for violating the rules of the Board of Health relative to the collection of swill at Quincy. Piscelle was found not guilty and was discharged. DeLouroso was fined $10 and Melicent $5.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Kind You Have Always Bought

Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Complete Outfits for Married Folks.

Furniture you must have. You can't live without it. The perplexing problem is buying it right. Low suburban rents enable us to save you much from Boston prices.

We furnish your house from cellar to attic even to the smallest details. Special combinations for three, four and five room houses from $100.00 to $300.00.

Time payments for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

THIS MARK DOWN SALE
OF OURS IS
No "Goat" Proposition.
There are no "BUTS" to it. No "IFS" either.
These SUITS and OVERCOATS and this WINTER UNDERWEAR
Wouldn't be half as good value next July.
We are reducing them now while you can get plenty of wear out of them.
ALL HEAVY WEIGHT GOODS MARKED DOWN.
DON'T buy anything in our line until you have examined our stock.
We do not handle anything but Reliable Merchandise.
YOURS FOR GENUINE BARGAINS.
F. D. FELLOWS CO.,
Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.
1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.
Jan. 18. th. fri. sat.-tf-o-tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

THE QUINCY LEDGER.
FOR SALE AT THE
South Terminal Station News Stand
After 3.35 P.M.

APPOINTED FOR A THIRD TERM.

POSTMASTER HAMMOND.

Among the appointments made Wednesday by President Roosevelt was that of Charles L. Hammond as postmaster at Quincy. Postmaster Hammond was first appointed by President McKinley Feb. 28, 1898, and was reappointed by President Roosevelt Jan. 28, 1902.

Postmaster Hammond has given the best satisfaction during his term of office. The facilities under his administration have been greatly improved and he office has been raised from a second to the first class.

During his administration the free delivery has been extended to all parts of Quincy and the offices at Braintree have been consolidated with the Quincy office.

Glee Club At the Point

A large and appreciative audience completed filling the auditorium of the Washington Street Congregational church at Quincy Point, on Wednesday evening greeted the Wollaston Glee club consisting of some thirty male voices.

The club, with Mr. J. A. Crowley as conductor was assisted in presenting the excellent program, by Mrs. E. C. Page, soprano; Mr. Carl D. Hopkins, tenor; Mr. A. L. Hayden, baritone, and Miss Sara M. Kelley, accompanist.

The pieces by the chorus were happily selected, sung with good spirit and interpretation and reflected great credit on the club and Mr. Crowley as conductor.

One of the finest selections rendered was the "Summer Lullaby."

Mrs. Page is not a stranger to Point audiences, and the warm reception accorded her, gave evidence of the respect in which she is held, and the hearty encores for each number, the delight her singing produced. It does not seem unjust to say that Mrs. Page was the bright and particular star of the occasion. Her beautifully clear and lyric tones, her artistic rendering of her selection, and modest air captivated the audience

Mr. Hayden was formerly a Point resident and numbered many friends among those present. He always sings well and this evening proved no exception to the rule. His selections were excellent.

Mr. Hopkins is a new voice to the audiences in this part of the city. He is a charming singer. He has a high tenor voice with a rather robust quality His truly artistic rendering and distinct enunciation were especially note worthy

Miss Kelly who holdes the position of organist at this church is one of the best accompanist that could have been secured, always equal to the occasion.

Messrs. Carl Sherburne, Harold Newcomb and James A. Melville acted as ushers.

The concert was given under the auspices of the men's lecture and entertainment committee, connected with the church, and the success of the affair was due largely to the untiring efforts of Mr. T. B. Pollard.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DIED.

FLOOD.—In Neponset, Jan. 25, Mrs. Mary E., wife of Mr. Alonzo H. Flood, formerly of Quincy, aged 55 years and 9 months.
WHALL.—In Ashburnham, Jan. 24, Mary Alice, wife of Mr. Joseph G. Whall, formerly of Quincy. Funeral private.
BLEE.—In Milton, Jan. 22, Mr. Samuel L. Blee of Warren avenue in his 5th year.
WEEKS.—In Dedham, Jan. 24th, Leverett Newton Weeks, in his 48th year.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

Supper at First Church.

The ladies of First church have inaugurated a new plan this year for the church suppers, having them paid suppers instead of free as has been the custom for several years back. The first one for this season was held Wednesday evening and was largely attended, one hundred and fifty gathering around the festive board.

Appetizing viands of cold ham, tongue, baked beans, macaroni, celery, olives, pickles, coffee, pie and cake were in abundance.

Following the supper an informal entertainment was given in the chapel with Mr. Emery L. Crane as master of ceremonies. First on the program was a piano solo by Miss Miriam Marsh which was well played and called forth appreciative applause. Mrs. Ross K. Whiton followed with a vocal solo with Miss Steele at the piano and Mr. Brooks Keyes, violinist. This was very much enjoyed and a response was called for and given. It is always a pleasure to hear Mrs. Whiton sing.

Miss Edna Smith read a chapter from "Dri and I." The gem of the entertainment was the piano solo by Miss Alice Claflin. She has a wonderfully good touch and pleasing execution. She responded to the hearty encore with another selection.

A bit of humor is always looked for from Mr. Crane and this time he told in rhyme why the supper was a paid one, why there was no turkey as many expected and why the people lingered after the supper etc. The entertainment closed with another song by Mrs. Whiton, by request.

Social chat was now in order for a half hour or more, the young people gathering about the piano for a sing.

The evening was a great success in every way and another will be given in February.

Youthful Firebugs.

Maurice Villers, aged 16 years, and William McKinley, aged 12 years, the two Holbrook boys charged with setting fire to the Sumner High school building on the afternoon of Nov. 26, were given a hearing this morning in the district court.

State Officer Scott was the principle witness, and his testimony related to an expression made by one of the boys. This was, that on the afternoon of the day in question, the Villers boy secured a bottle containing naptha and kerosene from a blacksmith shop and went to the school building.

McKinley remained outside while Villers entered through a rear window and scattered the mixture about the teacher's desk and waste basket, and set fire to it. A flash followed and Villers came near being burned. He then jumped through the window and ran to the woods.

The confession was obtained during an interview with the boys in the basement of the school a few days ago. When questioned by Officer Scott Villers he at first denied that he had anything to do with the fire, but afterward admitted that he had set it.

The Chief Engineer of the fire department saw the blaze and sounded the blaze and sounded the alarm. The fire was extinguished with a loss of $56.

The Villers boy, when placed on the witness stand, denied the confession to Officer Scott.

The court, however, sentenced him to be committed to the Massachusetts Reformatory. The case of the McKinley boy was continued on probation.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—A maltese and white bob tail Kitten. Reward if returned to 1621 Hancock street, Quincy. Jan. 22-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—Experienced Meat Cutter wanted at the CONSOLIDATED. Apply immediately.
Quincy, Jan. 24. 3t

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

MRS ALIDA OLANDER, 16 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc 187 1-2 Granite street.
Quincy Jan. 19 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel.
Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—48 Revere Road, a well furnished, good size sunny Room two large closets $2.50 per week. Also another medium size room; sun all day; hot water heat; $1.75 per week. Nice bath room. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

TO LET—2 large connecting and 2 single Rooms; modern conveniences. Best neighborhood. Handy to cars. Address C., Ledger office. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-tf

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—Quincy Point corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x4?, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 15-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9 tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.

Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x50 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

Make Known
YOUR WANTS
In Daily Ledger.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Speak Well
OF QUINCY
At All Times.

Vol. 18. No. 23. QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Advertise It. Have You a House To Let? Advertise It.

A Square Deal!

The CONSOLIDATED

Are firm believers in "A SQUARE DEAL," and they are now convinced after a week's trial that the only way they can give their customers a "SQUARE DEAL" is to return to the keeping of a full line of both

MEATS AND PROVISIONS.

Accordingly they have bought from SWIFT & CO. a complete stock of the

CHOICEST SELECTION

—OF—

SWIFT'S DRESSED BEEF, etc.,

which is as fine as anything to be seen in Quincy. And the Consolidated can assure their customers that the quality will always be the best the market can supply.

QUALITY

Will be their hobby in every line. Don't forget that they have the most com plete line of

HIGH GRADE GROCERIES

in Quincy. And are Agents for KING ARTHUR, JOHN ALDEN, and JONES' SUPERLATIVE FLOUR, HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING, HUNTLEY & PALMER WAFERS, and many other Imported Goods. Also the FAMOUS STAR BRAND COFFEE, ORANGE PEKOE TEA, etc., etc.

Teams will call for and deliver your orders promptly.

CONSOLIDATED, Adams Building.

Tel. No. 236 A. F. HAYWARD, Manager.

Quincy, Jan. 24. tf

COAL

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

FOY'S FOR ALL THINGS!

Many people come to Foy's for all good things needed for the daily and Sunday dinner table.

They're secure in the knowledge that no matter what they need, if they buy here, it's sure to be of first quality and lowest price.

Our offerings for Sunday's spread include Native Poultry, Lamb, Mutton, Beef, Pork, Vegetables and Fruit, in most abundant variety.

Also:

Fine Granulated Sugar,	5 cts. lb
Kennedy's Graham Wafers,	3 pkgs. 25c
Condensed Milk,	3 cans 25c
Best Seeded Raisins,	10c. pkg
Cream of Wheat,	13c

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.

Tel. 307-3.

Quincy, Jan. 25. tf

The Greenleaf Hotel

A Select Family

First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.

Catering for Clubs and Parties. Dinners and Suppers.

AlsoHancock Hotel

NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.

Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.

Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.

Good Table. Moderate Rates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, LESSEES.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Just a Word

WITH YOU ABOUT

PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,

ADAMS BUILDING.

Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

Complete Outfits for Married Folks.

Furniture you must have. You can't live without it. The perplexing problem is buying it right. Low suburban rents enable us to save you much from Boston prices.

We furnish your house from cellar to attic even to the smallest details. Special combinations for three, four and five room houses from $100.00 to $300.00.

Time payments for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store

1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Native Born

Outnumber the Foreign Born In Quincy by Nearly 9,000

The native born population of Quincy outnumbers the foreign born nearly 9,000. There are according to Bulletin No. 4 of the State census of 1905, 18,456 native born and 9,620 foreign born, nearly two to one. The native born, however, include not only those of native descent but also those of foreign descent.

In Massachusetts the native born number 2,084,924, and the foreign born 918,756. The percentage of increase in each division since 1895 was about the same, that of the native born being 20.15, and that of the foreign born 20.11. The increase in native born, however, was 349,671 and the increase in foreign born 153,826.

The excess of the native born in Quincy is 8,836; the excess of males being 4,108, and the excess of females 4,728. There are 9,265 native born males and 5,157 foreign born. At the same time there are 9,191 native born females and 4,463 foreign born.

The native born represent 69 per cent of the total population of the State, and the foreign born 30 per cent.

In each county and each city, and probably each town, the native born are in excess of the foreign born, and the native born males outnumber the foreign born males.

The excess of females over males in the State is 80,502; the native born out-numbering the native born males by 50,938 and the foreign born out-numbering the foreign born males by 29,564. That there have been 29,564 more female immigrants than males will surprise many.

Surprise Party And Presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Webber, who reside at Bay View street, were given a surprise party Thursday evening by about fifty neighbors and friends. The affair was a complete surprise to them as nothing of the kind was expected.

Mr. Webber, formerly employed by the Fore River Ship building Co. as draftsman, has accepted a position with the Bresnahan Shoe Machinery Co. of Lynn, and moves to that city the last of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Webber were highly respected and honored by all their neighbors and friends and they will be greatly missed in this vicinity by all.

During the evening games were played and refreshments served. Mr. F. A. Drake excelled in musical ability on the harmonica, while Hi Hart Robinson rendered some very pleasing selections on the accordian. There was a speech by Mr. J. A. B. Faurenfeeder, which was pronounced a success.

The entertainment was concluded by living pictures by Mr. C. W. Willis, which were very rich and appropriate.

Before the party disbursed, Mr. C. W. Willis, with a very delicate speech presented Mr. and Mrs. Webber with a beautiful chafing dish, which was heartily accepted by both. Mr. Webber responded with a speech expressing his gratitude, also his grief in being obliged to leave this vicinity.

He was then wished all possible success in life by the entire party in his new undertaking and given three cheers as a jolly good friend.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —State House, Boston, Jan. 24th, 1906. The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs will give a hearing to parties interested in an abstract of the annual report of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board (House No. 133) in the petition with accompanying bill (House No. 391) of Charles H. Thurston, Mayor of the City of Cambridge, for legislation to provide that cities and towns owning or controlling parks or parkways on the Charles River may lease or otherwise provide for locations for boat houses, landings and other structures relating to said parks, and in the petition with accompanying bill No. 500 of James F. Bacon for legislation to authorize the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage board to sell, lease or exchange any property under its charge, at room No. 436, State House, on Monday, January 29th, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. Prentis Cummings, Chairman. George H. Jackson, Clerk of the Committee. 26-1t

Gypsy Moths in The Reservation

An article in the Boston Advertiser says "There is grave danger that Milton and Quincy will have the scourge of the gypsy moth upon them in full force, unless valiant efforts are made to check the inroads of the pest."

An editorial in the same paper says: The spreading of the gypsy moth infection to the Blue Hill reservation and to Milton and Quincy emphasizes again the importance of using every available means to prevent the carrying of the moths from place to place by means of vehicles. There is no other way in which these pests can be taken long distances from the area worst affected for their course of migration is always marked by the progress of their feeding.

"Quincy is on the line of a great deal of travel, by automobile and otherwise, and it is quite probable that this district will be found affected the worst of any of those nearby. Probably colonies of the moths could be found on every road in the district over which there is extensive travel. Much faith is put in the parasites imported by the gypsy moth commission, and the faith is well founded.

"But it must be borne in mind that it will take some time for the parasites to multiply sufficiently to get the upper hand. In the meantime the moths will go on spreading the area of their destructive work with tremendous rapidity if the vigilance of the cities and towns in the infected districts is for a moment relaxed. Now that we are promised relief by this parasite it is more important than ever that the fight against the moths should be carried on with vigor."

Odd Ladies.

The fifth of the series of whist parties given by the Odd Ladies was held in Doble's hall, Thursday evening last.

The first prize, a fruit dish, was awarded to Mrs. C. S. McGregor, score 49.

2d—Chocolate pot, Mrs. Driscoll, score 43.

3d—Fruit dish, Mrs. M. Trem, score 40.

4th—One-half dozen plates, Mr. R. Smith, score 39.

5th—One-half dozen tumblers, Mrs. Donahue, score 39.

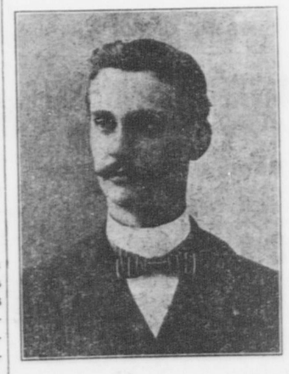

6th—Fancy platter, Mrs. Wood, score 38.

The consolation prize was carried off amid much laughter by Mrs. Higgs.

The sixth and last party of the series will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 22d.

Resolutions Engrossed.

The resolutions passed by the City Council of 1905, on the death of Henry H. Faxon, have been engrossed, and are on exhibition in the show window of the store of George W. Jones. The engrossment was made by ex-Councilman W. F. Sidelinger, and reflects great credit on him. While he does not claim to be a professional in this line, his work compares very favorably with them.

EX-COUNCILMAN SIDELINGER.

Granite Orders.

The general feeling among the granite manufacturers is any this year's business will be way ahead of that for a number of years. Spring orders have already begun to come in well, and the quarries are rushing to fill orders for stock. Unless some arrangement is made to work some of the syndicate quarries, manufacturers will experience difficulty this summer in getting rough stock when they want it.

POOR MEATS and ADULTERATED FOODS

CANNOT BE FOUND IN

CHAS. H. BROOKS' MARKET,

But his clean white place of business is replete with a full line of the very best groceries, and that unexcelled

"HATCHET" Brand of Canned Goods.

Mr. Brooks is so thoroughly known in Quincy as a first class judge of Meats and fair dealer with all who patronize him that it is not necessary to dwell on that feature more than to say that what he offers for sale is only the best.

The BEEF, LAMB, PORK, CHICKENS, FOWL, CORNED MEATS, etc.

APPLES, ORANGES, CELERY, LETTUCE and other Vegetables are of such quality and appearance that to see them is to buy.

Telephone 295-3.

Quincy, Jan. 26. tf

Gov. Guild Gives Reception To Members Of Legislature And State Officials

Gov. Curtis Guild, Jr. gave a reception Thursday evening to the members of the legislature and state officials at the Son

CURTIS GUILD, JR.

The reception was from 4 to 6 o'clock, the Governor being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Guild and in the line with them were Gov. and Mrs. Bell of Vermont.

Gov. McLane of New Hampshire was expected to be present, but illness of Mrs McLane prevented.

The members of the Governor's staff were in attendance and did escort duty.

Representative E. N. Hultman and Representative and Mrs. Edward J. Sandberg were among those present.

This was the first of the series of receptions which the Governor will give within the next ten days.

Eighty-Sixth Birthday.

On Tuesday evening, January 23, Mr. James F. Glover of 515 Middle street, South Braintree, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday. He was born in Quincy in 1820. His boyhood days were spent in Quincy and Ipswich. Mr. Glover has spent a greater part of his life in Gloucester, but for the last twelve years has resided with his daughter, Mrs. Jennie F. Hawes in Braintree.

His daughter and friends gathered and planned to give him a surprise, which proved a success. The evening was spent in singing and music. Mr. Glover was kindly remembered by his neighbors, with a house jacket and slippers. Tokens were sent him from friends in Bridgewater and South Braintree, who were unable to attend. The friends departed at an early hour, wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Second Night Of the Minstrels.

There was another large house on Thursday evening at the second appearance of the Squantum Yacht club minstrels, and it was even a better entertainment than on the opening night.

Two of the solos in part one were omitted and encores were also cut out, so that more time was given for parts two and three.

James Broughton, who has created a furore among adults at Wollaston over dancing, and has also showed the boys how to play ball [illegible] and was more at home. The [illegible] was [illegible] Jan. 26.

The interlocutor read a letter from Commodore Bryant, explaining his absence, which greatly pleased the audience.

The chorus was well trained, strong and enthusiastic and put through their numbers with vim. There were new jokes and new verses for the topical songs which took well.

Joe Daley as Charlie's female friend who wanted to spoon with the House Commit ee made another great hit in the "Troubles of the House Committee." The committee took more kindly to an up-to-date girl.

Other attractions were: Chauncy Whitman as banjo comique; Adams and Allard in dancing specialties, Winlock and Norton in mind wandering, Gus Kendall in specialties and Irene, an unknown quantity.

Part three was a sketch "Waiting for the boat." The scene was laid in the South and songs and dancing, fishing, sports, pugilists, etc., were introduced.

Probably the Squantum Yacht club minstrels will give another show even better in 1907.

The regular meeting, of the Wollaston Alliance was held Wednesday afternoon in the Unitarian vestry. After the business meeting Rev. Frederick Griffin, of Braintree, read a paper on "Church Etiquette" which was very interesting and full of practical suggestions on the subject.

—The Boston Merchants Association has adopted resolutions against municipal gas in that city.

—Charles Newhall of Hyde Park, aged 36, dropped dead in Boston on Tuesday.

Carnation Day MONDAY

In honor of McKINLEY.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON.

Any color will do.

Quincy, Jan. 26. 2t

THE QUINCY LEDGER.

FOR SALE AT THE

South Terminal Station News Stand

After 3.35 P.M.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Local Ins And Outs

High course tides.

There is good skating now.

An eight-page Daily Ledger to-morrow.

The sun will rise before 7 o'clock next week.

The City Council Committee on Streets will meet tonight.

A regular meeting of the School Committee will be held next Tuesday evening.

The annual "Quincy assembly" will be given this evening at Quincy Music hall.

A special meeting of the Granite City club will be held Saturday evening to take action on refurnishing its rooms.

The Wollaston and Granite City club whist players try conclusions at the rooms of the Granite City club tonight.

The unveiling of the last five stores in the new Granite street block took place today. It is a handsome block of stores.

MILTON.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. [illegible]arse have returned from a visit to [illegible]

[illegible]on Fire- held at [illegible]ing. It [illegible] attended, and was a social and financial success.

Station Agent Bearse has the sympathy of his many friends in the loss of his 17 year old daughter, who died Tuesday.

The ladies of the Mission of Our Saviour church held a sociable Tuesday evening. There was a musical entertainment. Refreshments were served.

Albert Drew is suffering from trouble with his eyes.

Rev. Theodore I. Reese and Mrs. Reese have returned from a few days' visit at Newport, R. I.

Rev. Charles F. Cole, president of the Twentieth Century club, gave a lecture at the East Milton Congregational church Wednesday evening on "Education for Business."

Ralph Eaton of Eaton street is ill with scarlet fever.

The three children of Robert Forbes of Sheldon street are sick.

The fire department was called out Monday and Tuesday on still alarms.

He Knows They Are Not.

Mrs. Benham—The paper tells about a man who stole a head of lettuce and then went back and got another, being arrested on the second trip.

Benham—I'll bet you can't make that fellow believe that two heads are better than one.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

—The producing power of the banana is 44 times as great as that of the potato. The dried fruit is readily converted into nutritious flour; it may also be manufactured into sausages; beer can be made from it; while the skin can be turned into cloth and the juice made to do service either as ink or vinegar.

AGUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

DEUEL IS SCORED

Hapgood's Counsel Says That He Is a "Corrupt Judge"

TOWN TOPICS' BUSINESS

Suppressed Scandal Upon Payment by Those Too Cowardly to Refuse--Mann Found No Difficulty In Gathering Money

New York, Jan. 26.—The last stage of the trial of Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, charged with criminal libel in the publication of a paragraph commenting upon City Magistrate Deuel's connection with Town Topics, was reached yesterday, when the taking of testimony was ended, and Edward M. Shepard, of counsel for the accused editor, made the opening argument for the defense.

Mr. Shepard referred to Deuel's position on Town Topics as a quasi-editorial writer. "While he was sitting on the bench," said Shepard, "he was carrying on a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde business in the offices of Town Topics and the Ess Ess company. We say that the business of Town Topics was to print scandal or to suppress it for payment for those who were too cowardly to refuse. In taking this money we say Deuel was a corrupt judge. He was a judge beyond doubt and he was corrupt beyond doubt. He was a corrupt judge."

The stock of the Town Topics company, on which Mann tried to make loans, Shepard said, was held by him in trust for his daughter. Deuel, he said, was joined in this trust deed.

"The polished gentleman who comes to see us for Town Topics does not come after the fashion of a bandit demanding your money or your life, but in the most kindly and suave way he tells you that the boys of the office want to print a story, but that they can be bought off," said Shepard.

"Colonel Mann got money from a trust company of which Thomas F. Ryan is the vice president, without putting up collateral or a note with the names of two solvent men on it. That is not usually the way a trust company does business, but Colonel Mann, insolvent, with two judgments standing against him, goes down to that company and on his note gets $10,000. He got $76,000 from James R. Keene on real estate over night, while usually loans on that sort of property follow searching examinations of title, which occupy weeks."

Town Topics, he said, is composed of men bribed to betray confidences. Servants, valets, and even ministers, were asked to betray their secrets and confidences. Shepard then read the instructions of Mann to what he called the sneaks in clubs, in kitchens and, maybe, in churches, in which the colonel intrusted them to the effect that ridicule was more effective than abuse.

"There is in Town Topics office," said Shepard, "what is called an index, a history of lechery, lust, dishonesty, beastliness and gruesome scandal gathered in the home and elsewhere by agents of the paper for use at a moment's notice. Think of the names of young girls and the scandal there preserved. Why the devil himself might laugh with pleasure as he goes through that treasure house of blind paragraphs."

When Shepard finished his argument the case was adjourned until today, when District Attorney Jerome will sum up for the prosecution.

The striking feature of the testimony was given by Mr. Hapgood himself when he took the stand in his own behalf and declared that what he had written about Town Topics was based upon information furnished to him by District Attorney Jerome.

Mr. Jerome here caused some merriment by his statement that it seemed after all he was the writer of the article involved in the trial. "That is true in a measure," assented Hapgood.

Robert Collier of Collier's Weekly testified that Hapgood had written the article concerning Justice Deuel and Town Topics under instructions from him. Jerome recalled W. D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, to give his version of his dealings with Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore, and also to deny the statement that Harry Lehr and several other society people had furnished paragraphs to Town Topics.

The last act of Jerome for the prosecution was to place in evidence a letter from former President Grover Cleveland, who had been given an honorary subscription to "Fads and Fancies," stating that he had examined the publication and thought it "an admirable book."

Counsel Not In Accord

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Counsel for the indicted meat packers and for the government were unable to agree last night on a statement of facts concerning the action of Commissioner of Corporations Garfield while investigating the beef industry, and it was decided that the trial should be again taken up today, when witnesses will be called to decide whether Garfield's actions can give immunity to the packers.

Success Claimed For Open Shop

New York, Jan. 26.—A statement issued last night by the Typothetae says: "The successful resistance of the 40 open shops against the demands of the Typographical union for the closed shop and eight hours has conclusively proved that the open shop is a reality and not a fiction."

THE BINGVILLE BUGLE

Edited by NEWTON NEWKIRK

More Laughs to a Line Than Anything You Ever Read

READ IT IN THE

Boston Sunday Post

☞ The Comic Section of the BOSTON SUNDAY POST Contains All the Favorite Comics, Buster Brown, Baffles, Willie Westinghouse, Muggsy, Pretending Percy and Others.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.

1 Upright and 1 Square Piano

On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.

J. A. KEATING,

New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

CHARLES H. BURGESS,

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages Auctioneer and Appraiser.

Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,

Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

MARKED DOWN SALE.

A nice line of TRIMMED HATS
Sold at very low prices.

MISS D. LITCHMAN,

330 Water Street, South Quincy,
Jan 4. tf

GOOD OPPORTUNITY

TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.

I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

C. H. HARDWICK,

Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Grand Union Hotel

Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York

BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

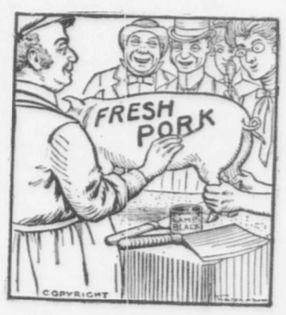

New Market!

J. K. Morton,

1259 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS, BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-3.

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,

Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

Furniture and Piano Moving.

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

GENERAL WHEELER DEAD

Veteran of Two Wars Succumbs to Attack of Pneumonia

New York, Jan. 26.—General Joseph Wheeler, the famous Confederate cavalry leader, and a brigadier general of the United States army since the war with Spain, died at 5:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon from pneumonia at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sterling Smith, in Brooklyn. The veteran of two wars was 69 years old.

General Wheeler was taken ill six days ago at his sister's home, where he had been living recently. He contracted a severe cold which developed into pleurisy and then into pneumonia. From the first his age told against him, but the family did not give up hope until Wednesday night, when the disease was found to have affected both lungs. All of Wheeler's immediate relatives were with him. His daughters, Mrs. W. J. Harris, and Anne, Lucille and Carrie Wheeler, had been summoned from the south and arrived early in the week. His son, Major Joseph Wheeler, Jr., U. S. A., now stationed at West Point, was also present, as well as General Wheeler's sister, Mrs. Sterling Smith, and her son.

The family were summoned to the bedside of the patient at midnight Wednesday night, when the doctors in consultation concluded that the end was but a matter of hours. The general was then awake and conscious and his mind was apparently active. He seemed to know that death was approaching, and, though too weak to speak, he succeeded in giving signs of recognition and encouragement to his children.

Later General Wheeler sank into a peaceful slumber, and at the request of the doctors the family quietly withdrew from the sick man's bedside. General Wheeler was never again more than semi-conscious. He lingered until last evening and passed away quietly.

Brutal Assaults by a Negro

Evansboro, N. J., Jan. 26.—John Bushby, a stalwart negro, committed a felonious assault on Hannah Sharp, 15 years old, who was alone in the house at the time. She fought desperately, at the same time calling for help. At this juncture the girl's brother, John Sharp, returned to the house, whereupon Busby turned on him, stabbing him twice, and then fled. A score of farmers turned out to hunt for the fugitive, who was finally captured and landed in jail. Sharp's injuries may prove fatal.

A Difference In Views

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26.—According to official accounts the Baltic provinces are now "almost pacified." The unofficial view, however, is far less optimistic. People arriving from the Baltic provinces say that a revolt crops out the moment that a detachment of troops leaves any one place; that the troops have to camp out in the towns and hamlets, and that it will be at least two years before the obstinate Letts will submit to Russian authority.

May Bring Criminal Proceedings

Cleveland, Jan. 26.—At the conclusion of the session here yesterday of the investigation into the Standard Oil company's methods of doing business, inaugurated by the state of Missouri, Attorney General Hadley of the latter state, who is conducting the examination of witnesses, announced that sufficient evidence had been produced to warrant the bringing of criminal proceedings under the laws of New York.

Serious Jolts by Earthquake

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 26.—The whole region from Gallup, N. M., to Seligman, Ari., a distance of several hundred miles, felt an earthquake shock yesterday afternoon. At Williams, Ari., goods were blown from the shelves of the stores and several buildings were jerked from their foundations. At Flagstaff, chimneys were tumbled over. No loss of life has thus far been reported.

To Build Philippine Railroad

Washington, Jan. 26.—The Philippine commission has accepted the bids of the White syndicate to build, under 4 percent guarantee, several hundred miles of railroad in the islands of Cebu, Panay and Negros. Secretary Taft has approved the act of the commission. This will insure the construction of railroads in some of the best sugar and hemp country in the archipelago.

Negro Ministers In Hot Place

Washington, Jan. 26.—"Worldly negro preachers are the curse of the race, especially in the south, and they are the black sheep to be put out of the fold," said Rev. R. B. Robinson at a session of the Afro-American Congress of the United States. "Hell will be full of negro ministers who are trying to deceive their God."

Aeronaut Crosses the Pyrenees

Paris, Jan. 26.—Duro, the Spanish aeronaut, started from Pau to cross the Pyrenees by balloon and alighted 36 hours later at Guadix, in the province of Granada. The distance between Pau and Guadix, as the crow flies, is about 450 miles.

Insurance Agent Under Labor Law

Toronto, Jan. 26.—P. P. Evans, general manager of an insurance company, was fined for bringing an agent into Canada, the magistrate declaring it a violation of the alien labor law. J. A. Fooke of Boston was the agent brought here by Evans.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Jan. 27.
Sun rises—7:03; sets—4:51.
Moon sets—8:10 p. m.
High water—1 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.

The weather will be fair in New England, except rain Saturday in south portion.

If Mothers Only Knew!

Nine times out of ten when children are out of sorts a few doses of Dr. True's Elixir will make them well, strong and happy. If worms are present they will be expelled. If there are no worms True's Elixir acts as a gentle tonic laxative. It cleans out the stomach and bowels, and turns the scale in favor of health by aiding and strengthening the digestion. Unsuspected Worms cause so much illness in children that it is a custom in many families to give at regular intervals to guard against them. Some of the symptoms of worms are languid looks, indigestion with variable appetite, malaria, irritable disposition and restless sleep. If your children show any of these signs do not risk delay but give them the remedy that has given relief for over 50 years. It is purely vegetable and harmless in any condition of child or adult.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

Sold by all dealers, 35c., 50c., $1.00. Write for free book "Children and their Diseases."

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me.
Established 1851

Special treatment for tape worms. Free pamphlet.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

THIS MARK DOWN SALE

OF OURS IS

No "Goat" Proposition.

There are no "BUTS" to it. No "IFS" either.

These SUITS and OVERCOATS and this WINTER UNDERWEAR

Wouldn't be half as good value next July.

We are reducing them now while you can get plenty of wear out of them.

ALL HEAVY WEIGHT GOODS MARKED DOWN.

DON'T buy anything in our line until you have examinoued our stock We do not handle anything but Reliable Merchandise.

YOURS FOR GENUINE BARGAINS.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 18. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Boughs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mlle. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
Old Furniture Refinished.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious. VIII—Carewe upbraids Betty for her action at the fire. He denounces Vanrevel, and Betty tells him that he escorted her home. Her father declaras that her escort was Gray. Carewe goes on a journey. Nelson, a negro servant, tells Betty that her father hates Tom because he is an abolitionist, yet hints at a personal cause involving Gray.

(Contiaued from Last Issue.)

It is perfectly truthful to say that the violin and flute executed the prelude, and then the trio sounded full on the evening air, the more effective chords obligingly drawn out as long as the breath in the singers could hold them in order to allow the two fair auditors complete benefit of the harmony. They sang "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls" and followed it with "Long, Long Ago."

"That," Mrs. Tanberry whispered between stifled gusts of almost uncontrollable laughter, "is meant for just me."

"Tell me the tales that to me were so dear," entreated the trio.

"I told 'em plenty," gurgled the enlivening widow, "and I expect between us we can get up some more."

"Now you are come my grief is removed," they sang.

"They mean your father is on his way to St. Louis," remarked Mrs. Tanberry.

"Let me forget that so long you have roved.
Let me believe that you love as you loved Long, long ago, long ago."

"Applaud, applaud!" whispered Mrs. Tanberry, encouraging the minstrels by a hearty clapping of hands.

Then the candles were relit and the serenaders invited within. Nelson came bearing cake and wine, and the house was made merry. Presently the romp, Virginia Bareaud, making her appearance on the arm of General Trumble, Mrs. Tanberry led them all in a hearty game of blind man's buff, followed by as hearty a dancing of Dan Tucker. After that, a quadrille being proposed, Mrs. Tanberry suggested that Jefferson should run home and bring Fanchon for the fourth lady. However, Virginia explained that she had endeavored to persuade both her sister and Mr. Gray to accompany the general and herself, but that Mr. Gray had complained of indisposition, having suffered greatly from headache on account of inhaling so much smoke at the warehouse fire, and, of course, Fanchon would not leave him. (Miss Carewe permitted herself the slightest shrug of the shoulders.)

So they danced the quadrille with Jefferson at the piano and Mr. Marsh performing in the character of a lady, a proceeding most unacceptable to the general, whom Mrs. Tanberry forced to be his partner. And thus the evening passed gayly away. Tappingham Marsh spoke the truth, indeed, when he exclaimed in parting, "Oh, rare Mrs. Tanberry!"

But the house had not done with serenades that night. The guests had long since departed; the windows were still and dark under the wan old moon, which had risen lamely, looking unfamiliar and not half itself; the air bore an odor of lateness, and nothing moved, when a delicate harmony stole out of the shadows beyond the misty garden. Low but resonant chords sounded on the heavier strings of a guitar, while above them, upon the lighter wires, rippled a slender, tinkling melody that wooed the slumberer to a delicious half wakefulness as dreamily, as tenderly as the croon of rain on the roof soothes a child to sleep. Under the artist's cunning touch the instrument was both the accompaniment and the song, and Miss Betty, at first taking the music to be a wandering thread in the fabric of her own bright dreams, drifted gradually to consciousness to find herself smiling. Her eyes opened wide, but half closed again with the ineffable sweetness of the sound.

Then a voice was heard, eerily low, yet gallant and clear, a vibrant baritone, singing to the guitar:

"My lady's hair,
That dark delight,
Is both as fair
And dusk as night.
I know some lovelorn hearts that beat
In time to moonbeam twinklings fleet,
That dance and glance like jewels there,
Emblazoning the raven hair.

"Ah, raven hair,
So dark and bright!
What love lies there
Enmeshed tonight?
I know some sighing lads that say
Their hearts were snared and torn away,
And now as pearls one fate they share
Entangled in the raven hair.

"Ah, raven hair,
From such a plight
Could you not spare
One acolyte?
I know a broken heart that went
To serve you but as ornament.
Alas, a ruby now you wear,
Ensanguining the raven hair!"

The song had grown fainter and fainter, the singer moving away as he sang, and the last lines were almost inaudible in the distance. The guitar could be heard for a moment or two more, then silence came again. It was broken by a rustling in the room next to Miss Betty's, and Mrs. Tanberry called softly through the open door:

"Princess, are you awake? Did you hear that serenade?"

So they danced the quadrille.

After a pause the answer came hesitatingly in a small, faltering voice: "Yes—if it was one. I thought perhaps he was only singing as he passed along the street."

"Aha!" ejaculated Mrs. Tanberry abruptly, as though she had made an unexpected discovery. "You knew better, and this was a serenade that you did not laugh at. Beautiful, I wouldn't let it go any further, even while your father is gone. Something might occur that would bring him home without warning. Such things have happened. Tom Vanrevel ought to be kept far away from this house."

"Oh, it was not he," returned Miss Betty quickly. "It was Mr. Gray. Did not you"—

"My dear," interrupted the other, "Crailey Gray's specialty is talking. Most of the vagabonds can sing and play a bit, and so can Crailey, particularly when he's had a few bowls of punch, but when Tom Vanrevel touches the guitar and lifts up his voice to sing there isn't an angel in heaven that wouldn't quit the place and come to hear him! Crailey wrote those words to Virginia Bareaud. (Her hair is even darker than yours, you know.) That was when he was being engaged to her, and Tom must have set the music to 'em lately and now comes here to sing 'em to you, and well enough they fit you. But you must keep him away, princess."

Nevertheless Betty knew the voice was not that which had bid her look to the stars, and she remained convinced that it belonged to Mr. Crailey Gray, who had been too ill a few hours earlier to leave the Bareaud house, and now, with Fanchon's kisses on his lips, came stealing into her garden and sang to her a song he had made for another girl.

If there was one person in the world whom Miss Betty held in bitter contempt and scorn, it was the owner of that voice and that guitar.

(Continued in next issue.)

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

NOW SUBMERGED

An Active Patrol Around the Steamer Valencia

DEAD NUMBER ABOUT 121

Not a Woman or Child Among the Thirty-Three Survivors of Wreck Off Vancouver Island--No More Likely to Be Saved

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 26.—With only 33 of the 154 persons on board known to be safe, the wrecked steamer Valencia now lies submerged and broken on the Vancouver coast five miles from Cape Beale. Only a portion of a mast stands above the water, and the fleet of steamers and tugs have turned their attention to patrolling the coast in the hope of finding boats, rafts or wreckage still afloat with survivors. But the belief grows stronger each hour that 121 persons, including most of the passengers, are lost.

Ashore several rescue parties are toiling over difficult trails, some carrying succor to those who were washed ashore in a pitiable plight, and others securing the rugged rocks of the seashore, seeking such survivors as may have reached land. Still others are engaged in the melancholy work of recovering bodies.

Of the 33 persons definitely accounted for, and these do not include three men, believed to be survivors seen on shore by the whaling vessel Orion, six have been taken on the Salvor, bruised, half-naked and exhausted. Nine others in a similar plight are still camped on Darling creek in a telegraph hut, while the remaining 18 were picked up by the City of Topeka from a raft.

Not a woman or child is among the saved, survivors saying that the women refused to leave the wreck even when told the ship was going to pieces.

Doctors on the rescuing tugs say the limit of human endurance has been passed before this time and that all persons on life rafts are likely dead. The fleet of steamers engaged in patrolling were seen in the vicinity of Darling river. Steamer Salvor, which left Bamfield creek yesterday after sending part of her crew over the land trails to seek survivors, and the whaling steamer Orion, a vessel better equipped than any in these waters to throw lines to a wreck; steamer Queen, which stopped at the wreck on the way to San Francisco; tug Lorne, sent from Victoria with a party of bluejackets and a lifeboat on board, were all there, and as far as could be learned from correspondents at various points, none had found any other survivors than the 33.

Steamer Salvor made an unsuccessful effort to get about through the surf near Darling creek to land supplies for the nine men at the telegraph hut, but the surf ran too high. The Salvor soon afterward saw a fire, evidently built as a signal, on the beach between Beegardess point and Klanewak, where the wreck lies. Two men and a boy stood near the fire.

After transferring the six survivors taken from Bamfield to the steamer City of Topeka, the Salvor informed the Lorne of the finding of the three persons on shore and asked the British bluejackets to attempt a landing. Captain Butler replied they would try, but the undertaking was dangerous. The bluejackets, however, volunteered, and made a daring, but unsuccessful, effort. The sailors were obliged to return, after getting within three boat lengths of shore. It is doubtful whether persons seen on shore are survivors of the wreck, for after the boat started ashore, several other men were seen, but they did not seem to seek aid.

The Dewey Making Progress

Washington, Jan. 26.—The big drydock Dewey is getting along well on her way to the Philippines and the almost daily reports received at the navy department by wireless telegraphy have almost assured the officials of the success of the venturesome experiment. Attempts to speed the dock above five knots an hour were followed by break-downs in the towing machinery. The dock headed to the wind in heavy weather and made better time.

Cars Dumped Into River

Rock Island, Wash., Jan. 26.—A passenger train struck a landslide near here and the engine was thrown into an almost perpendicular position, while the tender and baggage cars were thrown into the Columbia river. Baggageman Murray was drowned. None of the passengers was seriously hurt.

Hazing Court Sentence Fulfilled

Washington, Jan. 26.—Stephen Decatur, first class, United States naval academy, has been dismissed from the navy by Secretary Bonaparte, in conformity with the sentence of the court martial in his case, on the charge of hazing.

Named After Continental Officer

Washington, Jan. 26.—The military reservation at Sabine head, mouth of the Kennebec river, Me., has been named Fort Baldwin, in honor of Colonel Jeduthan Baldwin, engineers and artillery artificer regiment, Continental army.

Longworth-Roosevelt Nuptials

Washington, Jan. 26.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt have issued the invitations to the wedding of Miss Roosevelt and Representative Longworth of Ohio, which is to take place at noon, Feb. 17, as already announced.

HOME BROKEN UP

Providence Man Kills His Wife, Her Sister and Self

Providence, Jan. 26.—A tragedy which the police characterize as unmistakably a case of double murder and suicide became known when the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Winn and Mrs. Charles E. Riggs were found at the Winn home in a tenement house in the residential district of this city. The murderer was Winn, it is believed, who, after shooting Mrs. Riggs, who was a sister of his wife, killed his wife and then committed suicide. Jealousy is ascribed as the motive. The Winns were about 35 years of age. They had no children. Mrs. Riggs was 32 years of age.

The perpetrator of the deed left a note which he had written in pencil probably between the time he murdered the women and prepared to take his own life, which charged his sister-in-law with breaking up his home.

It was learned that Meserve and his wife had not been getting along well together of late, and that he had upbraided her for staying out and away from home. They had a dispute over the matter about a month ago, the neighbors say, and since then, until Mrs. Riggs came to visit them, had appeared to have made up their differences. The Portland woman came here two weeks ago and there has been more or less trouble between them since.

Diphtheria Scare Quelled

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 26.—Dr. M. H. Bailey, medical visitor at Harvard, said last night that the diphtheria scare at Harvard was quelled. All the men at present in the Stillman infirmary are doing well and have normal temperatures. The first information that there was diphtheria in the university came in the doctor's statement that all the cases were doing well. Bailey refuses to state how many cases were taken down, but a report has it that there were 18. The medical visitor says the disease is stamped out. It was attempted to trace the trouble to one of the student dining halls, but the halls were all carefully inspected, every employe tested, and the result announced that there was no infection.

Attorney General Under Fire

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 26.—It is announced that Clark C. Fitts of Brattleboro, attorney general of Vermont, against whom charges of professional irregularities have been preferred, will meet the accusations. The charges were drawn up by John D. Spellman of Rutland, in behalf of clients whose names have not been made public, and have been presented to the Vermont supreme court. The case relates to Fitts' acts as a private lawyer in connection with liquor cases in Brattleboro, where certain interests are said to be opposed to him.

Something New In Swindling Line

Boston, Jan. 26.—Walter E. Collins is under arrest, charged with impersonating a federal officer. It is said that Collins, on the strength of his statement that he was a government official, was permitted to inspect the contents of several business men's cash registers for the avowed purpose of looking for counterfeit money. Collins is alleged to have taken a number of coins from each place he visited, on the plea that the money was spurious.

Husband Must Keep Away

Boston, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Carrie M. Dyer of Somerville has been granted a temporary injunction in the superior court against her husband, Humphrey Dyer, enjoining him from entering or attempting to enter their home except by her permission. The Dyers recently separated and Mrs. Dyer asserts that her husband attempted to get possession of the furniture which, she says, belongs to her.

Hair Cloth Mill Closed

Pawtucket, R. I., Jan. 26.—The mill of the American Hair Cloth company here was shut down last night, following a threat of women employed as weavers to strike. Two weeks ago a notice was posted announcing a change in the wage schedule which the weavers declared amounted to a reduction of 20 percent. About 125 hands are affected by the shutdown.

Working Hours Reduced

Marlboro, Mass., Jan. 26.—The L. C. Hall Shoe company announces that a nine-hour day schedule will be in force in the plant, beginning next week. The concern employs about 200 hands and has worked heretofore under a 10-hour schedule. The reduction in hours was unsolicited by the employes.

Engineer's Head Cut Off

Boston, Jan. 26.—Henry Hyatt, chief engineer of a dredge, was instantly killed while oiling the machinery of the dredge as it lay in the harbor. Hyatt was caught in the machinery and his head was cut from the body.

What Japs Will Aim For

London, Jan. 26.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph sends an interview with the Japanese premier, Marquis Saionji, who said: "We shall continue to aim for the perfection of our army and our navy. At the same time we shall not fail to encourage and promote the numerous and varied business enterprises of the land with a view to the sound adjustment of our national income and expenditure."

King Visiting Prospective Bride

Biarritz, France, Jan. 26.—King Alfonso arrived here from San Sebastian and immediately visited the Princess Ena of Battenberg and her mother at the villa Mouriscot. The proposal of marriage may occur Sunday or Monday. The authorities have adopted the strictest precaution for the king's safety.

LEATHER PRICES

Shoe Wholesalers Think That They Are Inflated

THE TARIFF DISCUSSED

"Trusts" Have Suffered From Duty on Hides and Are Ready to Attempt to Secure Its Repeal, as Well as Prevailing Duties on Shoes and Leather

Boston, Jan. 26.—Shoe wholesalers from all over the United States met in a special convention in this city to discuss the present acute situation in the shoe and leather business. The specific question which they set for discussion was whether the material advances in leather and consequent necessary advances in shoes are to be temporary, or whether, like several similar advances in the last 20 years, they are likely to be permanent.

The plain English of the matter is that the wholesalers want to find out whether they are practically at the mercy of a trust controlling their raw material, or are merely experiencing an unusual effect of natural supply and demand. There were 200 in the gathering, many of them members of the National Shoe Wholesalers' association, but a goodly sprinkling of members of the National Shoe Manufacturers' association who, because of allied interest, had been invited to meet as guests of the wholesalers.

A feature of the session turned out to be a paper by John W. Craddock of Lynchburg, Va., and taking the spontaneous demonstrations of approval as a barometer of sentiment, the majority of the members present apparently felt that the secret of the prevailing high prices is artificial manipulation and trust control.

At the conclusion of the formal speaking and reading of papers, a general discussion of the tariff and shoe question was begun among the delegates, practically all of whom expressed themselves in favor of the removal of duties on hides. Different methods by which this end might be accomplished were suggested, but no definite plans were determined upon.

During this discussion there occurred what the delegates regard as a most surprising feature. It was a statement from Mr. Healy of New York, who represents the United States Leather company, and whose point of view is regarded as that of the leather trust, so-called. In his address to the delegates earlier in the afternoon Healy had stated that neither the United States Leather company nor the Central Leather company had ever sought in any way by artificial means to bring about an advance in the price of leather. On the contrary, such an attempt on their part would have been exceedingly foolish and futile, he said.

In answer to a direct question during the discussion as to the exact attitude of the two large leather companies on the removal of duties on hides, Healy said:

"I did not suppose that there was any doubt as to the position of the United States Leather company and the Central Leather company regarding the tariff on hides. From the beginning we have been opposed to such a duty. We have suffered from it and are ready at any time to attempt to secure its repeal. I do not believe that you could present any kind of a proposition that would secure such a repeal which we would not agree to. We are not only in favor of a removal of the duty on hides, but also desire the repeal of duties on shoes and leather. Any sort of a proposition with regard to duties on these three articles we will agree to."

Mr. Craddock's speech in opposition to the increase in price of shoes occasioned criticism in the discussion, several members speaking informally in favor of advanced prices. A two hours' recess was taken, after which the delegates attended a banquet.

Inspector Was Offered Bribe

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 26.—In the Greene-Gaynor trial, W. R. Curtis, who had been inspector on the work being done by Greene and Gaynor, testified to the effect that Greene made an attempt to bribe him in June, 1889. Before the correspondence was read Judge Speer ordered the jury to leave the courtroom, pending a discussion on its admissibility. The court took the question under advisement.

Won't Share Mother's Estate

Brussels, Jan. 26.—The appellate court has rejected the appeal of Princess Stephanie, daughter of King Leopold, former wife of Prince Rudolph of Austria, reaffirming the decision of the lower court, which refused to grant her a portion of her late mother's estate under the will of the latter.

Cut Hits Canadian Trade

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—In a report to the trade and commerce department, an Australian agent says that American nail manufacturers have cut prices from 12 to 20 percent to meet the preferential tariff between that country and Canada. This cut, it is said, will destroy the Canadian trade.

Convicted of Heavy Larceny

New York, Jan. 26.—C. A. Seton, charged with the larceny of $6800 from the Houston, Galveston and Interburban Railroad company of Texas, in floating about $3,000,000 worth of bonds, was convicted last evening and remanded to jail to await sentence.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	75	27	36	38	45
Monday,	66	36	37	47	40
Tuesday,	65	49	24	40	42
Wednesday,	45	43	24	36	30
Thursday,	29	41	20	33	32
Friday,	35	38	17	55	33
Saturday,	—	38	30	20	31

New Advertisements Today.

Chas. H. Brooks' Market.
Wanted—Work by the day.
State House Notice.
Wanted—3 or 4 Rooms,

The City In Brief

A barn is being built on the Schwartz estate, King's lane.

Mr. Stoddard of Weymouth has been appointed chief watchman at the shipyard.

Miss Mildred Ashley of Stoughton is visiting friends at Quincy Point for a few days.

Miss Effie Matheson of Quincy Point, left this week for Philadelphia, where she will make her future home.

Councilman William M. Chase is prominently mentioned as the new Commodore of the Wollaston Yacht club.

The steam trawler Spray leaves the Fore River shipyard to-day for Boston, and will start Saturday on another fishing trip.

Horace S. Taylor and Henry W. French who have been taking the census of births have about completed their work.

Rev. Ernest W. Hunt, of Wollaston, has been quite ill for the past week but hopes to be able to occupy the pulpit Sunday morning.

Several Wollaston young people attended Julian Mitchell's big production, "Wonderland" at the Majestic theatre on Tuesday evening.

A verdict for the Quincy Beef Company was given by the jury at Dedham on Wednesday in the suit brought by James McKensie Park.

Florence Henrietta Tabb, of Beale street, Wollaston, died yesterday of diphtheretic membraneous croup. The body was interred at Cedar Grove.

The Republican committee of Ward One has organized with George T. Westland as chairman and James Moorehead, Jr., as secretary and treasurer.

The old-fashioned dances seemed to have taken Wollaston by storm. The first two proved to be very popular and the tickets for the third are in great demand.

Mrs. Esther Hunt of Quincy avenue, celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday on Thursday. Old friends and acquaintances called on her during the day.

Charles H. Brooks is a good judge of everything that goes to make a first class market. Nothing that is not first class in every way is handled at his new market.

Residents near the High school object to the location of the outbuilding set up for the use of the workmen. It is now located on the sidewalk near Butlers pond and is a nuisance.

Rev. M. J. Duffy of this city who was ordained at the Cathedral at Christmas time, has been assigned to the Providence, R. I., diocese, and will be assistant to Fr. Cassidy at Valley Falls.

P. J. Sullivan was elected chaplain of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at the organization of a State association at Fitchburg on Thursday. Martin F. Carney of Waltham as president.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

Presented a Dinner Set.

Thursday evening, Mr. Thomas Collins of Rodman street, So. Quincy, a well known and loved resident, was tendered a surprise party by his fellow members of the Centre Street Social Club, and their wives and a few neighbors and friends.

The evening was a most enjoyable one for those present, being spent in singing, dancing and speech-making. Refreshments were served during the intermission.

Mr. Samuel Tutton was on the role as toast-master and filled the bill to the satisfaction of all present.

Mr. Collins was the recipient of a very handsome dinner set, which was presented to him by Mr. Tutton in a witty speech. Mr. Collins responded with a few well chosen words.

The company was entertained by a speech by Councilman Spargo, solos by Mr. Tutton, Mr. H. Collins, Wm. Williams, D. Arthur, John Cole, Jr., Miss Allie Jarvis, Miss M. Kelman and Mr. Wm. Fuge. Mr. Wm. Wilson furnished music for the dancing. It was in the early hour of the morning before the guests departed with a feeling of a well spent and enjoyable evening.

Among those present were:

Councilman Spargo, John Cole and wife, S. Williams and wife, C. Martin, S. Collins, Annie Martin, C. Besanka and wife, H. Porter and wife, S. Tutton, C. Davey, Ed. Rapson, H. Collins, Annie Grant, R. Johnson, Wm. Williams, R. Read, Walter Deacon, D. Arthur, Jas. Higgs, John Mason, John Collins and wife, John Cole, Jr., Wm. Fuge, Jas. Opie, A. Jarvis, Allie Jarvis, J. D. McLeod, Bella Craig, Florence Cole, W. J. Richards, Arthur Speller and Jessie Kelman.

School Enrollment Is Now 5,646

The average daily attendance at the Quincy public schools for the four weeks ending Jan. 5 was 5238, of whom 627 were at the High school. The High had the best percentage, with the Cranch second. The Willard, John Hancock and Gridley Bryant had a remarkably small number of tardinesses, and the Willard only six dismissals. Four buildings reported truants. The Superintendent's report:

	Whole No. at Date.	Av. Daily Attendance.	Per cent. of Daily Attendance.	Tardinesses.	Dismissal.	Truancy.
High	667	627.1	94.7	83	22	0
Adams	485	431.9	88.8	80	31	0
Coddington	451	407.2	91.0	23	26	1
Cranch	363	338.2	94.0	22	17	1
Gridley Bryant	322	303.7	92.5	6	13	0
John Hancock	395	367.1	93.9	6	10	0
Lincoln	442	408.6	91.3	17	15	0
Mass. Fields	381	3 9.7	92.7	19	44	3
Quincy	514	456.4	90.3	21	17	0
Washington	434	420.9	93 8	40	20	0
Willard	830	769.3	93 3	13	6	3
Wollaston	358	348 6	92.2	33	35	0
	5646	5238.7	92.6	363	256	8

Patience Personified.

Ted—Let's sit down here and wait till the pear falls, Willie.

Willie—We'll have to wait a long time den.

Ted—Yes, but all tings come to him who waits.—New York World.

Four Fishermen Missing

Boston, Jan. 24.—With her flag at half mast, fishing schooner Ellen C. Burke arrived in port last evening and her captain announced the probable loss of four members of the crew. The men believed to have been lost were out in their dories off Georges banks last Sunday. Two of the missing men were brothers, Harry and Fred Bryant of Gloucester. The other two men were Portuguese and their names were not known to the captain of the schooner.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

New Model Gear Works

One of the new industries that has recently been established in Quincy is the Boston Gear Works. Passengers on the steam and street cars have noticed the large one story buildings just south of the Norfolk Downs depot, between the railroad track and Hancock street, and have wondered what they were for.

The larger of the two buildings is occupied by the Boston Gear Co., and the smaller by a Translucent Fabric Co.

The building of the Boston Gear works is 90 by 100 feet, and when in full running order will employ from 100 to 150 skilled men.

The building has many large windows on all four sides, while on the roof are several skylights running the entire width of the building. These skylights face the north-east so that an exceptionally light room is obtained.

The main floor is one large room, in which upward of 125 machines are being set up. These machines consists of lathes, rack cutters, miller and gear cutters, for in addition to gears of all kinds, the firm also does machine work and manufactures automobiles.

Seven lines of shafting are arranged across the room. Each is connected by a friction clutch, so that it is possible to cut out any shaft without interfering with any of the others.

The power is supplied by a fifty horse oil engine located in the basement.

This engine requires no attendant and after once set in motion looks after itself. It is a very economical engine, it being claimed that it will run the entire plant for $2.50 per day.

The water used in cooling the engine does not go to waste, for it escapes through a system of pipes and furnishes sufficent heat to warm the building as well as the water for washing purposes.

On the Boston front, is a second floor in which are the offices. The room is 30 by 54 feet. The layout of the machinery is such that a person in the office would hardly know that machinery was in operation.

Part of the machinery is already in operation, and in a few weeks the entire plant of the company now located in Boston will be moved to Quincy.

The plant was laid out under the direction of J. H. Robinson, and is a model one in every way.

The second building that is to be occupied by the Translucent Fabric Co., is about 50 by 90 feet. Its general plan is simular to that of the Boston Gear Works. This plant is not in operation, but will be soon.

TODAY'S COURT.

Augustus Melansia was arraigned for the larceny of a horse from Rose Murphy at Quincy Case continued one week.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

BORN.

ARNOLD—In Braintree, Jan. 25, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Arnold, 242 Middle street.

DIED.

BLOOD—In Neponset, Jan. 25, Mrs. Mary E. wife of Mr. Alonzo H. K. Blood, formerly of Quincy, aged 55 years and 9 months.

TERRY—In Hyde Park, Jan. 25, Mr. John Terry, in his 93d year.

HOPKINS—In Hyde Park, Jan. 24, Mr. Jonathan Hopkins, in his 83d year.

EARLEY—In West Quincy, Jan. 25, Mr. John B. Earley of 22 Rustic place.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Jonnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6 -lp-ly

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Waverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

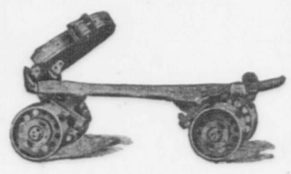

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

Do You Suffer ?
from HEADACHE
LOSS OF SLEEP INDIGESTION
TORPID LIVER BILIOUSNESS
BEECHAM'S PILLS
will quickly remove the cause of these distressing complaints and restore healthy action to every organ. You will feel like a new person after taking a few doses of Beecham's Pills. They rid the system of impurities, improve the digestion, banish headache and Give Positive Relief
in all cases of Biliousness, Constipation, Indigestion and Disordered Liver.
The excellent results obtained by the use of Beecham's Pills have proved them worthy of the confidence they enjoy. They have helped thousands and recommend themselves.
Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

THE DEAF CAN HEAR
By Using the AUROPHONE.
THEMEARS EAR PHONE CO.,
1 West 34th St., N. Y.
NEW ENGLAND OFFICES:
Boston, 43 Tremont St., and Hartford, 26 State St. 31-25, 27, 29

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

Exciting races every night this week.
GOOD MUSIC.
During all racing and Special Events, admission to all 10 cents. Other nights, Gents, 10 cents; ladies, free.
Gents' skates, 25 cents; Ladies', 15 cents.
Quincy, Jan. 23. tf

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollara Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47, BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate,
Mortgages,
Insurance.
MAKE THIS
"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"
By the Purchase of a Home.
Deeds Drawn.
Titles Searched.
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Jan. 1. tf

ROOSEVELT ASSAILED

Carries Psychological Moments In His Vest Pocket

Washington, Jan. 26.—Mr. Money talked in the senate for over two hours in opposition to the course of the administration with reference to both Santo Domingo and Morocco. He contended that there was danger of becoming involved unnecessarily in the affairs of the other countries by participating in the Algeciras conference and that this country was not sufficiently concerned with the conduct of affairs in Santo Domingo to justify our course in that island.

Mr. Money said, speaking of Mr. Spooner's reference to the president's intervention for peace between Russia and Japan, that he supposed that the president "constantly carried a phychological moment around in his vest pocket." Continuing, he said:

"The senator from Massachusetts (Lodge) assures us that we can trust the president. But we must remember that 'hell is paved with good intentions.'

"We will some day have a change in the presidency. We may some time have in the place of the present level-headed, even-tempered chief executive some hot-headed, emotional man—a man who will not observe the requirements of the constitution as I am pleased to learn from the senator from Massachusetts the present occupant of the White House does."

He declared that the president had done far more than maintain the status quo in Santo Domingo, that he had in reality put the treaty into execution just as he would if it had been ratified by the senate. He did not care how salutary the policy might be, Mr. Money said. He denied the power of the president to put it into execution without the consent of the senate.

The house passed the statehood bill. No effort was made to defeat the bill on its final passage, but 33 of the "insurgents" voting against the measure. The bill passed by the vote to 194 to 150.

Mob Anxious to Get at Negro

Chattanooga, Jan. 26.—For several hours last night a mob of 1500 men, many of whom were armed, beset the county jail, demanding a negro who criminally assaulted Miss Nevada Taylor of St. Elmo, a suburb. The sheriff said the guilty negro had been taken to Knoxville. Finally the mob battered down a door leading to the jail office. The ringing of riot bells added to the crowd, but nothing further was done by the men. Armed deputies and policemen guarded the doorway to the jail proper and did not allow the mob to pass.

Not Implicated In Murder

New York, Jan. 26.—The Brooklyn police last night abandoned the case against John A. MacIsaacs, who, after being locked up on a charge of assaulting his wife, was accused by the latter of having been an accomplice in the murder of Mabel Page at Weston, Mass. Detective Whitney came here from Massachusetts and put the man and woman through a severe examination, after which Whitney declared there was not enough developed to warrant MacIsaacs being held further as a factor in the murder case.

To Investigate State Banks

Albany, Jan. 26.—The state assembly committee on banks unanimously voted in favor of a concurrent resolution providing for a joint special legislative committee to investigate the state bank department. The report will be made to the assembly Monday. Most of the leaders view with undisguised solicitude the possibility of another inquiry likely to have profound effects in the field of finance.

To Promote Army's Efficiency

Washington, Jan. 26.—The war department will recommend to congress that an appropriation be made which will permit the assembling of all the available troops in the United States, except the coast artillery, at about seven camps in the United States for the purpose of drills and practice, which the military authorities deem essential to the promotion of the efficiency of the army.

Arrest of Stock Brokers

New York, Jan. 26.—In a suite of handsomely furnished offices at 1193 Broadway, Frederick Roselle and George Grundy were arrested and held in $1000 bail each for examination on a charge of grand larceny. The prisoners, the police allege, were doing a stock brokerage business under the firm name of O. E. Wulburn & Co., most of their clients being women.

Barge Drops From Sight

Digby, N. S., Jan. 26.—An unknown barge adrift in the Bay of Fundy has mysteriously disappeared. Fishermen searched along the shore, expecting to find the remains of the vessel, but no trace of her could be discovered.

Venezuela Problem Delayed

Washington, Jan. 26.—It is the belief here in official circles that the French program for the treatment of the Venezuela problem will be delayed until the crisis in the Moroccan conference is passed.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Carl Fairbanks, aged 26, was caught in the shafting and instantly killed at the Troy Granite company's sheds at Fitzwilliams, N. H.

The Bangor department store, Miss M. A. Clark's millinery store and a number of other establishments at Bangor, Me., were damaged by fire. The total loss is about $10,000.

Governor Bell, Vermont sweet cider and popcorn were the principal features of the 20th annual banquet of the Vermont association of Boston in that city. A few Massachusetts speakers and local cooked viands contributed incidentally to the occasion.

For Lung Troubles
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures hard coughs, hard colds, bronchitis, consumption. And it certainly strengthens weak throats and weak lungs. There can be no mistake about this. Your own doctor will say so. Just ask him about it, then do as he says.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

For Sale or To Let.
An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE
With All the Latest Improvements,
ON UPLAND ROAD.
--- APPLY ---
JULIUS JOHNSON,
Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
Office Hours: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
A Check good for one 50c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M —6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

HALL TO LET.
PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

TO LET
Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.
One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.
Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 40-6 with 11 stalls.
A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.
Storage—light and dry.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY
MASS.

Established 1887. Probate Busine
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.
Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:
Four lines, or less, one day, - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - - 75 cents
Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.
LOST—A maltese and white bob tail Kitten. Reward if returned to 1621 Hancock street, Quincy. Jan. 22-3t

WANTED.
WANTED—3 or 4 Rooms, furnished or unfurnished, suitable for light housekeeping. Address "B.," Ledger Office. Jan. 26 6t

WANTED—Work by the day. Washing, ironing, cleaning, etc. Enquire at Ledger Office for address. Jan. 25-6t

AGENTS Wanted for Quincy, Dorchester. Good money to right man. Call at Stables, 80 Washington street, Quincy, after 5 P. M. Mondays, or address Ideal Tea Co., 10 Meridian street, East Boston. Jan. 19 8t-s.

WANTED—Experienced Meat Cutter wanted at the CONSOLIDATED. Apply immediately. Quincy, Jan. 24. 3t

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy. Jan. 22. 6t

MRS ALIDA OLANDER, 16 years with the late John Hall will go out by the hour or day to do washing or any housework. Full charge taken of weddings, parties, etc. 187 1-2 Granite street. Quincy Jan. 19 6t

FOR SALE.
FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel. Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.
TO LET—48 Revere Road, a well furnished, good size sunny Room two large closets $2.00 per week. Also another medium size room; sun all day; hot water heat; $1.75 per week. Nice bath room. Quincy, Jan. 25-tf

TO LET—2 large connecting and 2 single Rooms; modern conveniences. Best neighborhood. Handy to cars. Address C., Ledger office. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-12t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Vol. 18. No. 24. QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Advertise It. Have You a House To Let? Advertise It.

E. M. FREEMAN,

653 Washington Street, Corner South Street,

QUINCY POINT.

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages.

For Sale or To Let.

No. 171

Revere Road. HOUSE, 9 Rooms. Furnace, modern plumbing, sewer connection, cemented cellar, etc. 9,000 feet land.

$400

BUYS BOARDING HOUSE.

Furnishings of 15 rooms.

Accommadates 25. Near Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

FOR SALE.

For $2 300 and $2,600 I can offer you Two very Desirable Homes, near Hose House, QUINCY POINT.

For Sale.

All the year round DELIGHTFUL HOME.

Near salt water at North Weymouth. 7 Rooms and Bath. Electric Lights. All modern--on line of electrics.

For Sale.

HOUSE LOTS

Riverside Lawn,

(Formerly Federhen Estate.)

Lots from 6c. to 12c. foot.

This is a tract of the best land offered for sale at Quincy Point.

Discount for CASH.

TO LET.

No. 165.

STORE—on Washington Street. 20x40 feet—$25 per month. Thoroughly fitted for business.

TO LET.

No. 166.

MODERN 8 room HOUSE. Washington St., Quincy. Let only to Private Family. $40 per month.

$1,000

BUYS BOARDING HOUSE.

Furnishings of eighteen (18) rooms. Accommodates 33. Great opportunity for extra table boarders.

FOR SALE.

HOUSE, STABLE, CARRIAGE HOUSE, HEN HOUSES, and 21,700 square feet land. Faces on two streets.

$3,500.

☞ If you can pay rent you can own your own home. Are you a young wage earner, young man or young lady hoping sometime to have a home of your own?

☞ Buy a house lot. pay for it gradually, you will not miss the money, the ownership will make a more responsible person of you, and a better citizen. Come and see me and talk the matter over.

Telephone Connection,—46-9. E. M. Freeman Give Me A Call.

A Square Deal!

The CONSOLIDATED

Are firm believers in "A SQUARE DEAL," and they are now convinced after a week's trial that the only way they can give their customers a "SQUARE DEAL" is to return to the keeping of a full line of both

MEATS AND PROVISIONS.

Accordingly they have bought from SWIFT & CO. a complete stock of the

CHOICEST SELECTION

—OF—

SWIFT'S DRESSED BEEF. etc.,

which is as fine as anything to be seen in Quincy. And the Consolidated can assure their customers that the quality will always be the best the market can supply.

QUALITY

Will be their hobby in every line. Don't forget that they have the most com plete line of

HIGH GRADE GROCERIES

in Quincy. And are Agents for KING ARTHUR, JOHN ALDEN, and JONES' SUPERLATIVE FLOUR, HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING, HUNTLEY & PALMER WAFERS, and many other Imported Goods.

Also the FAMOUS STAR BRAND COFFEE, ORANGE PEKOE TEA, etc., etc.

Teams will call for and deliver your orders promptly.

CONSOLIDATED, Adams Building.

Tel. No. 236 A. F. HAYWARD, Manager.

Quincy, Jan. 24. tf

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN

DENTIST,

Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.

Office Hours: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.

Jan. 31. tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD

DENTIST.

Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8, Except Wednesday Evening.

Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6--1p-1y

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.

Oct. 28. tf

SERVICE.

Not the kind you have been used to, but OUR service.
You are made to feel that your patronage is appreciated.
Eight separate glass rooms in which to hear and select your PHONOGRAPH RECORDS.
Under these new conditions selecting records becomes a pleasure.
We sell every good make record and machine; Edison, Columbia, Disc and Cylinder, Victor, and American Disc. Easy payment on everything we sell if desired.
We are right on your way from the South Terminal Station. Directly opposite the Boston American. Catalogues mailed on request.

THE WINCHELL COMPANY—

95 SUMMER STREET—BOSTON.

Jan. 25. 1-tu. th. sat.--po-tf

Social Realm.

Open an eye to beauty
And you'll find a pearl of art;
Open a door to duty
And you'll find a joy of heart
—Elizabeth Porter Gould.

* * *

The reception yesterday afternoon to Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) by the New England Woman's Press association at hotel Vendome, Boston, was a most brilliant affair, the parlors being thronged with distinguished guests. Some twenty Quincy ladies attended and were delighted with Mrs. Craigie, who has a most charming personality.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth are planning to go South next week, going from Boston to Florida by water for the sea trip. They will be away a few weeks.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Underwood have issued this week invitations to the marriage reception of their daughter Carrie Louise and Mr. Louis Bush Bradford, for Thursday evening February the eighth from eight until ten, at their home 33 Spear street.

* * *

J. A. Roosevelt gave a talk before the Thursday Evening club this week on "From Tangier to Fez."

* * *

Mrs. Caleb Chase of Brookline gave a large luncheon party on Thursday, twenty-four covers being laid. Mrs. James H. Stetson of this city was among the guests and wore a most beautiful gown of white satin striped chiffon with gold brocaded lace trimmings. A large bunch of daffies completed the most perfect costume. Mrs. Stetson returned in time for the meeting of the whist club Thursday evening at Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morton's.

* * *

Mrs. Herman McIntire of Presidents Hill is entertaining her sister Miss Smith of Provincetown, Mass.

* * *

Mrs. John G. Faxon of Fitchburg made a flying visit to Quincy the first of the week stopping with Mrs. Annie E. Faxon. She was the guest of honor at the meeting of the Quincy Woman's club on Tuesday afternoon, contributing several vocal solos to the entertainment and also told of the work of the Fitchburg club, of which she is president.

* * *

Miss Edith Parker of Belmont street has gone to North Conway, N. H., and Portland, Maine, for a week's rest.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Estes of Nashua, N. H., have moved to Quincy this week making their home at 42 Bigelow steet. Mr. Estes is connected with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. They are both musical, Mrs. Estes being an exceptionally fine pianist. She will for the present make frequent visits to Nashua where she has pupils who are unwilling to give her up.

* * *

Miss Edith Randall is leaving for the south in a few weeks to avoid the sharp late winter weather. She is much improved in health and anticipates speedy recovery in a middle climate.

* * *

Mrs. William Reardon, of School street who was recently elected chief ranger of St. Ambrose Court of Foresters gave a reception to the members Wednesday evening January 24th. A fine musical program was enjoyed and whist was played after which salads and ices were served. Mrs. John Reardon and Mrs. Bulger assisted the hostess.

* * *

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler are among the invited guests at the reception to be given by Governor, and Mrs. Curtis Guild at the Somerset next Monday.

* * *

Mrs. George W. Caldwell of Vine street, Braintree, was the guest of Mrs. Frederic L. Flowers of Quincy at the musicale given by the Quincy Women's club at their club house on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Stetson are to go south as usual for the late winter, joining friends with whom they have enjoyed several seasons of pleasant travel. Mr. Stetson alway selects places where they have fine golf links as he is a golf enthusiast.

* * *

The past week has been a full one socially, many engagements overlaping.

* * *

Mrs. W. T. Babcock was entertained at luncheon on Monday by Mrs. Bill of Braintree, after which she spoke at the meeting of the current events class of the Philergians.

* * *

Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard of Greenleaf street leaves Monday for Ithaca, N. Y., where she will participate in the junior week festivities of Cornell University, of which her two sons, Carl and Joel, are students. Carl Sheppard is to be assistant leader of the sophomore cotillion and Mrs. Sheppaad will chaperon a party of twelve young ladies at the week's exercises.

* * *

Mrs. Laura Morrill and Miss Grace Batson are enjoying a few days in New York.

* * *

Mrs. Albert Parker of Presidents Hill, who has been threatened with nervous prostration is slowly improving, and has taken advantage of the past week of warm weather to walk out occasionally.

* * *

Mrs. James H. Stetson looked like veritable spring at the assembly last night, in a beautiful white gown, with garniture of yellow tulips in her hair and carrying a bunch of the same. It was a pretty setting for her dark hair and rich coloring.

* * *

Miss Ethel F. Babcock attended the reception given by Mrs. Morss of Marlboro street, Boston in honor of the Howard Walker Alumni association of which Mrs. Babcock is a member as a graduate of the Art Museum school. After music and an adress by Mr. Walker a collation was served and the pleasures of reunion enjoyed.

* * *

A dramatic club has been formed of young people from the Wollaston Unitarian church. "Poor Pillicoddy" and "Box and Cox" has been given successfully. Another play is now in progress. Proceeds for the benefit of the church.

* * *

Rev. D. M. Wilson of Northfield has been the guest of Hon. John Shaw of Goffe street.

* * *

Samuel D. Thompson of this city, the secretary, has sent out notices for the annual meeting and dinner of the Boston Alumni Association of the University of Maine, to take place at the State of Maine club house in Boston, on Saturday, Feb. 3. The speakers will include President Fellows, Coach McCoy and others.

(Continued on page 5)

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S

Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS

WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

Mayor Attends Reception by Gov. Guild To City and Town Officials

Although the members of the city government received cards for the reception by Gov. Guild to members of the city and town governments of the Commonwealth at the Somerset last evening, Quincy was not largely represented.

Mayor James Thompson and Mrs. Thompson were there, also President of the City Council and Mrs. Walter E. Piper, Councilman and Mrs. Walter F. Nichols and Councilman and Mrs. William T. Spargo.

The reception was from 4 until 6 o'clock, and upwards of 2,000 from every corner of the state were present.

A detail from the 24 corps of Cadets did escort duty and presented the guests to Gov. and Mrs Guild and the Governor's staff.

The brilliant red and blue uniforms of the cadets, the rich gowns worn by the ladies and the gold laced uniforms of the Governor's staff, made a picturesque scene that was immensely enjoyed by all.

The Governor met many old friends and he had a pleasant word of greeting for all.

An orchestra furnished music during the reception and ices were served.

Quincys Lead at Bowling.

At the Granite street alleys last evening the Quincys defeated the South Braintrees three straight, viz: 416 to 402, 427 to 389 and 432 to 426. The series now stands 7 to 2 in favor of Quincy. The South Braintree, Jrs., however, took two out of three from the Quincy, Jrs., by scores of 391 to 382, 424 to 397 and 426 to 436.

Carnation Day MONDAY

In honor of McKINLEY.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON.

Any color will do.

Quincy, Jan. 26. 2t

THE QUINCY LEDGER.

FOR SALE AT THE

South Terminal Station News Stand

After 3.35 P.M.

A VERMONT WRECK

Boston-Montreal Flyer Runs Into Open Switch

STRIKES FREIGHT CARS

Passengers and Train Hands Escape Serious Injury Despite a Mile-a-Minute Clip--Probable Work of Train Wreckers

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 27.—The New England States Limited, an express train bound from Boston for Montreal, was wrecked last night at Bolton, 20 miles southeast of this city, by running into a switch which is believed to have been opened with malicious intent. Six cars jumped the track and were practically demolished, but none of the passengers or trainmen was seriously hurt. The accident occurred at 7:10 on the Central Vermont railroad.

The trains runs through Bolton without stopping, and was going at perhaps 60 miles an hour when it struck the switch. Three freight cars, heavily loaded with lumber, were standing on a siding and were struck by the derailed train. The impact wrecked the locomotive, tearing off the driving wheels and smashing the tender, demolished the mail car and baggage car, and badly damaged four other cars. The latter cars were Pullmans and carried a full complement of passengers, all of whom were thrown from their seats without, however, receiving any serious injuries.

The train left Boston at 11:30 yesterday morning. It was the newest and best equipped train in the Montreal-Boston service over this line, and was owned jointly by the Boston and Maine and the Central Vermont roads.

Investigation after the accident is said to have shown that the train was wrecked deliberately. The switch had been set properly a short time before the train was due at Bolton, but there are evidences that some one tampered with it afterward and threw it open. To make it appear that the engineer had a clear track, the signal lantern was removed from its usual position and hung on a wire in such a way as to give no indication of trouble with the switch.

Both Engineer Donovan and Fireman Bell stuck to the engine when the collision occurred. Neither was injured. The mail and baggage clerks also escaped injury, although their cars were completely smashed. Fifty feet of the siding was torn up, but as the wrecked cars went clear of the regular through track traffic over the line was not greatly delayed as far as other trains were concerned.

In the mail car were two railway postal clerks and six passengers, the last-named occupying a rear compartment of the car. None of the occupants of the car was injured. The four cars in the rear of the mail car withstood the shock of the collision with the freight cars and, though the passengers were much shaken up, they have no injuries beyond bruises and minor cuts. The passenger cars were damaged by bumping along the ties and also partly by side-wiping freight cars on another siding. The brakes on the passenger cars set themselves automatically after the mail and baggage cars were demolished and retarded the progress of these cars.

The railroad authorities have ordered that a thorough investigation of the accident be made. The escape of the passengers and train hands, in view of the high rate of speed at which the express was running, is considered as remarkable. No one on board was obliged to undergo treatment by surgeons, as no one sustained anything more than bruises.

Greene-Gaynor Trial Blocked

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 27.—Nearly three weeks have been consumed in the trial of the Greene and Gaynor case and now all the work and expense involved threatens to go for naught, because of the illness of one of the jurors. If the illness threatens to be of long duration, Judge Speer may direct a mistrial unless counsel elect to leave the case in the hands of the 11 jurors.

Against Extreme Measures

Indianapolis, Jan. 27.—A called session of the international convention of the United Mine Workers of America failed to place the convention on record as favoring extreme measures to force the operators of the central competitive district to admit the operators and miners of the southwestern district to the joint conference.

Hurry Orders For Battleship

Halifax, Jan. 27.—The battleship Dominion has received rush orders to prepare for sea and the ship will leave here this afternoon. Coal and supplies are being rushed on board as fast as possible. As the ship is to sail under sealed orders, her destination is known only to her captain.

Balfour May Change Front

London, Jan., 27.—Former Premier Balfour has accepted the seat resigned in his favor by A. G. H. Gibbs, who is a pronounced tariff reformer. This is considered an indication of his willingness to lead the party henceforth on a tariff reform basis.

No Mercy For Revolutionists

Riga, Jan. 27.—Several Lettish revolutionists have been condemned to death by court martial and their houses ordered to be burned. Punitive expeditions are active in other districts of this province.

ALL WELL ARMED

Sailors and Artilleristsjoin In Mutiny at Vladivostok

St. Petersburg, Jan. 27.—That there has been a renewal of the mutiny at Vladivostok was confirmed by a dispatch from that city received here late last night.

This dispatch indicates that the mutiny, which began last Monday, had not been subdued, and that the situation was far more serious than during the outbreak in November, as the mutineers include both sailors and artillerymen, who are well armed with rifles and machine guns, as well as having heavy fortress guns.

General Mistchenko, who has been sent to deal with the mutineers, the dispatch adds, has no easy task, as the Cossacks given him are ill-suited for capturing a fortified position.

The telegram, which bears evidences of having been carefully edited, says nothing about the numbers of the mutineers nor of the attitude of the garrison as a whole. The hasty dispatch of the nearest available troops indicates that General Linevitch is distrustful.

The number of casualties in a fight on Tuesday, when a column of sailors in advancing on the commandant's house was scattered by machine guns, is not stated in the dispatch. A report that General Selivanoff, the commander of the army corps at Vladivostok, has been wounded is confirmed.

The war department officials are unable to give particulars of the seriousness of the mutiny, which is due to the reserve men, who are thoroughly demoralized.

By Way of Shanghai

London, Jan. 27.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post says it is reported that the Vladivostok mutiny resulted in casualties to the number of 200.

A Democratic Filibuster

Washington, Jan. 27.—The first attempt at filibustering at this session occurred in the house in a Democratic endeavor to defeat the provision of the urgent deficiency bill waiving the eight-hour law for foreign laborers on the Panama canal. The amendment was placed in the bill in committee of the whole after the house had divided many times on every pretext which the minority leader, Mr. Williams, could make the cause of a vote. When the bill to which the amendment was proposed was finally finished, late in the day, a demand for a separate vote and roll-call on the amendment was made and ordered, at which time the house adjourned.

Russell a Peacemaker

Washington, Jan. 27.—In a cablegram from Caracas, Minister Russell reports that he has practically succeeded in restoring friendly relations between Colombia and Venezuela, which were strained through the escape of a rebel Venezuelan general into Colombia and the tardiness of the Colombian authorities in satisfying Venezuela's demand for the general's extradition. Russell's cablegram throws no new light on the Franco-Venezuelan imbroglio.

Capture May Be Important

New York, Jan. 27.—Central office detectives arrested last night a man for whom they declare the police of the world have been searching for more than four years. The prisoner is declared to be James Manes, who is wanted in connection with the famous Bank of Liverpool robbery of November, 1901. While admitting his name to be Manes, the man asserts that he is entirely ignorant of any plot by which the Bank of Liverpool was robbed.

Severe Experience at Sea

St. Johns, Jan. 27.—Schooners Empire and Ethel, from Oporto, report having met terrible weather. Their decks had been swept by the seas, boats smashed, bulkarks destroyed, and spare canvas carried away. Some men were injured and only by the use of oil-bags were the vessels saved. Brig Belarosa is overdue and it is feared she has foundered.

Insurance Companies Raked Over

Des Moines, Jan. 27.—Violation of law, extravagance, crookedness and graft were embodied in charges made by Senator Molsberry in the Iowa senate against life insurance companies of Iowa. Molsberry's remarks were occasioned by the calling up of his resolution providing for the investigation of such companies doing business in the state.

New Indoor Running Record

New York, Jan. 27.—In the annual indoor meet of the Columbia University Athletic association here last night, Melville Sheppard, a schoolboy from Brown preparatory school, Philadelphia, established a new running record of 4:25 1-5 for the mile.

Theatrical Agents Broke Contract

New York, Jan. 27.—A jury in the supreme court in Brooklyn returned a verdict for $20,000 in favor of Tomasso Salvini, the actor, who sued the firm of Liebler & Co., theatrical agents, to recover that amount for alleged breach of contract.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Moscow police seized a laboratory in which explosives were being prepared and bombs loaded.

The W. E. Woodman company, jewellers, which was petitioned into involuntary bankruptcy at Boston, has filed the schedule of its assets and liabilities. The liabilities amount to $116,310. The assets are estimated at $25,500.

A large barn owned by William Gilbert at Auburn, Mass., was burned, and the farmhouse occupied by his son was partly burned. The loss is $12,000. Twenty cattle were burned.

AIRSHIP A LA TURBINE

Ferryboat Pilot Believes He Has Devised Practical Craft.

EAGER TO TAKE NORTH POLE TRIP

Captain James A. Clinton of Brooklyn Is Willing to Take His Six Little Children on a Test Voyage. Turbine Propellers Important Factors of the Machine.

Captain James A. Clinton, for twenty-five years a pilot in and around New York, is confident that he has solved the secret of a practicable airship, says the New York World. To prove it he is willing to take the air route to the north pole, guiding his own craft and taking his six little children as passengers.

A propeller driven by a turbine and capable of either raising or lowering the airship is one of the secrets of the Clinton craft. Another is the driving propeller, which forces air against the rudder in a manner which enables the ship to be always under control of the navigator, independent of contending air currents, which have proved the undoing of other airships.

Captain Clinton secured in 1896 a patent on his turbine device, which he will install in his airship. He has now applied for letters patent on the completed ship.

It is a dirigible craft, sustained by a cigar shaped balloon eighty feet long and about twelve feet at the central diameter. The balloon will be constructed of oiled silk and divided into compartments so that a puncture of the covering will affect only one compartment. The balloon will be inflated at the will of the navigator from a source of supply installed in the suspended car.

A gasoline engine of about two horsepower will compress air, which in turn will drive the turbines that revolve the propellers. The car for carrying the engine, turbines and passengers is suspended by guys from the balloon. This car with its contents will weigh about 250 pounds.

The raising and lowering propeller, with blades eleven feet from tip to tip, will be placed in the center of the car. The driving propeller, of the same dimensions as the other, is placed at the rear of the car.

Captain Clinton estimates that he can drive his ship about fifteen miles an hour against a ten knot wind, or thirty miles an hour under normal conditions. In case of accident to the gasoline engine it can be disconnected and a hand device used. Manual power will easily work the turbine wheels.

Captain Clinton lives at 5 Poplar street, Brooklyn. He has been for many years a pilot on the Pennsylvania railroad's annex ferryboats.

"I have worked on my airship for nineteen years," Captain Clinton said the other day. "I believe I now have it perfected. I have invented it on an entirely new principle of air navigation. The same barriers found in air navigation are those present in water navigation, except that in the air one must contend with forces assailing from every direction. As long as its aluminium, iron and silk hold out the ship will find its way all over the earth and against all winds, and never higher than at a safe distance.

"I am experienced in the United States geological survey and have not the least doubt of what I have invented and patented. I would like a chance to prove, as I believe I can do, that at least one American knows more about airships than any Frenchman who ever tried his hand at the work."

Captain Clinton is seeking capital to build his airship.

FOOLING THE HEN.

Professor Jaffa's Novel Method of Fattening Barnyard Fowls.

Professor Meyer E. Jaffa of Berkeley, Cal., launched a conspiracy against the peace and comfort of the barnyard fowl during the session of the farmers' institute the other day, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Professor Jaffa told the farmers of a successful experiment that was designed to solve the problem of fattening poultry for the market. The experiment as he pictured it had been tried with remarkable results at Petaluma.

"All that you require," explained the professor, "is an electric light in your henhouse. Three hours after the fowls have been well fed and have gone to roost for the night you turn on the electric light. The unreasoning birds jump to the conclusion that the sun has risen, and they fly down from their perches with intense appetites and eat another hearty meal of corn. Then you turn out the light. Three hours later you turn on the light again, and once more they cram their crops with food. In this manner chickens can be fattened for the market on short notice and at comparatively small expense."

Now all the farmers who are attending the farmers' institute are planning to have their chicken houses equipped with electric lights to deceive the simple mind of the trusting hen.

The Largest Ship Cable.

For use on the new turbine steamers of the Cunard line a cable is now being manufactured in England which is said to be the largest ever used in this service, says the Railway and Engineering Review. The links are 22¾ inches long and are made of iron three-quarters of an inch in diameter at the smallest part, each link weighing 160 pounds. The links were tested at over 370 tons, the strain applied being about 90 per cent above the British admiralty proof strain.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signatnre of Chas. H. Fletcher. and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

COAL.

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

Complete Outfits for Married Folks.

Furniture you must have. You can't live without it. The perplexing problem is buying it right. Low suburban rents enable us to save you much from Boston prices.

We furnish your house from cellar to attic even to the smallest details. Special combinations for three, four and five room houses from $100.00 to $300.00.

Time payments for those who wish.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

DANCING!

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!

Apply or write for information to

ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street

Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.

ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.

Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Gossip.

How frequently are the honesty and integrity of man disposed of by a smile or a shrug! How many good and generous actions have been shrunk into oblivion by a distrustful look or stamped with the imputation of proceeding from bad motives by a mysterious and seasonable whisper! Look into companies of those whose gentle natures should disarm them; we shall find no better account. How often does the reputation of a helpless creature bleed by a report—which the party who is at the pains to propagate it beholds with much pity and fellow feeling—that she is heartily sorry for it; hopes in God it is not true; however, as Archbishop Tillotson wittily observes upon it, is resolved in the meantime to give the report her pass that at least it may have fair play to take its fortune in the world to be believed or not, according to the charity of those into whose hands it shall happen to fall!—Addison.

Luck.

Abraham Lincoln, after being a member of congress, desired to secure a clerkship in Washington, but he was defeated by Justin Butterfield. He was disappointed, but had he not been defeated he would have spent his life in obscurity instead of becoming president of the United States.

Oliver Cromwell was once on board a ship bound for America, but he was taken back by a constable, and the result was that he became one of the greatest men England ever knew.

Ulysses Grant would not have been a military man had it not been that his rival for a West Point cadetship had been found to have six toes on each foot instead of five.

The great silver mine, the Silver King, had been discovered by the lucky accident of a prospector throwing a piece of rock at a lazy mule.

St. Nicholas.

Santa Claus was born in Patavia, in Asia Minor. That was not his real name. He was an abbot and named St. Nicholas. He afterward became archbishop of Myra. At the latter place he died and was duly buried. In May, 1087, his remains were carried by some pious Italians to Bari, on the Adriatic coast. They are now at rest in a splendid church which bears his name. The people around about make a pilgrimage to his shrine every year. No one seeking food on that occasion is refused it by the priests, while accommodation is given to as many pilgrims as the edifice will hold. On St. Nicholas' day, Dec. 6, a great celebration takes place in his honor. Early in the morning the populace take his image from the priests and carry it through the town. At night the city is grandly illuminated.

Humming Birds.

Scientifically humming birds are "trochilidae," and those who make a special study of them are "trochilidists," although the birds are not identical with the old Greek "trochilus," or "runner," bird, which, according to Herodotus, entered the jaws of the sleeping crocodile and obliged its big friend by picking leeches from his throat. The Spanish name for the humming bird is "tominejo," meaning a third of a dram and referring, of course, to the bird's minuteness. But the prettiest names are those, such as the French "frou-frou," which refer to the humming noise sometimes produced by the almost incredibly rapid vibration of the wings. "Purring with her wings" is the expression of Thomas Morton (1632), the first English writer to mention the humming bird.

A Perfect Leaf.

The teacher of a large class in one of the New York schools once said to the pupils who were leaving for the summer: "I want each of you to search for a perfect leaf and bring it to me when school reopens. Remember, it must be perfect—every tooth right, not to speak of mold or blight or discoloration, not a vein broken." They searched faithfully, but none found a perfect leaf, though they learned a great deal about leaves while they examined them thus carefully.—New York Times.

The Human Voice.

One's surprise at the fact that no two persons' voices are perfectly alike ceases when one is informed by an authority on the subject that, though there are only nine perfect tones in the human voice, there is the astounding number of 17,592,186,044,415 different sounds. Of these fourteen direct muscles produce 16,383, and thirty indirect muscles produce 173,741,823, while all in co-operation produce the total given above.

A Generous Actor.

Sir Henry Irving one day met a broken down actor in the Strand. "I never see you at the theater now," said Sir Henry. The other murmured something about his ill luck and shabbiness. "Oh, nonsense; you come tomorrow and give your name at the box office!" He went, to find two tickets awaiting him, with a fifty dollar note.

A Domestic Discussion.

Wife—William, I do think our boys are the worst I ever saw. I'm sure they don't get it from me. Husband (snappishly)—Well, they don't get it from me. Wife (reflectively)—No, William; you seem to have all yours yet.

The Very Least.

"Ah!" he sighed. "If you only gave me the least possible hope I"—

"Good gracious!" retorted the hard hearted belle. "I've been giving you the least I ever gave to any man!"

No Doubt.

Jack—What seemed to be the hardest thing to you in learning to ride the bicycle? Tom—The ground.

DEUEL SUIT LOST

Hapgood's Criticism of Him Held to Be Excusable

JURY QUICKLY DECIDED

The Prosecuting Attorney Calls Town Topics a "Vile Sheet" and Approves Action of Defendant --Mann to Push His Suit

New York, Jan. 27.—After staying out of the courtroom only seven minutes, the jury in the trial of the criminal libel suit against Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, returned a verdict of "not guilty." Mr. Hapgood's accuser, Justice Joseph M. Deuel, who took exception to an editorial criticising his connection with Town Topics, was not in court at the end. Colonel Mann, editor of Town Topics, on the other hand, remained until the finish, and when he was asked whether he considered the verdict a reflection upon his "society journal," he said: "The 12 men seemed to be persons of great intelligence."

"Do you expect to push your damage suit against Collier's Weekly?" was inquired.

"Of course," was the reply. "What does a man generally do when he begins a suit?"

"Have you any comment to make upon the result of the trial or the testimony brought out?"

"No."

As Hapgood was leaving the courtroom Jerome slapped him on the back and said: "My dear old man, I'm very much pleased that it turned out as it did," and arm in arm the two left the court together.

Edward M. Shepard having addressed the jury in behalf of Hapgood, it was the district attorney's turn to sum up for the prosecution. After commenting upon the "revelations of human and weakness and folly, and, in some cases degradation," disclosed during a "two weeks' tour through Vanity Fair," the district attorney told the jurors that the "fervid imagination and keen satire of Mr. Shepard" must not influence them. Jerome said he would not hesitate to express his loathing and contempt for certain of the witnesses, even for some of these he himself had used. "But," said Jerome, "it is your duty to decide this matter solely upon what you have learned here."

The prosecutor said he personally believed that the abuses hinted at during the trial were really in existence. Yet he repeated the evidence had not necessarily proven them. He continued: "It may be that I ought not to be here prosecuting one of the best friends I have for a crime which, in my private judgment, I believe he ought to have done, and which I might have done in his place with more heat and more vim than he displayed. On the ground of excuse the prosecution concedes that this publication was honestly made in a belief that it was true. If you find that the article was true, you have got to acquit."

Mr. Jerome read part of what Hapgood had written about Justice Deuel in Collier's Weekly, as follows: "He is part owner and one of the editors of a paper that devotes itself to printing scandal about people too cowardly to pay for silence." This comment, the district attorney argued, would naturally injure the object of that attack. There was no doubt that the editorial was libelous, he declared; it was a question of whether the defendant was either justified or excused. As to "justification," Jerome explained, "the law provided that the charges must be true, inasmuch as the prosecution did not accuse Hapgood of corrupt motives. I consider that his motives were not corrupt, but you must remember that the burden of proving that he wrote the truth rests upon him."

After granting that the article was written honestly, Jerome said it remained for the jury to determine the question of "excuse" by deciding whether Hapgood had "reasonable grounds" for making the charge against Deuel. It was not to be doubted that the justice had been held up to ridicule and contempt, subjected to pain and obloquy. For placing him in this position the writer must have had reasonable grounds, or else he was guilty of criminal libel.

"This vile sheet," was the way Jerome described Town Topics. "Now let us see the character of this paper. Mr. Shepard has told you that Colonel Mann has stated that it was the natural evolution of personal journalism. If that is true it ought to be applicable to more than one daily paper in New York whose trend is that way.

"Why should Colonel Mann or anyone else go in for blackmail?" asked the district attorney. It had been shown that there was "an easier way to get the money." Look at "Fads and Fancies." Had not C. T. Yerkes been willing to figure therein, along with Chauncey M. Depew. Had not Perry Belmont yearned to be with William Astor Chanler? Had not James J. Hill paid $1500 to appear beside "that master shipbuilder, Lewis Nixon?" For a fact Jerome pointed out that the only man who had come forward and told him he didn't want to be in the book was "the blushing wine agent, Harry Lehr."

"Until Lehr put in his appearance on the witness stand," exclaimed the district attorney, "nobody could have believed that any man was possessed of modesty so great as to keep him out of the wonderful book."

NEGLECTED HER BABIES

Woman's Little Ones Died Without Medical Attendance

Victory, Vt., Jan. 27.—Charged with abandoning her children, Mrs. Grace Rexford of Gallups Mills was bound over for the grand jury after evidence concerning the death of twin babies last September and of a 3-year-old on last Saturday had been considered.

The hearing did not develop evidence to support the suspicion of foul play which had been entertained by the authorities, but testimony to indicate neglect of the children was presented, and the woman was accordingly held on the charge of abandonment.

It is said that no physician was called when the twins were born or when they died, or when the older child died, and that the latter was subject to epileptic fits and was probably poorly fed.

Promotion For Bishop O'Connell

Boston, Jan. 27.—By cable from Rome comes the information that the pope has signed the papers appointing Bishop O'Connell of Portland, Me., archbishop coadjutor of Boston. The message further states that although Cardinal Gotti, prefect of the congregation of the propoganda, is dangerously with pneumonia, the congregation met unexpectedly and discussed the appointment of O'Connell, with the result that the cardinals voted almost unanimously for him.

President Refuses Cole Pardon

Boston, Jan. 27.—Boston friends of Charles H. Cole, former vice president of the Globe National bank, were disappointed when word came from Washington that President Roosevelt had declined to extend him a pardon. Cole was sentenced May 14, 1900, to eight years in the Greenfield jail on a charge of misappropriating $900,000 of the funds of the Globe bank. This is the second appeal for pardon which has been made on behalf of Cole.

Explosion Caused a Panic

Boston, Jan. 27.—With a belch of flame and smoke, and a roar that was heard for blocks around, escaping illuminating gas in the basement of the store of D. C. Hazelton at 368 Tremont street exploded early last night, shattered windows, tore up part of the floor and threw bricks from the sidewalk nearly across the street and created a panic among tenants. The occupants and firemen report that the gas escaped from a rusty pipe.

Milk Inspectors Suspended

Boston, Jan. 27.—Mayor Fitzgerald has ordered the suspension of three Boston milk inspectors, E. F. Kelley, F. H. Cannon and W. H. Murphy, as a result of a conference between the mayor and the board of health regarding reports of collusion alleged to exist between the milk inspectors and certain milk dealers who are said to have been adulterating their milk.

Mayors at Governor's Reception

Boston, Jan. 27.—Members of the boards of government of Massachusetts cities and towns, and their wives, were guests last night of Governor Guild and his wife at a reception at Hotel Somerset. Practically every mayor in the state, as well as many town officials, some of whom came from remote corners of the state, paid their respects.

Exposure Brought Death

Sebago, Me., Jan. 27.—Joseph C. Shaw, aged 70, died last night from the effects of exposure. He had started to walk home from the village stores, a distance of about one mile. It is supposed he was overcome by a sudden illness. He was badly frostbitten when discovered and did not regain consciousness.

Fails For $78,000 While In Jail

Boston, Jan. 27.—John W. Maher, a Worcester real estate broker, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy through his attorneys yesterday. His liabilities are scheduled at $78,027.75, assets nothing. Maher is now serving a four-year sentence in a house of correction for the larceny of $5000 from R. G. White.

Will Case Under Advisement

Salem, Mass., Jan. 27.—After hearing arguments all day in the contested will case of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase of Swampscott, who died at her home last September under circumstances which were considered suspicious, Judge Harmon of the probate court announced last night that he would reserve his decision.

Honor to Sarah Bernhardt

Boston, Jan. 27.—In recognition of the services of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt to French drama, the Cercle Francais de l'Universite Harvard presented the famous actress with a gold medal last night. It is the first instance in which the medal of the organization has been given to a woman.

Rather Late Investigation

Bangor, Me., Jan. 27.—The police of this city are investigating the disappearance of Abraham Jacobson, a truckman, on Oct. 21 last, which has just been reported to them. It is alleged that on the night of Oct. 21 Jacobson was assaulted by someone, following a quarrel.

A Thieving Mail Clerk

Boston, Jan. 27.—William G. McCarthy, who was a postal clerk at the North terminal station, was sentenced by Judge Dodge to one year in the Cambridge jail. McCarthy had been found guilty of stealing letters from the mail.

Asphyxiated by Coal Gas

Milton, Vt., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Diana Berkeley, proprietor of a millinery store, was found dead in her home, where she had lived alone. Death was due to asphyxiation from coal gas which had escaped from a stove.

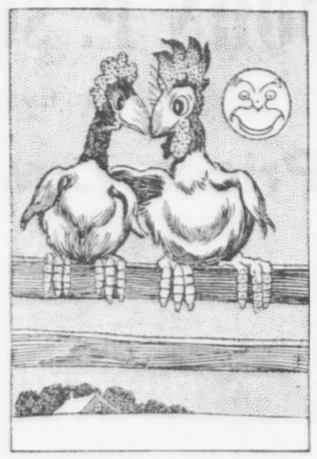

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Story the Moon Told

"I'll tell you a good one," said the moon to little Bill, as he looked in through his window one night after Bill had been tucked snugly into bed.

"Wish you would," cried Bill eagerly.

"Well," began the moon, with the usual manner of one about to tell a good story, "I was shining my brightest on the snow, which was as white as your sheets and more sparkling, doing my best to make a good night for the skaters on the pond and the lovers

GOT FROZEN FAST.

in the sleighing parties, when whom should I see but old Miss Speckletop and Mr. Shanghai sitting on the top rail of the fence around the ten acre lot. They were as close to one another as they could get without taking off their coats, and I noticed that he had his arm around her."

"Arm?" interrogated Bill.

"Well, I suppose I should say wing," said the moon, smiling. "And," he continued, "I heard him say to her: 'Oh, Miss Speckle, you are my tootsey wootsey! Tuk, tuk, tuk-aw!'

"And she replied: 'How sweet of you! Tuk, tuk, tuk-aw-say-so.'"

"Didn't you laugh?" asked Bill.

"Well, rather," said the moon, "for he said, 'I hope, dear, that your housekeeping bill will be as sweet and as small as your own when you present it to me.'

"But," said the moon, laughing, "they sat so long with their beaks together that they got frozen fast to one another, and when I set they were still on the rail. It doesn't pay to be too spoony. Good night."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Striped Velvet a Smart Trimming. Dinner Gowns and Street Frocks.

Finely striped velvet is a fashionable trimming put on in bands; also black velvet in the Greek key pattern is very much used on cloths and chiffon dresses, bodices and skirts in large and small designs. Piping in rows is a smart trimming just now on draperies and sleeves where the material hangs loose. Where the lines curve braid will be found the safer adornment.

MINK STOLE AND MUFF.

Blue in many different tones is worn this winter, but very little navy is to be seen. Electric, Alice and turquoise prevail. A deep shade of navy is charmingly combined with rose.

A dinner gown must now have a decided train and should be full and flaring at the feet. A black net frock is excellent for this purpose made with lots of wide tucks on the skirt and the taffeta "drop" finished with plaited ruffles that insure positively against the ugly clinging to the material about the feet.

Smart cloth frocks for street wear are made with short skirts that clear the ground in spite of the French edict for trailing jupes. Elaborate touches are given the jackets by the introduction of fancy waistcoats and revers or with beaded buttons.

The stole seen in the cut is one of the smartest models of the season. It is carried out in mink, beautifully trimmed with quills. The large pillow muff is similarly trimmed.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

AN OLD TIME BALL.

Society Function to Be Held In New York—Ghost Dance a Feature.

Arrangements are being made to give New York a real old fashioned Knickerbocker ball—one representing the people and the period of the early years of Manhattan's settlement, says the New York Times. Its invitation list is to include the old line aristocracy of New York, and its tone is to be exclusive. Weymer Jay Mills, who is a descendant of the Jay family and who is a member of the City club, is planning it and intends holding the ball in the old Astor House downtown, where the Vans and Tens back in the thirties danced and dined in what was then the heart of the metropolis. The old Astor House hasn't had a full fledged ball for many years.

Historical color will be given the affair through the costumes of the men and women who will attend. The men will wear the orthodox evening coat and trousers, with straps about the instep to hold the trousers over spatted boots. This will be set off with the fluffy frilled shirt and the broad tie of the years gone by. The women will be expected to wear the hoopskirt and old fashioned waist, with hair dressed after the style of the period.

The intention is to hold the ball in the main dining room of the Astor House. It is probable that the dance will take place some time in March or April. It is said that while many families of New York's best society will attend the invitation list will be limited to the families whose ancestors were among the early settlers of the city. The ballroom will be decorated appropriately, and the supper menu will be as nearly as possible like those of the early years of the last century in New York.

Another picturesque incident is to be a "ghost dance." Promptly at 12 o'clock on the night of the ball the ballroom will be darkened, and a dance in memory of the belles and beaus who were there so many years ago will be given. The dining room of the old Astor House, used as a dancing hall, has been the scene of many famous social events. It was here that the Prince de Joinville of France was entertained in the early forties.

FOREST IN A DINING ROOM.

Guests See Miniature Reproduction of Canadian Hunting Camp.

Unique among Brooklyn functions was a Canadian dinner given the other night by Alfred Van Derwerken at his home, 205 Berkeley place, for his son, Alfred Van Derwerken, Jr., of Quebec, says the New York Herald. In the center of the large table was an exact reproduction of a camp in the Canadian forest near Lake Alexander, where Mr. Van Derwerken and his friends hunt every fall. It was Mr. Van Derwerken's sixty-third birthday.

Jacques Ceyer, a French-Indian guide, made the hut with a knife. It was nearly three feet square and in every detail was an exact reproduction of a log cabin used in the camp as headquarters. On the sides of the little cabin were miniature fishing rods, snowshoes and skins of animals.

At either end of the cabin were ponds of water representing the lakes that surround the Canadian camp. Floating on the little ponds were tiny ducks and loons carved by the guide and canoes modeled after those used by the Brooklyn men on their hunting trips. In the ponds were goldfish. Surrounding the ponds were rows of Canadian twigs, representing the forests, and partly concealed among these were various kinds of birds and animals.

Lining the dining room were rows of evergreen trees, such as abound in the Canadian forests. Partly concealed behind a little grove of trees was seen the head of a big caribou which was recently shot by Mr. Van Derwerken. There were stuffed animals in the room that were killed near the camp. Many of the courses were served in log cabins, canoes and on small snowshoes, all whittled out of trees in the Canadian camp.

BIG POSTER IN CHURCH.

Reminder to a Congregation That Attendance Was Irregular.

Members of the First Congregational church, the largest congregation in Holyoke, Mass., were amazed on a recent Sunday to find a notice in large type posted in the vestibule, says a special dispatch from Holyoke to the New York Times. It read:

MISSING.—Last Sunday, some families from church.

STOLEN.—Several hours from Lord's day by a number of people of different ages dressed in their Sunday clothes.

STRAYED.—Half a score of lambs; believed to have gone in the direction of "No Sunday School."

MISLAID.—A quantity of silver and copper coins on the counter of a public house, the owner being in a state of great excitement at the time.

WANTED.—Several young people; when last seen were walking in pairs up Sabbath Breaking lane, which leads to the city "No Good."

LOST.—A lad carefully reared, not long from home and for a time very promising; supposed to have gone with one or two older companions to Prodigal Town, Husk lane.

Any person assisting in the recovery of the above shall in no wise lose his reward.

British Island For Sale.

The novelty of a sale by auction of a British island is announced, the "lot" being the Fanning island and the auctioneer the registrar of the British high commissioner's court at Fiji, who has issued advertisements in true auctioneer's style, says the London Chronicle. The island contains only 150 inhabitants and was seized by the British in 1888 as lying in the path of a possible submarine cable between Canada and Australia. The purchaser may turn his bargain to account by trading in mother-of-pearl, coral and guano.

DIVINE HEALING MARVEL

Pastor Vowed Lord In Person Cured Him of Cancer.

HOW HE ENDURED AWFUL AGONY

Given Up After Twelve Years of Suffering, Rev. O. S. Hillegas of Zionsville, Pa., Reappeared In Pulpit and Told of His Cure—Said No Man Is Healthier Than He Is Now.

Resuming his pulpit after a long illness, during which it was expected he would die from cancer, the Rev. O. S. Hillegas, a reputable and highly respected Mennonite minister of Zionsville, twelve miles from Allentown, Pa., declared on a recent Sunday, according to a dispatch from Allentown, Pa., to the New York American, that he had been cured by divine healing.

The preacher's narrative related by him from the pulpit, is a dramatic story of a divine miracle in the twentieth century. His case had attracted wide attention, since he had been given up by the doctors as doomed to a period of lingering, incurable agony and then horrible death. His fate was regarded as even worse than Dr. Harper's.

Here is his story as he told it to his large congregation:

"I was healed of that terrible disease, cancer, by personal action of divine Providence. I was afflicted for twelve years. I had forty-two cancers on my tongue, one on the inside of my lip, one eye was swollen shut and my right ear was affected.

"For years the devil tormented me through the doctors. The physicians said it was only a question of time until I would die. Then I gave them up and prayed to God in person to come to my relief. He answered by letting me know he would help me, and in a few weeks he cured me.

"God's action in my behalf was as great a miracle as any he ever performed. No man is more healthy than I am now.

"The awful disease had taken a fast hold on me. The doctor did all he could, and I gave him all the praise possible, but his treatment was torment for me. I pitied my wife that she had to be around me. I thought I would never talk again. I was half dead.

"I tried to struggle through my agony. I rolled on the floor. I did not want any one to talk in the house. No one can for an instant realize what I suffered. I wanted to die, since my torture was so great that I could not read the word of God.

"The doctor got on my track. He sent me letter after letter and came after me. He even threatened to have me arrested if I didn't let him finish his treatment. I pleaded with him to let me alone.

"I said I would put my case in the hands of the Lord. I waited on the Lord. I repeated to him Matthew, eighth chapter, second and third verses:

"'And behold, there came a leper and worshiped him, saying, "Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." And Jesus put forth his hand and touched him, saying, "I will; be thou clean." And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.'

"Again and again I repeated the appeal of the leper to the Lord. I got so close to the Lord that my spirit got into communication with him, and then the Lord spoke to me, saying:

"'Get up and be well.'

"I declared to my wife: 'I am going away. I am going to preach again.'

"She thought I was losing my mind, but I was so happy that I at once began to hop and skip. He healed my sores and put living words into my mouth.

"I was cured by healing divine. It is asked, 'Why are there so few healings?' Because of the unbelief of the people. They need faith."

The Rev. Mr. Hillegas submitted himself to the thorough inspection of his auditors, showing that no wounds and but few scars remained from the disease, and to prove that he felt thoroughly well he also performed calisthenics in the pulpit.

Plan For Reproducing Noted Home.

If the plans of the German ambassador and his American wife, who was Miss Lillian Langham of Louisville, Ky., do not go awry visitors to the national capital will behold a reproduction of Sans Souci, Frederick the Great's favorite home, before two years have passed, says a correspondent of the New York Press. Baron von Sternburg has asked the reichstag for permission to sell the present home of the embassy and build one adequate to the needs of his staff and worthy the dignity of his country. Active operations will begin this spring. The site will be on the western hills overlooking the National park. The grounds of Sans Souci, where the martial Frederick and his friend Voltaire talked war and philosophy, will be reproduced in every detail. The German emperor will send many portraits and works of art to the new embassy.

Autos on the Ice.

The Muskegon Automobile club of Muskegon, Mich., is planning a unique automobile tournament to be held on the ice of Muskegon lake the latter part of next month, says the Brooklyn Eagle. The lake is five miles long, and a straightaway track will be laid on the ice for that distance. In order to give the cars traction hot cinders are to be spread over the ice. It is expected that their heat will cause them to become firmly imbedded in the ice and that in this way a broad and smooth race course will be formed. Events are to be arranged from one to five miles, and the club will ask sanction from the A. A. A.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 34	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 23	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 34	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 50
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 43	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.15 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 5.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 A. M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 8.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.23 P. M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A. M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.46 8.46 9.46 10.46 11.46 A. M. 12.46 1.46 2.46 3.46 4.46 5.46 7.46 9.46 11.46 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.46 4.46 5.46 10.46 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Jan 20, 1906.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston. Week Days—5.59 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Nortolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6 00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Nortolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Local Ins And Outs

A four-column instalment today of "The Two Vanrevels."

Mrs. L. J. Myers is entertaining relatives from out of town.

Mrs. E. A. Penniman of Elm place is visiting her sister at Quincy Point.

John McCafferty of Newcomb square is suffering from a seige of rheumatism.

M. V. Collins has recovered from his recent illness, and is able to be out once more.

By reading E. M. Freeman's "ad" in this paper you may see something that will interest you.

A valuable dog belonging to John McKenzie went suddenly mad on Friday and it was necessary to have him shot.

The Sunday hours at the Quincy post office are: 9 to 10 A. M.; 4.30 to 5.30 P. M.

Fancy ladies' hat pins given away at the Saturday night assembly this week at Quincy Music hall.

Save the date of Feb. 7th, when there will be an open meeting of the Quincy Historical Society addressed by Rev. E. N. Hardy on "The Old-time Meeting House in Anecdote, Incident and Association." It is expected that some ancient music will be presented.

The lot of land on the corner of Sagamore and Prospect streets ought to be one of the most "sightly sites" in town for it is conspicuous both from the train and trolley cars. Instead of being a credit to Atlantic, it is used as a public dump, where broken glass, rags, paper and everything appetizing to goats except tin cans, abound in luxurious profusion.

The Squantum cars, which are supposed to meet the in-going express trains have kept patrons guessing lately. Not that the cars fail to meet the trains but those persons inside the cars are asking themselves if it be possible to do so when the train is almost at the station and the car at the top of the hill on Sagamore street. However as long as the car accomplishes its purpose no one can complain even though his mind is kept in a state of uncertainty.

Several persons in Atlantic, have had their charity tested by tramps these last few days. Such men may be all right begging outside a closed door, but once inside they would be dangerous, and unwelcome visitors, even to the person who gives them food. Feeding the hungry is all well enough when applied to children, but when an able bodied man shakes the door, and asks alms, it is safer to turn the key, and protect yourself. When a person can cover these men with a trusty revolver, it is time enough to think about aiding them. For the most part, they are a hard set of idlers, and when a woman is alone in the house, she will do well to keep the doors locked, and her sympathy for the truly needy.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,

Furniture and Piano Moving,

GENERAL JOBBING.

Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.

Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.

Quincy, Oct. 17.

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

Quincy Assembly

The Annual Party As Great A Success As Usual

The younger set were out in large numbers last evening at Music hall at the annual assembly of the Home Science Association.

It was by far the largest attended and most successfull of any similar assembly held by the association.

All parts of the city were represented, especially Wollaston and Atlantic which sent large representations. There were also many from Braintree and other places south of Quincy.

Although young people predominated there were quite a few middle-aged people.

Many beautiful creations of the costumer's art were worn by the ladies. Light shades predominated, with an occasional black which added a tinge of color to the scene, which served to lighten the effect.

From 8 to 11.30 were the hours, and there was not an unenjoyable moment.

Daggett played during the reception, and for the dancing.

In the receiving party were Mrs. E. H. Dewson, Mrs. T. R. Sturtevant, Mrs. J. H. Emery and Miss Ellen Fotler.

The ushers were: Messrs. William I. Dewson, Henry R. Holden, Eaton Pierce, Fred B. Rice, C. Allen Howland, Jr., Arthur Sibley, Jr., Moreton T. Swallow, Dexter E. Wadsworth, Charles E. Monroe, Joseph G. Morrison and Delcevare King.

Frappe was served throughout the entire evening.

The decorations were confined to potted plants and ferns which banked the front of the platform.

Special cars were in waiting for all points at the close of the assembly.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Edward H. Angier, Mrs. John A. Barbour, Mrs. John Downes, Mrs. Richard C. Drinker, Mrs. Arthur H. Doble, Mrs. Walter J. Harrison, Miss Georgiana C. Lane, Mrs. John L. Gow, Mrs. Warren G. Ogden, Mrs. Fred J. Peirce, Mrs. Henry A. Tirrell, Mrs. Roger H. Wilde and Mrs. George E. Williams.

Encampment Installation.

D. D. G. P. William H. Mitchell and suite of Boston, installed the following officers of Manet Encampment, I. O. O. F., last evening:

C. P.,—Frank L. Carlton.
H. P.,—James W. Young.
S. W.,—Andrew S. Johnston.
S.,—George C. Ela.
Treas.,—Edward B. Souther.
I. W.,—Charles S. Jones.
O. S.,—E. L. Goodridge.
I. S.,—Charles Kezer.
Guide,—Frank W. Flowers.
1st W.,—Aubrey R. Keith.
2d W.,—Thomas Merrill.
3d W.,—Thomas Mitchell.
4th W., N. S. Sanford.
1st G. of T.,—Albert Clark.
2d G. of T.,—Charles F. Foster.

After the installation a collation was served in the banquet hall followed by speeches.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

Following are the recent real estate transfers:

Herbert T Whitman to John Bisset, Jr.
Fred F. Snowling or B. et al to Newell & Snowling Construction Co.
Mary A. Evans to Herbert W. Robbins.
T. Haven Dearing to M. Josie Belcher et al trs.
M. Josie Belcher et al trs to Gerda E. Nelson.
Apheus F. Jenkins to Ruby A. Andrews.
Nathan G. Nickerson to Winfield A. Andrews.
Harlow H. Rogers to Edward Billings.
Edward Billings to Michael J. Jordan assee.
Herbert T. Whitman to Asa O. A. Sewell.
Willard Welsh to Gotlieb F. Burkhardt.
Fred A. Perkins ex to Thomas J. Hannon, $1,300.
Patrick H. Gallagher to Peter T. Fallon.
Peter T. Fallon to James E. Fallon et al.
John Robbie to Robert Maver.
William S. Friry et ux to Joseph C. Morse.
Henry N. Richards to John E. V. Hayden.
John E. V. Hayden to James H. Boyle.
Walter S. Redding to Old Colony Street Railway Co.
Samuel Williston by trs. to Doris Capron, $1,300.

Sunday's service at the Wol. Congregational church proved an inspiration to all who were fortunate enough to attend. The inauguration of the "free-pew" idea seems to have promoted a feeling of fellowship and sociability, and at the close of the morning service after an eloquent sermon by the pastor, a short time was devoted to social entercourse; everyone greeting his neighbor and making strangers welcome. The pastor and congregation unite in an earnest invitation to every person without a church home to find one here.

☞ To-day fresh violets 25 cents per bunch. Arnold & Johnson.

Canada Night At Unity Club

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Unity Club was held last evening in the Unitarian vestry. In the absence of the president, Rev. Ernest W. Hunt, who had charge of the evening, conducted the meeting.

The first paper was on "British Columbia" and was given by Mr. Kingsbury. He gave a very instructive description of the country and its inhabitants.

Mr. Frank E. Parlin gave a very interesting talk on the schools of Canada in general and Manitoba in particular, explaining their good and bad points, and answered questions that the audience chose to ask.

The evening concluded with an excellent talk on the "Northwest Territory" by Mr. F. H. Bishop. With the aid of a map, Mr. Bishop treated this comprehensive subject very instructively.

The music of the evening was in charge of Mrs. Charles T. Baker, and consisted of charming vocal solos by Miss Buxton with cello accompaniments by Miss Marion Moorehouse.

On the whole the meeting was a success in every way. There was a large number of members present, the papers dealt with their subject very efficiently and Rev. Mr. Hunt introduced the speakers with very bright and interesting remarks.

Odd Fellows' Exemplification

The program for the Odd Fellow's exemplification at Brainrree, unless some changes are made later, will be the afternoon and evening, Feb. 22, as follows:

Call to order at 1.30
Initiatory degree 2.00
First degree 3.45
Banquet 5.30
Second degree 7.00
Third degree 8.45

The tickets for the banquet will go on sale next Tuesday evening and continue until one week previous to the 22d of February. All brothers who wish tickets should get them early as the supply is limited and no tickets will be on sale at the hall. The committee having charge of the banquet tickets for Puritan lodge are the following past grands: H. J. Macandrew, Walter Gieger, Joseph Bailey, Charles Woodworth and Bro. Henry Binney. It is expected that the entire grand lodge officers will be present.

This is going to be the "Red Letter" day for Odd Fellows in Braintree. Odd Fellows of Braintree are earnestly invited to be present. Town Hall will be taxed to its full capacity, for if rumor can be credited fully 500 Odd Fellows will gather here on that day and evening.

Trolley Freight.

There was no opposition yesterday at the hearing by the Railroad Commissioners on the petition of the Old Colony street railway for right to carry freight over certain lines in Brockton, Easton, Raynham, Taunton, Dighton, Rehoboth and Seekonk, where the cities and towns have granted privileges. Counsel Warren appeared for the company.

C. A. Snow & Co., Washington, D. C., patent attorneys, have a small memorandum book and diary for 1906, which they will send to manufacturers, mechanics, or inventors for postage wo cents.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss.

At the District Court of East Norfolk, holden at Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, for civil business, on the twenty-seventh day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, William A. Smith, and James Marr, both of Quincy, in our County of Norfolk, copartners in trade under the firm name of the Smith Granite Company, and located in said Quincy Plaintiffs, vs. Edward J. Kisling Junior, and Spencer Hunniwell, both of Newark, in the County of Essex, and State of New Jersey, copartners in trade under the firm name of Edward J. Kisling, Jr. & Co., and located in said Newark, Defendants.

This is an action of Contract to recover forty-two dollars alleged to be due to the Plaintiffs from the Defendants on the fifth day of January, A. D., 1906, as set forth in the Plaintiffs' writ of that date.

And it appearing to the Court by the suggestion of the Plaintiffs and on inspection of the officer's return on the Plaintiffs' writ, that the Defendants were not inhabitants of this Commonwealth, nor resident therein at the time of the service of said writ, that they had no last and usual place of abode, tenant, agent or attorney in this Commonwealth known to the Plaintiffs or to said officer; and that no personal service of said writ has been made upon the Defendants.

It is ordered by the Court, here, that the Plaintiffs give notice to the Defendants of the pendency of this action, and to appear before said Court, on Saturday, the seventeenth day of February next, to answer to the same, by causing an attested copy of this order to be published in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed in said Quincy, once in a week, three weeks successively; that they may then and there appear, and show cause why judgment in the above entitled action should not be rendered against them; and that this action be continued to the said seventeenth day of February, or until notice shall be given to the Defendants agreeably to this order.

JOHN P. S. CHURCHILL, Clerk.

A true copy: Attest.
JOHN P. S. CHURCHILL, Clerk.
Jan. 27. 3t-27-3-10

New Market!

J. K. Morton,

1259 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Ever Day Direct From the Factory

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS, BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-3.

POOR MEATS and ADULTERATED FOODS

CANNOT BE FOUND IN

CHAS. H. BROOKS' MARKET,

But his clean white place of business is replete with a full line of the very best groceries, and that unexcelled

"HATCHET" Brand of Canned Goods.

Mr. Brooks is so thoroughly known in Quincy as a first class judge of Meats and fair dealer with all who patronize him that it is not necessary to dwell on that feature more than to say that what he offers for sale is only the best.

The BEEF, LAMB, PORK, CHICKENS, FOWL, CORNED MEATS, etc.

APPLES, ORANGES, CELERY, LETTUCE and other Vegetables are of such quality and appearance that to see them is to buy.

Telephone 295-3.

Quincy, Jan 26. tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,

Furniture and Piano Mover.

IN OR OUT OF TOWN.

Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.

JOBBING.

Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 26. tf

South Quincy Portrait Studio,

H. LITCHMAN.

Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.

All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.

303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

FOY'S FOR ALL THINGS!

Many people come to Foy's for all good things needed for the daily and Sunday dinner table.

They're secure in the knowledge that no matter what they need, if they buy here, it's sure to be of first quality and lowest price.

Our offerings for Sunday's spread include Native Poultry, Lamb, Mutton, Beef, Pork, Vegetables and Fruit, in most abundant variety.

Also:

Fine Granulated Sugar	5 cts. lb
Kennedy's Graham Wafers, 3 pkgs.	25c
Condensed Milk	3 cans 25c
Best Seeded Raisins	10c. pkg
Cream of Wheat	13c

R. E. FOY & CO.,

257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 397-3

Quincy, Jan. 25. tf

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

The Best of Job Printing at This Office.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble Institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

roducts

Best.

USAGE.

CHUBBUCK,

Piano Mover,

OUT OF TOWN.

ed Stored.
ken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
BBING.
ckerson's Candy Kitchen, in or at residence, 10 Foster ons.
tf

Portrait Studio,

LITCHMAN. pied in Crayons
d Water Colors.
ure Frames made to order.
Work Guaranteed.
reet, South Quincy.
tf

S FOR THINGS!

ome to Foy's for all good or the daily and Sunday

in th knowledge that no w need, if they buy here,
first quality and lowest

r Sunday's spread include Lamb Mutton, Beef, es and Fruit, in most

ed Sugar 5 cts. lb
ham Wafers, 3 pkgs. 25c
k 3 cans 25c
Raisins, 10c. pkg eat 13c

& CO.,

Street, Quincy Adams.
l. 357-3
tf

HOSPITAL

ity Hospital of Quincy)
PORATED 1889

City Hospital of Quincy earnions and bequests for the En-now amounts to over $60,000,
100,000 is urgently needed.

ars ($5,000) will endow a Free me may be given as the Donor sum for this noble institution serve us all in the hour of need, received.

TIMOTHY REED, Adams St.,
asurer. RICHARD D. CHASE,
g. Quincy, will be very glad or to answer any inquiries.

THE Christian Association
INCY, MASS.
– Incorporated 1892.)
the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN
ncy, with a firm faith in the great ich is being done for the young city, make their appeal for donaward paying the mortgage ine Association Building. When from debt it will serve as an e is a goodly income from the r prefer, such sum as might be s an Endowment for an educas, the Boys Department, or as a ways, and could be designated e Donor.

WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive
he General Secretary, ERNEST by to answer inquiries.

BATTERY'S LONG MARCH

Incidents of Greatest Artillery "Hike" In Time of Peace.

EXPLOIT OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Members of Sixth Field Battery on Their March From Fort Riley, Kan., to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., Were Tendered Splendid Receptions. School Children Lined Roadsides and Sang Patriotic Songs.

The members of the Sixth field battery of the United States artillery, commanded by Captain G. W. Gatchell, who made the now memorable march of 1,100 miles from Fort Riley, Kan., to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., in fifty-five days, are now fit as a fiddle and show no effects of the long march, says a Fort Sam Houston correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean. In fact, the condition of the battery was greatly exaggerated in some of the newspaper reports, and Captain Gatchell has replied to his critics. The men arrived at Fort Sam Houston in a healthy condition. Some of the horses were thin and some have work sores, but the post veterinarian says they are in good condition.

"The fact that the men were footsore and weary and wore torn and muddy clothing when they arrived does not mean that they suffered any great physical pain on the long march," said Captain Gatchell.

The loss of Private Arthur Hull was greatly regretted by the captain, but it was pointed out that Private Hull's malaria was probably contracted before the march, and had his condition been known he would not have been permitted to leave Fort Riley.

Otherwise it was a "great hike," as one of the men expressed it. The idea was to have the battery move just as it might move in wartime. The proposition was, "Send the Sixth battery at Fort Riley to join the forces at Fort Sam Houston." It was assumed that under war conditions the battery could not use the railways, which had possibly been destroyed, and that it was highly important for it to reach Fort Sam Houston in the shortest possible time. In reality the march was a practice march, intended to give the men practical experience.

In this march the battery passed through central and southern Kansas, crossed Oklahoma and a part of Indian Territory and traveled in Texas from the northern boundary to San Antonio, in the southern part of the state. When it entered the portals of Fort Sam Houston amid the cheers of the local garrison it had broken the record for the world's long distance march of artillery. It is by far the longest practice march ever made by artillery in time of peace, and no forced march in time of war, with the exception of Napoleon's retreat from Moscow, compares with it in distance.

The route to be followed in the long march was not laid out before leaving Fort Riley. It was marked out in a general way upon a field map, but the details were left to the discretion of Captain Gatchell. Through parts of Oklahoma and Indian Territory the route followed was located some distance away from any railroad.

Several severe spells of weather were encountered. The worst was when a blizzard swept down upon the battery one morning just after they left Austin, Tex., and it continued during nearly all of the remainder of the march to San Antonio, a distace of about ninety miles. The men walked nearly the whole distance in order to weep warm. The battery lost one man by sickness during the march. Private Arthur Hall was attacked with malaria and died in the hospital at Austin.

The route of the march was for the most part through a remote section of the west and southwest, where the United States troops are rarely seen. There was one bright and memorable feature of the trip, and that was the splendid receptions which were tendered the battery along the route by the rural and town citizens from the time of leaving Fort Riley until Fort Sam Houston was reached. At every town, large or small, the officers and men of the battery were the recipients of bountiful feasts and royal receptions.

Captain Gatchell relates many amusing and interesting incidents of the trip. The farmers along the route seemed to be especially proud of the soldiers. It was not unusual for the battery to be halted at a farmhouse upon invitation of the farmer and his good wife, who spread a feast of pies and sweet milk for the men and officers. At almost every farmhouse flags were waved as the battery passed by, and Old Glory was spread to the breeze on every schoolhouse.

At several places the school children were lined along the sides of the road and sang patriotic songs as the battery passed. Captain Gatchell relates an incident of one enthusiastic farmer in Texas who welcomed the battery with a salute from his shotgun. He fired the double barrels at the same time as each section of the battery passed him, and he cheered the men until they were out of hearing.

Many ex-Confederates joined in these enthusiastic welcomes to the soldiers. At Dacatur, Tex., General Sellars, a distinguished Confederate commander, insisted on the men and officers of the battery becoming his guests at a turkey dinner. The invitation had to be declined, as a stopover for the feast could not be made.

The battery encountered severe rains and floods in Indian Territory and north Texas. They had a hard time fording some of the streams owing to their swollen condition. The Canadian river was particularly difficult to cross, and the drowning of several of the men and horses was narrowly averted. The remarkable march is looked upon in military circles as a great triumph, but it is believed that it proved too severe a tax upon the endurance of the men and horses to bear repetition.

The march was made during the most favorable time of the year. The start from Fort Riley was at the first beginning of cold weather in that region, and it ended just as winter was setting in in southwest Texas. It is generally conceded that it would have been impossible for the long march to be made in either midwinter or midsummer.

During the march the appearance of the command was at some places the subject of adverse criticism on the part of newspapers—this despite the fact that all the men and horses of the battery came through the ordeal of a long march with but the loss of one man and one horse.

These clippings, which in some instances alleged suffering by men and horses, had been forwarded by the war department to General Jesse M. Lee, commanding the military department of Texas, and by him to be referred to Captain George W. Gatchell, commanding the battery. These newspaper stories about the suffering of the men and horses are thought to have arisen from first impressions gained on seeing the battery as it marched as it would in times of war through the country.

It was never anticipated that the march of the battery should be a demonstration of the American soldier as he appears in full dress uniform; neither was it the intention that the battery should at all times be in condition to halt and march into the midst of a brilliantly lighted ballroom and at once become to a man the hero of all the matinee girls who happened to be present. On the other hand, actual war was simulated. The men were continually on the march. They did not feel like shaving every day. Riding several hundred miles through all sorts of weather is also calculated to bring a polish to the surface of a soldier's trousers. It will also bring a ruddy glow of health. The members of the battery brought all of these back with them.

Captain George W. Gatchell shortly after the arrival of the battery referred to newspaper comments. On this subject he said:

March a battery through rain and mud and it will present a weather beaten appearance. Mud is splattered on the horses and the men, and they cannot possibly look their best. Most of the criticisms of an adverse nature on the battery were due to this condition. Some people could not comprehend that we were on a hard service march.

The results of the march, as regards the objects to be attained, are extremely satisfactory. We forded treacherous streams, experienced all sorts of weather, were subjected to almost every climatic condition the country affords and arrived here (Fort Sam Houston) with the loss of one man and one horse. The death of the soldier was regrettable, but we feel that it was just a coincidence; that he might have died under different conditions. The horse we lost was an old one and pretty well used up to begin with. An ambulance was abandoned at the ford of a river, but it also had about outlived its usefulness. With these exceptions we returned as we left. The march has been of great benefit to the officers and the men, as they have experienced service resembling that afforded by war times.

One of the rank and file was seen. He said:

It was a great hike. Of course, we are glad that it has ended, but there is not a man in the battery scarcely who regrets having taken it. No hardships were suffered by the men that could not have been avoided by themselves. True, it would get pretty cold nights in camp, but if a man did not have energy enough to get up and keep his fire going he should have had to shiver a little.

As a further evidence that the battery arrived home in good condition not a man of the command entered the hospital.

Five Millions For a Fence.

The government of New South Wales has spent over $4,000,000 for all kinds of means to prevent the growth of the rabbit plague, and it has now been decided to fence in the whole country with an immense wire net, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The expense for this wire net is estimated to exceed $5,000,000, and it is thought that the wire required for this purpose can be imported from abroad at the cost of about $150 per mile, delivered at Sydney. The rabbit plague is increasing from year to year, which is best shown by the fact that such an enormous amount as $5,000,000, or nearly 10 per cent of the annual revenue of the country, is to be spent for this purpose.

Exhibition For Burbank Creations.

What has been accomplished by Luther Burbank, the horticultural wizard of California, through his researches in the vegetable kingdom is to be demonstrated by the exhibition of specimens of his making the coming summer at Green Lake, Wis., says the Chicago Record-Herald. The collection will be sufficiently extensive to include the greater part of the more remarkable creations, which will be transported from Santa Rosa, Cal., and placed in the conservatories of Sherwood forest at Green Lake. George Wilson, proprietor of Sherwood forest, said recently that every effort was being made to have the collection in place in time to be opened to the public June 1.

Growing Lemons In Kentucky.

S. H. McMakin, one of the best known residents of Shelby county, is convinced that lemons can be raised in Kentucky, as he has grown them himself, says the Louisville Post. One specimen measures thirteen inches in circumference. Mr. McMakin planted a slip sent him by a friend in New York and obtained several lemons of great size. They require too much attention to be grown in Kentucky to any extent, but a few can be raised without difficulty.

FOR FOUR FAMILIES.

Odd and Attractive Little Apartment House—Cost, $4,500.

[Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.]

We herewith present an odd but attractive and low priced house arranged for four families, all improvements complete for each apartment, including hot air from two separate furnaces located in the cellar.

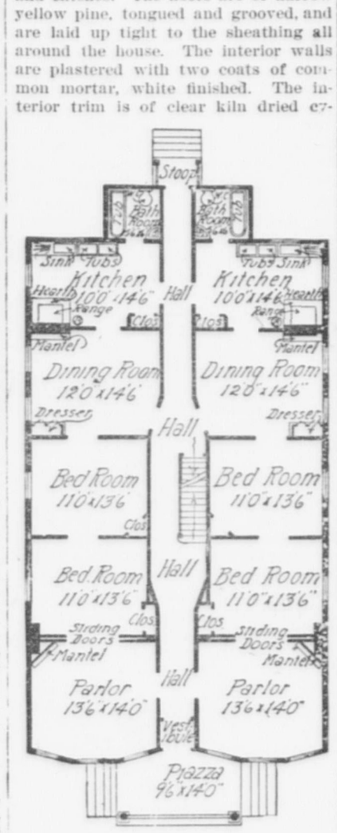

There is a cellar under the entire house, with walls of brick, cemented floor and separate coal bins. The frame is of hemlock lumber and timber, balloon style. The exterior walls are sheathed, papered, sided and shingled.

The roofs are covered with rough boards and guaranteed tin plates. The piazza columns, rails, brackets, etc., as well as the ceiling, are of North Carolina pine, finished in the natural wood. The windows have outside blinds of white pine, with rolling slats, and are fitted with modern hinges and catches. The floors are of narrow yellow pine, tongued and grooved, and are laid up tight to the sheathing all around the house. The interior walls are plastered with two coats of common mortar, white finished. The interior trim is of clear kiln dried cypress, with plain molded caps. The stairs are also of cypress, with oak newels, rails and balusters.

FRONT ELEVATION.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

The interior is finished in the natural wood. The mantels in parlors and dining rooms are of quartered oak, with bevel plate mirrors, slab tile facings and bronze summer pieces. The dressers in the dining rooms are of cypress, with drawers and closets below the counter shelf and glass doors above, with adjustable shelves. The kitchens have steel white enameled sinks, composition stone wash tubs, ranges with gas attachments and upright boilers. The bathrooms are provided with iron roll rim enameled bathtubs, porcelain wash basins in marble slabs and porcelain front washout water closets with attached oak seats and covers. The house is piped for gas and fitted with fixtures.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

While the design is for a flat roof house, an attic can easily be arranged for. The cost under normal conditions should be about $4,500.

THE SOCIAL REALM.

Judge and Mrs. E. C. Bumpus gave a dinner last evening at the Union club Boston, in honor of Mrs. Craigie, the London authoress and lecturer. Covers were laid for twenty-two, the guests being literary people of Boston, excepting Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur of this city, cousins of Mrs. Craigie.

* * *

A chafing dish party followed by hearts is the attraction offered the members of the Manet club next Tuesday evening, in the Parish house of Christ church. It is expected it will be a very jolly time.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Watson of Quincy avenue entertained a company of friends on Friday evening with music. Mr. Watson presented a resume of Wagner, the great composer, taking more particularly his writing of "Tannhauser." Selections from the opera were given on the pianola and grand piano. Friends from Braintree, Weymouth and East Braintree were present.

* * *

Among the recent pleasant social affairs was the informal at home given by Miss Grace Burke for Miss McDonald and Miss Hall, who have been in charge of the Hospital during the absence of Miss Thayar the matron.

* * *

At Hingham, on Thursday, there was a brilliant wedding in the Third Unitarian church, the bride being Miss Marion Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Childs, and the groom Mr. Robert G. Morse, son of Hon. Robert M. Morse of Jamaica Plain. Rev. Charles E. Park officiated. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

* * *

Mrs. Nathan Crane of Quincy avenue entertained her sisters Mrs. Chase and Miss Paty on Thursday. The sisters came from Plymouth to enjoy Mrs. Crane's birthday with her. Miss Lucy N. Crane dined with the company.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Burrell of Weymouth observed the fortieth anniversary of their marriage on Wednesday evening. Relatives were present from Weymouth, Hingham and Quincy.

* * *

The assembly at Music hall last evening was one of the most enjoyable for several seasons. There was a large attendance of young people of the city and a great many from out of town. The music was an inspiration.

* * *

Miss Floretta Vining is spending a few weeks at the Parker house, Boston, enjoying the midwinter social life of the city.

* * *

Chester G. Richardson formerly of Quincy, is now in California on his wedding tour.

* * *

Mrs. Pearl Craigie is not to return to Boston, for a lecture tour as planned, but sails next week for home as she wishes to be in London, when a new play of hers is brought out early in February. Her schoolmates and friends at the Point regret her early departure as they hoped she would spend some time in Quincy and Boston.

* * *

Mrs. E. C. Bumpus, president of the Quincy Woman's club, has been invited to be the guest of the Milton Woman's club at their musicale on Monday afternoon in the parlors of the First Parish chruch.

* * *

Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Leavitt, 69 Lincoln avenue on Monday.

* * *

On Tuesday afternoon February sixth the entertainment committee of the Quincy Women's club is giving a larget card party at the club house. It will be very enjoyable and a fine opportunity for club members to become acquainted. There will be no prizes but refreshments will be enjoyed between the games, insuring a social time.

Sunday at Y. M. C. A.

Two meetings instead of one, will be held at the Young Men's Christian Association on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Thomas H. Vincent of North Weymouth, will speak at 4 o'clock on the subject : A Modern Young Man in Ancient Times." This is the usual men's meeting in the hall. Mr. Herbert Curtis of the Mt. Wollaston National Bank will be the soloist.

At 3.30, Mr. R. V. Gring, a student at Harvard, and a member of the track team, will speak to boys in the gymnasium. This will be the first of a series of four meetings, held monthly from now to April.

Deputy J. S. Dolan of Quincy installed the officers of Division 15, A. O. H., at North Weymouth last Saturday evening.

BRAINTREE.

Superintendent of the post office W. A. Torrey, who has served Uncle Sam for more than twenty years, celebrated his forty-fifth birthday Tuesday evening by entertaining friends and relatives. Arthur W. Smiley presented Mr. Torrey with a gold-headed umbrella, the gift of employes, and received a fine speech of acceptance. John W. Cuff gave vocal selections and Miss Ethel Powell rendered piano solos. Refreshments were served and a delightful evening was spent.

Mr. R. E. Whitman and Dr. B. C. Shanks will occupy Mr. F. G. Pennock's new double house on Frederick road.

Last Monday evening the Matrons' Whist club met with Mrs. E. E. Thayer of Central avenue. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. J. E. Hayden and Mrs. Nathan L. Wood.

Mrs. J. R. Denbroeder of Pond street has recently been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Hawes of Providence, R. I.

Miss Nellie McInnis of Tremont street was taken to the Carney hospital yesterday for the final operation upon her heel.

George A. French and Charles S. Hannaford, two owners of fast horses were present Thursday evening at the Dorchester Driving club banquet. They report a large gathering of 300 people and a delightful evening.

Rev. C. F. Hill Crathern will preach at the South Church, Sunday morning on "The Renunciation of Unitarianism by Prof. Edward Everett Hale," son of Dr. Hale of Boston.

Mrs. Fred Spear of Washington street entertained a few of her friends at her home last Wednesday evening. Music and light refreshments were enjoyed.

Mrs. Betsey Evans (Steele) widow of the late John Malvena passed away Tuesday at her late home, 617 Washington street. She was born in Gloucester, the daughter of William Henry and Eliza A. (Haven) Steele. The funeral was held Thursday, Rev. F. R. Griffin of All Souls church officiating. Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery, Gloucester.

Contractor George H. Holbrook has completed the new house on Cleveland avenue for Mr. O. W. Hollis. The house is complete with modern improvements and is very pretty inside and out. Mr. Hollis moved in Tuesday.

Frank A. Smith, proprietor of the Braintree pharmacy, went to New York Wednesday with the Lancers. He is expected home today.

Little Horace Chick the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Chick, Middle street, is recovering rapidly from diphtheria.

The Washington whist club was very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Morrison, Adams street, Wednesday evening.

The January supper and sociable of All Souls church will be held next Wednesday. The committee is Mrs. N. S. Gould, Mrs. W. A. McKean, Mrs. F. A. Bates, Mrs. Laurens Maynard, Mrs. Wallace Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Emerson, and Mrs. N. L. Wood. Supper will be served at 6.30.

Miss Beatrice Dalton of Elliot street held a doll party at her home last Saturday afternoon and entertained a party of her young friends. There were games, music and a luncheon.

Rev. Melvin S. Nash of the First Universalist church, Weymouth, on Saturday evening united in marriage Miss Stella A. Eddy and Mr. Harry W. Berry. Miss Mary Archibald was bridesmaid and the best man was Gayton M. Eddy, a brother of the bride. The bride was married in white silk and the bridesmaid wore pink muslin.

Mr. F. O. Wellington has been at Atlanta, Georgia, the past few days and is now at Brunswick.

Miss Wilde, principal of the Jonas Perkins school has been detained at home two days this week we regret to learn she has had an attack of grip.

Samuel Henry for many years a member of Puritan lodge passed away at his home on Allen street, East Braintree, Thursday, in his eighty-first year. The funeral will be held this afternoon at two o'clock.

Death of Former Resident.

Mr. John McLeod, for a number of years a resident of Quincy, and who has many friends in this city, was buried at Hamilton, Ontario, on Saturday last.

He had been a member of Erskine church at Hamilton, for eight years, and the services were conducted by Rev. S. B. Russell and the Woodmen of the World. The pall-bearers were: A. Davidson, A. Benzie, W. Fletcher and J. Smith. The floral tributes included the following: Pillow, wife; anchor, children; wreaths, brothers and sisters Ald. T. J. Stewart, Canadian Order Woodmen of the World, Thirteen bugle band, Tuckett Cigar company, limited, and William R. Berry; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes, his fellow workmen, Herbert and Mrs. Harrison, Miss E. M. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Carnes, Lena and Mrs. Maskey, Zella and Mrs. Church, Dr. and Mrs. Davey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Porteons, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson, Mrs. M. Joyce, Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. Appelton, Miss L. Davis, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Dixon.

Wollaston Vs. Quincy

Wollaston and Quincy whist players tried conclusions at duplicate whist last evening at the rooms of the Granite City club.

Owing to the fact that there were six pairs of Wollaston men and but four pair of the Granite City club the result was somewhat unsatisfactory so far as determining which club were the most skillful players.

The result showed the conbined scores of the six pairs of Wollaston men to have been plus 15 3-5 and minus 17, and of the four pairs of Granite City men plus 9 1-5 and minus 7 4-5.

Of the pair scores Seymore and Thompson led with plus 7 4-5, and Hill and Mitchell were second with 7 3-5, while Baker and Litchfield were at the bottom of the list with minus 7 3-5 and Rideout and Tilden near by with minus 7.

The pair scores were:

Seymour and Thompson	plus	7 4-5
Hill and Mitchell	plus	7 3-5
Hoxie and Foster	plus	6 4-5
Curtis and Hallowell	plus	1 3-5
Fuller and Spaane	plus	1
Smith and Lally	minus	4-5
Brown and Taylor	minus	2 4-5
Stevens and Hathaway	minus	6 3-5
Rideout and Tilden	minus	7
Barker and Litchfield	minus	7 3-5

Class of 1906.

The graduating class of the High school has already selected its class photographer, and yesterday morning a group picture of the class was taken in front of the schoolhouse. It was thought advisable thus early, because activities are already displayed on enlarging the school building and lumber will soon cover the lawn.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

Manager Morrison's plans for the Empire stock company for the next few weeks indicates a determination on his part to fully maintain the high standard of productions made by this organization the present season. Next week the bill at the Empire will be the stage version of J. M. Barrie's delightful novel, "The Little Minister," which Maud Adams and her company made popular throughout this country a few seasons ago. Following, at weekly intervals, come productions of "The Taming of the Shrew," "The Governor of Kentucky" and "Fanchon," after which there will be a great scenic production of the famous melodrama, "The Soudan."

BOSTON THEATRE.

With the music fully as tuneful and catchy as that of "Florodora," with a wealth of scenic investiture, brilliant electrical effects, beautiful chorus girls bewitchingly attired, a company of 300 farceurs and singers, with Fred Walton, the famous English pantomimist, as the Toy Soldier, for the bright particular star of the aggregation, "Babes in the Wood," New York's latest, liveliest and loveliest musical extravaganza, comes to the Boston Theatre for a limited engagement, beginning Monday evening, January 29. The production is directed by the Shuberts, in connection with Mr. John C. Fisher, and the Boston presentations will be along the same lines as have characterized the presentation of "Babes in the Wood," under the caption of "Babes and the Baron," at the Lyric Theatre in New York City, where it has created a veritable sensation. The piece is replete with original songs of so catchy a character as to satisfy the most exacting; but, although the music of "Babes in the Wood" is perhaps its choicest element, there are many other equally enjoyable features.

"YANKEE CIRCUS ON MARS."

The New York Hippodrome is coming to Boston. In other words, "A Yankee Circus on Mars," with all its circus and vaudeville features, its massive scenery, gorgeous costumes and the same large number of stage people and chorus which made it the phenomenal success in New York City at the Hippodrome, will come to the Boston Theatre for an extended, if not indeterminate run, on the 30th of April next.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

One of the few modern plays of Southern life that have held the stage for any considerable period "Alabama" is certain to renew old acquaintances and make many new friends when it is revived at the Castle Square Theatre next week. It deals with life in the South at a pleasant period when the echoes of the Civi War had all died away, and in its vein of comedy is shown Mr. Thomas at his best. The characters are picturesque in the extreme, and the entire play gives a faithful, a dramatic, and amusing picture of life in the Southern state from which the play derives its name.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

It goes without saying that there will be an unusual attendance of music lovers at Keith's the week of Jan. 29 for the management have provided one of the world's great musicians for the principal feature of the variety show during that week. Auguste Van Bienne is known throughout the length and breadth of the world as one of its greatest living cellists, and in Europe his name has always been associated with "The Broken Melody" in which he won tremendous success. What the Keith management aver to be the greatest and handsomest equine act ever seen in Boston will be presented by Mlle. Therese Renz who scored the pronounced hit of the "Yankee Circus on Mars" at the New York Hippodrome during the past summer. The surrounding show is in keeping with the balance of the program and includes Howard and North, in an original conversational specialty, entitled. "These were the Happy Days," Wilton Brothers, European comedy acrobats, Carroll Johnson, "the Beau Brumel of Minstrelsy;" and Potter and Harris, acrobats and equilibrists. The usual new list of comedy and interesting notion pictures will be shown in the kinetograph. Harry Houdini, "the king of the handcuffs," is to be the star attraction the week of Feb. 5.

SHONTS OWNS UP

President of Clover Leaf Route at $12,000 a Year

CANAL JOB AT $30,000

Chairman of Commission of Two Tells Investigators of Methods In Connection With Making the Dirt Fly In Panama

Washington, Jan. 27.—That he draws $12,000 annually from the Clover Leaf route was an admission made by Chairman Shonts of the isthmian canal commission, which may have an important bearing on the canal investigation. Shonts was called by the senate interoceanic canal committee to make a general statement of all matters over which he exercises control. He was asked to state his former employment. He said that he had been president of the Clover Leaf route. After giving the mileage of that road and some other general information, it was brought out that he still receives $12,000 a year and continues to hold the title of president.

After getting into the record the fact that Shonts received $30,000 a year from the United States, the chairman of the commission was allowed to proceed. It was stated by members of the committee, however, that when they take up the question of reviewing salaries Shonts' case will be met. Shonts admitted that the commission had paid for the importation of women into the canal zone, the women being the families of laborers from Martinique, and that there was no way for the government to recover its money.

Mr. Shonts expressed the opinion that the canal commission should feed its laborers, but said several older men in the isthmian service believed in the contract system. Prices for all foodstuffs were high when the present commission took hold of affairs on the isthmus, said Shonts, and he then told of opening the commissary department to the laborers in order to remedy these conditions.

In reply to questions by Senator Gorman, Shonts said the commission had plans for six hotels. He said he could not tell just how much more accommodations would be needed until the type of canal is determined. The appropriations had been sufficient to carry on the work until July 1, and that "to make dirt fly" about 3500 white men and from 20,000 to 24,000 negroes are all that could be accommodated under the present conditions.

Senator Gorman conducted an extended examination of the witness concerning conditions at the time that Wallace surrendered charge of the work and Stevens took control. He showed that Stevens had increased the payroll from 8000 to 13,000 men in three months without doing anything toward digging the canal.

Concerning the expenditure of $500,000 by Wallace to estimate the cost of removing the dirt from Culebra, which had been declared by the present officials far from what will be the real cost, Shonts said: "If Mr. Wallace had received no equipment from the French company and had had to wait for suitable equipment, he would have spent the time in improving sanitation and for the care of laborers. Then he would have seen that fair weather estimates for the moving or dirt would vary from the cost of moving it under other conditions."

It was explained by Shonts that authority had been issued to Stevens to enter into contracts of various descriptions without submitting the terms to the canal commission, but that his acts under this broad instruction were subject to review. Shonts said that after the bids were scheduled and brought to him he approved the transactions without submitting them to the other members of the commission. Senator Gorman asked if the executive committee had daily sessions. "There are only two members now," said Shonts, "Governor Magoon, who is on the isthmus, and myself. There has been no third member since the resignation of Mr. Wallace."

Mr. Shonts put in a list of the directors of the Panama railroad and as the names were read Senator Morgan checked them off. "Farnam, who is he?" he asked.

"He is associated with Mr. Cromwell," said Shonts.

"Now that we are on this subject," continued Morgan, "what salaries do Mr. Farnam and Mr. Cromwell get for serving as directors of the Panama railroad?"

"Not a cent," was the reply.

"Well, do you think that other officials of the canal and railroad, who have such opportunities for renown and glory in doing the great work on which they are engaged, should emulate these public-spirited men and turn a part of their great salaries back into the treasury?" asked Morgan.

Mr. Shonts said Cromwell was a member of the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, which receives $6000 a year as counsel for the Panama railroad.

"In what other way is Cromwell interested on the isthmus?" asked Morgan.

Mr. Shonts said he knew of no connection, but that he had heard Cromwell was a small stockholder in an electric company on the isthmus. It developed that this electric light company is also engaged in the manufacture of ice and that a member of the company had protested against the canal commission erecting a plant for the manufacture of its own ice.

POWERLESS TO AID

Would-Be Rescuers Saw Valencia Victims Swept to Death

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 27.—Advices from Cape Beale report that communication has been held with Lineman Logan's party, which left on Jan. 23 over the land trails for the scene of the wreck of the Valencia. The party reached the spot before the wreck broke up on Wednesday and were helpless witnesses to the tragic death of nearly two score people who were carried to death by the tremendous waves which swept over the hulk of the wrecked steamer.

The Valencia lay 15 yards from the foot of the bluff, from the top of which they could plainly see the people clinging to the rigging and huddled on the hurricane deck. The people on the ship cheered wildly when they saw the party on shore, evidently thinking that they were to be rescued. About noon an immense wave struck the wreck and crushed everything to pieces. Everyone was swept into the sea and to their death while the party on shore stood, unable to do anything for them. The number of dead is now estimated at 114.

Cuban Tribute to Roosevelt

Havana, Jan. 27.—The senate last evening unanimously passed an appropriation of $25,000 for the purchase of a wedding gift for Miss Alice Roosevelt. It was pointed out that Cuba owed some evidence of appreciation to Theodore Roosevelt, and that the wedding of his daughter afforded opportunity to demonstrate Cuba's love for and appreciation of her illustrious father. Each speaker pointed out that all parties had agreed as to the appropriateness of the making of such a gift.

The Business Situation

New York, Jan. 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that no change appears in the business situation, weather conditions favoring outdoor work, but causing accumulation of heavyweight wearing apparel. Rubber mills have reduced time to five days a week and lumbering operations are seriously retarded by lack of snow and soft ground. Otherwise news of the week is satisfactory.

Philadelphia "Suicide" Mystery

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—With every crevice in their sleeping apartment tightly plugged and with the gas turned on full, W. A. Sewell and Leo T. Livingston, both of Baltimore, and longtime friends, were found asphyxiated in their room in a boarding house here. "Supposed suicide" was reported by the police, but the coroner refuses to confirm the theory in advance of the inquest.

Steere Holds the Fort

Havana, Jan. 27.—Persons from the Isle of Pines say that James M. Steere, the so-called territorial treasurer, who refused to comply with an order of the court to deliver up certain chattels involved in pending litigation which were stored in a warehouse of which he is custodian, has not been arrested, nor has he given bail, which the court ordered him to furnish.

Break In Norwegian Cabinet

Christiana, Jan. 27.—Dean Knudsen, minister of ecclesiastical affairs, has resigned in consequence of differences with the other members of the cabinet concerning the appointment of a non-Lutheran professor of theology in the University of Christiana. This is the first cabinet difficulty to be experienced by King Haakon.

Woman Shares Irving Estate

London, Jan. 27.—The probate of the late Sir Henry Irving's will has been granted. It divides his property equally between his two sons and Mrs. David B. Aria, a woman journalist, who has made dress a speciality and who has written on this topic in American as well as English papers.

Preacher Convicted of Fraud

Omaha, Jan. 27.—A jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Rev. George G. Ware, former rector of the Episcopal churches in Lead and Deadwood, S. D., who was charged with conspiracy to defraud the government by means of fraudulent land entries in Hooker county, Neb.

Casualties on Steam Roads

Washington, Jan. 27.—A bulletin just issued by the interstate commerce commission shows that during the months of July, August and September last 1053 were killed and 16,386 injured among passengers and employes of steam roads in the United States.

No Political Contributions

Milwaukee, Jan. 27.—President Palmer of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company denies the report from Nashville that his company had paid money for political purposes to influence legislation. He makes affidavit to his denial.

Decatur Leaves Academy

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 27.—The order dismissing Midshipman Stephen Decatur, Jr., from the naval academy was read out at dinner formation at the academy yesterday afternoon. Decatur left the grounds shortly after.

Assets Tied Up In Suits

Cleveland, Jan. 27.—T. H. Bushnell, receiver for the defunct brokerage house of Denison, Prior & Co., has returned from New York. He says he found something like $200,000 of assets there, but it is tied up in suits.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Jan. 28.
Sun rises—7:02; sets—4:52.
Moon sets—9:11 a. m.
High water—1:45 a. m.; 2 p. m.

The weather will be fair to partly cloudy, except that rain is probable in south New England.

The Perilous Path of Diplomacy

By HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1905, by Charles W. Hooke

"NONSENSE, my dear," said Mrs. Lockwood. "You can't tell the truth to a man. It has been tried and has always failed."

"But why, auntie—why? Honestly, I don't understand it at all. I haven't a dearer wish in the world than to be absolutely truthful to Donald. I've nothing to fib about except the fact that I'm a fibber, and I might as well tell the truth about that, because he knows it already. He catches me at it all the time."

"That's your own fault, Edith," said the elder woman. "You must learn to do it better."

Her tone revealed sincere sympathy. There was a heartiness in this admonition which made it truly diabolical. Edith looked quickly into Mrs. Lockwood's eyes, instinctively expecting to see some of her own sense of sin reflected there, but no such revelation came.

"Donald is so utterly truthful!" said Edith.

Mrs. Lockwood glanced over her shoulder at the girl and smiled in a way not quite so agreeable as before, a cynical smile this time.

"Now, auntie," protested the girl, "you mustn't try to destroy my faith in him."

"Far, far from it," said Mrs. Lockwood. "You couldn't make a better match, and if it's broken off while you're living in my house it won't be my fault. Is he jealous of Nat Hardy?"

"Oh, no; not jealous. And yet, of course, he knows that I received Mr. Hardy's attentions and that some people thought I was engaged to him."

"Confound the fellow!" said Mrs. Lockwood, with a calm and steady earnestness that gave her mild expletive the value of an oath. "And yet I favored him at the time. I thought him your best chance. I never dreamed that Donald Ainsworth was a possibility. He always had a great notion of blue blood, and, while yours is well enough in its way, there's none of it remaining except in your own veins. Your family on both sides of the house is only a tradition."

"If my father and mother had lived," said Edith, "I should have been a better girl. You know how I was reared. I try not to be bitter about it, but"—

"Apropos of truth telling," said Mrs. Lockwood, with amusement, "the conditions were not ideal. Your foster mother was a nervous wreck, and you lied to her as an act of mercy. It was a rule of the household. And your foster father was a nagging crank, to whom you dared not tell the truth unless you were quite sure that it would suit him. Oh, I knew my brother and his wife! So from the age of four until you were mercifully orphaned a second time and came to me you had small use for the virtue of veracity. And I have never insisted upon it. But why repine? The matter is of no consequence. Prevarication is a woman's natural weapon."

Edith's pretty childish face was wrinkled—or perhaps dimpled would be the better word—with a deeply studious attention. She believed that Mrs. Lockwood knew the world and all its ways. Everybody said she was a very brilliant woman, yet it was often hard to understand what she meant. Of course she didn't really believe that lying was right. She was a good woman, whose life was without reproach so far as it was known to this unsophisticated and affectionate girl of twenty summers.

MRS. LOCKWOOD GLANCED OVER HER SHOULDER AT THE GIRL.

"In regard to Mr. Hardy," said Edith, "it's very annoying that Donald has to see him so often. They are obliged to consult together because some of their clients are mixed up in the same law case. And Donald does not like—that is, he does not wholly approve"—

"In short, he knows that Nat Hardy is a scamp," said Mrs. Lockwood, "and he wonders how you could ever have loved him. Well, there was a time when I was afraid you couldn't, and now I'm mighty glad you didn't, and there's an end of it."

"I wish there were an end of it," returned Edith, "but there isn't. Last evening Donald asked me if I had received a letter from Mr. Hardy, and, of course, I said no. Then I saw Donald's eyes wander for an instant to my ring, and that meant that he didn't believe me. I must tell you that we've made a treaty, as he calls it. When he asks me anything by the sign of the ring I'm to answer the exact truth."

"Goodness, how did he happen to make such a request as that?"

"I'd fibbed about so many little things. You see, I love him so much that I can't help saying what I think will please him."

Mrs. Lockwood laughed with great enjoyment and then suddenly became serious.

"This matter of the Hardy letter is a different business," said she. "I guess you'd better tell him the truth."

"But I did, auntie," Edith protested. "I haven't seen any such letter."

"In our dealings with the sterner sex," responded Mrs. Lockwood, "we must always remember that the truth is not necessarily a statement of the facts; it is something that the man will believe. This philosophy should be taught in every girls' school; it is more important than cookery to the American home. But to return to our text. I'm of the opinion that Donald has reason to believe that Nat Hardy has sent you a letter. If he goes over to see Mr. Hardy frequently he may have seen the letter on that gentleman's desk."

"You don't mean to imply that Donald would"—

"Read it? Of course not unless through some accident. But one sees a name on an envelope at a single glance."

"If Donald saw a letter for me in Mr. Hardy's office, why didn't he tell me so straight out?" said Edith. "It's not like him to make a mystery of such a thing."

"He had a man's curiosity to know whether you would admit receiving the letter. The circumstance is odd enough to arouse his interest. Why should Nat Hardy be writing to you? I'm sure I can't guess, and I'd very much like to find out."

"Of course I asked him why he supposed that I might get such a communication," responded Edith, "and he said that he fancied that Mr. Hardy might have something to tell me. His manner was as if he thought I should be pleased, as if there were some surprise in store for me. I was so puzzled that I didn't care to ask any more questions."

"We must know more about this," said Mrs. Lockwood, with decision. "Tact and a telephone ought to help us."

"You are going to ask Mr. Hardy? I'm afraid Donald wouldn't like that."

"Donald will never know anything about it, my dear," answered Mrs. Lockwood.

She was absent from the room about ten minutes, and when she returned her face disclosed the self complacency of justified pride.

"I have the whole affair at my fingers' ends," said she. "Do you remember that little photograph of yourself taken at the interesting age of three years? You were greatly grieved by its loss. I heard you tell Donald of the inexplicable mystery of its disappearance."

"Well, what could I say? Donald wanted to see it, and I couldn't tell him that I suspected Mr. Hardy of stealing it. That would have made him angry."

"Your suspicions, my dear, were entirely correct," said Mrs. Lockwood. "Mr. Hardy has the picture, and Donald saw it in his apartments on Monday evening."

Edith gave a little cry of surprise and alarm.

"Auntie, you don't suppose that Donald thought I had given Mr. Hardy that picture and had told a falsehood about it?"

"Be tranquil, my child. Donald knows the truth or as much as is good for him. Seeing the picture there and having heard your story, he was naturally in a difficult position, from which he extricated himself handsomely. He merely mentioned to Mr. Hardy that you valued the picture highly because the memorandum upon the back of the card was in your mother's hand and happened to be the only bit of writing that remained to you, whereupon Nat Hardy had a remarkable impulse to do right. Quite a miracle, as it seems to me. He confessed that he had thoughtlessly filched the picture because it was so quaint and pretty and said that he would send it back to you with a humble apology immediately. While Donald was looking over some legal papers Nat wrote a letter to you, and he mailed it next morning."

"And it's lost, and the picture with it!" exclaimed Edith. "Oh, I'm so sorry!"

"Fortunately our friend decided not to trust the picture to the mails. He merely wrote to tell you that it was safe; that he regretted his misdeed and that he would return it by messenger."

Edith sank back in her chair, doubly relieved in mind.

"Thank goodness, there's nothing here that I must hide from Donald!"

Mrs. Lockwood smiled with an air of almost infinite wisdom mingled with pity.

"Mr. Hardy's letter has not come," said she. "Undoubtedly it has been lost in the mail. Will you say so to Donald?"

"Why not?"

"Because, my child, he will not believe you. The incident is possible, of course, but in real life it very, very rarely happens. Remember, Donald does not know that you know what he knows. Do you follow me?"

"You mean that if I knew that he knew for certain that Mr. Hardy had written to me I should tell the truth, but otherwise I might take the easy course and deny having received a letter?"

"Precisely. And you mustn't do it. I tell you, Edith, that this trifling matter is a bomb loaded with destruction. I have noticed a change in Donald's manner of late. He has been a bit chilly to me, and that's a fact. And when a man turns the cold shoulder toward the matchmaker it means that the match is in danger."

"Donald loves me," said the girl.

"But he doesn't fully trust you. So much you have made clear to me."

"I have thought that if I could really be what he wishes me to be, if in great things or small I could speak always the whole truth"—

"Nonsense, my dear; charming, childish nonsense! Now listen to me." And Mrs. Lockwood expanded at considerable length her wretched gospel of deception, and upon the end of it set forth concrete evidence.

"Remember," she concluded, with a shrewd eye on the girl, "that you are doing this for his own good and for the eternal salvation of his peace of mind. I say 'eternal' because it's the only word for married life. It's so long, so very long." And she indulged in the least little yawn at the memory of her own.

There intervened some hours. Evening came. Clocks, which were a fad of Mrs. Lockwood's, were calling 9 from room to room of the house. Edith had set her resolution, like a species of alarm gong, for this hour, and when all the

"WHY DID YOU TELL ME THAT YOU HAD RECEIVED THIS?"

clocks were still she looked up at Donald, who was standing before her, and said:

"You remember the little photograph that I lost?"

"Yes," said he, with the smallest possible start of surprise.

"Well, I've found it."

"You have found it?" he said slowly.

"I mean that I know where it is. Mr. Hardy has it."

"Indeed! Have you seen him?"

"No," she answered, shifting her look from his face to his tie.

"Perhaps Mrs. Lockwood"—

"Oh, no; she hasn't seen him either. I have had a letter from him."

He was much surprised, but Edith did not know it because she was now looking at a cuff of his coat.

"Yes," she went on in a voice not quite steady. "He wrote to say that he had taken it, not knowing how much I valued it nor why it was especially precious. He apologized humbly and promised to send it back to me at once."

"Perhaps he has already done so," said Donald after a brief pause.

"No, he hasn't; but I'm sure he will. What made you think he had?"

"As I was removing my overcoat in the hall a few minutes ago," he answered, "I happened to displace a tray upon a table. There was an envelope under it addressed to you in Mr. Hardy's writing. It was probably forgotten by the servant to whom the postman handed it in. I will get it."

He went out into the hall, leaving her rigid and staring. Before she could form a coherent thought he had returned and had put an unopened letter into her hand.

"If you would care to read it now"—he said and crossed to the piano, upon which he began to play softly.

Edith glanced once at him, then tore open the envelope. It contained, of course, the delayed communication from Nathaniel Hardy. And she had already told Donald what was in it!

"Oh, yes, yes!" she said in a choked voice. "Just a note to ask if I'd received the other. You see, I hadn't acknowledged it."

He turned toward her, and their eyes encountered. She could not withdraw hers, though his glance was unendurable to her. Slowly she advanced toward him and put the open letter into his hand.

"Why did you tell me that you had received this?" he asked. "By the ring, Edith; answer by the ring."

"I was afraid you wouldn't believe me," she whispered.

"How did you know what was in it? You said you hadn't seen him."

"Auntie talked to him by telephone."

He rose and walked away from her, then slowly returned.

"It seems to me," he said, "that we have come to a moment of decision."

She looked into his face, speechless with grief and terror.

"This can't go on," he said. "We must plan anew."

"Oh, Donald, she wailed, "I will never, never"—

"It's not a time for promises," he interrupted gently; "it's a time for action. I must take you away from here. Tomorrow? Will you marry me tomorrow?"

She burst into uncontrollable tears.

"Poor little girl!" he whispered, with the uttermost tenderness. "You've never had a chance; never, never a fair chance. I must change all that."

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel. Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mill. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

GOOD OPPORTUNITY
TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.
I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143-5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. ly

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan. 11. 1m

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Waverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 5-6

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 9.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
FLORISTS,
1511 Hancock Street, Quincy,
A Check good for one 50c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1.00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

A Ma... Duty
is to his fa... to his frend...
What obl... a man to gi... curity for ... thus imper... welfare?
Corporat... nished by ... Surety Co... every way s... sonal Suret... idly superse...
Don't a... necessary ri... mistaken id...
When as... bond, do y... service by ... communica...
Ame... Sure... Comp... of New...
George H. Brown, Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, A...
Adolph F. A. Schul...
J. H. Flint, Att'y,...
R. B. Worster, Agt...
Just a...
WITH YO...
PERFU...
If your package ha... name "ALFRED WR... RICKSECKER" on it, ... have the best that money...
We should be please... which we think is secon...
The WEEKS-H...
ADAMS B...
Quincy, Dec. 19.
The Green...
A Select Fa...
First Class ...
Baths on ...
Catering for Cl...
Dinners an...
AlsoHancock...
NEWLY FURNISH...
Steam Heat. Electric ...
Pool Room. Public...
Good Table. ...
Mr. and Mrs. W...
LESS...
Quincy, Jan. 13.
DR. C. T. S...
DENT...
Hancock Building, ove...
CITY SQUAR...
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 t...
Resi...
FRANK F...
REAL E...
AUCTIONEER a...
Office, No. 19 Temple ...
Aug. 17
Commonwealth of...
NORFOLK ss.
TO the heirs-at-law, ne... persons interested i...
JEREMIAH...
late of Quincy, in said Co...
Whereas, a certain ins... be the last will and testa... has been presented to sai... Mary M. Carey of Quin... ters testamentary may ... executrix therein name... surety on her official bon...
You are hereby cited ... Court to be held at Quin... Norfolk, on the fourtee... A. D. 1906, at nine o'clo... show cause, if any you ... should not be granted.
And said petitioner is ... public notice thereof by ... once in each week, for ... in the Quincy Daily Led... lished in Quincy, the last ... day at least before said ... post-paid, or delivering ... to all known persons in... seven days at least before...
Witness, JAMES H. FL... said Court, this seventee... in the year one thousand...
JOHN...
CHICHESTER'S PENNYROY... Original ... SAFE. Always ... for CHICHE... in RED and ... with blue ribbon. ... Dangerous Su... tions. Buy of y... stamps for Pa... and "Relief fo... turn Mail. 10... all Druggists. Ch... Madison...
Caution this paper.

D J. FEGAN,
ellor at Law.
liam B. Sullivan, Esq., mont Building, Boston
St., Tel. Haymarket 724.
9. Justice of the Peace.
lp-1y

OOD
t to Order at Short Notice
n, Gravel and Posts.
of all Kinds
O'BRIEN & SONS,
Copeland Street.
reet. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

PPORTUNITY
OWN A HOME
y easy payments.
ses near the Fore River
the owner is anxious to sell, low.
about them.
SS, Adams Building, Quincy.
6t

S H. BURGESS,
Insurance, Mortgages
er and Appraiser.
Constable.
Bills Collected.
Estates a Specialty.
Adams Building, Room 13
Office, 219-3
Residence, 25-6

P. TRACY,
Insurance of all kinds ected and Estates
ared For.
Washington Street.
Justice of the Peace.
e Lots For Sale or To Let
d and Houghs Neck.
tf

ARDWICK,
ellor at Law,
ock Building, Quincy.
ountain, City Square.
ons. Settlement and Care
s. of Estates.
e of the Peace.
s and Conveyances.
A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
day, Wednesday and Friday.
and Saturday afternoons.

MACOMBER
Exterior Painting.
work a specialty.
G and KALSOMINING.
reet, opposite Depot.
1y

QUINCY
loyment Office
ewer's Corner.
HELP of ALL KINDS.
navian Help a Specialty.
and Street, 2d floor.
P. M.
1m at a BARGAIN.

d 1 Square Piano
Easy Terms.
15 Granite Street.
KEATING,
Hand Furniture, Stoves,
and Carpets.
ppraiser. Nov. 21-tf

A. HAYDEN
Tuner.
Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock
Tower Court, Quincy Point
uincy. Nov. 3-tf

F. BURKE,
and INSURANCE.
TGAGES.
Notary Public
gs Bank Building.

& JOHNSON, RISTS,
k Street, Quincy.
r one 50c. Bouquet will be costing $2.
1 for 25c. worth of flowers
2. Checks can be used at
Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

K E. TUPPER,
r and Surveyor,
Building, Quincy.
105-3.
1y

Union Hotel
n $1,00 Per Day Up
nd Central Station
ew York
GE To and From Station FREE

N. CURTIS,
GLAZIER.
TAINED GLASS.
d Paper Hanger.
TURE REFINISHED.
off Spear Street, Quincy
phone 318-2.

A Man's Duty

is to his family first, then to his frends.

What obligation requires a man to give personal security for his friends, and thus imperil his family's welfare?

Corporate Bonds, as furnished by the American Surety Company, are in every way superior to Personal Sureties, and are rapidly superseding them.

Don't assume an unnecessary risk because of a mistaken idea of friendship.

When asked to sign a bond, do your friend a service by putting him in communication with the

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

The Greenleaf
A Select Family Hotel
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties
Dinners and Suppers.
AlsoHancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT
Steam Heat, Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE. QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER.
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

JEREMIAH CAREY,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Mary M. Carey of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t-20, 27, 3

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co. Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious. VIII—Carewe upbraids Betty for her action at the fire. He denounces Vanrevel, and Betty tells him that he escorted her home. Her father declaros that her escort was Gray. Carewe goes on a journey. Nelson, a negro servant, tells Betty that her father hates Tom because he is an abolitionist, yet hints at a personal cause involving Gray. IX—Mrs. Tanberry, an elderly belle, becomes Betty's chaperon. Betty is serenaded, and Mrs. Tanberry recognizes Tom Vanrevel's voice in a song written by Gray for Fanchon. Betty thinks that the voice is Gray's for it is not that of her incroyable.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER X.

MORE than three gentlemen of Rouen wore their hearts in their eyes for any fool to gaze upon, but three was the number of those who told their love before the end of the first week of Mr. Carewe's absence, and told it in spite of Mrs. Tanberry's utmost effort to preserve, at all times, a conjunction between herself and Miss Betty.

Miss Carewe honored each of the lorn three with a few minutes of gravity, but the gentle refusal prevented never a swain from being as truly her follower as before, not that she resorted to the poor device of half dismissal, the everyday method of the schoolgirl flirt, who thus keeps the lads in dalliance, but because, even for the rejected, it was a delight to be near her. For that matter, it is said that no one ever had enough of the mere looking at her. Also, her talk was enlivening even to the lively, being spiced with surprising turns and amiably seasoned with the art of badinage. To use the phrase of the time, she possessed the accomplishments, an antiquated charm now on the point of disappearing, so carefully has it been snubbed under whenever exhibited.

She sketched magnificently. This is the very strongest support for the assertion: Frank Chenoweth and Tappingham Marsh agreed, with tears of enthusiasm, that "magnificently" was the only word. They came to this conclusion as they sat together at the end of a long dinner, at which very little had been eaten, after a day's picnic by the river. Miss Carewe had been of their company, and Tappingham and Chenoweth found each his opportunity in the afternoon. The party was small and no one had been able to effect a total unconsciousness of the maneuvers of the two gentlemen. Even Fanchon Bareaud comprehended languidly, though she was more blurred than ever, and her faraway eyes belied the mechanical vivacity of her manner, for Crailey was thirty miles down the river with a fishing rod neatly packed in a leather case.

Mr. Vanrevel, of course, was not invited. No one would have thought of asking him to join a small party of which Robert Carewe's daughter was to be a member, but it was happiness enough for Tom that night to lie hidden in the shrubbery looking up at the stars between the leaves while he listened to her harp and borne through the open window on enchanted airs the voice of Elizabeth Carewe singing "Robin Adair."

It was now that the town indulged its liveliest spirit. Never an evening lacked its junketing, while the happy folk of Rouen set the early summer to music. Serenade, dance and song for them, the light hearts, young and old making gay together. It was all laughter, either in sunshine or by candlelight, undisturbed by the far thunder below the southern horizon, where Zachary Taylor had pitched his tent, upon the Rio Grande.

One fair evening soon after that excursion which had proved fatal to the hopes of the handsome Tappingham and of the youthful Chenoweth it was the privilege of Mr. Thomas Vanrevel to assist Miss Carewe and her chaperon from their carriage as they drove up to a dance at the Bareauds'. This good fortune fell only to great deserving, for he had spent an hour lurking outside the house in the hope of performing such offices for them.

Heaven was in his soul, and the breath departed out of his body when, after a moment of hesitation, Miss Betty's little lace gauntleted glove was placed in his hand, and her white slipper shimmered out from the lilac flounces of her dress to fall like a benediction, he thought, on each of the carriage steps.

It was the age of garlands. They wreathed the muses, the seasons and their speech, so the women wore wreaths in their hair, and Miss Betty's that night was of marguerites. "Read your fortune in them all," whispered Tom's heart, "and of whomsoever you wish to learn every petal will say, 'He loves you; none declare he loves you not!'"

She bowed slightly, but did not speak to him, which was perhaps a better reception than that accorded the young man by her companion. "Oh, it's you, is it?" was Mrs. Tanberry's courteous observation as she canted the vehicle in her descent. She looked sharply at Miss Betty, and even the small glow of the carriage lamps showed that the girl's cheeks had flushed very red. Mr. Vanrevel, on the contrary, was pale.

They stood for a moment in awkward silence, while from the lighted house where the flying figures circled came the waltz, "I Dreamt That I Dwe-helt In Ma-har-ble Halls." Tom's own dreams were much wilder than the gypsy girl's, he knew that, yet he spoke out bravely:

"Will you dance the first two with me?"

Miss Betty bit her lip, frowned, turned away and, vouchsafing no reply, walked toward the house with her eyes fixed on the ground; but just as they reached the door she flashed over him a look that scorched him from head to foot and sent his spirits down through the soles of his boots to excavate a grotto in the depths of the earth, so charged it was with wrathful pity and contempt.

"Yes!" she said abruptly and followed Mrs. Tanberry to the dressing room.

The elder lady shook her head solemnly as she emerged from the enormous folds of a yellow silk cloak. "Ah, princess," she said, touching the girl's shoulder with her jeweled hand, "I told you I was a very foolish woman, and I am, but not so foolish as to offer advice often. Yet, believe me, it won't do. I think that is one of the greatest young men I ever knew, and it's a pity—but it won't do."

Miss Betty kept her face away from her guardian for a moment. No inconsiderable amount of information had drifted to her from here and there regarding the career of Crailey Gray, and she thought how intensely she would have hated any person in the world except Mrs. Tanberry for presuming to think she needed to be warned against the charms of this serenading lady killer who was the property of another girl.

"You must keep him away, I think," ventured Mrs. Tanberry gently.

At that Betty turned to her and said sharply:

"I will. After this please let us never speak of him again."

A slow nod of the other's turbaned head indicated the gravest acquiescence. She saw that her companion's cheeks were still crimson. "I understand," said she.

A buzz of whispering, like a July beetle, followed Miss Carewe and her partner about the room during the next dance. How had Tom managed it? Had her father never told her? Who had dared to introduce them? Fanchon was the only one who knew, and as she whirled by with Will Cummings she raised her absent glance long enough to give Tom an affectionate and warning shake of the head.

Tom did not see this. Miss Carewe did. Alas! She smiled upon him instantly and looked deep into his eyes. It was the third time.

She was not afraid of this man flirt. He was to be settled with once and forever. She intended to avenge both Fanchon and herself. Yet it is a hazardous game, this piercing of eye with eye, because the point which seeks to penetrate may soften and melt, leaving one defenseless. For perhaps ten seconds that straight look lasted, while it seemed to her that she read clear into the soul of him and to behold it through some befooling magic as strong, tender, wise and true as his outward appearance would have made an innocent stranger believe him, for he looked all these things, she admitted that much, and he had an air of distinction and resource beyond any she had ever known; even in the wild scramble for her kitten he had not lost it. So for ten seconds, which may be a long time, she saw a man such as she had dreamed, and she did not believe her sight, because she had no desire to be as credulous as the others, to be as easily cheated as that poor Fanchon!

The luckless Tom found his own feet beautiful on the mountains and, treading the heights with airy steps, appeared to himself wonderful and glorified—he was waltzing with Miss Betty! He breathed the entrancing words to himself over and over. It was true he was waltzing with Miss Betty Carewe! Her glove lay warm and light within his own. His fingers clasped that ineffable lilac and white brocade waist. Sometimes her hair came within an inch of his cheek, and then he rose outright from the hilltops and floated in a golden mist. The glamour of which the incroyable had planned to tell her some day surrounded Tom, and it seemed to him that the whole world was covered with a beautiful light like a carpet, which was but the radiance of this adorable girl whom his gloves and coat sleeve were permitted to touch. When the music stopped they followed in the train of other couples seeking the coolness of out of doors for the interval, and Tom in his soul laughed at all other men with illimitable condescension.

"Stop here," she said as they reached the open gate. He was walking out of it, his head in the air and Miss Betty on his arm. Apparently he would have walked straight across the state. It was the happiest moment he had ever known.

He wanted to say something wonderful to her. His speech should be like the music and glory and fire that were in him. Therefore he was shocked to hear himself remarking, with an inanity of utterance that sickened him:

"Oh, here's the gate, isn't it?"

Her answer was a short laugh. "You mean you wish to persuade me that you had forgotten it was there?"

"I did not see it," he protested lamentably.

"No?"

"I wasn't thinking of it."

"Indeed! You were 'lost in thoughts of'"—

"Of you?" he said before he could check himself.

"Yes?" Her tone was as quietly contemptuous as she could make it. "How very frank of you! May I ask are you convinced that speeches of that sort are always to a lady's liking?"

"No," he answered humbly and hung his head. Then she threw the question at him abruptly:

"Was it you who came to sing in our garden?"

There was a long pause before a profound sigh came tremulously from the darkness, like a sad and tender confession. "Yes."

"I thought so!" she exclaimed. "Mrs. Tanberry thought it was some one else, but I knew that it was you."

"Yes, you are right," he said quietly. "It was I. It was my only way to tell you what you know now."

"Of course!" She set it all aside with those two words and the slightest gesture of her hand. "It was a song made for another girl, I believe?" she asked lightly and, with an icy smile, inquired further, "For the one—the one before the last, I understand?"

He lifted his head, surprised. "What has that to do with it? The music was made for you; but, then, I think all music was made for you."

"Leave the music out of it, if you please," she said impatiently. "Your talents make you modest! No doubt you consider it unmaidenly in me to have referred to the serenade before you spoke of it, but I am not one to cast down my eyes and let it pass—no, nor one too sweet to face the truth, either!" she cried, with sudden passion. "To sing that song in the way you did meant—oh, you thought I would flirt with you! What right had you to come with such a song to me?"

Tom intended only to disclaim the presumption, so far from his thoughts, that his song had moved her, for he could see that her attack was prompted by her inexplicable impression that he had assumed the attitude of a conqueror, but his explanation began unfortunately.

"Forgive me. I think you have completely misunderstood. You thought it meant something I did not intend at all, and"—

"What!" she said, and her eyes blazed, for now she beheld him as the arrant sneak of the world. He, the lady killer, with his hypocritical air of strength and melancholy sweetness, the leader of drunken revels and, by reputation, the town Lothario and light-o'-love, under promise of marriage to Fanchon Bareaud, had tried to make love to another girl, and now his cowardice in trying to disclaim what he had done lent him the insolence to say to this other: "My child, you are betrayed by your youth and conceit; you exaggerate my meaning. I had no intention to distinguish you by coquetting with you!" This was her interpretation of him, and her indignation was not lessened by the inevitable conclusion that he, who had been through so many scenes with women, secretly found her simplicity diverting. Miss Betty had a little of her father in her, while it was part of her youth, too, that of all things she could least endure the shadow of a smile at her own expense.

"Oh, oh!" she cried, her voice shaking with anger. "I suppose your bad heart is half choked with your laughter at me."

She turned from him swiftly and left him.

Almost running, she entered the house and hurried to a seat by Mrs. Tanberry, nestling to her like a young sapling on a hillside. Instantaneously several gentlemen who had hastily acquitted themselves of various obligations in order to seek her sprang forward with eager greetings, so that when the stricken Tom, dazed and confounded by his evil luck, followed her at about five paces he found himself confronted by an impenetrable abatis formed by the spiked tails of the coats of General Trumble, Madrillon, Tappingham Marsh, Cummings and Jefferson Bareaud. Within this fortification rang out laughter and sally from Miss Carewe. Her color was high, and her eyes sparkled never more brightly.

Flourish and clarions sounded for a quadrille. Each of the semicircle, firmly elbowing his neighbor, begged the dance of Miss Betty, but Tom was himself again and laid a long, strong hand on Madrillon's shoulder, pressed him gently aside and said:

"Forgive me. Miss Carewe has honored me by the promise of this quadrille."

He bowed, offering his arm, and none of them was too vain to envy that bow and gesture.

For a moment he remained waiting. Miss Carewe rose slowly and, directly facing him, said in composed and even voice, "You force me to beg you never to address me again."

She placed her hand on the general's arm, turning her back squarely upon Tom.

In addition to those who heard, many persons in that part of the room saw the affront and paused in arrested attitudes. Others, observing these, turned inquiringly, so that sudden silence fell, broken only by the voice of Miss Betty as she moved away, talking cheerily to the general. Tom was left standing alone in the broken semicircle.

All the eyes swept from her to him and back. Then every one began to talk hastily about nothing. The young man's humiliation was public.

He went to the door under cover of the movement of the various couples to find places in the quadrille, yet every sidelong glance in the room still rested upon him, and he knew it. He remained in the hall alone through that dance and at its conclusion walked slowly through the rooms, speaking to people here and there as though nothing had happened, but when the music sounded again he went to the dressing room, found his hat and cloak and left

"You force me to beg you never to address me again."

the house. For awhile he stood on the opposite side of the street, watching the lighted windows, and twice he caught sight of the lilac and white brocade, the dark hair and the wreath of marguerites. Then, with a hot pain in his breast and the step of a grenadier, he marched down the street.

* * * * * * *

In the carriage Mrs. Tanberry took Betty's hand in hers. "I'll do as you wish, child," she said, "and never speak to you of him again as long as I live except this once. I think it was best for his own sake as well as yours, but"— "He needed a lesson," interrupted Miss Betty wearily. She had danced long and hard, and she was very tired.

Mrs. Tanberry's staccato laugh came out irrepressibly. "All the vagabonds do, princess!" she cried. "And I think they are getting it."

"No, no; I don t mean"—

"We've turned their heads, my dear, between us, you and I, and we'll have to turn 'em again, or they'll break their necks looking over their shoulders at us, the owls!" She pressed the girl's hand affectionately. "But you'll let me say something just once and forgive me because we're the same foolish age, you know. It's only this: The next young man you suppress, take him off in a corner. Lead him away from the crowd where he won't have to stand and let them look at him afterward. That's all, my dear, and you mustn't mind."

"I'm not sorry!" said Miss Betty hotly. "I'm not sorry!"

"No, no," said Mrs. Tanberry soothingly. "It was better this time to do just what you did. I'd have done it myself, to make quite sure he would keep away—because I like him."

"I'm not sorry!" said Miss Betty again.

"I'm not sorry!" she repeated and reiterated to herself after Mrs. Tanberry had gone to bed. She had sunk into a chair in the library with a book, and "I'm not sorry!" she whispered as the open unread page blurred before her; "I'm not sorry!" He had needed his lesson, but she had to bear the recollection of how white his face went when he received it. Her affront had put about him a strange loneliness—the lone figure with the stilled crowd staring, it had made a picture from which her mind's eye had been unable to escape, danced she never so hard and late. Unconsciously Robert Carewe's daughter had avenged the other lonely figure which had stood in lonely humiliation before the staring eyes.

"I'm not sorry!" Ah, did they think it was in her to hurt any living thing in the world? The book dropped from her lap, and she bowed her head upon her hands. "I'm not sorry!"—and tears upon the small lace gauntlets!

She saw them and with an incoherent exclamation, half self pitying, half impatient, ran out to the stars above her garden.

She was there for perhaps half an hour, and just before she returned to the house she did a singular thing.

Standing where all was clear to the sky, where she had stood after her talk with the incroyable when he had bid her look to the stars, she raised her arms to them again, her face, pale with a great tenderness, uplifted.

"You, you, you!" she whispered. "I love you!"

And yet it was to nothing definite, to no man nor outline of a man, to no phantom nor dream lover, that she spoke; neither to him she had affronted nor to him who had bidden her look to the stars. Nor was it to the stars themselves.

She returned slowly and thoughtfully to the house, wondering what she had meant.

(Continued in next issue.)

HISTORIC QUINCY.

Pilgrmages Almost Daily to the City of Presidents.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902.	In 1898.
Sunday,	75	27	36	38	45
Monday,	66	36	37	47	40
Tuesday,	65	49	24	40	42
Wednesday,	46	43	24	36	30
Thursday,	29	41	20	33	32
Friday,	36	38	17	55	33
Saturday,	44	38	30	20	31

New Advertisements Today.

The City In Brief

Mrs. Mary A. Fox will entertain executive committee of Paul Revere W. R. C. at her home, Franklin street, Tuesday, Jan. 30.

John and Mary McCay the blind artists epeated their entertainment at Atlantic last evening, and will be heard next at Hyde Park.

The monthly social of the Wollaston Baptist church will be held in the chapel, Thursday evening, Feb. 1. Supper will be served at 6.30.

Mrs. John A. Wood of School street, who had the misfortune to slip on the stairs at her home, dislocating her shoulder, a few weeks ago, is improving although it has been quite painful.

Mrs. Frank C. Packard of Chestnut street has the sympathy of her friends, her sister Mrs. Joseph S. Whall passing away this week at her home in Ashburnham. Mr. and Mrs. Whall resided for many years on Greenleaf street and are well known here.

The Young People's Religious Union of the First church will meet in the church parlors Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. All interested in the work of the union will be glad to know that William G. Harrington, treasurer of the National Young People's Religious Union, will speak. All are cordially invited to attend.

Col. Higginson at Braintree.

Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, of Cambridge, author of many books among them being Cheerful Yesterdays, Contemporaries, Poems and Translations, Part of Man's Life, Women and the Alphabet, Army Life in the Black Regiment, A book of American Explorers, Common Sense About Women, Life of Margaret Fuller Ossoli, and histories of the United States, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Wales Wednesday afternoon and in the evening at the Cochato club entertained the club members for an hour.

The subject of his lecture was "The people that I have met." It was a privelege to hear him an event to be remembered for he is about the only man living who was personally acquainted and intimate with Henry W. Longfellow, James Russell Lowell, Daniel Webster and other men of fame.

Col. Higginson is now eighty-three years old, but very well preserved mentally and bodily so many instances sixty, to seventy-five years ago were given with great interest to his hearers.

The only regrets from the audience were that the attentive listeners could not hear more of Col. Higginson's endless reminisences of the people that he had met.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

3D SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, (UNITARIAN)—Rev. E. C. Butler, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by pastor. Sunday School at 12 noon. Young People's Religious Union in church parlor at 7 P. M.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington street—Rev. W. S. Perkins, D. D., pastor. Afternoon service at 2.30. Subject: "Heaven; what it is." Sunday School at 3.30. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Topic: "The Church Growing." Sunday School at 12 M. Topic: "Prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve Him." Music by the boys' choir. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30. Topic: "Home Missions in our City." Service of song and sermon at 7.30. Topic: "From Pasture to Palace." Special music by quartet, Mr. T. B. Pollard, Mrs. E. C. Page, Mrs. W. C. Lewis, Mr. C. R. Taylor. Our motto is, "A place for all and a welcome for all."

WEST QUINCY METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Rev. A. B. Tyler, M. A., pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sermon by pastor. Sunday School at 12 M. Epworth League at 6.15. Praise service and preaching at 7 o'clock. Tuesday evening at 7 P. M. class meeting and at 8 P. M. official board. Friday evening prayer meeting at 7.30.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, WOLLASTON—Rev. Edward Abbott Chase, minister. Morning service at 10.45. Subject: "The difference between the Saviorship of Christ and all other functions ascribed to him." Sunday School at 12.15. A happy hour service for boys and girls at 4 o'clock. Christian Endeavor meeting at 6.30. At the morning service the quartet will sing: "Cantate Domino," by Dudley Buck; "Grant to us, Lord," by Barnby and "In Him Was Life," by Schnecker. The seats in this church are free at all services.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, ATLANTIC—Rev. Jason G. Miller, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by the pastor. Sunday School at 12 M. Evening service at 7. Miss Nittie, a worker among the Italians of Boston will tell of her experence. Let everybody come.

METHODIST CHURCH ATLANTIC, corner Newbury avenue and Squantum street. Rev. M. C. Wright, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Subject: "Deserts made delectable." Evening service at 7 P. M. Dr. Willard T. Perrin will preach. All are invited.

CHRIST CHURCH, Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue—Rev. W. E. Gardner, rector. 8.30 A. M., holy communion. 10.30 morning prayer and sermon. Sunday School in the Parish house, men's Bible class in the church at 12 M. Evening prayer and address at 7 o'clock. Evening prayer and address at 170 Washington street, Braintree, at 4 o'clock. All welcome.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, of Braintree, Pythian Hall,—Morning service and Sunday School at 10.45. Subject: "Spirit." Golden Text: "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance, against these there is no law." Galations 5:22-23. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. at Christian Science hall, 460 Washington street, south of Hollis avenue, testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 and Tuesday evenings with gentlemen in attendance. All are welcome.

TODAY'S COURT.

Edward J. Devine was arraigned for assault on his wife Mary E. Devine at Randolph. Case continued until June 2.

The continued cases of Edward Russell and Robert Kelley, for attempting to extort money by threat from Joseph Bedat at Quincy, were called and again continued until Feb. 10.

BORN.

KENNEDY—In Braintree, Jan. 22, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy of Adams street.

REMICK—In East Braintree, Jan. 24, a son to Mr and Mrs. Charles Remick.

DIED.

HENRY—In East Braintree, Jan. 25, Samuel Henry of Allen street, aged 80 years, 10 months and 4 days.

THE DEAF CAN HEAR
By Using the AUROPHONE.
THEMEA'S EAR PHONE CO.,
1 West 34th St., N. Y.
NEW ENGLAND OFFICES:
Boston, 43 Tremont St., and Hartford, 26 State St. 31-25, 27, 29

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —State House, Boston, Jan. 24, 1906. The committee on harbors and public lands will give a hearing to parties interested in house bill No. 245, that cities and towns may regulate use of power boats, and require their registration and license, also house bill No. 50, report of commission on memorial reservation on the Daniel Webster homestead at Marshfield, at Room No. 428, State House, on Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 10.30 o'clock a. m. John E. Beck, Chairman. William R. Brooks, Clerk of the Committee.

Jan. 27. 1t

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —State House, Boston, Jan. 25, 1906. The committee on street railways will give a hearing to parties interested in the petition (house bill No. 146) of Samuel F. Coffin for legislation to restrict, prevent or terminate the disuse of railway lines by street railway companies; also the petition (house bill No. 234) of William B. Sullivan and others for legislation relative to the transportation of pupils of private schools by street and elevated railway companies, at Room No. 429, State House, on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 10.30 a. m. Wm. Turtle, Chairman. Geo. A. Shackford, Clerk of the Committee.

Jan. 27. 2t

AUTOCRACY DOOMED.

Andrew D. White's Verdict on the Outlook In Russia.

NEVER TO RETURN PERMANENTLY

Stormy Period Certain, but Liberty Is Dawning For Russian People, Says Former Ambassador—Deems Count Witte Their Hope—Urges War on Corruption In the United States.

"With prospects for liberty in Russia there must come a long and stormy period which would obey what an American philosopher once spoke of as the 'oscillatory law of human progress.'"

This statement was recently made by the former ambassador to Russia, Dr. Andrew D. White, the first president of Cornell university, while speaking before a large assemblage of students celebrating founder's day at Cornell university, says a special dispatch from Ithaca, N. Y., to the New York Herald.

There are two great difficulties in the way of anything like constitutional freedom in Russia at present, Mr. White said, the first being due to a complete change of view regarding Russia and her needs from 1825 to 1855, resulting in lack of education which has brought about ignorance among the masses of all that is desirable for men who take part in self government.

The second great hindrance of progress toward freedom, he said, was the repression of all discussion of political and social questions, either in the press or in public bodies.

"Before there is freedom," continued Dr. White, "there will be action and reaction. Autocracy may from time to time be restored by a soldiery disgusted by demagogues, as was the case with the Bourbons after the French revolution, or it may be restored by universal suffrage, as in the case of Napoleon III. after the French revolution of 1848, but such restorations of absolute despotism will be temporary.

"The old autocracy can never return as a permanency, and it is not too much to hope that progress toward liberty will be made in Russia somewhat like that in France, which after a century or more of sterile revolutions seems to have emerged into a peaceful and respected republic. A permanent republic in Russia can hardly come for centuries. The idea of a strong personal, centralized government is rooted in the ordinary ideas, just as the idea of republican and decentralized government is rooted in the ideas of every man, woman and child in the United States.

"Count Witte, in my opinion, is the only man who could stand any chance of carrying through a reasonable plan for a new order of things in Russia, of staving off bankruptcy and of checking civil war. On him rests the main, indeed the only, chance for rational liberty. He will undoubtedly at times have to do some severe things to repress not the aspirations for freedom, with which he is evidently in sympathy, but the mixture of wild fanaticism and of scoundrelism, which has caused the massacre of the Hebrews at Odessa and elsewhere, the destruction of great factories at Moscow and in other parts of the great empire and the wholesale burning and robbery of the landed proprietors in the Baltic provinces.

"Count Witte's opponents are many. On one side is the court and on the other the fanatics of every sort, but it is to be hoped that the terrible dangers of the country may unite men of all parties in giving him support. The idea of the nihilists is to make the country a mass of ruins on which they shall stand supreme. The folly of all this is proved by history.

"At the end of every such movement comes in the 'man on horseback,' whether Caesar, or General Monk, or Napoleon, or Napoleon III., or William I., or Bismarck and Moltke, or Cavour. As between life and liberty men will give life, as a rule, the place assigned it in the Declaration of Independence, where it speaks of the three inalienable rights as 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.' A nation must live, and as long as life lasts there is always hope that liberty may yet be achieved."

Dr. White expressed his sympathy and good will, which, in his opinion, all right minded Americans ought to feel for Russia in her present crisis. He continued:

"The Russian people are a great people. They are in great trouble. They are capable of a noble future, and our most heartfelt sympathies should go out to them. Our own country is not without great and grievous faults. The corruption which has been engendered by widespread devotion to money is known to the world. Fortunately we have free institutions which allow you to undermine and attack it. It is not covered up and shielded as corruption in Russia has been. Promotion and fame come here to those who expose and attack.

"I make a special appeal to you students to do all in your power to fight the men and things which are a reproach to democracy and to devote your thoughts and efforts in making the American republic a model of the best possible government for all the world and the harbinger of a higher and better future not only for Russia, but for mankind."

Vegetable Leather.

A plant, native to Japan, which furnishes a sort of vegetable leather is being introduced into the United States. The inner bark of this plant, after being subjected to a certain process, becomes as tough as French kid, so translucent that one can see through it and as pliable and soft as calfskin.

Creeks' Medicine Man.

The medicine man of the Creeks will not eat anything scorched in cooking. In treating a gun or arrow shot wound he as well as the patient will fast four days, only drinking a little gruel.

He will not allow a woman to look at his patient until he is well or dead. If his patient dies, the medicine man takes a lot of medicine himself in order to cleanse himself from the fumes or odor of the dead. The pallbearers, as we might call those assisting in the burial, also take the same cleansing process.

And, again, when an Indian committed murder, even in self defense, he went to the medicine man and took the cleansing remedy, claiming the remedy appeased the crime and the trouble to his mind.

At the full of each moon it was the custom of the bucks to drink medicine made by the medicine man to cleanse their systems. In camp the Indian killed nothing which was not eatable.—Indian Journal.

Reconciled Science and Religion.

A clergyman is quoted in Everybody's Magazine as confounding an advanced young woman who was demonstrating to him that science had disproved religion with this little parable. "Madam," he said, "I once knew a member of your sex who perfectly reconciled science and religion. She is a prominent member of the Young Women's Christian association, and she was making an address to a large gathering of women, which was interrupted by a terrific thunder shower. She shared with many the awful fear of thunder and lightning, and, with the others, she trembled in silence for a few moments. When a blinding flash was swiftly followed by a frightful clap of thunder she struggled to her feet and began to pray, 'O Lord, take us under thy protecting wings, for thou knowest that feathers are nonconductors.'"

The Men of Turkey.

With the exception of the Mussulmans the men of Turkey are laborers, one and all. Usually in the villages (for there are no farms as we understand the term and every one lives in a hamlet or a city) the men own the property in common with the rest of the family. When a girl marries she goes to her husband's home to live, and when her children become old enough they take their turn in tilling the fields and marketing the produce. Agriculture is the main occupation everywhere, and it is of the simplest form. The farmer rises with the dawn and in company with his wife, sons and daughters repairs to the fields. One woman only remains at home to prepare the meals and set the house in order.—Southern Workman.

December.

"Nobody is worried nowadays by the fact that the twelfth month of the year is called the tenth, December," says a writer, "and no doubt even the ancient Romans soon got used to the anomaly when the new year was shifted back from March to January, though the old names of the months were retained. But there was one of them who made ingenious use of it—Licinius, a rascally procurator at Lyons under Augustus. He insisted on having certain monthly payments made fourteen times a year, arguing, when December came round, that as it was the tenth month of the year and there ought to be twelve there must be two more to be accounted for."

Fed Them on Stale News.

In the British arctic expedition of 1875 one of the chaplains had a file of the London Times twenty years old, containing the Crimean war reports. One copy was given out to each ship daily. The officers had it first, then it went to the forecastle, and soon every one was as keen about the news as if the war had been proceeding. The clergyman in control of the press was besought to issue an evening edition, and when Sevastopol was about to be taken excitement ran so high that the newspaper office—a locker—was almost stormed. The editor, however, was firm and continued with his daily issue, the interest being kept up to the end of the expedition.

"In God We Trust."

The word "God" never appeared in any government act until the year 1864, when, at the suggestion of the director of the mint, former Governor Pollock of Pennsylvania, "In God We Trust" was stamped on the copper two cent piece. Before that time "E Pluribus Unum" had been the motto. Strange to relate, "E Pluribus Unum" on coins never was authorized by law.

An Inference.

Mrs. Jackson — Did you see Mrs. Briggs' collection of rare old china? Jackson—Yes. Her family must have been quite poor. Mrs. Jackson—No. Why do you think so? Jackson—Well, if they had been able to keep servants she never would have had that collection of rare old china.

Explained.

"Pop!"

"What is it, Willie?"

"Why is they a 'w' in 'sword?'"

"Ahem! For the same reason that there is a 'k' in 'knock,' Willie."

"Thank you, pop!"—Kansas City Independent.

Showed Her Age.

Grace—They say that Miss Fortyodde was named after her Aunt Georgiana. Gwendolyn—She looks as if she was named before her Aunt Georgiana.—Judge.

If men would consider not so much wherein they differ as wherein they agree there would be far less uncharitableness.—Addison.

Is It Your Own Hair?

Do you pin your hat to your own hair? Can't do it? Haven't enough hair? It must be you do not know Ayer's Hair Vigor! Here's an introduction! May the acquaintance result in a heavy growth of rich, thick, glossy hair! And we know you will never be gray.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THIS MARK DOWN SALE

OF OURS IS

No "Goat" Proposition.

There are no "BUTS" to it. No "IFS" either.

These SUITS and OVERCOATS and this WINTER UNDERWEAR

Wouldn't be half as good value next July.

We are reducing them now while you can get plenty of wear out of them.

ALL HEAVY WEIGHT GOODS MARKED DOWN.

DON'T buy anything in our line until you have examinoued our stock We do not handle anything but Reliable Merchandise.

YOURS FOR GENUINE BARGAINS.

F. D. FELLOWS CO.,

Reliable Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers.

1387 Hancock Street, City Square, Quincy Mass.

Jan. 18. th. fri. sat.-tf--o-tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Priee.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D.E. Wadsworth & Co.

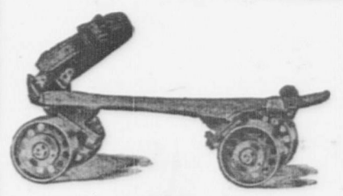

1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

QUINCY COLISEUM,

A. T. SADLER, Manager.

ROLLER SKATING.

Exciting races every night this week.

GOOD MUSIC.

During all racing and Special Events, admission to all 10 cents. Other nights, Gents, 10 cents; ladies, free.

Gents' skates, 25 cents; Ladies', 15 cents.

Quincy, Jan. 23. tf

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.

One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.

Barn — Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 0-6 with 11 stalls.

A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.

Storage—light and dry.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

Music Hall Block, QUINCY

Established 1887. Probate Business

Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, . . . 25 cents
" " three days, . . . 50 cents
" " one week, . . . 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

WANTED.

WANTED.—Young girl to learn to make ladies' neckwear. 237 South Central avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 27-3t

WANTED—3 or 4 Rooms, furnished or unfurnished, suitable for light housekeeping. Address "B.," Ledger Office. Jan. 26. 6t

WANTED—Work by the day. Washing, ironing, cleaning, etc. Enquire at Ledger Office for address. Jan. 25-6t

AGENTS Wanted for Quincy, Dorchester. Good money to right man. Call at Stables, 80 Washington street, Quincy, after 5 P. M. Mondays, or address Ideal Tea Co., 10 Meridian street, East Boston. Jan. 19-8t-f s.

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy. Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel. Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET.—Two-flat house, with modern improvements, at 321 Granite street. Six rooms each flat. Rent $15. Ready for occupancy about Feb. 10. Apply at 325 Granite street. Jan. 27-3t-2t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street. Quincy, March 17. 1p tf

TO LET—48 Revere Road, a well furnished, good size sunny Room, two large closets $2.50 per week. Also another medium size room; sun all day; hot water heat; $1.75 per week. Nice bath room. Quincy, Jan. 25-tf

TO LET—2 large connecting and 2 single Rooms; modern conveniences. Best neighborhood. Handy to cars. Address C., Ledger office. Quincy, Jan. 22-6t

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in core River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-12t

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 356 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x42, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 14-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

Quincy, Mass
BURIAL PLACE
of Two Presidents.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Quincy, Mass.
BIRTHPLACE
of Two Presidents.

Vol. 18. No. 25. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, JANUARY 29, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Bissell's Carpet Sweepers, $1.98.

Sweeping day is a trying day where a Bissell Sweeper is not used. Broom, dust pan and brush, tired back, clouds of dust, everything topsy turvey, and house wife cross.

With a Bissell Sweeper all this is saved. No broom, no dust pan, no dust, no back ache, it's just fun to do your sweeping.

For a limited period we will sell the famous ball bearing broom action Bissell Sweepers for $1.98, regular department store price is $3.00.

This is your opportunity—don't let it pass.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

COAL

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

WHY NOT BECOME
A Regular Reader of the
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER?

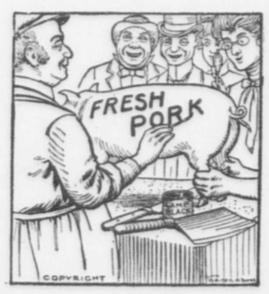

New Market!

J. K. Morton,

1259 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Ever Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS,
BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-3.

Great Injustice

Is Now Perpetrated By System of Distribution of Corporation Tax

Much of the injustice of taxation might be righted if the corporation tax, so-called, was retained by the State as proposed, and the State tax upon the cities and towns was abolished.

At present such towns as Brookline, Milton, Hull, Cohasset, Nahant, Weston, Winchester and others, collect much more from the State in corporation taxes than they pay in State tax.

Yet these towns are better able to pay taxes than many others which are less favored.

Only seven cities in Massachusetts receive a smaller share of the corporation tax than Quincy, yet this city with its large shipyard, Tubular Rivet Works and incorporated granite firms, pays into the State treasury very large sums.

Quincy is called upon to furnish these plants with water and sewer systems, with police and fire protection, to provide good streets and street lights, to school the children of employees, etc., etc.

The cities which receive a smaller share than Quincy are: Everett, Melrose, Chelsea, Chicopee, Gloucester, Marlboro and Woburn.

The cities whose State tax is smaller than the amount they receive from the State in corporation taxes are: Newton, Beverly, Fitchburg, Malden, North Adams, Salem, Taunton, Springfield and Worcester.

Fifteen of the 26 towns in the Greater Boston district are similarly favored, namely: Belmont, Brookline, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Nahant, Needham, Swampscott, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood and Winchester.

Some in greater degree than others as Milton receives in corporation distribution $68,191.58 and pays a State tax of only $28,040.00.

The Greater Boston towns which suffer are Arlington, Braintree, Dedham, Hyde Park, Revere, Saugus, Stoneham, Wakefield, Watertown, Weymouth, and Winthrop.

Quincy receives in the distribution of the corporation tax but $10,749.13, yet it pays a State tax of $28,880.

The corporation tax is now distributed by the State treasurer in proportion to the number of shares held within each city or town.

Inasmuch as a man with many shares can move from town to town, and be a resident of the town when he is taxed but a few months in the year, there is great injustice in taxation.

If the corporation tax cannot be distributed among the towns where the industries are located, it should be held by the State as proposed. The State should not foster rich men's paradises at the expense of other communities as it does at present.

State Treasurer Chapin has figured that the State would have received an additional revenue of $836,809 if the proposed change had been in operation in the year 1905.

Of course rich men generally will be opposed to the change, but it is justice that the people want.

Some of the injustice in the distribution of the corporation tax at present is shown in these figures, some towns without any industries receiving large sums, and vice versa:

	State Tax Paid.	Corporation Distribution To Towns.
Quincy	$28,880	$10,749.13
Milton	28,040	68,191.58
Hyde Park	14,720	8,405.95
Nahant	8,200	30,836.58
Everett	26,000	4,105.35
Cohasset	8,320	13,265.15
Chelsea	30,560	9,082.49
Brookline	112,200	218,057.25

Large Additions to Tubular Rivet Plant

Probably the largest single industry in the city outside of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company is the Tubular Rivet and Stud Company whose extensive plant is located at Wollaston. This company employs hundreds of men and girls and its manufactory buildings occupy a large area. Its business is one that is constantly growing and to meet its wants it has been found necessary to enlarge the plant almost annually.

Two new buildings are now under construction, both of which are situated on the southerly side of the plant. The buildings are to be of brick and will correspond with the other buildings of the company.

The larger of the two new buildings is 60 by 125 feet. This building is located nearest the railroad track. The second building is located to the east of this building, toward Hancock street.

The size of the second building is 90 by 100 feet.

The foundation of the first building has been completed and workmen are now engaged laying the brick walls. Windows are placed every four feet so that it will be well lighted. Work on the second building has not progressed as far for the workmen are now engaged in building the foundation for the cellar or basement.

Capital $50,000

The South Shore Grain Co. was incorporated last week with a capital of $50,000. The incorporators are Fred D. Hough, William S. Hardwick and John R. Nelson.

DON'T FORGET
— THAT —
A Check good for one 50c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.

And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON,
1511 Hancock Street. Quincy, Jan. 29-9t

John Adams.

Report of Lieut. Col. Kincaide

There have been many conflicting rumors relative to the camp discipline of the Massachusetts militia at Westfield last summer, but the report of Lieut. Col. Henry L. Kincaide of the Governor's staff shows that there were grounds for criticism. A Boston daily prints the report in full, but The Ledger quotes only the conclusion:

Lieut. Col. Kincaide sums up the tour of duty as follows: "Discipline very poor throughout the week; military courtesy, fair; policing, fair; observance of calls, poor; drill, good; guard duty, poor to fair; officers' control of men, poor.

COL. KINCAIDE.

"The regiment is composed of splendid material but the tour of duty shows conclusively that discipline is a minor factor in armory instructions with the larger number of companies.

"The regiment commander should have spent more time on the line during the early days in camp getting in touch with his regiment. There seemed to be a general tendency among many officers to do no more than was absolutely necessary, and much valuable time was wasted both outside and during the drill periods. Majors should have been more alert and should have held their companies in better control.

"It seems important that the discipline of the regiment receive immediate attention. Officers should, while in uniform and on duty require absolute obedience to orders, regulations, customs of the service and military courtesy.

"With proper attention to discipline the 2d regiment can hold a place second to none in this commonwealth."

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

The races every night this week will be run in heats, three men in a heat. The winner each night to qualify for the final on Saturday, Feb. 3. On Wednesday evening in addition to the heat there will be a one mile race for the Championship of Quincy between George Eaton who holds the title and John Morrison. This race ought to prove exciting as these two men have had some pretty lively brushes.

Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

Adams Chapter

Celebrate Anniversary Presidents Portrait Unveiled

Under the stars and stripes floating over the Chapter headquarters the birthplace of John Adams, the Adams Chapter of Quincy of the society of the Daughters of the Revolution, celebrated on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 27, its 100th meeting and its tenth anniversary which will be long remembered by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

At 3.30 the past and present members with a few invited guests assembled in the long room before the open fire places, where with a few words of welcome the regent and founder of the chapter, Mrs. N. V. Titus, welcomed all.

The historian of the Chapter, Mrs. E. Granville Pratt gave a brief account of the various patriotic and historical celebrations given by the Chapter during the past ten years. The chief event being the erection of the cain on Penn's hill to mark the spot from which Mrs. Abigail Adams with her son John Quincy Adams, then a boy, watched the smoke of burning Charlestown while listening to the guns of Bunker Hill, 17 June, 1775.

Following the historian's report the report of the treasurer, Mrs. William Porter of Randolph, was of exceptional interest, showing that during the past ten years this chapter numbering less than fifty members have by their own exertion raised and expended for the care and maintenance of the chapter headquarters and for patriotic and historical work over $1,600. All bills are paid and a surplus in its treasury.

The growth and prosperity of the chapter of the Junior society which is the largest in the state was also spoken of.

After this, all eyes turned to the spot, where draped and covered with an American flag stood the large oil portrait of John Adams, recently purchased from the heirs of Miss Lyle Durgin, and which was painted by her for the Massachusett's room of the New England States building at the Pan American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y. It had been handsomely framed, and a liberal contribution was also made toward its purchase by the Hon. Charles Francis Adams to enable the chapter to secure it.

With a few appropriate verses, Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould, a special friend of the Adam Chapter for many years unveiled the portrait, while the audience involuntarily arose when the fine lifelike features of John Adams were unveiled to veiw.

The portrait is a fine reproduction of the Stuart portrait of John Adams and will add greatly to the interest of the house. It was later placed in the room in which John Adams was born which is about to be fuanished for the Chapter in the style of the Colonial days.

The angel of Birth and the angel of Death,
Enveloped in Love's atmosphere,
Come down from the beauty and rest of their homes
To minister in our homes here.

The angel of Birth came to linger awhile
In this hallowed and time-honored place,
And left a blest child, who, in full, later years,
Honored ever the town and the race.

To keep in remembrance the wise work he did
As leader in pioneer days,
The artists and thinkers have given their gifts
Which we of this age love to praise.

And 'tis well that the Daughters, descendants, and friends,
Should pause in their work by the way,
To render just tribute to days of the past
Such as give us delight on this day.

So now we are lingering in the home of his birth,
To unveil for the glad, future eye,
A Potrait imbued with the power and strength
No artist or time can defy.

Stand forth, then, John Adams, in art's lasting realm—
A king of our land though unerowned!
May the wealth of thy spirit that fostered mankind,
In all hearts and all homes abound!

The regent then introduced Hon. Charles F. Adams and expressed the thanks of the Chapter for his great courtesy to the Chapter during the past years and a rising vote of thanks was also given for his liberality in assisting the Chapter to secure the portrait.

Mr. Adams spoke interestingly of the various portraits of John Adams and called attention to the frame, saying that it was an exact reproduction of one of the frames used by Stuart.

A letter was then read from Miss Harriet Thayer Durgin, expressing her gratification that the portrait should find a home where her sister had always wished it might be, and expressing her regret that owing to her absence in Bermuda she was unable to be present.

Hon. Brooks Adams, president of the Quincy Historical society, which occupies the birthplace of President John Quincy Adams near by, made a few remarks and invited all present to visit the house, which many did at the close of the meeting. Rev. Daniel M. Wilson, formerly pastor of the Unitarian church in Quincy, and now of Northfield, spoke a few words of congratulations to the chapter and extended his good wishes for its future.

The regent, Mrs. Titus, then presented the chapter with a gavel made from an old oak beam which was taken out of the house during the restorations in 1897. In both ends of the gavel have been inserted two pieces of the old red cedar tree, which was standing upon "Merry Mount" when John Adams was born.

This famous tree was incorporated in the seal of the city of Quincy.

The regent, in presenting the gavel, expressed the thought that as the savin or cedar tree is known by its fragrance and healthful qualities, so might the Adams chapter go on year by year giving pleasure to all by its good works; and as the oak, above all the trees of the forest, is the symbol of strength, that the chapter might increase and prosper as time went on.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Titus for her acceptable gift.

Mrs. Titus founded the Chapter ten years ago at the home of Miss Annie L. Prescott in Quincy and has since been its regent.

Attention being then called to the preservation of the old mile stones of Quincy, Mr. Adams spoke again briefly, after which he presented a gold-headed cane made of historic wood from the birthplace of Abigail Smith in Weymouth to the Chapter. He was given a rising vote of thanks.

The exercises then closed with singing of "America."

Tables were then laid for an old fashioned supper, the committee in charge being the Vice Regent, Miss Annie L. Prescott, Chairman Mrs. Gilson; Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Pratt, Miss H. B. Pierce, Miss Hinkley, Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. G. T. Magee.

At 5 o'clock about fifty sat down to supper, which was a reminder of the olden times, the tables being lighted only by candles and the blaze from the open fire places.

Supper being over the regent called the guests to order and with a few remarks upon the interesting events of the day she called upon each one in turn around the table to give a word of greeting. Many of the impromptu speeches were much enjoyed.

The Regent then read an original poem written for the occasion after which all joined hands, and sang "Auld Lang Syne," the meeting closing in season for all to get the homes before the "curfew" rang.

Thus closed what was a most enjoyable occasion long to be remembered by all fortunate enough to be present.

House Bargain at Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence will sell a very nice Cottage House of 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, large lot of land, 10 Standish avenue, Wollaston. Connected with sewer. Two minutes from station. $2.350 Reasonable terms.

Enquire of F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine street, Melrose, Mass.,
or L. W. Nash, opposite depot, Wollaston
Jan. 29. 18t

A BARGAIN IN SUGAR!

A conditional bargain in strictly high grade, Granulated Sugar, is offered you at Foy's for 4 1-2 cents a pound—22 lbs. for $1.

To get Sugar at this price, you must buy either a pound of our best 50-cent Tea, or 1 lb. of our choicest grade 30 cent Coffee.

We want you to become acquainted with the merits of our Tea and Coffee—we want to build up a big trade in these two staples.

You never bought Sugar so cheap—you can't buy Coffee or Tea, as good, at these prices anywhere.

Another bargain inducement—Large, fancy, fine, Santa Clara California Prunes, 10c. lb., worth 15c.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

By act of the Legislature of 1905, the twelfth day of February will hereafter be observed as Lincoln day. It will not be a legal holiday but the Governor, by proclamation, will recommend appropriate exercises in the public schools and other observances.

Local Ins And Outs

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet Thursday evening.

One dose of printers' ink per day is what E. M. Freeman is trying at present.

There will be no meeting of the City Council tonight, the next meeting will be Monday, Feb. 5.

Work was commenced today laying the foundation walls for the addition to the High school.

The Committee on Public Buildings of the City Council and the special committee on the collection of ashes will meet tonight.

The Ward Three Republican Committee has organized with Harry S. Nicol as chairman and Walter E. Piper as secretary and treasurer.

The Ward Two Republican Committee has organized with Eugene N. Hultman as chairman and C. Arthur Sampson as secretary and treasurer.

Reference to the Daily Ledger temperature record today shows that a year ago this week the noon temperature was below the freezing point every day.

Nickel plated rods have been placed across the lower part of the glass in the door leading to the post office. These will probably prevent the glass from being smashed again.

Lieutenant and Mrs. G. A. Wardwell of Wollaston are among the invited guests at the reception given by Governor and Mrs. Curtis Guild at the Hotel Somerset this afternoon.

Comforting.

"H-have you seen a bull about in this field?"

"Naw. I'm lookin' for three that hev strayed."

Making a Splash.

"I see that our friend has taken a hand in politics."

"I am not sure," answered Senator Sorghum, "whether he has taken a hand in it or merely put his foot in it."—Washington Star.

Talk and Sleep.

Doctor—Do you talk in your sleep? Patient—No; I talk in other people's. I'm a clergyman.

GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

JOHNSON & BROWN

Washington Street.

Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable

Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.

Horse Clipping by Power.

80 WASHINGTON STREET.

Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

A NEEDED REFORM

Movement Toward Purification of the Ballot

PUBLICITY THE METHOD

Organization to Work For Passage of Law Requiring Disclosure of Campaign Contributions and Promises of Money

Washington, Jan. 29.—Publicity of election contributions and expenditures and the formation of organizations to promote these purposes in all states are urged in an address issued last night by the national publicity bill organization. The address follows:

"For the purpose of eliminating by all appropriate methods the evils resulting from secret contributions and expenditures of large sums of money in elections, a meeting was held in the city of Washington on Jan. 17, 1906, an association was formed to be known as the National Publicity Bill organization, and this address was authorized:

"The secret and corrupt use of money in the election of the chief magistrate of a nation, its legislators and its state and municipal officers, is a dangerous menace to the institutions of a free people. The profligate use of money for such purposes enables the consolidated interests, by secret contributions, to dominate political organizations, depriving the many of their political rights to confer them on the few.

"It is confidently asserted that the first and most important measure of relief is the passage of a national law requiring the disclosure, under oath, of every contribution of money and every promise of money in national campaigns, and, in case of evasion, providing for exposure, detection and punishment substantially as set forth in a bill prepared under the auspices of this organization.

"This organization desires to promote the formation of similar organizations in every state of the union in order that the proposed national law may be supplemented by state legislation of like character and as nearly uniform as possible. This movement has the support of leading representative men of the political parties and of organized labor. It concerns the rights and honor of every citizen, and the approval and active co-operation of all are earnestly invoked to carry this reform to a successful conclusion."

The address is signed by Perry Belmont, New York, president, and Frank K. Foster, Boston, secretary, and concludes with a list of committees.

Dunne May Realize Dreams

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Mayor Dunne has signed the street railway municipal ownership ordinances recently passed by the city council. The ordinances will go before the people for approval by ballot this spring. The ordinances provide for the issuance of $75,000,000 in Mueller certificates and empowers the city to own and operate street railways. If the ordinances pass popular vote, the mayor expects test cases of the Mueller law, but rests content in the belief that his plans will be realized within 15 months.

Immunity Pleas Go to Trial

Chicago, Jan. 29.—That the question of the indicted packers' immunity from prosecution must be tried on the facts became a practical certainty when the last effort of opposition attorneys to reach an agreement by which the matter might be expedited failed. The hearing that now becomes necessary will involve the taking of a large volume of testimony and will last for perhaps three weeks.

Poison Ends Honeymoon

Abbeville, Ala., Jan. 29.—The jury in the case of Walter Nordan, a young merchant who has been on trial for a week for the murder of his wife, returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment as life imprisonment. His bride of three weeks died suddenly and it was found that her death was due to strychnine poisoning.

Slocum Captain Gets Ten Years

New York, Jan. 29.—Captain William P. Van Schaick, master of the ill-fated excursion steamer General Slocum, in the burning of which more than 1000 lives were lost, was found guilty of neglect contributing to the disaster and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment by Judge Thomas. There is no recommendation as to mercy.

Long-Forgotten City Discovered

Mexico City, Jan. 29.—Count Maurice de Peregny, a French archaeologist, has discovered in the Peten district of Guatemala evidences of what he claims to be an immense ancient city of the Mayas, which will take months to properly investigate. He will return to this continent next year to complete his investigations.

Witte Gets Cheering News

St. Petersburg, Jan. 29.—Count Witte has received a telegram from General Linevitch reporting that all is quiet with the Manchurian armies. The general also reports that order prevails at Vladivostok, where the mutinous sailors have been disarmed.

Train Wreck In Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 29.—The Frisco Limited, bound for Kansas City, was wrecked one mile north of Dora shortly after midnight. The accident was due to a broken rail. Several passengers were injured, but none seriously.

A DASTARDLY DEED

Bomb Thrown Into House Occupied by Twenty-Two Persons

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 29.—A dynamite bomb, hurled through a second story window of the house of Paul Mosczynicki, 32 Union avenue, at 2:30 Sunday morning, exploded and tore away the rear part of the house, blowing out the floors and rear wall. Twenty people were asleep in the house, but no one was injured.

The cap of the bomb went through the wall of the house at 40 Richland street, 150 feet away, and was found in a picture frame in the tenement of William J. Riordan. The force of the explosion shook that whole section of the city.

The police are looking for Frank Czybowowski and his wife, formerly part owners of the building, from possession of which they were evicted by mortgage proceedings.

Mrs. Maggie Bootk, who occupied the lower tenement in the house, was taken to the city hospital last night, crazed by the effect of the explosion and suffering serious complications from her previous delicate condition.

Miss Valeska Burakvicz, aged 22, who was asleep in the room adjoining where the explosion took place, was buried under debris, but was only slightly hurt about one shoulder.

A second bomb, eight inches long and made of 2½-inch gaspipe, was found in the yard and is in possession of Chief of Police Stone.

"Fireproof" Asbestos a Failure

New York, Jan. 29.—Eight hundred patients in Bellevue hospital were endangered by a fire which threatened to become serious in the laundry building shortly after midnight, yet, through the quiet and effective work of the hospital fire brigade and the regular firemen, who responded with muffled bells and silent whistles, only a small number in some of the outlying pavilions were awakened. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have started the blaze, a remarkable feature of which was that sheets of asbestos, supposedly fireproof, burned like tinder, according to the chief of the hospital fire brigade.

Served Under Two Flags

New York, Jan. 29.—An imposing military pageant passing across the Brooklyn bridge and thence to St. Thomas Episcopal church in Fifth avenue, where brief services were held, and an escort across the North river to Jersey City, where the body was placed on a train to be taken to Washington for interment in the national cemetery at Arlington, marked the funeral in this city of Brigadier General Joseph Wheeler. The body of the dead soldier was wrapped in the flag of the Confederacy and the Stars and Stripes.

Unions of Government Employes

Paris, Jan. 29.—Six thousand government employes held a meeting here last night and adopted a resolution demanding that the government frame and have passed a bill permitting its servants to form unions. All classes of public servants were represented, from school mistresses to jailers. Sixty similar meetings were held in the provinces, at each of which a like resolution was adopted.

Lumbermen Are Handicapped

St. John, Jan. 29.—Because of the continued mild weather and lack of snow the lumbermen in some sections of New Brunswick are worrying over the prospect of great difficulty in getting the timber out of the woods. During the past years lumbering operations in the province were below the average and if it is necessary to leave the logs in the woods this winter it will mean a serious loss.

Woman Robbed and Murdered

Nashville, Jan. 29.—The body of Mrs. Rosa Mangrum, which was found in the Ohio river at Cairo, Ills., has been identified by the husband and sister of the dead woman. Mrs. Mangrum's relatives believe she was chloroformed and robbed and her body thrown into the river to hide the crime. Detectives at work on the case have a clue substantiating the theory of murder.

Three Shot In Running Fight

New York, Jan. 29.—In a running fight between Detectives Downing and Janeke, employed by the Lackawanna Railroad company, and Stephen Buffano, who is said to have been detected stealing brass journals at Mountain View, N. J., all three men were shot. Buffano was tried and acquitted last week in Passaic county for stealing journals. None of the men will die.

Shooting Affray at a Dance

New York, Jan. 29.—At a dance given by the Metamora social club, Antonio Platanio was seriously shot in the back by Jack McKeon, 18 years of age, while both men were dancing with young women on the crowded ball room floor. McKeon was held on a charge of felonous assault. The shooting is said to be the outcome of one of the feuds which abound in the East Side.

Pretender Fighting Loyalists

Madrid, Jan. 29.—According to a dispatch from Melilla, the Spanish seaport on the north coast of Morocco, the troops of the pretender, Bu Humara, have ravaged the Riff region, a coast range of heights and mountains in northern Morocco, wild and difficult of access. There was much fighting, in which the loyal Khabyle tribesmen were invariably beaten.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Jan. 30.
Sun rises—7; sets—4:55.
Moon sets—11:08 p. m.
High water—3:15 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.

The weather will be fair in New England. There will be a slight fall in temperature.

MANN IS ARRESTED

Perjury Charge Against Editor of Town Topics

ECHO OF HAPGOOD TRIAL

Alleged That He Swore Falsely In Denying That He Put "O K" on Letter From Ward to "Fads and Fancies" Solicitor

New York, Jan. 29.—Colonel W. D. A. Mann, editor of Town Topics, was arrested on a charge of perjury growing out of his testimony in the recent criminal libel proceedings against Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly. Mann was arrested in his offices by a detective of District Attorney Jerome's staff. He ordered his automobile and, with the officer, drove down town to the criminal courts building, where he was arraigned before a city magistrate and held in $10,000 bail for examination on Feb. 1. Bail was furnished by Mrs. Albert A. Wray, a daughter of Mann, who pledged as surety real estate valued at $300,000.

COLONEL W. D. MANN.

The specific charge against Mann, as stated in the warrant for his arrest, is that he swore falsely in the Hapgood trial in denying that an initialled "O. K." on a letter from Count Reginald Ward to Moses E. Wooster, a solicitor for "Fads and Fancies," was his own. The letter from Ward to Wooster was offered in evidence by Hapgood's counsel. It referred to certain paragraphs that were to appear concerning the count and asked that he be put on the regular "posting list of Town Topics."

This request was underlined in the original of the letter and a line drawn from it led to a circle in which was marked "O. K. W. D. M." Mann, when shown this letter while a witness in the Hapgood trial, said he had not placed his initials upon it.

The criminal action against Mann followed a day of conferences at the district attorney's office, participated in by Robert J. Collier, James W. Osborne, who acted as counsel to Norman Hapgood; Moses E. Wooster, and a handwriting expert. Mann had been informed of these conferences early in the day, when it was intimated to him that he might be wanted. He replied that he would be at his office until later in the afternoon. He did remain at his office and when the detective with a warrant for his arrest finally arrived he was pleasantly greeted by the head of the Town Topics company and was invited into the private offices. It was then that the trip down town in the automobile was arranged. Mann shook hands with all the employes in the Town Topics offices and bade them good-bye.

Justice McAvoy, sitting as a magistrate, was waiting at the criminal courts building to act in Mann's case. The colonel was represented in the proceedings by his son-in-law, Albert A. Wray, as counsel.

When formally arraigned Mann said he did not know what the charge against him was. The warrant, covering three pages of typewritten legal cap paper, was read. It related the incidents leading up to the Hapgood trial, the introduction of the Ward letter and the denial of the initials by Mann.

Colonel Mann asked for an early hearing, saying he would prefer that the case should go on Sunday. Assistant District Attorney Hart objected to coming into court on Sunday and next Thursday then was agreed upon.

Mr. Wray asked that Mann be paroled in his custody as counsel, but the district attorney's office objected vigorously, Hart declaring that the charges were so serious he would have to ask that at least $10,000 bail be required. Justice McAvoy upheld the request of the prosecution and Mrs. Wray executed the bond of $10,000.

Trial Drags Slowly

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 29.—The trial of Greene and Gaynor today entered upon its fourth week, with the prosecution having made but slight progress in the introduction of its evidence. The juror who has been ill is able to go on with the case.

What the War Cost Japan

Tokio, Jan. 29.—An official report submitted to the diet shows that the actual outlay for the war, from the beginning of hostilities to their end in September last, was, for the army, $495,000,000, and for the navy $90,000,000.

A Square Deal!

The CONSOLIDATED

Are firm believers in "A SQUARE DEAL," and they are now convinced after a week's trial that the only way they can give their customers a "SQUARE DEAL" is to return to the keeping of a full line of both

MEATS AND PROVISIONS.

Accordingly they have bought from SWIFT & CO. a complete stock of the

CHOICEST SELECTION

—OF—

SWIFT'S DRESSED BEEF, etc.,

which is as fine as anything to be seen in Quincy. And the Consolidated can assure their customers that the quality will always be the best the market can supply.

QUALITY

Will be their hobby in every line. Don't forget that they have the most complete line of

HIGH GRADE GROCERIES

in Quincy. And are Agents for KING ARTHUR, JOHN ALDEN, and JONES' SUPERLATIVE FLOUR, HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING, HUNTLEY & PALMER WAFERS, and many other Imported Goods.

Also the FAMOUS STAR BRAND COFFEE, ORANGE PEKOE TEA, etc., etc.

Teams will call for and deliver your orders promptly.

CONSOLIDATED, Adams Building.

Tel. No. 236 A F. HAYWARD, Manager.

Quincy, Jan. 24. tf

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.

The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.

Adams Building, - Quincy

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

POOR MEATS and ADULTERATED FOODS

CANNOT BE FOUND IN

CHAS. H. BROOKS' MARKET,

But his clean white place of business is replete with a full line of the very best groceries, and that unexcelled

"HATCHET" Brand of Canned Goods.

Mr. Brooks is so thoroughly known in Quincy as a first class judge of Meats and fair dealer with all who patronize him that it is not necessary to dwell on that feature more than to say that what he offers for sale is only the best.

The BEEF, LAMB, PORK, CHICKENS, FOWL, CORNED MEATS, etc.

APPLES, ORANGES, CELERY, LETTUCE and other Vegetables are of such quality and appearance that to see them is to buy.

Telephone 295-3.

Quincy, Jan. 26. tf

The Best of Job Printing at This Office.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SUPERIOR COURT. NORFOLK ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

RESPECTFULLY libels and represents Rose Murphy of Quincy in said County, that she was lawfully married to Edward Murphy, formerly of Braintree in said County, but whose present address or place of residence is to your petitioner unknown, at Quincy aforesaid on the twenty-third day of May, A. D. 1892, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Edward Murphy lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said Quincy and in said Braintree; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Edward Murphy being wholly regardless of the same at said Braintree on the first day of July, A D 1897, utterly deserted your petitioner, which desertion has continued for three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel, and said Edward Murphy, while living with your libellant as aforesaid, contracted gross and confirmed habits of intoxication, caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, which habits continued during said time.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Edward Murphy.

Dated the second day of December, A. D. 1905.

HER
ROSE X MURPHY.
MARK.

Witness.
J. W. McANARNEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Edward Murphy, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of March next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of March next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Edward Murphy an attested copy of said Libel and of his order thereon that the said Edward Murphy may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

January 19, A. D. 1906.

A true copy of Petition and of order thereon. Attest; R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.

Jan. 20. 3t-20-22-29.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled.

THE Undersigned Petitioners, citizens of the United States, respectfully represent for themselves, their successors and associates, that they desire to be incorporated by an act of your honorable body under the corporate name of the New York, Brockton and Boston Canal and Transportation Company, with full power to locate, construct, equip, operate and maintain a canal and way with all such wharves, docks, power plants, and other structures and works as may be necessary or proper for the convenient construction, use, operation and maintenance of the canal or transportation facilities of said corporation. To locate the said canal and way across the State of Massachusetts, beginning at a point on Narraganset Bay or on Taunton River and extending to Massachusetts Bay or to Weymouth Fore River.

JOHN J. WHIPPLE,
HERBERT E. GUY,
B. E. JONES,
W. C. FLAGG,
ELMER C. PACKARD,
GEORGE B. FRENCH,
D. W. FIELD,
HERBERT L. TINKHAM,
GE RGE CLARENCE HOLMES,
BENJAMIN BUFFINGTON,
GEORGE T. DURFEE,
RICHARD E. WARNER,
and 145 others.

Jan 19-3t 19-22-29

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Square, PHILA., Pa.
Mention this paper.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.

If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.

We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel. Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-1y

If Your Eyes
Trouble you—DON'T DELAY ONE MOMENT. Consult an expert.
We have corrected blurry and watery eyes astigmatism, etc, where OTHERS HAVE FAILED.
Consultation and Examination Free.
SPECIAL THIS WEEK
$3 GOLD EYEGLASSES
— ONLY —
One Dollar a Pair
We Are the Leading Experts in Boston.
FLOYD
15 Beacon St., Room 47,
BOSTON.
Nov. 7. 3m-eod

GOOD OPPORTUNITY
TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.
I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mill. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe come home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious. VIII—Carewe upbraids Betty for her action at the fire. He denounces Vanrevel, and Betty tells him that he escorted her home. Her father declaras that her escort was Gray. Carewe goes on a journey. Nelson, a negro servant, tells Betty that her father hates Tom because he is an abolitionist, yet hints at a personal cause involving Gray. IX—Mrs. Tanberry, an elderly belle, becomes Betty's chaperon. Betty is serenaded, and Mrs. Tanberry recognizes Tom Vanrevel's voice in a song written by Gray for Fanchon. Betty thinks that the voice is Gray's for it is not that of her incroyable. X—Tom asks Betty for the first to dances at Fanchon's party. She gives him one, supposing him to be Gray. She leaves him abruptly, telling him never to address her again.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER XI.

CRAILEY came home the next day with a new poem, but no fish. He lounged up the stairs late in the afternoon humming cheerfully to himself and, dropping his rod in a corner of Tom's office, laid the poem on the desk before his partner, chuckled softly and requested Mr. Vanrevel to set the rhymes to music immediately.

"Try it on your instrument," he said. "It's a simple verse about nothing but stars, and you can work it out in twenty minutes with the guitar."

"It is broken," said Tom, not looking up from his work.

"Broken! When?"

"Last night."

"Who broke it?"

"It fell from the table in my room."

"How? Easily mended, isn't it?"

"I think I shall not play it soon again."

Crailey swung his long legs off the sofa and abruptly sat up. "What's this?" he asked gravely.

Tom pushed his papers away from him, rose and went to the dusty window that looked to the west, where, at the end of the long street, the sun was setting behind the ruin of charred timbers on the bank of the shining river.

"It seems that I played once too often," he said.

Crailey was thoroughly astonished. He went to his friend and dropped a hand lightly on his shoulder. "What made you break the guitar? Tell me."

"What makes you think I broke it?" asked his partner sharply.

"Tell me why you did it," said Crailey.

And Tom, pacing the room, told him, while Crailey stood in silence looking him eagerly in the eye whenever Tom turned his way. The listener interrupted seldom. Once it was to exclaim:

"But you haven't said why you broke the guitar?"

"'If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out!' I ought to have cut off the hands that played to her."

"And cut your throat for singing to her?"

"She was right!" the other answered, striding up and down the room. "Right—a thousand times—in everything she did. That I should even approach her was an unspeakable insolence. I had forgotten, and so, possibly, had she, but I had not even been properly introduced to her."

"No, you hadn't; that's true," observed Crailey reflectively. "You don't seem to have much to reproach her with, Tom."

"Reproach her!" cried the other. "That I should dream she would speak to me or have anything to do with me was to cast a doubt upon her loyalty as a daughter. She was right, I say! And she did the only thing she could do—rebuked me before them all. No one ever merited what he got more roundly than I deserved that. Who was I, in her eyes, that I should besiege her with my importunities, who but her father's worst enemy?"

Deep anxiety knitted Crailey's brow. "I understood she knew of the quarrel," he said thoughtfully. "I saw that the other evening when I helped her out of the crowd. She spoke of it on the way home, I remember. But how did she know that you were Vanrevel? No one in town would be apt to mention you to her."

"No, but she did know, you see."

"Yes," returned Mr. Gray slowly, "so it seems. Probably her father told her to avoid you and described you so that she recognized you as the man who caught the kitten."

He paused and looked at Tom, who continued to pace up and down the

"It seems that I played once too often."

floor. After a time Crailey, fumbling in his coat, found a long cheroot and as he lit it inquired casually:

"Do you remember if she addressed you by name?"

"I think not," Tom answered, halting. "What does it matter?"

Crailey drew a deep breath.

"It doesn't," he returned.

"She knew me well enough," said Tom sadly as he resumed his sentry-go.

"Yes," repeated Crailey deliberately. "So it seems! So it seems!" He blew a long stream of smoke out into the air before him and softly murmured again: "So it seems! So it seems!"

Silence fell, broken only by the sound of Tom's footsteps, until, presently, some one informally shouted his name from the street below. It was only Will Cummings passing the time of day, but when Tom turned from the window after answering him Crailey and his poem were gone.

That evening Vanrevel sat in the dusty office, driving himself to his work with a sharp goad, for there was a face that came between him and all else in the world and a voice that sounded always in his ears, but the work was done before he rose from his chair, though he showed a haggard visage as he bent above his candles to blow them out.

It was 11 o'clock. Crailey had not come back, and Tom knew that his light hearted friend would not return for many hours, and so, having no mind to read and no belief that he could if he tried, he went out to walk the streets. He went down to the river first, and stood for a little while gazing at the ruins of the two warehouses, and that was like a man with a headache beating his skull against a wall. As he stood on the blackened wharf he saw how the charred beams rose above him against the sky like a gallows, and it seemed to him that nothing could have been a better symbol, for here he had hanged his self respect. "Reproach her!" He, who had so displayed his imbecility before her! Had he been her father's best friend he should have had too great a sense of shame to dare to speak to her after that night, when her quiet intelligence had exhibited him to himself and to all the world as naught else than a fool—and a noisy one at that!

Suddenly a shudder convulsed him. He struck his open palm across his forehead and spoke aloud, while, from horizon to horizon, the night air grew thick with the whispered laughter of observing hobgoblins:

"And even if there had been no stairway, we could have slid down the hose line!"

He retraced his steps, a tall, gray figure moving slowly through the blue darkness, and his lips formed the heart-sick shadow of a smile when he found that he had unconsciously turned into Carewe street. Presently he came to a gap in a hedge, through which he had sometimes stolen to hear the sound of a harp and a girl's voice singing, but he did not enter there tonight, though he paused a moment, his head bowed on his breast.

There came a sound of voices. They seemed to be moving toward the hedge, toward the gap where he stood, one a man's, eager, quick, but very musical; the other a girl's, a rich and clear contralto that passed into Tom's soul like a psalm of rejoicing and like a scimiter of flame. He shivered and moved away quickly, but not before the man's voice, somewhat louder for the moment, came distinctly from the other side of the hedge.

"After all," said the voice, with a ripple of laughter—"after all, weren't you a little hard on that poor Mr. Gray?"

Tom did not understand, but he knew the voice. It was that of Crailey Gray.

He heard the same voice again that night and again stood unseen. Long after midnight he was still tramping the streets on his lonely rounds when he chanced to pass the Rouen House, which hostelry bore to the uninitiated eye the appearance of having closed its doors upon all hospitalities for the night in strict compliance with the law of the city fathers, yet a slender wand of bright light might be discovered underneath the street door of the barroom.

From within the merry retreat issued an uproar of shouting, raucous laughter and the pounding of glasses on tables, heralding all too plainly the hypocrisy of the landlord and possibly that of the city fathers also. Tom knew what company was gathered there—gamblers, truckmen, drunken farmers, men from the river steamers making riot while their boats lay at the wharf, with a motley gathering of good-for-nothings of the back alleys and tippling clerks from the Main street stores. There came loud cries for a song, and in answer the voice of Crailey rose over the general din, somewhat hoarse and never so musical when he sang as when he spoke, yet so touching in its dramatic tenderness that soon the noise fell away, and the roisterers sat quietly to listen. It was not the first time Ben Jonson's song had stilled a disreputable company:

"I sent thee late a rosy wreath,
Not so much honoring thee
As giving it the hope that there
It might not withered be."

Perhaps just then Vanrevel would have wished to hear him sing anything in the world rather than that, for on Crailey's lips it carried too much meaning tonight, after the voice in the garden. And Tom lingered no more near the betraying sliver of light beneath the door than he had by the gap in the hedge, but went steadily on his way.

(Continued in next issue.)

MODISTIC MATTERS.

Smart Velveteen Suits Are Braided. A Charming New Skirt.

Velveteen is playing an important part in smart fabrics. The most attractive suits are braided. The velveteen is produced in lovely shadings, copper and bronze red being effective colors trimmed with braids of the same tone with a tiny touch of gold and silver.

A charming skirt of the season is of soft fabric—a fine broadcloth, for instance—made with a deep hem and four wide tucks above it. Not all the best dressed women are wearing the small tip tilted hat that was so insistent at the beginning of the winter. There are stunning models in large soft felts, tulle and velvet trimmed with aigrets and plumes of magnificent ostrich feathers.

BLUE SERGE FROCK.

Large severe buckles of tortoise shell or polished steel are among the newest ornaments for millinery. Black enameled slides with conventional designs in gold or silver are fashionable and as yet uncommon.

The tilt of the hat, the very high trimming on the left side and the derby crown are three important features in millinery.

The French this year have not hesitated to bring blue into contrast with pink, a combination that has not been seen for some years, but is very refreshing and girlish.

The costume in the cut is a serviceable frock of dark blue serge trimmed with ribbed black silk braid and dull gold buttons. The bolero fronts form revers overlaid with white cloth and embroidered with colored silks and metal thread. The collar of black velvet is trimmed in the same manner. The corselet skirt has a plaited front panel. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

LOSS OF $100,000

Seven Buildings Burned at Naval Training Station

EASY PREY TO FLAMES

Manacled Youngsters in Detention Building Saved From Possible Death by Heroic Action of a Physical Instructor

Newport, R. I., Jan. 29.—Seven buildings connected with the United States naval training station at Coasters Harbor Island were destroyed by fire last night, causing an estimated loss of $100,000. The buildings destroyed were the detention building, machine shop, paint shop, paymaster's storehouse, carpenter's shop and two small storehouses.

The fire was discovered about 9:30 by a sentry, who, in passing the machine shop, adjoining the detention building, smelled smoke. An investigation disclosed that the fire was making rapid headway. The alarm was given and all the apprentice boys, 1500 in number, members of the detachment of marines and enlisted men, answered the call to quarters.

By the time a bucket brigade had been formed the flames had leaped to the detention building, a brick structure two stories high and about 120 by 50 feet dimensions. The work of the bucket brigade was of no avail against the fire and aid from the city was asked.

All of the smaller storehouses and shops about the detention building were of wooden construction, and fell an easy prey to the fire. The apprentices, marines and enlisted men gave the firemen great assistance. When it was discovered that the bucket brigade could not cope with the flames, the men were ordered to devote their energies to saving property.

At this time the paymaster's office and storehouse were burning fiercely, but the men and boys managed to make their way into the building and remove many of the stores. The safe was opened by the paymaster and all the money and official documents were removed and placed under a guard of marines.

One of the burned buildings contained all of the small boats and cutters used for practice purposes at the station. These had been hauled from the water when winter set in, and had been stored in one of the buildings. All were destroyed.

Several apprentices were confined in the detention building at the time the fire broke out. All were in handcuffs. Physical Instructor Kirby liberated them by a heroic effort. When he reached the detention building the smoke nearly blinded him. He could not see the young prisoners, but they answered his call. Supported by a line of men, Kirby made his way to the spot where the boys were in confinement and passed them back one by one to the men behind him, and so out onto the seawall. In passing over the seawall two of the manacled boys fell overboard, but were rescued. They were sent to barracks for the rest of the night.

For a time the famous old frigate Constellation, which is used as a practice ship at the station, was in danger of destruction, but prompt work on the part of the firemen saved the old ship. A shift of wind a few minutes later removed all danger. The origin of the fire is not known.

The destruction of the detention building has solved a problem at the station. For some time it had not been used to a great extent and was employed as a hospital during the recent epidemic of spinal meningitis. One naval board condemned the structure and recommended that it be destroyed. Later another board recommended that it be used as a machine shop. In the fire a large quantity of naval stores were destroyed.

Passenger Subway Wanted

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Applications will be made to the city council tonight by the Chicago Central Sub-Railroad company for a 50-year franchise for a 10-mile subway system for passenger traffic under Chicago's downtown streets. It is understood that the persons interested in the present subway, which is used for freight only, will construct the new subway for passenger traffic, provided a franchise can be secured.

Doctor Charged With Bigamy

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 29.—Dr. Henry R. Searles has been held in $1000 bail here on a charge of bigamy, preferred by Mrs. Sadie A. H. Searles of Worcester, Mass., who is here with her 8-year-old daughter to prosecute the case. Searles in January last married Mrs. Jacob Bryant of this city. She was the widow of a prominent Scranton man.

Says Life Preservers Were Useless

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 29.—F. C. Bunker, assistant superintendent of schools of Seattle, who has been at the Valencia wreck to search for bodies of his wife and children, severely condemns the life preservers on the steamer. He says he tested one of them and it sunk after being placed in water.

Schooner Turns Turtle

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 29.—A telegram received from Bamfield says that the halibut fishing schooner Ella G. turned turtle and six men were drowned. Among the lost is Alexander McLean, who was commander of the illegal sealing vessel Carmencita.

TUCKER SENTENCED

Slayer of Mabel Page Declares That He Is Innocent

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 29.—Seated in the dock in the superior criminal courtroom in the courthouse here, Charles Louis Tucker, convicted of the murder of Mabel Page of Weston on March 31, 1904, listened to the words of sentence passed upon him by Judge Sherman—that he was to die by the passage of electricity through his body during the week beginning Sunday, June 10.

Unless the United States supreme court grants him a new trial or Governor Guild commutes his sentence to life imprisonment, or some unforseen power or circumstance intervenes to prevent, Tucker will suffer the extreme penalty for murder imposed by the law.

Not by a single movement of his features or body did Tucker betray any emotion as the dread words fell upon his ears, and his complete composure was a distinct contrast to the staring eyes and craning necks of those about him.

In response to Clerk Hurd's question as to whether he had anything to say before sentence should be passed, Tucker rose to his feet and, addressing the court in a strong, steady voice, replied: "Your honor, all I have to say is that I am absolutely innocent of this crime."

Cole Declared a Murderer

Portland, Me., Jan. 29.—Edward F. Cole of this city, aged 24, was found guilty of murder for the killing of John F. Steeves after a six days' trial. Cole did not display the slightest trace of nervousness while listening to the announcement which means life imprisonment in state prison for him unless pardoned or a new trial is obtained. This was Cole's second trial, the jury at the original trial failing to agree. Steeves' body was found in the woods at Falmouth with the skull fractured and throat cut almost to the spinal column.

Boston Printers Vote to Srrike

Boston, Jan. 29.—A strike in the book and job printing shops of this city and vicinity, beginning on Feb. 1, was voted yesterday by the Boston Typographical union. The strike will affect all shops in which the eight-hour workday has not been established, and it is expected that 1000 printers will go out. The union also adopted a new scale, whic hprovided for the new eight-hour day instead of the nine. The adoption of the scale and the proposition to strike was unanimous.

Minister's Wife Dies In Fire

Whitman, Mass., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Frank W. Shattuck, aged 40, wife of the pastor of the Advent Christian church of this town, was burned to death last night in the parsonage through the overturning of a lamp. Her husband was conducting a service at the time scarcely 200 feet away. Neighbors discovered flames and when the firemen arrived they found the body of Mrs. Shattuck on a porch in the rear of the house. All her clothes had been burned off.

Insists Panama Is a Swamp

Boston, Jan. 29.—Poultney Bigelow has staked $1000 with the Louisville Courier-Journal to be forfeited if his charges concerning the work of the government at Panama can be disproved. He states, in regard to the senate investigations, that he is still at the call of the committee. While he is of the opinion that the canal is an admirable project, he sees no reason why the government should try to make it appear that it was anything but what he terms a swamp.

Town Treasurer a Suicide

Cheshire, Mass., Jan. 29.—Despondency and anxiety are believed to have been the causes of the suicide by poison of Town Treasurer Fred C. Brown, aged 60. He had been much depressed for several months over the death of his wife and recently an investigation was made of his accounts, which showed them to be correct and the town funds intact, although $3500 was in his house and the balance, a comparatively small amount, was in a bank.

Examples of Youthful Heroism

Boston, Jan. 29.—Two children, one 13 and the other 12 years old, rushed through blinding smoke in a tenement on the third floor of a building in the South End and rescued their little brother and sister, bringing them to the street without assistance. The rescuers were Rosa and Joseph Namor. Their parents were away at the time and it was some minutes before the firemen were notified of the fire.

Charged With Babe's Death

Chelsea, Mass., Jan. 29.—Charged with the murder of an infant, which she claims was still-born, Annie Oberlander, 18, lies ill in bed at the home of her parents in this city. Outside the door is stationed a police officer. Miss Oberlander is charged with the murder of her child, whose body was found in the toilet room used by the stitchers in the shoe factory of Bartels & Thelan by one of the employes.

Business Center Burned Out

Moodus, Conn., Jan. 29.—The business section of this town was destroyed by fire. The loss will be about $30,000. The fire, which is believed to have been started by thieves, was discovered in the general store of Purple & Silliman, which, with two other stores of similar character, form the business centre of the village.

Heavy Potato Receipts at Boston

Boston, Jan. 29.—Four vessels of the provincial potato fleet, with 20,880 bushels of tubers, arrived Sunday after being considerably delayed by adverse winds. All four schooners came from Prince Edwards Island.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	3 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 15	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adams.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.15 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.15 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 5.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.13 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Jan 20, 1906.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston. Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.44, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A.M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P.M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	42	75	32	20	16
Monday,	56	66	24	22	20
Tuesday,	—	65	27	28	11
Wednesday,	—	46	19	30	34
Thursday,	—	29	28	38	32
Friday,	—	35	19	38	18
Saturday,	—	44	22	35	22

The City In Brief

The Granite City club voted Saturday evening to expend $300 in refurnishing its rooms.

N. B. Furnald has prairie rose bushes in full leaf and his crimson rambler leaves have started.

Sunday afternoon a meeting for Boys was held in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium, 140 boys attending.

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings went on a tour of inspection of school buildings Saturday.

Wednesday afternoon 31st. Parents and friends are invited to visit the Junior gymnasium class at the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. N. B. Furnald of Washington street has now been confined to the house several weeks, but is reported as comfortable today.

Howard M. Dow of Weymouth, well known in musical and Masonic circles, leaves this week for Los Angeles, to make his home with his daughter.

Those of our readers who listened to the discourse, "Heaven, what is it?" by the Rev. W. S. Perkins at the Universalist church yesterday afternoon, were delighted. The subject next Sunday is, "Heaven, where is it?"

City Messenger Harry W. Tirrell was on Saturday elected vice-president of the Massachusetts City Messengers' club. Principal Assessor Charles H. Johnson was one of the speakers at the banquet which was held at the Quincy house.

The annual meeting of the Day Nursery Conference is to be held in Perkins hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston, on Wednesday, Jan. 31st at 10.30 o'clock. Topic: "Breadth and growth in Nursery work," speaker, Miss Zilpha Smith. All interested are especially invited to attend.

Mrs. Roger H. Wilde of Atlantic, Mrs. Frederic J. Peirce of the Downs, Mrs. Charles M. Bryant and Mrs. Eugene H. Sprague of Wollaston, Miss Margaret L. Thomas of the Point, Mrs. George L. Badger, West Quincy, Miss Abbie Wood, South Quincy and Mrs. George G. Saville, Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick and Miss Annie L. Prescott of the Centre, are receving subscribtions to the whist parties to be given at the Women's club house, Goffe street on Tuesday afternoon Feb. 6th and Tuesday evening, Feb. 20th.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Nora Forrest and Mr. Maurice P. Spillane, which will take place in Quincy on Feb. 8. Both parties are well known in Quincy and Fall River, where Miss Forrest has been a school teacher. Mr. Spillane is a graduate of Adams academy and Boston university law school. He has a wide acquaintance in legal circles in eastern Massachusetts. They will reside on Elm street at the corner of Bigelow street.

Every one passing the Adams houses Saturday evening paused a few minutes in front of the John Adams birthplace, attracted by the cheerful glow which radiated from it. Inside fires were glowing in the big fireplaces and at long tables lighted entirely by candles sat about fifty, whose very faces seemed to add to the warmth, and cheerfulnes of the scene as they enjoyed the good things with which the tables were laden. The old house has been the scene of many good times but the family party of Adams Chapter on Saturday seemed to surpass them all.

Before the anniversary supper of Adams Chapter, D. R. Saturday evening at the John Adams birthplace, Rev. D. M. Wilson asked the divine blessing. After supper and the speeches, the last words were spoken by Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould and they seemed like a benediction. She said the word I leave with you is "Peace." She wished all to remember that patriotism did not stand necessarily for war but for peace, peace at home and abroad, and hoped the time would come when there would be no more war.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Annual Banquet Norfolk Club

Over 100 were in attendance at the annual meeting on Saturday of the Norfolk club, composed largely of Norfolk county gentlemen. Quincy was well represented.

The banquet was at Hotel Brunswick. Dr. W. O. Faxon of Stoughton, the president, presided, and the speakers were: Speaker John N. Cole of the Legislature and Congressman Duncan E. McKinley of California. Among the guests were also Congressman Powers, U. S. District Attorney Asa P. French and Col. Albert Clark.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President,—Dr. W. O. Faxon of Stoughton.

Vice Presidents,— Hon. James T. Stevens of Braintree, Hon. Warren E. Locke of Norwood, Sumner H. Foster of Brookline, Hon. Asa P. French of Randolph, Hon. Robert S. Gray of Walpole, Charles H. Smith of Dedham, Charles A. Howland of Quincy, Samuel H. Capen of Dedham, Samuel R. Moseley of Hyde Park, Charles C. Henry of Wellesley.

Secretary,—George L. Barnes of South Weymouth.

Treasurer,—Henry D. Humphrey of Dedham.

Executive committee chosen at large from the senatorial and representatiev district: Hon. James H. Flint of Weymouth, Hon. Leonard W. Ross of Canton, Charles H. Pearson of Brookline, Hon. Albion F. Bemis of Foxboro, Joseph H. Soliday of Dedham, John F. Perry of Brookline, Hon. F.W. Darling of Hyde Park, H. C. Gallagher of Milton, Hon. John O. Hall of Quincy, Thomas F. Burke of Quincy, Henry M. Storme of Baintree, Hon. Edward B. Nevin of South Weymouth, Louis E. Flye of Holbrook, Joseph S. Leach of Walpole, Evan F. Richardson of Millis, B. M. Rockwood of Franklin and E. J. Whitaker of Wrentham.

Busy Saturday At Y. M. C. A.

Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. was a busy day. In the morning 76 juniors attended class. The afternoon was given over to basket ball, the Lynn Juniors and Intermediates playing the Quincy teams.

The Quincy Intermediate team won 24 to 13, the summary being:

LYNN INT.	QUINCY INT.
Doe, r. f.	r. f. McKenzie
Carlson l. f.	l. f. Bonney
Dow c.	c. Thomas
Anderson r. g.	r. g. McDonald
Belfield l. g.	l. g. Marden
	l. g. Gourlie

Score—Quincy, 24, Lynn, 13. Goals from floor,—Doe 3, Carleson, Anderson, Belfield, Bonney 2, McKenzie 6, Marden, Gourlie 2. Goals from fouls,—McKenzie 2, Anderson.

The Quincy Juniors were defeated 24 to 3.

Lynn Jrs.	Quincy Jrs.
Hearn, L. F.	R. F., H. Glover
Anderson, R. F.	L. F., Osborne (Howe)
Ryan, C.	C., Prescott
Wentwell, R. G.	R. B., Marsh
Allen, L. G.	L. B., Walker

Score,—Lynn 24, Quincy 3. Goals from floor,—Hearn 3, Ryan 2, Allen 7, Glover. Goals from fouls,—Prescott. Officials. — Referee, Bugbee. Umpire, Cou'ey. Timekeeper, Noon. Scorer, Carleson.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

DIED.

RYAN—In West Quincy, Jan. 28, Mr. James J. Ryan of 72 Common street, aged 23 years.

MONTI — In Quincy, Jan. 28, Mr. Carl Monti of 46 West street, aged 39 years.

LEBAN—In East Braintree, Jan. 28, Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of Francis Leban, aged 68 years, 9 months and 1 day. Funeral from late residence Howard street, Tuesday, Jan 30, at 2 P. M.

GOULD.—In Braintree, Jan. 28, Mr. Augustus D. Gould, aged 55 years and 10 months.

HUNT.—In Braintree, Jan. 28, Mrs. Sarah E., widow of Mr. Cyrus D. Hunt, aged 68.

DU VIGNEAUX—In Braintree, Jan 27, Mrs. Mary C., widow of Louis A. DuVigneaux.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market,
Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5
Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

Republican Committee Have a Balance

The annual meeting of the Republican City Committee was held Saturday evening at the rooms of the Board of Trade and most of the members were present.

The report of the treasurer, Eugene R. Stone, was very gratifying. It showed money enough on hand to meet all obligations of the committee with a balance on the right side to begin the new year. A vote of thanks was extended to the treasurer.

TREASURER STONE.

The committee then proceeded to organize for the coming year as follows:

President,—Richard R. Freeman.
Vice President,—Albert G. Dolliver.
Secretary,—Louis F. R. Langelier.
Treasurer,—Eugene R. Stone.

Members of the Executive Committee,—Roger H. Wilde, George Ripley and Harry S. Nicol.

Big Scores At Whist

Two pairs were close rivals for the first place at the tournament of the Wollaston Whist club on Saturday evening, but the honors went to J. F. Fuller and F. P. Alles. The scores were:

J. F. Fuller and F. P. Alles	plus	11
Dr. Thompson and R. F. Proctor	plus	10 3-5
J. H. Broughton and C. G. Hoxie	plus	7 4-5
E. W. Taylor and E. H. Finney	plus	4
H. C. Seymour and G.R. Thompson	plus	3
C. E. Barker and J. I. Litchfield	minus	2-5
J. E. Barnes and C. B. Hoxie	minus	4 4-5
D. F Brokaw and M. Chase	minus	6
H. A. Stevens and C. E Hathaway	minus	10 2-5
A. C. Littlefield and C. D. White	minus	13

Three Races At the Rink

There was a large attendence at the Rink to see Saturday night's races. The first race was a one mile challenge race between Vern Morgan and Louis Gomez. Morgan put up a lively race, but Gomez proved too much for him; time 5 minues and 10 seconds.

The boys hurry scurry proved very amusing with five entries. The contestants had to put a skate on at one end of the building and skate on one leg around the band stand once then put the other skate on at the opposite side of the rink, and skate 10 laps. This race was won by Master Peter Fontoni.

The last race was a one mile championship between George Esson and William Pinel. It was Esson's all the way although both had bad falls. Time 4m. 38s.

TODAY'S COURT.

Charles Stedland Leon Owens, Arthur Vinson and John Dilon were fined $5 each for distnrbing the peace at Weymouth.

Andrew Wallace was fined $15 for creating a disturbance on a train of the N. Y., N. H & H. R. R. at Quincy.

Henry Carlson was arraigned for non-support of his wife at Quincy. Case continued until April 5, Carlson in the meantime to contribute $3 per week.

Harry Smith was fined $5 for drunkeness at Weymouth.

Ralph B. Grover and Irving Sterry were arraigned for breaking and entering the store of Gordon Whitcomb at Holbrook. Sterry was held in $100 for the grand jury. The case against Grover was continued until Feb. 7

The continued case of William E. O'Brien and Charles Winslow were called and they were defaulted.

William B. Lounsby was arraigned for neglect of his family at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday, at which time the defendant will furnish a bond to contribute $5 per week toward the support of his family.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

E. M. FREEMAN.
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages.
If you have any property to SELL
If there is any you wish to BUY,
IN QUINCY,
or any part of the
UNITED STATES,
Address, phone, or call on
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Telephone, Quincy 46-9. Jan. 29-tf

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE. QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass
Aug. 17 tf

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties
Dinners and Suppers.
AlsoHancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT
Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleveriy Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6 -1p-1y

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 8.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 / Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

THE DEAF CAN HEAR
By Using the AUROPHONE.
THEMEA S EAR PHONE CO.,
1 West 34th St., N. Y.
NEW ENGLAND OFFICES:
Boston, 43 Tremont St., and
Hartford, 26 State St. 3t-25, 27, 29

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—State House, Boston, Jan. 25, 1906. The committee on street railways will give a hearing to parties interested in the petition (house bill No. 146) of Samuel F. Coffin for legislation to restrict, prevent or terminate the disuse of railway lines by street railway companies; also the petition (house bill No. 234) of William B. Sullivan and others for legislation relative to the transportation of pupils of private schools by street and elevated railway companies, at Room No. 429, State House, on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 10.30 a. m. Wm. Turtle, Chairman. Geo. A. Shackford, Clerk of the Committee.
Jan. 27. 2t

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station.
New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

PLOT TO PLUNDER

Plan of Alleged Society of Armenian Desperadoes

Boston, Jan. 29.—Although a simple charge of theft of a revolver was made against Haik Oranian, when he was arrested at his home here last night for Arlington officials, the local police state that Henry M. Deevarian, who gave the information leading up to the arrest, had charged Oranian with being a member of an Armenian society, whose object, he claimed, was to rob the homes of the rich and, if necessary, kill. The statements of Devarian will be investigated further both by the local and Arlington police.

At station 5 the arrested man was searched, and among other things found on his person was a crumpled cloth mask, made to cover the upper half of a person's face, a number of 32-calibre bullets and a bunch of letters written in the Armenian language.

Upon seeing the latter Deevarian said that he thought that in all probability these letters came from the society of plunderers. He, the police say, claims that the society was recently organized and has for its membership several desperate Massachusetts Armenians, who are plotting to loot several residences and institutions of this state.

The police assert that Deevarian says that he has in possession letters to show that Oranian belongs to this organization, and will produce them at the proper time.

The Boston police did not have the letters found examined, but turned them, together with Oranian, over to an Arlington officer late last night.

Must Forego Rinks or Schools

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 29.—Mgr. Teeling of St. Mary's, in the February edition of St. Mary's Calendar, says that pupils of schools connected with that church who attend skating rinks will be expelled. Skating rinks are vigorously denounced as injurious to the morals of the young in the article. He declares skating rinks to be "the most effective means yet invented by the devil for the ruin of youthful purity." For the past 25 years, he says, they have been running, but now they are more in evidence than ever before, and although he has always inveighed against them, he believes that now the time has come for more decisive action—hence the present edict.

Lawyers Responsible For Evils

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Attorney General Hadley of Missouri was the guest of honor last night at a banquet of Northwestern university in commemoration of the 55th anniversary of the founding of the school. Hadley, in a brief address, blamed lawyers for evils which exist today in civil and industrial affairs, and declared that there were many active members of the bar who gave their time and ability to the promotion of corporate interests that have not adhered strictly to the law.

Pawned Murdered Woman's Watch

Baltimore, Jan. 29.—Detectives are making strenuous efforts to fasten upon Rufus Johnson, a negro, now under arrest here, the murder of Miss Florence W. Allinson of Moorestown, N. J. Although he has been positively identified as the man who pawned a watch bearing Miss Allinson's lname and believed to have been stolen at the time the murder was committed, Johnson denies any knowledge of the murder.

Prisoners May Have Set Fire

McRea, Ga., Jan. 29.—As the result of a fire last night in the Telfair county jail five prisoners were badly burned, several of them possibly fatally. Jack McLeod, accused of murder, was among them. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been the work of the prisoners in an effort to escape in the confusion and excitement.

Earp's Fast Hundred Miles

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 29.—With a tire of a rear wheel gone before the 40th mile, running on the bare rim at top speed and cheered by thousands on the beachside, Clifford Earp, in a 90-horse power English car, broke the world's record for 100 miles, making the distance in 1:15:40 2-5. The former world's record was 1:18:14.

Good Progress on the Canal

New York, Jan. 29.—Among the passengers who arrived on board the steamer Finance, from Colon, was Governor Magoon of the Panama canal zone. He says that the health of the canal zone is excellent and work on the canal is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Maritime express was wrecked at Eel River, N. B. The cars were badly damaged, but no one was injured.

The village of McGraw, N. Y., was threatened with extermination by a fire which destroyed 12 of the 15 stores and shops, at a loss estimated at $60,000.

Albert Bockman, 27 years old, broke through the ice on a millpond at Littleton, Mass., and was drowned.

The Masonic building at East Saugus, Mass., owned by William Sutton lodge of Masons, and occupied in part by other tenants, was partially destroyed by fire. A defective electric wire is supposed to have started the fire.

A heavy ladder truck, while answering an alarm for a fire at Boston, was overturned by a collision with an electric car, and one of the firemen, James Dermody, was severely injured. The truck was badly damaged.

There are 200 local labor organizations in 50 cities and towns in Maine, and 194 unions, reporting a total membership of 13,798, according to the annual report of the state commissioner of labor and industrial statistics.

The Doctor Always Asks "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to health. Then keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. We have no secrets! We publish J. C. Ayer Co., the formulas of all our medicines. Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care
Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily.
7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours, 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan. 11. 1m

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving,
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

TO LET
Durgin-Merrill Block.—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.
One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.
Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 0-6 with 11 stalls.
A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.
Storage—light and dry.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

Established 1887. Probate Busines
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day, - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - 50 cents
" " one week, - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—On Saturday evening last, near the Quincy station, a gentleman's gold hunting case Watch, with black fob chain with initials R. P. M. engraved. Finder will be liberally rewarded by calling at the Ledger office. Jan. 29-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—An Experienced Prince Edward Island, or Irish Girl for general housework. Apply to MRS. LEWIS N. CURTIS, 15 Orchard Place.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

WANTED—Immediately, first class granite shed boss. Give qualifications in detail, terms and age. Address "SHED BOSS," care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 29-6t

WANTED.—Young girl to learn to make ladies' neckwear. 237 South Central avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 27-3t

WANTED—3 or 4 Rooms, furnished or unfurnished, suitable for light housekeeping. Address "B.," Ledger Office. Jan. 26. 6t

WANTED—Gang of Granite Cutters. McDONNELL & SONS, Garfield and Quarry streets.
Quincy, Jan. 29. 6t

WANTED—Work by the day. Washing, ironing, cleaning, etc. Enquire at Ledger Office for address. Jan. 25-6t

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—By a competent woman, Work by the day or hour. Apply or address MRS. JONES, 40 Payne street, Quincy. Jan. 22. 6t

WANTED—Engineer for granite polishing mill. State experience and wages desired. Apply "ENGINEER," care General Delivery, Quincy Post Office. Jan. 29-6t

FOR SALE.

HORSE FOR SALE—Weighs 1,000 pounds. Price $5. Call in afternoon at 36 Edwards Street, Quincy
Jan. 29. 3t

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel.
Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager. Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—A Small Tenement. Apply at 49 Rodman street, Quincy.
Jan. 29. 3t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—48 Revere Road, a well furnished good size sunny Room two large closets $2.00 per week. Also another medium size room; sun all day; hot water heat; $1.75 per week. Nice bath room. Quincy, Jan. 25-tf

STORE TO LET—On Washington street, Quincy Point; one of the best locations in Fore River District. Fitted with counters, water closets and running water. Apply to E. R. STONE, 87 North street. Jan. 16-tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 336 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO LET—Large Building, 50x40, two story suitable for storage or manufacturing in rear of 1453 Hancock street, Quincy. Apply to GEORGE H. WILSON, Office, 1453 Hancock street. July 11-tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18 tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H FIELD. Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

Quincy, Mass.
BIRTHPLACE
of Two Presidents.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Quincy, Mass.
BURIAL PLACE
of Two Presidents.

Vol. 18. No. 26. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Send us a Postal or Telephone

No. 236

AND WE WILL CALL FOR YOUR ORDER.

We Have FULL STOCK of the

Choicest Meats Lamb Turkeys
Broilers Fowl Oysters
Deerfoot Sausages Celery Lettuce
Spinach etc.

Dont Forget the HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING

AND THE STAR COFFEE.

Also ORANGE PEKOE TEA.

CONSOLIDATED,

Adams Building.

Quincy, Jan. 30. tf

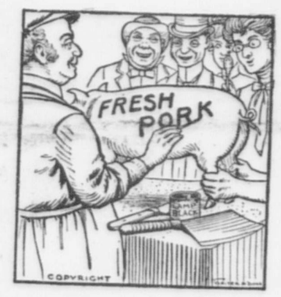

New Market!

J. K Morton,

1259 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Ever- Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS,
BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-3.

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 5.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

SERVICE.

Not the kind you have been used to, but OUR service.
You are made to feel that your patronage is appreciated.
Eight separate glass rooms in which to hear and select our PHONOGRAPH RECORDS. Under these new conditions selecting records becomes a pleasure.
We sell every good make record and machine; Edison, Columbia, Disc and Cylinder, Victor, and American Disc. Easy payment on everything we sell if desired.
We are right on your way from the South Terminal Station. Directly opposite the Boston American. Catalogues mailed on request.

THE WINCHELL COMPANY
95 SUMMER STREET—BOSTON.
Jan. 25. l-th. sat. tu.--po-tf

WHY NOT BECOME
A Regular Reader of the
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER?

Cheaper Gas

Is Promised By Present Company In Few Months

It was announced at the office of the Citizens' Gas Co. this morning that the price of gas to consumers would be reduced to $1.50 per 1000 feet. The reduction is to go into effect July 1, the present year.

While the consumers of gas will be glad to learn that the price is to be reduced and are thankful for the reduction given, they would be better satisfied if the new rate was to go into effect at once.

The reduction is undoubtedly due in a great measure to the recent agitation and to the steps that have been taken by Wollaston gentlemen to form a new company.

The Citizen Gas company has petitioned the Gas and Electric Light Commissioners for its approval of an issue of new capital stock of the par value of $350,000, for the purpose of paying outstanding liabilities and those hereafter to be incurred for additions and extensions to plant.

There have been so many promises of extensions and improvements by the Quincy company, that have never materialized, that people are somewhat secptical of the present move to increase the capital stock is a bona fide one, or if it is a scheme to stave off the formation of a new company.

The-e conversant with the mattera assure the public that the company now mean business, and that if the increase asked for is granted Quincy will get one of the things that it has long needed, and demanded.

From what can be learned of the plans of the company, it is understood that the present retorts for the manufacture of gas, situated on Brackett street, are to be abandoned, and that the supply of gas for the city will come from Boston.

It is understood that the company intends to erect a large holder on the marsh at Atlantic near the Neponset line, from which Quincy will be supplied. That a large new main will be laid through the entire length of Hancock street.

That extensions will be made as fast as possible until all sections of the city have been covered.

It is said to be the intention of the company to commence laying its new remains early in the spring and that two miles will be laid this year.

Well Known Wollaston Man

Mr. Ichabod Washburn Faunce, a well known citizen of Wollaston, passed away at the Mass. Homeoepathic Hospital, Boston, Monday evening.

Three weeks ago, Mr. Faunce submitted to a surgical operation, through which he passed successfully and it was hoped and believed that he would recover.

Later on, however, complications set in and since Saturday he has failed rapidly. The end came peacefully and painlessly at quarter past seven Monday evening.

Mr. Faunce was seventy eight years old. He leaves a wife, two daughters, Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, and Mrs. George Weston of Wollaston, and eight grandchildren. Also three brothers and two sisters.

The funeral will be held from his late home, 214 Arlington street, at eleven o'clock, Thursday forenoon. The burial will be at Kingston, Mass.

—The Board of Selectmen of Holbrook and Braintree have granted the Old Colony Street Railway Company the necessary rights to operate express cars through their respective towns. The company now have permission from two cities and nine towns, to carry on an electric express business.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Team Two Has Good Lead

The Y. P. S. C. E. of Bethany church held its regular monthly business meeting in the chapel Monday evening. After the business had been transacted there was a basket social and general good time, breaking up at 10.30.

The standing in the Tubular Rivet and Stub bowling league to date is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Team 2	20	7
Team 4	17	10
Team 6	16	11
Team 1	16	11
Team 5	6	21
Team 3	6	21

The individual averages of the league to date are:

Raiche	88	John Thomas	80
Leach	88	Jas Thomas	80
Ellison	85	Conniff	79
G Stevens	85	Mullen	78
H Stevens	85	Hamilton	78
Gallagher	84	Hill	78
Phillips	84	Crosby	78
Hoyt	82	Aulback	77
Cox	81	Ago	77
Hey	81	Nellis	77
Kolson	81	R Thomas	77
Hussey	81	McKay	77
Manimon	80

New Monuments.

Daniel C. French's portrait statue of Governor Roger Wolcott for the State House will be a seated figure. The expression of the face is said to be unusually lifelike and characteristic.

Mr. French's Francis Parkman monument for the Jamaica Pond Parkway is to take the shape of a large granite block, with a bronz low-relief portrait of the historian, and an intaglio figure of an Indian warrior.

The design for the Second Massachusettts Regiment monument for Springfield is by M. H. Mosman of Chicopee. It is to be erected at the junction of Main and Plainfield streets. The cost will be $4000. The model shows a monument about eight feet square at the base, and about twenty feet high. The pedestal will be of granite. Upon it will be set a bronze heroic figure of a soldier of 1898, a youthful type, marching with swinging stride. A corp badge bearing the names of El Caney and Santiago de Cuba, a sword and palm ornament, a tablet bearing the inscription, etc., will be set into the pedestal; and there will also be the names of nearly a hundred men who died in the service.—Boston Transcript.

Appreciated in Maine.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal on Jan. 26 said: Fully one thousand people assembled in City Hall, Lewiston, Maine, to do honor to the memory of Robert Burns, Miss Beatrice Walker, as reader, was one of the features of the evening. That she caught the crowd was evident for she was recalled time and time again. Her little skits given to encores were especially appreciated and her elocution is perfect. Studying with Leland Powers of Boston, the well known impersonator, Miss Walker's training has been of the best.

Dr. Horton To Speak.

The Wollaston Y. P. R. U. will hold a red letter meeting on Sunday evening. The subject will be "Prominent Unitarians of today." Mrs. Chandler W. Smith's Sunday school class has charge of the evening and by the best of good fortune, Dr. Edward A. Horton, president of the Unitarian Sunday school society, has been secured to address the meeting. Members of the Quincy Y. P. R. U. are cordially invited to be present.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston.

Nov. 22. 6mos

Miss Dinegan A Former Teacher

Quincy relatives and friends were saddened this morning by new from Buffalo New York, of the death of Miss Mary E. Dinegan, formerly of this city. Although not in good health the past year her death was unexpected, and was a great shock.

For many years Miss Dinegan was a much beloved teacher in the Quincy schools, teaching at the Adams, the Coddington and the High. She made her home with her parents on Summer street until their death, being a most devoted daughter.

Since the death of her parents, she has passed most of her time at the home of her sister Mrs. Emily McDonnell, wife of the late J. Q. McDonnell, of Buffalo, N. Y.

There, as in Quincy, she attracted many toward her, and leaves a wide circle of friends to mourn her sudden death.

She leaves three sisters, Mrs. Alice Keohan of Weymouth, Mrs. McPherson of Wollaston, and Mrs. McDonnell of Buffalo, also two brothers, John H. and Daniel Dinegan.

As the news came by telegram nothing is known about the arrangements for the funeral.

Pupils and associate teachers have pleasant remembrances of Miss Dinegon, although it was several years ago that she left Quincy. She was kind and just, and many of her pupils, now grown up, feel that they owe her much.

Surpris

A surprise party and Mrs. Anund Eve
ing at their home on large number of their friends, who p sented them with a sum of money. Refreshments were served and the evening passed pleasantly with selections on the piano and dancing. They all departed with many good wishes to the host and hostess and a merry good-night.

Publicity Committee.

The committee on Publicity of the Citizen's association met Monday evening. The matters of increasing the membership of the association and of publicity were informally discussed. Charles H. Burgess has been elected as secretary of the committee.

City Square Runaway.

There was a lively runaway in City Square between 3 and 4 Monday afternoon, but little damage was done. A horse owned by C. A. Johnson of Arthur street, became frightened while hitched in front of City Hall. The animal ran around the First church and then started up Hancock street. He turned into Granite street, and ran as far as the freight yard. Turning into the freight yard he ran up the tracks nearly to the School street bridge when he again turned and ran back toward Granite street. When near the latter street he became wedged in between another team and a freight car where he was captured. The only damage was the breaking of the bridle, a part of which he left in front of City Hall.

NOTICE.

Custom Tailoring.

WE Have bought out Francis Mackelon, at 1449 Hancock street, and are preparing to open up on the 1st of February with a good line of woolens. We shall endeavor to run an up-to-date Custom Tailor shop.

Our aim will be not to see how cheap we can make a suit but how good we can make it at lowest figure.

We invite our friends and former Customers, and also the public in general to inspect our place of business.

We shall be pleased to take orders as we have followed the tailor trade for 20 years. We are well acquainted with the requirements of the day.

Respectfully,
GUSTAF R. BLOMQUIST.
Quincy, Jan. 30. 1m

Wollaston.

10 [illegible] with sewer. Two [illegible] Reasonable terms.

Enquire of F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine street, Melrose, Mass.,
or L. W. Nash, opposite depot, Wollaston
Jan. 29. 18t

DON'T FORGET
— THAT —
A Check good for one 50c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.
And a Check good for 25c. worth of flower on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used any time.
ARNOLD & JOHNSON.
1511 Hancock Street. Quincy, Jan. 29-6t

COAL

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

POORMEATS and ADULTERATED FOODS

CANNOT BE FOUND IN

CHAS. H. BROOKS' MARKET,

But his clean white place of business is replete with a full line of the very best groceries, and that unexcelled

"HATCHET" Brand of Canned Goods.

Mr. Brooks is so thoroughly known in Quincy as a first class judge of Meats and fair dealer with all who patronize him that it is not necessary to dwell on that feature more than to say that what he offers for sale is only the best.

The BEEF, LAMB, PORK, CHICKENS, FOWL, CORNED MEATS, etc.

APPLES, ORANGES, CELERY, LETTUCE and other Vegetables are of such quality and appearance that to see them is to buy.

Telephone 295-3.

Quincy, Jan. 26. tf

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price, $6.00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Many received new light on the "corporation tax" in Tuesday's Daily Ledger, and confessed they hitherto knew little about it. Now they know that a few favored communities, principally towns, receive from the State much more in the "corporation distribution" than they pay to the State in taxes.

Quincy's State tax in 1905 was $28,880.00, and she received from the State by the corporation distribution but $10,749.13. The net tax upon Quincy is therefore, over $18,000.00 requiring on annual levy of nearly $1 per $1000 of valuation.

Milton not only escapes all this tax, but nets over $40,000. In other words, Milton has from this item of corporation taxes alone, about $58,000 more for her schools, her police, her fire department etc., than Quincy. And further, Mi has not so many pupils to educa much property to protect.

Nahant does not have to valuation to pay its St it receives from th more than it pay

Cohasset as much as it

But favored, Its while it re- 218,067.25, a net ,000.00. Is it any town can pay better school teachers? That it police and fire depart- boulevards and all and a great Injust... tax should be distrib... y, or retained by the State and ...te tax abolished as proposed. The ...tter suggestion is a very good one, and we hope it will be pressed.

Because men in Brookline own a large number of shares in the Fore River Shipbuilding plant is no good reason why Brookline should receive the benefit; and Newton should not benefit because the stock of the Tubular Rivet & Stud Company is held in that city.

Brookline, and Newton, and Milton, do not want to be assessed for Metropolitan water upon valuation of the towns, but because these Quincy plants are large users of water they would have the assessments levied upon consumption rather than valuation, and thus lighten obligations of their towns, and at the same time increase the burdens upon Quincy.

We cite Quincy only as an example, Chelsea and Everett are even greater sufferers, and there is discrimination against several cities and towns. These municipalities might bear their burdens more cheerfully but for the fact that the favored communities like Brookline, Milton, and Malden enter into competition and pay higher salaries. Those who wonder why Quincy, for example, cannot pay school teachers as high salaries as other places, do not for a moment consider the part that the corporation tax plays. It is one of the important factors, and the valuation per capita is another. Certainly tax laws should not favor the rich. If any one is to be favored it is those struggling for an existance, be it city, or town, or individual.

The Daily Ledger invites correspondence on the question.

Drift of Opinion.

—Hon. "Si" Reed is reported as being about to submit a resolve to abolish the executive council. This is certainly one of the most interesting of the new bills and petitions. There are two good sides to this question and the Bristol man will undoubtedly find himself strongly opposed in his attitude toward the sleepy council. Incidentally it will bring out just what purpose the executive council serves. A move to abolish the council was made in Gov. Russell's time and the proposition became an issue in the campaigns conducted by that gallant young democratic leader. Now the blast is sounded by a republican of republicans. Of course the resolve which the senator would introduce, calling for a constitutional amendment as it does, would have to be adopted by two successive legislatures before its submission to the people. "Lew" Bartlett. — Practical Politics.

BELOVED BY ALL

King Christian of Denmark Passes Away Suddenly

— —

WAS OLDEST MONARCH

— —

His Children and Descendants Provided a Large Proportion of Royal Families--Had Preeminently Happy Family--His Successor the Most Popular of All the Living Princes

Copenhagen, Jan. 30.—Christian, the Ninth, King of Denmark, dean of the crowned heads of Europe, father of King George of Greece, of Queen Alexandra of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Dowager Empress Maria Feodorovna of Russia, grandfather of King Haakon the Seventh of Norway, and related by blood or by marriage to most of the European rulers, died with startling suddenness in the Amalieborg palace. The accession of his successor, Prince Frederick, his eldest son, who will be known as Frederick the Eighth, was proclaimed today. The following official bulletin was issued last evening:

"His majesty died at 3:30 this afternoon. After his majesty had brought this morning's audience to a conclusion he appeared to be quite well and proceeded to luncheon as usual. Towards the end of the meal he gave evidence of indisposition and was compelled to retire to bed at 2:30 p. m. His majesty passed away peacefully, the symptoms indicating heart failure."

This brief bulletin tells concisely the ...y of the death scene which found ...one, even those who realized the ...sing feebleness of the king, unpre- ...or the sudden shock.

...eath of King Christian has ...d half the courts of Europe into ... deepest mourning and brought a ...ense of personal loss as well as of sincere grief to everyone throughout the kingdom of Denmark, reaching even to the humblest cottage, evidences of which are shown everywhere. It has cast a pall over the palaces of the monarchs of Great Britain, Russia, Norway and Greece.

The quick taking away of this distinct personality who has for so long been a center of interest, not only in his own country, but throughout the civilized world, almost paralyzed the community and unnerved the business world of Denmark. The people walk the streets as though they were passing through the chamber of death.

Nothing is definitely known concerning the arrangements for the funeral and it will be some time before anything regarding these arrangements is officially announced. Telegrams and cablegrams of condolence are pouring in, including messages from all the sovereigns of Europe and the Danish colonies.

It had been known for some time that King Christian's health was failing. His physicians recommended a change of air and the king decided to take their advice. It was his intention to go south in the near future, accompanied by the Dowager Empress of Russia.

King Christian was appropriately called the "Father of Europe," for his children and descendants provide the contingnt with a large proportion of its royal families. From him are sprung the younger generations of the ruling houses of Britain, Russia and Greece, while princely families of Norway, Baden, Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Orleans are allied through marriage. One son succeeds him on the throne of Denmark, a second is king of Greece, one grandson is the present Czar of Russia and another, the present Prince of Wales, is heir apparent to the crown of Great Britain and Ireland and the empire of China, while one daughter is the present Queen of England and the second is the widow of a czar. King Christian's family in the four generations now numbers 70 members, including six children, 32 grandchildren and 31 great-grandchildren.

King Christian, in spite of his years, carried himself as erect as ever. He was tall and slight, with a broad forehead and kindly eyes looking out from beneath shaggy eyebrows, a prominent nose, a bristling moustache and side whiskers. There was little of dignity in his manner, and in conversation he is said to have inclined toward the commonplace. The king had no vices. He neither drank nor gambled and always lived upon the most simple fare. His dinner invariably consisted of but three courses—soup, meat and dessert. Even when forced to give a state dinner, he himself never went beyond the limit observed when he dined en famille. He was passionately fond of animals, particularly dogs. The king walked about the streets of Copenhagen in the most unaffected manner, and more than once has been approached by humble subjects to settle disputes and quarrels.

King Christian's family has been pre-eminently happy. There was no place where the late Czar Alexander retired for relaxation from the anxieties of his sovereignty with greater pleasure than to Copenhagen, and the widowed czarina and her sister, the Queen of England, have continued to spend most of their time when away from Russia and England at the little court of Denmark. The palaces and other royal residences were crowded and King Christian saw three generations springing up around him.

Denmark has become more or less reconciled to the loss of the provinces which she lost in the sixties, and the long-standing coldness, if not actual hostility, which subsisted between the Danish and German royal families was last year dissipated by the hearty tribute paid the aged King Christian by Emperor William.

Prince Christian Frederick, the crown prince, who will come to the throne under the title of King Frederick VIII, and who is two years younger than his brother-in-law, King Edward, takes after his father in many ways and is held in high honor by those who are now his subjects. He takes the keenest interest in all that concerns their welfare. For instance, one Christmas eve he paid a visit to the refuge for the homeless in Copenhagen. His royal highness went over the whole place and had a kind word for every one of the poor, homeless men assembled there. This story gives a very good idea of the crown prince's character.

The new queen, a daughter of King Charles XV of Sweden-Norway, is as clever and intelligent as any member of the Swedish royal family. She is an excellent wife and mother, very pious and charitable, and is always busy making warm things for the poor. She is very clever in illuminating on vellum, and devotes much of her time to illuminating Bible texts, which she presents to her royal relatives.

The new king has four sons and four daughters. The two elder princes are married, and the two elder princesses have found husbands.

Prince Christian of Denmark has been characterized "the most popular of living princes." He and his cousin, Prince George of Greece, are boon companions, and are the most remarkable pair of jolly, goodnatured aristocrats of the present generation.

It is as "the soldier prince" that Christian is best known to the public not only in Denmark, but in England and Russia as well. He is the only man among the heirs to European thrones who has served as a simple soldier in the ranks, and who has refused to be treated otherwise than his comrades. The prince has endeared himself to the people through his modesty, good-naturedness and promptness as a soldier, so that his popularity as king is practically assured.

Far from being among the so-called model men of the world, Prince Christian has repeatedly shown points of good sense in matters in which his critics have customarily failed. In choosing a wife he showed a distinct bend to follow his own heart other than the wishes and dictates of the royal family. By moving freely and naturally among the people he gradually crept into popular favor, and he is now the most popular prince, not only among his own subjects, but abroad as well.

Transit Company's Admission

Milwaukee, Jan. 30.—That the Milwaukee Refrigerator Transit company has received a total of $66,520 in commissions since its organization in 1903, besides the sum of $229,979 in mileage, and that the sum of $160,500 had been paid in dividends during that period was the main fact brought out by the government in examination of President Howe of the company in connection with a suit recently instituted by the government for alleged violation of the Elkins anti-rebate act.

Mysterious Knife Wielder

St. Louis, Jan. 30.—Gertha Rude, 12 years old, was apparently accidentally collided with by an unknown young man on a street here and a few minutes later she found that a knife had cut through her clothing, but did not penetrate the flesh. This makes the 17th girl mysteriously stabbed on the street in the same manner within the past two weeks. None has been seriously injured.

Mark Twain at the Capitol

Washington, Jan. 30.—Samuel L. Clemens, "Mark Twain," was entertained in the private office of Speaker Cannon, where an informal reception was extended to many of the older members of the house. Messrs. Cannon, Clemens and Hepburn engaged for half an hour in an exchange of pioneer experiences along the Mississippi river and in other parts of the middle west.

No Details of Mutiny

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—The story of the recent mutiny at Vladivostok and the manner of its termination are a sealed book for St. Petersburg, owing to the difficulty in telegraphic communication and the reticence of the war office officials, who alone are in possession of the details, and are unwilling to give them.

Defense's Objections Overruled

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 30.—In the Greene and Gaynor trial for alleged conspiracy copies of contracts and proposals issued from the office of the United States engineer at Savannah were admitted as evidence over the objection of the attorneys for the defense.

At Rate of 123 Miles an Hour

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 30.—Victor Demogeot of France was crowned speed king of the world on the Daytona sands after driving his gasoline car two miles in the marvelous time of 58 4-5 seconds. Demogeot maintained a speed of 123 miles an hour to make this record.

Pettus Still In the Ring

Selma, Ala., Jan. 30.—D. E. L. Niel, editor of the Selma Journal, has received a letter from United States Senator Pettus authorizing the announcement that Senator Pettus is a candidate for re-election.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Jan. 31.
Sun rises—6:59; sets—4:56.
Moon sets—11:37 p. m.
High water—4 a. m.; 4:45 p. m.

It will be fair and warmer in New England.

Active Children

Give the children Dr. True's Elixir regularly and they will be active, strong and healthy. This safe vegetable tonic expels worms and all impurities of the stomach and bowels giving to delicate, emaciated children pure blood, hearty appetite, healthy sleep and healthful activity. It puts color in their cheeks and brightness and happiness in their eyes—making them well again.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

is as good for grown people as for children. For indigestion, irritability, constipation, malaria, peevishness and liver troubles it is unequaled. Three generations have known of the wonderful merits of Dr. True's Elixir. Kept in the home it keeps out sickness.

PORTLAND, ME.

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO.: I have known your Elixir for more than 40 years, and have used it in my family with good success. I am taking it now for indigestion. Am eating much more than formerly and am gaining flesh. FREEMAN GORDON.

Sold by all dealers, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Write for free booklet, "Children and Their Diseases."

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me. Established 1851

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3.00 $3.50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3.50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel. Haymarket 724. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. lp-ly

GOOD OPPORTUNITY
TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.

I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mille. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of JONATHAN PRATT,
late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Richard D. Chase, the trustee under the will of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the second account of his trust under said will:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t-23, 30, 6

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners.

Boston, January 19, 1906.

ON the petition of the Citizens Gas Light Company of Quincy for approval of an issue of new capital stock of the par value of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) for the purpose of paying outstanding liabilities and those hereafter to be incurred for additions and extensions to its plant and property, the Board will give a hearing to the parties in interest at its office, Room 145, State House, Boston, on Tuesday, the sixth day of February next, at ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon.

And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by publication hereof in the "Quincy Daily Ledger," a newspaper published in the city of Quincy, twice each week for two successive weeks prior to said time of hearing.

By order of the Board.
R. G. TOBEY, Clerk.

A true copy, Attest:
R. G. TOBEY, Clerk.
Jan. 23. 2w-tu., th.

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

MAY ASK REMOVAL

— —

Jerome Hunting Up Evidence Against Justice Deuel

— —

TOWN TOPICS TROUBLE

Handwriting Experts Called In Move Made In Direction of John Doe Proceedings--Jerome Has Mann-Lobe Letters

New York, Jan. 30.—Acting District Attorney Nott has begun a systematic study of the evidence brought out in the Hapgood criminal libel trial for the purpose of preparing its salient points ready for submission to District Attorney Jerome upon the latter's return to the city from his home at Lakeville, Conn., next Monday. It is definitely stated at the district attorney's office that if this evidence is sufficient to warrant such action, it will be submitted by Jerome to the appellate division with a view to having the judges of that court proceed with measures looking to the removal of Justice Deuel from the special sessions bench.

A conference was held in District Attorney Jerome's office between Robert J. Collier, publisher of Collier's Weekly, who is the complainant against Colonel W. D. Mann in the perjury charge, James W. Osborne and Assistant District Attorney Hart, who acted for Jerome. Present at the conference were two handwriting experts, Colonel Hay of Washington and A. E. Osborne of Rochester. Both these experts were employed in the Patrick and the Molineux murder cases.

Steps were taken by James W. Osborne, counsel for Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, in his recent trial on a charge of criminal libel, to follow up the disclosures made by witnesses in the hearing of that case. Yesterday's move is in the direction of John Doe proceedings. A representative of Osborne secured from a police magistrate a dozen subpoenas for witnesses whose identity was not disclosed.

Mr. Osborne's representative told the magistrate that Osborne expected to cooperate with District Attorney Jerome in conducting the proceedings, which, he said, would be based on the evidence given in the Town Topics case. It is expected that witnesses will be summoned before a grand jury.

The correspondence between Mann and Secretary Loeb relative to the article on President Roosevelt in "Fads and Fancies" is in the possession of Jerome, who took it to Lakeville with him. Yesterday the attorneys for Town Topics made a formal demand upon Nott for the return of the correspondence, but were informed that there was a great probability that Jerome would yet need it in connection with the Mann case.

Burial of General Wheeler

Washington, Jan. 30.—Home to the Southland which he loved so well the brought the body of Major General Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A., retired, and laid it to rest in Arlington on a shaded slope overlooking the Potomac near to the graves of men who, like himself, were veterans of two wars. Thousands uncovered their heads in silent tribute as the impressive caravan of mourners made its way beneath the wealth of sunshine that gave to the day a taste of springtime in the dead of winter.

Bigamy Charge Against Reid

New York, Jan. 30.—Albert B. D. Reid, said to have been formerly a captain of Hussars in the British army, is on trial here on a charge of bigamy preferred by Alice A. Smalley of Canada. The complainant alleges that she is Reid's wife. A few months ago Reid married a young woman of White Plains, whose brothers thereupon placed her in an asylum. Reid protested to the courts and made sensational charges against the brothers.

Seeking Clemency For Hazer

Washington, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt has been urged to exercise executive clemency in the case of John P. Miller, the midshipman who was convicted of hazing at the naval academy. The request was made by Senator McCreary of Kentucky and J. W. Miller of Lancaster, Ky., the midshipman's father. The president made no promises, but indicated an intention to let the verdict stand.

Looking For "Permanent Peace"

San Domingo, Jan. 30.—General Barba, the only remaining rebel chief in the northern part of the country, has surrendered, accepting the guarantees of the government. The government of the republic desires the treaty with the United States to be passed, as with the customs houses and all the internal revenues in the hands of a receiver the republic will secure permanent peace.

Longer Day and Less Pay

Jeanette, Pa., Jan. 30.—Three hundred men are on strike at the American window glass works because of new regulations which involve turns of 12 hours instead of eight. The wages have also been reduced about one-third. The company is endeavoring to fill the places of the strikers.

Shipwrecked Seamen Landed

Bremen, Jan. 30.—Captain Souter and the crew of steamer Dunmore, from Cardiff to Newport News, were landed here by steamer Breslau, from Galveston. The Dunmore was lost on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland and her crew was picked up at sea by the Breslau.

Local Ins And Outs

The local ice men have about given up all hopes of cutting any ice in Quincy this winter.

Mrs. Annie Wright will entertain members of W. R. C. sewing circle at her home on Thursday, Feb. 1.

The Copeland club is in active rehearsal for its annual minstrel show to be given early next month.

The annual meeting of the Quincy Yacht club will be held Saturday night in the Council chamber.

The porch on the north side of the High school used as an entrance is being torn down to make room for the new additions.

Chairman Hallowell will announce his sub committee at the meeting of the School Committee tonight. He has new material this year.

The terms of the present office holders under Mayor Thompson expire this week. The new year commences Monday, Feb. 5. Most of the present officials however have been reappointed.

West Quincy people want gates at the grade crossings of the Granite branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. Several of these crossings are considered very dangerous.

Houghs Neck Will Celebrate.

It is possible that the new piece of fire apparatus for Houghs Neck will not be delivered to this city until the newly appointed chief engineer takes office. Owing to the feeling between the two factions at Houghs Neck some difficulty may be experienced in getting a company. The residents, however, are preparing for a celebration when the apparatus arrives.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Bunty, the Bear

Bunt, Uncle Billy's pet bear, had broken his chain and got loose. Uncle Billy was gone to town, and Uncle Billy was the only person in the house who could make him behave.

"Bunt's loose! Bunt's loose!" screamed all the children, running in to their mother. Aunt Jennie took them with her into the bedroom.

Bunt came shuffling and snuffling into the house. He smelled some honey up in the attic in a big wooden chest. Bears love honey. He shuffled upstairs and grunted and snuffled when he got close enough to smell the honey plain. He climbed up on the back of the chest and pulled at the lid. Up it came, and in went his brown hairy paw. He got it full of honey. Then he leaned forward, and his weight smashed the lid down on it, pinching it cruelly. He drew back howling, pulled his paw out and licked it. Then he tried again. For nearly an hour old Bunt worked at that chest, but as he always got up on the lid before he tried to open it so he always pinched his toes and never got any honey.

PULLED AT THE LID.

When Uncle Billy came home they told him how bad the bear had been. He went upstairs to lead him down and chain him in the back yard.

Poor Bunt looked so miserable when he was being dragged away that Uncle Billy said, "I'll sell you to a circus, but first I'll give you as much honey as you want to eat, only you mustn't tell anybody I gave it to you."

Bunt winked his little piggy eyes as much as to say that he knew better than to tell. Uncle Billy turned back and gave him a great big piece of honeycomb to eat, and I am sure that Bunt did understand every word, for he has never to this day told anybody who gave him that honeycomb. — Atlanta Constitution.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages.

If you have any property to SELL
If there is any you wish to BUY,
IN QUINCY,
or any part of the
UNITED STATES,
Address, phone, or call on
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Telephone, Quincy 46-9. Jan. 29-tf

The Greenleaf Hotel
A Select Family
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties,
Dinners and Suppers.
AlsoHancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT
Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.
The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE. QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6 -1p-1y

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate not already administered of

EDMUND B. TAYLOR,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ABBIE F. FENNO, Adm'x.
(Address) 538 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 3, 1906. 3t-16, 23, 30

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station
New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious. VIII—Carewe upbraids Betty for her action at the fire. He denounces Vanrevel, and Betty tells him that he escorted her home. Her father declaras that her escort was Gray. Carewe goes on a journey. Nelson, a negro servant, tells Betty that her father hates Tom because he is an abolitionist, yet hints at a personal cause involving Gray. IX—Mrs. Tanberry, an elderly belle, becomes Betty's chaperon. Betty is serenaded, and Mrs. Tanberry recognizes Tom Vanrevel's voice in a song written by Gray for Fanchon. Betty thinks that the voice is Gray's for it is not that of her incroyable. X—Tom asks Betty for the first to dances at Fanchon's party. She gives him one, supposing him to be Gray. She leaves him abruptly, telling him never to address her again.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

Not far from the hotel he passed a small building brightly lighted and echoing with unusual clamors of industry—the office of the Rouen Journal. The press was going, and Mr. Cummings' thin figure crossed and recrossed the windows, while his voice could be heard energetically bidding his assistants to "Look alive!" so that Tom imagined that something might have happened between the Nueces river and the Rio Grande, but he did not stop to ask the journalist, for he desired to behold the face of none of his friends until he had fought out some things within himself. So he strode on toward nowhere.

Day was breaking when Mr. Gray climbed the stairs to his room. There were two flights, the ascent of the first of which occupied about half an hour of Crailey's invaluable time, and the second might have taken more of it or possibly consumed the greater part of the morning had he received no assistance; but, as he reclined to meditate upon the first landing, another man entered the hallway from without, ascended quickly, and Crailey became pleasantly conscious that two strong hands had lifted him to his feet and presently that he was being borne aloft upon the newcomer's back. It seemed quite a journey, yet the motion was soothing, so he made no effort to open his eyes until he found himself gently deposited upon the couch in his own chamber, when he smiled amiably and, looking up, discovered his partner standing over him.

Tom was very pale, and there were deep violet scrawls beneath his eyes. For once in his life he had come home later than Crailey.

"First time, you know," said Crailey, with difficulty. "You'll admit first time completely incapable? Often needed guiding hand, but never—quite—before."

"Yes," said Tom quietly, "it is the first time I ever saw you quite finished."

"Think I must be growing old, and constitution refuses bear it. Disgraceful to be seen in condition, yet celebration justified. H'rah for the news!" He waved his hand wildly. "Old red, white and blue! American eagle now kindly proceed to scream! Star spangled banner intends streaming to all the trade winds! Sea to sea! Glorious victories on political thieving exhibition—no, expedition! Everybody not responsible for the trouble to go and get himself patriotically killed!"

"What do you mean?"

"Water!" said the other feebly. Tom brought the pitcher, and Crailey, setting his hot lips to it, drank long and deeply; then, with his friend's assistance, he tied a heavily moistened towel round his head. "All right very soon and sober again," he muttered and lay back upon the pillow with eyes tightly closed in an intense effort to concentrate his will. When he opened them again, four or five minutes later, they had marvelously cleared and his look was self contained and sane.

"Haven't you heard the news?" He spoke much more easily now. "It came at midnight to the Journal."

"No; I've been walking in the country."

"The Mexicans crossed the Rio Grande on the 26th of last month, captured Captain Thornton and murdered Colonel Crook. That means war is certain."

"It has been certain for a long time," said Tom. "Polk has forced it from the first."

"Then it's a pity he can't be the only man to die!"

"Have they called for volunteers?" asked Tom, going toward the door.

"No, but if the news is true they will."

"Yes," said Tom, and as he reached the hallway he paused. "Can I help you to undress?"

"Certainly not!" Crailey sat up indignantly. "Can't you see that I'm perfectly sober? It was the merest temporary fit, and I've shaken it off. Don't you see?" He got upon his feet, staggered and came to the door with infirm steps.

"You're going to bed, aren't you?" asked Tom. "You'd much better."

"No," answered Crailey. "Are you?"

"No. I'm going to work."

"You've been all up night, too, haven't you?" Crailey put his hand on the other's shoulder. "Were you hunting for me?"

"No; not last night."

Crailey lurched suddenly, and Tom caught him about the waist to steady him.

"Sweethearting, tippling, vingt-et-un or poker, eh, Tom?" he shouted thickly, with a wild laugh. "Ha, ha, old smug face, up to my bad tricks at last!" But, recovering himself immediately, he pushed the other off at arm's length and slapped himself smartly on the brow. "Never mind; all right, all right—only a bad wave now and then. A walk will make me more a man than ever."

"You'd much better go to bed, Crailey."

"I can't. I'm going to change my clothes and go out."

"Why?"

Crailey did not answer, but at that moment the Catholic church bell, summoning the faithful to mass, pealed loudly on the morning air, and the steady glance of Tom Vanrevel rested upon the reckless eyes of the man beside him as they listened together to its insistent call. Tom said gently, almost timidly:

"You have an—engagement?"

This time the answer came briskly. "Yes. I promised to take Fanchon to the cemetery before breakfast, to place some flowers on the grave of the little brother who died. This happens to be his birthday."

It was Tom who averted his eyes, not Crailey.

"Then you'd best hurry," he said hesitatingly; "I mustn't keep you," and went downstairs to his office with flushed cheeks, a hanging head and an expression which would have led a stranger to believe that he had just been caught in a lie.

He went to the Main street window and seated himself upon the ledge, the only one in the room not too dusty for occupation, for here, at this hour, Tom had taken his place every morning since Elizabeth Carewe had come from the convent. The window was a coign of vantage, commanding the corner of Carewe and Main streets. Some distance west of the corner the Catholic church cast its long shadow across Main street, and in order to enter the church a person who lived upon Carewe street must pass the corner or else make a half mile detour and approach from the other direction, which the person never did. Tom had thought it out the first night that the image of Miss Betty had kept him awake, and that was the first night Miss Carewe spent in Rouen. The St. Mary's girl would be sure to go to mass every day, which was why the window ledge was dusted the next morning.

The glass doors of the little corner drug store caught the early sun of the hot May morning and became like sheets of polished brass, a farmer's wagon rattled down the dusty street; a group of Irish waitresses from the hotel made the board walk rattle under their hurried steps as they went toward the church, talking to one another, and a blinking youth in his shirt sleeves, who wore the air of one newly but not gladly risen, began to struggle mournfully with the shutters of Madrillon's bank. A moment later Tom heard Crailey come down the stairs, sure of foot and humming lightly to himself. The door of the office was closed. Crailey did not look in, but presently appeared on the opposite side of the street and offered badinage to the boy who toiled at the shutters.

The bell had almost ceased to ring when a lady, dressed plainly in black, but graceful and tall, came rapidly out of Carewe street, turned at the corner by the little drug store and went toward the church. The boy was left staring, for Crailey's banter broke off in the middle of a word.

He overtook her on the church steps, and they went in together.

That afternoon Fanchon Bareaud told Tom how beautiful her betrothed had been to her. He had brought her a great bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley and had taken her to the cemetery to place them on the grave of her baby brother, whose birthday it was. Tears came to Fanchon's eyes

It seemed quite a journey.

as she spoke of her lover's goodness and of how wonderfully he had talked as they stood beside the little grave.

"He was the only one who remembered that this was poor tiny Jean's birthday," she said and sobbed. "He came just after breakfast and asked me to go out there with him."

(Continued in next issue.)

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.
The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.
They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.
Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

A BARGAIN IN SUGAR!
A conditional bargain in strictly high grade, Granulated Sugar, is offered you at Foy's for 4 1-2 cents a pound—22 lbs. for $1.
To get Sugar at this price, you must buy either a pound of our best 50-cent Tea, or 1 lb. of our choicest grade 30 cent Coffee.
We want you to become acquainted with the merits of our Tea and Coffee—we want to build up a big trade in these two staples.
You never bought Sugar so cheap—you can't buy Coffee or Tea, as good, at these prices anywhere.
Another bargain inducement—Large, fancy, fine, Santa Clara California Prunes, 10c. lb., worth 15c.
R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

The races every night this week will be run in heats, three men in a heat. The winner each night to qualify for the final on Saturday, Feb. 3. On Wednesday evening in additiou to the heat there will be a one mile race for the Championship of Quincy between George Esson who holds the title and John Morrison. This race ought to prove exciting as these two men have had some pretty lively brushes.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

BONDS HID IN TRUNK

Customs Officers Come Upon a Mystery on Steamer Finland

New York, Jan. 30.—The finding beneath the false bottom of a trunk of about 500 securities and bonds, said to have a face value of over $100,000, by customs officers who were examining the baggage of passengers on the steamer Finland, from Antwerp, led to the uncovering of a mystery which the immigration authorities have taken up for investigation.

The papers were bonds of the Hungarian government and securities of various Hungarian railways, all apparently genuine. They were in a trunk assigned to Isaac Heicher, an Austrian grain merchant and second cabin passenger. He said, however, that the trunk did not belong to him, but that it was the property of Moses Greenberg, who, he said, was a passenger on the Finland. Failing to find Greenberg among the Finland's cabin passengers, the customs officials turned Heicher over to the immigration authorities, who held him pending a search for the trunk's owner. The Hungarian government authorities will be notified of the seizure. The papers were taken in charge by customs officials.

A Campaign of Warning

London, Jan. 30.—Field Marshal Roberts, addressing the members of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce last night, again affirmed that the nation was as absolutely unprepared for war as it was in 1889. He urged the adoption of 1,000,000 men as the military standard, half of which would be needed for the defense of India and the other half to fit the nation to maintain a European struggle. Lord Roberts said he had heard of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance with enthusiasm, but the alliance only applied to Asia and not to Europe, where the danger was greater.

College President on Salaries

Washington, Jan. 30.—President Thwing of Western Reserve university, Cleveland, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Washington alumni of that institution here last night. He declared that American colleges are threatened with deterioration of the teaching force because salaries have not kept pace with the increased cost of living. The fundamental difficulty, he said, is that the compensation is too low to secure the ablest order of character.

Alleged Death From Hazing

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—Charles J. Leat, administrator of the estate of Cecil F. Leat, has filed suiut against Carlton Sherwood and others for $10,000 damages. The petition says that the defendants, while at play in the high school yard at Hillard, wilfully and wantonly seized young Leat and rode him on a rail, after which he was thrown down to the ground and so bruised and injured that he died.

Grain Merchant Pleads Ignorance

Chicago, Jan. 30.—George S. McReynolds, the grain merchant who failed some days ago, refused to answer leading questions during his examination before a referee in bankruptcy, on the ground that his replies might incriminate him. Upon being pressed by attorneys for the creditors, McReynolds asserted that he was ignorant of important phases of his own business.

Injunction Against Printers

New York, Jan. 30.—An injunction was served on President McCormick of Typographical union No. 6 last night by the Butterick Publishing company, restraining them from what was alleged as interference in the printing department of the company, in that the union had tried to persuade the men engaged there not to continue at work.

Toward Municipal Ownership

Berlin, Jan. 30.—At a conference of the Berlin municipal authorities with the municipal officers of eight suburban towns it was resolved to take the initiatory steps to acquire the Berlin Street Railway company and to operate roads upon the joint account of the municipalities referred to. The company has a capital of $25,000,000.

Boy Shot and Killed Girl

New York, Jan. 30.—Josephine Gargone, a 15-year-old Italian, was shot and killed last night at her home in Brooklyn by Craniello Panoviso, two years her senior, who immediately afterwards shot himself in the head. He was taken to the hospital a prisoner, but refused to give an explanation of the affair.

A $25,000 Present For Miss Alice

Havana, Jan. 30.—The house of representatives adopted unanimously and without discussion the senate bill appropriating $25,000 for a wedding present to Miss Alice Roosevelt.

NEWS IN BRIEF

More than 700 bales of cotton in two holds of the steamer Bohemian, loading at Boston for Liverpool, were damaged by fire, the loss being about $25,000.

Practically complete returns from the British elections show that four Canadians will be in the new parliament, although Canada has no direct representation in that body.

Work on the state agricultural college buildings at Cornell university has been interrupted by all the bricklayers and masons being ordered on strike by the building trades council.

A locomotive crashed into a car containing 400 kegs of powder at Youngstown, O. Fireman Eagin was fatally injured and three others were seriously hurt.

Captain Stephen R. Kirby, one of the founders of the Detroit DryDock company, which built the first iron and steel boats that sailed on the Great Lakes, died at his home in New York, aged 82.

CHINESE LABOR

Attitude of Senators Shown In a Discussion

PURPOSE OF EXCLUSION

Not to Facilitate Coming of the Higher Class of Chinese, but Covert Move to Bring in More Coolies--To Probe Boycott

Washington, Jan. 30.—The Chinese boycott came up in the senate in connection with a resolution by Mr. Tillman directing an investigation by the committee on immigration. Tillman modified the resolution, omitting the major portion of the preamble.

Senator Dubois (Dem., Ida.) precipitated a debate somewhat significant of the attitude of that body toward the proposed amendments of the Chinese law and the questions of canal zone labor. When some allusion was made by Dubois to the willingness of the south to have Chinese labor, Clay and Tillman dissented, the latter saying for his section: "We have troubles enough of our own with the present condition without attempting to mix it up, making confusion worse confounded by our element of labor which we consider more or less debased. We want no coolies."

Senator Teller endorsed Dubois' view that the object of the present attempt was not to facilitate the coming of higher class Chinese, but was really a covert move to bring in more coolies. He said large sections of this country were short of labor; that Colorado's interests were in many places crippled on this account, and yet the state prefers to get along without an element so incongruous to our civilization. The boycott comes from the desire of the higher class Chinese to have Asia for Asiatics, China for the Chinese. Cotton goods would not long be sold in China; that country would learn to produce them for herself. The great industrial hordes of Japan would seize the markets for China's millions and no laws could be enacted to change the outlook.

Senator Newlands (Nev.) related some observations in China last summer, from which it appeared such resistance of Chinese, shown in the attempted boycott, was due to Chinese desire to get in coolies rather than because of their taking any offense over the treatment accorded to the educated Chinese tourists. Here Tillman interrupted to ask how long Newlands and Dubois were in Canton, Hong Kong and Pekin. Newlands said they were in Hong Kong three or four days, Canton part of a day and Pekin several days.

Tillman rejoined: "I will ask the senator if his sweeping general conclusions, based on his own observations in the great empire of China, after such a protracted investigation, are not something like Poultney Bigelow's invasion of the Isthmus of Panama?"

It took Newlands some time to answer this question. He spoke of the proposed exclusion of the Japanese, saying that it would provoke the hostility of that country just as our desirable Chinese exclusion policy would permanently offend China. He then alluded to our desire for the open door in the East from other countries and our proposed closed door in the Philippines, which we controlled. This referred to the proposed inclusion of the archipelago three years hence within our own tariff roof, which would cut off the trade of Japan and China in the islands, while we were insisting on the open door in Manchuria and Korea, although Japan's relation to the countries is fully as close as ours to the Philippines. He wondered how long Japan will stand this, saying that to obtain a monopoly of the trade of the Philippines, with the seven million people, we were imperilling our markets among the three hundred millions of China and Japan.

Tillman then pressed his resolution upon which the debate had occurred. It called on the senate committee to investigate the Chinese boycott of American goods, to see what were the facts and to suggest remedies for the ill-feeling that had been aroused by our exclusion laws. It was referred to the committee on contingent expenses.

Action which is considered a move against the railroads was taken by the house in the adoption of a resolution calling on the president to furnish information as to the existence of an alleged agreement in violation of the interstate commerce law between half a dozen railroad companies. Opposition to the resolution did not develop until after it had been declared adopted by the speaker. At this point Mr. Dalzell (Pa.) moved to reconsider. This motion was laid on the table and makes it impossible to reconsider the resolution hereafter without a two-thirds vote of the house.

Railroad's $30,000,000 Mortgage

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 30.—The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad has filed a mortgage for $30,000,000 to the Old Colony Trust company of Boston, to complete the proposed line between Birmingham, Ala., and Brunswick, Ga. The mortgage was filed simultaneously in all the counties through which the proposed line passes.

Banking Investigation Next

Albany, Jan. 30.—The assembly ways and means committee last night voted to report favorably to the assembly the concurrent resolution for the investigation of the New York state banking department.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	FROM BOSTON Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 50	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	3 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 31	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 15	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 25	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g, Savin Hill, h, Crescent Avenue, i, South Boston, r, Quincy Adam.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping a East Milton.) 6.16 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.15 P. M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A. M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P. M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAY—8.46 9.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P. M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A. M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6 21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P. M. SUNDAY—7.51 8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P. M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A. M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P. M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A. M. 12.16 4.16 5.16 10.16 P. M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Jan 20, 1906.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston. Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M , then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6 25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6 37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6 50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P. M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7 00, 7 30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11 20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.35, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6 50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3.35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905.	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	42	75	32	20	16
Monday,	56	66	24	22	20
Tuesday,	45	65	27	28	11
Wednesday,	—	46	19	30	34
Thursday,	—	29	28	38	32
Friday,	—	36	19	38	18
Saturday,	—	44	22	35	22

New Advertisements Today.

Probate Notice.
Consolidated Grocery Store—Choice Goods.
Notice—Custom Tailoring.
Inspector's Notice.
Lost—Baby's Carriage Robe.

The City In Brief

Leon F. Besse has been appointed head usher at the Wollaston Congregational church.

Mrs. George K. Carter of Pawtucket, R. I., entertained a few of her Quincy friends on Monday.

The only son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McCormick of Willard street is seriously ill with scarlet fever.

The appointment of Charles L. Hammond as postmaster of Quincy was confirmed by the Senate on Monday.

The Executive Committee of the Wollaston Congregational church will meet at the parsonage Thursday evening at 7.30.

Mrs. Jennie Holton entertains the the Brownie Whist club at the home of Mrs. Mary E. Powers, Washington street Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Stork dropped down at the house of one of our pastors Friday morning, Jan. 26, and left a fine boy baby. Rev. Barr is all smiles and good wishes to everybody.

Wednesday afternoon there will be an annual meeting of the ladies of the Elliott Home Mission society at the home of Mrs. G. F. Pinkham, 111 Warren avenue.

The Wollaston W. C. T. U. meets with Mrs. Smith B. Harrington, of Grand View avenue this afternoon; subject—Departments particularly allied with church work.

The W. R. C. 103 has presented an oleograph to the Y. M. C. A. The Corps has placed these oleographs in thirteen of the schools, including Woodward Institute.

There was an evening service at the Wollaston Baptist church, on Sunday, with a sermon by the Rev. Mr. Webber. The ordinance of baptism was administered and several persons were taken into the church.

Mrs. Francis Leben of Howard street, East Braintree, died on Sunday after a lingering illness. She leaves a husband, two sons Frank and Charles, and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Crane of Adams street.

The newly installed officers of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge will work the degree on several candidates at its meeting on Thursday evening, also entertain Mrs. Annie E. Sawyer, D. D. G. M. and part of her suite of Boston, several applications will also be presented.

G. Arthur Gray of 51 Botolph street was toastmaster on Saturday at the annual banquet of the clerks and salesmen of the Revere Rubber company at Hotel Essex, and contributed greatly to the success of the gathering. Dr. A. H. Gilson of this city operated the stereopticon skilfully, and showed views in the rubber growing country.

A large number of people attended the gymnasium class at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening. It was known as ladies' night yet all who were interested were invited to visit the class. It was the first of a series. The second one to come Feb. 10. The bowling alleys were opened to the ladies and many took advantage of the opportunity to bowl.

Bissell's Carpet Sweepers, $1.98.

Sweeping day is a trying day where a Bissell Sweeper is not used. Broom, dust pan and brush, tired back, clouds of dust, everything topsy turvey, and house wife cross.

With a Bissell Sweeper all this is saved. No broom, no dust pan, no dust, no back ache, it's just fun to do your sweeping.

For a limited period we will sell the famous ball bearing broom action Bissell Sweepers for $1.98, regular department store price is $3.00.

This is your opportunity—don't let it pass.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Mrs. Joseph F. Burrell of Cherry avenue is ill with pneumonia.

H. Lincoln Ford, the obliging young clerk at the Consolidated, has severed his connection with that Company, and is now with Charles H. Brooks.

Mrs. Stephen Penniman is slowly recovering from her recent accident and is making her home with her daughter in New York.

Gustaf R. Blomquist will open a custom tailor shop on Feb. 1, at 1440 Hancock street, for several years conducted by Francis Mackedon. With twenty years' experience he should be successful.

Surprised by Many Friends

A large number of the friends of Miss Minnie G. Butters of 130 Arnold street, surprised the young lady on Monday evening, the date of her 20th anniversary. The Weymouths, Braintree, Dorchester, Roxbury and Cambridge were represented as well as all parts of Quincy.

W. H. Flynn in behalf of the friends presented Miss Butters a watch and chain, the former being engraved with a monogram. Miss Butters responded.

Games were played the first of the evening followed by an entertainment which included: Impersonations by Denton Crady, Buster Beady, William Chute, and Clarence Hill.

Songs by Peter Cronin, Henry Cook, William J. Kelley, J. A. McCluskey, Peter Hynes, Jr., John Buzzell, Ed. Crotty, Thomas Welch, James Grant, Miss Mollie Greenough, Miss Dora Leary and Miss Annie Ago.

Recitations by Daniel J. Daley, Thomas Melley, John Dacey, Joseph Van Alum, Miss Emma Tighe, Fred McInnis and Miss Florence Hurley

Buck and wing dance by James Flynn and Teddy Shannon and James Mulhearn; piano selections by Miss Dolly Griffin, Miss Ida Wood and James Dunn.

Refreshments were served during the evening.

Pulverized Diamond.

According to the Mohammedans of southern India, pulverized diamond is the least painful, the most active and the most certain of all poisons. According to "Wilke's History," the powder of diamonds is kept on hand (by the wealthy only presumably) as a last resource. But a belief in the poisonous character of the diamond also existed in Italy in the sixteenth century.

Yellow Fever.

There is a marked peculiarity about yellow fever which distinguishes it from most epidemics. It is essentially a disease of a hot climate, and it takes a certain amount and duration of heat to awaken it to life. It is said that it can never prevail where Indian corn will not ripen.

The Poor Poets.

"Poets are born, sir," said the bard to the editor.

"Yes, I know they weren't hatched from duck eggs," answered the editor. "But the question is, Why are they born?"—Cleveland Leader.

Wanted Her Reformed.

Mamma—Why did you pray that God should stop your sister from telling stories? Small Son—Because she promised me she wouldn't tell that I took the cakes, and she did tell.

There are more talkers than thinkers. Here you have the solution of gossip.

Quincy Post Office.

Letters unclaimed for week ending Monday, Jan. 29.

Joseph Buskom, William E. Clarke, William Claflin, Philip Cunningham, Arthur David, R. N. Faxon, Fisher Medical Co., Victor Gallant, Giovani Geudella, John A. Gastafson, Charlie Jorgensen, Agis Lilzeioth Joseph Lilley, Theodore Londamere, Robert McIntyre, W. McKay, William P. McKenna, Capt. A. D. Monison, F. E. Morton, Willis Moseworthy, James O'Connor, A. Peterson, Sterling Purdy, Edward O'Shaugnessey, Thomas Smith, War F Straub, Gollo Vinsey, E. Vincent, Albert Q Wray.

Miss Lena Buck, Miss Julia Corg, Lerafura DeSinsons, Mrs. A. W. Gardner, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Gilbertson, Mrs. Hugh MacDonald, Mrs. Annie Walker, Miss Luni Peterson, Mrs. R. W. Rice, Mrs. L. D Rummell, Held Ivensson, Miss O'ga Wangblan, Miss Virgina Willis.

TODAY'S COURT.

Thomas Collins and Bernard Donaher were find $5 each for disturbing the peace at Weymouth.

Raphael D. Placito and Petro Mourano were fined $25 each for assault at Weymouth.

Victor Selina was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

The case of George A. Faunce for non support was called and again continued until March 1st.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Inspector's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Inspector of Meats and Provisions will be at the office of the Board of Health on Wednesday of each week from 9.00 to 10.00 A. M. until further notice.
Quincy, Jan. 30. 5t

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —State House, Boston, Jan. 24, 1906. The committee on metropolitan affairs will give a hearing to parties interested in the petition (with accompanying bill, house No. 560) of Edward D. Emerson for legislation to direct the metropolitan park commission to erect, construct and maintain division fences between land taken by said commission for park and other purposes and the abutting owners in certain cases, and in the petition with accompanying bill house No. 474 for legislation to direct the metropolitan park commission to print certain laws, rules and regulations at Room No. 436, State House, on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 10.30 o'clock a. m. Prentis Cummings, Chairman. George H. Jackson, Clerk of the Committee.
Jan. 30. 1t

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

ANDREW YOUNG,

late of Quincy, in said County deceased:

Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by James W. Young, of Quincy, and George E. Young, of Milford, Mass., who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, without giving a surety on their official bonds

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t-26, 2, 12

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

LOWELL HOTEL FIRE

Mayor to Investigate Charges That Firmen Shirked Duty

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 30.—Charges that the fire department failed to put forth its efforts at the burning of the Richardson hotel early Saturday morning and that prompt and effective work by the firemen would have prevented the loss of three lives, will be the subject of an investigation by Mayor Casey.

The police are working on the case in an endeavor to find the man and woman who occupied room 30, where, it is believed, the fire started.

The bodies of H. C. Harding, a traveling salesman, and of Christine Nelson a servant at the hotel, and Miss Josephine Kennisten, a nurse of Franklin Falls, N. H., have been identified and removed to their respective homes for burial.

At St. John's hospital, where several of those injured at the fire are being cared for, it is stated that all will recover.

Police Board Wakes Up

Boston, Jan. 30.—The proprietors of the Boston Tavern were notified by the police board that the hotel branch office of the brokerage firm of J. J. Quinlan & Co. of this city must be closed. The brokerage office immediately suspended operations at the hotel. The police board claimed that the operation of the brokerage office was a violation of the license law. Later orders were issued to close the branch offices of the same concern in the United States hotel and the Quincy house.

Negroes Want Fair Treatment

Boston, Jan. 30.—A delegation of negro citizens called upon the chairman of the committee on federal relations of the state legislature and protested against the appropriation of any money by the state for an exhibition at the Jamestown exhibition in 1907 unless the state obtains from the commonwealth of Virginia a promise that all citizens of Massachusetts, whatever their race or color, shall receive the same treatment at the exposition.

Artificial Arms Blocked Suicide

Boston, Jan. 30.—Charles Holack lost both arms and an eye as the result of an explosion. Since his release from the hospital he has been wearing a pair of cork arms. In a fit of despondency he jumped into the Charles river. He could not sink on account of the buoyancy of his artificial arms. He was rescued and taken to a hospital to recover from the shock and chill caused by his immersion in the icy water.

Seven Percent Wage Increase

Boston, Jan. 30.—A wage increase of approximately 7 percent, in which 1600 employes participate, has gone into effect on the Boston and Maine railroad system. Heretofore the system of payment has been on the trip basis, the compensation varying with the different divisions. Under the new arrangement wages will be paid entirely on a mileage basis.

Cranks Are In Evidence

Boston, Jan. 30.—Chief Shaw of the state police has received a letter threatening the life of Judge Sherman, who sentenced Charles L. Tucker to death. The letter was not signed or dated Chief Shaw has also received a letter signed "J. L. Morton," in which the writer declared he would put to death the officers in charge of the Tucker execution.

Bernhardt Acts In City Hall

Portland, Me., Jan. 30.—Unable to secure a theatre in Portland in which to make her only appearance in Maine during her present tour, Mme. Bernhardt produced "La Sorciere" at the city hall last night. The audience of 3000 people packed the hall to the doors. In the final act of the play Bowdoin students assisted in the production.

Train Struck Two Women

Salem, Mass., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Dennis J. Hagerty and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Daniel T. Hagerty, were out driving when their horse became frightened and ran directly in front of a train at a crossing. Mrs. D. J. Hagerty was killed almost instantly and her sister-in-law received serious injuries. The horse was killed and the carriage demolished.

Indictment Against Drug Concern

Boston, Jan. 30.—The Theodore Metcalf company was indicted by the Suffolk county grand jury on a charge of selling adulterated olive oil, brandy and extract of vanilla. In court the company entered a plea of not guilty and was ordered to appear for trial. The corporation owns wholesale and retail drug stores in this city.

Value of Assets In Doubt

Boston, Jan. 30.—Receivers Hall and Weed for the Provident Securities and Banking company have completed their inventory of the assets of the bank. They have not presumed to offer an opinion as to the value of the stock of the Shenandoah Irrigation and Land company, held by the Provident company as their chief asset.

Aldermanic Deadlock Continues

Boston, Jan. 30.—The deadlock in the Boston board of aldermen on the question of electing a chairman remained unbroken when the board adjourned at the conclusion of its regular weekly meeting. The result of the ballot was the same that has attended all other attempts to select a chairman since Jan. 1.

Killed In Their Own Mine

Pittsburg, Kan., Jan. 30.—Three men were killed by what is thought to have been a premature explosion of a blast last night in the Billington mine. The dead are Squire Billington, Marion Billington and Linlen Hume. The Billingtons owned the mine.

IT'S A BAD STORM THAT HELPS NOBODY

[Original.]

The train had been creeping along through the darkness for an hour or more, working its way in the teeth of a blizzard. There were few people in the parlor car, but among them were a man and a woman who attracted the attention of the others. The woman sat moodily unmindful of what was going on about her; the man was alternately peering out of the window and endeavoring to infuse a bit of cheerfulness into his companion. The train moved slower and slower and at last stopped.

In the car all was still; ahead was a babel of voices—the engineer, conductor and trainmen consulting as to what should be done. A strain on the boiler had prevented further making of steam, which not only interfered with progress, but prevented heating the cars. It was decided to send a man to a station a mile ahead to telegraph for an engine.

When the couple in the parlor car learned this the face of the man took on a greater uneasiness. The steam having been shut off, the car rapidly cooled and, the thermometer being below zero, the prospect of comfort was at the ebb.

"I think we shall get on again presently," said the man reassuringly.

"I wish we would have to go back."

A frown gathered on his brow. "I supposed your mind was made up," he said. "What has come over you?"

"I wonder who put Alice to bed tonight?"

There was silence between them—a gloomier silence than before. Then the man said he would go forward and inquire into the prospect. While he was gone the porter of the car said to the lady:

"Yo' might go into de house wha' yo' see de light up yondah."

A sudden idea seized the woman. Dropping a piece of money into the man's hand, she bade him lead the way. She seemed to wish to escape from something besides the cold. Once out of the car the porter helped her through snowdrifts to the house in question. It was a mere cot, and its only occupants were a man and a baby. The porter left, saying that he would come for her before the train started. She slipped another coin into his hand and asked him to tell the gentleman who had been with her that she would take a rest and did not wish to be disturbed till it became necessary. She charged him not to let the gentleman with whom she was traveling know where she was. The porter was to slip away and come to her.

The baby was restless and cried. The man, after vainly endeavoring to quiet it, took it up.

"Where is its mother?" asked the lady.

"The child has no mother."

"Dead?"

"Worse."

A convulsive shudder passed over her, as if some one had struck her.

"Even though the man who took her away was far preferable to me, I wonder she could have left this helpless child—her child—to go with him."

Another shudder passed over the lady. She looked at the man holding the babe with a pair of wild eyes that bespoke terror, misery, remorse. He was not looking at her and went on with his talk, which was addressed as much to himself as to her.

"A woman who can desert her child is not a woman. She is a monster. It is bad enough to go off with another man, but to leave her child to die but for the father's care, and that father having to go out to work, is the worst of crimes. If I were making the laws I might not hang a woman for murder, but I should hang her for deserting her baby."

The listener turned a ghastly white.

"But, do you know, I'd forgive her if she'd only come back," he went on, and his voice trembled. "Yes, I'd forgive her the whole thing. Not only on the child's account, but on her own. The man who took her away got a story on me which had just enough truth in it to make her believe it all, and she wasn't strong enough to resist his influence. Yes, I'd take her back. but," he added gloomily, "it would never be the same again. There would always be the shame of it."

A locomotive whistle sounded, and presently footsteps came crunching in the snow. The door opened, and the porter appeared.

"We'll be off soon," he said.

"Have you told the gentleman where I am?"

"No, ma'am. He tried to make me, but I wouldn't."

"I want you to stay with me."

"What, stay here and let the train go on?"

"Yes."

"Lor', missus, I couldn't do dat; I'd git discharged."

"I'll get you a better position."

From her purse she took a roll of bills and handed it to him, then turning to the man with the baby she said, "We must get out of the way in case they search."

"There's rooms upstairs," he said, and the lady went up. The porter went to a shed without. A searching party headed by the lady's companion came along, but, not finding her, they went away. Then the train moved on.

The next day the lady appeared at her own home and gave as a reason for her absence that she had gone to the suburbs to visit her mother. The storm had prevented her return and broken down the telegraph wires, so she could not communicate the reason of her absence.

MARIA D. CHAFFORTH.

The Taking Cold Habit

The old cold goes; a new one quickly comes. It's the story of a weak throat, a tendency to consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up the taking-cold habit. It strengthens, heals. Ask your doctor to tell you all about it.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Where Skating Is Popular.

Cunningham's pond in Milton has great attraction for the young people this winter. Police are on duty at all times, and at night the pond is lighted by electricity. There has been good skating for several weeks, being flooded and swept as required. All skaters must wear a badge reading—

Not transferable. —— —— is entitled to the privileges of the Cunningham pond in Milton at his own risk for the season of 1906, subject to the posted regulations. George Simpson, agent."

The regulations require good conduct and are strictly enforced. Violators must give up all privileges. Over 1200 are now registered.

There is a house where skaters may go to get warm, and also leave their rubbers and wraps.

A part of the pond is reserved for the High school hockey team.

☞ Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

DIED.

O'CONNOR—In Quincy, at the City Hospital, Jan. 29, Miss Mary E. O'Connor of 44 Madison street, Atlantic, aged about 40 years.
DINEGAN—In Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 30, Miss Mary Ellen Dinegan formerly of Quincy.
FAUNCE—In Boston, Jan. 29, Mr. Ichabod W. Faunce of Wollaston, aged 78 years and 14 days.

DYEING
In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Estates.
Care of Trust Funds.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty.
No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours. 8 A. M —6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

TO LET
Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.
One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.
Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x60 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 0-6 with 11 stalls.
A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.
Storage—light and dry.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:

Four lines, or less, one day. - - - 25 cents
" " three days, - - - 50 cents
" " one week. - - - 75 cents

Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Jan. 27, a Baby's Carriage Robe. Finder will please return to Ledger Office and receive reward. Jan 30-3t

LOST—On Saturday evening last, near the Quincy station, a gentleman's gold hunting case Watch, with black fob chain with initials R. P. M. engraved. Finder will be liberally rewarded by calling at the Ledger office. Jan. 29-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—An Experienced Prince Edward Island or Irish Girl for general housework. Apply to MRS. LEWIS N. CURTIS, 15 Orchard Place.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

WANTED—Immediately, first class granite shed boss. Give qualifications in detail, terms and age. Address "SHED BOSS," care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 29-6t

WANTED.—Young girl to learn to make ladies' neckwear. 237 South Central avenue, Wollaston. Jan. 27-3t

WANTED—3 or 4 Rooms, furnished or unfurnished, suitable for light housekeeping. Address "B.," Ledger Office. Jan. 26. 6t

WANTED—Gang of Granite Cutters. McDONNELL & SONS, Garfield and Quarry streets
Quincy, Jan. 29. 6t

WANTED—Work by the day. Washing, ironing, cleaning, etc. Enquire at Ledger Office for address. Jan. 25-6t

WANTED—A Capable Girl for general housework. Apply at 24 Saville avenue. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

WANTED—Engineer for granite polishing mill. State experience and wages desired. Apply "ENGINEER," care General Delivery, Quincy Post Office. Jan. 29-6t

FOR SALE.

HORSE FOR SALE—Weighs 1,000 pounds. Price $45. Call in afternoon at 36 Edwards Street, Quincy
Jan. 29. 3t

FOR SALE—Building on the corner of Palmer and Sea streets, Houghs Neck. Formerly occupied by Charles G. Belden & Co., as office and ware house. Inquire of ALBERT C. BRUFF, Greenleaf Hotel.
Quincy, Jan. 22. 6t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET—A Small Tenement. Apply at 49 Rodman street, Quincy.
Jan. 29. 3t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—48 Revere Road a well furnished good size sunny Room two large closets $2.50 per week. Also another medium size room; sun all day; hot water heat; $1.75 per week. Nice bath room. Quincy, Jan. 23-tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout Apply at 336 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office.
Sept. 12. tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point, Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Quincy, Mass.
BIRTHPLACE
of Two Presidents.

The Quincy Daily Ledger

Published in the City of Presidents

Quincy, Mass.
BURIAL PLACE
of Two Presidents.

Vol. 18. No. 27. QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Bissell's Carpet Sweepers, $1 98.

Sweeping day is a trying day where a Bissell Sweeper is not used. Broom, dust pan and brush, tired back, clouds of dust, everything topsy turvey, and house wife cross.

With a Bissell Sweeper all this is saved. No broom, no dust pan, no dust, no back ache, it's just fun to do your sweeping.

For a limited period we will sell the famous ball bearing broom action Bissell Sweepers for $1.98, regular department store price is $3.00.

This is your opportunity—don't let it pass.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced House Furniture Store
1459 Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

COAL

CLEAN COAL.

THAT'S OUR KIND.

C. PATCH & SON.

Jan. 19. pl tf

WHY NOT BECOME
A Regular Reader of the
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER?

Send us a Postal or Telephone

No. 236

AND WE WILL CALL FOR YOUR ORDER.

We Have FULL STOCK of the

Choicest Meats Lamb Turkeys
Broilers Fowl Oysters
Deerfoot Sausages Celery Lettuce
Spinach etc.

Dont Forget the HOME MADE SALAD DRESSING
AND THE STAR COFFEE.
Also ORANGE PEKOE TEA.

CONSOLIDATED,

Adams Building.

Quincy, Jan. 30. tf

Salary Raise

Recommended And Urged for Quincy School Teachers

A regular meeting of the School Committee was held Tuesday evening. All members of the committee were present.

LINCOLN'S DAY.

Col. C. H. Porter suggested that more be made of Lincoln's birthday in the public schools. The question was referred to the chairman, and Superintendent of schools with full powers.

RESIGNATIONS.

The following resignations were accepted:

Miss Evelyn G. McGinley and Miss Georgia P. Wardwell of the Quincy school.

Miss Mary A. Thomas of the John Hancock school.

Miss Lina M. Ferrer of the Willard school.

Miss Mary E. Burns was transferred from the Lincoln to the John Hancock school.

NEW TEACHERS.

The following teachers were elected:

Miss Bessie M. Drew to the Lincoln school.

Miss Alice J. McAlister to the Quincy school.

Miss Alice M. Parker to the Willard school.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Chairman Hallowell appointed the following standing sub-committees for 1906 for the different schools:

High,—Messrs. Porter, Hallowell and Record.

Adams,—Messrs. Miller, Newcomb and Owens.

Coddington,—Messrs. Hallowell, Miller and Smith.

Cranch,—Messrs. Miller, Hunting and Owens.

Gridley Bryant,—Messrs. Porter, Owens and Smith.

John Hancock,—Messrs. Newcomb, Owens and Porter.

Lincoln,—Messrs. Hunting, Miller and Newcomb.

Massachusetts Fields,—Messrs. Record, Porter and Duggan.

Quincy,—Messrs. Duggan, Record and Hallowell.

Washington,—Messrs. Smith, Newcomb and Miller.

Willard,—Messrs. Owens, Hallowell and Porter.

Wollaston,—Messrs. Record, Duggan and Newcomb.

Books, Supplies and Sundries,—Messrs. Hunting, Smith and Miller.

Text Books,—Messrs. Record, Hunting and Duggan.

Transportation, — Messrs. Duggan, Smith and Record.

Evening Schools,—Messrs. Newcomb, Owens and Hunting.

Special Subjects,—Messrs. Smith, Duggan and Miller.

Rules and Regulations,—Messrs. Porter, Newcomb and Owens.

Teachers,—The Chairman, Messrs. Record and Hunting.

Finance and Salaries,—The Chairman, Messrs. Porter and Smith.

EXPENDITORS.

The expenditures of the department to date were as follows:

Salaries	$9,078.38
Janitors	615.79
Books, Supplies and Sundries	1,237.31
Rents	30.00
Fuel	0.00
Transportation	164.60
Evening Schools	0.00
Total	$11,126.08

SALARIES.

The sub-committee appointed to consider the subject of teachers salaries reported as follows:

Your committee, appointed to consider the question of the teachers' salaries of the city of Quincy, reports that in its opinion $9,000 should be appropriated this year above what will be required to keep salaries at their present figure.

Several reasons point conclusively to the justice and expediency of an increase of teachers' salaries in our city.

(1.) The present schedule of teachers' salaries was fixed in 1893. Since that time living expenses have largely increased.

(2.) North Adams, Pittsfield, Taunton, Gloucester, Haverhill, Salem, Everett, Malden, Newton, Waltham, Brockton, Chelsea, Fitchburg, Quincy all the cities of Massachusetts having a population of from 20,000 to 40,000 (as near the rank of Quincy as can be used for comparison) average to pay their male teachers $223.30 and their female teachers $54.60 per year more than Quincy pays.

(3.) From 1829 to 1904 the salaries throughout the whole state averaged $160.10 more for male and $31.80 more for female teachers than the salaries of Quincy averaged.

(4.) To raise the salaries of Quincy to the average of the above named cities $10,174.50 will be required; to raise the average to the average salaries of the state $6,376.50 will be required.

Your committee arrived at the figure $9,000 by considering a sum between the average salaries of the cities of the rank of Quincy, and the average salaries of the whole state with about $1,000 additional for janitors.

Having decided that our teachers' salaries are not large enough, the question of curtailment in school expenses in any particular was considered.

While not claiming to have exhausted the subject we are unable to recommend any reduction in the present expenditures whereby money for an increase of salaries can be secured.

For what may be called frills or special teachers, we spend in salaries, music, $900, drawing, $720, sewing: $600.

The average expense for these subjects in the above named cities is $2,808 per year, or $568 more than Quincy expends.

To put our expenditures for books, supplies and sundries as nearly as we can estimate (and we believe the estimate approximately correct) up to an average of the cities of our rank $3,917.78 additional would be required, and to put them up to the average of the state more than $4,008 would be needed.

It is claimed by some that in consideration of the financial condition of the city more money cannot be used upon our schools. We should be pleased to find that our finances are so well conducted that this is true, and at the same time we should be disappointed, for we believe that to put and keep our schools in the condition they should be in, more money must be spent upon them than is at present spent.

From 1876 to 1880, during Col. Parker's time, the salaries in Quincy were $42.62 per month for male and $13.20 for female teachers above the averages for the state; today they are well below, averaging for the last five years $16.01 for male and $3.18 for female less per month than the averages for the state.

Surely it is time for us to stop to consider why this is as it is. We believe that the cause will not be difficult to find, when the whole financial situation is considered. From the $330,000 or thereabout, that can be used for current city expenses, we believe if it is a wise policy $9,000 can be diverted.

(Continued on page 4)

Fine Work

Mt. Wollaston Lodge Exemplify the Third Degree of Odd Fellowship

The new third degree team of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows gave a full dress rehearsal of the degree on Tuesday evening as they will present it at the exemplification at Braintree on Washington's Birthday. The attendance of members of the lodge was large, but was almost eclipsed by a visiting delegation from Electric lodge of Brockton numbering over 100, which was headed by Noble Grand James Manchester and Vice Grand Albert Frost. Other lodges were also represented, and the lodge room was never so overtaxed as on this occasion.

For two or three years there has been a combination of lodges for the degree work—Mt. Wollaston working the first degree, John Hancock of Wollaston the second, and Neponset of Neponset the third, but by the new arrangment John Hancock will work the first, Neponset the second and Mt. Wollaston the third.

On the degree team are Past Grands Charles Hobart, William J. Williams, Charles Harwood, Frank Carlton, Albert Clark, Frank W. Flowers, Edward L. Goodridge, Aubrey R. Keith, D. Edward McDonald; also Noble Grand Charles S. Jones and Charles Kezer, James Moorhead, Jr., Charles Gragg, E. Frank Mitchell, John Michael, Frank Hearn, William Hobart, Newman Savage, Elisha Hobart, Richard Bishop, Robert Kennedy, George Ripley, William Robertson, James W. Young, Thomas Smith, Jr., Charles Barron, C. M. Chase and J. M. Baker.

It was more than a rehearsal on this occasion, for Electric lodge brought along a well known Brocktonian who wanted all the extras. He will long remember the date when Mt. Wollaston lodge conferred on him the third degree which entitles him to all the honors of an Odd Fellows' lodge.

The degree staff is entitled to great credit for the grand work of the evening. Every member has been interested and has given considerable time for some weeks in perfecting his part. The quartet and pianist add much to the impressiveness, and there is new paraphernalia, new robes, new electrical effects, new marching, etc. Bert Tirrell of Weymouth has been the instructor.

The good work of the staff was frequently applauded, especially at the conclusion of the degree. Visitors from Brockton, said it was the best work they ever witnessed.

Mt. Wollaston lodge entertained at the close with a banquet, it being necessary to set the tables twice to accommodate all.

On Washingtons Birthday all the degrees of Odd Fellowship will be exemplified at the Town Hall, Braintree, four lodges participating. The lodge will open at 1.30 P. M. At 2 P. M. the officers of Puritan lodge of Braintree will exemplify the Initiatory work. At 3.30 John Hancock lodge of Wollaston will present the first degree.

A banquet will be served between 5.30 and 6.30. At 7 P. M. Neponset lodge will exemplify the second degree, and at 8.30 Mt. Wollaston lodge will present the third degree. It will be a gala day for Odd Fellows.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

E. J. MURPHY,
L. G. MURRAY,
S. F. COPELAND,
G. A. LORING, Wollaston
Nov. 22. 6mos

House Bargain at Wollaston.

OWING to change in my residence will sell a very nice Cottage House of 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, large lot of land, 10 Standish avenue, Wollaston. Connected with sewer. Two minutes from station. $2 350 Reasonable terms.

Enquire of F. A. PERKINS,
33 Vine street, Melrose, Mass.,
or L. W. Nash, opposite depot, Wollaston
Jan. 29. 18t

DON'T FORGET
— THAT —
A Check good for one 50c. Bouquet will be given on all designs costing $2.

And a Check good for 25c. worth of flowers on each $1 over $2. Checks can be used at any time.

ARNOLD & JOHNSON.
1 Hancock Street. Quincy, Jan. 29-3t
151

ALL GOODS WIL. BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

PRAY'S

Carpets, Rugs and Upholstery

ORIENTAL RUGS

WE HAVE THE LARGEST, CHOICEST AND MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF CARPETS AND RUGS IN BOSTON

We invite your inspection, and every facility and courtesy will be extended to our friends, whether intending purchasers or not. We shall feel honored by a visit, and invite comparison of our stock of Oriental Carpets and Rugs, both for size and quality, with any shown in this country.

We have marked them all at very low prices, and their value will be appreciated by Rug Connoisseurs

PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST

JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO Washington Street Opp. Boylston St., Boston

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otho A. Hayward.

POORMEATS and ADULTERATED FOODS

CANNOT BE FOUND IN

CHAS. H. BROOKS' MARKET,

But his clean white place of business is replete with a full line of the very best groceries, and that unexcelled

"HATCHET" Brand of Canned Goods.

Mr. Brooks is so thoroughly known in Quincy as a first class judge of Meats and fair dealer with all who patronize him that it is not necessary to dwell on that feature more than to say that what he offers for sale is only the best.

The BEEF, LAMB, PORK, CHICKENS, FOWL, CORNED MEATS, etc.

APPLES, ORANGES, CELERY, LETTUCE and other Vegetables are of such quality and appearance that to see them is to buy.

Telephone 295-3.

Quincy, Jan. 26. tf

Lodge for Ship Subsidy Bill

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts spoke at length in the Senate on Tuesday in favor of the ship subsidy bill. He said in part:

"Now the subvention in this bill is offered to every company, firm, or individual in the United States who is ready to build and operate ships in our foreign commerce; it is open to all the people of the United States; it is not confined to a particular firm or company, and the question, therefore, is simply whether the purpose of that bounty or subvention is a public purpose, and adopting the criterion set by Mr. Justice Miller, whether it is in accordance with the usage and the general practice of governments.

Photo by Bell, Washington.
SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE.

"It is not necessary for me to dwell on the importance of the merchant marine to the whole country. We are now putting, it is estimated, nearly $2,000,000 into the pockets of foreigners to carry our own products. It seems to me that to a great and enterprising nation like the United States that is in the highest degree discreditable.

"If you are going to protect the maker of sugar, the maker of cotton cloths, and the maker or all the country's products which our industries turn out from year to year, it is gross injustice to leave the man who wants to sail your ship and carry a part, at least, of all your great freights, not only absolutely without protection, but at a hopeless disadvantage, because all the other nations of the world protect heavily and effectively their shipping and their seamen."

—A two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sturgeon Ward of Union street, South Weymouth, was killed on Tuesday while leaning out a window. He accidently knocked away a stick holding up the sash.

E. M. FREEMAN.

Insurance---Mortgages,

Real Estate Bought and Sold.

I am in search of HOUSES
From 7 to 10 rooms
To RENT or LEASE.

I would like one House, 7 or 8 rooms, modern throughout, within 10 minutes' walk of Quincy station, $25 to $35 per month, for small private family.

Address, phone, or call on
E. M. FREEMAN,
653 Washington Street,
Corner South Street,
Quincy Point.
Telephone, Quincy 46-9. Jan. 31-tf

First Church Social Club.

E. P. JAMES,

Best Amateur Sleight-of-hand in the country, assisted by

T. E. STUTSON,

so well known in the Cadet plays.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 2,
8 o'clock.

FIRST CHURCH CHAPEL.
Jan. 31. 3t

Quincy Daily Ledger.

ESTABLISHED IN 1889.
THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Massachusetts.

Published Every Evening, Sundays and Holidays Excepted, At No. 1424 HANCOCK ST., City of Quincy, Mass., by

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON.

Subscription Price. $6 00 per year.

☞ A discount of $1 when paid one year in advance.

Copy for changes of advertisements in the Ledger should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF

The Quincy Patriot.

A Weekly Established in 1837, which has the Largest Circulation in Norfolk County, and the

Braintree Observer and Reporter

A Weekly Established in 1878.

TELEPHONE, 78-3 QUINCY.

Night Phone: 75-2 at residence of George T. Magee.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Pullman Company will issue no more free passes. It is hoped the increased revenues thus gained will warrant the company in paying the salaries of its porters, instead of asking the travelling public to do it.—Washington Post.

☞ "What do men read?" inquires a contemporary. There is abundant reason for believing that many men and many women read Town Topics, and that they will not be turned from it by the disclosures which have amply proved its abominable methods, and laid bare the sources of its information. Moreover, the assertion may be safely ventured that this publication is read, not for the financial intelligence which it contains, or for its turf news or dramatic criticisms, but for its comments on what passes for society, the impure gossip and intrigues, the aspirations which flourish in the soil of false standards and the unsavory and unimportant doings generally of the very rich and the very heedless exploiting their extravagances in New York or colonizing in Lenox, Newport and Tuxedo.—Providence Journal.

☞ Though we do not all make our living in the city, we all bear a relation to it and recognize that our first duty is to our own, and we owe more to Boston than we do to Calcutta or Pekin. The great cities of America are her problem and peril. Our great cities are now strategic centres for the gospel—the banner mission fields of the globe—where evil is focussed, class hatred thrives, mammon worship rules, and vice is rampant; where human beings are herded into filthy quarters, and children are born with no hope of ever having half a chance. If the church is the salt of the earth, it must be rubbed in where the corruption is. In our work in Boston, besides all our deaconess activities, we have an Italian church and Danish work in Hanover street, Portuguese work in East Cambridge, Chinese work in Kneeland street, the Medical Mission on Hull street, the settlement at City Point, and Morgan Memorial on Shawmut avenue, surrounded by saloons and worse, where men devoid of sense waste their hard-earned dollars.—Rev. Dillon Bronson.

Local Ins And Outs

Club notes today.

The last day of January.

Friday will be Candlemas day.

The sun rises before 7 o'clock and next week will set after 5 o'clock.

There was a heavy white frost this morning. When the sun struck it on the buildings it turned to water and dripped to the ground.

Wollaston lodge, A. F. and A. M., will have several candidates for the F. C. degree at its next communication. A special meeting will also be held in February for work.

There will be a total eclipse of the moon on Friday of next week, which will be visible here. It will begin at 12.57 A. M., and end at 4.37. The middle of the eclipse will be at 2.47, and of course the young man and his best girl will want to see it.

GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Useful, Anyway.

"I have prescribed here an oil for your husband. Give him three or four teaspoonfuls of it a day. If it doesn't do him any good you can use it to grease boots with."—Unsere Gesellschaft.

ATTACKS OF BALFOUR

Hints to Former Premier That He Is on the Wrong Track

London, Jan. 31.—The small Unionist party remaining in parliament threatens to become torn by dissension over the question of leadership. A dead set is being made against former Premier Balfour in the majority of the Unionist newspapers, those supporting Joseph Chamberlain publishing each day articles and letters calling on Balfour to retire from the leadership, while those still loyal to the old leader maintain that the only basis upon which he can continue his leadership of the party is that he swallow the Chamberlain policy.

The fact that Chamberlain himself, since the elections began, has publicly announced his continued loyalty to the former premier, repudiating any idea of superseding him as leader, has not had the slightest effect in alleviating the persistence of the attacks on Balfour.

A Provident Securities Proposition

Boston, Jan. 31.—C. F. Weed and A. S. Hall, receivers of the wrecked Provident Securities and Banking company, accompanied by D. C. Willoughby, the promoter, said to represent English capital, who has been acting as a sort of go-between in the recent negotiations with the receivers, left for New York last night for the purpose of conferring with Charles D. Gurley, the promoter of the Provident concern, who has submitted a proposition for the repayment of the depositors.

To Investigate Commissioners

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—Governor Pennypacker has approved a joint resolution of the special session of the legislature providing for a sweeping investigation of charges of illegal retention of fees by insurance commissioners for years past. It is charged that secret fees made the office worth $100,000 a year to the incumbent. One of the important witnesses will be Actuary Forster, who admits that he collected $33,000 in fees last year in his branch alone.

Domestic Saved a Life

Castine, Me., Jan. 31.—Mrs. William H. Sargent was confined to her bed with a fractured hip and was unable to move when the house caught fire from an overheated stove in the room in which she lay. A domestic, Augusta Dyer, unable alone to assist her mistress, fought the flames and prevented them from communicating to the bed until help arrived. The house was destroyed, entailing a loss of $4000.

Bomb Takes Off Russian General

Tiflis, Jan. 31.—General Grianoff, chief of the viceroy's staff, was killed by a bomb here. After hurling the missile the assassin tried to escape in the crowd, but was captured. Advices from the southern provinces say that fresh massacres of the Jews in the region are planned. The Jewish inhabitants of many southern towns are fleeing in panic.

Conspirators Spying on Officials

Riga, Jan. 31.—The police have discovered a plot to kill General Sollogub, governor general of the Baltic provinces, and several high civil and military officials. Many arrests have been made. The suspicions of the police were aroused by the constant spying of the conspirators on their intended victims for the purpose of learning their habits.

Stock Growers Reorganize

Denver, Jan. 31.—Consolidation of the National Live Stock association and the American Stock Growers' association was effected at the annual conventions of the two organizations here. The American National Live Stock association is the name adopted for the amalgamated body, which represents 20,000 stock growers.

African Exploration Plans

Turin, Jan. 31.—The Duke of Abruzzi, a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, has almost completed arrangements for a voyage of exploration into the heart of Africa. The duke has been assured that the British and French government officials in Africa will assist him in every possible manner.

Boy Kills Himself With Gas

New York, Jan. 31.—Frederick D. Blakesley, 16 years old, son of a merchant of Waterbury, Conn., was found dead in his room at a school for boys at Fishkill Landing. The gas was turned on and the boy evidently had planned his death with much deliberation.

Short Period of Freedom

Boston, Jan. 31.—Just after having been released from state prison, where he had served a sentence of seven years for larceny, Thomas Moore was arrested last night for breaking and entering a jewelry store and stealing diamond rings to the value of $1900.

Raiders Beaten by Guards

Algiers, Jan. 31.—A band of 75 Moorish raiders, who had captured 1000 camels, were surprised by a party of French frontier guards at Ouednesly. A fierce fight followed, in which 12 of the raiders were killed. The camels were recaptured.

Alleged Giver of Rebates

Baltimore, Jan. 31.—William H. Bosley was held in $1000 bail by Commissioner Rogers on a charge of giving concessions and rebates in the transportation of lumber on the Suffolk and Carolina railroad, of which he is president.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Feb. 1.
Sun rises—6:58; sets—4:58.
Moon sets—12:06 a. m.
High water—4:45 a. m.; 5:15 p. m.

Fair weather is probable in New England. It will be colder.

JOY AND SORROW

Acclaim For New King and Gloom Over the Old

FREDERICK THE EIGHTH

Announcement of His Accession to the Throne Followed by a Royal Proclamation--Old Cabinet Asked to Remain In Office

Copenhagen, Jan. 31.—The new king, Frederick the Eighth, now reigns over Denmark. His accession has been hailed with all appropriate enthusiasm and ceremony, but sorrow for the death of Christian the Ninth is the predominant sentiment. The overwhelming grief of the immediate members of this remarkably united family is reflected in only a slightly lesser degree in every home in Copenhagen, from the richest to the poorest, and only words of kindness are heard when the dead monarch is spoken of.

Prior to the proclamation of his ascension, King Frederick held a council of state, at which the ministers tendered their resignations and were requested to retain their posts. Afterwards the new ruler, surrounded by the princes, received the cabinet ministers, presidents of the rigsdag, the chief civil and military officials and the court dignitaries. Then came the important ceremony of the day. Promptly at noon the premier stepped out on the balcony of the palace and thrice shouted to the assembled throng:

"King Christian IX is dead! Long live his majesty, King Frederick VIII."

Sonorous hurrahs broke from the crowd in front of the palace and re-echoed down the streets opening on Amalienborg square, the flags on the public buildings were run up to the mastheads and a royal salute was thundered from the city's forts. The king shortly afterward drove across the square to his own palace, greeted by hearty cheers.

King Frederick in the afternoon announced his accession to the throne in a proclamation as follows:

"We, Frederick VIII., King of Denmark, by the grace of God, etc., do hereby announce and make known that our dearly beloved father, King Christian IX., was yesterday gathered to his fathers by a sudden but calm and peaceful death. We have thereupon in accordance with the law ascended the throne. While thus assuming this high and responsible position for which the Almighty has chosen us it is our determination to maintain unswervingly the constitution of our country and to preserve the rights and privileges of our whole people. If the people themselves will have the same confidence in their king which we have in our people then will God grant his grace and blessing to all of us. It is our will that all public business follow its uninterrupted course and until further notice the officials appointed by our dearly beloved father will remain at their posts in accordance with their oath."

Throughout the earlier part of Tuesday the lugubrious tolling of bells, the booming of minute guns, the universal evidences of mourning and the stagnation of business, even amid the strangely contrasting acclaims for the new king, told strongly of the deep feeling of the people of Denmark for the head of the nation, whose remarkable career had ended so suddenly.

In a chamber of the Amalienborg palace the body of the king lies on the modest bed in which he breathed his last. The door of the chamber is guarded by the king's adjutants as a guard of honor. A coverlet of simple crochet work, made by Christian's beloved queen, Louise, is spread over the couch, which is placed amid the simplest surroundings. The dead monarch's features are unchanged and are composed as if in a sleep other than that of death.

Following the wishes of King Christian, the funeral will be attended with little ceremonial. The body, which will be placed in a coffin today, will not actually lie in state, but prior to the entombment, which is expected to take place in about a fortnight, it will be visited by the chiefs of state. The members of the family watch in the death chamber continually.

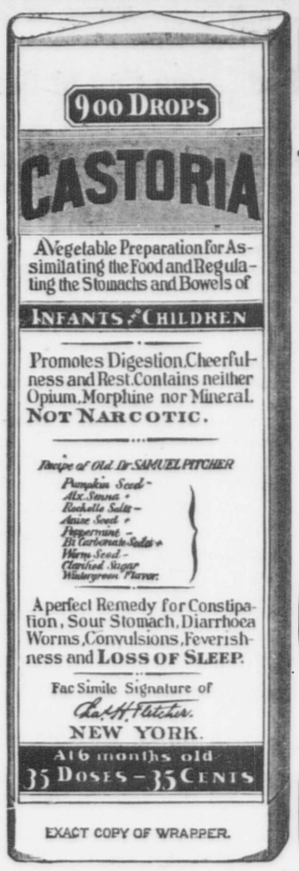

An enormous number of magnificent wreaths is coming in from every direction. The Duchess of Cumberland, daughter of King Christian, arrived late last evening. She drove to the palace from the railroad station and immediately visited the death chamber.

King Haakon of Norway, Queen Alexandra of England and King George of Greece are expected to arrive in a few days, as well as a number of other princes and princesses from the continental capitals. It is thought that the Emperor of Russia will attend the funeral, but this is uncertain. It is announced that Emperor William will be present in person, coming in a warship which he will occupy during his stay.

The American minister, Thomas J. O'Brien, has already acted upon cabled instructions from the state department, as follows:

"Convey through the appropriate channels the sincere condolence of the president and your country upon the death of his majesty King Christian.
(Signed) "Root."

King Frederick the Eighth, who is a great admirer of the United States, has expressed himself as being especially affected by the condolences of President Roosevelt on behalf of the American nation.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

A CHAT BY THE WAY

Often leads to things of Importance. A short call and a short talk with us may lead you to a knowledge of our Winter Shoes that will tell to Your Profit.

We are making a specialty on Three Sole Shoes for winter wear and have them at $2.00 $2.50 $3 00 $3 50.

W. L. DOUGLAS.
The Leading $3 50 Shoes.

GEORGE W. JONES.
Adams Building, - Quincy

For Sale or To Let.

An EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

With All the Latest Improvements,

ON UPLAND ROAD.

--- APPLY ---

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Tel. Con. Room 23, Adams Building, Quincy, Mass.

DR. A. B. PACKARD
DENTIST.
Johnson Building, City Square, 1382 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Hours, 8.30 to 12, 1.30 to 5 and 7 to 8,
Except Wednesday Evening.
Telephone 127-6. Sept. 6 -1p-1y

BENJ. F. MACOMBER
Interior and Exterior Painting.
Ceiling work a specialty.
WHITEWASHING and KALSOMINING.
23 Saville Street, opposite Depot.
Quincy, Feb. 25. 1y

FRANK F. CRANE,
REAL ESTATE,
AUCTIONEER and APPRAISER,
Office, No. 19 Temple Street, Quincy, Mass.
Aug. 17 tf

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co.
Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

Just a Word
WITH YOU ABOUT
PERFUMES.
If your package has the manufacturer's name "ALFRED WRIGHT" or "THEO. RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you have the best that money can buy.
We should be pleased to show you our line, which we think is second to none in this city.

The WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy,
ADAMS BUILDING.
Quincy, Dec. 19. tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER, GLAZIER,
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
Decorator and Paper Hanger
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy
Telephone 318-2.

NEVER NATURALIZED

Point Which Bars an Alien Who Served Under Old Glory

Boston, Jan. 31.—Although he has served enlistments under the flag of the United States, once in the navy and once as a volunteer, from each of which he received an honorable discharge, John J. Dowes will be refused admittance to the United States unless the immigration authorities receive assurances that he will not become a public charge.

Bowes is a native of Great Britain and despite his military service here he has never been naturalized. He arrived at this port Jan. 19, and was detained on the ground that he might be a public charge. He was suffering from rheumatism and a bullet wound received while serving in the Philippines, which has never properly healed. The immigration officials here and at Washington are endeavoring to have Bowes admitted to a soldiers' home.

The officials here say that Bowes is not eligible for admission to this country and will have to be deported unless some one guarantees to care for him. It is thought, however, that the man will be received by a soldiers or sailors' home.

Business Men Victimized

Newton, Mass., Jan. 31.—The police of this city are disturbed over the success of a man and woman who, the police claim, have been working a bunco game among business men for about a month and cleared up between $3000 and $4000. It is also said that the woman worked the badger game. It is understood that if the local police are successful in catching the pair the police of Los Angeles, Cal., would be pleased to hear from them. It is claimed that they also worked to excellent advantage in that city.

Second Death From Collision

Salem, Mass., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Daniel T. Hagerty is dead as the result of the injuries received in the collision between a train and a carriage at a crossing when her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dennis J. Hagerty, was killed. She was 23 years old, and her husband is a hotel proprietor in Rhode Island. The women were driving in a buggy and when approaching the crossing their horse became unmanageable and the animal dashed into the moving train.

Invested With "Borrowed" Money

Boston, Jan. 31.—Howard B. Lent, formerly employed as a cashier by Henry W. Savage, a real estate broker, was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory for an indefinite term. Lent admitted that he secretly borrowed $6300 from his employer's account for his own investment purposes. His investments were failures and he was forced to take more money to recuperate his losses.

Suit For $2000 Bail Bond

Boston, Jan. 31.—The bail bond of Patrick Leary, who was indicted for perjury by the grand jury in connection with the Cambridge alleged naturalization frauds, has been declared forfeited by the United States government, owing to his non-appearance, and suit has been begun against G. H. Monahan to recover $2000, the amount of bail, he having acted in the role of bondsman for Leary.

Young Coupe Struck by Train

Plaistow, N. H., Jan. 31.—Percy Lodue, 25 years old, and Miss Greta E. Miller, 24 years old, both employed in this town, were struck by a freight train last night, receiving injuries which will probably result fatally in both cases. They were walking on the railroad track and stepped in front of an oncoming east-bound freight train, only to be struck by a west-bound train.

Chase Case Clues Futile

Swampscott, Mass., Jan. 31.—Chief Harris intimates that he has run up against a stone wall in his investigation into the sudden and mysterious death of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase. He is said to have strong convictions as to the manner in which Mrs. Chase came to her death, but has been unable to find any convincing evidence.

Death In Dynamite Explosion

Salem, Mass., Jan. 31.—One man dead and six others seriously, if not mortally, wounded, was the result of the accidental explosion of a charge of dynamite in a ledge on Highland avenue while workmen were engaged in making excavations for the new electric line of the Boston and Northern railroad.

Bride-to-Be Changed Her Mind

Providence, Jan. 31.—At the very foot of the altar Wlodsimik Martynowicz was deserted by his affianced bride, 10 years his junior, whose passage he had paid from Austria, in the Polish church, the girl, Mena Malicka, amid a storm of tears flatly refusing to become his wife.

Stole From Labor Union

Boston, Jan. 31.—After a jury had been empanelled to try him, Thomas F. Rae pleaded guilty of the larceny of $600 from local union 11 of the Decorators and Paperhangers of America, while acting as treasurer of the union. He will be sentenced later.

Convicted of Manslaughter

Saco, Me., Jan. 31.—Anastas Steffanau was found guilty of manslaughter in the supreme court in causing the death of Anastas Costa, a fellow workman in a local mill, who was stabbed during a quarrel. Steffanau will be sentenced later.

Fire Investigation Ordered

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 31.—The city council voted last night to order an investigation both of the Richardson hotel fire and of the manner in which it was handled. A special committee was appointed for the purpose.

EDWARD J. FEGAN,
Counsellor at Law.
With William B. Sullivan, Esq.,
534-539 Tremont Building, Boston
Quincy Office, 1048 Hancock St., Evenings, 7 to 9. Tel. Haymarket 774. Justice of the Peace.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1p-1y

South Quincy Portrait Studio,
H. LITCHMAN.
Portraits Copied in Crayons Pastel and Water Colors.
All kinds of Picture Frames made to order. First Class Work Guaranteed.
303 Water Street, South Quincy.
Aug. 15. tf

GOOD OPPORTUNITY
TO OWN A HOME
on very easy payments.
I HAVE 3 Houses near the Fore River District which the owner is anxious to sell, and the prices are low.
Call and see me about them.
C. H. BURGESS, Adams Building, Quincy.
Jan. 22. 6t

CHARLES H. BURGESS,
Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages
Auctioneer and Appraiser.
Notary Public. Constable.
Rents and Bills Collected.
Care of Estates a Specialty.
1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13
Telephones { Office, 219-3 Residence, 25-6
Quincy, March 30.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO all persons interested in the estate of SARAH J. F. CARR,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Horace F. Spear and Clarence Burgin, the trustees under the will of said deceased, have presented for allowance, the first account of their trust under said will.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the fourteenth day of February, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said trustees are ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and six.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
31--17, 24, 31

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

BY Virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by George H. Hitchcock to the Quincy Savings Bank, dated Aug. 24, 1899, recorded in Norfolk Deeds, Lib. 625, fol. 477, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, on the premises hereinafter described, on WEDNESDAY, the fourteenth day of February, 1906, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, and therein described substantially as follows:

A certain lot of land containing 9,057 square feet, more or less, with all the buildings thereon, situated in said Quincy, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Northwesterly on Foster street, sixty-four and 3-4 feet; northeasterly on land of Edward B. Souther, one hundred forty feet and ten inches; southeasterly on land of Charles H. Hardwick, sixty-three feet and five inches; southwesterly on land of one Robinson, one hundred forty-one feet and ten inches.

This property will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles and assessments

Terms, $200 cash at sale, balance cash in ten days from said sale on delivery of deed.

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK, Mortgagee.
By CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.
Jan. 17. 3--17-24-31

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $50,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

Grand Union Hotel
Rooms From $1,00 Per Day Up
Opposite Grand Central Station New York
BAGGAGE To and From Station FREE

Quick Payment

upon its Bonds of Suretyship is the fixed rule of the American Surety Company.

Without quibble or technical objection, and with only such delay as careful examination of proof requires, losses are promptly paid, the check being often mailed the same day the claim is filed.

On Personal Security, recovery necessarily takes time; with the American Surety Company, recovery upon proof of loss is certain and immediate. Such quick action often saves a bank from closing its doors, or a firm from bankruptcy.

Persons, firms and corporations requiring bonds from their employees, should write to the

American Surety Company
of New York

George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building Quincy.
Jos. J. Houston, Agt., Hyde Park.
Adolph F. A. Schulz, Agt., Dedham.
J. H. Flint, Att'y., Weymouth.
R. B. Worster, Agt., Weymouth.

A BARGAIN IN SUGAR!

A conditional bargain in strictly high grade, Granulated Sugar, is offered you at Foy's for 4 1-2 cents a pound—22 lbs. for $1.

To get Sugar at this price, you must buy either a pound of our best 50 cent Tea, or 1 lb. of our choicest grade 30 cent Coffee.

We want you to become acquainted with the merits of our Tea and Coffee—we want to build up a big trade in these two staples.

You never bought Sugar so cheap—you can't buy Coffee or Tea, as good, at these prices anywhere.

Another bargain inducement—Large, fancy, fine, Santa Clara California Prunes, 10c. lb., worth 15c.

R. E. FOY & CO.,
257-263 Water Street, Quincy Adams.
Tel. 367-3.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

JOHNSON & BROWN
Washington Street.
Hack, Livery and Boarding Stable
Carriages Furnished for all Occasions.
Horse Clipping by Power.
80 WASHINGTON STREET.
Telephone 81-5 Quincy.

The Greenleaf
A Select Family Hotel
First Class Steam Heat,
Baths on each floor.
Catering for Clubs and Parties.
Dinners and Suppers.

AlsoHancock Hotel
NEWLY FURNISHED THROUGHOUT.
Steam Heat. Electric Lights, New Plumbing.
Pool Room. Public Telephone Booth.
Good Table. Mod rate Rates.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams,
LESSEES.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

QUINCY COLISEUM,
A. T. SADLER, Manager.
ROLLER SKATING.

The races every night this week will be run in heats, three men in a heat. The winner each night to qualify for the final on Saturday, Feb. 3. On Wednesday evening in addition to the heat there will be a one mile race for the Championship of Quincy between George Essen who holds the title and John Morrison. This race ought to prove exciting as these two men have had some pretty lively brushes.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

WOOD
Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice
Sand, Loam, Gravel and Posts.
Teaming of all Kinds
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
70 Copeland Street.
Yard off Mille. Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Betty Carewe comes home to Rouen from a convent. Tom Vanrevel is smitten by a passing glance, catches her runaway kitten and gets a scratch on the hand. Betty takes the wounded hand in her own, a pantomime witnessed by Fanchon Bareaud, her school chum, who warns Tom to beware of Betty's father. II—Betty, in seclusion awaiting her debut, studies the biography of her great-uncle, Georges Meilhac, a hero of the French revolution. A masquerader in the dress of a French incroyable surprises her one evening in her father's grounds. She repulses his attempts to talk with her.

III—Frank Chenoweth almost proposes to Betty at the debut ball. His father makes the speech. Mr. Carewe tells Betty of his feud with Tom Vanrevel and his threat to shoot him if he invades his grounds. She remembers that the masquerader declared that he must hover about the gates like a thief. IV—Crailey Gray and Tom are law partners. Gray is leader of Rouen's wild set. He hobnobs with Carewe in spite of the feud. He is engaged to Fanchon Bareaud. V and VI—Carewe's warehouse burns. Tom and Gray are cut off on a roof that is doomed by the flames. Betty guides them safely down by a trap and stairway. She recognizes in Gray the incroyable who invaded her father's grounds. VII—Gray escorts Betty home. She believes that he is Tom Vanrevel. The sudden arrival of Carewe interrupts an interview that is getting serious. VIII—Carewe upbraids Betty for her action at the fire. He denounces Vanrevel, and Betty tells him that he escorted her home. Her father declaras that her escort was Gray. Carewe goes on a journey. Nelson, a negro servant, tells Betty that her father hates Tom because he is an abolitionist, yet hints at a personal cause involving Gray. IX—Mrs. Tanberry, an elderly belle, becomes Betty's chaperon. Betty is serenaded, and Mrs. Tanberry recognizes Tom Vanrevel's voice in a song written by Gray for Fanchon. Betty thinks that the voice is Gray's for it is not that of her incroyable. X—Tom asks Betty for the first to dances at Fanchon's party. She gives him one, supposing him to be Gray. She leaves him abruptly, telling him never to address her again.

(Continued from Last Issue.)

CHAPTER XII.

MR. CAREWE returned one warm May afternoon by the 6 o'clock boat, which was sometimes a day late and sometimes a few hours early, the latter contingency arising, as in the present instance, when the owner was aboard. Nelson drove him from the wharf to the bank, where he conferred briefly in an undertone with Eugene Madrillon, after which Eugene sent a note containing three words to Tappingham Marsh. Marsh tore up the note and sauntered over to the club, where he found General Trumble and Jefferson Bareaud.

"He has come," said Tappingham, pleased to find the pair the only occupants of the place. "He saw Madrillon, and there's a session tonight."

"Praise the Lord!" exclaimed the stout general, rising to his feet. "I'll see old Chenoweth at once. My fingers have the itch."

"And mine, too," said Bareaud. "I'd begun to think we'd never have a go with him again."

"You must see that Crailey comes. We want a full table. Drag him if you can't get him any other way."

"He won't need urging," said Jefferson.

"But he cut us last time."

"He won't cut tonight." What hour?"

"Nine," answered Tappingham. "It's to be a full sitting, remember."

"Don't fear for us," laughed Trumble.

"Now for Crailey," Jefferson added. "After so long a vacation you couldn't keep him away if you chained him to the courthouse pillars. He'd tear 'em in two!"

But Jefferson did not encounter the alacrity of acceptance he expected from Crailey when he found him half an hour later at the hotel. Indeed, at first Mr. Gray not only refused outright, but seriously urged the same course upon Jefferson. Moreover, his remonstrance was offered in such good faith that Bareaud, in the act of swallowing one of his large doses of quinine, paused with only half the powder down his throat, gazing, nonplused, at his prospective brother-in-law.

"My immortal soul!" he gasped. "Is this Crailey Gray? What's the trouble?"

"Nothing," replied Gray quietly. "Only don't go; you've lost enough."

"Well, you're a beautiful one!" Jefferson exclaimed, with an incredulous laugh. "You're a master hand. You to talk about losing enough!"

"I know, I know," Crailey began, shaking his head, "but"—

"You've promised Fanchon never to go again, and you're afraid Miss Betty will see or hear us and tell her you were there."

"I don't know Miss Carewe."

"Then you needn't fear. Besides, she'll be out when we come and asleep when we go. She will never know we've been in the house."

"That has nothing to do with it," said Crailey impatiently, and he was the more earnest because he remembered the dangerous geography of the Carewe house, which made it impossible for any one to leave the cupola room except by the long hall which passed certain doors. "I will not go, and, what's more, I promised Fanchon I'd try to keep you out of it hereafter."

"Lord, but we're virtuous!" laughed the incredulous Jefferson. "I'll come for you at a quarter to 9."

"I will not go, I tell you."

Jefferson roared. "Yes, you will. You couldn't keep from it if you tried!" And he took himself off, laughing violently, again promising to call for Crailey on his way to the tryst and leaving him still warmly protesting that it would be a great folly for either of them to go.

Crailey looked after the lad's long, thin figure with an expression as near anger as he ever wore. "He'll go," he said to himself.

"And—ah, well—I'll have to risk it! I'll go with him, but only to try to bring him away early—that is, as early as it's safe to be sure that they are asleep downstairs. And I won't play. No, I'll not play; I'll not play."

He went out of the hotel by a side door. Some distance up the street Bareaud was still to be seen, lounging homeward in the pleasant afternoon sunshine. He stopped on a corner and serenely poured another quinine powder into himself and threw the paper to a couple of pigs that looked up from the gutter maliciously.

"Confound him!" said Crailey, laughing ruefully. "He makes me a missionary—for I'll keep my word to Fanchon in that, at least! I'll look after Jefferson tonight. Ah, I might as well be old Tom Vanrevel, indeed!"

Meanwhile Mr. Carewe had taken possession of his own again. His daughter ran to the door to meet him. She was trembling a little and, blushing and smiling, held out both her hands to him, so that Mrs. Tanberry vowed this was the loveliest creature in the world, and the kindest.

Mr. Carewe bowed slightly, as to an acquaintance, and disregarded the extended hands.

At that the blush faded from Miss Betty's cheeks, she trembled no more, and a salutation as icy as her father's was returned to him. He bent his heavy brows upon her and shot a black glance her way, being, of course, immediately enraged by her reflection of his own manner, but he did not speak to her.

Nor did he once address her during the evening meal, preferring to honor Mrs. Tanberry with his conversation, to that diplomatic lady's secret anger, but outward amusement. She cheerfully neglected to answer him at times, having not the slightest awe of him, and turned to the girl instead; indeed, she was only prevented from rating him soundly at his own table by the fear that she might make the situation more difficult for her young charge. As soon as it was possible she made her escape with Miss Betty, and they drove away in the twilight to pay visits of duty, leaving Mr. Carewe frowning at his coffee on the veranda.

When they came home three hours later Miss Betty noticed that a fringe of illumination bordered each of the heavily curtained windows in the cupola, and she uttered an exclamation, for she had never known that room to be lighted.

"Look!" she cried, touching Mrs. Tanberry's arm, as the horses trotted through the gates under a drizzle of rain. "I thought the room in the cupola was empty. It's always locked, and when I came from St. Mary's he told me that old furniture was stored there."

Mrs. Tanberry was grateful for the darkness. "He may have gone there to read," she answered in a queer voice. "Let us go quietly to bed, child, so as not to disturb him."

Betty had as little desire to disturb her father as she had to see him; therefore she obeyed her friend's injunction and went to her room on tiptoe. The house was very silent as she lit the candles on her bureau. Outside the gentle drizzle and the soothing tinkle from the eaves were the only sounds. Within there was but the faint rustle of garments from Mrs. Tanberry's room. Presently the latter ceased to be heard, and a wooden moan of protest from the four poster upon which the good lady reposed announced that she had drawn the curtains and wooed the rulers of Nod.

Although it was one of those nights of which they say, "It is a good night to sleep," Miss Betty was not drowsy. She had half unfastened one small sandal, but she tied the ribbons again and seated herself by the open window. Peering out into the dismal night, she found her own future as black, and it seemed no wonder that the sisters loved the convent life; that the pale nuns forsook the world wherein there was so much useless unkindness, where women were petty and jealous, like that cowardly Fanchon, and men who looked great were tricksters, like Fanchon's betrothed. Miss Betty clinched her delicate fingers. She would not remember that white, startled face again.

(Continued in next issue.)

THE PORK BARREL

Cannon May Open It For "Good" Congressmen

A LOG-ROLLING MEASURE

Plans For Omnibus Public Building Bill Under Consideration--Something Over $20,000,000 May Be Divided

Washington, Jan. 31.—To redeem promises made while Republican members of the house were "insurging" against the Philippine tariff bill and the joint statehood bill Speaker Cannon and his lieutenants will seemingly have to open the way for an omnibus public building bill. The committee on public buildings and grounds is preparing to report such a bill about March 1.

Practically every member of the house has introduced a bill for a public building in his district; some of them have introduced as many as 10 bills. If all the bills that have been introduced should be passed it would take $55,000,000 out of the treasury to foot the bill. The committee is trying to keep the bills that will be reported down to about $15,000,000.

In presenting a measure carrying this amount it will endeavor to give every Republican member, and some of the Democrats who have behaved nicely, a piece of "pork." It is safe to assume that if the house passes a bill carrying $15,000,000 the senate will add from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 to it. So it is reasonable to expect that this year's bill, if it meets with fair weather, will carry something over $20,000,000.

These ominous building bills have been severely criticised. It is true that it is desirable for the government to erect a great many buildings for dignity's sake, but it is equally true that they do not pay. The cost of care of the smaller public buildings almost invariably exceeds the rental which the government had formerly been paying, leaving interest on the investment wholly out of account. Such bills would not be looked on with so much suspicion were it not that they are used regularly as vote-getters for party measures in the house of representatives.

It has come to be an old story that at the beginning of every session announcement is made that, on account of the condition of the government's finances, there will be no public building bill. Later, if the party in power gets in a tight place on legislative measures, as it did this year on the joint statehood bill, the house organization allows the information to escape that there is a prospect for an omnibus building bill, provided the organization's policies are supported.

The method of making up one of these bills is open to criticism. Obviously, it is necessary to take a majority of the house in on any bill to insure its passage. This means that members are favored whether they present deserving proposals or not. In recent years the committee on public buildings and grounds has found it necessary to provide buildings or sites, or both, for nearly every member of the body, in order to have smooth sailing for the bill. The method of making up the bill presents a species of legislative log-rolling. Every omnibus bill provides for public buildings in towns that have no justification in asking for such buildings; but the average congressman feels that he cannot be renominated and re-elected unless he succeeds in securing more for his district than some rival or predecessor promised.

The postoffice department is much opposed to a continuation of the old policy of expending enormous sums in the erection of large federal buildings in the larger cities of the country for the joint use of postoffice and other federal offices.

Last winter when the house members were trying to get permission to "open a pork barrel," Mr. Hemenway, who was at the time chairman of the committee on appropriations, took a determined stand against the reckless appropriation of money for postoffice buildings in small cities and towns. He gathered statistics showing the folly of the practice, and in the end succeeded in keeping an omnibus bill out of the house. But the members are hungry now, and it seems that nothing can prevent them getting a good fat bill.

Means Lynching If Caught

Atlanta, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Nina M. Dupre, 20 years old, who lives at the home of W. H. Grogan, a farmer, about six miles from Atlanta, was assaulted by a negro, who cut her throat and left her in a dying condition. The negro escaped. A posse with hounds is after the negro and if he is caught he will in all probability be lynched.

Navy Testing Petroleum Fuel

Newport, R. I., Jan. 31.—Tests of solid petroleum as a fuel for naval vessels were held on the torpedo boat McKee over the measured mile course in Narragansett bay. The McKee made five 10-mile runs. The best time recorded for 10 miles was 37 minutes. The trial board made no public report.

Teacher's Wife Wants Divorce

Coshocton, O., Jan. 31.—Alleging that her husband is in love with one of the pupils in his school, and that he is in the habit of hugging and kissing the girl, Mrs. John E. Miller, wife of the principal of the Ohio Normal college at Cooperdale, has filed suit for divorce here.

NOTICE.

Custom Tailoring.

WE Have bought out Francis Mackelon, at 1449 Hancock street, and are preparing to open up on the 1st of February with a good line of woolens. We shall endeavor to run an up-to-date Custom Tailor shop.

Our aim will be not to see how cheap we can make a suit but how good we can make it at lowest figure.

We invite our friends and former Customers, and also the public in general to inspect our place of business.

We shall be pleased to take orders as we have followed the tailor trade for 20 years. We are well acquainted with the requirements of the day.

Respec fully,
GUSTAF A. BLOMQUIST.
Quincy, Jan. 30. 1m

QUINCY
New Employment Office
At Brewer's Corner.
DOMESTIC HELP of ALL KINDS.
Finn and Scandinavian Help a Specialty. No. 1 Copeland Street, 2d floor.
Hours. 8 A. M.—6 P. M.
Jan 11. 1m

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.
START
—THE—
NEW YEAR
—WITH A—
New Coat.

The season has been so warm that we find our stock of Coats too Large.

They must be sold. The only way to do it is to Cut the Price.

Come now and get a Coat for the Children. If you do this you will be sure to find one for yourself at the Right Price.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co.
1423 and 1425 Hancock Street.
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

FOR SALE at a BARGAIN.
1 Upright and 1 Square Piano
On Easy Terms.
See them at 15 Granite Street.
J. A. KEATING,
New and Second Hand Furniture, Stoves, Ranges and Carpets.
Auctioneer and Appraiser. Nov. 21-tf

C. H. HARDWICK,
Counsellor at Law,
Room 10, Hancock Building, Quincy.
Opposite Fountain, City Square.
Business Consultations. Settlement and Care of Trust Funds. of Estates.
Justice of the Peace.
Mortgages and Conveyances.
Hours: 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Daily. 7 to 8.30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Closed Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN
DENTIST,
Over Johnson Bros.' Market, Hancock St., Quincy.
OFFICE HOURS: 8.30 to 12.00 and 1.30 to 5 Evening 7 to 8, except Wednesday and Friday.
Jan. 31. tf

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor.
21 Adams Building, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 105-3.
June 1. 1y

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE.
MORTGAGES.
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building.
June 3.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBING.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving, putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17. tf

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen in Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connections.
August 20. tf

CREW SEIZED RAFT

No Attempt to Save Passengers, Says Valencia Survivor

Seattle, Jan. 31.—At the investigation into the loss of the steamer Valencia, C. Allison of St. Paul, a passenger, testified that he had himself been a sailor and that the surf that finally battered the Valencia to pieces could not be called high. This testimony caused a mild sensation, as all published accounts of the wreck have been described as "high seas" and a "terrible surf."

"Everyone seemed to shun us," said Allison, testifying before the board of United States inspectors. "All seemed to be afraid to help or to attempt to help the unfortunate men and women who were facing death. All those that succeeded in getting ashore immediately left the scene. The vessels at sea stood off and made no attempt to lower a boat. In the morning after the last raft put off from the Valencia there was no great sea running. Not a wave had a comber on it.

"There might have been some excuse for the Queen not coming in closer, but there was a tug alongside of her that did not come any closer than the large vessel. It all looked wrong to me." The witness said that as soon as the life raft struck the water the crew took possession.

"What kind of weather was it when you were picked up by the Topeka?"

"It was a trifle foggy, but there was no wind blowing. The waves did not have combers on them. I do not see why a boat could not have been lowered."

The King Is Dead--Long Live the King

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Jan. 31.—The news of the death of King Christian was received here with profound regret. All the flags ashore and afloat were placed at half-mast and the church bells were tolled. The governor summoned the colonial officials, the foreign consuls and others to the government house, where he loudly proclaimed to those assembled within and to the populace without, "King Christian the Ninth is dead. Long live King Frederick the Eighth." The flags were then run to the masthead and the warships and shore batteries fired a royal salute.

Alice Climbed Pilot Ladder

New York, Jan. 31.—Miss Alice Roosevelt and Congressman Longworth boarded a revenue cutter and proceeded down New York harbor to meet steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, upon which Comtesse de Chambrun, Longworth's sister, was a passenger. The comtesse has come to this country to attend Miss Roosevelt's wedding. At quarantine station an attempt was made to lower a companion ladder for Miss Roosevelt, but the delay in doing this was too great and Miss Roosevelt boarded the steamer by the pilot ladder.

Policyholders Seek Protection

Chicago, Jan. 31.—The Life Insurance Policyholders' Association of Illinois has been formed here to obtain representation for the policyholders in the 19 mutual reserve insurance companies doing business in Illinois. An executive committee was elected to incorporate the new association and draft by-laws. The object of the association is to elect trustees in all of the mutual reserve companies to represent the policyholders.

Will Fight to a Finish

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—The convention of the League of Leagues at Imatra, Finland, was characterized by undying opposition to the government. The members determined to abandon participation in the national assembly and to use the electoral campaign solely to spread the propaganda of the league for the convocation of a constituent assembly.

Senate Asks For Records

Washington, Jan. 31.—A resolution directing Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte to send to the senate the records of the courts martial at Annapolis in the cases of Midshipmen Marzoni and Mayo, and also directing him to inform the senate as to his authority for the proceedings, was adopted by the senate.

Accounts Perhaps Mixed

Selbyville, Ind., Jan. 31.—B. I. Boicourt, a bookkeeper and cashier in a traction company's office here, shot himself as the company's auditor was checking up his accounts. He died almost immediately. Traction company officials decline to say whether Boicourt is short in his accounts or not.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Lieutenant General Chaffee will be placed on the retired list of the army at once at his own request, after about 45 years' service.

Miss Shelby Converse, daughter of Rear Admiral Converse, who was pitched headlong from her horse at Washington after a three-mile runaway, is greatly improved.

A paint shop at Gardner, Mass., owned by S. K. Pierce & Co., chair manufacturers, was burned with its contents. It was a large three story building close to the immense main factory of the company, which was saved with difficulty. The loss is about $20,000.

Plans to enlist the support of all the clergymen of the country in the movement for the suppression of child labor were discussed at a meeting of ministers held at New York under the auspices of the national child labor committee.

Merrill Rees, aged 14, met with an accident while skating at Plymouth, N. H., and died during an operation in an effor to save his life. His father, Captain Rees, U. S. N., is now serving on court martial duty at Annapolis.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

On and after Oct. 8, 1905, trains will run as follows: Subject to change without notice.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave Quincy	Stops at	Arrive Boston.	Leave Boston	Stops at	Arrive Quincy.
r *5 14	abcdefghi	5 42	*5 00	ihgfedcba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 27	cba	6 46 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 57	cba	7 19
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 7 23	ad	7 42	8 27	cba	8 49 r
7 29	Exp.	7 45	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 7 43	abc	8 03	9 43	Exp.	10 00
r 7 54	abcde	8 15	10 27	cba	10 49
r 8 13	abc	8 33	10 45	Exp.	11 02
r 8 31	Exp.	8 47	11 27	cba	11 49 r
r 8 46	abcd	9 05	11 43	Exp.	12 00
9 00	Exp.	9 16	12 27	cba	12 49 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 45	xp.	1 02
10 01	Exp.	10 17	12 57	cba	1 19 r
r 10 13	abc	10 33	1 27	cba	1 49 r
10 59	Exp.	11.15	1 57	cba	2 19
r 11 13	abc	11 33	2 27	cba	2 49 r
12 01	Exp.	12 17	2 45	Exp.	3 02
r 12 13	abc	12 33	3 27	cba	3 49 r
12 59	Exp.	1 15	3 45	Exp.	4 02
r 1 13	abc	1 33	4 12	a	4 31
r 1 43	abc	2 03	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 2 13	abc	2 33	4 50	edcba	5 11 r
r 3 13	abc	3 33	5 15	a	5 34
r 3 43	abc	4 03	5 19	dcba	5 41 r
r 4 13	abc	4 33	5 27	cba	5 49 r
4 59	Exp.	5 15	5 45	dba	6 07 r
r 5 13	abc	5 33	5 46	ihgfedcba	6 15
r 5 29	abcdefghi	5 57	5 57	cba	6 19 r
r 6 13	abc	6 33	6 15	dba	6 37 r
r 6 43	abc	7 03	6 27	cba	6 49 r
6 59	Exp.	7 15	6 57	fedcba	7 23 r
r 7 13	abc	7 33	7 27	cba	7 49 r
r 8 08	abcdef	8 32	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	9 27	cba	9 49 r
r 10 08	abcdef	10 32	10 27	fedcba	10 53 r
r 11 13	abc	11 33	10 50	ihgfedcba	11 19 r
			11 13	Exp.	11 30
			11 27	cba	11 49 r

SUNDAYS.

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 24	ihgfdcba	6 52 r
r 8 43	abc	9 03	8 57	cba	9 19 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	10 16	ihgfedcba	10 45 r
9 33	a	9 51	12 27	cba	12 49 r
			1 16	ihgfedcba	1 45 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 44	2 16	ihgfedcba	2 45 r
r 1 13	abc	1 33	3 16	ihgfedcba	3 45 r
r 3 00	abc	3 20	4 27	cba	4 49 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 44	5 27	cba	5 49
r 5 13	abc	5 33	6 16	ihgfedcba	6 45 r
			6 57	cba	7 19 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 44	8 24	ihgfedcba	8 53 r
r 7 08	abcdefghi	7 35	8 43	Exp.	9 00
r 8 08	abcdefghi	8 35	9 27	ihgfedcba	9 56 r
r 10 45	abc	10 45	10 27	cba	10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figure stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a	Wollaston,	f	Harrison Square.
b	Norfolk Downs,	g,	Savin Hill.
c	Atlantic,	h,	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset,	i,	South Boston.
e	Pope's Hill.	r,	Quincy Adam.

Exp.—Express train.

WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton.) 6.15 6.46 7.16 8.01 8.16 9.01 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.15 P.M. SUNDAY—7.46 8.46 9.46 A.M., 1.16 5.16 7.00 10.26 P.M.

BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton)—6.16 7.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.16 A.M. 12.16 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 4.40 5.16 5.40 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAY—8.46 A.M., 12.16 4.16 5.16 6.46 10.16 P.M.

MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON—6.21 7.21 8.21 9.21 10.21 11.21 A.M. 12.21 1.21 2.21 3.21 4.21 5.21 6.21 7.21 9.21 11.21 P.M. SUNDAY—8.51 9.51 A.M. 1.21 5.21 10.31 P.M.

BOSTON FOR MONTCLAIR—6.16 8.16 9.16 10.16 11.15 A.M. 12.15 1.16 2.16 3.16 4.16 5.16 6.16 7.16 9.16 11.16 P.M. SUNDAYS—8.46 A.M. 12.16 4.16 5.13 10.16 P.M.

Old Colony Street Railway Company

DIVISION 1

TIME TABLE.

In effect Jan 20, 1906

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY AND BOSTON.

Leave Quincy for (Elevated) Dudley Street via Wollaston: Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.14 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then 11.07 and 11.37 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Dudley Street, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street: 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 10.37 P.M.

QUINCY AND NEPONSET.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Wollaston. Week Days—5.59, 6.29, 6.59, 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour until and including 10.59 P.M., then 11.17 and 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.25, 6.52, 7.22, 7.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past each hour until and including 11.22 P.M., then 11.37, 12.07 P.M.

Leave Quincy for Neponset, via Hancock Street: Week Days—6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44 A.M., then 14 and 44 minutes past each hour until and including 10.44 P.M. Returning, leave Neponset: 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, A.M., then 7 and 37 minutes past each hour until and including 11.07 P.M.

QUINCY AND BROCKTON.

Leave Quincy for Brockton: Week Days—6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, A.M., then 20 and 50 minutes past each hour until and including 8.50 P.M. NOTE.—Car leaves Quincy for Holbrook at 9.20, 9.50 and 10.20 P.M. Car leaves Quincy for South Braintree at 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave Brockton: 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 9.46 P.M., or after theatre.

QUINCY AND EAST MILTON.

Leave Quincy for East Milton: Week Days—5.40, 6.00, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35 A.M., then 5 and 35 minutes past each hour until and including 10.35 P.M., then 10.50 P.M. Returning, leave East Milton: 6.10, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY AND WEYMOUTH LANDING.

Leave Quincy for Weymouth Landing: Week Days—5.20, 6.00, 6.25, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A.M., then on the hour and 30 minutes past each hour until and including 11.00 P.M. Returning, leave Weymouth Landing: 5.40, 6.15, 6.50, 7.15, 7.45 A.M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 10.45 P.M., then 11.20 P.M.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.15, 6.05, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, 7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.10, 9.20, *9.40, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, 11.20, 11.50 A. M., 12.20, 12.50, 1.20, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, *3.10, 3.20, *3.40, 3.50 *4.10, 4.20, *4.40, 4.50, *5.10, 5.20, *5.35, *5.40, 5.50, *6.10, 6.20, *6.40, 6.50, *7.10, *7.20, *7.40, 7.50, *8.10, 8.20, 8.50, *9.20, 9.50, 10.20, 10.50, *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays only.)

* Quincy Point only.

Quincy Daily Ledger.

FOR SALE BY NEWSBOYS
and the following places:

BOSTON—Terminal News Stand after 3 35.
QUINCY—Ledger Office, 1424 Hancock St.
Chapin's Periodical Store, 1395 Hancock St.
Henry P. Kittredge, City Square.
Rogers Bros., Hancock St.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, near Quincy depot.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. Smith's.
Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St.
NEWCOMB SQUARE—Stetson Pierce.
SOUTH QUINCY—P. L. Litchfield, Water St.
W. E. Nightingale, 234 Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Martin Pearson, 114 Liberty St.
WEST QUINCY—Coram's Periodical Store.
Mrs. Leavitt, Willard St.
BREWERS CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's news stand.
NORFOLK DOWNS—Branscheid & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
HOUGHS NECK—Arthur Dunham at P. O.
EAST MILTON—William Clark.
EAST WEYMOUTH—George H. Hunt.
WEYMOUTH—J. R. Walsh.

Quincy Temperature at Noon.

	This Week.	Last Week.	In 1905	In 1902	In 1898
Sunday,	42	75	32	20	16
Monday,	56	66	24	22	20
Tuesday,	45	65	27	28	11
Wednesday,	54	46	19	30	34
Thursday,	—	29	28	38	32
Friday,	—	36	19	38	18
Saturday,	—	44	22	35	22

New Advertisements Today.

E. M. Freeman—Real Estate bought and sold
First Church Social Club Entertainment.
Lost—Pair Gold Frame Eye Glasses.
To Let—Pleasant Front Room.
To Let—House.

The City In Brief

The Democratic City committee will meet to-night for organization.

St. Mary's church will hold a coffee party tonight at St. Mary's hall.

S. F. Newcomb has been confined to his home for the past few days.

Nelson & Ericson are completing a large house on Madison avenue, Quincy Point.

The committee on Finance of the City Council and the joint committee on Finance and Printing will meet Thursday evening.

John Fallon & Sons have sold their wharf property on Brackett street, near the Electric Light station to Fletcher & Robbie, who will use it for a coal wharf.

A few people who were ridirg through South Weymouth on Tuesday brought home handsome bunches of pussy-willows which they found growing by the road-side.

Owing to serious illness in the family, the whist party to have been given by Mrs. J. E. Poland on Friday evening at the Norfolk Downs hall, has been indefinitely postponed.

The funeral of James J. Ryan was held this morning from St. Mary's church. Services were conducted by Rev. Edward C. Mitchell. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

The gravel being taken from the cellar for the addition to the High school is being used to resurface the street along side of Butlers pond. The grounds in the rear of the school building will also be improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Gullicksen of Whitwell street are receiving the congratulations of their many neighbors and friends, a bouncing girl arriving at their home on Saturday last, to help brighten the happy household. It being the only girl, of course there is great rejoicing.

The ways and means committee of the Citizen's Association organized Tuesday evening, Jan. 30, with Russell A. Sears as president, Charles H. Burgess as clerk. They talked over several matters pertaining to the welfare of Quincy. The membership of the association is steadily increasing.

The congregation of Atlantic Memorial church will give a free social this evening to which everyone is cordially invited. The entertainment promises to be of the best, embracing recitations by a noted reader, and music by the Memorial quartette and excellent soloists. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

A NIGHT CAP

Take two Beecham's Pills on retiring and avoid any ill effects from a late meal. Then you will sleep soundly, awaken with a clear head and a high opinion of the great stomach remedy,

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

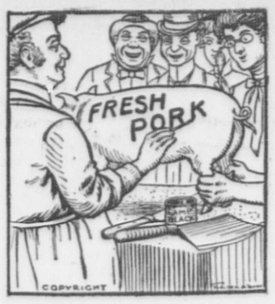

New Market!

J. K. Morton,

1259 Hancock Street,

Quincy Square.

JOHN P. SQUIRES' Pork Products

Fresh Every Day Direct From the Factory.

Prices Lowest. Quality Best.

PRIME HEAVY BEEF, FRESH COUNTRY SAUSAGE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR POULTRY.

SQUIRES'

ARLINGTON HAMS.
BACON and SAUSAGE.

Fresh Fish in Connection.

Telephone 382-3

AMONG THE CLUBS.

The general society of the Daughters of the Revolution, has issued its year book of the annual meeting for 1905, together with much interesting reading and pictures of memorials erected by the Society. Members of Adams Chapter will read its pages with interest.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution hold their February meeting on Monday afternoon, Feb. 5th, at three o'clock at the home of Miss Annie L. Prescott, 41 Spear street. It will be the last meeting before the annual which is always held in March. The chapter is in a most prosperous condition and the celebration of its tenth anniversary on Saturday evening at the birthplace of President John Adams was an occasion long to be remembered.

Several Browning lovers of Quincy are planning to attend the course of eight lectures to be given by Edward Howard Griggs at Tremont Temple, Boston. His aim is to give an introduction to the poetry and philosophy of Browning through the careful study of a few typical and especially lofty expressions of his genius.

Friday evening in the Parish house of Christ church, Miss Sturgis of Boston, gives a talk to St. Margaret's Guild.

The entertainment by Mr. James and Mr. Stutson, in the First Church Social club course, postponed from January, it is to be given Friday evening in the chapel of the church. It will be one of the most entertaining in the course as both are star performers in their specialties.

An off week for clubs, only a few holding meetings.

The February meeting of the Quincy Day Nursery association will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 6th at half past two in the reception room of the nursery, Copeland street. East Milton cars pass the door and car leaves City Square at six minutes past the hour.

The Manet club had a very jolly party Tuesday evening in the Parish house of Christ church. A chafing dish supper was served, presided over by charming cooks in dainty gowns, with a few men assistants. The creamed chicken, oysters, etc., were eagerly sampled and the result not being disastrous, more was indulged in. Whist was enjoyed for several hours and some fine scores made.

On Thursday evening of next week, Feb. 8th, there will be a lecture by Rev. E. N. Hardy, on "The Old-time Meeting-house," in the chapel of the First church before the Quincy Historical society. The public is cordially invited. Ancient music both vocal and instrumental may be expected.

Miss Edith Randall entertained the Junior Friday club at her home on Wibird street, on Monday afternoon. It was a very pleasant meeting. Several members were unable to be present on account of illness and were missed.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. was held with Mrs. E. W. Sheppard, Greenleaf street, Friday afternoon, Jan. 26, at 3 o'clock. Many new members were present and plans were made for a "Tramp Social" to be given in April. At the close refreshments of ice cream cake and candy were served by the hostess.

A few members of the W. R. C. met with Mrs. Fox of Franklin street on Tuesday afternoon, to transact important business.

The Shakespeare club of Atlantic are now following the thread of tragedy through Romeo and Juliet. The latest meeting at the home of Mrs. Theodore Parker was one of the most interesting of the winter as only the first part of of Romeo and Juliet was read, and that part in its pretty love scenes gives no hint of the tragedy to follow.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

Mrs. Chandler W. Smith of Wollaston vice president of the Quincy Women's club has the sympathy of club members, her father Mr. Ichabod W. Faunce passing away on Monday.

The next regular meeting of the club will be on Tuesday afternoon Feb. 13th, at the Club house, when Mrs. Rowland C. Lincoln will speak on philanthropic work. She is an interesting speaker.

Members and friends of Quincy Women's club who wish to attend the card parties to be given at the club house on Tuesday afternoon Feb. 6th, and Tuesday evening Feb. 20th may subscribe to Mrs. Roger H. Wilde, Mrs. F. J. Peirce, Mrs. Eugene H. Sprague, Mrs. Charles M. Bryant, Mrs. George L. Badger, Miss Abbie Wood, Miss Margaret L. Thomas, Mrs. George G. Saville, Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick and Miss Annie L. Prescott.

Mrs. Bumpus, president of the club, who is pledged to raise a certain sum toward the support of the Visiting Nurse, one of the first philanthropic works undertaken by the club, is planning a fine entertainment to be given at her home on Monday evening February 26th.

It is to be Browning's Pippa Passes, sung in costume by Miss Phoebe E. Bedloe, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, and of Berlin and Florence. Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney is to read, assisted by Miss Bedloe, also the piano and cello. Old Italian music of the period, not now in print will be used. It will be a rare treat for those who subscribe, as it is something entirely different from anything ever given in Quincy.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

All the women's clubs belonging to the Federation are interested in the meeting to be held Friday in the New Century building, Boston when they will be entertained by the Brightheimstone club of Brighton and Allston. The morning session opens at ten o'clock. Lunch will be served at noon followed by an afternoon session.

The Dorchester Social club of Women is arranging for a subscription dance to be given early in February.

Norumbega Women's club of Charlestown is to present the play "The Revenge of Sharihotu," on Thursday evening.

Several clubs are busy rehearsing for plays to be given during February. The North Shore club of Lynn is to give "Romeo and Juliet" on Tuesday evening of next week.

On Tuesday evening Feb. 6th. the choral class of the Dorchester Woman's club is to give their annual concert at the club house. Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard is the leader.

Mrs. Ida W. Woodbury gives a talk on "The Loyal Mountaineers" at the meeting of the Old Colony club of Weymouth on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 8th.

Cats Had a Feast.

While sympathy is offered to J. R. Wilder of Squantum street for his loss of several great cans of milk a few days ago, still there is some consolation in knowing that hungry cats will have a feast long to be remembered. The horses were suddenly startled by some unexpected object, and the milk-wagon went tearing down the street and before Mr. Wilder could gain control of them the cans of milk emptied their white contents all over the street until it looked as if cows would be out of commission along Botolph street for some time to come. But when the excitement was over, there began to be a sudden materalization of cats on the spot, as if the milk-washed ground had yielded a feline harvest as was said to happen in the days of old. Since then it has been noticed that the cats in Atlantic do not frequent refuse pails as often as formerly.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on every box. 25c

—"Now, my little boys and girls," said the teacher, "I want you to be very quiet—so quiet that you can hear a pin drop." In a minute all was silent, when a little boy sang out, "Let her drop!"—Lynn Item.

Inspector's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Inspector of Meats and Provisions will be at the office of the Board of Health on Wednesday of each week from 9.00 to 10.00 A. M. until further notice.
Quincy, Jan. 30. 5t

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—State House, Boston, Jan. 29, 1906. The committee on public health will give a hearing to parties interested in house bill No. 523 as to the sale of swine; house bill No. 528 on the use of wall paper in tenement houses, at Room No. 444, State House, on Friday, Feb. 2, at 10.30 o'clock a. m. J. M. Grosvenor, Jr., Chairman. Isaac E. Willets, Clerk of the Committee.
Jan. 31. 1t

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—State House, Boston, Jan. 29, 1906. The committee on taxation will give a hearing to parties interested in house bill No. 356, the petition of J. Bernard Ferber for legislation relative to the duties of collection of taxes; house bill No. 134, a report of the committee, appointed under chapter 60 of the Resolves of the Year 1905, to examine and consider the laws of the Commonwealth and of other states and countries relative to the taxation of forest lands; a petition, with accompanying house bill No. 410 of Elmer C. Bassett and others for legislation to authorize the Treasurer and Receiver General to effect settlement of certain taxes on collateral legacies under the will of Hannah A. Carleton, at Room No. 453, State House, on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 10.30 o'clock a. m. Frank Sieberlich, Chairman. Harry P. Morse, Clerk of the Committee.
Jan. 31. 2t

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner.

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Beverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

HUGH P. TRACY,
Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds
Rents Collected and Estates Cared For.
Office, 317 Washington Street.
Tel. 143 5. Justice of the Peace.
Cottages and House Lots For Sale or To Let at Post Island and Houghs Neck.
Quincy, May 2. tf

IT WILL NOT DOWN

The Railroad Rate Question Has Come to Stay

TOWNSEND EXPLAINS IT

Rich and Powerful Lobby In Opposition Is Denounced--Declares That Temporizing Will Bring No hing But Disaster

Washington, Jan. 31.—Members of the house discussed the railway rate bill throughout Tuesday. The debate was opened by Mr. Townsend (Mich.) in an exhaustive argument on the general subject and sharp criticism directed to those who had opposed railroad rate legislation.

Regarding the question as one of the most important ever before congress, Mr. Townsend advocated the bill as the correct remedy for the evils which exist and predicted that, notwithstanding the protests of the roads, greater prosperity would come to them under its provisions than otherwise. The present bill, he believed, was not only fully within the constitutional powers of congress, but was simply an expression of the plain duty of congress to the American people.

In brief the bill attempts, he said, to place under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission every form of interstate and foreign commerce and all instrumentalities of commerce and transportation.

The evil of the "midnight rate" was described and the remedy set forth—requiring 30 days' notice of a change of rate. Briefly, "the midnight rate" is a device whereby a large shipper notifies a road that on a certain date a large shipment will be made. On that day the published tariff is changed for a day, the shipment made at the lower rate and the tariff immediately raised.

The main feature of the bill, bearing on the point about which the greatest controversy has been had and the one which Townsend believes lies at the foundation of the whole question, is that which gives the commission power upon complaint and after full hearing to substitute a reasonable maximum rate in place of one found to be unjust or unreasonable. Townsend went at length into this phase of the proposed legislation. It was the point against which the weight of the opposition had been directed, he explained, and he saw but one answer—that to require the railroads to be just and reasonable could not harm anyone, while it would benefit all.

As showing how deep were the fears of the railroad world, he stated, 7200 miles of road had been built during the past year in the United States, and up to June 30 orders for more than $200,000,000 worth of railroad equipment had been placed.

While the number of commissioners is increased by two, and their salaries raised to $10,000 a year, Townsend expressed the belief that when the law was once established the duties of the commission would decrease rather than increase.

Mr. Townsend declared that the opposition had "endeavored to discredit the administration in various matters in order to distract attention from this great question." He predicted that "delay will be caused wherever possible in the vain hope that something will happen yet to prevent final action." He spoke of a lobby "rich and powerful," of "unwarranted interferences with the people's rights," of the "dictation of the nomination and election of legislators" by the corporations.

"As one of the younger and most humble Republicans in the house," he said, "let me admonish my party associates in both houses that this question will not down nor will it much longer brook delay. The people have spoken and every day to us their demand is more imperative. The day of grace may be passed and the unpardonable sin of trifling with duty may not be condoned even with deathbed repentance.

"Temporizing will bring nothing but disaster. Already we hear the rumblings of discontent, and Socialism smiles with satisfaction with every delay. Regulation of a public servant is not a departure from the principles of popular government, but disregard of a righteous law and indifference to legal restrictions imposed to protect the people's rights is more than socialism; it is anarchy.

"Let the law pass," Townsend concluded, "and let the railroads heed its provisions, and instead of retarding its execution, aid in its operation, and then instead of being the objects of suspicion and hatred, they will be regarded as the instruments of progress and prosperity. Rate legislation will enter into history, and its entry will not be marked by any business disturbances, but rather it will indicate the beginning of a era of better feeling between the railroads and the people—an era of equal rights and opportunities under a just and impartial law."

Mr. Adamson of Georgia, representing the minority, commended the measure, and praised President Roosevelt's and in praise of President Roosevelt's stand on the question, which he said the minority were availing themselves of in the present instance. Mr. Hinshaw (Neb.) depicted the benefit the legislation would be to the great trans-Missouri country and Mr. Richardson (Ala.) discussed as a Democrat the things done and left undone in the measure.

No Secrets To Hide

We have nothing to conceal; no secrets to hide! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. You will find these in Ayer's Almanac for 1906; or write us and we will send them to you. Then show the formulas to your doctor, and ask him what he thinks of them. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

DANCING!
QUINCY MUSIC HALL.
NEW DANCING CLASS NOW FORMING!
Apply or write for information to
ELMER W. BAKER, 26 Foster Street
Assemblies Every SATURDAY Night.
ELMER W. BAKER, Teacher, 26 Foster Street.
Quincy, Jan. 13. tf

Salary Raise

(Continued from Page 1.)

The policy which has obtained for several years past in regard to our schools, the policy of reduction in our appropriations should be reversed, and instead of ranking 197th among the cities and towns of the commonwealth in the amount of money expended per pupil for the support of schools, Quincy should make a beginging towards regaining her former rank, her rank of 1879—80, when her schools stood high in the estimation of educators. Her rank was then 19th in order.

To this end, as previously stated, we recommend an additional appropriation of $9,000 to be added to the salaries of teachers and janitors.

—Fond Mamma — Johnny, what are you doing? Little Johnny—Writing to a bank examiner; I had 60 cents yesterday, and I think pop has been speculating with my funds.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Need Glasses? We test your eyes and grind the glasses the same day. No waiting. Williams, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3.

DIED.

CARLSON.—In Quincy, Jan. 30, Mrs. Mary E., wife of Mr. Gustaf Carlson, of 4 Carlmark street, aged 48 years, 10 months and 5 days.
HUNT.—In Weymouth Heights, Jan. 30, Mr. A. F. Gilbert Hunt, of 9 Middle street, aged 75 years.
NICHOLS.—In Cohasset, Jan. 29, Mrs. Ann Jane, wife of Mr. Francis M. Nichols, aged 77 years, 2 months.
NOYLEN.—In Hyde Park, Jan. 29, Miss Mary Josephine, daughter of Mary E. and the late Michael Noylen, in her 24th year.

DYEING

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.
Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

TO LET

Durgin-Merrill Block—A furnished or unfurnished Room or an office.
One or Two Floors in the Aluminum Building, Granite street, rear of Hotel Greenleaf. Near Post Office.
Barn—Immediate occupancy. Main Barn 30x70 with Hay loft, and first floor inclined for washing. Horse barn, 22 6 x 0-6 with 11 stalls.
A shop on the ground floor in the rear of Music Hall Block.
Storage—light and dry.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
Music Hall Block, QUINCY

HALL TO LET.

PLUMERS HALL at No. 1605 Hancock street, has been leased by Polar Star Athletic Association, and can be rented for dances, entertainments and lodge purposes. Large ante rooms. Apply to THEODORE HERMANSON, 20 Buckley street, Quincy.
Oct. 25. tf

1906 JANUARY 1906

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter 2 9:52 a.m.
Full Moon 10 11:37 a.m.
Third Quarter 17 3:48 p.m.
New Moon 24 0:09 p.m.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements in this column inserted at the following rates:
Four lines, or less, one day, 25 cents
" " three days, 50 cents
" " one week, 75 cents
Additional lines will be charged for pro rata. Seven words equal a line. Long term rates furnished on application.

LOST.

LOST—Pair Gold Frame Eyeglasses. Finder will please return to HARRY T. BROWN, JR., 76 Washington street.
Quincy, Jan. 31. 3t

LOST—Jan. 27, a Baby's Carriage Robe. Finder will please return to Ledger Office and receive reward. Jan. 30-3t

LOST—On Saturday evening last, near the Quincy station, a gentleman's gold hunting case Watch, with black fob chain with initials R. P. M. engraved. Finder will be liberally rewarded by calling at the Ledger office. Jan. 29-3t

WANTED.

WANTED—An Experienced Prince Edward Island, or Irish Girl for general housework. Apply to MRS. LEWIS N. CURTIS, 15 Orchard Place.
Quincy, Jan. 29. tf

WANTED—Immediately, first class granite shed boss. Give qualifications in detail, terms and age. Address "SHED BOSS," care Quincy Ledger. Jan. 29-6t

WANTED—3 or 4 Rooms, furnished or unfurnished, suitable for light housekeeping. Address "B.," Ledger Office. Jan. 26. 6t

WANTED—Gang of Granite Cutters. McDONNELL & SONS, Garfield and Quarry streets
Quincy, Jan. 29. 6t

WANTED—Work by the day. Washing, ironing, cleaning, etc. Enquire at Ledger Office for address. Jan. 25-6t

WANTED—Engineer for granite polishing mill. State experience and wages desired. Apply "ENGINEER," care General Delivery, Quincy Post Office. Jan. 29-6t

FOR SALE.

HORSE FOR SALE—Weighs 1,000 pounds. Price $45. Call in afternoon at 36 Edwards Street, Quincy
Jan. 29. 3t

FOR SALE—50 new and second-hand Stoves at Quincy Variety Co.'s. WALTER P. PINEL, Manager, Water Street, corner Franklin. Nov. 15-tf

TO LET.

TO LET.—Two-flat house, with modern, improvements, at 321 Granite street. Six rooms each flat. Rent $15. Ready for occupancy about Feb. 10. Apply at 325 Granite street. Jan. 27-31-2t

TO LET—House of 6 rooms, bath set tubs, range, sewer connections, etc. Apply to B. D. CORLISS, 74 Adams street, Quincy. Jan. 31. 2t

TO LET—Pleasant Front Room in private family. Inquire at COOK'S DRUG STORE, Quincy Point. Jan. 31. 1t

TO LET—A Small Tenement. Apply at 40 Rodman street, Quincy. Jan. 29. 3t

TO LET—The two large Rooms at 1416 Hancock street, over McConnell's Fruit Store, well adapted for either Professional or Business use. Possession given immediately. Apply to J. H. STETSON, 49 School Street.
Quincy, March 17. tf

TO LET—48 Revere Road a well furnished good size sunny Room two large closets $2.00 per week. Also another medium size room; sun all day; hot water heat; $1.75 per week. Nice bath room. Quincy, Jan. 25-tf

TO LET—Quincy Point, corner of Washington street and Edison Park, 3 Houses just completed. Each house has 7 rooms and bath, furnace, electric lights and gas, hardwood floors throughout. Apply at 355 Washington street. Quincy, Jan. 9-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston, a pleasant, Furnished Room, with or without board. Address "Room," Ledger office. Sept. 12. tf

TO RENT—Room with table board in private family. Furnace heat, electric lights, etc. One minute to car line on Washington street. Inquire at 45 Edison Park. Dec. 18-tf

TO LET—Fine opening for a Druggist's Store, corner Hancock and School streets, now occupied by Edward J. Murphy. Possession given Nov. 1st. Apply to GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent. Quincy, Oct. 9-tf

Established 1887. Probate Business
Rooms 1 and 2 Savings Bank Building,